CHAPTER X. Belle Mellen's Marriage.

"Never mind, Christy. If she is married, it will do no good to scold them; and if she is not married, they will only laugh at you for giving credit to the story. Wait and see," urged May.

Christy demanded the truth, and Belle replied haughtily. Angry words followed. Christy blaming Grant for his rash action and Belle for her lack of respect for the dead. It ended by Grant Whitney and his bride taking their departure from the farm and going at once to the village hotel.

The next day they drove out to the farm in a carriage, hired for the occasion, and Belle collected her effects, and bidding her friends a cold "good-by" returned with her husband.

Grant Whitney was dependent upon the bounty of his uncle, Major Grant, for his living, and having lately received a bountiful supply of money—for his use during vacation—felt as rich as a lord. He was one of those easy, dissipated men who never seem to understand the value of money, but, while they have a dollar in their pocket, think they have money enough to last forever, and when that dollar is gone they are ready to commit suicide because of their poverty.

Grant, being well supplied with money, lavished it upon his wife with imprudent liberality, and, before he was really aware of it, he was bankrupt.

"What shall I do now?" he asked himself, as he paced the floor of his private room. "Ah, I have it! I'll write to my uncle and tell him of the beautiful young wife I have married, forgetting to mention her name, and given him to understand that she belongs to a grand family. I know him."

Suiting the action to the word, he wrote as follows:

"My Respected and Indulgent Uncle: You will doubtless be surprised to hear from me so soon after having received your last remittance, but the fact is, I have met with a great change since then, and improve the earliest moment to inform you of it. Dear uncle, I am a married man! I hope you will not think me rash and impulsive in taking this step. Could you see my wife, and know how lovely she is, in disposition as well as person, you would forgive me that I failed to ask your advice. She is the daughter of a noble house, and I hastened to make her all my own before the possibility of events could separate us. In consideration of her station in life, I have been obliged to use all my funds, and now anxiously await your answer to my request to take her to your country seat on the Hudson.

"This place will well sustain the impression given her friends that she has not married beneath her, and as I have taken the liberty to use the name of 'my uncle, Major Grant,' to forward my connections with the family, I hope you will not disappoint me. Meanwhile, I shall take the liberty to proceed to Laurel Glade and obtain the necessary articles for housekeeping, relying upon your unvarying kindness and liberality. However, should you refuse to let us remain there, you have but to give the order, and we will descend to a life of toil, for my bride is so devotedly attached to me that she would not for one moment hesitate to follow me to a life of daily labor. She sends her best love to you, and wishes you to write to her when you answer this.

"Your loving nephew,
"GRANT WHITNEY."

CHAPTER XI. GOLDIE'S REVENGE.

Early in May, at eventide, a figure stole quietly into the farmyard at the Home Farm and approached the kitchen window. It was Goldie, whose feet had involuntarily sought her old home, where she had left father and mother and all kind friends. She meant to look upon them all as they gathered around the supper table or the fireside, and then go away and drown herself in the pool. But the love of life is strong in the human heart, and Goldie was little more than a child; and, although the sight of the little group within that kitchen but added to the depth of her misery, she could not bring herself to give up a life so utterly worthless and repulsive to her.

She leaned her weary head upon the window casement and looked in. Although the weather was warm, a bright fire glowed upon the hearth, and Farmer Mellen sat in his accustomed place. Goldie saw her own little rocking chair drawn close beside him, where she used to sit of an evening, and his arm rested lovingly across the back of it, as if she were really there.

Tears came to her eyes as she saw how thin and wan he had grown, and she could scarcely suppress a sob when she looked at her mother's chair and saw that it was vacant. Belle, too, was gone. Only May and Christy remained, and Christy looked pale and troubled, while upon May's face were the traces of recent tears.

"I have broken poor father's heart, and mother must be dead!" she moaned softly. "Christy is not like his own merry self, and May is but a shadow. Oh, if I could die!"

Then a wild desire to lift the latch and throw herself at her father's feet took possession of her heart, and pressing her pale face close to the window, she tried to cry out.

Her voice refused to obey the command of her will. She thought she must be dying. A faintness seized her, and only a sudden remembrance of her situation gave her strength. She resolved that they should never know how near to them she had been bending one yearning, wistful look upon her mother's empty chair, and another upon her father's face, the wretched girl seemed to be taking a last farewell of the loved objects in her old home.

At this moment the old man chanced to look up, whether from the influence of that wistful glance from the wanderer outside or by mere accident, it is not for us to say; but his eyes fell upon her white face.

She saw the glance, and started back into the shadow. She heard his startled cry.

"Lord save us! Goldie is looking in at us!"

Christy and May both came and sat down near their father, the young man touched his forehead significantly.

Mr. Mellen had never been quite right in his mind since that fearful morning when he had fallen beside the pool with Goldie's shawl in his hand.

The physicians had agreed that the stupor following his long illness would eventually end in absolute madness, and his friends had been long expecting the breaking out of insanity. Christy and May had often talked of the probability of this, and now his sudden start and excited words led them to believe that the dreaded hour had arrived.

Christy sat near his father and endeavored to draw his attention to something else, and May sat down in Goldie's little rocking chair.

"I tell you, children, that I was no mistaken! I saw Goldie's face as plain as I see yours now. Her face was as white as any other dead, and her pretty golden hair was blowing everywhere about it. She looks wistful, and I thought she smiled at me. Do you know what it means to have a dead person come back and smile at you? It means that the person looked at will follow soon."

"Goldie came here to-night to warn me that my time was drawing nigh! I shan't be with you long, children. Dear little Goldie has come for me; she put her pretty face agin' the glass, and she looked as though she'd like to say, 'Come, father; I'll take hold of your hand, and we'll have a run across the fields.' We shall go out together some day, and I shall never come back no more. Christy, you move my armchair over to the window, and set Goldie's rocking-chair alongside of it."

"You will be more comfortable here by the fire, father," said May.

"But I shall be nearer Goldie when she comes again," he returned. "She will not come again, father!"

"Then I shall go soon," was the mournful answer of the old man, who relapsed into silence, evidently cherishing the belief that Goldie had appeared to him in the spirit.

Meanwhile, where was Goldie? She was walking wearily up the hill toward the old house in the wood, pausing now and then to get breath, then pushing ahead faster than before.

Finally the old house was reached, and the tired girl lifted the latch of the rickety door and went in. The noon was up now, and it shone brightly in at the uncurtained window, resting on the moldy, straw-littered floors.

With a shudder Goldie crossed the empty room, and was about to ascend the stairs, when something rushed from beside the chimney corner, and with an unearthly shriek, fled through the door, slamming it violently.

This object was a dark body, and if Goldie had not recollected the many tales of the haunting spirits inhabiting the old house that had been told her, she would have said it was a man who had fled shrieking from the place.

As it was she quickened her footsteps, and in a moment stood beside the head of straw in the attic. Frightened, tired, and heart-sick, the poor girl threw herself upon the musty straw, and in spite of ghosts or haunting memories, soon fell into a dreamless sleep, which was broken only by the warm sun shining through the attic window upon her face.

"But I shall be nearer Goldie when she comes again," he returned. "She will not come again, father!"

"Then I shall go soon," was the mournful answer of the old man, who relapsed into silence, evidently cherishing the belief that Goldie had appeared to him in the spirit.

Meanwhile, where was Goldie? She was walking wearily up the hill toward the old house in the wood, pausing now and then to get breath, then pushing ahead faster than before.

Finally the old house was reached, and the tired girl lifted the latch of the rickety door and went in. The noon was up now, and it shone brightly in at the uncurtained window, resting on the moldy, straw-littered floors.

With a shudder Goldie crossed the empty room, and was about to ascend the stairs, when something rushed from beside the chimney corner, and with an unearthly shriek, fled through the door, slamming it violently.

This object was a dark body, and if Goldie had not recollected the many tales of the haunting spirits inhabiting the old house that had been told her, she would have said it was a man who had fled shrieking from the place.

As it was she quickened her footsteps, and in a moment stood beside the head of straw in the attic. Frightened, tired, and heart-sick, the poor girl threw herself upon the musty straw, and in spite of ghosts or haunting memories, soon fell into a dreamless sleep, which was broken only by the warm sun shining through the attic window upon her face.

Women's Secrets

There is one man in the United States who has more women's secrets than any other man in the country. These secrets are not secrets of guilt or the secrets of suffering, and they have been given to R. V. Pierce in the hope and expectation of advantage. That few of these women have been disappointed expectations is proved by the fact that ninety-eight all women treated by Dr. Pierce have been altogether cured. Such a record would be remarkable cases treated were numbered by hundreds only that record applies to the treatment of more than a million women, in a practice of over 40 years, it is entitled Dr. Pierce to the gratitude accorded specialists in the treatment of women's diseases.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By MITE CAMERON

"Catherine found Mrs. Allen just returned from all the busy idleness of the morning, and was immediately greeted with 'Hello, my dear, here you are'—a truth which she had no greater inclination than power to dispute.

—Jane Austen.

How astonishingly many conversation counterfeits there are in the world. Do you know what I mean?

The people who continually offer the counterfeit coin of obvious statements and absurdly trite remarks as good conversational specie.

Real thoughts, real facts, actual opinions and feelings are the genuine coin of conversation.

Statements of the obvious—current expressions and penny-in-the-slot remarks; by which I mean, the remarks which are produced when a subject is brought up as mechanically and inevitably as the penny-in-the-slot machine brings forth its tune, in response to a penny—all these are the counterfeit currency of conversation.

And just as the man who is too lazy to earn real money, tries to live by passing counterfeit money, so the person who is too lazy to have original thoughts, tries to pay his way conversationally with this counterfeit money. Only the former kind of counterfeiters are the exception, the latter almost the rule.

During a half hour sleigh ride last winter, my companion assured me every time the horse was a little skittish—five times by actual count—that horses were always more skittish in a sleigh because they couldn't feel any weight behind them.

Did you ever, by any chance hear that statement before? If you've ever been sleighing I know you have, for that is a penny-in-the-slot remark, and a sleigh-ride is the penny that brings it forth.

Another man assured me solemnly the other day that he had found that if he got up earlier on Sundays he had a longer day to enjoy.

Mrs. Allen in Northanger Abbey, whom I quoted above, is such a deliciously real example of a conversational counterfeiter that everyone who reads the book will recognize a friend in her. When Catherine, who is anxious to go for an outing, asks this queen of counterfeits about the prospect of good weather, "Mrs. Allen's opinion was more positive; 'She had no doubt in the world of it's being a very fine day, if the clouds would only go off and the sun keep out.'"

No, of course, one cannot say something brilliant, original or startling all the time.

But one can surely occasionally contribute something that isn't altogether trite and obvious, that has a grain of actual personal thought in it.

And, anyhow, there is yet a third alternative, when one can think of nothing but the absurdly obvious or trite to say.

One CAN keep silent.

That is, if it isn't altogether too much of an effort.

When beating white of egg for sponge cake, when it becomes dry and light, test its stiffness by turning the dish containing it upside down. If it is beaten to the proper point not a particle will become detached.

A delicious little appetizer for the supper table consists of large green olives cut in half, and with the stones replaced with caviare paste. One is served to each person, on a lettuce leaf garnished with narrow sections of lemon.

Dried wormwood, which may be had at the drug stores is an excellent protection against moths when putting winter clothing away. It should be scattered liberally between the folds and each article wrapped in a newspaper before packing.

A wire basket, known as a salad shaker or drainer, should be used to dry greens after they have been thoroughly washed. Leaves of lettuce often hold water after they have been thoroughly shaken. If they are not fully dry they will not hold dressing well.

Women's Secrets

There is one man in the United States who has perhaps heard more women's secrets than any other man or woman in the country. These secrets are not secrets of guilt or shame, but the secrets of suffering, and they have been confided to Dr. R. V. Pierce in the hope and expectation of advice and help. That few of these women have been disappointed in their expectations is proved by the fact that ninety-eight per cent. of all women treated by Dr. Pierce have been absolutely and altogether cured. Such a record would be remarkable if the cases treated were numbered by hundreds only. To revive root vegetables that have cleansing if properly done. The meal should not be allowed to get too close to the scalp, and should be brushed out with a gentle, lifting stroke.

Brown bread, cut into thin slices and spread with strawberry jam or peach marmalade, and covered with a layer of cream cheese, makes novel and delicious luncheon sandwiches.

Though steam heat is cleaner generally than a furnace, it will soil the curtains and walls much more, especially if the radiators are placed close to the paper or under the windows.

If few beans, either lima or string, have been left over, make them into a salad, add a few chopped olives, a few capers, and some Spanish red pepper. French dressing is preferable to mayonnaise.

A tablespoonful of warm olive oil or camelliated oil poured into the ear and held there for a few minutes will destroy a bug in the ear, and it will then easily pour out, bringing with it the dead insect.

Browned flour makes delicious brown gravies. Put it in a pie plate and set on top of the stove or in a very hot oven. When it begins to brown it should be constantly stirred until brown all through.

In ironing the plait of the back of a shirtwaist on which tiny buttons are sewed, try laying it on a flannel or heavy Turkish towel, as you do your embroidery. The buttons sink in as the material is ironed.

When beating white of egg for sponge cake, when it becomes dry and light, test its stiffness by turning the dish containing it upside down. If it is beaten to the proper point not a particle will become detached.

Disorderly Scenes in N. S. W. Parliament.

Speaker Fell Foul of Liberals, and Gallery Joined in Melée.

London, Sept. 19.—A Reuter's despatch from Sydney, N.S.W., says:—Mr. Willis, who recently accepted the Government's offer of the Speakership pending the decennial redistribution of seats, is alleged to have stated at a recent public meeting that the Liberal party was a band of ruffians. In Parliament to-day the Prime Minister and Speaker were each questioned on the subject. The former refused to answer, and Mr. Willis replied he could not recognize the newspaper reports unless the members vouched for their correctness. Mr. Cohen, however, persisted in putting the question on the subject, and the Speaker ordered him to be removed. The Liberals thereupon surrounded their colleague and prevented his removal. The Speaker finally left the chair amid a turbulent scene.

After half an hour's interval the sitting was resumed, and almost immediately afterwards Mr. Willis ordered the removal of another member, Mr. Woods. The execution of the order was again frustrated by resistance offered by the Liberals. The whole of the staff of messengers attached to the House was then summoned, but even with their assistance the attempt proved ineffectual.

Finally the police were sent for, their appearance being cheered by sympathizers with the Labor party. In a public gallery a melée followed. In the course of which books were hurled at the Speaker. In the end, however, several Liberals were removed.

POULTRY THIEVES ABOUT.—Certain people who have a penchant for stealing poultry are now about nightly. J. Atwill, of Placentia, who keeps a henry on Pleasant Street yesterday morning found that one of the best brood of hens he possessed had been stolen during the previous night. The lock of the door was intact but the staple had been drawn.

A frying pan full of hot fat and an axe served as weapons in a row at 34A Alexander street on the 26th of September last, and resulted in Isaac Stewart being sent to the penitentiary this morning for two years.

Maggie Lealy, who rooms in the same house with Stewart, told the Court this morning that she had been struck on the head by the accused with a frying pan full of hot fat, as a result of which she had to have medical attention. George Lealy, husband of Stewart's victim, said that he had visited the accused's apartments after evening, and was driven from the premises with an axe.

Stewart said he was using the axe to mend a hole in the floor. He, however, was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary—Montreal Ex.

A man summoned by Council Inspector James Norris for obstructing him in the discharge of his duty was fined $2 and costs.

Some other business of a more or less important nature was disposed of by His Honor Judge Knight who presided.

An American Banker Disabled.

The banker Tattler, of Gloucester, Capt. Geale, was towed into port yesterday afternoon by the wrecking tug Amphitrite which brought her here from Cape Broyle. She had been fishing at the Virgin Rocks for some time past, and on Thursday last had a heavy gale of wind from the S. S. E. at first and later from W. N. W. with a mountainous sea running, one of which smashing against the ship broke up her rudder, disabled her and for hours she was at the mercy of wind and sea. After some hours hard work the crew rigged up a jury rudder with ropes, etc., and stood in for this coast under small canvas, arriving at Cape Broyle yesterday where arrangements were made with the Amphitrite to tow her down here. The vessel found fish plentiful on the banks and secured 100,000 lbs. cod. The weather, however, has been very bad on the banks making fishing difficult. The Tattler is perhaps the largest of the fleet of bankers sailing out of Gloucester. She is built of oak, is 135 tons net, 172 gross, and has a crew of 23 men. She was towed to the Reid Nfld. Co.'s premises for repairs.

Here and There.

PAID OFF AT MONROE'S.—John Dyke's crew, of Salvage, of the schr. Maggie, were paid off to-day at Monroe's office. They made $125 each.

A CASE OF DIPHTHERIA.—A case of diphtheria developed at Young St. to-day, a little girl aged 3 years being stricken. She was taken to hospital.

GLENCOE'S PASSENGERS.—The S. S. Glencoe arrived at Placentia last evening at 3 o'clock bringing the following passengers in saloon—F. E. Chafe, F. Simms, A. Hartigan, C. Melver, H. Foote, W. Shea, Miss Hagen, Miss Bradshaw, Miss Foote and 12 in second cabin.

Picnic Chief Off Again.

We are proud of our success in rousing the Daily News from its state of lethargy to a sense of the duty it owes to the Picnic Chief. Times was, and that not long ago, when this active Picnicer could steal away like a thief in the night, or esconce himself in a special train for one of his frequent jaunts, and there would not be a word about him or his doings in the Daily News. It will be remembered that we entered a protest against this failure in its bounden duty to the Provider of the good things it enjoys, along with the rest of his well-to-do supporters. We have not the least doubt that Messrs. Seymour, Downey and Devereaux, who did well out of the Agricultural grants; Messrs. Goodson and Jordan Milley, who got fine pickings out of right of way arbitrations, and all who have been growing comfortable out of land grants and Government patronage, will join fervently in lauding Sir Edward as a leader genuinely democratic, energetic in a way they can appreciate, and active in a direction they value highly. The ways of the world are, however, untoward and contrary, and this great, good and disinterested leader is unfortunately pruned only by a small circle, whose votes count for little in the reckoning up on Polling Day. True, the Picnic Provider is doing his best to widen the circle by the distribution of money to Agricultural Societies, not to speak of seeds, bulls, rams and Sable Island ponies. But the ordinary voter is scornful and cannot forget the pickings which shower down on the head of the well-to-do heeler. He knows all about the warm meshes.

and would like to know more about the pepper. He hears rumors of "peppery" times when these genuine democrats fight for the good things that are going. He knows that these things are not for him, and is contemptuous. The active democratic leader is too busy to provide cheap coal for his grates, and is too genuinely democratic to direct the contents of the Government chest towards any scheme to provide better housing for the people. If the poor man lives long enough and is lucky enough to be the one in a score, he may get 13 cents a day to house, feed and warm him, provided by the Government headed by this big-hearted, energetic, genuinely democratic leader. And yet he is neither grateful for nor even content with the prospects. He is strangely ungracious towards the Picnic Provider and has a fixed determination to turn him out bag and baggage.

Under these circumstances the common voters will read with interest the Daily News' editorial of this morning, written as a send-off to the Picnic Chief, who left last night for St. George's, where an Exhibition will be opened on Thursday, and Sir Edward Morris, Hon. S. D. Blandford will be there for all people to see. "What fools these mortals be."

FIREMAN ARRESTED.—A Liverpool fireman named Burns was arrested at 1 o'clock to-day by Const. Stamp. Burns was heated by an overdose of firewater and was causing annoyance on Water Street when placed under arrest.

Any Pepper Going?

It is stated that several urgent messages were despatched on Monday to the Hon. M. P. Cashin to attend a meeting of the Executive that night. At considerable personal discomfort Mr. Cashin at last consented to be motored in. Of what took place we have not the faintest knowledge. It being a commonplace observation that Executive secrets never leak out. This morning, however, the Daily News boldly announces that the Premier and two of his Executive colleagues left last night for the Agricultural Exhibition at St. George's. Under the circumstances our surmises run to the Morris recipes for poultry raising, and our thoughts range over the Morris warm mash, not forgetting the Morris pepper, and then we turn the Morris cold rime and scratch for a living.

Collision On Banks.

Portuguese Vessel Sank By Another—The Fate of Which is Unknown.

Capt. Geale of the banker Tattler reports that on the Grand Banks about 2 weeks ago the Portuguese banker 'Turnover', a brig, was in collision with a vessel whose name is unknown, but believed to be of the same nationality. The 'Turnover' was dismasted by the shock of the collision and after several hours went down as she was also badly damaged about the hull. The Bucksport (Me.) banker T. M. Nixon which witnessed the accident hung around and her crew with the aid of the damaged vessel's men got 1000 qts of fish from the Turnover, while another Portuguese vessel took over 2000 more from the sinking vessel, the crew of which took refuge on the latter vessel and saved all their clothing and effects. What became of the vessel which collided with the Turnover is not known. The accident occurred in the evening late, it is feared the other vessel was badly damaged and that she went down with all on board.

A BROKEN-DOWN SYSTEM.

This is a condition (or disease) to which doctors give many names, but which few of them really understand. It is simply weakness—a break-down, a failure, of the vital forces that sustain the system. No matter what may be its causes (for they are almost numberless), its symptoms are much the same; the more prominent being, sleeplessness, sense of prostration or weariness, depression of spirits and want of energy for all the ordinary affairs of life. Now, what alone is absolutely essential in all such cases is increased vitality—vitality—vitality.

VITAL STRENGTH & ENERGY

Sufferers From Piles.

ZAM-BUK HAS CURED THESE!

Friation on the hemorrhoid veins that are swollen, inflamed and gorged with blood, is what causes the terrible pain and stinging and smarting of piles. Zam-Buk applied at night will be found to give ease before morning. Thousands of persons have proved this. Why not be guided by the experience of others?

Mr. Thomas Pearson, of Prince Albert, Sask., writes: "I must thank you for the benefit I have received from Zam-Buk. Last summer I suffered greatly from piles. I started to use Zam-Buk and found it gave me relief, so I continued it, and after using three or four boxes I am pleased to say it has effected a complete cure."

Joseph Street, St. Roch, Quebec, P. Q., writes: "I can highly recommend Zam-Buk to everyone who suffers from piles."

Magistrate Sanford, of Weston, King's Co., N.S., says: "I suffered long from itching piles, but Zam-Buk has now cured me."

Mr. William Kenty, of Upper Nine Mile River, Hants Co., N.S., says: "I suffered terribly from piles, the pain at times being almost unbearable. I tried various ointments, but everything I tried failed to do me the slightest good. I was tired of trying various remedies, when I heard of Zam-Buk, and thought as a last resource I would give this a trial. After a very short time Zam-Buk effected a complete cure."

Zam-Buk is also a sure cure for skin injuries and diseases, eczema, ulcers, varicose veins, cuts, burns, bruises, chaps, cold sores, etc. 50c box all druggists and stores, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., St. John's, Nfld., for price. Refuse harmful imitations. Try Zam-Buk Soap, 25c. tablet.

Kendall (Green Point), to be the Road Board for Raymond's Point, inclusive, to Green Point, inclusive, District of Fortune Bay.

Received Nasty Cut.

Shortly after 4 p.m. yesterday as Joseph Evans, one of the clerks at lower Knowling's, was passing through the store, in which it was dark at the time, his forehead came into violent contact with a piece of iron which hung suspended from the loft. The man was dazed by the blow and fell to the floor but quickly recovered. In his forehead was a cut very deep and fully two inches in length. The wound bled freely and Dr. Campbell who was called had to insert 4 stitches in it to close it up. Mr. Evans lives at Brazil's Square.

CANT GET SEAMEN.

The captains of the foreign going vessels now in port are complaining that they find it hard to get seamen enough to man their crews. Two vessels now loaded for the foreign market want two men each to make up their crews. The seamen say that they make better wages at other work.

JUST FIVE BATHINGS CURED

A Terrible Case of Barber's Itch

Seven days treatment with Douglas' Egyptian Liniment transformed the face of Mr. C. A. Murdoch, of Napante, Ont., from a mass of sores to perfect smoothness. He says:

"Some months since I was afflicted with Barber's Itch. For over three weeks my face was a mass of sores and was getting worse, in fact it was so bad I was ashamed to go on the street. I consulted a prominent Doctor who told me that it would be months before I could be cured."

"A neighbor came in to see me with a bottle of Egyptian Liniment and requested me to try it. I decided to give it a trial and in seven days my face was as smooth as ever it was. I might also say that I only bathed my face five times, and have a complete cure. I cannot recommend Egyptian Liniment too highly."

What is the use of suffering physical and mental anguish with any kind of skin trouble when Egyptian Liniment cures so quickly and completely? Get a bottle at once.

Banker From Labrador

The banker Effie M. Capt. Rose, arrived here on Monday night from Chateau, Labrador, where she had been fishing for the past three weeks. She found fish very plentiful and secured the fine fare of 250 quintals for a vessel carrying only 3 dorcas. She has 600 qts. for the season, and left there coming south on Tuesday night last, she received the full benefit of succeeding heavy gales and high seas and had to lay to on Thursday until Saturday in the worst weather Capt. Rose ever experienced. The vessel ran short of coal and kerosene and put in here for a supply. The vessel reports much snow on the coast and the weather very cold and blustery, though still cod was very plentiful.

Another Banker Lost.

The banker Effie M. reports that a gale which raged on the Labrador on Tuesday last, a banking schooner owned by Hollett, of Burin, was lost. The captain of the Effie M. did not remember her name. She parted her chains in a gale of N. wind and went ashore near Chateau. The vessel became a hopeless wreck, but before the storm which quickly abated reached its zenith the crew of 14 men got ashore in their dorcas and also saved their effects. She had 250 qts. of fish on board and about 200 qts. of this was saved and transferred to the Effie M. She was a vessel of about 60 tons burthen and was 6 years old.

PROVED.

The skipper was a man who had a good opinion of himself and his notions. He had pulled through shipwreck, mutiny, and other perils of the deep, but he came a cropper once. For one of his voyages he had shipped a boatswain's mate who bore something of a reputation. One day the skipper ordered him aloft to examine a sail on the royal yard. "Tain't safe, cap'n!" protested the boatswain's mate; "the foot-ropes has got to be fixed first!" "Do as I tell you!" thundered the captain. "The foot-ropes are all right, I know they are." The man went up. Five minutes later he came tumbling down the rigging from the top of the mast, a distance of over 100 feet. With a bang he landed on the belly of the mainmast and bounded into one of the canvas-covered boats. The sailors, thinking him dead, crowded about him in a circle. To their amazement he sat up. His eyes wandered vacantly about until they rested on the leathery face of the skipper, when they lighted up with intelligence. "Cap'n," he said, slowly, "you was mistaken about them foot-ropes."

Youths Burglarize Residence.

STEAL CLOTHING AND JEWELLERY WORTH $100.

When Mr. Jas. McGregor, the well-known clothier, left here with his wife and child for England a couple of months ago, his residence King's Bridge Road was barred up, with paper placed to the windows and the house as he imagined, left in every way secure. When he returned by the Pretorian Saturday, he was startled on opening his domicile to find all the electric lights going full blaze—how long he knew not—and the house ransacked from attic to basement. Investigation showed that the burglars entered by kicking off the wire netting covering a window in the coal cellar and then bursting the whole sash thereby giving the marauders ingress. Going through the house Mr. McGregor found the carpeting of the different rooms covered with mud from the boots of those who had entered, while the bed clothing in each room was taken out and tied up as if the robbers had intended to return later for it, while furniture was thrown about and everything was topsy turvy. The dressing cases in each room which had been locked up, were prised open with some kind of blunt instrument. Cupboards were also smashed and silverware, cutlery, etc., was thrown promiscuously about. The articles actually missing were a valuable clock, a mackintosh, gold chain, ladies suit, two pairs of pants and some other articles all to the value of $100. The matter was placed in the hands of the police who on going down King's Bridge Road yesterday afternoon found a boy named Jno Humby, an incorrigible, who has a past record for thieving, loitering near Mr. Marshall's, in company with a boy named Tobin. Both were arrested and after a short while admitted the theft. The lads stated that they had broken up the clock and had sold the other goods to a man who they alleged has since gone to sea. The police think differently, however, and Man Overboard.

Skipper J. Ralph had a close call coming across Trinity Bay to St. John's yesterday. He was at the wheel when the main boom swung over and knocked him overboard. In going over the quarter he grabbed a rope end. He held on to it although the schooner was going at six knots an hour. He went out into the deep head foremost, but held on to the rope when he went under. When he came to the surface he took a double turn of the rope around his arm and kept quite cool and sang out, ordering the crew to bring the vessel to the wind. The crew then hauled him in over the quarter.

Important Topics at Avondale

Though only about four months have elapsed since the splendid parish church "on the hill" with all its interior costly decorations was destroyed by lightning, and as yet very many men from the parish who, when departing in the spring to pursue their summer's calling, saw in the distance for the last time its lordly spire towering above the settlement, have not returned to their homes, still the work of improving the foundation site for the reception of a new church has assumed practical form. Rev. Father Shean, P.P., of Avondale, and the rebuilding committee made arrangements for the work to begin, and on Tuesday, 3rd inst., a contingent of men from the parish turned out to give their first day's free labor. The new church is to be built on the site of the lost one, but the location is thought to be rather too elevated and of only sufficient capacity as to afford room for the church without that large and level surrounding place so desirable adjoining a place of worship, where large numbers have frequently congregated. To overcome this obstacle then, Rev. Father Shean and the committee decided on the removal of at least six or seven feet from the summit of the rising ground that comprises the site, and to the performance of this work, which is the first in connection with the new church, the men of the parish have given their attention during the past fortnight. The "cut" is about one hundred feet long, seventy feet wide, and at an average of six and a half feet in depth means the removal of forty-five thousand five hundred cubic feet of earth. It is admirable to see the energy and zeal of those in place for the work. Omitting broken time since the work opened and we find only about a week's work has been done; still a large portion of the job has been put through. Such courage and deeply-rooted fervor as shown by those men in undertaking this large amount of work with such promptness and earnestness in the face of the greater drawback—the loss of the former church—deserve every assistance and commendation. The church "on the hill" was the adorning asset of the parish, and its absence is almost awe-inspiring, but the determination and efforts that we see each day on the part of the numbers at work, and propelled by the force of a deep religious fervor very unlikely to fail them now, we can safely rely on having another church "on the hill" in due course of even more impressive stature than the former, should the funds in the hands of the committee be any way commensurate with the efforts and firm resolve of the free laborers.

That we have not any police officer stationed at Avondale has often been a subject for some discussion. At most places of large population situated on the railway line there is to be seen the stalwart form of a policeman on the stand when the train pulls into the station, but never yet have we had that privilege, unless one of the officers at Conception Harbor or Harbor Main was detailed to look after the unruly element at the station here, generally after something had been done or some accident had happened. And the surprising feature about it is that Conception Harbor, on one side of us, and Harbor Main on the other, have during all the few years of the past that are within the writer's remembrance have been adorned with the presence of a policeman, and the necessity for it at those places is small compared with Avondale, which is tapped by the railway and where the trains are pulling in frequently night and day.

Apart from this, of course, we have no more need of a police officer than in any other place. We are centrally situated as far as the officer's work would go, having Conception Harbor about two miles to the north and Harbor Main the same distance to the south of us, and under such an arrangement the one officer could easily attend to the little business in all three places.

The thoroughfare leading from the main line to the station, a mile in length, and known as the "station road," has always been dependent on the few dollars of local money in Avondale to keep it in repair. This is not fair play at all because this road is as much used by the outside public, especially Conception Harbor, Collier's, Kitchuses, Bacon Cove, and even Brigus, as any other part of the main line. The freight for all these places, except Brigus, is landed at the station here, and why should the Government expect us to devote our few dollars of local money towards the upkeep of a road for the use of the general outside public? As the station here is the railway terminus for the residents of the district from Harbor Main to Brigus, it can be easily imagined what driving and traffic passes over it, and we only the residents of Avondale, are charged for its upkeep. Come, Mr. Woodford, we regret that we cannot congratulate you any more than your predecessors for any extra attention given to our public needs, but we ask you now respectfully to see to this matter and get us a grant for the "station road."

The first intimation to us of the close of the Labrador fishery for the season came with the last s.s. Selway, when a man or two from each of the crews around Smokey and adjacent places arrived home. That was Tuesday, 3rd inst., and further evidence to the same effect came on Monday, 9th inst., with the arrival of Mr. E. Kennedy's s.s. "Michael Joe." Capt. Stephen Kennedy in command. Mr. Kennedy is twenty years master now and has a reputation for quick passages to and from the Labrador, even arriving on the coast last spring in advance of schooners that left several days before him. He deserves congratulation for his ability and success.

Dr. Jones has had within his practice during the past month or so two or three cases of typhoid fever—one at Collier's and two at Avondale; but under the doctor's careful and judicious management the spread of the disease was stopped.

The old homestead of Mr. Patrick O'Brien, book-keeper with Mr. Edward Kennedy, has during the past summer given place to a new and more commodious residence. The new building is complete in every particular, contains a verandah, up-to-date sanitary arrangements, and neat finish on plans that count much for comfort, it can compare favorably with the best outport dwellings.

Our local butcher, Mr. Maurice Kennedy, is a welcome visitor once a week when engaged in the distribution of the product of the shambler. Maurice has worked up the business to a very successful issue and to-day one can close a bargain with him for choice fresh meat at fourteen cents per pound. Mr. Kennedy is very painstaking in dressing his meats, and being an honest citizen with a keen love for the naked truth, is deserving of every success.

THE INQUISITIVE RURAL CARRIER

The inquisitive rural carrier, who knows the ha and writing of every shirt-waist on the route, is a great enemy to conceal a bad fault. He has a great deal of time spent at the club. This public servant usually has a forehead which fades away like a $2 bill in a poker game and a nose for gossip which flutters like a rabbit's when he reads the postcards. He knows the first name of every married woman in four townships and can forecast an approaching marriage before the missionary meeting gets hep to it. Once in a while retribution overtakes these amateur sleuths. We have in mind a carrier who, while reading a series of amatory postcards to the weak-minded husband of innocency, all of them beginning "Hello, kid," and bearing a picture that would just find mother-in-law to hysterics, drove off a sixteen-foot bridge and was kicked into a neat resemblance to a poached egg, reducing his bump of curiosity to quite an extent. We would sooner take a rural carrier's word concerning the age and birth-place of his patrons, their favorite diseases and preference as to undertakers, than consult the family Bible.

Turks Report Italian Reverse.

Special to Evening Telegram. LONDON, To-day.

A despatch from Constantinople says:—Italians are reported to have suffered a serious reverse outside of Tripoli. In reconnoitering they advanced too far from their base and came in contact with the Turks, who gave battle and forced the Italians to retreat hurriedly. They left hundreds dead on the field.

The Turn of the Fifties

This Cabinet was nearly all born in the fifties; Mr. Borden in 1854, Mr. Doherty in 1855, Mr. Burrell in 1858, Mr. Crothers in 1850, Mr. Nantel in 1857, Mr. Reed in 1859, Mr. Pelletier in 1858, Mr. Hughes in 1853, Mr. Monk in 1856, Mr. Cochrane in 1852, Mr. Roche in 1859. Mr. Hazen is just out of the class, being born in 1860. Mr. Foster is over the line on the other side, being born in 1847, and is the Nestor of the Cabinet, as the new Finance Minister, Mr. White, who is in his early forties, is his junior. It is worth thinking about that only one of the lot dates back beyond 1850, it means, no doubt, that most of the others who date from the fifties are seeing their chance for Cabinet honors slip away. There are quite a number of them among the men who didn't get called. There is W. P. Blackman for instance, who is on the class of '54; and Andrew Broder, '45, and Mr. Casgrain, '52. It will be from the classes of the '60's and the '70's that men will find their way into the Cabinets of the future.

KNOWS NOW

Doctor Was Fooled by His Own Case for a Time.

It's easy to understand how ordinary people get fooled by tea and coffee when doctors themselves sometimes forget the facts.

A physician speaks of his own experience:

"I had used tea and coffee for years and really did not exactly believe it was injuring me, although I had palpitation of the heart every day."

"Finally, one day, a severe and almost fatal attack of heart trouble frightened me and I gave up both tea and coffee, using Postum instead, and since that time I have had absolutely no heart palpitation except on one or two occasions when I tried coffee, which caused severe irritation and proved to me that I must let it alone."

"When we began using Postum it seemed weak and because we did not make it according to directions—but now we put a little bit of butter in the pot when boiling and allow the Postum to boil full 15 minutes which gives it the proper rich flavour and the deep brown color."

"I have advised a great many of my friends and patients to leave off tea and coffee and drink Postum, in fact I daily give this advice." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont.

Many thousands of physicians use Postum in place of tea and coffee in their own homes and prescribe it to patients.

"There's a reason."

A remarkable little book, "The Road to Wellville," can be found in packages.

IF you can stand indifferent health in order to "enjoy" your coffee, no one should interfere.

But if you want to get well and stay well, a ten days' trial of in place of coffee is a step in the right direction.

Guarding the Bank.

An Old Custom Still Maintained by English Officials.

Visitors to the Metropolis who happen to be in the vicinity of the Bank of England about half-past six in the evening may witness one of the most interesting customs in London. For it is at that time that a detachment of armed Guards march into the bank with fixed bayonets for the purpose of guarding the $100,000,000 in gold and silver with which the vaults of the "Old Lady of Threadneedle Street" are usually stocked. This custom dates back to the Gordon Riots of 1780, when it was deemed necessary to call in soldiers to prevent the mob raiding the bank. Since then the bank has been protected every night by a detachment of Guards.

The detachment usually numbers about 30 men, in parade dress, with fixed bayonets and loaded ammunition-belts, in charge of two sergeants and a lieutenant. These are the only troops that have the privilege, on ordinary occasions, of marching through the City of London with fixed bayonets.

For guarding the bank the soldiers receive extra pay, which is given to them as soon as they enter the bank each night. Privates and drummer-boy get 1s. each, corporals, 1s. 6d. and sergeants, 2s. 6d. This sum is exclusive of the subaltern's allowance. The aggregate cost of guarding the Bank of England is about $5,000 per annum.

The bank authorities do all they can for the soldiers' comfort. They provide them with extra blankets for the winter, and a selection of books, while the lieutenant in charge has a snug little room, a dinner being brought in to him from a neighbouring tavern. He is also allowed to entertain two guests, the only stipulation being that they must depart before midnight.

Turks Report Italian Reverse.

Special to Evening Telegram.
 LONDON, Oct. 17.—A despatch from Constantinople says—Italians are reported to have suffered a serious reverse outside of Tripoli. In reconnoitering they advanced too far from their base and came in contact with the Turks, who have battle and forced the Italians to retreat hurriedly. They left hundreds dead on the field.

The Turn of the Fifties

This Cabinet was nearly all born in the fifties: Mr. Borden in 1854, Mr. O'Brien in 1855, Mr. Burrell in 1855, Mr. Crothers in 1850, Mr. Nantel in 1857, Mr. Reed in 1859, Mr. Pelletier in 1858, Mr. Hughes in 1853, Mr. Monk in 1856, Mr. Cochrane in 1852, Mr. Roche in 1859, Mr. Hazen is just out of the class, being born in 1860, Mr. Foster is over the line on the other side, being born in 1847, and so the Nestor of the Cabinet, as the new Finance Minister, Mr. White, who is in his early forties, is its junior. It is worth thinking about that only one of the lot dates back beyond 1850. It means, no doubt, that most of the others who date from the fifties are seeing their chance for Cabinet honors slip away. There are quite a number of them among the men who didn't get called. There is W. F. Maclean, or instance, who is on the class of '54; and Andrew Broder, '45, and Mr. Asgrain, '52. It will be from the classes of the '60's and the '70's that men will find their way into the Cabinets of the future.

KNOWS NOW

Was Fooled by His Own Case for a Time.

It is easy to understand how ordinary people get fooled by tea and coffee. Doctors themselves sometimes get fooled. A physician speaks of his own experience: "I had used tea and coffee for years and really did not exactly believe it was injuring me, although I had palpitation of the heart every day. Finally, one day, a severe and fatal attack of heart trouble overtook me and I gave up both tea and coffee, using Postum instead, and from that time I have had absolutely no palpitation except on one or two occasions when I tried coffee. It caused severe irritation and led me to think that I must let it alone. When we began using Postum it was weak—that was because we were not making it according to directions. Now we put a little bit of butter in the pot when boiling and allow the steam to boil full 15 minutes which is the proper rich flavour and deep brown color. I have advised a great many of my friends and patients to leave off tea and coffee and drink Postum, and I daily give this advice. Name it by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont. Any thousands of physicians use Postum in place of tea and coffee in their own homes and prescribe it to their patients. There's a reason. The remarkable little book, "The Remarkable Little Book," can be found in Postum.

Danderine

Stops Falling Hair and Destroys Dandruff

Makes the Hair Grow Long, Heavy and Luxuriant and We Can Quickly Prove It

If You Wish to Double the Beauty of Your Hair at Once, Just Get a 25 Cent Bottle and Try This Simply try a Danderine Hair Cleanse if you wish to immediately double the beauty of your hair with little trouble and at a cost not worth mentioning—just moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and apply it carefully through your hair, taking one small strand at a time, this will cleanse the hair of dirt, dirt or any excessive oil. In a few moments you will be amazed. Your hair will be wavy, soft and abundant and possess an incomparable softness, lustre and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Besides beautifying the hair, an application of Danderine dissolves every particle of Dandruff, cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. It's exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow abundantly long, strong and beautiful. It at once imparts a sparkling brilliancy and softness to the hair, and a few weeks' use will cause new hair to sprout all over the scalp. Use it every day for a short time, after which two or three times a week will be sufficient to complete whatever growth you desire.

You can surely have pretty, soft, lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will just get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed.

Guarding the Bank.

An Old Custom Still Maintained by English Officials.

Visitors to the Metropolis who happen to be in the vicinity of the Bank of England about half-past six in the evening may witness one of the most interesting customs in London. For it is at that time that a detachment of armed Guards march into the bank with fixed bayonets for the purpose of guarding the $100,000,000 in gold and silver with which the vaults of the "Old Lady of Threadneedle Street" are usually stocked. This custom dates back to the Gordon Riots of 1793 when it was deemed necessary to call in soldiers to prevent the mob from looting the bank. Since then the bank has been protected every night by a detachment of Guards.

The detachment usually numbers about 20 men, in parade dress, with fixed bayonets and loaded ammunition-belts, in charge of two sergeants and a lieutenant. These are the only troops that have the privilege, on ordinary occasions, of marching through the City of London with fixed bayonets.

For guarding the bank the soldiers receive extra pay, which is given to them as soon as they enter the bank each night. Privates and drummers get 1s. each, corporals, 1s. 6d. and sergeants, 2s. 6d. This sum is exclusive of the subaltern's allowance. The aggregate cost of guarding the Bank of England is about $5,000 per annum.

The bank authorities do all they can for the soldiers' comfort. They provide them with extra blankets for the winter, and a selection of books; while the lieutenant in charge has a snug little room, a dinner being brought in to him from a neighbouring tavern. He is also allowed to entertain two guests, the only stipulation being that they must depart before midnight.

Falling any emergency call, the majority of the soldiers merely perform duty-go once a night for an hour. They are posted throughout the hours of the bank and in the courts, the sentries being increased in the middle of the night, and remaining on duty till the detachment returns to barracks at six o'clock in the summer and seven in the winter.

With regard to the lieutenant, there is a curious stipulation that he shall only have one bottle of wine for himself and two for each of his guests, while the regulation is that each soldier shall not be allowed more than one pint of stout from the small canteen which has been established inside the bank for the convenience of the night guard.

Makes Hair Grow.

McMurdo & Co. have an invigorator that will grow hair or money back. The time to take care of your hair is when you have hair to take care of.

If your hair is getting thin, gradually falling out, it cannot be long before the spot appears.

The greatest remedy to stop the hair from falling is SALVIA, the Great American Hair Grower, first discovered in England. SALVIA furnishes nourishment to the hair roots and acts so quickly that people are amazed. A large bottle for 50c.

And remember, it destroys the Dandruff germ, the little pest that snags the life that should go to the hair from the roots.

SALVIA is sold by McMurdo & Co., under a positive guarantee to cure Dandruff, stop Falling Hair and Itching Scalp in ten days or money back. A large bottle costs 50c. The word "SALVIA" (Latin for sage) is on every bottle.

The fish in the Dill River at Dorlar, Eng., were seen behaving in a very peculiar manner, recently. Some of them were swimming backwards and others up and down. Investigations showed that they were badly intoxicated. The explanation is that the alcohol from an adjoining yeast factory had been thrown into the river, and in such great quantities as to have a demoralizing effect on the river inhabitants.

Uncle Walt

THE POET PHILOSOPHER.

The summer's gone, where summers stray—the summer gay and blight and rosy! And now the autumn's on its way to that dim bourne where autumns mosey. The flies are dead—those playful elves, whose antics made us sore and curly; and now we'll have to hump ourselves and do our Christmas shopping early. There are some duties that I hate in this dark world of woe and weeping, some jobs which make my molars grate when I'm awake and when I'm sleeping. Some tasks we have to do are bores, in life's unpleasant hurly-burly; we hate to chase around the stores and do our Christmas shopping early. That slogan's dinned into our ears by tiresome journalistic preachers until it fills our eyes with tears, for we are poor, weak, human creatures. Such preaching gives us all the blues, and makes our tempers short and curly; so let us one and all refuse to do our Christmas shopping early.

Jiu-Jitsu Wrestling.

RULES OF THE GAME.

In jiu-jitsu wrestling, twisting of fingers and digging knuckles into tender parts of the anatomy is not allowed. The object aimed at is to obtain a lock on your opponent which will make it impossible for him to continue the struggle, except at the risk of a broken joint or other equally serious discomfort.

The neck locks used put pressure on the carotid arteries, thereby causing unconsciousness. One soon comes to, however, and no ill effects remain; it is not followed by a nasty headache, as a knockout blow in boxing, although for the time being your opponent is just as effectually disabled.

The other locks chiefly attack the shoulders, elbow and knee joints; some are ineffective against a strong man, others more effective by reason of his strength.

Strength and weight, although they are invariably important factors in physical contests, do not give anything like the advantage in this method of wrestling they do in other styles. In fact the secret of success is to turn your opponent's weight and strength to your own advantage.

The rules governing matches are briefly, in addition to those common to all methods of wrestling, which provide against hitting, kicking, butting, etc., as follows:

Pressure or leverage must be applied gently, gradually increasing until your opponent is forced to give signal admitting defeat; that is, lapping twice, or by word of mouth. On his so doing it must be instantly eased up.

There can be no question as to result. No argument as to whether it was fairly done or not; the beaten man himself acknowledges defeat; if forced by the utter helplessness of his position. On making the signal he is released and is ready to continue the struggle unharmed.

At the C. L. B. Armoury Friday night lovers of wrestling will have the first opportunity of witnessing jiu-jitsu.

Klark Urban Company.

Much anticipation is already shown over the engagement of the Klark Urban Company at the T. A. Hall commencing next Monday evening.

The fact that such famous plays as "Capt. Clay of Missouri," "Came Kirby," "In the Bishop's Carriage," "The Belle of Richmond," "The Little Gray Lady," "A Woman's Sacrifice" and "Zeke, the Country Boy" are to be presented at popular prices, carries more than the ordinary weight to an engagement of this kind. No similar attraction has ever attempted; repertoire as pretentious as this one that involves so great care in the general mounting of the plays. The complete scenic effects are carried for each and every play and no local settings will be used from the opening bill Monday evening.

High-Priced French Newspapers.

Paris, Oct. 11.—A scheme is on foot to start in Paris the highest priced daily newspaper of the present day. It is to be called LeJournal International, to be published in French, and is to be sold at ten cents a copy. The object of the publication is to regard political affairs from a strictly international standpoint, and for that purpose an international advisory board is to meet once a year to consider the policy of the journal. Lord Wardlaw for Great Britain, George Brandes for Denmark, Count Albert Apponyi for Hungary, and Baroness Von Stunner for Austria, are members of the board, and Theodore Stanton, an American journalist, as editor. A large premises has been taken in Paris, and it is stated the newspaper will be started in February.

WINARD'S LINIMENT CURES DISEASES.

Harbor Grace Notes.

The Road Board has a number of men engaged repairing the roads damaged by the late freshets, rain storms, &c.

We are pleased to see the genial Dr. Parsons out again after his recent illness. The doctor contracted a severe cold by being caught in one of the rain storms while visiting some of his patients. All our citizens are glad to see him out again.

Mr. John Butt, of the Post Office staff, has been given a month's holidays and leaves by the express this evening for Sydney, C.B., on a visit to his brother and other friends. We trust John will thoroughly enjoy his "picnic."

Mrs. Chas. Ash and Miss Susie Noel leave by this evening express for Boston, the former on a visit to her son and daughters there, and the latter to again take up work there after a pleasant summer spent at the old home.

Farmers are now busily engaged in getting crops out of the ground. Owing to so much rain this has been delayed somewhat. But weather prophets think we will have a couple of weeks of good weather now.

Mr. Albert Rogers went out by yesterday's early train for St. John's, and expects to return to-night.

The photo taken by Mr. R. T. Parsons of the cholera of Victoria Street School was shown yesterday, and is a very pretty one, reflecting much credit on the talented photographer. It will no doubt be cherished by each child and treasured when the scholars are probably scattered over the world.

The flag of the C. B. B. Society is today floating at half mast out of respect and in mourning for the death of one of its oldest members, Mr. John Verge, who died this morning.

The many friends of Mrs. William Walsh will be glad to know she is improved considerably in health and was able to be about town yesterday the first time for years.

 Harbor Grace, Oct. 17th, 1911.

Asked for Pledge From King George.

London, October 10.—Viscount Halifax, speaking at Aberdeen, in Scotland, last night, referred to the speech delivered on Saturday, at Haddington by Mr. Balfour, in which the latter referred to the "felon blow" contained in Mr. Asquith's "traitorous advice." Lord Haldane said: "We made no bargain. It would be very unbecoming to make a bargain with the King. We did not ask any pledge of the King. We only said that we must have an understanding as to the real issue which was being submitted to the nation. The King took the only course which a Constitutional monarch could take and that was to say: 'What the country decides, that will I accept.'"

And find out if you have kidney disorders—Also make this test. Have you pains in the back over the kidneys? Have you urinary disorders? Do you suffer from severe headaches, dizziness or defective eyesight? Is the skin dry and harsh? Are you falling in health and strength, and suffering from rheumatic pains or swelling of the limbs? These are a few of the symptoms of kidney disease, and here is the test. If the urine after standing for twenty-four hours is cloudy, milky or has particles floating about in it, or if there is a sediment in the bottom of the vessel, your kidneys are diseased. There is no time to lose in beginning the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Killed at Montreal.

On Tuesday Mrs. Byrne, wife of Sergeant Byrne, received a message from her sister, Miss Margaret Finch, from Montreal, saying that her son, Robert Finch, Mrs. Byrne's nephew, had received dangerous injuries while working at Point St. Charles. Yesterday a further message was received stating that the poor fellow had died of his injuries. Robert Finch was the son of the late Joseph Finch, of Hamilton Street, was a fine, able young chap, only in his 20th year, and was well known here having left here with his mother and family about a year ago. The body will be brought here for interment, and before burial will be lodged at 246 Hamilton Street. To Mrs. Finch and Mrs. Byrne and the other relatives the Telegram extends its condolences.

Horse Kill by Auto.

A valuable horse belonging to the Reid Nfd. Co. was killed near the Cross Roads by Mr. Collishaw's automobile about 6.30 last evening. Mr. Collishaw who was motoring to his home on Waterford Bridge Road, accidentally collided with the Reid Nfd. Co. express with horse attached. Two carriages were lined up on the south side of the road with their lights burning. In order to avoid them Mr. Collishaw kept to the other side and in doing so ran into Reid's express horse which was coming out the road at a fair speed. The horse was knocked down and its two fore legs broken. The driver, a man named Baird, was thrown out over the head of the wagon, the front part of which flew over the motor and passed close to Mr. Collishaw's head and knocking off the hat of Mr. H. Crowe who was seated in the auto behind Mr. Collishaw. The motor car was badly damaged in the front and side. Mr. Collishaw, who claims that there were no lights on the express, shut off the power as quickly as possible and brought the car to a standstill. Neither Baird nor the man with him was injured.

Crushed Between Cars

J. Mason, working in the R. N. Co. railway yard, had a close call yesterday afternoon. He was working at the cars and had stooped between two of them to pick up something from the ground. When he raised his head he saw that the cars were coming together and he ducked again. One of his ears was caught between the juffers and torn almost from its place. He was taken to O'Mara's drug store where the wound was dressed by Dr. Campbell. Had he seen half a second later in withdrawing his head his skull would have been crushed like an egg shell.

Co. This will be the fourth cargo of fish to be shipped per steamer by this company during the season.

S. S. Home's Report.

The S. S. Home, Capt. Jacob Keen, arrived at Bay of Islands yesterday afternoon. The following message was sent to the Reid Nfd. Co.:

The Victims of the Liberte.

National Funeral to 185 Men.

Paris, Oct. 3.—Impressive scenes were witnessed at Toulon to-day, when 185 men who were killed by the explosion in the Liberte were accorded a national funeral.

Among those who took part in the funeral were the officers and men of the battleship Exmouth, a great impression being created by the presence of the British sailors.

President Fallieres sent the following telegram to King George:—

Profoundly touched by your Majesty's noble thought in causing the British Navy to be represented at the obsequies of the victims of the explosion on September 25 and to share the mourning of our fleet, I assure you of the deep gratitude of France and of the Government of the Republic. FALLIERES.

The President arrived at Toulon shortly after ten o'clock this morning and was received by the local authorities and by Sir Edmund Poe, commander of the Exmouth, representing the British Navy. M. Fallieres drove immediately to the Palace d'Armes, where 24 gun carriages bearing 185 coffins were in waiting.

The coffins were covered with Tricolours, and on the top of them were placed the uniforms of the dead men. After the Bishop of Frejus had pronounced the Benediction the cortege formed up and began its progress through the town to the arsenal. At its head marched the crews of the Toulon squadron, escorting a magnificent array of wreaths, more than 2,500 in number, and including those offered by the President as well as the officers and crews of the British squadron at Malta.

The gun-carriages were preceded by a battery of artillery, six companies of infantry, and the sailors and marines of the Exmouth, the sailors wearing straw hats and the marines white helmets. The mourners were headed by a detachment of gendarmes from M. Fallieres, members of the Cabinet, deputies, senators, foreign naval attaches, municipal authorities, and the clergy. Enormous crowds lined the route, many of the spectators being moved to tears.

ATTILLA'S REPAIRS.—The Attilla is getting a thorough overhauling above decks. The work is being done by Mr. S. Butler's men. They are caulking the decks all over and putting up a new foretopmast and a mainboom.

STEAMERS LYING UP.—The S. S. Bellaventure and S. S. Bonaventure are now lying up and will remain at anchor till the seal fishery season.
