In the Supreme Court.
In the matter of the alleged insolvency of John C. Austin of Brownsdale, Shopkeeper, in the Electoral District of Trinity.
Upon reading the Petition and affidavit thereto annexed of Thomas Tucker and Eldon Tucker carrying on business under the name and style of Thomas Tucker and son, General Dealers, alleging that John C. Austin of Brownsdale in the Electoral District of Trinity, Shopkeeper is insolvent and praying that a time and place may be appointed for the hearing thereof, and on hearing Mr. Gibbs, K.C. Counsel for them, I do order that the said John C. Austin and his creditors do appear before me in Chambers at the Court House on Thursday the 2nd day of November, at 10.30 o'clock in the forenoon to be examined and heard touching his alleged insolvency and I do further order that Thomas Tucker of St. John's, General Dealer, be and is hereby appointed interim Trustee of the estate and effects of the said John C. Austin.
Dated at St. John's this 19th day of October, 1922.
(Signed) J. M. KENT, Judge.

"A Terrible Experience"

"I Recall My Experiences with the Burglar with Feelings of Horror!"

"How would you feel if you wakened in the middle of the night with a flashlight shining in your eyes and the gruff voice of a man threatening that 'if you make the slightest noise, I'll shoot?' That was my experience the end of last March when my husband was away in the woods and I was alone with my three children. Everytime I think of this experience a shudder passes over me and as long as I live I shall remember it. At the time I really thought I would die. It's a wonder my heart did not stop beating. I was so weak that even if I had any desire to move, I could not. I was bathed in a cold, clammy perspiration. Even to recall the shocking details now makes me shudder. It was a result of this shock that I contracted a high fever and for hours at a time I was delirious. I got so bad that the doctor finally gave up hope of my ever recovering, but by careful nursing, I was finally pronounced out of danger. The shock had left me so weak, that for no reason whatever, I would suddenly burst into tears. All the life seemed to have been taken out of me. I kept getting weaker and weaker, so much so that my husband and children were constantly worrying about me. Doctors prescribed for me and while I willingly tried their medicines, only very few of them did me any good, but unfortunately the good was not lasting. My family asked me if I would try Carnol and I said, 'I was willing to try anything,' but felt that it would not do me any good. Four bottles of Carnol taken regularly, has completely restored my former health and strength and, while I occasionally recall my experience with the burglar with feelings of horror, I am otherwise as well and strong as I have ever been. Carnol is the most wonderful preparation I have ever used for building and restoring health and vitality. It has done wonders for several of my friends to whom I have recommended it." ### LADY IRIS' MISTAKE; Hero of 'Surata'

CHAPTER XVIII.
"Did he tell you? I am glad of that," he said. "I should have told you myself."
"Would you?" she asked, her face brightening. "Would you really have trusted me?"
"Most certainly. And, now that you know my history, what have you to say to me?"
"I have but this to say—raising her face—that I admire and sympathize with you."
He dropped upon one knee with the grace and gallantry of one of the knights of old. He took her white hand and kissed it.
"Heaven bless you," he cried. "You are the noblest woman I have ever met!"
Each was innocently misleading the other. She was alluding to the falsehood that John Bardon had told her of his having given up wealth and title for his mother's sake, and he thought that she was referring to the story of his birth.
He rose, and said with some emotion—
"I hardly dared to hope for your sympathy; they told me that you were so proud!"
"Proud!" she repeated. "What has pride to do with it? Do you think I am so proud to recognize nobility of character?" And those words misled him still further.
"You have made me very happy," he answered. "I never thought I could be so happy, Lady Iris. I shall remember your goodness to me as long as I live." His face quivered with emotion, and his lips trembled.

"Do you think of staying long at Hyne Court?" she asked him.
"I have not decided. Mr. Bardon and Lady Arice wish me to stay."
"Why not do so?" she said, unconscious how much sweet persuasion there was in her voice.
"Do you really—I mean—pray excuse me, Lady Iris, I seem to have lost all power of speech—would you advise me to stay?"
"The scenery in the neighborhood is very beautiful," she said "and the country is lovely just now."
"I am presumptuous, I know"—and he drew near to her with a flush in his dark face—"presumptuous and daring; but let me ask you, do you feel any interest in the matter of whether I go or stay?"
"How can you put that question to me—to me, whose life you have saved?" she replied.
"Never mind that—forget that, Lady Iris. I do not wish to owe anything to your gratitude. You must know that I should have done the same for any other lady. Tell me if for my own sake you take any interest in the matter of whether I go or stay."
Her heart beat at the sound of the words. She looked at him proudly with shy happy eyes.
"I should prefer you to remain, if I must say what I think, Captain Osburn," she replied.
And before he had time to speak the conversatory was filled with dancers in search of rest and fresh air. There was no opportunity for another word.
Later on in the evening John Bardon found himself by the side of the proud young beauty who had rejected him with such hot indignation and undisguised scorn.
"You seem to be enjoying yourself this evening, Lady Iris," he said. "My wife ought to be very proud that she has succeeded in amusing you."
"I am not difficult to amuse, as a rule," she told him.
"No; but I never have seen you so radiant and happy as you are to-night. You remind me of sunshine and everything else that is bright."
She laughed at the florid compliment.
"I want you Lady Iris," he went on, "to remember this night."
"I shall be sure to remember it, Mr. Bardon," she replied. "I have seldom been so happy, and have hardly ever enjoyed myself so much."
"I have a reason for asking you not to forget it," he said. "The time will come when I shall remind you of it."
"I shall be very pleased to be reminded of anything one half so pleasant," she interrupted.
"You have given me many very pleasant evenings at Chandos, and I am glad to repay them," he said.
There was something so peculiar in his voice that she turned to look at him. He was very pale, and there was a wild look in his eyes. It struck her that there was something strange about him; but then he had never been quite like any one else. Any idea of the reality that he was revenging himself on her and betraying his friend, never occurred to her.
"I am sorry we have to leave early," she said; "but we are a large party, and it is a long way to Chandos."
"Yes, it is a long drive," he replied; and she saw that he was not thinking of the words he was uttering. "I will

Ironized Yeast Brings Marvelous Beauty to Skin

Science Now Proves How Complexion is Quickly Beautified Through the Blood. There is nothing in the world today which is producing such a sensation as "the simple discovery" of ironized yeast. It gives you a healthy, rosy cheeks and a ravishingly beautiful complexion, and you have picked out an individual whose blood

"Ironized Yeast Has Cleared My Skin Quickly and Gloriously!" is rich with vitamins and iron. This recipe of Nature, "Ironized Yeast," is now being used by thousands of men and women with striking, yet perfectly natural, results. It gives you yeast-witamins-ironized, containing iron in the form in which it exists in the human body. It is not a mere mixture of yeast and iron, but is yeast ironized, which is a substance all by itself. Muddledness, that greasiness, robbes you away to a lily-purity which nothing else on earth can produce. Pimples, blemishes, spots, eruptions, they become practically an impossibility. Rosy cheeks, freckles, and young-looking skin, rose-petal purity, velvety softness—all features such as a skin further beautified by your favorite beauty powder. To think of it is lovely. To have it, a modern woman's. It is sold by all druggists at 1/6 a box. Each package contains 30 tablets, each tablet is 1/10 of an ounce. They lose their power. Harold F. ### Church Condemns Irish Insurrection.

FOUR DEAD IN JAIL RIOTS. DUBLIN, Oct. 19.—(The New York Times)—The hierarchy of the Catholic Church of Ireland, at a full meeting to-day at St. Patrick's College, Maynooth, issued a pastoral letter to the priests and people condemning in strong terms the revolt and guerrilla warfare against the Irish Provisional Government.
"It is most inconceivable," the Bishop said, "how decent Irish boys could degenerate so tragically and reconcile such methods of originality with their duties to God and Ireland. Vanity, perhaps self-conceit, may have blinded some who think they, not the nation, must dictate the national policy. Greed for land, love of loot and anarchy have affected others; but the main cause of this demoralization is to be found in false notions of social morality."
Having pointed out the obligation under divine and moral law to give civic obedience to the government set up by the majority of the Irish people the pastoral states:
"The guerrilla warfare now carried on by the Irregulars is without normal sanction and therefore the killing of National forces is murder before God, the setting of public or private property to robbery, the breaking of roads, bridges and railways is criminal destruction, and the invasion of the home and the molestation of citizens is a most grave crime."
"All who in contravention of Catholic teaching participate in such crimes as are guilty of the gravest sins and may not be absolved in confession or admitted to Holy Communion. It is said that there are priests who approve this irregular insurrection. If there be any such they are false to their sacred office and guilty of the gravest scandal and will not be allowed to retain the faculties held from us."
"Furthermore we forbid under pain of suspension ipso facto, and reserve to the ordinary, any priest advocating such doctrine publicly or privately."

Why Can't Girls Throw Straight?

Two reasons account for this general fact. One purely physical, has to do with the difference in the bodies of the sexes, the girl's clavicle or collar-bone being shorter, so giving her a smaller play of forearm than her brother.
In addition, direction in overhead throwing depends chiefly upon the shoulders and chest being carried forward with the swing of the arm.
With a boy this is the heaviest part of his body, but a girl is heaviest at the hips. Consequently, instead of the girl's body swinging straight forward, it frequently turns round at the waist, so completely spoiling the aim.
The second reason is that since the earliest days of human evolution, man has been practising throwing, in war, in self-defence, in the hunt, in a hundred ways. Thousands of years of such practice has resulted in straight throwing becoming a hereditary masculine habit, almost an instinct.

CUTICURA HEALS LARGE RINGWORM

On Head, Itched and Burned. Could Not Sleep. "A large ringworm started on my head. Each day it grew larger and itched and burned so that I used to have to get up at night and bathe it. The hair around it fell out and became very dry. I could not sleep at night on account of the irritation."
"The trouble lasted about a month. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after using about three cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Lucile Bond, 686 S. La St., Roswell, New Mexico, Oct. 8, 1921.
Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Tablets are all you need for every-day toilet and nursery purposes.

Conference of Unionist Party.

Carlton Club Meeting May be Breaker Ahead --- After Operation Winston Rests Comfortably --- Britain Enters Another Protest Against Illegal Seizure --- Diocesan Relations of Newfoundland and Canada.

UNIONISTS CALL PARTY MEETING

LONDON, Oct. 18. The only new feature in political crisis to-day was the development of dissatisfaction on the part of Conservative peers and the rank and file with the alleged picked character of the proposed Carlton Club meeting tomorrow. There is increasing sentiment over the limitation of the meeting to members of the Commons, and it is contended that such a meeting will fail to be representative of the party as a whole. Moreover, the meeting is regarded as an attempt to forestall the annual Conference of the Conservatives in mid-November. Hence the Executive Committee of the National Unionists Association called a special meeting to-day, with Sir George Younger, Chairman for the Party, presiding, and unanimously proposed a resolution instructing the Committee to summon forthwith an emergency Conference of the Party. An emergency meeting is much more likely to reveal the complete extent of the split in the Conservative Party over the question of Lloyd George's leadership, than is the Carlton Club meeting. Political activity is unabated and gossip concerns the possibility, should Parliament be dissolved, of holding the elections on Armistice Day, November 11th.

CHURCHILL UNDERGOES OPERATION

LONDON, Oct. 18. Winston Spencer Churchill, Secretary for the Colonies, was operated for appendicitis this evening. The operation is declared successful and he is progressing favorably. He had been suffering several days from what was variously described as gastro enteritis and gastritis and from this condition appendicitis developed last night.

NOT ALLOWED IN CONSTANTINOPLE

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 18. British authorities in the interest of public safety declined a permit to Turkish gendarmes to march thru Constantinople to-day as planned. The order caused great disappointment among the exuberant Turkish population which had prepared a lavish welcome for the Kemalists. The Allied Mission reached an unanimous agreement in the matter forbidding the Turkish gendarmes bound for Thrace to enter Constantinople.

BRITAIN PROTESTS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18. The seizure by the prohibition enforcement officials early this week of the Canadian schooner Emerald off the New Jersey coast has been made the ground for formal protest by the British Government, the contention being made that the vessel was outside United States jurisdiction. The British protest is understood to assert that the Emerald's boats were not in touch with the shore and there was therefore no warrant under the announced policy of the U.S. Government itself for interference with Canadian craft.

WOULD INCLUDE NEWFOUNDLAND DIOCESE IN CANADA

HALIFAX, Oct. 18. Archbishop Forrell, Metropolitan of the Ecclesiastical Province of Canada, of the Church of England, comprising the Maritime Provinces and Quebec, in his charge to the Synod to-day, said it had been his dream to have the Diocese of Newfoundland and Bermuda included in the Province of Canada. He said: "It seems to me the time has come for definite move being again taken by the Synod with a view of approaching Newfoundland and something might be done in regard to Bermuda."

VOTES FOR NEWFOUNDLAND PARSONAGES

TORONTO, Oct. 18. Appropriations made to-day at sessions of the General Board of Missions of the Methodist Church, include five hundred dollars each for the Parsonages of Bell Island, Little Bay Is. and Springdale, Newfoundland, and three hundred dollars for furnishing the church at Norman's Cove, Newfoundland.

B.E.S. NOT FINANCING

MONTREAL, Oct. 18. At the conclusion of the meeting of the Board of Directors of the British Empire Steel Corporation here to-day, President Roy Wolvin stated the current report of reorganization and financing of the corporation had not originated with the company. He said for some time he had been carrying on negotiations with certain financial houses with reference to their taking an interest in the company, but so far had been unable to make the proposition sufficiently attractive to them. He added "although at the last general meeting a larger scheme of financing was contemplated, it had been decided, as a result of improved conditions, that the same necessity does not exist." Mr. Wolvin further stated that such financing as would meet the company's requirements was available to-day at any time. While the first half of this year's operations had been unsatisfactory, due to the conditions in the steel industry, the general situation now was very much better.

COAL CARRIER WRECKED

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Oct. 18. The three-masted schooner Seaman A.O., bound from Jersey City to Parrboro, with hard coal, grounded on the Sow and Pigs Reef early to-day and is expected to prove a total loss. Capt. Morrissy and crew of seven were taken off.

SUPPOSED RUM RUNNER SEIZED

SYDNEY, Oct. 18. On suspicion of rum running, the schooner Allan C. was seized yesterday afternoon at Gabarus loaded to the gunwales with liquor. She sailed from St. Pierre on the sixteenth ostensibly for Nassau.

Beaver Board is the Best of all Wall Boards

HERE IS THE PROOF:

On the outside of our Store there are two Beaver Boards which were placed there in 1912. These two Beaver Boards have been exposed to the rain, sun, wind and snow during the past ten years and are still in good condition.

No mere substitute has stood such a test as this.

During the past ten years seven substitutes for Beaver Board have been sold to take the place of Beaver Board, but to-day not one of these substitutes is seen, and Beaver Board holds its place as the best of all wall boards.

The back of every Beaver Board is branded with the Beaver trade mark!

Look for this trade mark whenever you buy Beaver Board. Unless the board you buy as Beaver Board is branded with this trade mark, you are being cheated. Beaver Board is guaranteed by the Beaver Companies of Thorold and Buffalo and last as long as your house.

Beaver Board is real board made with long fibres of selected Spruce and necessarily will outwear such imitations as consist of several thicknesses of cardboard glued together.

Beaver Board is the best of all Wall Boards.

Pies and Pastry!

The digestibility of Pies has been called into question but, when properly made, pies are as easily digested as anything else.

Until quite recently it has been taken for granted by the majority of people that it was impossible to make good pastry out of Manitoba wheat without using a large amount of shortening—the proper kind of which is very expensive.

They have thought it necessary to keep two kinds of flour—one for Bread and the other for Pastry. This idea is erroneous.

"Windsor Patent" Flour (which is acknowledged all the world over as Canada's best) makes the most delicious pastry when the same amount of shortening is used as with ordinary pastry flour.

JUST TRY IT AND BE CONVINCED!

China Telephones.

Telephone service in China is confined almost exclusively to the principal cities. With the exception of a few short and scattered toll lines, there are practically no facilities for telephone intercommunication, so that the telephone exchanges in the cities are independent of each other. As regards ownership and operation, there are four distinct classes of exchanges in the country: (1) those owned by the central government at Peking; (2) those owned by the provincial governments; (3) those owned by private Chinese merchants, and (4) those owned by foreigners.

"Gretna Green Marriage."

Until 1754 a marriage could be lawfully contracted in Great Britain at any place or time and without notice. Many scandals, such as the marriages of wealthy minors of both sexes to undesirable, consequently occurred, and a Marriage Regulation Act was therefore passed which had the practical effect of putting an end to such runaway matches. The new Act, however, did not apply to Scotland, which still maintained her ancient custom of counting as valid a marriage "by consent" of the parties without an officiating clergyman and without notice. Gretna Green on the western route, and to a lesser degree Lambertton Toll Bar on the eastern, met the requirements of eloping in runaway weddings! No parson was needed and no particular ceremony, but only a declaration that the lovers took each other for man and wife. To such a pitch did things get that, in 1856, an Act had to be passed, confining Scottish marriages to those who had resided at least three weeks in the country.

Concert and Lecture.

ADDRESS BY R.W.G.M. PICCOTT.

At Victoria Hall last night Provincial Grand Master, L.O.A., R.W. Bro. Piccott delivered an inspiring lecture before a large and representative audience. The Chair was taken by W.M. Bro. T. Nosworthy, Royal Oak Lodge. Previous to the lecture an interesting musical programme was rendered. This consisted of selections by the C.L.B. Band, a solo by Mr. A. Lawrence, piano solo by Mr. Walker, Cornet solo by Mr. Driscoll, and a recitation by Mrs. Osborne. Each item was well rendered and several encores were demanded. Grand Master Piccott found his subject in the Orange Constitution: "Thou shalt teach men ordinances and laws," and for over an hour he held his audience in closest attention as he spoke to them of Loyalty to God, to King, and to Brotherhood. In his concluding remarks he appealed to those who were not members of the Order to join the ranks as good Orangemen made the best kind of citizens. P.W. Mistress Bastow followed with a brief address, and on motion of P.M.G.W. Gushue, seconded by Bro. R. J. Ivany, a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the lecturer. The singing of the National Anthem brought a very pleasant evening to a close.

Manslaughter Case.

MAGISTERIAL ENQUIRY TO-MORROW.

The preliminary enquiry into the charge of manslaughter preferred against Nelson Duley opens in the Central District Court at 2.30 p.m. tomorrow. The investigation will be conducted by Judge Morris. There are not many witnesses to be examined but it is probable that a lot of technical evidence will be required. W. J. Higgins, K.C., appears for Duley, who was formally charged by Mr. McCarthy, S.M., last night, and is now out on $20,000 bail. The statement of George Neville, who died as the result of injuries received when a stovon on which he was sitting, had a collision with Duley's car, was taken at the General Hospital by Supt. O'Neill and Magistrate McCarthy, shortly before he died.

The Mystery Man.

Those that had the pleasure of witnessing the exhibitions given by the Mystery Man yesterday in the rooms of the G.W.V.A. were very much amazed at the various stunts that the young man performed, such as pulling the string through the nose, swallowing the coins, sticking needles in the chest, face and ear, and getting clear out of the ropes. Such gentlemen as Judge Morris, Inspector General Hutchings, Drs. Modell, O'Reilly, Paterson, Burden; Messrs. B. B. Stafford, Thistle, J. Snow and Capt. J. Whiffy and newspaper men all claim he is the best that they have ever seen and a wonder. All very interesting.—oct19,11

The "Egypt" Judgment.

A sensation was caused by the findings of the Board of Trade Inquiry into the loss of the P. & O. liner Egypt. The Court holds that the heavy sacrifice of life was due to the failure of the master and chief officer to take proper measures to make the crew efficient or to maintain discipline. The master's certificate is suspended for six months, and the chief officer is severely censured. The Company is also held responsible for failure to adopt measures calculated to ensure compliance with want of proper leadership. Even the panic among the Larsons is attributed to want of proper leadership. The judgment is unquestionably drastic; but in view of the evidence and of the serious loss of life the general opinion is that it was the only one which the Court could give. That, however, does not seem to be the unqualified view of nautical men. What seems certain is that if the collision could not have been averted by those in charge of the Egypt, at least its consequences might have been minimized. Passengers by the great liners are entitled to look for discipline and leadership in such a crisis. The great shipping companies have properly been keen to escape all Government interference in their affairs. If one of the recommendations of the Court is acted on they will have to submit to conditions which may relieve them of some responsibility but must sometimes be a source of irritation. The recommendation says "that the same protection as to the safety of life which is afforded to emigrant ships by means of Board of Trade supervision and inspection should be extended to all foreign-going passenger ships."—United Empire.

Londoners Revel in South African Fruit.

LONDON.—As a result of huge shipments of fruit to London from Europe and South Africa, the English markets to-day are flooded and to the joy of the consumer, the fruit is being sold at prices considerably lower than pre-war. Also they are less by half of what they were a few days ago. Although there has been a good market the surplus is still enormous, and large wastage is feared unless the foreign shipments are curtailed. The harvest of fruit in England is estimated to be the largest in a decade, and the quality is excellent.

Lisbon Aroused Over Political Murders.

LISBON.—Two recent political assassinations in the streets of Lisbon have aroused the people of this turbulent city. The authorities are accused of failing to afford protection to individuals, and the newspapers are calling upon the government to do something, else Lisbon will become more and more isolated from the provinces where already the city is regarded as a dangerous center of disorder. The latest crimes took place within three days of each other, and in the heart of the city. Neither victim is expected to live. One was a leading civil revolutionist known under the nickname of "Avante." He is accused of having denounced some of his former comrades who advocated very extreme measures. He was crossing the street at night, near the docks, when an automobile suddenly stopped near him. Two men jumped out, one stabbed him with a dagger, and then both fled in the car. The other victim is Sergio Principe, Lisbon merchant, who is accused of forsaking his old ideals in favor of the working classes, and who is said to be to-day the secretary of the Patronal Association, an organization strongly opposed to the Syndicates and the Unions. Principe also was stabbed while walking on the street in front of his store, and his assailant escaped. Both men had received letters of warning, written in blood, and signed "The Red Legion."

School Conditions in Russia.

SHOW LITTLE IMPROVEMENT

MOSCOW.—Russian children have started a new school year with little prospect of better conditions than they endured during the revolution. In the Siberian district the indebtedness of the government to the teachers for salaries has reached the sum of over $5,000,000,000 rubles, says a recent report to the district Soviet. This is a mere fraction of the total amount due to instructors in salaries. In some districts teachers have not been paid for many months, and the officials have even ceased to keep account of the arrears. The lot of Russian school teachers has been a hard one. In the villages they have been somewhat better cared for than in the cities because the peasants have taxed themselves to contribute to the necessary expenses; have themselves cut wood for the school fuel, and have repaired many school houses. In the cities the schools have been left to governmental care. As a result of these conditions many teachers are turning to other means of earning a living.

Local Constable Fined.

SOUGHT BOOZE WHERE IT WAS NOT.

The local constable of Torbay suspected that two women of that place, whom he met on the road, had booze in the parcels they carried under their arms. A true sleuth, he immediately proceeded to investigate, recking not the need for scraps of paper such as search warrants. The booze was not, and the women objected to the constable's proceedings, and took action against him. This morning the Magistrate mulcted him to the tune of $5 and costs.

Modern Office Buildings.

GOING UP IN LONDON.

LONDON.—Nearing completion on the crest of Tower Hill, its own tower rivalling in height the dome of St. Paul's, is the most impressive, the most palatial, the best lighted and probably the most conveniently arranged group of business buildings ever erected in London. It is the new palace of the Port of London Authority, the future home of the administration and staff that control all the docks, the wharves, and the commercial life of the Thames. The buildings cost $10,000,000, and are acclaimed by architects as one of the structural treasures of London. In the English Renaissance style, and rich in sculptural relief, it is a building of five stories. Each of the four sides faces directly a cardinal point of the compass. There is a frontal portico supported by corinthian columns carried up through three stories. Surrounding the portico is a substantial pyramidal tower in the front niche of which is a great figure of Father Thames, and at the sides are emblematical figures of Commerce and Navigation. Perhaps the most striking internal feature is a central rotunda 110 feet in diameter, with a glass dome.

Extract from the Montreal Daily Star:—

WELSH HARD COAL HOTTER THAN U.S.
Less Ash and Much Better Heat, Says Ottawa. GREAT DIFFERENCE

Six Tons of Welsh Gives Same Heat as Seven Tons U.S. Coal.

OTTAWA, Sept. 16.—That the Welsh Anthracite delivered already in Ottawa has a much lower ash content and a much higher heating value than American anthracite received in this country for the past few years, that it is a true anthracite but breaks easier on handling and produces more fines than Pennsylvania anthracite coal, are the summarized results of an analysis of samples of Welsh coal submitted to John McLeish, director of the mines branch of the Dominion Government for testing. The report of the analysis is signed by R. E. Gilmore, chief engineering chemist, and B. F. Haanel, B.Sc., chief of the division of fuels and fuel testing.

An equal quantity of the lump and "fines", or dust, as some Ottawans who have received a delivery of the Welsh anthracite are disposed to call it, were submitted to the director of mines for testing. From the analysis given and from conversation with an official of the testing branch, it is claimed that the fines have excellent heating properties and should be extremely serviceable for the purpose of banking furnaces.

From further tests made it is seen that compared with Pennsylvania anthracite such as Ottawans have been used burning the Welsh anthracite has practically 10 per cent. less ash and about 10 per cent. more fixed carbon.

The British thermal unit is the amount of heat required to raise the temperature of a pound of water one degree. Under this test it is found that the calorific value of the Welsh anthracite is given as 14,840 as compared with 13,490 for Pennsylvania anthracite "as received," or 15,200 for Welsh as compared with 13,000 for Pennsylvania when dried at 105 degrees Centigrade.

According to these tests therefore the Welsh anthracite has from 17 to 19 per cent. more heat producing properties than that from Pennsylvania, so that six tons of Welsh anthracite should produce as much heat as seven of the Pennsylvania coal.

SIDE TALKS.

By Ruth Cameron.

A PERVERSIVE PERSON.

"She has such a peculiar personality." So a friend of mine describes a woman who is not a friend of his. It is an excellent description. She is a very kind hearted woman, a capable woman, a generous woman. She has a very cheerful, courageous disposition. And yet, in spite of all these virtues she is a very tiresome person to have around. Why? Well, that one word of his explains it all. She is absolutely and always perversive.

She Always Dominates.

If she is in the house with you, you can seldom be unconscious of the fact for five minutes. She talks a great deal and in a loud voice. She takes a kindly but sometimes intrusive interest in your affairs. She loves to help you—sometimes when you don't really want to be helped. She is so full of energy that she is always doing something. Even when she rests she seems to make her presence felt. In any group, around the table, or about the fire, or on the porch, she is always the dominant figure in the conversation. I like that woman but I like her best when I don't have to see too much of her. Isn't that the effect perversive personalities generally have on us?

How To Avoid Being One.

I wonder if it is possible to recognize in oneself a tendency like that and to control it. Doubtless one could not altogether change oneself, but to a certain extent one could surely modulate such a tendency if one were aware of it.

How? Well, listen to your voice and make sure it is not too loud and too frequently heard. After this woman had gone out of a house where this man who does not like her was staying, I heard him quote from Dr. Holmes' poem on the organ grinder: "Silence like a poultice comes to heal the blows of sound." Cruel, perhaps, but no one in the group she had left could help feeling the appropriateness of it.

Avoid a loud, tiresome laugh.

What Serenity Means. Don't always be trying to get the centre of the stage. The perversive person is often generous but at the same time selfish with that form of selfishness that always wants the centre of the stage. Try to sense the meaning and the beauty of such words as reticence, reserve, serenity, poise, and the qualities that stand behind them.

Fads and Fashions.

Fur fabric jackets are being sponsored by a New York firm. They are made of fine fur fabrics that resemble in texture mole and astrakhan.

A cape of black matlasse has pockets and collar of caracul. It is beautifully lined in gray duvetyne and has inner pockets embroidered in gray coutache.
Longer sleeves are being accepted, and girdles are prominent. Many of the newest models have the side drapery fastened with bead-trimmed girdles or buckles.
A cape of black cloth is cut in two tiers, with a collar of gray krummer. The back of each tier has a rectangular piece cut out of them, giving a novel effect.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

A BOLT FROM THE BLUE.

LONDON, Oct. 19.—The announcement, last night, that the Nationalist-Unionist association had issued a summons for an emergency conference of the party, dropped with a bang into the troubled political arena, and made everybody jump. No one seems more startled than Government ministers, who, learning only through the papers of the action taken by the association Executive Committee, gathered hurriedly at Downing Street to discuss the development. Nothing was learned of their deliberations, but it is believed no alteration was made to plans for to-day's meeting at the Carlton Club. The exclusion of Conservative peers from this meeting is believed to be the cause for summoning a party conference.

A SPLIT.

ATHENS, Oct. 19.—Royalist newspapers declare that movement in favor of a Republic has caused split in Venizelist ranks, and long telegrams have been despatched to Venizelos in London asking for instructions.

URNS DOWN LLOYD GEORGE.

LONDON, Oct. 19.—The conservatives, at a meeting today, decided by a vote of 186 to 87 to appeal to the country as a conservative party. It is confidently expected that Lloyd George will resign when he receives the resignation of Austen Chamberlain, Government Leader in the Commons. The conservative vote means that the party will withdraw from the Premier's Coalition Party, and the resignations of Chamberlain, Balfour and Birkenhead from the Cabinet is expected. The announcement of the vote was preceded by reports from the Carlton Club that Chamberlain's statement had failed to satisfy the meeting, and Bonar Law had spoken in favor of maintaining the independence of the conservative party.

SEIZURE IN CORK.

CORK, Oct. 19.—The arrest of H. O. Mahoney, Cork, Republican, led to-day to the discovery of an important Republican base in the city, in the house on Grand Parade, where there was found evidence that the building was used as the centre of Cork, number one, "Flanna," a military organization, named after Irish Fenian intelligence officer, seized large quantities of literature, typewriters, field dressings, first aid outfits and provisions.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS.

Our statistician, after interviewing various business people, gives the following reports on business conditions in general: "The first person interviewed was an artist's model, who admitted that she was just making a bare living. "Business is dull," remarked the scissors grinder. "Looking up," declared the astronomer. "Dead," said the undertaker. "Fine," said the judge. "Quiet," said the bootlegger. "Looking better," said the beauty doctor. "Fair," said the street car conductor. "Rotten," said the egg man. "I have been the worst," said the butcher. "Hard to beat," said the bass drummer. "Just sew, sew," said the seamstress. "Bum," said the hobo. "Looking brighter," said the boot-black.

Evening Telegram

The Evening Telegram, Ltd., Proprietors.

Thursday, October 19, 1922.

Grimly Determined.

The message from the Chairman of the Fishermen's Committee, Wesleyville, to the delegation here in St. John's, published in yesterday's Telegram, shows a determination on the part of those interested in the sale of Labrador fish not to abandon the position they have taken. The delegates were to have remained in the city for further instructions, but on advice left for home by Prospero this morning. The Northern people are not satisfied with matters as they stand, and intend to go still farther in their fight for the right to exist. Public meetings were held last night all over the North Side of Bonavista Bay. Several members of the delegation called at the Telegram office yesterday, and expressed themselves strongly on various matters. They reiterated their original statement made to exporters that they were not seeking a government guarantee. Their experience in 1920 had convinced them that there was nothing to be gained by it. What they want primarily, is a reduction of taxation on life's necessities, so that a general price of Four Dollars will make it possible for them to square their accounts. As a matter of fact they expressed themselves in favor of selling at that figure, provided that there was an instant come down in duties. They do not appear to be enamored of that "Four dollars and the rise" offer as made in the Advocate. Rather do they ridicule it. As the position stands, it is clear that some way out will have to be found. If not, and should the Northern men invade St. John's, as their message stated, the difficulties will be increased and intensified. Other complications, too, are likely to arise. As it is, there must be a way to meet and overcome the deadlock which is now on. Taxation is high, fish prices are low; yet the Advocate boasts that the Government has reduced the former by two million dollars. Will our friend kindly furnish details of this alleged reduction? Will it show just how, where and when it took place? Will it also explain how on earth taxation was reduced by that sum when the tariff itself was added to by the imposition of sur tax, super tax and sales tax, bringing the average rate of duty up to about seventy per cent. The fishermen cannot be bluffed in this way. They fully know that they are paying duties on everything they use, far in excess of those collected by any government previous to the coming in of the present delectable administration. And as a consoler, the Advocate tells the fishermen of the North that they "ought to realize that the problem of taxation is engaging the attention of a Tariff Commission all the time, and at the next session of the House the Government will have proposals to offer that will represent their policy." Isn't that a clear case of "live horse and you shall have oats?" The fishermen are asking for a living price for their fish. Instead of giving it to them the Advocate hands out a bluff in the shape of a promise to reduce taxation some time. What an insult. And yet not so many years ago this same paper was yelling its head off, vociferating daily that "the price of fish is what Coaker makes it." Verily it is to laugh.

Boy Life Survey.

"Service before self" is the motto of the Rotary Club, and no better form of service could be found than that of making a survey of boy life in St. John's, provided that the survey itself is not the final step. Too often, a movement of this kind is initiated amidst great enthusiasm, but before it has been carried to a successful conclusion the interest in it diminishes gradually, and finally vanishes completely. A survey of boy life alone is a useful service, but it is not sufficient to make the survey. If the motive which inspires those who have originated the movement is what we believe it to be, then the information obtained by means of the survey will be acted upon and steps will be taken to effect such reforms and improvements as can be made. The questions which parents will be called upon to answer next week, if replied to truthfully, will, we fear, be productive of a great deal of unpleasant information, and should draw particular attention to the necessity for compulsory education and possibly, for a reformatory. That these are necessary, we already know from casual observation, but the addition of certified statistics will show how urgently they are required. The Rotary Club are to be congratulated upon initiating such a movement, and in carrying it through to a successful conclusion they need not be reminded of the advice given by Rev. Dr. Power when he advocated the use of perseverance and tact as essentials for success.

Nomenclature Committee at work.

MORE CHANGES IN NAMES. By a public notice in the Royal Gazette it is there stated that three months from September 30, a proclamation will issue for the renaming of certain places in Newfoundland, those to lose their original identity being:— Ragged Harbor, Fogo district, to be renamed Pleasant. Lower Gullies, Harbor Main district, to be renamed Riverdale. South West Paquet, St. Barbe district, to be renamed Woodstock. There have been so many changes of name, some with reason, more without, in Newfoundland the past two decades, that it is not possible for any person, unless possessed of the precocity of Macaulay's Schoolboy, to remember all these changes. The original names, which everybody knew have given place to others, which no one knows, least of all the people living in them, and the whole is therefore apt to be confusing until such time as some genius sits down and writes a new Geography of Newfoundland, with a map, both containing all the nomenclature changes, simplified by giving the originals in parentheses. The Postal-Telegraph Act has been responsible for many things, but none more inappropriate than the majority of these rechristenings.

C.C.C. Band Dance.

The first C.C.C. Band Dance for the season will take place this evening in the Cadet Hall. A special programme of music has been prepared and the catering will be looked after by Mr. John Robinson. During the past month extensive repairs have been done to the floor, while the hall has been newly painted, and made very attractive and comfortable.

Billiard Table for Port Union.

MR. COAKER TAKES THE CUE. During his visit to the city, Mr. Coaker purchased a splendid billiard table owned by the B.I.S. Club. The table was forwarded to Port Union yesterday by schooner. The table was built by Burroughes & Watts, who are amongst the most prominent makers in the world over. It has been in use at the B.I.S. Club Rooms for only a short while, and is in first class condition. The purchase price is not stated, but good tables are valued at between $800 and $1,000.

Make an appointment for November 9th with the Highlanders Dance Committee in the C.C.C. Hall at 8.30 p.m.—oct19.11

Delegates Return Home.

WILL ASK FOR FURTHER INSTRUCTIONS.

The seven delegates, who have been in the city for several days, interviewing the fish exporters and the government on behalf of the fishermen of Bonavista Bay, returned to their homes by the Prospero to-day. They will report the results of their efforts to obtain a better price for fish to a public meeting, which will be held at Wesleyville, tomorrow night. This course of action has been suggested by the Delegates' legal advisor, Mr. A. B. Morine, K.C. Interviewed by the Telegram this morning, Mr. Morine gave an account of what occurred during his conference with the delegates. When they received the message, published in yesterday's Telegram, they brought it to the Acting Premier, Hon. G. Shea, who advised them to consult a legal man for the purpose of discovering what action they should take. Their interview with Mr. Morine led to a discussion of their position, first as regards their demands for an increase in the price of Labrador fish, and secondly with respect to the possibilities of a reduction in taxation. The delegation realized that the question of taxation, in the main, was a matter for next year. Beyond a suggestion of a rebate, nothing could be done that would be applicable in the current year.

In reply to a question put by our reporter, Mr. Morine said that the fishermen were not satisfied to accept $4 for fish, but the delegates were impressed with the arguments of the exporters to the effect that under existing circumstances, no more could be paid.

He had advised the delegates to go back and report fully to the fishermen who had appointed them, and ask for further instructions on two points, first whether they should press any further as a united body, in connection with the price of fish, and secondly, as to what steps, if any, they should take on the question of taxation.

Mr. Morine pointed out to the delegates that a reduced public expenditure had to precede a real reduction in taxation, and in his opinion, expenses could be largely reduced by courageous action. The impression of the delegates was that they should agitate for reduced expenditure and they have gone back to ask the fishermen if they are prepared to embark on such a movement.

The delegation was convinced that the old party lines should be abandoned altogether in favor of a new crusade for economy and efficiency, said Mr. Morine, adding that they apparently desired the withdrawal of the F.P.U. from politics. He drew these inferences from the tenor and tone of their remarks. He said further, that he was unanimously recognized that group of the benefit of the people as a whole.

Silvia in Port.

HAS 800 TONS CARGO. S.S. Silvia arrived in port at 6 a. m. from New York and Halifax, bringing about 800 tons cargo and the following passengers:—Miss Elizabeth Joy, John Cunningham, Mrs. E. Hull, Miss E. Waldo, Mrs. J. Simms, Mrs. H. W. Stirling, V. Wiedner, S. R. Dibble, W. D. Bannerman, Mrs. J. Shearing, John Walters, John Kearney, W. Myers, A. G. Schemberhorn, Mrs. H. Kaplansky, Simon Levitz, and 12 in second class.

As Tender for Seaplanes

AERIAL SURVEY COMPANY BUYS SUB CHASER. The Aerial Survey Company have purchased a former American submarine chaser and will equip it for use as a tender for seaplanes. The boat is now at St. Pierre where it is being refitted. A crew has been sent to that port to take over the Company's latest acquisition. The boat is 110 feet long and has three gas engines and three propellers. The engines are being removed and will be replaced with heavier ones. The ship will also be fitted with wireless.

The Aerial Survey Company have now six aeroplanes here. Three are Westlands, one is a Bristol and two are Martinies. The new Martinie, "Silver Falcon" is now at Londonderry, where it was flown by Major Cotton. All the Company's planes will be used.

Change in Weather.

FROST LAST NIGHT. There was a sudden change in the temperature last night, and the weather, which has been very warm since the beginning of the month, took a colder turn, and at midnight the thermometer registered 3 degrees of frost. The lowest temperature during September showed 5 degrees of frost. This was on the 19th.

Aged Cleric Dies.

WAS OLDEST IN DIOCESE.

In the death of the Rev. John Goodacre Cragg, which occurred at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Bayley, yesterday, the Anglican diocese loses its oldest clergyman. Deceased, who was 86 years of age, came to this country as a young man, and laboured in the missions of Pinchard's Is., Greenspond, Catalina, Bay de Verde and Whitbourne. The first bishop under whom he worked was Bishop Field. The late Mr. Cragg, retired a few years ago from active work and has since resided with his daughter at Mr. Grace and in St. John's. His wife, a daughter of Rev. Oliver Rouse and sister of Rev. J. Rouse, both of whom have been dead many years, predeceased him and is buried at Whitbourne. The body of the deceased cleric will be sent by to-morrow's train to Whitbourne and will there be interred in the plot in which the body of Mrs. Cragg lies. Rev. Canon Bolt will officiate at the graveside and will be assisted by Rev. C. Jeffrey, incumbent of the parish.

Marine Dept. Inefficient.

CANNOT FURNISH FISHERY STATISTICS—EXPORTERS WANT STATISTICAL BUREAU.

The inefficiency of the Department of Marine and Fisheries, due chiefly to its lack of proper organization, was fully demonstrated yesterday, when Hon. W. F. Coaker, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, was unable to provide the meeting of Exporters with the information with respect to this year's catch, which he had previously promised.

A resolution was passed by the fish exporters, recommending the establishment of a statistical bureau, but the intention of presenting this resolution to Mr. Coaker was defeated, for he was found to have left for Port Union on an accommodation freight train last evening.

The meeting of fish exporters was called to consider statistics which the Minister of Marine and Fisheries had promised to submit. They dealt with the catch of Labrador fish. It had been hoped that the Minister would attend the meeting, but his statement that he would be at his office at 5 p.m. was misleading, for he could not be found anywhere. The statistics which had been furnished showed only the number of fish exporters which had presented the Labrador fishery from Bonavista Bay. A discussion followed the presentation of these figures, by Mr. J. C. Hepburn, the Chairman, and the Minister and his Department were severely criticized. The decision of Exporters to pay $4 per quintal for Labrador fish from their dealers was endorsed before the meeting closed.

Additional Passengers.

DELEGATES LEAVE BY PROSPERO. The following additional passengers left by S.S. Prospero this morning for ports along the Northern coastal service:—J. Stone, A. Crane, J. S. Hill, F. Green, S. B. Barbour, E. Blackwood, J. Parsons, S. Davis, J. Moore, S. Warshaw, W. Lockyer, A. Harris, W. Davis, Mr. Wellman, Canon Bayly, Mrs. J. S. Learning, V. T. Tucker, and 30 steerage. These passengers include the delegates who were representing the fishermen of Bonavista Bay in the recent conferences with the Government and fish exporters.

McMurdo's Store News.

THURSDAY, Oct. 19. There are several Laxative Cold Tablet preparations on the market for the purpose of handling cases of feverish cold, the sort of thing that is somewhat prevalent in late Autumn, and that sometimes gives so much trouble. One of the best of these Tablets is admitted to be Nyal's Laxacold which is known and highly approved from one end of Canada to the other. If you need a Laxative Cold Tablet, by all means try a box of Nyal's Laxacold. Price 20c.

FAILED TO SUPPORT WIFE.

A woman had her husband before the Magistrate this morning charged with failure to support her. The husband was ordered to pay $20 at once, and to contribute the same amount each month towards the support of his better half.

Remembrance Day.

NOVEMBER 11TH.

"He that shall live this day, and see old age, will yearly on the Vigil feast his neighbours."—Henry V. The Veterans of the Dominion Command, G.W.V.A., are preparing to again celebrate Remembrance Day on the anniversary of the Armistice. Permission has been granted for the holding of a Poppy Day on similar lines to that held last year. This year the scheme will be extended to all the outport settlements in the Dominion and with this end in view, Magistrates, Post Office Officials, School Teachers and others are being canvassed as to their willingness to organize locally this day. The returns from outport settlements have so far, been very encouraging, showing that a keen desire for the observance of this day is felt by all. While the proceeds from the sale of the poppies will be used for the relief of ex-Servicemen and their dependents all over the Island, and will doubtless be of help to many struck by sudden misfortune, the main idea of the event is that of remembrance and proud mourning for our own dead, landing the plains of France and Flanders and elsewhere. It is fitting that for one day at least our thought should be turned to those, who, in the fullness of their youth and in the prime of life, laid down their lives for civilization. There is no other event, no other achievement or sacrifice in the history of our country, comparable in its magnitude to the march to glory of our thousands, and no other day in the calendar can ever hold a greater and prouder significance to this and succeeding generations than November 11th. It was on this day their task was completed and their names in the Poppy Roll remain undimmed by the work yet before us, the building up of a nation worthy of the ideals for which they fought and died.

Newfoundland Quarterly

The autumn issue of the Newfoundland Quarterly Magazine, an advertisement of which by courtesy of the publisher, Mr. John J. Evans, has been forwarded. It is an usual reprint of the best of literary and photographic material for which this journal has become famous. The cover illustration shows the veteran racer Peter J. Rowley by the Outer Harbor in the Regatta of 1901. It also made record time, 9 minutes. An article by Mr. Charles Hunt describes the career of this "champion" in aquatics. Other articles by A. A. Parsons, Esq., "Problems" Dr. A. Selwyn-Brown, with a wealth of contributed matter, and the most inspiring poetry, all go to make up one of the best numbers of the Quarterly that we have seen for some time.

(H. F. SHORTIS.)

In the public telegraphic dispatch published in the Evening Telegram last evening it is announced that Mr. F. H. Gisborne is retiring with leave of absence after forty years' service with the Canadian Department of Justice. Mr. Gisborne was born in Newfoundland in 1853, and was educated in England and Nova Scotia. He is a prominent lawyer at Ottawa, and is the author of "The Duty of the Parent in Relation to Education," and other papers. I am not acquainted with Mr. Gisborne, but I think I am safe in saying that he is the son of the famous F. W. Gisborne, who in conjunction with Peter Cooper, Cyrus W. Field, Moses Taylor, Marshall Roberts, Wilson G. Hunt and Chandler White, were the promoters of the greatest scientific work and public benefit in modern times—the successful laying of the Atlantic Cable, connecting the Old World with the New, and in which the illustrious Bishop of St. John's, Rt. Rev. J. T. Mullock, took such a prominent part. To my mind, the wonderful achievements of F. W. Gisborne were never fully appreciated. He always had full faith in the successful completion of the great work, and in the carrying out of his ideas he practically ruined himself financially, and was compelled to dispose of all he possessed to meet his liabilities. The young operators of the present day have no idea of the hardships, adventures and escapes of the old-time operators and repairers; in some cases resulting in the loss of life. It would take too much space, even for the Telegram, to go into details, and instead I shall publish a letter from the veteran operator of Black River, Placentia Bay, in answer to a request from the Assistant Superintendent of the Anglo-American Telegraph Company (T. D. Scanlan) that the old telegraphers would give an outline of personal recollections of the very earliest days of telegraphy in Newfoundland. I am sure it will be perused with the greatest interest by the hundreds of telegraphers who are at present busily employed in manipulating the keys with dots and dashes, and who might be surprised to learn that an "Old-Timers' Association" existed before the majority of them appeared on this sublimity sphere.

GIGANTIC UNDERTAKING.

The following is Mr. Blackadar's reply to the request of the Association:—

Black River, Newfoundland, October, 1893.

To Old-Time Telegraphers' Ass'n., New York.

My old friend, T. D. Scanlan, Asst. Supt. Anglo-American Telegraph Co., kindly presented me with a Badge of "The Old-Timers' Association" with the request that according to a Resolution passed at our meeting, February, 1888, each member was requested to give a memorandum of personal recollections from the time he first entered the Telegraph service.

I have been in the Telegraph service in Newfoundland for the last 35 years without a break. Four years previous to my entering, a line was built through this Colony from Cape Ray to St. John's, 380 miles. And to build a line through a hilly and watery, unexplored country like Newfoundland, was no small undertaking, but an army of men and mules completed the work in two and a half years.

The pioneers of this gigantic undertaking were Peter Cooper, Cyrus W. Field, Moses Taylor, Marshall C. Roberts, Wilson G. Hunt, Chandler White and F. W. Gisborne, Esqrs., under the names of "The New York, Newfoundland, London Telegraph Company." This object was to extend the line to the most eastern points in America (Nfld.), with a view to connecting the two hemispheres by cable across the Atlantic. In the opinion of the general public at that time a wilder scheme was never contemplated and was the subject of very hostile criticism.

OF IMPERISHABLE MEMORY.

They have now all gone to their reward, but their memories are imperishable. While building the line the Company's subs had their eyes about them for any minerals that might crop up, and were rewarded by spotting and securing LaManche Galena vein on the isthmus dividing Trinity and Placentia Bays—which was leased to Major Ripley—late Confederate Agent in London during the Civil War—Matthew D. Field and dear old Alex. McConochie, merchant of New York. That was in 1856, and this station was at Eastern Nook—otherwise "Drury Lane" Piper's Hole, head of Placentia Bay, where the operator in charge waged a daily and nightly war against insect life, viz., black flies, mosquitos, nippers, horse and sand flies—and for humanity sake and to prevent further consequent ornamental language, the religious directors removed the station here, eleven miles eastward. Local business was not lively in those days—LaManche Co. being the largest patrons. But they were 20 miles off from where Ripley came weekly in a small boat. He was a large man, with large allmentiveness and on several visits the operator was at an adjoining settlement. Thirty-six hours was not considered an extended absence at that time, and Ripley was obliged to force in and eat the artist out. Eighteen months previous to this, A. M. MacKay was appointed Superintendent and in order to learn the geography of the interior and become acquainted with his subordinates and their surroundings, decided to travel through from Cape Ray to St. John's in 1858, I was then in the employ of Lord & Taylor, Grand Street, New York, and though my position was good, it did not enable me to provide for a rainy day—and I concluded to look round—calling at St. John's en route. When I told my friend, the managing man of L. & T.'s house that I was leaving, he asked me where I was going? I replied "to Newfoundland." "Nfd., Nfd., Nfd., where is that?" I said it was a colony between here and England.

AN INERADICABLE IMPRESSION.

"Oh, then you are going back to Canada again." At that date I presume only those who were in the fish business knew, or cared to know, anything about Newfoundland, and until the landing of the Atlantic Cable, probably comparatively few could tell its latitude and longitude. When I arrived in St. John's, A. M. MacKay, in company with the late John Waddell and John Murphy, was on his way through the country, and when he heard I was "in town," wired me to "hold on," and I held. En route he visited LaManche, and agreed to remove this station to the mine, and send an operator, who would also keep the books. He and party arrived in due time, and I am free to say, they did not look prepossessing after running the gauntlet through the interior during spring months. But, thank God, they were sound and healthy and received a hearty welcome. I was told off for the LaManche "job" immediately and began my dots and dashes. And how well I remember 35 years ago (June, 1858) when poor John Waddell and I were stationed at a side table, with lone keys, pecking away from a morning paper, while MacKay was taking business and listening to our labours and remarking from time to time, "Blackadar, that is 'S' you make instead of 'R', increase the space, and dwell on the L's, Waddell, there is no violent hurry, you make P's of them, etc., etc."

THE FIRST CABLED MESSAGE.

Two weeks after, Ripley reached St. John's and took this old-timer under his wing as Secretary and operator to be—and we left for the mine in the Telegraph steamer "Victoria," Captain Stephen Sluyter. The passage was a pleasant one of thirty hours, and when we entered the Bay, Sluyter kindly pointed out some of the notable harbours on the route—Pinch Gut, Pamish Gut, Haystack and Cock-Eye. Arrived at LaManche 8 p.m., and were boarded by 20 Cornish miners, in full forehead and sidelights and giving off a full perfume of genuine Jamaica. In three weeks after, John Murphy (Capt. John of Cape Race notoriety) had the branch line built and office in working order. Things worked very satisfactorily and checks were large. About 9 a.m. August 5th, 1858 three gents of the Cable Staff, Knight, Smythe and Hoyer, arrived from Bay Bulls Arm, laden with telegrams, for the cable fleet had arrived there the evening before. Capt. M. D. Field hugged each in turn, and

God blessed his brother Cyrus, while mammoth tears of joy rolled down his good-natured countenance and dropped off the end of his big red nose—and while the messengers of glad tidings were being refreshed, Capt. John Murphy pegged the news west. First was:—

To the President of the United States.

Dear Sir.—The Atlantic Cable on board the United States frigate Niagara, and H.B.M. steamer, Agamemnon, was joined in mid-ocean July 29th, and has been successfully laid, and as soon as the two ends are connected with the land lines, Queen Victoria will send a message to you, and the cable will be kept free until after your reply has been transmitted.

With great respect,
I remain, your obedient servant,
CYRUS W. FIELD.

Dividing Up Dollar.

Percy Smith, a Boston book-keeper, paid 25 cents for a peck of potatoes delivered at his apartment. That was at the rate of a dollar a bushel, and the Massachusetts department of agriculture undertook to trace that bushel of potatoes back to the grower in Maine, and find out who got how much of Percy's dollar. Here it is, reduced to its simplest form:

The farmer got for the bu. of potatoes . . . . . $ .48
The country shipper got . . . . . .04
The railroad company got . . . . . .17
The wholesaler or car lot receiver got . . . . . .05
The jobber got . . . . . .05
The retailer got . . . . . .21

$1.00

It would be hard to say offhand that anybody received too much pay for his services in handling this bushel of potatoes, and it is even doubtful if the farmer himself could have shipped the potatoes to Boston, stored them and delivered them in one peck lots to Percy Smith on demand at a lower price. Some of the closest students of co-operation have decided that the "co-op" society must do something more than act as a middle man, if it is to be worth while to the farmer—Farm Life.

White fur is successfully used to trim little jackets and longer cloaks. For instance, a black cloth coat has bands of white fur around a high choker collar and cuffs and down the front, and stripes of it running from hem to the hips.

Manuel's Enquiry.

BEFORE JUDGE MORRIS.

JAMES J. McKAY, (Sworn)—I am a member of the firm of Campbell & McKay, and our office is on Water Street. I know that on August 19th Mr. F. L. Southgate and Mr. Thomas Anderson were drowned by the upsetting of their boat in some part of Conception Bay. I first heard about the accident about 10.15 or 10.30 on the night of August 19th. Rev. Mr. Facey telephoned me from Manuels about that time, and told me what had happened and informed me also that Mrs. Anderson had known nothing of it up to that time and asked me what was best to do. I told Mr. Facey that I would go out right away with my wife and see Mrs. Anderson and I then got in touch with the Inspector General by telephone and asked him what news he had of the affair and he told me he had heard that about seven o'clock that a motor boat had gone out from Bell Island but had not got back at that time, and he also informed me that he had not been able to get in touch with any steamer. He also informed me that he heard there were three motor boats at Kelligrews but the men had refused to go out until they found out who was going to pay them. I asked him who the men were and he said he had not the names but I could get them from the constable at Manuels. He also told me he would telegraph me at Kelligrews if he heard any news from Bell Island. In the meanwhile I telephoned my wife and asked her to get the car ready to go out to Kelligrews and I asked my partner to go up to the country and bring our Mr. Andrew Wilson, who was a great friend of Mr. Anderson. I then got in touch with Mr. Neal of George Neal, Limited, and found out from him that the Pawnee was in Carbonear and he promised to try and get hold of the captain so as to have her ordered to Kelligrews to meet me. We left and went up to Kelligrews and when we got there there was a message from the Inspector General advising me that the motor boat had returned to Bell Island without any report of the men and that she would leave again at 5 o'clock in the morning to make a further search. There was also a message from Mr. Neal to say that the Pawnee would leave Carbonear at 1 a.m. o'clock Sunday for Kelligrews. After we arrived at Kelligrews we went and saw Mrs. Anderson and told her her husband was missing but that there were still some hopes of locating him. I then proceeded down to the station and saw the Anglo operator James Dawe and asked him to get two or three local men to go out in the Pawnee to search for the missing men. These men and the operator who owned these three boats that were at Kelligrews that the Inspector General referred to and they stated that only one motor boat had been in Kelligrews all the afternoon and that she was disabled, but as soon as the owner got news of the accident he started to get her in repair. The Pawnee arrived about 2.30 Sunday morning and took us aboard and at dawn we began our search for the missing boat and its occupants. We went around Kelly's Island and Little Bell Island and carried on down towards Horse Cove and saw nothing. About 6.45 a.m. we came into Portugal Cove so that I could telephone the Inspector General and find out if there was any report from the motor boat which had left Bell Island in the morning and while I was at the telephone speaking to the Inspector General two men from the Pawnee came into the telephone office and told me they had found the boat and I advised the Inspector General and he suggested that we should land on Kelly's Island and he gave some instructions to the captain of the Pawnee to that effect. On proceeding back to the wharf at Portugal Cove, I found the boat had been taken out of the water and was then on the wharf. One of the men gave me a belt which had been found in the boat and which I have since identified as belonging to Mr. Anderson. I saw the boat and looked over her and found she was a flat bottomed boat with a centre board and when I saw the boat she was bottom up and the centre board was in. I would describe the boat as a surf boat; the kind of boat that is generally used in inland bays and not the kind of boat that is used in rough water. The boat was about twelve feet long and about four or five feet wide and about one and a half feet deep. There were no seats in the boat and she had one sail and a big spread of sail it was. One of the men called my attention to the fact that the sail was tied after it had been torn; also that the sail was tied down with line indicating that the sail had been torn after it was reefed and that after it was torn it was tied on with line. As the Inspector General asked us to land on Kelly's Island the captain of the Pawnee decided on going to Bell Island first and while there coaling, Mr. Colbourne came aboard and the captain got his hat and coat and commenced working out some courses and after that was finished both of them were satisfied that the boat could not have drifted down to Portugal Cove of its own accord on account of the direction of the wind that day. We decided then to go back to Portugal Cove as Mr. Hibbs, local constable had promised to make a search of that locality for the bodies. On arrival at Portugal Cove about 11 a.m. Mr. Hibbs told us that he had not discovered anything but produced a young lad who claimed to have heard some one shouting for help about midnight the night previous. We left Portugal Cove and steamed up the Bay to Kelly's Island and met a motor boat belonging to Mr. Southgate's outfit and the occupants told us they had landed at Kelly's Island but had not found any sign of the missing men. We then came back into Kelligrews and arrived there about 1.30 p.m. I met Constable Forsey on the wharf when I arrived and I arranged to meet him at the Anglo Telegraph station at 2 o'clock, which I did. I asked the constable what time he sent his message into St. John's and he told me about 5.15 Saturday evening and he had a reply back from the Inspector General within ten minutes advising that the Department of Shipping had been communicated with and were being asked to supply a steamer to go out to the scene of the accident. I also asked the constable who were the three men who had motor boats in Kelligrews and refused to go unless they were paid and he stated that his message to the Inspector General must have been misunderstood as what he said was, in reply to a question from the Inspector General. The Inspector General had asked what were the prospects of organizing a search for Sunday morning and the Constable's answer was that there were then three boats at Kelligrews which he could probably get, but the men might ask him who would pay them, which, in my opinion, was entirely different from me refusing to go out. As a matter of fact no one at Kelligrews refused to assist in any way that was possible and the men who accompanied me, and who the following day put a buoy at the place where the boat was seen to capsize, refused any payment whatever for their services. The Constable and myself were driven by Mr. D. M. Baird down to Manuels where we interviewed Mr. William Smith, whose evidence has already been given. We then proceeded to Fox Trap and interviewed Albert Butler, Edward Butler and William Kennedy who had seen the boat capsize. On Tuesday August 22nd, I proceeded to Broad Cove bridge in company with local constable Hibbs and interviewed Michael Fitzgerald and he informed me that most of the boats were in and that none of them, from that part of the shore, had a white sail. The next day, 20th, of August I went to Portugal Cove with some War Veterans and with the assistance of some residents of Portugal Cove a search was made of the waters in the vicinity of the Cove but we found no sign of anything. I have nothing else to say regarding this enquiry except to give my opinion regarding the absolute difference shown by the people of Fox Trap who witnessed the accident, and while I am not competent myself to give an opinion regarding the weather conditions in Conception Bay on the 19th of August I can only say that I have made enquiries from several fishermen around different parts of Conception Bay and I have not met with one who said that it was too stormy to go out to the scene of the accident that day in an ordinary fishing boat. I got the news of the accident between 10.15 and 10.30 p.m. and between that and 11.30 p.m. there had been arrangements made to have the Pawnee leave Carbonear at 1 o'clock a.m. Sunday and this being so I cannot understand why the authorities who were in receipt of the news at 5.45 p.m. had not arranged for the Pawnee to go to the scene of the accident. I understand the Department of Shipping were informed of the accident at about six o'clock.
