GROWN FROM TWIG

Special to The Advertiser.
By a Staff Reporter.

Port Stanley, Aug. 21.—From St. Helena, the little British-owned island in the Atlantic, famous in history as the prison home of Napoleon Bonaparte for six years, to Port Stanley, Ontario, is, strictly speaking, a distance of some thousands of miles. But for all that, the two places, one 700 miles from land and the other a busy bustling port and summer resort, are linked with strong sentimental ties.

At the north end of the village bridge close by the L. & P. S. station, around which centers much of the port's activities, stands a tall, scraggly-looking willow. People pass it hundreds of times daily with never a look. To them it is merely a tree. That is because they do not know that more than 75 years ago a small twig was broken from a magnificent weeping willow growing on the grave of France's fallen leader at St. Helena, and that tender shoot found its way to Port Stanley, where it was planted on the bank of the harbor. It took root and today there stands in its stead the great weeping willow that grows on an unnoticed.

Captain Brought It.

The story of the tree that is the offspring of the beautiful willow over Napoleon's first resting place (this body was later removed to Paris) is by no means well known in the Port. But some of the old-timers well remember Captain George R. Williams, the veteran old salt who after retiring settled in Port Stanley some time in the '50's. It was he who obtained the small twig during one of his stopovers at Jamestown the port of St. Helena and who carefully nursed it till he was able to transplant it in the place where he was to spend his remaining days.

Little is known of Captain Williams before he came to Port Stanley. It is a fact though that he had been sailing from boyhood as a seafaring man of the old school. It is thought, however, that he was born in England. When he took up his residence on the lakeside, the port was one of the busiest grain ports on Lake Erie and he established an elevator and warehouse on the harbor. That was about 1850. Some years after that a steambot caught fire in the harbor and the captain's business was burnt to the ground. After that he lived in retirement till he died in 1870. His body lies in the Anglican Cemetery along side that of his wife and as far as is known his only living relative is Mrs. Senator Wilson of St. Thomas.

Sold By His Friends.

Just how Captain Williams became the possessor of the twig can only be a matter of conjecture. None of the old residents of Port Stanley recall the captain referring to that particular fact in any of his yarns that used always to draw a circle of eager listeners around the front of his house, which is standing still not far from the willow.

But Captain Mart Berry, an old-timer here who used to sail under the American flag, relates of his stopping at St. Helena and he relates that once when his ship lay over in St. Helena the children of the island were offering for sale twigs they claimed were cut from the tree above Napoleon's grave. This might have been how Captain Williams obtained the slip, or on the other hand, it is probable that on a visit to the grave he conceived the idea of taking a twig as a souvenir, and planting it on the other side of the ocean.

Came to Port In 1850.

History chronicles that on July 18, 1815, he placed himself under the flag of Great Britain and was received on board the "Bellerophon" with high honors but was later sent to St. Helena. He died on the fifth of May, 1821, and was buried on the island, and in 1840 his body was taken to Paris. Captain Williams settled in Port Stanley after 1850 so it is quite likely that he brought the twig from St. Helena to Port Stanley years after the general's body was removed.

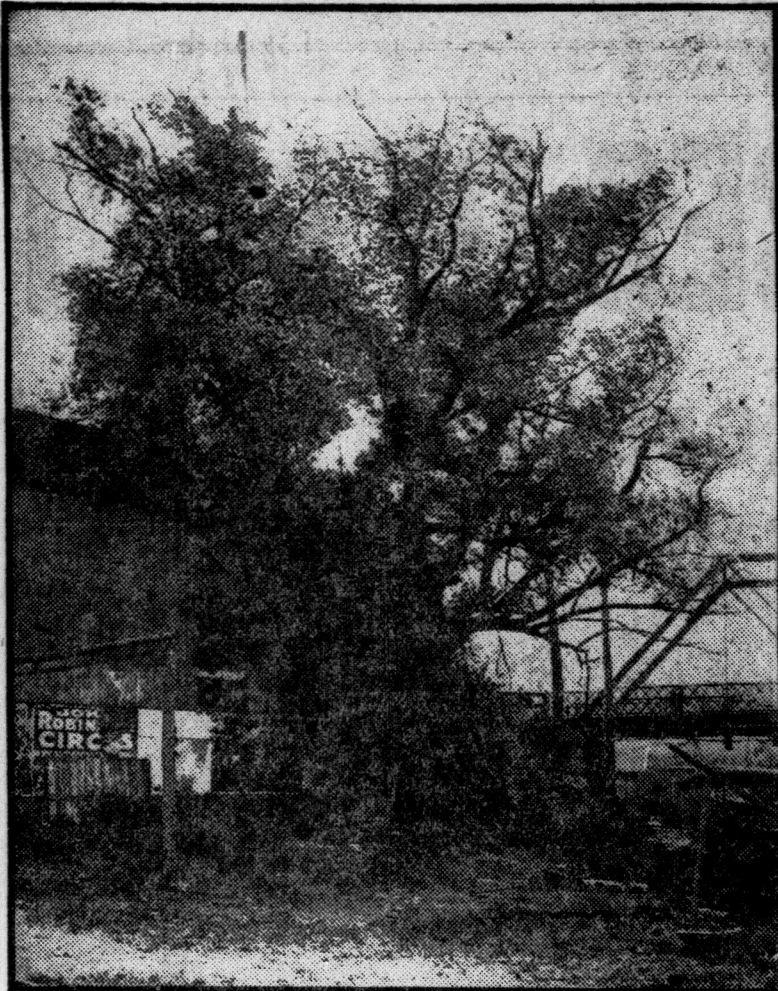

Manuel Payne another old-timer of the district told The Advertiser that he knew "George" well and stated that while the captain was a resident of Port he was one of the most progressive and far-sighted men in the community.

In the Anglican Cemetery, a little to the north of the church stands a sombre-looking ten-foot monument, marking the spot where Captain George R. Williams, who linked St. Helena with Port Stanley, is interred. And on the west side of the square-base is carved in a little oval a strikingly pretty picture of a weeping willow. The weeping willow, an emblem of China has been an emblem of grief for centuries and no doubt the same motive prompted the burying of Napoleon under the beautiful tree on St. Helena as prompted the carving of the emblem on the stone dedicated to Captain Williams and his family.

The highest price ever paid for a poem was $600 golden crowns, paid to Sannazaro by the citizens of Venice for his eulogy of their city—a poem of six lines only.

BROUGHT TO PORT STANLEY FROM NAPOLEON'S GRAVE.

Looking at this willow which stands at the east end of the bridge, opposite the L. & P. S. station, Port Stanley, one would not dream that it had any connection with Napoleon Bonaparte, called the greatest man the world has ever known. Yet this tree grew from a twig off the magnificent weeping willow growing over Napoleon's grave at St. Helena. It was brought to Port by Capt. George R. Williams, an old salt, for years a resident.

Detroit Street Car Fares To Be Increased One Cent

Canadian Press Despatch.
Detroit, Aug. 21.—Street car fares in Detroit will be increased one cent, effective Sept. 2. It was announced today by Ross Schram, assistant general manager of the city department of street railways.

Single fare will be 6 cents. Nine tickets will be sold for 50 cents, and the present cost of one cent additional for a transfer will remain. It is estimated that the increased fares will add $2,000,000 to the annual income of the department, and pave the way for service improvements.

Platform men employed by the company were granted an increase in wages Saturday.

NO ARBITRATION MAYOR TO INSIST ON FIXED PRICE IN RAILWAY DEAL

Says Sir Adam Beck's Job Is To Obtain Lowest Price
From Company.

NO ARBITRATION

Now that the council have appointed Sir Adam Beck as official representative to the street railway company, the mayor emphasizes the fact that the resolution passed last night by the city council includes a clause that Sir Adam must obtain a definite selling price. That, said the mayor, "is the crux of the whole thing. We don't want any more of those wide-range quotations that we have seen too often in the affairs of the city. Last time Sir Adam mentioned a price running from $600,000 to $900,000. The city wants to know definitely just what the price required to purchase the street railway. "There's another thing," continued the mayor, "we are tired of arbitration calls. I don't think the average Londoner wants to arbitrate the question at all. I think he wants to know only one thing, the actual selling price of the railway. My own opinion is that the time is not yet ripe for buying the railway, and I believe we would be more profitable to allow the company to keep their road and see that they live up to their agreement with the city."

There has been some criticism in the council of the position of the mayor on the street railway question. It has been hinted by some of the aldermen that the mayor showed an unusual change of front in his attitude toward the railway after he had been elected and installed in office for some months.

Today Mayor Wengie indignantly denied such a suggestion. "They can't accuse me of having truck or trade with the street railway company," he said. "I have not changed my mind, and there is no one more anxious to see London get its rights from the company than I."

LOCAL ARTIST OFFERS MASTERPIECE TO CITY

hand of death. The Britisher is equally cold, but his is the cold of the mind, the detachment of the professional soldier in the midst of his work, and yet behind all this there is the suggestion of another and older life in which things had a different value. The steel hat of the Tommy, the rifles that are seen in the canvas, the long twilight and the sludgy night holes are just as the man over there saw them. Nothing is exaggerated, nothing is overdone. Color, line, and spiritual vision combine to give the picture life and intensity. A picture that must be seen to be understood, and must be thought of alone to receive its great message.

Painted in 1918.
Mr. Glen, who painted the picture in 1918 just after the armistice, regards it as his favorite work, though it is his second to last picture. The first was a thrilling depiction of the advance of troops across the open and was called "The Canadians at St. Julien." It was painted from the Pacific to the Atlantic and was eventually sold to a private picture lover. In the case of this last war subject and partly on account of the subject and partly on account of the success of the technical part of the work, Mr. Glen would like to see it purchased by the City of London. His idea is to have it hung in the new city hall.

Though painted in 1918 it has been in the artist's possession without any change of scene. To him it has been more than merely any picture and he has come to regard it as part of his own inspiration. To the city it has the value of a masterpiece, and the picture will be offered for sale, should the city not buy it.

Known Abroad.
Edward Glen, is one of those London boys who are so much better known outside the shady streets of his home than in them. The son of Peter Glen the artist, Edward early showed that he had a genius and a love for the long handled brush and the palette. In 1911 he won the scholarship of $1,000 offered annually by the Canadian Niter in the year went to Montreal and later in the year went to France and studied in Paris under such world famous teachers as Paul Laurence and Robert Fleury.

In 1921 he returned to France and in Brittany and Normandy, the great haunt of the artists of Europe learned more of the way of the people and gathered sketches and notes for the long handled brush and the palette. He is arranging an exhibition of his works to go to the British empire exhibition in Wembley Park near old London, England next year and will go over himself to see to their arrangement in the art gallery. He will also show a few of his pictures in the art section of the West End this fall.

Mr. Glen tells an interesting fact in connection with the "Good Samaritan." A Belgian from Liege passed for the Good Samaritan and returned to his home in the city for the figure of the British Tommy.

DRANK LIQUOR NOT PURCHASED FROM A VENDOR

Mrs. Barbara Emdid, Empress
Avenue, Fined $10 and Costs
For O. T. A. Violation.

DRINK LIQUOR

Mrs. Barbara Emdid, 26 Empress avenue, was fined $10 and costs this morning when found guilty of violating section 47 of the Liquor Act, in that she did consume liquor not purchased from a licensed vendor.

The prosecutions against Mrs. Emdid from a man from Toronto and that it was not whiskey but a form of wine which her people, Syrians, drank as other people would drink water. She had purchased two dozen bottles and was using it for medicinal purposes.

Acting on this officers visited the house and found eight bottles of liquor, not whiskey, which was analyzed, showed a high percentage of alcohol. Mrs. Emdid stated that she had purchased this some time ago from a man from Toronto and that it was not whiskey but a form of wine which her people, Syrians, drank as other people would drink water. She had purchased two dozen bottles and was using it for medicinal purposes.

Owing to the fact that the defendant could not understand English an interpreter was used. Magistrate Gladman, in finding her guilty on the charge of consuming liquor, stated that she had herself admitted doing so, but that he would not impose the maximum fine.

Thomas Emdid, her son, stated that Syrian were prohibitionists as far as whiskey went but that they did consume wines of certain strength. On the second charge, McDougall, when called to give evidence, flatly denied having stated yesterday that he had arranged to buy the whiskey from the woman. He stated that he never had a drink in her house and that it was a man from whom he was to buy it.

Here Chief Birrell interrupted with the statement that what McDougall said yesterday and today were two different stories.

The court told the chief that if there was evidence of perjury to lay a charge.

No defence was offered except the evidence of McDougall which rebutted the information laid yesterday, and the charge of selling was dismissed.

CITY HAS CHANCE TO PURCHASE THIS.

The Advertiser offers its readers this reproduction of Edward Glen's "The Good Samaritan," a picture whose varying beauties are described in the accompanying article. Reproduced in black and white, the canvas which in the original is six feet by five, loses much of its appeal, and all the values of its wonderful coloring. The artist hopes the city will become the owner of "The Good Samaritan," and that it will hang in the new city hall. Connoisseurs who have seen it and who are conversant with the work of the best of European painters, have proclaimed its merits in no uncertain terms, and have tried to purchase it. Mr. Glen, however, is giving his own city the first opportunity. The picture will very likely be shown in an exhibition of Mr. Glen's paintings in the Empire Exhibition being held next year in Wembley Park, England.

MOORE WILL REPRESENT CANADA AT CONVENTION

MINERS OF RUHR SAY GOVERNMENT SHOULD NEGOTIATE

Leaders Want Parley With France While Passive Resistance Continues.

FOOD SUPPLY DROPS

Special Cable to The Advertiser.

Berlin, Aug. 21.—Meetings of leaders of miners throughout the Ruhr have adopted a resolution declaring that while the government continues passive resistance it ought to avail itself of every chance for negotiations with France.

Meantime food reserves of the capital were reported sufficient for only two days. While some new supplies were creeping into the city from the eastern states, the authorities were unable to build up a reserve for more than two days; the lowest margin in many years in Berlin.

Money Supply Improves.

The supply of paper money was increased their output to the greatest figure ever reached in Germany, but the reserve supply still was small, and it was estimated any new strike of the printers lasting more than 24 hours would find the nation again face to face with a money shortage, renewing the difficulties which led to overthrow of the Cuno cabinet.

It was the food question, however, which is causing authorities the greatest anxiety, and an indication of the seriousness of the situation was seen in the fact that the government for the first time was taking the public into its confidence. It was realized any interruption of railway transport would cause suffering from hunger in many cities.

Causing Darkest Concern.

The problem of feeding the population of the Ruhr, already wavering in their resistance to France, was causing the darkest concern.

Hints of a split are already seen in the Socialist proposal for a heavy tax on capital, a measure which always has been opposed bitterly by the people's party, of which Chancellor Stresemann is leader.

Stresemann always has asserted that a tax on the big business interests, of which he is considered the political representative, would mean closing of many factories with resulting vast unemployment.

The cabinet was scheduled to discuss the general situation today, but the meeting was postponed until tomorrow.

Making Money Go a Long Way

GEORGE WASHINGTON, it is related, threw a silver dollar across the Potomac River. At the spot where the feat is said to have been performed, the stream is approximately a mile in width. But admittedly, a dollar went farther then than now.

The purchasing power of a dollar bill has shrunk considerably in the last ten years. There has never been a time when discriminate buying paid bigger dividends.

Every day this newspaper contains information that you should have to increase your buying power. The advertisements are intimate little lessons in everyday economy. They teach you how, when and for what your dollar will go farthest.

Merchants tell of their bargains through the advertisements. Almost every new opportunity is offered through an advertisement. Practically every unusual buy is advertised.

READY FOR INQUEST

Coroner Will Call Three Witnesses—Guests at Other Hotels Resume Gay Life.

Special to The Advertiser. Wawa, Ont., Aug. 21.—Death's dark spectre stalked among the desolate ruins of the once pretentious Wawa Hotel this morning, gathering the grim harvest of Sunday's tragic conflagration, and a raw, dismal wind swept across the dull waters of the lake, moaning mournfully at the four gaunt chimneys, at the foot of which Wawa's gay guests were wont to loiter.

DIED IN WAWA FIRE. Miss Marjorie Bowker, 14-year-old daughter of C. G. Bowker, C. N. R. official, was one of the victims of the Wawa Hotel fire.

FIREMEN PLUNGE INTO BURNING PIT AS ROOF CRASHES

Ten May Be Dead, 47 Are Injured in Brooklyn Fire.

BURIED IN RUINS

Associated Press Despatch. New York, Aug. 21.—Tragedy descended on the city during the night, when the roof and one wall of the New Plaza Hotel, located at Grand and Havemeyer streets in Brooklyn, crashed during a spectacular fire, and hurled a number of firemen into the blazing ruins.

For hours rescue parties worked frantically in the debris, and first reports placed the number of the dead at ten. Hampered by darkness and the intense heat bursting from the smoking, flame-lit pile, firemen and police at 9:30 o'clock this morning were able to compile only an unverified casualty list.

According to this list two firemen—Raymond Farrell and James Sullivan, both members of the same engine company—were killed; and 47 men, most of them fire-fighters, were seriously injured, six perhaps fatally.

TAX EXEMPTIONS BOTH MEMBERS OF CITY COUNCIL

Labor Aldermen Want Full Information on Properties Now Tax-Free.

MAY ASK RENEWAL

An interesting angle on the taxation question was disclosed at last night's meeting of the city council when Aldermen Colbert and McKay fathered a motion to the effect that information be obtained as to the valuations of those city properties at present free of tax, in view, as Alderman Colbert said in his address on the subject, "that it is understood some people in the city who are now exempt and whose exemption will shortly run out, will come to the city asking a further period of exemption."

Suspicious Aldermen.

The local Chamber of Commerce and the newer members of the council have never seen eye to eye in this matter. In fact, some of the labor view the Chamber of Commerce with suspicion, believing that the interests of the man in the street and the interests of the chamber are not synonymous.

Civic Undercurrents.

Many undercurrents are swirling about the corners of the city hall in seemingly quiet times. There are rumors of coming civic strife and discord, and it is suggested that the industrial forces in London are making plans for a campaign that will seek to install a mayor and council for 1924 who will be favorable to the extension of the tax exemption in the case of certain industries.

MILTON MAN BADLY HURT WHEN AUTO OVERTURNS

Special to The Advertiser. Milton, Ont., Aug. 21.—A rather serious automobile accident occurred yesterday near Vittoria, which will have resulted in the loss of several lives. E. Wilkinson of Milton, together with W. A. White, was motoring at good speed when the car struck some loose gravel on the road.

LOCAL DOCTORS HAVE NO FEAR OF DEVIL'S GRIPPE

Disease Now Prevalent in Virginia Will Not Come This Far North, Says Dr. Downham.

RESEMBLES AGUE

"The Devil's Grippe," a malady at present sweeping over the State of Virginia, will not invade this territory, according to local medical men. "Devil's Grippe" is a mysterious disease that ravaged Virginia and neighboring states in 1888. Apparently, the malady is again raging throughout the Southern States, and doctors are in a quandary how to combat it. The disease reared its head a fortnight ago, and spread over the country with great rapidity.

MRS. DAVIS NERVOUS WRECK Tells Women How She Was Restored to Perfect Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Winnipeg, Man.,—"I cannot speak too highly of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was a nervous wreck and I just had to force myself to do my work. Even the sound of my own children playing made me feel as if I must scream if they did not get away from me. I could not even speak right to my husband. The doctor said he could do nothing for me. My husband's mother advised me to take the Vegetable Compound and I started it at once. I was able to do my work once more and it was a pleasure, not a burden. Now I have a fine bonny baby and am able to nurse her and enjoy doing my work. I cannot help recommending such a medicine, and any one seeing me before I took it, and seeing me now, can see what it does for me. I am only too pleased for you to use my testimonial."—Mrs. Eddy Davis, 721 McGee St., Winnipeg, Man. Lydia E. THE CANNING SEASON. The June bride is getting settled into her stride in her fascinating new job of housekeeping. After her six weeks' honeymoon in the deep woods, she has returned to the pretty suburban cottage awaiting her, and would have rolled up her sleeves if they hadn't already ended in a box of glass jars. She could produce dainty breakfasts and appetizing dinners that sent the June bridegroom

How wonderful it would be to have shelves filled with shining jars full of the fruits and vegetables she had put up. But it was a little early yet, for the berries were done and the fruits not yet plentiful on the shoulder. She could produce great baskets of fruit appeared at attractive prices, she went forth to

WALL STREET PRICES REACH HIGH LEVELS

American Can Assumes the Leadership, Gains Nearly Three Points.

By STUART P. WEST, Special Staff Advertiser. Wall Street, New York, Aug. 21.—The comment in Wall Street today was that more recovery time was far the market showed the predominance of forces making for higher prices. During the first hour professional speculators sought to test the position by concentrating selling of oil shares. The motive in this case was that more cuts were to be effected in crude oil, in order to meet the much lower price of gasoline. The principal members of the American oil group—Producers and Refiners, Phillips Petroleum, Conoco and Marland—were driven down the point or more, and this for a time had an unsettling effect in other directions. Baldwin Locomotive dipped below 120, where it was off two points at the close.

Then the turn came, and it came quickly. The larger commission houses have been constantly stating that there were no real reasons underlying the prevailing price level. Not only were stocks readily taken on the forenoon decline, but as soon as it was clear that the attack on the oil was a failure, there was quite a rush to buy for both short and long accounts. It took very little more than an hour for American buying orders to gain nearly three points. In the same period, Baldwin Locomotive and United States Steel common stock rose to the point where they had closed, and the same was true of Studelaker.

The strength of the independent steel stocks was one of the chief incidents of the day. Bethlehem Steel, Republic, Gulf States, Sloss-Sheffield and Crucible all sold well above the highest since 4 1/2 covey started in attempting to explain why these stocks should have been relatively stronger than United States Steel. It has to be remembered that when the steel corporation came down in its operations from 94 per cent of capacity to 90 per cent, the independent buying orders were sufficient to cause a sharp rise in Fisher Body. American Inc was another feature.

Public Utilities List Displays Greatest Activity at Montreal Exchange.

Reported for The Advertiser by McDougall & Cowans. Montreal, Aug. 21.—The Montreal Stock Exchange experienced exceptional activity today, with a heavy volume of public utility shares being traded. The market was characterized by steady values and a general upward trend in many sectors.

Public Utilities List Displays Greatest Activity at Montreal Exchange. The heavy rain of Tuesday night had the effect of curtailing supplies to some extent at the local market, and on the other hand prevented any appreciable lowering of prices. Vegetables were the chief offering, and the light receipts caused a fairly brisk demand. In the hay and grain section, there were only two or three small lots of oats and one load of hay, which had been ordered previously, the price for which could not be learned.

STANDARD MINING EXCHANGE. Toronto, Aug. 21.—Trading was light on the Standard Mining Exchange this morning, with a few shares of the local firms being traded. The market was generally quiet, with prices showing little movement.

HEAVY RAIN AFFECTED LOCAL MARKET SUPPLY

Light Receipts Cause Brisk Demand and Firmness in Prices.

The heavy rain of Tuesday night had the effect of curtailing supplies to some extent at the local market, and on the other hand prevented any appreciable lowering of prices. Vegetables were the chief offering, and the light receipts caused a fairly brisk demand. In the hay and grain section, there were only two or three small lots of oats and one load of hay, which had been ordered previously, the price for which could not be learned.

BUTCHER TRADE DULL AT TORONTO MARKET

Cattle Run of Poor Quality—Lamb and Hogs Hold Steady Prices.

Special to The Advertiser. Toronto, Aug. 21.—The trade in butcher cattle was dull this morning. Most of the morning's run was of a poor quality. There were about 2,500 cattle offered, including left-overs. Exporters have bought 700 cattle at prices from $7.25 to $7.75, with a few tops at $4.00 to $4.50. It is not expected that there will be further export buying this week. There were few choice butcher cattle on the market. Medium quality butchers' cows sold at $5.15, and a few loads of heavy cows at $5.25. The calf market was still strong at $10.00 to $11.00. Lamb and hogs held steady prices.

BRITAIN RECEIVES FRENCH NOTE ON REPARATIONS

BRITISH RECEIVE POINCARE'S NOTE ON REPARATIONS

Text of Reply Will Be Kept Secret Until Tomorrow Morning.

MAY PROVE USELESS

Special Cable to The Advertiser. Paris, Aug. 21.—The French reply to the British reparations note was handed to the British charge d'affaires here this morning. The text will not be published until tomorrow morning.

SHOW LITTLE INTEREST. By HAL O'FLAHERTY. Special Cable to The London Advertiser and Chicago Daily News. Copyright.

London, Aug. 21.—If there is any interest in the expected receipt in London of Premier Poincare's latest addition to a long series of notes on reparations and the Ruhr, it exists outside of official quarters. Stanley Baldwin is completely tired out, by his first few months as prime minister. He remains in retirement in the country. However, he will come to London Wednesday to read the French note, and is expected to reach London tonight.

Immediately after reading the document, Mr. Baldwin intends to pack up for his vacation in France, so that 24 hours after the note reaches London both Mr. Baldwin and Foreign Secretary Curzon will be seeking a rest in famous French health resorts.

Merely Fag End. No other comment on the situation seems necessary from the official office. Whether Premier Poincare's message is couched in friendly or most abusive terms arouses little or no excitement. His exposition of views is considered merely the rag end of fruitless debate.

The few diplomats who are remaining in London during the holiday season declare that Premier Poincare intends for his note to create an atmosphere of goodwill, but unless it makes some startling concessions he will fall short of his objective. The British Government must see in his note a desire upon the part of the French to modify the Ruhr occupation and an agreement as to the Anglo-American method of expert inquiry into Germany's capacity to pay. Falling to meet these requirements, Premier Poincare can hope for few results except, perhaps, to strengthen Baldwin's opposition.

Talk With Poincare. Many British politicians disagree with Baldwin's methods, but it is safe to say that nine-tenths of them support wholeheartedly the British principles laid down in the recent diplomatic exchanges. According to the British view, further notes are useless. No written reply to Poincare is expected, but Baldwin may personally discuss the matter when he passes through Paris late this week.

The belief exists here that France would like to continue indefinitely these written exchanges, hoping to prolong the discussion until Germany either surrenders or breaks internally.

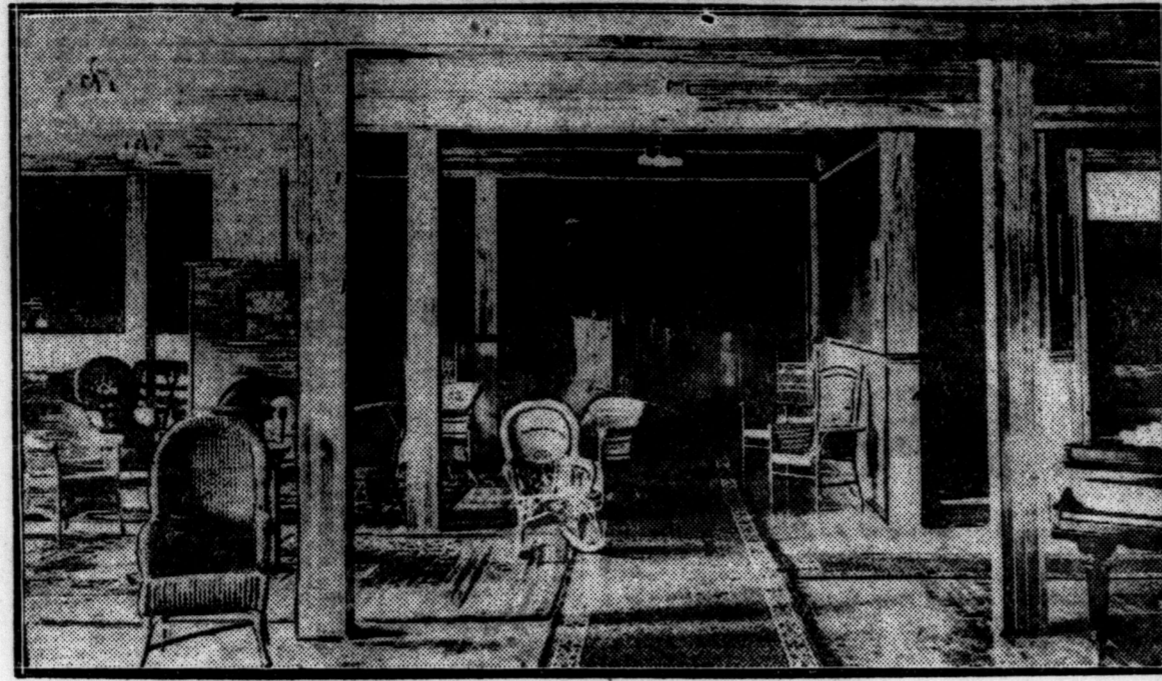

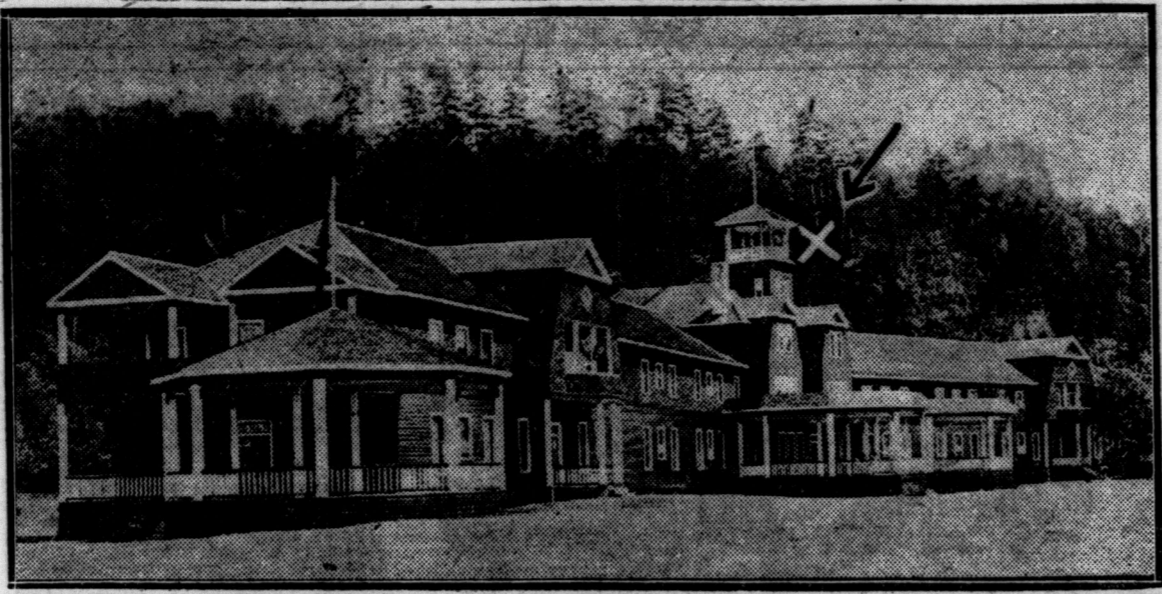

TO SEARCH FOR TRACE OF OLD INDIAN GRAVES

and bones which he has discovered, some appeared to be bare and others had a spongy appearance, as if they had been boiled. Bones of the elk, deer and bear which have been found on the sites of the prehistoric Indians all have the same spongy appearance, and according to comparisons there is little doubt that these ancient residents were cannibals.

No Tall Indians. Mr. Wintemberg thinks the Atti-wandrian tribe came up the St. Lawrence about 1524 and settled in this district. There have been no articles of European manufacture found on any of the sites. This fact proves conclusively that the Neutral tribe of Indians were in this district before 1524. The skeletons which are expected to be found on the property near London will not be more than 5 feet 8 inches in length. Contrary to general belief, rarely have Indian skeletons been found in or near London which were of the tall variety. "The Neutral tribe were all small," said Mr. Wintemberg.

Mr. Wintemberg was the first man to call attention to the fact that there were two periods of occupation in Western Ontario, the earlier Algonquin and the later Iroquois, to which the Neutral tribe belonged. If explorations in this district are successful, London will be the key position for identifying other tribes which are expected to be unearthed in other places soon. "If we can say definitely that this site is one of Neutral stock, we can, by comparison of the finds, identify skeletons being discovered now in southwestern Ontario," said Mr. Wintemberg.

FORMER CITY MAN WINS RECOGNITION IN WESTERN TRADE

E. B. Plewes Makes Wonderful Success of Business in Winnipeg. WRITES REVIEW

Another instance of a London boy winning success and recognition in distant fields has been brought to light in a recent issue of Western Hardware, an important trade magazine published in Winnipeg. The leading article, "Expect Big Business in Thresher Supplies," was written by E. B. Plewes of Plewes, Limited, well known manufacturers' agents, who was born in this city and for a number of years conducted a milling business on the banks of the Thames. Mr. Plewes spent his boyhood days in the Forest City and also received his early education here. After the death of his father, he took over the milling business, and managed it for a while, later going to Winnipeg, where he organized the firm of Plewes, Limited. His aggressiveness and business foresight soon told in the development of the company, and today it has a splendid connection throughout the west.

Interesting Survey. Strictly a wholesale distributor, Plewes, Limited, are western distributors for some of the biggest hardware organizations in the world, and the fact that for the past 20 years Mr. Plewes has traveled extensively through the western provinces, as well as the middle west, enables him to give a comprehensive and interesting survey of crop and business conditions in the western provinces and a forecast of fall business in the hardware line.

In his article, Mr. Plewes states that business in all lines of threshers' supplies promises to be big with western dealers this year, even taking into consideration the fact that last year's crop was the biggest the west ever experienced. Mr. Plewes visited nearly 500 points on his last series of trips through the provinces, and he did not find conditions materially changed over those of last year, he states, but he found that the feeling was considerably better. The policy of restricted buying was not due to hard times or pessimism in the future, he thought, but due to the prevailing idea that prices would go down.

Prices Are Reduced. "As far as the west," he said, "prices are fairly well down this year. Except for canvas belting, everything is down from 5 to 15 per cent. In the case of canvas belting, the 10 per cent increase in price was necessitated by an increase of 50 per cent in the price of cotton. On the whole I do not think that this is an unfair increase.

"I am inclined to think that prices will go down yet," Mr. Plewes asserted further, "but not before 1923. Prices for this season have been fixed, and they are going to remain at this level. The dealer who withholds his orders with the expectation that he will be able to buy better later on is going to be disappointed. He will lose trade and finally will have to pay the prices now asked.

Jack Plewes, assistant inspector in the London federal income tax office, is a brother of E. B. Plewes.

U. S. Increases Imports of Canadian Dairy Goods

Canadian Press Despatch. Ottawa, Aug. 21.—That the United States is increasing its importation of dairy products from Canada is shown by the report dealing with the dairy industry, issued by the Dominion bureau of statistics. In July, 1923, Canada shipped to the United States 437,679 gallons of fresh cream, valued at $695,046, as compared with 339,520 gallons in June and 245,986 gallons in July of the preceding year. Exportation of fresh milk to the United States shows an increase, though not so great as in the case of cream. During July the United States imported 148,000 pounds of Canada's butter, valued at $42,646. The United Kingdom leads in Canadian cheese imports, 124,000 cwt., having been shipped to that destination in July, valued at $2,178,000. Exportation of Canadian refined sugar fell off heavily in July of this year, it is shown in a report prepared by the Dominion bureau of statistics. The United Kingdom was Canada's best sugar customer during the month, taking 5,096,000 pounds, valued at $533,288. During July the United States imported 952,125 ounces of silver from Canada, valued at $600,124. In the twelve months ending with July silver exports totaled 5,967,000 ounces, valued at $3,914,000. Canada shipped more wheat in July, 1923, than in July of the preceding year, it is shown in the report upon exports of grain and grain products.

MULLION GETS ROWDY WHEN BEING ARRESTED

Accused Admits Intoxication When Bottle of Wine Is Found On Him.

John Mullion put up a strenuous fight last night when he was arrested by P. C. Aitken on a charge of being drunk. On his person was a bottle of liquor, which he claimed in police

BOTHERED BY FRIENDS, KELLY LANDS IN CELL

Sweats He Gets No Peace When He Appears in Court.

Walter Kelly's friends will not leave him alone and the result is his appearance in police court. At least this is what Walter told the magistrate this morning when arraigned on a charge of disorderly conduct. Seven weeks have elapsed since his last appearance but on that occasion he was sentenced to 15 days. This morning the magistrate remanded him until tomorrow in order that he might investigate Walter's claim that he was looking after an invalid brother.

Evidence given by P. C. Aitken was to the effect that much noise and the sound of crashing dishes was heard in the vicinity of 93 Bathurst street late last night. He investigated and arrested Walter. George Clements, also a resident at the rooming house, stated that it was owing to the conduct of Kelly and his friends that his wife had left him. But Walter blamed his friends and said that he could not keep them away and once they got him started he ended up by being arrested. Incidentally George Clements was to be tried in the magistrate's office on a charge of non-support laid by his wife. The case against George Pernokis, brought by Wellington Reid and opened in court yesterday, was again adjourned a day when the boy's witness did not appear. The boy is claiming wages due him. Thomas Calk was fined $10 and costs for being intoxicated. He pleaded guilty.

FINE GLADIOLI SHOW IN THE CITY'S PARKS

Many Delightful Varieties Now Coming Into Full Bloom, and Worth Inspection.

In May last the Horticultural Society planted nearly 400 Gladioli in some of the more prominent named varieties in Victoria and Springbank parks. These are now coming into bloom and are worth the attention of gardeners who have not begun to grow many named kinds. The well-known salmon variety, Prince of Wales, was the first to flower, and is now nearly done. Alice Tiplady, the antique colored pink, is also fairly early and has done well. Scarlina, considered by some to be Kunderd's outstanding red, a light fiery color, is conspicuous. The blues are represented by Catharina, a slaty blue, with deep blotch, and Baron Hulot, the best known dark blue, but never a flower of much size. Immaculae and White Giant are the two whites, both of them good growers and popular. Herada, Mrs. Austin's well-known purple, has done remarkably well at Springbank, the flowers being of extraordinary size and fine color. Pink Wonder is perhaps the outstanding kind in both collections, a very large flower of an exceedingly delicate tone of light pink. This variety has been on the market for only three or four years and was not obtainable for less than a dollar until the present year. Interested gardeners will feel repaid by a visit to the great show at Guelph, of the Ontario Gladioli Society on Wednesday and Thursday of this week, where there will be an enormous number of varieties on exhibition. Many of them will be seen at the London show next week, of which due notice will be given as soon as the preliminaries have been decided.

FORMER LONDONER WILL MANAGE WESTERN HOUSE

An event of considerable interest to the Canadian retail trade is the amalgamation of the firm of Harold F. Ritchie & Co., Toronto, and that of Sreaton & Whiteside, Winnipeg. The Winnipeg business will be conducted under the name of Harold F. Ritchie & Co., Limited. Mr. S. M. Sreaton, for many years the manager of Sreaton & Whiteside, Winnipeg, will be in charge thereof. Mr. Sreaton before going West was identified with Edward Adams & Co., London, Ont., and is well-known in this city. He has had wide experience in the grocery and brokerage business. The amalgamation is the result of the increasing importance of the Western Canadian market. The decision of these two prominent houses to join forces and operate in the West under the management of Mr. Sreaton will give Western buyers even greater facilities and service in connection with the many important lines which this house represents. The establishment of the Winnipeg branch of the Harold F. Ritchie Company is a further link in a selling organization which is rapidly extending to every country on the globe.

COUNCIL RETAINS SIR ADAM BECK

Aldermen Decide On Hydro Knight To Negotiate Purchase Street Railway.
TO GET $500 REWARD

Members of the city council at last night's meeting decided that they would retain Sir Adam Beck to negotiate with the London Street Railway Company and obtain a price from them for the system. It was only after a somewhat lively debate that this decision was arrived at, the mayor on the question being Aldermen Bursick, Colbert, Watt, McKay and the mayor.

The question was brought before the council by a clause in the report of the special transportation committee. During the debate every member of the council took a hand in the game, and a ruling by Alderman Judd, who took the chair while the mayor was speaking, ended the debate. The ruling was on a matter of procedure when Alderman Douglass spoke to his own motion, and was termed unfair by Aldermen McKay and Colbert, and reflected the atmosphere of the meeting.

"I strongly object to getting in any outsider to buy some property for us, so why shouldn't we get Sir Adam to do this?"

Ald. Wilson Speaks.
Alderman Wilson came out strongly with, "If anyone can get a right price on this street railway question it is Sir Adam, and I shall vote for his retention in this case."

Ald. Colbert took issue with many of the councillors when he stated "Adam Beck was the man who got a price in Windsor on the street railway, and now that city has a seven-cent road and a pile of junk on its hands. In my opinion they paid two prices for the road. As to the London situation, Mr. Somerville, when he was mayor, got a price of $1,208,000, and Sir Adam got a price of some $500,000 more. The city paid about $2,000 for the Bunnell report, and then Sir Adam comes back and says that we must pay from six to nine hundred thousand dollars for the system. I am opposed to any outsider acting for the council in this case."

The mayor, giving his views, said: "Last December the price was stated to be not over $900,000. You have that to be guided by, and the council can get just as good a price as an outsider."

Speaks at Wrong Time.
Alderman Douglass dissented from this view. "Yes," he countered, "it was announced at the time that $900,000 was the outside price of the Bunnell report, not the offer of the company."

Alderman Douglass was speaking on his motion, and when he sat down, Ald. Judd, who was in the chair, declared the debate closed.

On the motion of Ald. McKay, it was opened again, only to close in a few minutes.

In the case of the $500 reward for the arrest of John Ison, convicted firebug, the mayor contended that the council had no right to give the last meeting to remove him from the special committee appointed to look into the matter. The council, however, accepted the report brought forward by Aldermen Greer and Judd, the special committee, and the reward will be paid over to Sergeant O'Connor.

Shun Salary Question.
The problem of the salary increasing proposed to be one of the outstanding items in agenda tumbled out without much of a flame, when the council voted the opening of the opening of the question down to the Mayor. Aldermen Judd and Greer quizzed the mayor as to whether the Citizens' Research Institute in the report of its survey would deal with the salary question. Alderman Greer averring that "I have it on absolutely reliable information that they will say nothing about the salary question, and as employees of the institute we have the right to know what they propose to do."

The mayor said that he had satisfied himself the institute would not make recommendations in this matter and assured the council that this would be the case. A report from City Treasurer Bell on the committee report of the council read by the mayor showed that by June 30 half the estimates had been used, but the treasurer added, "With economy I feel that the council can finish the year without a deficit."

A motion, sponsored by Aldermen Colbert and McKay, that information be sought as to the value of unassessed city property in view of the fact that certain requests would soon be presented to the council asking for exemption, was carried unanimously.

Defeat Wilson's Plan.
Alderman Wilson brought up the question of buying the Customs House as the home of the future city hall, and though debated said he would bring it up again at the next meeting. The city hall special committee brought in their report containing several technical recommendations as to obtaining plans and the general arrangement of the building, all of which were agreed to by the council with a certain amount of pre-election discussion and verbal skirmishing.
