A handsome clock displayed in a watchmaker's window bore a card with the words, "Go three hundred days without winding." "That's an interesting clock of yours," said a customer, "but there's one thing I want to know." "What is it?" "How long the clock would go if it were wound up?"

On several occasions last summer Joseph Jefferson had with him as a guide an old colored man to whom had reached dimly, and from afar, the fame of "Rip Van Winkle." One day, when the two were out fishing in a row-boat, he hezarded a few remarks. "Bose, is it a circus you are in?" "Not excretly a circus," said Mr. Jefferson. "Yas, sar. Ye can set, can't ye?" Mr. Jefferson made a modest reply. "Well, sar, I never git to New York, but I'd powerful like to see ye set, sar, and I'd give fifty cents if you'd cut up right now!"

A Sustaining Diet.

These are the enervating days, when, as somebody has said, men drop by mistake as if the Day of Fire had dawned. They are fraught with danger to people whose systems are poorly sustained; and this leads us to say, in the interest of the less robust of our readers, that the full effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla is such as to suggest the propriety of calling this medicine something besides a blood purifier and tonic,—say, a sustaining diet. It makes it much easier to bear the heat, assures refreshing sleep, and will without any doubt avert much sickness at this time of year.

Persecuting the Church in France.

BY THE AUTHOR OF "STAY AND MORLEM."

No. II.

But the Third Republic brushes aside the most important clause of the Concordat, the Charter of 1830, the Loi Falloux of 1850, and the scholar laws of 1885, with the utmost unconcern. "What do we care for legality?" Quite as little as they care for the wishes of the whole nation expressed by innumerable petitions and the vote of the Municipal Councils of the 1500 Communes of France whom the government consulted. One thousand and seventy-five of them voted for the Congregations; about 400 against; the rest abstained. The attitude of the masses in every place where the Congregations were dispersed by the police and regular army leaves not the slightest doubt that, if a referendum had been resorted to, more than two-thirds of the nation would have voted for liberty and the Congregations.

With the astute hypocrisy characterizing him, Waldeck Rousseau professed intense interest in the secular clergy and declared that the Law of 1901 was devised to protect them from the encroachments of the monks. He thought to divide and conquer. Now that seventy-two bishops have petitioned the Chambers on behalf of the Congregations, and the secular clergy have openly and solemnly identified their cause with that of the religious Congregations, this ministerial fiction can no longer be maintained. The Left, or ministerial "block," is clamoring already for the suppression of the secular clergy who, they say, are all "in connivance with the congregation-ists." M. Combes has issued a circular to all bishops, requiring that all churches and chapels "not concordatary," or parochial, be closed, and threatening to close over the parish churches if any member of a religious order be allowed to preach in them. Only four bishops, I am glad to say, have had "the courage to submit," to use the words of a ministerial organ. The language in which the French prelates have expressed their non possumus is worthy of the best traditions of the Church; and when the persecutors shall have completely thrown off the mask, another page will be added to her glorious history.

Jealous no doubt of M. Trouillot's laurels, M. de Pressense, son of a Protestant pastor, has attached his name to a project of law for what is hypocritically called "The Separation of the churches and the State," meaning a project for the complete subjugation of the Catholic Church in order to secure its suppression in France.

It is desirable, I think, that the Lodges should do their worst here and now, but it is not improbable that M. Waldeck-Rousseau is coming back soon, and a halt will be called, as before. M. Combes and his employers must see that they have gone far. Civil war on a small scale has been raging in the streets in many points of France, for two or three weeks; and if the French Catholics carried concealed weapons as people do in Kentucky and South Carolina, the streets would have been running blood. As it is, there have been innumerable bruised heads and limbs, and no end of arrests; among others, M. de Don, a deputy, wearing his insignia of office, appeared handcuffed before the police court and was condemned to three days' imprisonment for "manifesting."

A young lady of two years, Mademoiselle de Morene, was condemned to eight days' imprisonment for having said to a justice of the peace that he acted like a coward, because he had beaten a hasty retreat when he found himself confronted by a few hundred men in the hall of a convent. Here on my boulevard at 4 a. m., two squadrons of cavalry were called upon to aid the police in beating back the crowds who were falling "manifesting" against the expelling of the Franciscans and the closing of a chapel. At Marseilles and other places, the regular cavalry charged the crowds, and barricades had to be erected in the streets. Of course all these grand manifestations of popular feeling are belittled or suppressed by the correspondents of the American papers. In the Evening Post of April 23, a M. O'hon Gasriel, with lofty affectation of impartiality, echoes all the commonplace ministerial clamours against the Congregations, but he has not a word to say about the illegalities of the proceedings of the government from first to last.

The indignant protestations of the foreign colony on the Riviera have suspended for a time the closing of churches on this coast. The ministers have not even the courage to do evil logically and consistently, with equal injustice to all. Arbitrary tyranny marks all their acts, even the most insignificant. M. Waldeck-Rousseau, in his famous political speech two years ago, declared religious vows contrary to French public law; and in the same breath almost, he introduced the law of 1901 inviting the Congregations to demand authorization. His colleague, M. Brisson, at one of the recent sessions at which fifty-four religious orders were executed in globe-gaily declared "that the Republic would never put its signature to an act alienating human liberty." And at that very moment some three or four orders were nesting under the protecting wing of M. Combes. One of these orders, St. John of God, has an excellent establishment at Paris for men in need of surgical operations, similar to the one conducted by the Sisters of St. Augustine at which Madame Walk-Rousseau was recently operated upon. None of these Congregations will be interfered with, no matter how heinous their vows may be. It would be foolish, I repeat, for Catholics to rejoice at the return of M. Waldeck-Rousseau. M. Combes has simply been hired to do an odious job; he will retire gracefully as the former did last year; but the plans of the Lodges will be carried out with unremitting long-drawn, Satanic astuteness. This is the peril I signalized (March 27, 1900) in my first article from France.

Very Rev. Dennis Sebuler, heretofore provincial of Thuringia whom the Franciscan Capitulat Fathers have elected as minister general, was born at Sigmaringen on April 22nd 1854. He entered the order at Fulda, in the Franciscan province of Thuringia, on November 19, 1871. In 1875 he was expelled with the other religious. He went to Belgium, where he received ordination as priest. In 1881 he was sent to the United States, where he lived for 12 years, during six of which he was superior of the Franciscan missions. He was recently recalled to Germany and appointed provincial of the house at Fulda.

When Cardinal Langenieux lay at the point of death, says the "London Catholic Times," the emissaries of M. Combes were particularly busy in the interests of their master. During the day, and even during the night police officers approached the residence where the Cardinal lay sick, and anxiously inquired, not for his health, but whether he was yet dead! Receiving no satisfactory replies to their questions, they stationed themselves near the archiepiscopal palace and eagerly scanned the faces of all persons who came out in the hope of being able to gauge by their looks of sorrow the condition of the sick prelate within. Why was this? There can be only one explanation. The government was desirous of knowing at the earliest moment the disease of the venerable Cardinal in order that it might seal up his goods and seize his mensa. The French Ministry will hardly let a Bishop die in peace! All his life long a prelate in that country must walk warily lest he falls into a trap, and when he comes to die, the Government is alert to seal up every stick of furniture in his house! These are some of the objections to State support which make Catholics here thank God they have none of it.

Although the Vatican contains 11,000 rooms it is no longer sufficiently large to furnish adequate accommodations for the Papal court and to lodge all its inmates. On this account Leo XIII is reported to have opened negotiations with the Italian Government for the purchase of the Zooca, or ancient mint.

Dr. Dyer will present the plans of the new St. Austin's House of Studies at the Catholic University at Washington for the Superior's approval.

Of Father Harty who has been appointed Archbishop of Manila, the "Western Watchman" says: "Father Harty is better known in this city than perhaps any priest in it. He was born in St. Louis and for twenty-five years has labored in the parish over which he is at present presiding. Yet we believe very few people would recognize him on the streets. This is because he has seldom appeared outside his church and parish, and never at those civic and promiscuous gatherings where men are plucked under the sharp fire of distinction. But among the people subject to his ministerial eye he was simply obnoxious. He has spent his priestly life within the confines of his parish and between the house, the church and the confessional. He has been a veritable Cure of Ars in this city."

Very Rev. E. H. Porcile, rector of the Church of Our Lady of Lourdes at Broadway and De Salles Street, Brooklyn, has been summoned to Rome by the superior general of the Fathers of Mercy to help to establish a new mother house of that order in the Eternal City. The new house is to replace the main establishment, which has during the last century been in Paris and which was recently closed by the French Associations Law. Father Porcile is the assistant general of the Fathers of Mercy and the head of the order in this country. He will sail for Rome on July 2.

Our glorious Pope is still able to conduct a great function. This was made clear on Monday, June 22nd, when he held a Consistory, in which he conferred the cardinalitial dignity on seven prelates. We are told that the Sovereign Pontiff's features seemed slightly more clear-cut and his hands trembled perceptibly; but his voice was plainly heard, though it had lost something of its volume. The ceremony was shortened as much as possible and only lasted about 35 minutes.

Cardinal Sotillo was at the same consistory transferred from the titular see of St. Marc in Ara Coele to the diocese of Frascati, near Rome. As Frascati is one of the six suburban sees, to which only cardinal bishops are appointed, this means that Cardinal Sotillo, formerly Delegate Apostolic to the United States, has also been raised from the order of Cardinal priests to that of cardinal bishops, a mark of high favor. Cardinal Serafino Vannutelli has likewise been promoted from the diocese of Frascati to that of Porto and Santa Rufina, which is the second highest in rank of the six suburban sees.—N. W. Bayview.

Pains in the Back

Are symptoms of a weak, torpid or stagnant condition of the kidneys or liver, and are a warning it is extremely hazardous to neglect, so important is a healthy action of these organs. They are commonly attended by loss of energy, lack of courage, and sometimes by gloomy foreboding and despondency.

"I was taken ill with kidney trouble, and became so weak I could scarcely get around. I took medicine without benefit, and finally decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. After the first bottle I felt so much better that I continued its use, and six bottles made me a new woman. When my little girl was a baby, she could not keep anything on her stomach, and we gave her Hood's Sarsaparilla which cured her." Mrs. Thomas Lewis, Wallaseburg, Ont.

THE WEEK IN PARLIAMENT.

In Parliament this week three days were devoted to the Railway Commission bill, which was advanced considerably.

Hon Charles Fitzpatrick introduced a bill to amend the criminal code, which prohibits the sale of cigarettes and tobacco to persons under 18 years of age.

The government refused on several occasions to announce its policy in regard to the proposed new transcontinental railway.

Mr J. T. Schell, the Liberal member for Gleggarry, who was liable to suspension from the house for having unrespectfully violated the independence of Parliament act, was excused from liability on motion of Conservative members.

The government was censured for neglecting Canada's interests in the South African cattle trade. The British War Department has been restocking the Boer farms with American cattle and have passed over Canadian breeders.

Colonel Thompson, the Liberal member for Haldimand, exposed the condition of the militia. He pronounced the force as rapidly passing to decay, in spite of the fact that the expenditure in the militia department has been largely increased.

Hon Raymond Prefontaine's deal by which the steamer Bayfield was sold for $3,250 to party friends, was still further ventilated. In addition to spending over $3,000 in repairing the vessel, just previous to her transfer, the government fitted her out with $1,700 worth of instruments which were handed over with her.

ANOTHER STANCH LIBERAL REBEL.

The attack on the British Columbia section of the Liberal party by Mr. W. McCrae, who formerly represented the Liberals of Halifax in the House of Commons, has been followed by an exposure of rottenness of the party in Ontario, by Mr. W. E. Raney, who is a strong Liberal and a leading lawyer. Mr. Raney has been in close touch with the Ontario government for years, and is therefore in a position to speak by the book. He condemns the Ross administration in unmeasured terms and declares that thousands of Liberals are aware that the crimes charged against it are absolutely true.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER.

Professor Goldwin Smith, who has always been an admirer of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, is forced to the conclusion that Canada's premier is a pronounced "opportunist." Every city, town and village in the country have their "opportunist." They are men who are credited with never being able to form opinions of their own. What they profess to-day will be abandoned to-morrow under pressure of outside advice.

in the opportunist class. This conclusion is reached by an examination of Sir Wilfrid's career. Starting in life as a protectionist he became an ardent free trader. At present he congratulates himself that he still adheres to these latter views, but he remains at the head of a government which is avowedly a moderate protectionist one. In 1894 he promised the west "free trade as they have it in England" and two years later he sent Mr Sifton to the people of the prairies to announce a compromise, which meant the carrying out of a secret treaty with the manufacturers to maintain high duties.

HAS NO POLICY YET.

The government is still undecided as to its transportation policy. It has submitted to Parliament a proposal to guarantee the bonds of the Canadian Northern Railway for new lines in the Northwest Territories, which will eventually form part of a transcontinental line, but the Minister of Railways was only able to give the most meagre details of the effect of its policy on the general question of transportation.

Over a year ago it was announced that the administration intended to assist the Mackenzie & Mann system because of its importance from a national standpoint. With twelve months to consider what course it should adopt, it has failed to reach a decision, and the transportation question will still be held in abeyance for some time to come.

In this as in other matters the Laurier cabinet is unwilling to take a lead and face the consequences. It must first gauge public opinion, and as this has already consumed the seven years since the Liberals came into power, the prospects for an early decision are indeed remote. The government of no policy should go.

THE FISHER FAMILY GAFF.

Hon. Sydney Fisher has tried to dodge his connection with the Montreal Herald, which has received $118,822 from the government in six years, by declaring that when he entered the Laurier government, he disposed of his stock in that paper. The Minister of Agriculture neglected to explain, however, that the person to whom the stock was transferred is none other than his brother, Roswell C. Fisher. The latter is a director of the Montreal Herald and practically represents his honorable brother.

MILLIONS OF ADDITIONAL TAXATION.

When the Liberals came to power the taxes of the people were to be reduced. For the past twelve months they have been from Customs alone $35,619,559 or $1,566,868 more than in 1902. In 1896 under a protective tariff Canadians were called upon to contribute $20,955,335 in Customs taxes. So that under the new order of things our taxes in one department alone have gone up $18,264,314 a year. These facts pretty thoroughly dispose of the spacious argument that increased duties mean increased taxation.

FISHER IS A LIGHTWEIGHT.

The Conservative party recently brought down a resolution censuring the government for its neglect of the South African cattle trade. The British war department has been purchasing large numbers of cattle in the United States, and Canada, although she sacrificed many men in the late war, was ignored. Hon. Sydney Fisher, the little Minister of Agriculture, met the criticism of the opposition by a declaration that he had vainly protested against Canada being overlooked.

the backing of the government of the premier colony of the empire. The result of the resolution, which was opposed by the cattle breeders representative in the government, will be thousands of dollars in the pockets of Canadians. Thousands of dollars, which should have been spent in this country, are now in Yankee banks. If the farmers had been properly represented by their minister, who was negligent enough to take a trip to Japan at a time when he should have been at his post, the United States would never have received orders which should have come to Canada.

LIBERAL POLICY IS RUINOUS.

The great losses sustained throughout Canada by the depreciation of industrial stocks has brought Canada to a stern realization of the weakness of the Flinders tariff. Urged repeatedly to protect our industries, the government invariably turned a deaf ear to the appeals. In consequence of its weak policy millions upon millions of dollars have been lost, and industries representing an investment of immense sums are threatened with utter destruction. The iron and steel business is on the verge of collapse, yet Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his associates stand idly by gazing on the impending wreck. The production of iron and steel has been largely instrumental in making Great Britain, the United States and Germany the leading commercial centres of the world, and it has been from those countries that Canada has derived her supply of such commodities. Several years ago great works were erected at Sydney and the "So" for the purpose of supplying the needs of this country for iron and steel.

Unveiling the Monument.

The ceremony of unveiling and handing over to the city authorities the monument erected on Queen Square to the memory of the Island soldiers who fell in the South African war, took place on Monday last and was a memorable affair. An immense grand stand had been erected extending from the Provincial Building to the Court House on the east side of these buildings. The stand faced south, towards the monument. This was for ticket holders, the singers and a portion of the school children. The rest of the school children were seated on benches placed on the ground in front of the grand stand. At the south-east corner of the Provincial Building a stand was erected for the monument committee, the Lieutenant Governor, Lord Alymer, the orators and other distinguished guests. Below this stand tables were arranged for the representatives of the press. All the militia now in camp, numbering about five hundred, were massed on the square around the monument, and presented a fine appearance. This grand military array was in splendid keeping with the occasion. The throng of people was something immense. The weather was splendid and everything passed off in splendid order. Captain Harry Watts was musical director. The proceedings commenced at 2.30 by the singing of a patriotic ode by the school children and Philharmonic Society, accompanied by the Band. Judge Fitzgerald, as Chairman of the Committee, then delivered an address, setting forth the history and purposes of the monument, and concluded by inviting Lord Alymer, Adjutant-General of the Canadian forces to unveil the monument. He delivered an interesting and important address, dealing with the history of Canada's part in the South African war. He then put on a cord and the flag that surrounded the monument, few aside and the Statue was unveiled. Rev. Mr. Fullerton then delivered an appropriate prayer. Members of the militia next placed a magnificent wreath on the monument. This was followed by the singing of a hymn. Sir Louis Davies then delivered the oration of the day. This was followed by the staging of the resolution. Judge Fitzgerald, chairman of the monument committee, then handed over the monument to the Mayor and corporation of Charlottetown. Mayor Warburton accepted the monument in an appropriate address. Judge Fitzgerald then, on behalf of the members of the committee, read an address of thanks to Mr. Percy Pope, Secretary-Treasurer of the same committee for the admirable manner in which he had discharged his duty. Mr. Pope expressed his gratitude for this unexpected compliment. The national anthem and cheers for the King, Lord Alymer and Hamilton McCarthy, the sculptor, followed. Mr. McCarthy, in a brief address, thanked those present for their hearty cheer, and Auld Lang Syne by the Band brought the ceremony to a close.

At the Country's Expense.

The Department of Marine and Fisheries is one of the worst managed branches of the government. All kinds of prices, says an Ottawa correspondent, are paid for supplies for lighthouses and government steamers without so much as a tender being invited. Fishery protection steamers on which party friends are entertained at the country's expense and given a cheap summer holiday have to be provided with all the delicacies of the season. Liberal members of Parliament figure prominently in these excursions at the people's expense, and the following items, taken from the Auditor-General's report, for supplies on the cruiser Acadia, show how well the favorites are looked after:

- Turkish cigarettes, per tin $ 4.75
150 bottles of Havlock water 12.00
93 bottles Havlock ginger ale 7.00
Mushrooms, per doz, tin 3.50
Pate de foie gras, per doz. 12.00
French peas, per case 4.00
French beans, per case 3.00
Oatmeal biscuits, 20 lbs, at 20c. 5.20
Water low wafers, 195 lbs, at 50c. 9.75
Cocoanut creams, 9 lbs, at 50c. 4.50
Crystallized fruit box 4.00
do 8 lbs, at 60c. 4.80

Chinney, 1 doz 7.75
Potted game, per case 4.00
Chickens per pair 1.55
Potatoes, per bushel 30c. to 2.00
Most of these delicacies are only to be found in the home of the wealthiest, but there is nothing too good for a Crit member of Parliament and his friends when the country pays the bill. The few items referred to are a small part of scores of the same nature. There is absolutely no justification for such outlays. The hard working farmer or fisherman will find it hard to appreciate the alleged efforts of the government to keep down expenditure, in the face of such evidences of wilful waste.—Moncton Times.

Grand Trunk Pacific.

The Halifax Herald referring to the Grand Trunk Pacific and criticisms thereanent in the St. John Sun has the following: The case appears to be worse even than the Sun suggests. The guarantee on the prairie portion is believed to be more than the real cost of building the road, though of course the real cost will be so increased out as to absorb the $18,000 a mile. The road from Winnipeg to Moncton will, in all probability, prove absolutely worthless so far as bringing traffic to Moncton, or any Eastern Canadian port, is concerned. The Grand Trunk will have the sole right to use it, for practically nothing, but they will not be bound to use it. Neither Quebec nor the maritime provinces, can be silly enough to expect that this new road will be of any benefit to them as a railway. The proposed government built road from Moncton to Winnipeg is a government trick to help through the Grand Trunk's scheme in the west; and the probable cost of it, some $60,000,000 more, may not be improved by the Grand Trunk's scheme, to provide the government, on the approach of a general election, with lavish funds to spend where the ministers think that expenditure will do the government the most good. The public benefit of the whole scheme is nil. The public loss is great and manifest.

Supreme Court.

At the term of the Supreme Court now in session in Charlottetown, the Grand Jury found true bills against Carver for the murder of Stewart, against McCallum for shooting with intent to maim and against Bell for housebreaking and stealing; but no case against Mrs McNeill for concealment of birth. In the case of McEachern against John F. Whear, the defendant pleaded in abatement that a previous writ had been served on him for the same cause. This is the writ served in the name of Isaac Lane, already published in the HERALD. In the plea the defendant made an error, and Mr McLean, K. C. for plaintiff argued that judgment should be given against the defendant, with costs, for the amount of the writ, $3,000. Defendant admitted error in plea, and argued that judgment might be given against him with costs, and that he be allowed to plead again. The Chief Justice gave judgment against the defendant; but permits him to plead again. The case of McDonald against Doda, Messrs McLean, K. C., and Mathieson were counsel for the plaintiff, and Messrs Morson and McLeod, K. C.s, and Mr. Bentley appeared for defendant. This was a case of ejectment from a certain portion of the east part of the Island homestead at Cherry Valley, which was occupied by certain members of the Doda's family, but was intended to revert to McDonald at the death of the persons named. These persons having died other members of the Doda family refused to leave the premises in question. The case was tried before Judge Fitzgerald, and was concluded Saturday forenoon, when judgment was reserved. The trial of Carver for the murder of Stewart commenced before the Chief Justice on Monday forenoon. The Attorney-General and Mr Blanchard appeared for the Crown and the prisoner was defended by Mr. A. J. B. Mellish. The case was concluded today when the prisoner was found guilty.

LOCAL AND OTHER ITEMS.

PRINCESS Charles of Denmark, daughter of King Edward, gave birth to a son on the 2nd inst., at Appleton cottage, Sandringham. It is understood that Governor Jette, of Quebec, who is one of the Commissioners on the Alaska boundary tribunal, will be appointed another term as Governor. MURRAY and Gregory's big mills at the Falls, N. B., were destroyed by fire at ten o'clock Saturday morning. Large piles of lumber were in danger, but a big fight was made to save the property. As will be seen by reference to advertisement the Tea Party, in aid of St. Charles Church, Grosbeak, takes place on the 29th inst. A pleasant outing may be looked for. A SUDDEN shift of wind brought Sir Thomas Lipton's former challenger crippled and limping across the finish line, at New York on Friday last, without her club topsail, only four minutes behind the slippery new cup hunter, Shamrock III, after the latter beating her eight minutes and twenty seconds in twenty-three miles of sail stretching trial before the old boat was practically disabled.

At the recent Laval University degree examinations, Messrs. Mathieson, of Emerald, and J. J. Gillis, of Misconche, students at St. Dunstan's College, received the degree of B. A., and Messrs. Poirier and Girouard, also of St. Dunstan's, the degree of B. L. Mr. Smith secured fifth place, with an average of 93 per cent. among two hundred and fifteen competitors. In the House of Commons, Ottawa, Saturday, Sir William Mulock explained that a half cent to a quarter cent per pound within three hundred miles of the office of publication meant a loss of revenue from $50,000 to $75,000. The present net revenue from newspaper postage is from $100,000 to $125,000. The old questions of better pay to country postmasters and the reduction of mail carrying routes was discussed. Minard's Liniment Cures LaGrippe.

In this issue will be found the advertisement of the Sturgeon Tea, which takes place on Tuesday, the 14th inst.

ALICE MAY, the two years old daughter of John McLeod was instantly killed in front of her home at Sydney, by being struck by a tram car on Friday last.

Hon. M. Duffy, Provincial Secretary of Quebec was stricken with apoplexy in a barber shop on Friday last, and is in a critical condition.

ROMAN intelligence of the last two or three days inform us that his Holiness, the Pope, is dying. He is reported to be sinking rapidly, and the end may evidently be expected at any moment.

The net proceeds of the Tea Party at Tracadie on Dominion Day amounted to upwards of $1100. Father McGaigan and his parishioners are to be congratulated.

The enquiry into the grounding of the steamer Halifax, at Halifax is concluded. It is understood the decision exonerates the captain and officers. A strong westerly current caused the stranding.

C. M. B. A.—Notice of excursion of Branch 363 C. M. B. A., Fort Augustus, appears in this issue. This excursion which takes place on Monday the 13th, inst., will certainly be an enjoyable outing and should be well attended.

STILL THEY COME.—The advertisement of the Monster Tea Party at Bear River Station, in aid of St. Margaret's Church, to be held on Wednesday the 22nd, inst., will be found in this issue. Don't forget the date, the place or object.

The King has been graciously pleased to direct that the presents received by the late Queen Victoria on the occasion of the fiftieth and sixtieth years of her reign shall be placed on exhibition at the Dominion Exhibition, Toronto. Aug. 27 to Sept. 12.

A return brought down at Ottawa contains a copy of the report of E. P. Slaven, who says Carleton Place is undoubtedly the best for a harbor on the Prince Edward Island side of the Northumberland Straits and would cost $1,146,000. The cost of a harbor at Cape Traverse would be $855,000.

A meeting of fifty Trade Unionist members of Parliament was held Friday afternoon, those present included Sir Michael Hicks Beach, Lord Cecil and Austen Chamberlain. A resolution favoring an inquiry into Colonial Secretary Chamberlain's Preference was adopted, but it was also decided that if they resulted in any departure from Free Trade it would be disastrous to the country.

The solemn opening of the new church at Tracadie will take place on Sunday the 19th inst. The ceremony will comprise the blessing of the church by the Lord Bishop McDonald, followed by solemn High Mass. The sermon will be preached by Rev. Dr. Doyle of Vernon River. Special music will be rendered by the choir. This is a most handsome church and is a great credit to the pastor and people of Tracadie.

Steamer Assyria arrived at Halifax Wednesday from Hamilton with 673 emigrants, principally Galicians, of which 563 were for Canada, and 110 for the United States. There was one birth during the passage. Of the emigrants, 514 were adults, 118 between one and fourteen years old, and forty-one were babies under one year. None of them were for the lower Provinces, a majority having through tickets for Manitoba, etc.

DOMINION DAY, Wednesday last was very generally observed as a public holiday. Business was almost entirely at a standstill here and the city was pretty well deserted. The Tea Party at Tracadie, and another at Argyle shore, besides several picnics and a largely extended excursion to Pictou took the people away from home. The weather was beautiful and all the excursions and outings were well enjoyed.

The Dominion Government has decided to build from Moncton to Winnipeg and lease the road for fifty years to the Grand Trunk Pacific. The Grand Trunk Pacific to pay the operating expenses only for the first five years. It is known that the portion of the line between Quebec and Winnipeg will require to be run at a loss to begin with. For the next successive five years the company say the net earnings over the working expenses will not exceed three per cent.

The Minister of Trade and Commerce asked the House of Commons to vote the sum of $1,095,000 to aid the Canada South African Steamship service. The Minister stated that ten knot boats of five thousand tons could perform the service under a five year contract, with Canadian ports of call at Montreal and Quebec in the summer and St. John and Halifax in the winter. The African ports are Cape Town, Elizabethtown and Durban.

The death occurred on Wednesday evening last, at Port Hill, of Mr. Thomas Murphy, after an illness of some months. The deceased had been employed as book-keeper for Senator Yeo for thirty-six years. He was a brother of Mr. Joseph Murphy of the Registry Office, Summerside, was widely known and much esteemed throughout the County. His funeral took place at Grand River, Lot 14 on Friday and was largely attended. R. I. P.

OBITUARY.—After a few weeks' illness borne with resignation to the Divine Will and strengthened by the last Sacraments, Barbara, the beloved wife of John D. Walker of Launching, breathed her last on the 10th ult. The deceased was a daughter of the late Angus Beaton of East Point, and was a woman highly esteemed by all who knew her for her piety and charitable disposition. There are left to mourn besides a sorrowing husband, two sons and one daughter, a brother James A. Beaton, East Point, and a sister in the United States. Her funeral took place on the 12th ult., to the parish church of St. George's. The Requiem Mass was sung by her brother-in-law Rev. E. Walker of Rollo Bay. The latter also officiated at the grave, assisted by the pastor Rev. D. J. McDonald who attended the deceased in her last illness. The large concourse of people at her funeral testified how highly she was esteemed by the community in which she lived. R. I. P.—Com.

This manner of procuring a water supply is unique in our Province and the progress is deserving of inspection. Clover's in Bloom.

BY CAROLINE S. BRADY.

(Written for the S. H. Review.)

O little, lithe humming-bird, ever a wing, Pray what is the message of earth that you bring?

Or is it of heaven, or God, that you tell? "Red clover's in bloom now, on earth all is well!"

"Red clover! White clover! Search all the world over, You'll never discover One heart that is sad, now Red clover's in bloom!"

"Come away! Come with me! For yourself you will see How the world is made glad, Why no heart can be sad, Now red clover's in bloom!"

O little, lithe humming-bird, ever a wing, Of God, earth and heaven, all three do you sing; Red clover's of earth, but the message it bears From heaven, God-given, each one of us shares.

With perfume for incense, And beauty for prayer, It breathes forth the essence Of God's love most rare; That all in beholding Its three leaves unfolding, This message may tell: "On earth all is well, Now red clover's in bloom."

The True Interpretation of Sargent's "Redemption."

(S. H. Review.)

This, then, is to our mind the real interpretation of Sargent's great mural painting, the "Redemption." The Father sends the Son to be the Redeemer of the world. That guilty world is represented by Adam and Eve, who, in their sin and shame signified by the aprons of fig-leaves, eagerly seek the healing of the Precious Blood of the Redeemer. The fruit of the Passion is the Blessed Sacrament, superadded to which are the coming, and the abiding Presence, of God the Holy Ghost, indicated by the seven conventionalized doves. The angels show forth a man, by the exhibition of their instruments of the Passion, at what bitter and great price we were redeemed. The entire picture in its splendid symbolism proclaims to us the eternal truths as crystallized in the old creeds of the Catholic Church, and condensed here in the superb inscription from the Cathedral at Cefalu:

THE SOLUTION OF THE INSCRIPTIONS.

It is to be remembered that on the narrow rib which separates the lunette and the arch of Mr. Sargent's other mural painting opposite to the "Redemption," the artist has inscribed the text of his subject in English. This is condensed from some verses of psalm 106 in the King James version, which corresponds to psalm 105 in the Douay, or Catholic, version of the Scriptures. These verses serve to dispel conclusively the idea advanced by Mr. Baxter in his Century article as well as on the Library explanation card for the use of visitors, that, in the first picture, we have "the growth of Judaism as embodied in the books of the Old Testament, out of a chaos of pagan beliefs." The text selected by Mr. Sargent are as follows:

"They forget God their Saviour, which had done great things in Egypt; and they served idols, which were a snare unto them. Yes, they sacrificed their sons and their daughters unto devils, and shed innocent blood, even the blood of their sons and of their daughters, unto the idol of Canaan. Therefore was the wrath of the Lord kindled against His people, and He gave them into the hand of the heathen; and they that hated them ruled over them. Their enemies also oppressed them, and they were brought into subjection under their hand. Nevertheless He regarded their affliction, He heard their cry: And He remembered for them His covenant. A critic attempting to give an explanation of Sargent's work would, we think, set but reasonably, if he copied at length into his article this inscription chosen by the artist himself as explanatory of his subject. It certainly carries the immense weight whences it came; and it also affords plainly no ground at all for the interpretation which Mr. Baxter has made. We may mention, in this connection, that it would seem most appropriate if, in the other picture, the "Redemption," there were to be inscribed in the space now vacant, that is, the rib that there also separates the lunette from the arch, that first symbol of the faith of all the Christian ages, the Apostles' Creed. Singularly enough, this Creed in English contains only one word less than the English inscription from the Paelus in the opposite picture. That has 111 words; the Creed, 110.

THE INSCRIPTION FROM CEFALU.

To refer once more to the Latin inscription from Cefalu, the beauty of which ought to make it a prime favorite with all true lovers of elegant inscription,—it is to be remembered that very recently the position of two words has been altered for the sake of euphony; and instead of reading, as it does read in the Century illustrations, Redimo Corporis, it now reads on the wall of the Public Library, Corpora Redimo. Mr. Baxter says, as we have already remarked: "The term judicio employed in the original (was) replaced redimo in the present instance." May it not be found ultimately that, besides the two differences just mentioned, the Boston inscription differs from that at Cefalu in one other change in the form of the sentence, and also in one omission, namely of the particle que? For it is very noticeable that this finely polished inscription, as we now have it, contains twenty-nine syllables, with a skilful, threefold alliteration of the syllable fac in the first half, and a similar threefold alliteration of the syllable cor in the latter half; while the simple and appropriate addition of que to corpora or corda would give us fifteen syllables in each half, and thirty in the whole. But, even then, the flow of the sentence would not be sufficiently perfect. As we have it in the Library, the first half runs thus: Factus Homo, four syllables; Factor Hominis, five syllables; Faetique Redemptor, six syllables; while the latter half reads: Corporis, four syllables; Redimo Corpora, six syllables; Corda Deus, four syllables. Now, by the simple addition of que to corpora, and the placing of corda before redimo, we read: Factus Homo, four syllables; Factor Hominis, five syllables; Faetique Redemptor, six syllables; Corporis, four syllables; Redimo Corpora, six syllables; Corda Deus, four syllables. The fine alliteration of fac in the first half of the motto corresponds then exactly, in position as well as in number, with the equally fine alliteration of cor in the other half; and thus the noble sentence stands as a signal specimen of almost faultless taste in elegant inscription. It is constantly to be borne in mind that the Latin inscription has for its only punctuation the small crosses which separate each word from the others; that it runs straight athwart the middle of the picture from end to end; that, while the immense crucifix divides the inscription into two exact halves, it serves really to intensify, by that very act, the meaning of the vast and solemn whole; and that this crucifix, with the figure of the world's Redeemer, is placed by the artist partly below, but intrinsically connected with, the three august figures in the Most Holy Trinity. The longer we gaze upon the extraordinary unity of subject in Sargent's "Redemption"—a work evidently wrought out by man's genius in those rare and exceptional moments when that genius is awayed, to an unusual extent, by the divine effluvia which is superior to all ordinary art, the more we must comprehend the exact meaning and true force of the inscription; and the stronger becomes the claim for the following forms in both Latin and English:

"Factus* Homo* Factor* Hominis* Faetique* Redemptor* Corporis* Redimo* Corpora* Corda* Deus*"

"I, having been made man, the Maker of Man, and the Redeemer of the made, I, God incarnate, redeem bodies and souls."

"I, God, having been made man, the Maker of man, and the Redeemer of the made, I, God incarnate, redeem bodies and souls."

Training of Underwriters.

To the many new occupations and professions which have grown out of the great industrial development during the last few years another profession, says a Chicago exchange, broad in its scope and far reaching in its importance, is about to be added. This new profession is the outgrowth of the demand for scientific and effective fire protection. Beginning next September, Armour Institute, in connection with the underwriters' laboratories, will inaugurate a fire protection course. The Chicago educational institution will be the first in the world to attempt the training of young men for this distinctly modern profession.

The annual fire losses in the United States aggregate the enormous sum of $150,000,000. The maintenance of fire departments by cities and corporations costs more than $200,000,000 additional. The design of the new course of training will be to reduce this expense as greatly as possible and at the same time to afford greater security to property. As a profession, the occupation is planned to be placed upon a firm footing as any of those now existing. The young man who takes up the study of fire protection will enter a profession which will be broader in its training than that of almost any of the ordinary professions of the present time. He must have an academic or a high school education before he will be admitted to the course. Then he will have four years of hard study before him, the first two years of which will be the same as he would be compelled to take if he entered any of the universities in the country. During the third year of his studies he will begin specializing, and at the end of four years, if he has been a faithful student, he will be graduated. The student will have no particular choice of course of study. He will be expected to learn whatever will be of value to him in his work. The duties of the expert on fire protection will be the examination of fire hazards, their extent and the means of reducing them. He will be expected to know all the ins and outs of the insurance business. He must be a chemist. He must be a builder. He must know the value of building materials and their uses in fire protection. Until a very few years ago the insurance business was a sort of go as you please business. Companies accepted almost any kind of risk asked no questions as to the desirability of the hazard and collected as high a rate as they could. The business is conducted on a different basis to-day. All underwriters are interested in reducing the rates. Many risks they absolutely refuse to take. On others the rate is scaled by local boards, composed of the representatives of various companies doing business in the territory.
