BRANT COUNTY COUNCIL HEARS A DEPUTATION

Removal of Agricultural Department's Representative From Paris is Urged on Council—Thought That Work Would be More Effective in This City.

With a view to securing the support of the County Council, a large deputation of which Mr. F. M. Lewis was chairman, waited upon the council at the afternoon session yesterday and asked that body to use its influence in having the headquarters of Mr. Schuyler the Government representative removed from Paris to this city.

It was submitted that Brantford is more central, possesses better railway facilities, better telephone connections, and more farmers visit the municipality. While the deputation presented every available argument, there were those present from Paris and locality who stoutly opposed the moving of the office.

BIG GAS MAINS BROKE—HENCE TROUBLE

Supply in the City this Morning was Very Meagre

Mayor Spence Says "Extra Purifiers Must Be Put In"

The Tilbury gas main, the one through which the supply to Brantford comes, broke early this morning at Merlin, a few miles west of London. Consequently the pressure in this city to-day was low and there will be a shortage for a few days.

However, according to Mayor Spence to-day the purifiers are not working out to the best advantage. The process is doing its work alright, but the capacity is falling short of the demands. The city authorities will insist that extra purifiers be put in, so that every ounce of gas in Brantford is of the pure variety.

Proposal to Break From City in Matter Of Collegiate Institute

Col. Frazer of Burford Estimates That There is a Strong Feeling Favorable Among County Residents.

The deputation which waited upon the County Council yesterday afternoon, killed two birds with one stone. The deputation had asked the council to use its influence in having the office of the district representative moved from Paris to Brantford.

At present there are in the neighborhood of 125 county pupils in attendance at the Collegiate. Each pupil pays an annual fee of $10, and the county pays 80 per cent of their maintenance. Principal Burt reports that the Collegiate is not over crowded.

EARL'S DAUGHTER MAKES UPSIDE DOWN FLIGHT WITH MR. HAMEL

LADY VICTORIA PERY

CIVIC AUTHORITIES FIND HEADGATES UNDERMINED

Serious State of Affairs Resulting From the Railway Work Which Might Cause Loss and Tremendous Damage to Factory and Residential District.

The authorities at Ottawa are being wired to-day by Brantford civic representatives in regard to the dangerous condition of the headgates of the canal on Greenwich street. With a possibility of the Grand river breaking up within a very short space of time, and an embankment of only 20 feet separating the river from the canal, which is contiguous to millions of dollars' worth of property values, tremendous damage might be occasioned if there was a break at this vulnerable spot.

In the meantime the river bears an ugly look. Ice-harvesting operations around the river have been discontinued, the ice having become too thin. Heavy rains are reported in the north, and a break-up of the river may come within a short time. The consequences, from the way things were discovered this morning, might be disastrous. Not only that, the river channel has been narrowed by railway operations; and this feature makes the outlook worse.

O'REILLY CLAIMS HE WAS DRUNK

When Deal Re Brant Theatre Was Made in Recent Agreement.

At Hamilton, Mr Justice Lennox yesterday afternoon completed taking evidence in the case of Charles VanDusen, against James O'Reilly, Brantford, and the counter action brought by James O'Reilly against Van Dusen, John P. Coulson, Sudbury; Stephen J. Kearns, North Bay, and Herbert S. Young, Sudbury.

At present there are in the neighborhood of 125 county pupils in attendance at the Collegiate. Each pupil pays an annual fee of $10, and the county pays 80 per cent of their maintenance. Principal Burt reports that the Collegiate is not over crowded.

ARCHBISHOP OF CANTERBURY PROVED RATHER OBDDURATE

Suffragettes Invaded Lambeth Palace To-day and Finally One Was Allowed to Address Archbishop Against Practice of Forceable Feeding.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—A band of militant suffragettes to-day besieged the archbishop of Canterbury, the English primate, in Lambeth Palace and eventually forced him to capitulate and receive one of their number in order to discuss the question of the forcible feeding of their comrades undergoing sentences in jail.

SIR JAMES AND SIR GEO. ROSS

Both Laid Up in Adjoining Suites at Toronto General Hospital

TORONTO, Jan. 29.—Premier Sir James Whitney and ex-Premier Sir George Ross occupy adjoining wards in the private ward pavilion of the Toronto General Hospital this morning. Senator Sir George Ross arrived on the Ottawa train and was conveyed in an ambulance to a suite which had been chosen for him near his political opponent.

In January 1905, just eight years ago the conservative party under Premier Whitney came into power in Ontario and Premier Ross met an overwhelming defeat after 22 years of power. To-day the two leaders, both of nearly the same age, Sir James is 70 and Sir George 72, lie in exactly similar suites on opposite sides of the hospital corridor.

Art Exhibition At Alexandra

Masterpieces of World Artists Shown in Different Forms.

Yesterday saw the opening of a very fine display of pictures at Alexandra School. Although the pictures did not arrive till 10.30 by strenuous exertion the teachers had them in place, covering the walls of five rooms, ready for the first exhibition at 3.30. The exhibit consists of over 200 large carbon photographs and photographs of the masterpieces from all over the world. Many of these pictures are 24"x36" and are certainly magnificent.

Inspector Kilmer had charge of the afternoon programme. He spoke of the value of art in education and strongly urged the public to support the movement and thus aid in placing good pictures within reach of all.

In the evening Mayor Spence formally opened the Art Exhibit, and acted as chairman for the entertainment given by the children, which is a pleasing feature of the exhibition. Mayor Spence explained that the purpose of the exhibit was twofold—to educate the people in art by providing an opportunity of seeing pictures which otherwise could not be seen without much travel, and to raise funds with which to purchase pictures to decorate the school. He was delighted with the pictures and the programme, of songs piano selections etc. He spoke in highest terms of the progressiveness of the principal and his staff and strongly recommended the people to help all they could.

Principal Foster explained that the exhibit would be open afternoon and evening till Saturday night, and that there would be a different program on each occasion except Saturday.

The large numbers present yesterday speaks well for the success of the venture which is the first of its kind in the city.

Nuptial Notes

HARTLEY—MOIR
A very pretty house wedding was celebrated at the home of Mrs Agnes Moir, 23 Wellington street Wednesday afternoon, when her only daughter, Laura, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony, to Frederick Samuel Hartley, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hartley, Palace St. The Rev. G. A. Woodside officiated. The bride, who looked charming in her wedding gown of white crepe de chine, with veil of orange blossoms and her shower bouquet, also of orange blossoms, which came from California especially for the happy event, entered the drawing room escorted by her brother, Mr. Alec. Moir, of Toronto, as the bridal music rang out Mrs Geo. Old, of Guelph, presided at the piano. The little flower girl, Miss Helen Moir, niece of the bride, in dainty little pink silk frock, with shadow lace, and the matron of honor, Mrs Fred C. Harp, in pale blue satin preceded her. The rooms were profusely decorated with pink and white bloom, and the ceremony was performed before a large bank of palms and ferns, a large floral bell of pure white flowers suspended directly above where the young couple stood. Mr. D. McPhail performed the office of best man and during the signing of the register, Mr Geo. Old sang "Beloved, it is morn." Following the congratulations a buffet luncheon was served, some 40 guests being present, and the bride and groom were the recipients of many and numerous beautiful gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Hartley left on the 6.35 train amid a shower of confetti and good wishes for Detroit and Chicago. The going away gown was of violet broadcloth with hat to correspond, and ermine furs, the latter, the wedding gift of the groom. The groom's gift to the matron of honor and to the little flower girl were jewelled lace pins, and to the best man a tie pin of the same design.

On their return, Mr and Mrs Hartley will take up residence at 55 Pearl street.

GAVE CHILDREN A SLEIGHRIDE

Rawdon Street Workers Tender Children a Pleasant Time.

The children of Rawdon Street had the time of their lives last Tuesday evening, when they gathered at the church for their annual sleigh-ride, and the management was amply repaid by the number of happy faces wrapped up in bonnets and toques and fascinators, which greeted them with happy smiles.

The weather was delightful, the sleighing splendid and the atmosphere just bracing enough to make its delight fully enjoyable. The happy bunches drove away in four large sleighloads and spent an hour or two in laughter and happy songs and conversation, while a few of the older ones remained behind at the church to prepare the goodies for the hungry faces on their return about 9.30 p.m.

An hour was spent by the little ones in playing "King-a-Rosy," "Nuts in May," and other games, which delight the childish heart.

The gathering was called to order, and after doing justice to a sumptuous repast of coffee, sandwiches and cake the children were dismissed to their homes, each one voting they had spent the best time that ever happened.

This was followed by an old-time spelling match on the next evening, when about 60 children, ranging in age from 8 or 10 to 20, met to test their spelling abilities. The book used was the ordinary spelling book used in the city schools, and all showed general proficiency. Two girls showed marked ability, the honours being divided between Jennie Carruth and Eva Sisson, Eva eventually winning out. It is doubtful to say which girl is the more able at spelling, for after a severe struggle Jennie went down on a difficult word because she was flustered by excitement rather than unable to spell the word. Eva Sisson won the prize of a pretty cup and saucer.

Tramp Robbed Lady Cyclist.

Ploughman's Gun Goes Off.

John Hickey, labourer, in the employment of Mr. Wm. Burke, Kilmore, who was admitted to Clonmel Cottage Hospital suffering from a gunshot wound which necessitated amputation of the arm from the shoulder, was stated to have been carrying a loaded gun on a plough which he was driving, his object being to shoot crows. The plough struck a stone and, the hammer of the gun being released by the concussion, the contents of the barrel were discharged.

SEVEN YEARS WAS SENTENCE

Constable Reid at Winnipeg Got Stiff Penalty Today.

[By Special Wire to The Courier] WINNIPEG, Man., Jan. 29.—Ex-Constable Robert J. Reid, one of Kraichenko's guards and self-confessed participant in the plot which effected Kraichenko's escape, appeared before Sir Hugh John McDonald, police magistrate this morning and was sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary.

"I consider your offense exactly on a par with that of a sentry who deserts his post in the face of an enemy," said Sir Hugh John McDonald, police magistrate, this morning in sentencing to the maximum penalty of seven years in the penitentiary, Robert C. Reid, who as city police constable and guard of Jack Kraichenko accused of murder and bank robbery, assisted Kraichenko to escape.

Reid stood at attention and said not a word during the proceedings, showing no emotion on his countenance, except when counsel mentioned his aged parents whom he might never see again if given maximum sentence. "By your actions," said Magistrate McDonald, "you have brought discredit upon the whole force with which you were connected. You have disgraced the uniform you wore and violated the oath you took. You appeared yourself before the police commission and before the royal commission investigating this affair. You aided in turning loose upon society a most dangerous criminal and you deliberately furnished him a deadly automatic revolver knowing his desperate character and that chances were those most likely to fall victim to it were your fellow members of the force. I will not say you had murder in your heart when you did this, but I will say that you were absolutely reckless of consequence."

The magistrate intimated he would have imposed a longer term had that been possible. R. W. Craig, Reid's counsel, made a long plea for leniency and presented on prisoner's behalf, a petition signed by nearly five hundred residents of the vicinity of Astoria, Ore., where Reid lived until five years ago when at the age of 21 he joined the Toronto police force. The petition, which was brought to Winnipeg yesterday by Reid's brother, setting out he had always carried a good name there and that he and his family were highly respected.

INCREASES GIVEN BY THE COUNTY COUNCIL

Constable Kerr, Jailor Brown and Dr. Palmer Get More Money.

The applications for an increase in salary made by Jailor County Constable Kerr, Dr. Palmer, goal surgeon and Jailor Brown, did not go unheeded by the County Council. The councilors made remarks of a highly complimentary character concerning the officer. He was reported to be very willing to render services at great inconvenience to himself. Constable Kerr gets $300 and fees now.

"Dr. Palmer and Jailor Brown, who are both regarded as efficient in their capacities were granted increases asked for. Jailor Brown was given an increase of $50, which makes his salary $500, and Dr. Palmer $100 which brings his salary up to $300. By-laws were put through appointing Councilor George E. Cooke, a member of the Board of Criminal Audit and James Miller of Paris, county representative on the Paris Board of Education.

INGERSOLL, Jan. 29.—Last night the junior O. H. A. game with the Baptist College of Woodstock, resulted in a victory for Ingersoll by a score of 9 to 5. Although the ice was heavy the game was fast. Gordon, in goal for the visitors, played very brilliant stops. Ingersoll opened each half with a successive count of four goals. With the score 8 to 3, Woodstock counted two in succession and Ingersoll got another just before the whistle sounded.

AN EUGENIC FAILURE

Wisconsin's new Eugenic Marriage Law, the drastic nature of which has aroused so much comment, has been ruled as unconstitutional in the courts of the state, and is now a dead letter. A citizen of the state provoked the issue in the courts after being refused a marriage license because of his failure to produce the required health certificate.

The fate of this law carries with it a moral to all who insist arbitrarily upon drastic legislation to put into practice the principles of eugenics. The courts held that the discredit of law was unreasonable and a material impairment of the inalienable right of the fit to enter upon the marriage state. As a matter of cold fact, hardly more than one per cent of the physicians of Wisconsin were equipped to make the health test laid down in this law as essential to legal marriage.

Regarding marriage, a wise man or woman, has said that money should never be the consideration, but it should always be a consideration. Why not the same regarding health? To make physique the essential consideration in legal marriage without regard to character, temperament, religion, ideas and ideals—to say nothing of affection—all of which have a considerable bearing upon conjugal happiness, is about as reasonable as to apply these other tests in the breeding of prize cattle.

We fancy the human race will have to decrease and deteriorate considerably before eugenics becomes anything more than an interesting theory. Just at present, a law prohibiting eugenic marriages, entered into without regard to the other considerations we have suggested, would meet the public demand and repel criticism much better than a law compelling them.

MONEY, GOOD AND BAD

The Montreal Daily Mail, in an article on Money has this to say: "There is no use beating about the bush. Money is an important factor in success to-day. The parent who allows his son to grow up without placing a correct estimate upon the value of money does the young man an injury. We have got to place an estimate and a high estimate upon the value of money. There is no use blinking the facts. It is injustice to bring up children for an idealistic existence; we have got to prepare them for a life which, however we may deplore it, is the one they will have to go through."

The Mail goes on to say that while money is at the root of most evil, lack of money is at the root of a good deal of evil too, and that the man who desires success and comfort and security from misfortune must have money. It is well, no doubt, that this side of the question should be presented. It represents an important aspect of the truth. Undoubtedly many lives are wrecked or blighted for lack of money, which lack in turn may be traced to want of proper training in youth as to the use and meaning of money. There is a deplorable ignorance or indifference among many people in regard to this subject, and much deplorable failure and suffering in consequence.

And yet there is the other side of the question, which can, by no means be ignored with safety. The love of money for its own sake too often leads to a woeful perversion of the whole purpose and meaning of life. As a matter of fact, many of the things that are best worth while, the things that help to sweeten life, and make it better worth the living, are not to be valued in terms of money at all, and are not to be purchased by money. Many of the most enduring satisfactions of life have no relation to money. It is quite possible for a man to be very wealthy, and extremely poor according to every rational standard of right living.

The problem is hit upon by the happy medium between the two extremes of the utter ignorance and indifference as to the use of money and the treatment of money as if it meant everything. By all means let the pa-cut teach his son the value of money; but the more he dwells on this phase of his son's education the more necessary it is to emphasize the value of character and taste of culture.

REGULATING THE WEATHER

For long we have been satisfied that anything which would tend to give opinions on the weather a greater significance and make them more interesting, would be received with acclaim by countless thousands of lured business men and others. Therefore the declaration of Sir Oliver Lodge, President of the British Association, that it may be possible to control the weather, comes as a rift in the cloud of more or less uninteresting scientific predictions we have been getting for some time past.

If the time is coming when the weather shall be controlled by human agencies, we must prepare for the advent of that development. We must get the raincoat of perspicacity, and put up the umbrella of watchfulness. We must keep the control of the weather away from the big corporations. We must not let the iceman and the coal man battle for it. We must keep it, as well, out of the grasp of small politicians and give it into the hands of our statesmen.

And then let us wish them well of it! They are going to have a lively time, especially in Canada. We have a huge demand coming for the initiative, referendum and recall—with emphasis on the "recall." When the Baptists are going to have a church picnic and somebody puts his foot on the "wet" pedal, a big vote is going to change. March 17 and July 12 also will have to be mighty fine days. Along about December there will be varieties of trouble with the sporting public looking for hockey, who may charge that the statesmen are keeping up the balmy breezes with the selfish idea of having fine going on the links. We may get used to the new situation in time, but we fancy the oldest inhabitant will sometimes hunger for the good old days when he enjoyed a flattering prestige as a prophet and an historian.

A SHIP'S MEMORY

In 1908 the Laurier government put the following words into the mouth of the Governor-General in the Speech from the Throne: "The Dominion has been blessed by a long series of prosperous years, and though at the present moment business is being restricted by the financial stringency which prevails throughout the world, I feel assured that this unfavorable condition will be temporary and that the limitless resources of Canada and the world-wide recognition of them give us ample guarantee of continued material progress."

There was "no indication" in the Speech from the Throne of 1908 of any intention on the part of the Laurier government to take steps towards relieving such situation. But what a difference in 1914! The Speech from the Throne stated that: "Canada has been favoured by a long series of prosperous years, and although at the present moment business is slightly restricted by the financial stringency which prevails throughout the world, I feel assured that this condition will be merely temporary, and that the boundless resources of this Dominion, which are so fully and universally known and recognized, give us the fullest assurance of continued material prosperity and progress."

And Sir Wilfrid Laurier, he of the short memory, moves this amendment: "We regret to have to represent to Your Royal Highness that in the gracious speech with which you have met Parliament, whilst it is admitted that business is in a depressed condition, yet there is no indication of any intention on the part of your advisers to take any steps towards relieving such a situation." Reader, can you beat it! Even apart from the fact that the expression "business is in a depressed condition," wasn't in the speech at all. Can you beat it?

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Did you buy a pair of boots for a dollar this morning? Parcel post and lower postal rates come into force February 10. This is one piece of constructive legislation which the Senate did not kill.

The Courier is heartily glad in assisting to "make" Merchants' Dollar Day the success which it is undoubtedly proving to-day.

Ex-President Bill Taft in an address at Toronto yesterday condemned the popular vote. Possibly he had memories of reciprocity in 1911. Jagersfontein, South Africa, has closed its saloons, says a despatch. Can you wonder at it, with such an attractive name for the trade? Sir James Whitney is surely upholding his reputation as a valiant fighter. In this, his latest combat, the treatment of money as if it meant everything. By all means let the pa-

PASS CHRISTIAN

Pass Christian, which is now on tap, was never known till recently, and then it sprang upon the map with energy, yet decently. I know not if it be a town, nor what the games they are playing there; you cannot keep a good Pass down when Christians are staying there. Pass Christian, by the public sheets, has boosted been most cleverly, but silence broods upon the streets and in the halls of Beverly. One burg goes up, another down, for burgs are like humanity; humiliation holds one down, while honor swells up with vanity. Pass Christian throbbed upon the wires for its brief day, however, while silent were the minstrel's lyres, and hushed the bells of Beverly. Pass Christian by excitement tossed, saw crowded every hostelry, until her citizens were lost in all the crush and jostle; one day unknown, the next day great, was ever like emergency; to entertain her hordes of guests she threw them all endeavorously, while sorrow filled the many breasts and chilled the hearts at Beverly.

There are a sufficient number of cases in certain districts of Ontario to support the contention of local health authorities that a hospital should be available at once near this city. There is always a floating population and one never can tell when dreaded contagion will spread even from remote centres.

The deportation of strike leaders from South Africa in such an arbitrary manner, lends color to the belief that South Africa is hardly ready with its mixed population for full responsible government and the administration of justice according to British ideals. The fact that there is a big native population which must not be stamped into riot and rampage by the actions of labor leaders is scarcely justification of an encroachment upon the liberty of the subject.

THE BRANTFORD CITY COUNCIL

The Brantford City Council is a miniature parliament, and some of the aldermen, probably lay a lot of stress on this feature. Still there are no Hansards around, which takes some of the glory away. On really important questions however, the reporters can be depended upon to secure condensed but accurate reports of the speeches of civic representatives. The fact that there is so much talk at city council meetings is one of the reasons why commission government is being largely favored.

Brant County Council is not ready to go into a humanitarian scheme of prison farm establishment, preferring to consider the plan on the economic basis of cost. The redemption of men, making them good and useful citizens is beyond the estimate of trivial figures of cost. In this, Hon. W. J. Hanna, Ontario's Provincial Secretary, has launched a notable work, which has made Ontario the vanguard of all other provinces in the Dominion. In fact, representatives from Germany recently paid a visit to the prison farm at Guelph, and were enlightened. Whether Brant goes into the scheme or not, Brantford will probably be there with the other progressive municipalities, and it will be worth while.

British labor leaders at the annual conference at Glasgow yesterday denounced the deportation from South Africa of the leaders of the recent strike and demanded the recall of Viscount Gladstone, the governor-general. Ten of the leaders were taken from Natal yesterday to England.

CANADA A WHITE COUNTRY

Kingston Standard: Perhaps the dangers may not be so great in connection with the immigration of the Hindus, the Chinese, and the Japanese into Canada at present, but if they were allowed free entry, would the risks not become as large in course of time? But the great objection to them is that they are races apart. They cannot assimilate with the people of this country. Their ideas, their modes of living, their morals, their religions, are entirely different. Union of thought and aspiration is the strength of a country; trouble is always wrought by the presence of segregated aliens. If we need proof of this we have but to look at what is going on at the present moment in South Africa in connection with the Hindus. Would it not be absolutely foolish for us to invite similar troubles here?

MORE MONEY

Montreal Gazette: Both the Bank of England and the Bank of Germany yesterday announced reductions in their discount rates. This means that money is accumulating in their vaults faster than has been the rule for some time, and that the holders want to get profitable employment for it. Men with good enterprises following safe lines have reason for satisfaction in such a situation. The investing capitalist will soon be looking for them.

TAKES OFF DANDRUF HAIR STOPS FALLING

Girls! Try this! Makes your hair thick, glossy, fluffy, beautiful.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair, and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance. Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and please that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine. "She would come," Aggie explained.

WITHIN THE LAW

By MARVIN DANA FROM THE PLAY OF BAYARD VEILLER Copyright, 1913, by the H. K. Fry Company.

CHAPTER VIII. The Thief.

MARY was in joyous spirits after her victorious matching of brains against a lawyer of the standing in his profession when she had entered the telephone booth, which had been installed in an extra closet of her bedroom for the sake of greater privacy on occasion. During her absence from the drawing room Garson again came into the apartment seeking her. On being told by Aggie as to Mary's whereabouts he sat down to await her return, listening without much interest to the chatter of the adventures. The maid appeared and said: "There's a girl wants to see Miss Turner." "She says it's important. I guess the poor thing's in hard luck from the look of her," the kindly Fannie added. "Oh, then she'll be welcome, of course!" Aggie declared, and Garson nodded in acquiescence. "Tell her to come in and wait, Fannie, Miss Turner will be here right away." She turned to Garson as the maid left the room. "Mary sure is an easy boob," she remarked cheerfully. "Bless her soft heart!"

A minute later a girl perhaps twenty years of age stepped forth within the doorway and stood there with eyes downcast after one swift furtive glance about her. Her whole appearance was that of dejection. Her soiled black gown, the cowering posture the pallor of her face, proclaimed the abject misery of her state. "Are you Miss Turner?" she asked in a voice broken by nervous dismay. "Really, I am very sorry. Aggie replied primly, "but I am only her cousin. Miss Agnes Lynch. But Miss Turner is likely to be back any minute now."

"Can I wait?" came the timid question. "Certainly," Aggie answered hospitably. "Please sit down." As the girl obediently sank down on the nearest chair Garson addressed her, sharply, so that the visitor started, uneasily at the unexpected sound. "You don't know Miss Turner?" "No," came the faint reply. "Then, what do you want to see her about?" "She once helped a girl friend of mine, and I thought—I thought—" "You thought she might help you," Garson interrupted.

"You have been in stir-prison, I mean," Aggie hastily corrected the lapse into underworld slang. "Yes, I was," the distressed muttering of as sent from the girl. The conversation was put to an end by the entrance of Mary, who stopped short on seeing the limp figure huddled in the chair. "A visitor, Agnes?" she inquired. At the sound of her voice the girl looked up and spoke with some degree of energy.

"You're Miss Turner?" she questioned. "Yes," Mary said. Her words rang kindly and she smiled encouragement. A gasp burst from the white lips of the girl, and she covered as one stricken physically. "Oh, my God! Oh, my God!" She hid her face within her arms and sat bent until her head rested on her knees in an abandonment of misery. Vaguely started by the hysterical outburst from the girl, Mary's immediate thought was that there was a pitiful instance of one suffering from starvation.

"Joe," she directed rapidly, "have Fannie bring a glass of milk with an egg and a little brandy in it, right away." The girl in the chair was shaking soundlessly under the stress of her emotions. A few disjointed phrases fell from her quivering lips. "I didn't know—oh, I couldn't!" "Don't try to talk just now," Mary warned, reassuringly. "Wait until you've had something to eat." Aggie, who had observed developments closely, now lifted her voice in tardy lamentations over her own stupidity. "Why, the poor hawk's hungry!" she exclaimed, and I never got the dope on her. Ain't it the simp!" The girl regained a degree of self control and showed something of forlorn dignity.

"Yes," she said dully, "I'm starving." Mary regarded the afflicted creature with that sympathy born only of experience. "Yes," she said softly, "I understand." Then she spoke to Aggie. "Take her to my room and let her rest there for awhile. Have her drink the egg and milk slowly and then lie down for a few minutes anyhow."

Half an hour afterward Aggie reported with her charge, who, though still shambling of gait and stooping, showed by some faint color in her face and an increased steadiness of bearing that the food had already strengthened her much. "She would come," Aggie explained.

"I thought she ought to rest for awhile longer anyhow." "I'll all right, I tell you," came the querulous protest. "Are you quite sure?" Mary said to the girl. "Then tell us all about it—this trouble of yours, you know. What is your name?" "Helen Morris."

"I don't have to ask if you have been in prison. Your face shows it." "I-I came out—three months ago." "And you'd made up your mind to go straight?" "Yes." "The word was a whisper. You were going to do what the husband had told you?" Mary went on. "You were going to start all over again, weren't you?" "The bent head of the girl bent lower in assent. "It doesn't work very well, does it?" "No, I'm whipped."

Mary's manner changed. She spoke cheerfully for the first time. "Well, then, how would you like to work with us?" "You—you mean that?" "Our kind of work pays well when you know how. Look at us. Suppose I should stake you for the present and put you in with a good crowd. All you would have to do would be to answer advertisements for servant girls. I will see that you have the best of references. Then, when you get in with the right people you will open the front door some night and let in the gang. Of course you will make a getaway when they do and get your bit as well."

There flashed still another of the swift, sly glances, and the lips of the girl parted as if she would speak. But she did not; only her head sagged even lower on her breast and the shrunken form grew yet more shrunken. "It doesn't suit you? Good! I was in hopes it wouldn't. So, here's another plan. Suppose you could go west—some place where you would have a fair chance, with money enough so you could live like a human being till you got a start?" "There came a tensing of the relaxed form, and the head lifted a little, so that the girl could look at her questioner.

"I will give you that chance," Mary said simply, "if you really want it." The wretched girl sat suddenly erect and her words came eagerly. "Oh, I do!" And now her hungry gaze remained fast on the face of the woman who offered her salvation. "Then I have just one thing to say to you first. If you are going to live straight start straight, and then go through with it. Do you know what that means?" "You mean keep straight all the time?" The girl spoke with a force drawn from the other's strength. "I mean more than that. I mean forget that you were ever in prison. I don't know what you have done—I don't think I care. But whatever it was, you have paid for it—a pretty big price tag." "I have, I have!" The thin voice broke, walling.

"Well, then," Mary went on, "just begin all over again, and be sure you stand up for your rights. Don't let them make you pay a second time. Go where no one knows you, and don't tell the first people you are kind to you that you have been crooked. If they think you are straight, why, be it. Then nobody will have any right to complain. Will you promise me this?" "Yes, I promise," came the answer, very gravely, quickened with hope. "Good!" Mary exclaimed, with a smile of approval. "Wait a minute," she added and left the room. "Hub! Pretty soft for some people," Aggie remarked to Garson, with a sniff. Mary returned soon. In her hand she carried a roll of bills. She went to the girl and held out the money. "Take this. It will pay your fare west and keep you quite awhile if you are careful."

But, without warning, a revulsion seized on the girl. She shrunk again and turned her head away as her body trembled. "I can't take it!" she exclaimed. "I can't! I can't!" "Didn't you come here for help?" (To be continued.)

TUMOR IN THE STOMACH

Completely Removed When She Took "Fruit-a-tives"

Newbury, Ont., April 4th, 1913. "Some years ago, I was sick in bed, and thought I was going to die. I had a growth in my stomach, which doctors said was a tumor and they thought that the only thing to do was to get the hospital and have the tumor cut out. I dreaded an operation although both doctors said it was the only cure I would die before being operated on. At this time, my mother in Alvinston sent me some 'Fruit-a-tives' and induced me to try them as she had heard of another woman who had been cured of a similar growth in the stomach by taking 'Fruit-a-tives'."

"To please my mother, I began to take 'Fruit-a-tives' with the happy result that my tumor was completely removed. I had a doctor since and my health is first class. I recommend 'Fruit-a-tives' every time I get a chance and I will be glad to have you publish this letter as the woman may now be a sufferer from the same trouble and 'Fruit-a-tives' will cure her." COUNCIL HEARS DEPUTATION

(Continued from Page 1) been practically admitted that Mr. Schuyler would serve the county better if his office was located at Brantford. The main grounds upon which it was submitted that the office should be moved was that Brantford is a centre, enabling the representative to reach all parts of the county much more quickly. He could reach the farmer by telephone and likewise the farmer could reach him. The use of both the Bell and Machine telephone was afforded in this city while only the Bell telephone was available at Paris. He was very much surprised that the office had been located at Paris as he believed the representative could do better work by having the office located in this city.

Councillor Evans said that he believed the representative had offices in this city, which is a fact. It was then stated that he was not always at the office in this city on Saturdays. The statement was made that some farmers in Onondaga Township had said that they had never known Mr. Schuyler to visit Onondaga. Because of the location of the office many could not take the short course and the number taking the course this year was even smaller than last year. The course was valuable to farmers sons. Difficulty was being experienced in keeping the boy on the farm, and if he were given an opportunity to study the scientific portion of farming it was believed that the boy would more readily remain upon the farm. The location of the office in this city had been changed several times and the farmers did not know where to locate the representative.

Councillor Evans wanted to know why the office was put in Paris in the first place. He thought the point of the whole thing was that the farmer wanted to come to Brantford instead of to Paris. The office had been established in Paris and the classes were being conducted in connection with the High School. Mr. Schuyler was ready to visit all parts of the county and the Councillor thought this should be satisfactory.

Mr. George Ballachev said that he believed the representative could reach all parts of the country better by having his office located in this city. Mr. Lewis said that politics had had something to do with the office being located at Paris.

Continuing his plea that the office remain where it is now located, Councillor Evans said, "Well, did you ever know him to fail or refuse when asked to come any place?"

Mr. Edwards said it was not of so great importance whether or no Mr. Schuyler was in his office as he was expected to be out among the farmers. The point was the location of the office where Mr. Schuyler might reach the farmers quickly and as Brantford was about 30 miles from all points it was more to be desired as the headquarters, than Paris, which was about 30 miles from some points in the county. The greatest good to greatest number is my policy.

"Would you mind telling us how far it is from Brantford to the farthest point in Burford," asked Councillor Evans? It was said to be about 25 miles. Unfair to Three Quarters. Mr. Malcolm, who stated that he was as much responsible for the deputation waiting upon the council as anybody, thought that having the office located in Paris, was being unfair to at least three quarters of the county residents. He understood that Mr. Schuyler had never been in Cathcart or New Durham. He mentioned the increased facilities for telephoning existing in Brantford. If the county had had a say there, would have been a big majority in favor of locating the office at Brantford.

He Opposed It. Col. Fraser opposed the changing of the location of the office. When the farmer visits Brantford he does so for the purpose of transacting business and has little time in which to take up any matter with the representative. The schools could provide accommodation for the conducting of the course, therefore accommodation would have to be secured elsewhere and this would mean expense. Probably in the future it might be alright to change the location of the office, but for the present he was in favor of leaving it where it is at present located.

Councillor Cook said that the county would only have to pay $500 as at present, no matter where the office was located and therefore he did not believe bringing the office to this city, which would entail further expense. The Colonel told Councillor Cook that although the county would pay more in directly, the county would be charged.

Admitted That More Central. Mr. George Telfer, Paris, admitted that Brantford was more central, but it was the idea of the government to have the office located in the smallest towns. If the office was moved it would disturb the work now going on as far as reaching the people. Paris was fairly handy. The representative could reach Brantford quite easily. It was true there were outlying sections such as Onondaga to be considered but the farmers were willing to come to Paris. He believed that a good office could be established in Brantford and an assistant in charge continually. He wanted the office left in Paris for another year at least.

Could Make Tests. Mr. Vansickle of Onondaga said that he had visited the Brantford office and he had found several people there, but he had not found the representative but he had found there was no one in charge of the office. All equipment was at Paris, but if this equipment was at Brantford, tests might be made by the farmers, who could not now make the tests, owing to the location of the office. Speaking of the short course which he considered very valuable, he said the boy from the outlying localities could not return home each evening. The boys must be protected.

Almost Unanimous. Mr. Ballachev said the course was not held in the High School, but in the public school. He had been told that the class should be conducted in a room adjacent to the office of the representative in order that the equipment might be available. There was not one farmer in a hundred who did not admit that the office should be located at Paris.

Mr. Jas. Young said he had a boy who wanted to attend the course. If he went to Paris he would be away for the entire duration of the course and he required his services in the evening to assist with the farm work. If the class was held at Brantford he could return home each evening. The president of the South Brant Farmers' Institute thought that it would be folly to spend a large sum of money at Paris, then after a year bring the office to Brantford. It was for the most good to the most people that the request was made to have the office removed to this city. The speech-making over, Warden Milne said that the council would give the matter the proper attention.

Chairman Changed. Upon a motion introduced by Councillor Cooke, seconded by Councillor Jennings, the first named councillor was made chairman of the finance committee, the second named councillor remaining a member of the committee; also Mr. Jennings became chairman of the road and bridges committee.

Auditors Appointed. A by-law was put through appointing Jas. A. Smith and Percy M. Burton, auditors for 1914, each to receive as remuneration, $40.

Communications. The Warden was authorized to issue his order on the treasurer for the payment of prize money awarded to amateur exhibitors at the Winter Fair.

Communications from the Teachers' Association and County Council of Perth were filed.

ALIENISTS ON STAND. NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Alienists for the defence were slated to take the stand this afternoon at this, the second trial of Hans Schmidt, the former priest, who confessed to murdering Anna Amuller. Counsel agreed that each side would call only two alienists. It is expected that the case will be in the jury's hands by the end of the week. The first jury disagreed.

Too Many Graveyards. Commenting on the number of graveyards proposed to be acquired by the Naas No. 1 District Council, Mr. L. J. Colgan said they were putting them on all the land in the country. There was nothing but graveyard schemes being put forward now, when there was hardly any population in the country.

LOOKING GOOD

Shareholders in Mapes-Johnson Proposition Met on Wednesday.

The annual meeting of the Mapes-Johnson Mining Company was held yesterday afternoon in the Foresters' Hall, Heyd Block, there being an attendance of some sixty or seventy shareholders.

In the absence of the president, Mr. J. G. Cohoe, who is spending the winter in the South, Mr. E. L. Goolb, vice-president occupied the chair. The directors report was of an encouraging character, showing that excellent development work was in progress at the mine and that the superintendent was hopeful of a splendid body of milling ore being secured. The financial statement was most satisfactory.

A number of by-laws were ratified and the following directors elected for the year: Messrs J. G. Cohoe, E. L. Goolb, C. H. Waterous, W. H. Whittaker and F. L. Mapes.

Shows How Easy It Is To Get Rid Of Kidney Trouble And Lame Back

Bell Rock, Frontenac Co., Ont. "For 15 years, I could get nothing to help my kidneys, they were so bad. The pain went all through my back and shoulders and down my legs. When I would sit for a while, I could not straighten up until I had walked a rod or more. A neighbor advised me to take GIN PILLS. I did so and six boxes cured me. It is about two years since I quit GIN PILLS. My back is now all right. No pain in back or legs and I can walk all right. GIN PILLS are worth their weight in gold to anyone suffering with kidney trouble." D. A. YORKE.

CORDAGE COMPANY HAS DEVELOPED

Annual Meeting of the Shareholders Was Held Yesterday Afternoon.

The annual meeting of the Brantford Cordage Co. was held yesterday afternoon at the handsome new office of the company in Wes. Brantford, Mr. C. Cook, the President, occupied the chair. The financial report for the year was of a very encouraging character, showing substantial trading profits. A large addition to the factory has been effected out of earnings of this year; the mill will have a capacity of 3,000 tons of binder twine as against 2,000 tons last year. When the new machinery is installed a number of extra hands will be employed. A handsome new warehouse in three sections replaces the old warehouse destroyed by fire last year. A fire sprinkling system is also being installed.

Altogether the Cordage Company has now one of the best equipped binder twine plants on the continent; a plant that reflects great credit on the manager, Mr. C. L. Messécar.

The old board of directors were re-elected, viz: Messrs C. Cook, S. G. Kitchen, C. L. Messécar, J. R. Smith, S. G. Simpson and A. Bala...

SAGE AND SULPHUR DARKENS GRAY HAIR

Brush This Through Faded, Lifeless Locks and They Become Dark, Glossy, Lustrous. Hair that loses its color and lustre or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value their hair's color, this beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture by asking at any drug store for a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. Besides, it takes off dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance. Agent, T. George Bowles.

Hints on Beauty Culture

Popular Droop Figure Injurious to Health

By MAGGIE TETTE

Prima Donna of the Chicago-Philadelphia Opera Company.

MAGGIE TETTE

If you find that you are growing short, it is high time that you begin to exercise. Age manifests itself by shortening the stature of its victim as quickly as by the lines in the face and the "silver threads among the gold."

If you would fight the approach of age, and it is the present day idea to deny every state of being but youth and the prime of life, you must stand correctly. If you want to droop in the foolish way of the moment, why do so, knowing that you will have just so much more work to do when the fat passes, and pass it will, and feminine backs regain the position of uprightiness.

Do you know the secret of the everlasting youth of that famous beauty, Ninon de l'Enclos?

It was her perfectly erect carriage which made the lines of her figure all ways young. So delightfully youthful was this interesting lady that her rivals, driven desperate by her perennial charm, circulated the report that she was somewhat bewitched and that she had made a secret compact with the devil by which she was to retain her youth fadeless to the end.

You must have a straight line for your back. The present day spine awakens compassion. It looks so like a bad case of double curvature. It may be tolerated in the very young miss, whose bones are supple enough to be remoulded before any permanent injury is done.

But for the mature woman it is the foundation of old age, likewise of no end of discomfort and needless fatigue. The instant you let your chest droop, you lessen your efficiency. The chest is the seat of courage. Drop your chest and you lose faith in yourself. Expand it, pull it up and out in the place it had a right to be and you are by 25 per cent. gainer in belief in your ability. It also makes you look taller and it fights old age with its natural droop as nothing else will do.

When you have your chest raised, raise your head. Let the faddists stick theirs out like a stork, or a crane, or in any way that pleases them, but please, dear sister of mine, find your own balance and keep it.

This is the time of the year when you want to take special care of your health as well as your good looks. Dress warm enough for comfort and not have that half-frozen look which would arouse pity if we noticed it on some poor wail, but is quite as distressing to unprejudiced eyes when it comes from no patibonds, gauze stockings and thin pumps.

For the woman who has her heated motor whenever she goes out, this way of dressing is all right. But I am talking to the girl who has to walk or depend upon the car, and who is exposed to the weather every day, and whose living depends upon her health. Such girls need clothes enough to keep them warm. Woollen underwear is a great comfort and a great beautifier. And you may snuff in disdain and turn up your pretty noses all you please at the statement. But if you think there is any beauty in blue lips and red noses and soiled cheeks, you are all hunched up in spite of the furs about the neck and hands, you are mistaken. You can't be comfortable with cold shivers running up and down your spine, even if the buckles on your shoes are solid gold. And you can't feel pleasant when you are shivering. And you can't have any radiant beauty when your body and mind are both in discomfort.

HARD STUDY :: By MICHELSON

SHOULD you be sorry for this young man? Or should you congratulate him? You should sympathize, certainly, with the torture of his effort to concentrate on that law book with such distracting visions in his mind.

On the other hand, you can't but feel that he is well off to find such charming spectacles before his mind's eye. Rich young man! Dreams of wealth could have no such tantalizing fascination. Yet to realize on this sort of riches he must dig into the law book and WIN OUT. Rich visions like these COST MONEY sooner or later. That one face that is there somewhere will mean obligations, effort, steadfastness, conquest—and the kind of home that rightly frames that sort of face.

So you may guess the conflict in the mind of this young man. He has HARD STUFF ahead of him. He knows it. Yet the faces WILL keep floating into his thought. He is up against the eternal problem.

"Snow Blindness" Seldom Comes from Real Snow

By Dr. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

A. B. M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins)

Copyright, 1914, by L. K. Hirschberg.

HAVE you ever had snow blindness? The winds may blow and the sun may shine, yet you may suffer this annoyance.

Like many other complaints, such as "malaria," which has nothing directly to do with either air or badness, snow blindness is not necessarily associated with either blindness or with snow.

Odd as it may sound, snow blindness is a lamentably neglected ailment in America, the land of the great medical achievements. Ask the next man you meet whether he ever heard of snow blindness. Ten chances to one he will think you are jesting. If he happens to be that one, he will say: "Fah! we only have snow two or three times around our way. Nobody ever has snow blindness."

Many ocular maladies in the winter which pass in medical conage for "pink eye," "conjunctivitis," "inflamed lids," "sore eyes" and a horde of dramatic maladies, are really acute infections induced by the reflected glare of snow or ice.

Snow blindness is the scourge of the Arctic explorer and the dread of the far northerner. It is not, however, unknown in the far South. Whenever a snow may form; wherever a foot-front of a hall and ice storm has prevailed, there the eye inflammations known as snow blindness may appear.

Answers to Health Questions

Q. M. M.—What is a good remedy to cure redness of the hands?

Beau Brummel used naively to hold his hands high above his head every five or ten minutes. This is not a good exercise and certainly allows the blood to leave the extremities.

Washing the hands in benzoin tincture or peroxide of hydrogen will also help. A tonic is an additional aid. In massaging the hands always rub them from the heart and never away from it.

J. G.—Open windows in the fall and winter give me colds in the head and a choked-up nose. Why?

Because you grow timorous at the first signs, instead of boldly defying the cold, fresh air. No doubt you fail to provide extra heavy bed covers. Many persons who wisely try open-air sleeping foolishly neglect to use several blankets and comforters on their beds.

It is also a mistake to get up and dress in a room where the windows are open. It is better to close the windows and heat the room slightly in the morning while dressing.

A. M. B.—You say that telepathy has never been proved? I say that it has. Your denial of telepathy is no greater than Sir Oliver Lodge's and Sir William Crookes's admission of it!

When I say that there has never been any proof of telepathy adduced—when it is accepted and when has stood the test of truth—I state a fact which the personal opinions of all the Lodges, Crookes's, Swedenborg, Edie, Fox and Thayers in the world cannot counterbalance.

The Business Girl.

GLANCED at my tiny ivory clock. The hands pointed to 9. Then I looked expectantly at the phone. It was his time for calling—either to make an engagement, or to talk over the occurrences of the day. Fleming's voice came clearly over the wire.

"Hello; that you, lass? Anything to do this evening?...Just where I'm going myself...Wanted to take you along...But beat me to it...Bad luck to him! Had a busy day?...That's great!...My coat?...Getting along pretty well...That right and eye fixed me up in good shape...Mother kissed me when I came in and from the look in her eyes I knew she thought I'd done something shocking...Yes, I told her you were responsible when she calmed down immediately...Well, I've spent a hum-drum day of it, little out of the ordinary...One incident you'll appreciate...Dropped in at the Flemings late this evening to deliver a package from mother. You knew the Flemings, widow and two daughters. Since they lost their money Mrs. Fleming and Hazel have been rapping the home end of things and Mary Fleming has been bringing in the money for the family...When I ran by this evening I found Mrs. Fleming and Hazel in great distress...No, not greatly distressed—great distress...It seems Mary insists on the keeping a family account book—she gives them a budget for expenses and they are expected to live within it...This week things haven't panned out well and Hazel and her mother were almost crying because it was time for Mary to come in and the accounts were not balanced. They asked me to help them get their bills straightened out, for it seems

One of Nature's Successes

By WINIFRED BLACK

Winifred Black

ONCE upon a time the poet married the business woman—and all the friends of both the bride and groom threw up their hands in horror.

"How can that woman ever stand living with that man," said the people who had known the bride ever since she put pennies in the savings bank, and loved to count how many of them there were—just for the fling.

"He's always in debt, he never knows where his hat is; he'll bring home the queerest kind of people to dinner; and she'll have to hang on to his arm all the time to keep him from stumbling while his head is in the clouds. Poor thing, what a mistake she's making."

The friends of the poet were chilled with horror at the very idea of the marriage.

"What!" they whispered thrillingly, each to each. "What! Our genius mate with such a plodder! Why, it's Pegasus yoked with an ox of the field; it's a sky-lark mated to a spotted quail. What happiness can be found in such a frightful slavery as will be his? She'll go to sleep when he's reading her his verses; she'll take one of his romances to light the fire; she'll expect him to add and subtract like a bank clerk—poor poet! His heart will break in six months."

And, strange to say, both sets of friends were perfectly right.

The poet was absolutely miserable with his practical wife, and the practical wife was bored almost to madness by her visionary husband.

They lived together, somehow, anyhow—for 10 years. And then they separated, each so glad to get rid of the other that there wasn't even a pretense of regret at the last meeting.

A failure—an utter and complete failure, that marriage? Not the least little bit in the world—a success, a splendid, shining, magnificent success in the only sense in which nature cares to reckon at all.

The poet was miserable, his wife was wretched—but I met the three children of the pair the other day.

A tall boy with the eyes of a saint and the resolute mouth of a practical man of affairs. A sweet girl with her father's dreamy smile and her mother's bright look of practical ability. A chubby little rascal with the brow of the dreamer and the square set shoulders of the man who will make his own way in the world with his own way in the world from stumbling.

A success, that marriage, so nature calls it, a great and splendid success.

Nature knew what she was doing when she called those two absolutely unlike people and said to them, "I need a new type—you're in your family and reparation—come and be miserable together for my sake and for the sake of the splendid children your very unlikeness will give to the world."

"Happy—why should you be happy? Who are you, anyway?" Nothing but individuals.

"It is the race I care for—and the race alone. Come. The race needs your sacrifice."

I wonder if that isn't what nature is trying to do so many times when we look at what seems to be an ill assorted match, and can't imagine what on earth induced those two particular people ever to marry.

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

Dear Annie Laurie: I have the nicest brother in the world. He is very intelligent, and just as good as he can be, but he's always trying to show off. Whenever I introduce him to any one, he tries to be funny and say smart things, and I get so mad at him I could shake him. I do wish you'd say something about people like that, and I'll get him to read it. Maybe he'll pay some attention to it if it was printed in a newspaper.

SISTER.

HOW old is brother, sister—somewhere between 21 and 27? If he is, I wouldn't worry about the "showing off." Every man in the world has a showing-off side in his life—that's the old primal male of him getting to the front. Haven't you ever seen a rooster strut around the barnyard, just to make all the hens cack excited comments on his glory and splendor?

That's what brother is doing, sister. He wants all the ladies to cack over him; he doesn't know it, but that's all that's the matter with him. Poor fellow, some day he'll get over the "rooster" period of his life. Then he'll turn red all over every time he thinks of it.

In the meantime the only thing you can do is to grin and bear it—and be sure you grin all the time you're bearing it. That's the important part.

Annie Laurie

Miss Laurie will welcome letters of inquiries on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. They should be addressed to her care this office.

Daddy's Good Night Story

By GEORGE HENRY SMITH

"COCK-A-DOODLE-DO!"

"I wonder what that terrible noise is," said Dobbin one day, as he looked all around his stall, and then he exclaimed: "Oh! it's you, Mister Bantam. I shall have to call you the Rooster with the tin horn voice."

"Pshaw!" exclaimed Mister Bantam. "You are angry because you can't crow like that."

"You should remember," began Dobbin, "the more noise they make. Besides, my ears are very sensitive. A horse's ears and eyes are very important. I can see in the dark, and I can hear farther than my master. All there is to a Rooster is his crow. A horse is very useful. What earthly use are you?"

"I greet the morning with a crow and I scratch worms for Mrs. Cackle," answered Mister Bantam, squinting one eye.

"Don't squint your eye at me like that," said Dobbin.

"How did you know I was squinting my eye at you?" asked Mister Bantam in surprise.

"I can see behind me as well as in front of me," said Dobbin. "My master puts blinders on me so as to keep me from seeing what is going on behind me. I do not like it much either."

"I did not know that about a horse," said Mister Bantam. "When your master rides you, why don't you have blinders?"

"Because there is nothing behind me—my master is on my back."

"I see," replied Mister Bantam. "But you have iron on your feet and you never could scratch for worms in the garden as I do."

"No, it is not necessary for me to dig worms in the garden, for that is what those feet of yours are made for. Those hard things on the ends of your toes are just like the hard things on the end of my legs. You see, we have such hard roads I have to keep iron on my feet to keep from wearing them out."

Mister Bantam lay up on the manger and Dobbin jumped. "If I am so small, why did you jump?" asked Mister Bantam.

"A horse is always afraid of anything unusual and I did not know you were coming," said Dobbin.

"What wonderful eyes you have," said the Little Rooster.

"Yes," began Dobbin, "they make you look twelve times as big as you really are."

"Cock-a-doodle-do-do!" crowed Mister Bantam. "I have always wanted to be bigger than the Red Rooster," and with that he flew away.

That Son-In-Law of Pa's--By Wellington

(Copyright 1914 by Newspaper Feature Service)

PARIS TEAM DIED WITH BOOTS ON AGAINST LONDON--A GREAT GAME

It Was a Fiercely Contested Affair In Which Ten Minutes Overtime Was Played--Game Finished With Seven Men--Paris Would Have Won on Hard Ice.

(By our own Reporter).

Before a crowd of over two thousand spectators, which filled the Palace rink to its capacity, Paris again was defeated for the second time this season at the hands of London Teemsehs by the close score of 2-1, it taking the Indians ten minutes overtime to do the trick. Long before the time announced for the game, standing room was at a premium. The game was very fast considering the condition of the ice, which was very soft, and became quite slushy as the game progressed. At the finish of the game it was covered with about an inch of water. The brams were at all stages of the game very interesting and kept the large crowd on edge. About six hundred came down from London and intermediate points. Brantford was also well represented by a goodly number of fans, who made themselves heard by cheering for the boys in green.

Dr. Jerry Laflamme, well known by all hockey fans throughout Ontario, as one of the best forward players in the amateur ranks, and who last year was a member of the famous St. Michael's team of Toronto, was the referee. No complaint could be made concerning his work last night; nothing escaped his notice and at all times had the game well in hand. The game could not be called rough, but there was an abundance of tripping. The majority of the penalties, and they were not many, were of the minor variety.

The Paris team appeared on the ice first and received a deafening ovation from the fans. They were followed a few minutes later by the London Indians, who also received a good reception.

The game started about eight o'clock and was very fast from the start. London showed flashes of their old combination and made things go. The teams certainly appeared to be very evenly matched and fought like Trojans. After eight minutes of fast and furious play, Edwards netted the first goal of the game. He scored from right in front of the nets. This only made the boys in green realize along the boards were often splashed. D. Reid, the brilliant defence man for London received a bad injury being hit by Gordon Gill, who was given a penalty of five minutes rest. Great was the applause almost deafening and continuous for almost five minutes when Gill made the first and only score for Paris. The score was now a tie. Gordon Gill was again chased. Long shots were being lifted at each goal, as it was very hard work getting by the defences and both goal tenders were doing stellar work.

There was no score during the rest of the regular time, although, try as they might, neither team seemed to be able to penetrate far enough in to make scoring possible. Edwards who played right wing for London had some excellent chances and got away nicely but failed to score.

Ten Minutes Overtime. After having ten minutes rest the teams came back, both determined to win. A win for Paris would make a tie between London and Paris, which would mean another game on neutral ice, while a win for London would give them the championship of the group. Play seemed just as fast as before. McAvoy scored in one minute on a low and slow shot which Brown didn't see. London being very lucky in this respect. W. Gill went off.

Shots from Paris sticks came swift and often at Wardrope but he was equal to the occasion saving beams.

fully. McAvoy was knocked out by being hit over the eye and was helped off the ice, the offender being ruled off. Meggs, Hall and Gillies were all off at once for roughing it, and the game became a joke; there being two defence men along with the goal keeper playing for London at one time, while Paris only had four men on the ice. The players seemed to be showing signs of the heavy going and were very tired. The game ended 2 to 1 in favor of London.

Hall, the big defence player looked like the best man on the ice, and was always shadowed by two or three Paris players. Edwards at right wing also put up a stellar game. For Paris Archie Peebles' work was very effective and he was always on the job. Percy Gill also was there with the stuff and never played a better game. Goalkeeper Brown put up a splendid game in goal.

London now go into the semi-finals for the intermediate championship and let us hope that Group No. 8 will win it.

The line up: London: Goal, Wardrope; right defence, Hall; left defence, D. Reid; rover, McAvoy; centre, R. Reid; right wing, Edwards; left wing, Gillies. Paris: Goal, Brown; right defence, R. Gill; left defence, Meggs; rover, Wood; centre, G. Gill; right wing, W. Gill; left wing, A. Peebles.

Referee, Dr. Jerry Laflamme. Toronto, Goal umpires, H. Sykes, Paris; S. McPherson. London, Lineskeeper, C. E. Walker. Paris, J. Sartan of London.

FRANCHISE MAY BE TRANSFERRED

Directors 'Practically Decide on Youngstown, Ohio, as Playing Town.

ST. THOMAS, Jan. 29.—The local directors of the Canadian league club met last night and practically decided to transfer the franchise of the St. Thomas club to Youngstown, Ohio. This action was taken because of the refusal of the council to grant certain considerations.

Negotiations have been under way for some time past with baseball men in the Ohio city, and the action of the adherents in turning down a few requests has given the club good reasons to take the action which will in all probability end in the loss of Canadian League ball to the Railroad City fans.

Secretary Edward Killingsworth of the club, now a resident of London, will go to Youngstown on Monday to make further enquiries in the proposition which looks exceptionally good to the local directors.

The Youngstown gentlemen have, since Erie has been admitted to the organization, notified the St. Thomas club, that they stand ready to purchase the franchise outright from the present owners, and if this is not satisfactory, would consider taking as much stock in a company as the owners desired to sell.

Youngstown has a fine ball park seating 6,000 people, and has a population of over 80,000. The mileage from Erie to Youngstown is no consideration, being only a few hours' ride from the Gem City. The raising of the league to class B ball has been a big boost, and franchises are now worth considerable. Youngstown and Erie were the mainstays of the 12-club Central League of 1912, and Manager Craven of the local club, is loud in his praises of the Ohio city as a ball town, having played a number of years while with Grand Rapids.

SOME COMPLAINING

Gas consumers on Terrace Hill are wondering how long it takes to get the sulphur out of the mains by the new purifying process. It is claimed that the supply on the hill is far from right yet. It is thought, however, that the gas is as good as all right in the centre of the city this morning there were complaints about low pressure.

Masquerade Party

Last evening the Tutela Tennis Club held an enjoyable masquerade party at the home of Mr. Winnett Clark, Mt. Pleasant Road. Dancing and euchre were indulged in. Prizes were awarded for the best costumes. The prizes for the gentlemen were won by Mr. Henry Fitzgerald and Mr. Duncan McLennan, and the prizes for the ladies were won by Mrs. Charles and Mrs. William Brooks.

Chubby Gets It

The solid gold watch offered by the firm of P. H. Secord and Sons, for the most valuable player on the Red Sox team of last year, has been awarded, after consultation between the firm and President T. J. Nelson of the local club, to "Chubby" Coose, who played in every position in the field, and at all times was one of the best players on the team. The watch may be presented to Coose at the ball park next summer.

Against Mausoleums

At the Granite and Marble Dealers Convention to be held in the Russell House, Ottawa, February 3rd, 4th and 5th, a protest will be made against the establishing of mausoleums in the city. The tomb stone men do not look with favor upon this manner of laying away the dead, because it dispenses with the use of tombstones. Mr. John Hill of this city will attend the convention and will reply to the address of welcome, delivered by the Mayor.

Evangelistic Services

The largest attendance so far at the special services in the Calvary Baptist Church was last night. An inspiring song service was followed by an able address by Rev. Llewellyn Brown, on the subject "Safety First." Mr. Brown based his sermon on Matt. 7, 24-29, being the parable of the men who built their houses, one upon the shifting sand, the other upon solid rock. The application that Mr. Brown made of his subject was made more effective by a number of telling illustrations.

Address Advertising

Some Brantford advertising men attended the banquet of the Hamilton Ad Club last night, and were delighted with the address given by H. N. Casson, the noted efficiency and advertising expert. "The trouble with Hamilton," he said, "is that it has no more plan than a lightning bug. You know a lightning bug is brilliant, but it just buzzes around in an aimless sort of way. This may be because its headlight is behind. What you want to do is to say, 'We will do this in 1914, and do that in 1915.'"

Excitement in Legislature At Quebec

Enquiry Will be Commenced at Once—Witnesses May be Arrested.

By Special Wire to The Courier

QUEBEC, Jan. 28.—The committee appointed by the Legislative Assembly to conduct the inquiry into bribery charges against J. O. Mousseau, chairman of the private bills committee, made by The Montreal Daily Mail, met this morning in the Railway Committee's room which was simply packed with members, lawyers and spectators.

J. M. Tellier, leader of the Opposition and C. E. Gault, who at first refused to sit on the committee, reconsidered their decisions. The Hon. L. A. Tassereau was elected chairman, M. E. Nichols and B. A. MacNab were present with their counsel, L. T. Marechal, K. C., and Hector Bisilloy, K. C.

Mr. J. O. Mousseau was absent, but was represented by Aime Geoffrion, K.C. of Montreal. Mr. Marechal requested that the inquiry be enlarged until Friday next, to allow of time to prepare the Mail's case. The chairman, however, thought that a beginning should be made at once.

The counsel for Messrs. Nichols and MacNab then asked that the witnesses who resided in the United States be prosecuted from arrest when they came to give evidence.

A discussion as to this request had started when an adjournment was taken.

Lawyers from the house present said that neither the investigation committee or the legislature had the power to grant the immunity requested by the Canadian Minister of Justice, Borchers, Gilman and Devarennes, members of the Legislative Council mentioned by Nichols and MacNab yesterday in the Legislative Assembly as having accepted money from the Burns Detective Agency, deny the charge emphatically. They say they are in no way mixed up with the Daily Mail's corruption charges and in proper time will establish their innocence.

Three names are expected to be given by Messrs. MacNab and Nichols when they give evidence before the committee in support of their bribery allegations.

With the City Police

Ivan Holban was convicted at the police court this morning on the charge of assault. He has to pay $15 or go to prison for two months.

A little mole upon the back of his neck was an important factor in the identification which settled the conviction.

M. Hawkins of the Keeton Motor Company was passing along Grey street on Tuesday night and overtook two men, one following the other. A little further on he encountered two foreigners, who blocked his path. Glancing back, he saw a foreigner strike a man from the back, and he believed him when he was on the ground. He at once brought a policeman to the scene, and as the three foreigners ran away witnesses got a back view of prisoner, and the wart was noticed. The man was secured by the constable, and proved to be Holban.

Defendant admitted he had been drinking at the same hotel as Hawk and saw him under the influence of intoxicants. He said he knew nothing of the assault, and had just come in this city, from British Columbia the same day.

Asking defendant to turn round and show his back, the magistrate asked witness Hawkins if he identified the man by such view, and witness did. Magistrate Livingston then said he had no doubt that Holban was the man who committed the assault, and fined him $15, five of which will go to Hawk for loss of employment. Witnesses' fees and interpreter's fees amounted to six dollars.

Elwood Oles was advised by the magistrate to change his venue at the court. "Brantford is not too healthy for you," he stated. "You have got to walk circumspectly while you remain in Brantford." He had been brought up by P.C. Blanchard, who found him on the streets at 1.15 a.m., and he could not give a satisfactory explanation. After a severe admonition Oles was allowed to go. He expects soon to be employed in the States.

SEALD TENDERS addressed to the undersigned and endorsed, "Tender for 2nd Extension of New Breakwater, Port Arthur Harbour, Ont.," will be received at this office until 4 p.m. on Monday, March 2, 1914, for the construction of an extension to what is known as the "New Breakwater" in the Harbour of Port Arthur, Thunder Bay and Rainy River District, Ont.

Plans, specifications and form of contract can be seen and forms of tender obtained at this Department and at the office of the District Engineer, Confederation Life Building, Toronto, Ont.; Post Office, Port-Office, Montreal, and Post-Office, Quebec.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to five per cent. (5 p.c.) of the amount of the tender which will be forfeited if the persons tendering decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted, the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender. By order. R. C. DESROCHERS, Secretary.

QUEBEC, Jan. 28.—The committee appointed by the Legislative Assembly to conduct the inquiry into bribery charges against J. O. Mousseau, chairman of the private bills committee, made by The Montreal Daily Mail, met this morning in the Railway Committee's room which was simply packed with members, lawyers and spectators.

J. M. Tellier, leader of the Opposition and C. E. Gault, who at first refused to sit on the committee, reconsidered their decisions. The Hon. L. A. Tassereau was elected chairman, M. E. Nichols and B. A. MacNab were present with their counsel, L. T. Marechal, K. C., and Hector Bisilloy, K. C.

Mr. J. O. Mousseau was absent, but was represented by Aime Geoffrion, K.C. of Montreal. Mr. Marechal requested that the inquiry be enlarged until Friday next, to allow of time to prepare the Mail's case. The chairman, however, thought that a beginning should be made at once.

The counsel for Messrs. Nichols and MacNab then asked that the witnesses who resided in the United States be prosecuted from arrest when they came to give evidence.

A discussion as to this request had started when an adjournment was taken.

Lawyers from the house present said that neither the investigation committee or the legislature had the power to grant the immunity requested by the Canadian Minister of Justice, Borchers, Gilman and Devarennes, members of the Legislative Council mentioned by Nichols and MacNab yesterday in the Legislative Assembly as having accepted money from the Burns Detective Agency, deny the charge emphatically. They say they are in no way mixed up with the Daily Mail's corruption charges and in proper time will establish their innocence.

Three names are expected to be given by Messrs. MacNab and Nichols when they give evidence before the committee in support of their bribery allegations.

With the City Police

Ivan Holban was convicted at the police court this morning on the charge of assault. He has to pay $15 or go to prison for two months.

A little mole upon the back of his neck was an important factor in the identification which settled the conviction.

M. Hawkins of the Keeton Motor Company was passing along Grey street on Tuesday night and overtook two men, one following the other. A little further on he encountered two foreigners, who blocked his path. Glancing back, he saw a foreigner strike a man from the back, and he believed him when he was on the ground. He at once brought a policeman to the scene, and as the three foreigners ran away witnesses got a back view of prisoner, and the wart was noticed. The man was secured by the constable, and proved to be Holban.

Defendant admitted he had been drinking at the same hotel as Hawk and saw him under the influence of intoxicants. He said he knew nothing of the assault, and had just come in this city, from British Columbia the same day.

Asking defendant to turn round and show his back, the magistrate asked witness Hawkins if he identified the man by such view, and witness did. Magistrate Livingston then said he had no doubt that Holban was the man who committed the assault, and fined him $15, five of which will go to Hawk for loss of employment. Witnesses' fees and interpreter's fees amounted to six dollars.

Elwood Oles was advised by the magistrate to change his venue at the court. "Brantford is not too healthy for you," he stated. "You have got to walk circumspectly while you remain in Brantford." He had been brought up by P.C. Blanchard, who found him on the streets at 1.15 a.m., and he could not give a satisfactory explanation. After a severe admonition Oles was allowed to go. He expects soon to be employed in the States.
