MISS WILLIAMS' and Miss Mincielly's millinery openings on Friday last attracted considerable attention from the ladies. Our millinery education was sadly neglected and we cannot describe in detail the fabrics that enter into the composition of a lady's hat, but the displays were dazzling and must have been pleasing to feminine eyes. We are assured that be the hats whether big or little, light or dark, turn up or turn down brims, are all the latest styles and as good as can be obtained anywhere this side of Paris. The range of color, shape, materials, feathers, etc., is so wide that there must be something to suit every taste.

After the usual business, the program was as follows:—Mrs. Geo. Brent gave an excellent paper on "Cheerfulness"; Mrs. Humphries' paper on "How to make the Institute interesting and useful" and Miss M. Laws' paper on "Tomatoes, how to serve them." All were interesting papers. Miss Myrtle Williamson gave a recitation, entitled "What Biddie done in a Police Car," also solos given by Mrs. Bennett and Mrs. L. Miller, Miss Muriel Taylor an instrumental, all of which were appreciated by all present. Meeting closed by singing God Save the King, when lunch was served by the Watford members. Next meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. J. D. Brown.

The Fall Fair.

The big fairs throw their banners across the city streets and set their posters up at every railroad station in the country, but this is no reason why we should ignore the little country fairs which have their brief day each autumn. Every day the main difference between the great city exhibition and the country fair becomes more clearly defined; the country fair is essentially a farmer's concern. Every year agricultural features at the large exhibitions are crowded farther into the background. Despite the Dominion bonus to the large exhibitions, which is intended to apply to the agricultural department, the farmers of the country find the little fairs in the county towns to be far more valuable to them as farmers. Both kinds have their function.—Collier's Weekly. The East Lambton fall fair will be held at Watford Thursday and Friday of next week. Do your share in helping to make the local fair a success.

Home Trade Preservation.

The preservation of home trade to the home town carries with it the preservation of our institutions. It seems to those who give the matter considered that a lot of good things in the life of the rural parts will pass if the country town passes. And it will pass just as surely as centralization of retail mail order business in the cities continues. The country town preserves better than the lonely ranch and isolated farm life, the things that make the country great. Here in these country towns the spirit of neighborliness is the prevailing spirit. Men come to know one another, and when any two human beings come to know one another, in the one who is intelligent and wise respect always rises for the other. To know one's fellows always is to sympathize with them. Neighborliness spells fraternity. The country town with its broad circle of friendships, with its close homely simple relations between men, with its spirit of cooperation, and with its economic status that permits the creation of no indecently rich and no abjectly poor, is one of the most hopeful of our institutions. To destroy that town, furnishing the market for the farmer and giving steady employment to labor, means a reorganization of our commercial, social and industrial life that will be revolutionary, and more, a matter of doubtful value. The mail order house, therefore, becomes a menace to this country. The mail order house unrestricted will kill our smaller towns, creating great cities with their terrible contrasts of life.

Another Face That Kills.

The life insurance business is not a "gamble." Its "risks," considered in bulk, are not risks at all. They are based on cold, hard rules obtained as the result of many years' close and comprehensive study of mortality records. So, in cases where life insurance companies refuse to issue policies, there are good reasons for it.

The national association of life insurance men met in Chicago, last month. One of the most interesting subjects it considered was the increasing desirability of women as insurance risks. It is estimated that there are about 6,000,000 women earning their living in the United States, many of them with others dependent upon them for support. The insurance companies are gradually including them in their field of operations.

But this is what one of the most eminent insurance authorities said during the convention:—"Women who live the so called high life have a hard time getting insurance on their lives. Companies do not want to take them. They eat such indigestible foods, drink so many harmful beverages and so weaken their vitality by an artificial way of living that they go the quick route to the grave."

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous services.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness, (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Profanity.

To listen to street talk, and very often business conversations, one is almost forced to the belief that it is the proper and correct thing to include in our vocabulary a certain amount of profanity, and a tremendous amount of slang. The apparent ease and matter-of-fact way in which many men profane the name of the Almighty is enough to make one pause and wonder whether the non-blasphemer is not somewhat of an old fogey, and a little out of date and behind the times.

Vaudeville acts seem to be considered particularly smart, when the word "damn" can be worked in several times. "Popular" novels have plenty of phrases of a similar nature, the authors apparently considering such necessary to rank among the season's "best sellers." Profanity is not smart. It requires no brain work to let out a long oath, or to qualify some statement with a repulsive reference to the Almighty. Then again, such language may be disgusting to the person addressed. Have you ever met an entire stranger, who, in his first five minutes of conversation, gives vent to profanity? He evidently thinks such talk is proper, or else has no respect for the feelings and convictions of others.

An oath may appease wrath for the time being, or in certain exigencies of extreme temper or anger such an expression may escape, but against all such it should be remembered that there stands out the uncancelled "Thou shalt not."—Guelph Mercury.

The Peace Celebration.

What is wanted is not only an exchange of old cannon, but a modern, permanent monument. Let the dead century bury its dead. Let the twentieth century have its symbolic representation of the advance of civilization. Let us symbolize, if we can, the tendency to replace barbarism and anarchy with civilization and order. Let us erect a monument that will point the mind not to the past, but to the future, the growing sentiment in favor of the brotherhood of man and the unity and intelligent organization of the human race. Let the sculptor try to show Canada and the United States fighting side by side against the white plague and white slavery, against the sium and the sweat shop, against ignorance, misery and crime.

The people who used cannon fought in their own way and did their best. Let them sleep in their honored graves. Let us honor them and follow their example, not fighting the old battle over again, but fighting the twentieth century battle of civilization, with our guns turned not against one another, but against the common enemies of mankind. There is a theme for the sculptor and the architect who may be entrusted with the task of erecting a grand and enduring monument on the borders of the two countries.

Chinese Patriotism

When we hear that there is danger of the Chinese Republic falling to pieces because of the greed and rapacity of officialdom it would be well to remember that the patriots who made the Republic possible are likely to give short shrift to politicians who may put its success in peril. Dr. Sun Yat Sen, who has been telling in The Strand of the financing of the revolution, says that many of the patriots gave their whole fortune. One Philadelphia laundryman called at his hotel after a meeting and, thrusting a linen bag into the doctor's hands, went away without a word. It contained his entire savings for twenty years.

As good health on Sunday as during the rest of the week; the same ability to attend religious services as to engage in the usual active duties of life.

As great care in listening to religious instructions as is given to scrutinizing each new dress, cloak, bonnet, etc., worn by those in attendance.

As great ability in learning our own faults as those of our neighbors. With the supply of this want the world will soon be renovated, society much improved, and all made happier.

Weather to suit all, or, better still, people who are disposed to be suited by the weather.

Founding a Sheep Flock.

Since the new edition of the bulletin "Sheep Husbandry in Canada" was issued a few weeks ago, there has been a constant stream of requests for it flowing into the Publications Branch, Ottawa. A great many of the applicants state that they are just commencing, or are about to commence, sheep raising and that they wish to learn how to handle a flock successfully. This bulletin contains a chapter specially prepared for such persons describing how best to establish a flock of commercial sheep. The author, Mr. J. B. Spencer, recommends a flock of fifteen ewes as the minimum for a farm of one hundred acres. Such a flock can be increased with experience, but not beyond twenty to twenty-five unless it is desired to make a special business of sheep raising. With the management and care described in the bulletin, an increase through lambs can be expected of from 150 to 175 per cent. and it should be the latter.

The early weeks of autumn is stated to be the best time to purchase ewes as then one can select those that have raised good lambs.

Before the present edition of the bulletin is fully exhausted a still further one will be ordered so that no one need hesitate about ordering a copy which will be sent free to all who apply for it to the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

To Use Concrete for King Edward Road.

A portion of the King Edward Highway is to be built of concrete, the contract for its construction having been let on Sept. 11th, by the Honorable J. E. Caron, Minister of Agriculture and Highways of the Province of Quebec. The King Edward Highway is the Canadian section of the International Highway, connecting Montreal with several large cities of the United States. Ultimately, it is expected that this road will continue as far south as Miami, Florida.

It was the original intention that the entire highway should be built of masonry, but the Honorable Minister, who has under his jurisdiction the Canadian branch of the work, has become interested in concrete roadways and has decided upon this important undertaking as a good place to try it out. Governments and municipalities are gradually coming to recognize the necessity of a more permanent form of roadway construction. That concrete is the material which best fulfills all the requirements of a permanent roadway, is a fact that will ultimately obtain world-wide recognition.

This is Very Plain Talk.

A writer, who signs herself "a woman of the world" said this to the Toronto Telegram: "I have travelled in remote parts of the world, Singapore, Philippines, and a long resident of Borneo, and not even among the women of ill-fame living in the latter uncivilized country would you ever see such gross immodesty as we can see at any hour of the day here on our principal streets. I consider the girls and women from 14 years up, are simply advertisements to lure men, dressed as they do in skin-tight skirts quite four or five inches above high boots, and blouses quite low-necked and far more transparent than any evening gown, and their faces powdered and painted to such an extent that one might think they had left the theatre with their make-up on. Give me the supposed uncivilized races for modesty and quiet manners."

THE GNU IS A PUZZLE.

It Seems to Be a Cross Between the Horse, Cow and Deer.

Did you ever hear of a horned horse? It is called the gnu and is a native of South Africa. The gnu is a puzzle. We have called it a horse, but it is more like a cow. It really seems to be a cross between the horse, the cow and the deer. It has the head and horns of a cow, the tail, the mane and withers of the horse, and the legs of a deer. Altogether the gnu is one of the most singular creatures on earth.

The gnu inhabits the hilly districts of South Africa, roaming all over the country in vast herds. As far as travelers have yet penetrated it is found, and it is fortunate that it is so, for the flesh of the gnu forms excellent food. Gnus are, however, extremely wild and, being very quick in their movements, are difficult to shoot. Upon the first alarm the whole herd scampers away in single file, following a leader. When seen from a distance they look like a troop of horses.

Their speed is very great, and when first disturbed they do not exert it, but kick out their heels and begin butting at anything that comes in their way, exhibiting the greatest fury. Unless hard pressed they seldom show fight, but when brought to bay they will defend themselves desperately. They dart forward upon their enemy with great fury, and unless he remains cool and collected he probably will not escape.

A LITERARY RIDDLE.

Who Was It Wrote the Tragedy of "Troilus and Cressida?"

Andrew Lang has just propounded a puzzle in circumstantial evidence. "Who," he asks, "wrote 'Troilus and Cressida?'" You may answer, as you please, Shakespeare or Bacon. If you answer Bacon, Andrew Lang comes back with the query, "Would Bacon have said that Aristotle lived before the Trojan war?" Bacon was too learned a man to make such a mistake, which would be as bad as placing Abraham Lincoln among the signers of the Declaration of Independence.

If you answer Shakespeare, Andrew Lang shoots another query at you: "The author makes Ulysses and Achilles quote 'an author' and discuss a pretty long and strange passage from that author, who was Plato. How could Shakespeare have read Plato?" For Shakespeare knew no Greek, and in his day Plato had not yet been translated into English.

It is quite conceivable that Shakespeare might imagine that Plato and Aristotle lived many centuries before Homer, but it is inconceivable that the erudite Bacon should fall into such an error.

Andrew Lang does not pretend to solve the riddle. He frankly says, "I give it up."—New York World.

STEALING A RAILROAD.

Not in a Financial Way, but by Carrying it Off Bodily.

No stranger theft was ever committed than the "lifting" of an entire railroad, twelve and one-half miles in length, which once connected Birr and Portumna, in Ireland.

The line had cost $450,000, and for years it did service for the Great Southern and Western Railway company until the year 1876, when the company, which had been running it at a loss, washed its hands of it. The line was derelict—Nobody wanted it. For a few years it stretched its useless length through north Tipperary. Then its neighbors began to turn covetous eyes on it.

Bolts and screws and other portable trifles began to vanish. A few prosecutions were instituted, but the charges were withdrawn. Nobody seemed to care. The thieves, thus encouraged, grew bolder. Farmers brought their carts and horses and loaded them with spools of rails, sleepers, switches and semaphores. One goodly station vanished, to its last brick and door, in a single night.

They were great times for Tipperary. Boatloads of booty, hundreds of tons of rails, were sent away from Portumna by unlicensed "contractors," and the work of spoliation went on until not as much as a turntable was left.—Argonaut.

Real Literary Crumbs.

The librarian opened the book wide and shook it hard.

"Looking for possible love letters and mementoes?" a visitor asked.

"No; breadcrumbs," said the librarian. "Subsequent readers do not mind love letters, but they do object to breadcrumbs. Half the books brought back have crumbs tucked away between the leaves. That shows what a studious town we are. Our people are so enamored of literature that they can't stop reading long enough to eat; also it shows what a lonely town we are. Only people who live alone a great deal read anything except the newspaper at mealtime. And it shows what a slovenly town we are. In the interests of hygiene and aesthetics those voracious readers who cram their heads and their stomachs at the same time ought to clean their books of crumbs, but they never do."—New York Press.

Hindu Caste.

The four grades of society among the Hindus are the Brahmins or sacerdotal class, who are said at the moment of creation to have issued from the mouth of Brahma; the Kshatrya or Chutsee or military class, sprung from the arm of Brahma; the Vaisya or Bals or mercantile class, from the thigh of Brahma, and Sudras or Sooders or servile class, from the foot of Brahma. The business of the Sudras is to serve the three superior classes, more especially the Brahmins. Their condition is never to be improved. They are not to accumulate property and are unable by any means to approach the dignity of the higher classes. These divisions are hereditary, impassable and indefeasible.

Precedent For "Governess."

Albert VII, archduke of Austria, married Isabella Clara Eugenia, Infanta of Spain, who brought to him as dowry the sovereignty of the Low Countries, etc. When Philip IV, of Spain ascended the throne in 1621 he took from his aunt the sovereignty of the Low Countries, but left her the title of governess. Her husband died soon after, whereon she took the veil, though still retaining the reins of government. She died at Brussels in 1633, aged sixty-six. Here there is precedent for the use of the word governess when a lady holds the post.—London Notes and Queries.

Franklin on Long Graces.

Ben Franklin found the long graces used by his father before and after meals very tedious. One day after the winter's provision had been salted he said, "I think, father, if you were to say grace over the whole cask once for all it would be a great saving of time."—Life.

The melon season is in its height. The acreage is a large one and the fruit plentiful, but the growers claim that the flavor of other years is lacking. This is accounted for owing to the dry spell in early July and the heavy rains and cold weather following, which had a tendency to blight the plants.

WATFORD, SEPTEMBER 27, 1912.

Freel—Brent.

A very pretty wedding took place on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Thomas Freel, Adelaide, when their daughter, Eliza Ann, was united in marriage to Mr. F. C. Brent, a prosperous young farmer and a member of the Adelaide council.

The bride was given away by her father, the bridegroom by her brother, while Mendelsohn's Bridal March was being played by Miss Mable Brent, sister of the groom. The little 4-year-old niece of the bride, Miss Licia Brock, performed well her part as flower girl.

The bride was handsomely gowned in cream llama cloth, trimmed with lace and satin, and wore the accustomed bridal veil and wreath of orange blossoms, her travelling suit being of brown serge, with hat to match.

The ceremony took place under an arch of bridal wreath fern and white asters, and was performed by Rev. H. R. Diehl in the presence of the immediate relatives of the contracting parties. After a sumptuous spread was served, the happy young couple motored to Strathroy, where they took the train east, purposing visiting London, Toronto, Niagara Falls and other points.

Mrs. D. Clink, Battleford, called on old friends here last week. Mrs. Clink (nee Miss Kate Shaw) was a former teacher of Kelvin Grove and Birnam schools.

Mr. D. N. Hossie, who won the Rhodes scholarship for Saskatchewan and leaves next Saturday for Oxford, England, spent a few days last week with friends here. On Thursday he spent a half day at Kelvin Grove school and gave a very interesting address to the pupils, in which he paid high tribute to Cecil Rhodes, telling who he was, explaining his will, and the requirements for the scholarship. He enthusiastically urged the pupils to try for it if they ever had the chance. Mr. Hossie is an old Lambton boy and attended the Birnam school one winter while visiting here about fourteen years ago.

Sarnia Presbytery.

At the meeting of Sarnia Presbytery, held Sept. 11, the Rev. Dr. McNair, of Petrolea, moderator, presided. A call to Rev. J. McDermid, of Alvinston, from Dawn Centre, Chatham Presbytery, was presented by Rev. Mr. Lindsay, of Dresden. The translation was granted.

A call to Rev. Mr. Allen, of Toronto, to the charge of Guthrie, Plum Creek and Black Creek was also sustained. The induction took place on Sept. 24.

The presbytery stands behind local options in the following resolutions:

"Whereas the General Assembly of the church has decided itself in favor of the principle of prohibition and has urged upon the church in general the adoption of local option as the best means of obtaining that end;

"And whereas the Presbytery of Sarnia has not put itself on record in this matter;

"Be it now resolved that the Presbytery of Sarnia record its concurrence in the general principle of the abolition of the bar and its desire that every municipality now under license within its bounds, should take up the matter of local option at the earliest possible opportunity."

Carried without dissent. A pleasant feature of the meeting was a spirited address by Rev. John McRobie, of Petrolea, who in the last left of the chartered members of Sarnia Presbytery. The venerable speaker graduated at Knox College, Toronto, in 1856, and on occasions yet does pulpit work.

FAIR INSURANCE HIT HARD.

Wet Weather Has Used up Whole $10,000 Set Aside by the Government.

This year's grant of $10,000 by the Ontario Government for wet weather Insurance will all be required to meet the losses sustained by the agricultural societies. J. Lockie Wilson a few days ago stated that the reports showed that the losses were less general than last year, when the full amount of $10,000 was also required, but the amount would hardly suffice to meet the requirements. It is divided on a pro rata basis, the maximum to a society being $300. No grant is made to cities of 30,000 or over.

Mr. Wilson entered another vigorous protest against the midway sideshows. He was very sorry, he said, to see especially at the later shows, that more and more concessions were granted to all kinds of fakirs. Ninety per cent. of these shows were absolutely fakes. The actors too, were of a pretty low type of humanity. It was absolutely untrue that the young men and young women from the farms required such amusements, and it would be in their best interests if they were eliminated.

At the Ottawa Fair the midway was so located that those desiring to visit the splendid exhibit in the horticultural building had difficulty in reaching that building.

Mr. Wilson also stated that the provincial detectives who have been at the fairs collecting evidence against fakirs with trick gambling devices, had been discouraged by trial magistrates allowing the convicted offenders to go on suspended sentence. Thirty convictions were, however, obtained last year. He has a number of devices used by fakirs at fairs to get easy money from would-be gamblers. One of the devices looked like a suit case. When it is opened out an arrangement of spikes is exposed. The game is to select the number at which a marble sent rolling among the spikes will stop. The marble, however, is directed by the fakir, who has a button at the right or the left of the exterior of the suit case.

Making due allowance for the bad weather, the Ontario fall fairs have been a success.

Whisky Crazy Woman Slaps School Teachers.

Leamington, Sept. 23.—The teachers of the public school here had a lively time this morning with a woman named Barber, who claimed that the children had stolen some grapes and a bottle of milk from her. She went into the school and threw the children about, and finally attacked some of the lady teachers, slapping them and spitting at them and using terrible language. The Principal put her out and telephoned the town officials to come after her. They took her home and sent for a doctor to examine her, as it was the general opinion that she was not right in her mind. The doctor reported that she had been drinking whisky and taking drugs. The woman came to Leamington about the first of July with her husband, who is a carriage painter. She has been in the Police Court here once or twice during the summer on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Pioneer Oil Driller Dead.

Petrolea, Sept. 25.—By the death of William Covert here to-day Petrolea lost one of its oldest and best known citizens. The late Mr. Covert was a Civil War veteran and came to Petrolea from Ohio over 43 years ago to engage in the oil refinery business. The late Mr. Covert was one of the first Petrolea oil men to go to a foreign oil field as an oil well driller. He was active in municipal affairs, serving for nine years on the public school board, and during 1911 he was chairman. He is survived by one sister, Mrs. P. Cooley, of Petrolea.

To Make Man of Monkey.

Dr. John B. Watson, director of the Psychology Laboratory of the John Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md., has adopted a unique method of testing the Darwinian theory. Seven weeks ago a monkey was born at the institution. The parents of the simian, who are very intelligent, had been carefully trained by the scientists, and the offspring of such parents is believed to afford an opportunity of determining how near to a human being an ape can be brought. The little fellow has not yet been taken from his mother, who fondles and guards him with jealous care. When ready for schooling every effort will be put forth to develop his mind along lines that will tax his mental

DO YOU CARE FOR YOUR HAIR?

Of course you do—every man and woman does. That's why no one likes to lose his hair.

One of the greatest enemies of the hair is dandruff.

Dandruff is not merely an unsightly nuisance—it's a real menace. It indicates a diseased scalp. And a diseased scalp can't nourish the hair properly. When the hair fails to get proper nourishment it dies and falls out. Its perfectly simple when you understand it.

And still people say "I can't see why my hair comes out."

Dandruff—a sluggish circulation of the blood through the scalp—impaired vitality of the hair follicles—and the hair dies.

Nyal's Hair Restorer gets at the root of the trouble, by overcoming the dandruff. After a few applications, according to the explicit directions accompanying each bottle, the dandruff is seen to be very much diminished in quantity and continued use banishes it entirely.

At the same time the use of Nyal's Hair Restorer stimulates the scalp and promotes the vitality of the roots of the hair, causing a more healthy growth.

We do not claim that this will restore hair in case of complete baldness, but it will keep you from losing what hair you have.

Besides that, it's a delightful toilet article, and very agreeable for daily use in dressing the hair. It does not become sticky, neither does it make the hair harsh and dry. On the contrary by regulating the natural flow of oil from the scalp it keeps the hair soft and glossy.

It's made from a good old formula—so good that after years of use the people prefer it to any other sort of hair tonic.

Sells for 75c a big bottle.

Meeting of Telephone Subscribers.

A meeting of the Brooke Municipal Telephone subscribers was held in the Alvinston council chambers Friday night and was very largely attended. The purpose of the meeting was to fill two vacancies in the trustee board, the one caused by the death of the late manager, Mr. H. R. Carruthers and the other by the resignation of Mr. Robt. Carroll. The chairman of the Board, Mr. D. J. McEachern, presided.

Herbert Darvill and J. N. McPhail were nominated to fill out the three year term. On a vote by show of hands, Mr. Darvill was elected.

Thomas H. Myers was elected to serve the balance of the year term.

A lengthy discussion took place over the appointment of special auditors for the purpose of auditing the books of the late manager and making an inventory of the stock on hand for the new manager. Some thought that the Trustee Board should look after it themselves or appoint some person to do so while others believed that the meeting should select two outside of the Trustee Board. Chairman McEachern suggested that the meeting appoint one and the trustee board the other. This suggestion was finally decided upon and township auditor, Geo. Shirley, was appointed.

The chairman announced that he expected that Mr. John McKenzie would be the choice of the board as new manager. All present seemed to be well satisfied with the choice.

A motion was carried authorizing and instructing the board to prepare a letter of condolence and forward the same to the bereaved family of the late manager, Mr. Carruthers.

The meeting then adjourned to the call of the chairman.—Alvinston Free Press.

Municipal Councils should be careful to insist on lights being placed at all points, on roadways where repairs are being made. In these days of quick travelling danger signals are very necessary, or councils are liable to have damage suits in case of accidents. The automobile has a right to travel 15 miles an hour on our highways, and the roads are supposed to be kept in a safe condition for these heavy machines, as well as for wagons and buggies.

An unqualified success in every way was the Forest fall fair held Monday and Tuesday. The attendance was good both days despite the inclement weather, and the exhibits were many and of the very best quality. The receipts were over $1,000, and some 250 membership tickets were issued in addition.

The ladies' exhibits in art and fancy work were excellent, while the display of fruits of all descriptions were perhaps the best that has ever been seen here. The exhibit of apples and peaches especially was the center of attraction at all stages.

The day overhead was ideal and a large crowd assembled in the large crystal palace.

The display of roots, vegetables and fruit was good, the showing of apples being exceptionally fine. The horticultural section was a pleasing sight, the flowers being very beautiful and tastily arranged. The exhibit of the school

The Warning of Mr. Geo. C. Fox Is One That Should Be Heeded by All.

Few men on the road are better known than genial George Fox, whose friends throughout the West are legion. In the following letter he expresses gratitude for signal services rendered by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. He goes on to say: "Until I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills and experienced their wonderful mildness and curative power, I estimated the value of every pill by its activity. Talking about this to a well-known physician I met on the train the other day, he explained there are different kinds of drugs that act upon the bowels, the most active being known as drastic. Except in extreme cases where the life of the patient depends upon speedy evacuation of the bowels, pills should never be drastic. Purgatives cause catarrh of the bowels and inflammation; their dose must be increased, causing even more harm. With such a clear explanation I could see why Dr. Hamilton's Pills are curative and not irritating, why they are mild, yet most searching. "From my experience I recommend everyone that takes pills to give up the old-fashioned harsh, purging pill, and, instead, to use Dr. Hamilton's. They cure headache, biliousness, constipation, bad stomach, and keep the system in perfect condition. Refuse any substitute for Dr. Hamilton's Pills; sold for 25c. all dealers, or The Catarrhzone Co., Kingston, Ont.

A Legend of the River Rhine

By F. A. MITCHEL

A tourist viewing the ruined castles on the Rhine bank from the boat that piles up and down that historic stream, just above Wiesbaden, will see a broken pile of stones which mark the former home of Baron Korner. The baron's wife was in her youth considered the most beautiful woman in all Germany. Indeed, so beautiful was she that persons came from a distance to have a look at her.

As was to have been expected, the lady became so vain that her beauty, instead of being a source of comfort to her husband, was a matter of regret. He never complimented his wife on her beauty; consequently she cared little for him, devoting herself to admirers who went into raptures over it. The baron naturally became very bitter on the subject of woman's beauty, and when the baroness presented him with a daughter, Hildegarde, since beauty is hereditary and the child would likely be a beautiful woman, he gave orders that no one should even tell Hildegarde that she was beautiful. He also destroyed all the mirrors in the castle and disposed of the jewelry and other woman's adornments that tended to cultivate vanity. Then he gave orders that no one should bring any of these things into his home on pain of being thrown into the donjon under the castle.

The baroness died when Hildegarde was but a few years old and long before the child could be conscious of her appearance. She grew up as beautiful as her mother and, never having seen her face, was unconscious of her attractive appearance. But she lived rather a lonely life, for her father admitted few visitors to the castle, and no one was supposed to enter without making a pledge not to give evidence of having noticed Hildegarde's beauty, nor was the girl ever permitted to leave the castle.

Baron Korner as he grew older and his daughter's splendid beauty grew more transcendent formed a plan when Hildegarde came to a marriageable age of marrying her to a husband who should keep up his policy with regard to her. Having no son, he selected a younger son of a neighboring baron to wed her and take his place at his death as lord of the domain. Carl Von Ehrenstein was the chosen man, but not before he had sworn a solemn oath to surround his wife with the same barriers to which she had been accustomed.

Soon after the celebration of the nuptials the baron was killed by a fall from his horse while hunting, and Carl Ehrenstein became the lord of the castle. He deeply loved his wife and was very proud of her beauty, but he had been thoroughly informed by the late baron of all he had suffered on account of her mother's vanity and was intent to prevent it in Hildegarde. But she was now twenty years old, and it was not so easy for her husband to keep her shut up in the castle as it had been for her father to imprison a child. No sooner had there come an end to the late baron's obsequies than Hildegarde began to evince a desire to see the world.

Now, Hildegarde's nurse when her young mistress emerged from childhood became her maid, and the young baron consulted with her as to taking his wife outside the castle and still keeping around her the safeguards to which she had been accustomed. The maid, Gretchen, thought that the baroness could be taken on a tour without seeing a reflection of her person. Mirrors were not so common in those days as now, and Gretchen promised to watch for them and guard against her mistress being brought face to face with one. So the baron yielded to his wife's persuasions and set out with her, attended by her maid to show her the world.

The young husband was in terror from the first. Every person who passed them started on seeing Hildegarde and looked at her rapturously. "Why do these persons stare at me thus?" she asked. "It is because, never having been out into the world, which is filled with wickedness," replied her husband, "your features show that the innocence to which you were born is still in you." Hildegarde was pleased with this, but not satisfied. They were at the time passing through different scenes from those to which her vision had been limited, and she was delighted with them.

"Shall I become wicked now that I have left the castle?" she asked. "Not if you remain with me and Gretchen and do not mingle with the throng."

Hildegarde meditated for some time over this and at last said:

"I don't care to be perfect. I think I shall risk being corrupted by mingling with a few persons."

The young baron had arranged to take his wife for their first stop to the home of Heinrich Rehnbeart, a friend of his living near Worms. He had confided to this person the plan on which his wife had been brought up and had secured the promise of the removal of all mirrors from the premises and that all persons there should refrain from appearing to notice the beautiful guest.

A few hours after their arrival at their stopping place, which was situated in the center of beautiful grounds, Hildegarde slipped away from her guardians and went out to walk by herself. On the peak where she had been born there was no water except the Rhine flowing far below. In Rehnbeart's place there was a very beautiful sheet of water. As soon as Hildegarde saw it she ran toward it, clapping her hands with delight. There was no breeze, and the surface was perfectly placid. The young wife was enraptured with the smoothness of it, surrounded as it was with verdure, which on the opposite side was reflected in it. She wondered if the brink on which she stood was thus reflected. Looking down into it, she saw the blue sky there and white clouds sailing slowly along. Bending, she saw her reflection gazing at her.

Instantly a look of admiration came upon the reflected features.

"Who are you down there, a water fay? Whoever you are, you are very beautiful."

No answer came, but Hildegarde noticed that the lips of the image moved while she herself was talking.

"You must be an immortal else you would give me some reply. Strange that you should live down there in the water. I have heard of mermaids, but there is nothing of the fish in your composition. You must be a human being, who instead of breathing air breathes water; but, though you can see me, you can't communicate with me. Therefore you must be a human being who has grown to my age and died. Oh, dear! I wonder what you are!"

She ran back to the house and called to her husband: "Oh, Carl! Do come and see the beautiful girl living in the under world!"

The baron knelt his brows. He feared that the secret was out—that she had seen her image. He went with her to the pond, she chattering on the way about the vision of loveliness she had seen and wondering if it would be there when she returned. Carl meanwhile feeling confident that she had seen herself was trying to invent a story that would satisfy her. When they reached the pond she ran ahead of him and bent over it.

"There she is!" she exclaimed joyfully. "Come and see her."

But Carl hung back. "I know whom you are looking at," he said, "a water fay. Come away. She will contaminate you."

"No, no! She is as good as she is beautiful. I can see purity in every feature."

Should Carl lean over the water to see the fairy his own face would be reflected there, and his wife would recognize it at once. This would lead her to understand that the other reflection was her own.

"No, no, sweetheart," he said. "Should I look at her she might enthrall me. Not for the world would I risk being drawn away from you."

"Would she?" exclaimed the girl in a tone that betrayed both fright and disappointment. "Then it would be your fault. She would never tempt you."

"Come away. This is the Lorelei, who has come from the banks of the Rhine. You know how she lures boatmen to their death. She would draw me down into the water, and I could never return to you."

Hildegarde, fearful that her husband might be right, knelt her brows and saw her image do the same.

"Ah," she said, "I see that you are evil, after all. You have lured me here that you may take my husband from me, and now that you see he is not to be tempted you frown. Good-by. You are beautiful, but you are evil."

With this she rejoined Carl and, putting her arm through his, returned with him to the house.

When again they set out on their journey Carl persuaded his wife that they must not go near any more water, for the fairy would be in any water they approached and he might see her before he could withdraw. And once seeing her he feared the worst. Hildegarde was quite sure the girl she had seen was the Lorelei of whom she had heard so much and, was ready to avoid the waters in which she lived. And so fearful was she of losing her husband that she proposed they go back to the castle, where there was no danger.

This pleased the young husband, who was in constant terror lest the admiring glances of the persons they met would betray the secret of his wife's beauty.

So they returned to their home, where there were no mirrors, no sheets of water and where every one was trained to refrain from showing admiration for the beautiful baroness. Presently a little son came to take up her attention, and she did not again feel any desire to see the world, or, rather, she feared to leave the castle with her husband for fear the water fay would get him.

This worked in two ways—the baroness not only remained at home, but would not permit her husband to go even down to the Rhine. This kept him with his wife and his family and his retainers. When the physical beauty of his wife faded it left an expression of purity, of unconscious beauty of soul. Persons who had formerly come to see her as a marvel of bodily perfection now came to view a saint.

It was not till this time that the baroness discovered that she had been so hedged about that she did not know that she was the fairy she had seen in the water and that it was she who had already enthralled her husband. But by this time she and her children had become welded together in one loving family, and her past beauty was not a matter of regret to her.

It does not contain a particle of poisonous lead to discolor the hair or any injurious ingredient.

Get a bottle to-day. It only costs half a dollar and is sold at drug stores, and toilet counters everywhere.
T. B. Taylor & Son guarantee it.

Judging the Colt.

The Arabs have two methods of estimating the height to which a colt will grow, the first being to stretch a cord from the nostril over the ears and down along the neck and compare this measurement with that from the withers to the feet and the other method being to compare the distance between the knee and the withers with that from the knee to the coronet. In the first method it is considered that a colt will grow as much taller as the first measurement exceeds that of the second, and in the second method, if the proportion is as two to one, the horse will grow no taller.

Pedestrians.

A teacher in a primary school was endeavoring to make clear to her class the meaning of the words "equestrianism" and "pedestrianism" when she put this query to one small boy: "What is a pedestrian?" "He is one of those fellows," said the boy, "who makes an awful kick when an automobile runs him down."

A Poor Weak Woman

As she is termed, will endure bravely and patiently agonies which a strong man would give way under. The fact is women are more patient than they ought to be under such troubles.

Every woman ought to know that she may obtain the most experienced medical advice free of charge in absolute confidence and privacy by writing to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, R. V. Pierce, M. D., President, Buffalo, N. Y. Dr. Pierce has been chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y., for many years and has had a wider practical experience in the treatment of women's diseases than any other physician in this country. His medicines are world-famous for their astonishing efficacy.

The most perfect remedy ever devised for weak and delicate women is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG. SICK WOMEN WELL.

The many and varied symptoms of woman's peculiar ailments are fully set forth in Plain English in the People's Medical Adviser (1008 pages), a newly revised and up-to-date Edition, cloth-bound, will be sent on receipt of 50 cent stamps to pay cost of wrapping and mailing only. Address as above.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

An English professor has invented a spanking machine. The British Government should buy up all rights to the invention and use it on the suffragettes.

Two London policemen have resigned because they are tired of being worried by the women suffragists. Now they know why some men leave home.

That the late general of the Salvation Army deserves the honor of a lasting memorial will meet with universal acceptance. It may be said indeed that the great and wide organization he established for the amelioration of the poor, all over the world, is his real and only appropriate monument.

Between eminent sanitarians and pure food specialists the lay public is kept in a state of restless uncertainty. Just as we were educated to examine a plate of beans with a microscope before eating, drink nothing but boiled water, fumigate our clothes to kill disease germs, and wear sterilized socks to prevent tired feet, along comes another "eminent authority" who assures us these precautions are useless and unnecessary. It would be a relief if the advisory board could agree upon a policy free from contradictions and fluctuation.—Vancouver Province.

The author of an Iowa bulletin estimates that as a soil builder each acre of alfalfa in that section annually adds to the farm over twice as much nitrogen as an average acre of red clover. As a feed he estimates that an average acre of alfalfa produces 5.5 times as much protein as timothy, 4 times as much as oats, 2.75 times as much as corn and 2.6 times as much as red clover. As to yields, sixteen seedings made on the Iowa Station Farm since 1903 have produced an average yield of 4.38 tons per acre, and one seeding yielded 7½ tons in one year, while another had a three year average of 5½ tons.

The Khan in Toronto Daily Star: A little Yankee boy taunted Young Canada one time telling him that the beaver was a rat with a swelled tail. Young Canada got back at him by saying that the American eagle was a vulture with a swelled head. A Roland for an Oliver! But here again Canada is fortunate. Several nations of the world have eagles for emblems, two-headed eagles in some cases; but we have a monopoly of the beaver, which is a fine model of industry. In the past two thousand years the eagle has changed maps, but the beaver makes geography and is still making it.

The Judge Remarks

It is unfortunate that President Taft should be afflicted with gout at a time when he is called upon to make the greatest race of his life.

The second wife of a Tacoma sea captain has applied for a master mariner's license. In naval precedence this would give her the rank of second mate on her husband's boat.

Trailing side-whiskers, frilled shirts and spats have been revived by British dandies. As the late Lord Dundreary would remark, "There are some things no fellow can understand."

Edison, according to despatches, worked six days with only two hours sleep to complete his new disc phonograph. Lovers of rest hope that the same habit will not be a feature of the new machines. Some now in use work overtime as it is.

While forest protection is in the public mind the services of the greatest fire warden of them all, one Jupiter Pluvius, should not be forgotten. Without his invaluable assistance the best directed efforts of the other officials are minimized.

Young men who incur the displeasure of a Calgary girl do so at imminent risk to their physical well-being. At the "Stampede" this week a young woman of that city won the world's championship for roping and subduing one of the fiercest double-humped bucking bronchos that ever cavorted over the prairies.

Italians in New York number over 200,000. Sunlight is the best germicide known to the medical fraternity.

Dancing was originally a means of expressing religious feeling.

The British Patent office receives 30,000 applications per annum.

Forty years have elapsed since the phonograph was introduced.

The never-failing medicine, Holloway's Corn Cure, removes all kinds of corns, warts, etc., even the most difficult to remove cannot withstand this wonderful remedy.

RISKY POSTAL SERVICE.

In Russia the Government Opens All Suspicious Packages.

Our own service of mails is well organized. There is little doubt in the mind of the average person that when he posts a letter it will reach its destination.

But in other lands he might well fear for its safety. In Russia, for instance, any letter or parcel that is regarded with suspicion is immediately opened and its contents noted. A clever machine gums it up again, so that the recipient does not know that it has been tampered with.

In Lapland the mails are carried in sledges drawn by reindeers. In the wilds of the Caucasus the postman holds a post of danger. He must be protected against brigands and against the weather, for he often has to climb mountains more than 12,000 feet high.

Asiatic Russia, which is apt to be marshy, has the buffalo post, and, of course, the progress made is very slow. Buffaloes are more powerful than oxen, and they are also used in Siberia for carrying the mail.

Other postmen in foreign lands are the swimming postman of India and the sking letter carrier of the Andes. For the latter place the Argentine government specially imports Norwegians.—Exchange.

Mexico's Smoking Mountain.

In 1897 I climbed two volcanoes in Mexico, Popocatepetl, or "the smoking mountain," about 17,800 feet, and Orizaba, the former the most famous because within view from Mexico City and thus a source of especial pride and admiration to the inhabitants, who have been loath to believe that any other of their mountains could be higher. Popo has a really splendid crater, about half a mile across and 1,000 feet deep. The walls are generally vertical, but in one or two places it is possible to descend. When workers are engaged in collecting sulphur machinery is used to hoist them up and down. From Popo's summit there is a glorious prospect, not alone of the immense crater, but of the beautiful "White Lady" (Iztaccihuatl) reclining a thousand feet below, of Orizaba on the far horizon and of the charming valley of Mexico.—Annie S. Peck in Christian Herald.

Wellington's Integrity.

The Duke of Wellington was noted for his rigid integrity. Here is an instance which occurred in reference to his large estate. Some farm adjoining his lands was for sale, and his agent negotiated for him for the purchase. Having concluded the business, he went to the duke and told him he had made a capital bargain. "What do you mean?" asked the duke. "Why, your grace, I have got the farm for so much, and I know it to be worth at least so much more." "Are you quite sure of that?" "Quite sure, your grace, for I have carefully surveyed it." "Very well, then; pay the gentleman from me the balance between what you have already given and the real value of the estate."

Strong Circumstantial Evidence.
A young wife was in tears a few mornings ago when her mother called. When asked what was the matter she replied that her husband was out late the night before and had been to a drinking party.
"What makes you think he had been to a drinking party?" asked the mother.
"He came home," sobbed the young wife, "wearing a phonograph horn for a hat."—Kansas City Star.

More Careful Now.

The young wife had given her husband a dance. "You've improved wonderfully, Jack," she said as they sat down. "Don't you remember how you used to tear my dress?"
"Yes," he replied. "I wasn't buying them then."—Boston Transcript.

Barks.

The class in natural history being asked the difference between a dog and a tree, the head boy answered, "A tree is covered with bark, while a dog seems to be lined with it."

Noisy Sleep.

Hub (angrily)—Here! What do you mean by waking me out of a sound sleep? Wife—Because the sound was too distressing.—Boston Transcript.

KYOSHK ACQUITTED ON MURDER CHARGE

Sarnia, Sept. 22.—Stephen Kyoshk was found not guilty by the jury yesterday which has tried him a second time on the charge of murder.

An Indian named Dan Chawn was the first witness to be called at yesterday morning's session of the court. His evidence went to show that he saw tracks running from the back door in Nayde's house in the direction of the bush. These tracks were two in number and were made by a small shoe, and by a large one, about number ten. He stated that they could not possibly be made by Stephen's shoes.

The two sons of George Williams gave evidence as to where they were on the night of the shooting. They also testified as to how they lost their gun in the St. Clair River, but could not agree as to the time. Provincial Officer Greer, of Toronto, gave evidence as to gun tests he had made at the scene of the murder. He also stated that he knew of nothing in an automatic gun that would make marks on a shell, but this evidence was offset by that of Charles Glenn, a gunsmith of Sarnia, who gave expert testimony on this point, and proved that the ejector of an automatic gun always left marks on the shell.

After this evidence had been taken Mr. Lesueur started to address the jury and made a brilliant appeal. He put strong emphasis on the fact that the three main witnesses for the Crown at the former trial had admitted that they had told lies, and this point was no doubt the main feature of the whole trial. The judge in his address to the jury evidently favored the prisoner, and he pointed out that with such evidence had a very difficult task.

The jurors were out just forty minutes when they returned to the courtroom, while a deep hush fell over the crowd. In a clear voice the verdict of "not guilty" was spoken by the foreman, followed by a subdued conversation by the audience. The judge, in his address to Kyoshk stated he was pleased with the verdict that had been returned. He stated that he was sorry Kyoshk would have to stay in custody until the Minister of Justice took action on the former case.

WORK AND WORRY WEAKEN WOMEN

New Health and Strength Obtained by the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

It is useless to tell a hard-working woman to take life easily and not to worry. Every woman at the head of a family, every girl in offices, shops and factories, is subject to more or less worry. These cannot be avoided. But it is the duty of every woman and every girl to save her strength as much as possible and to build up her system to meet any unusual demands. Her future health depends upon it. To guard against a breakdown in health the blood must be kept rich, red and pure. Nothing can keep the blood in this condition so well as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They strengthen the nerves, restore the appetite, bring the glow of health back to the cheeks, and renew energy to listless people. Women cannot always rest when they should, but they can keep their strength and keep disease away by the occasional use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Or if a breakdown has come unexpectedly they can obtain new health through the medicine Mrs. M. Thomas, River street, Toronto, says: "For several years I was almost a constant invalid, unable to do my housework and spending much of my time in bed. My nerves seemed worn out and I was so run down that all the friends thought I was in a hopeless decline. I was as pale as a corpse; I was so bloodless that if I cut my finger it would not bleed; my limbs were swollen far beyond their usual size. At the least exertion my heart would palpitate violently, and I frequently had fainting spells. I was under treatment by good doctors but it did me no good. Then one day my husband brought home some of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I began taking them. They seemed to go to the root of the trouble, and in the course of a few weeks the improvement they were making was quite plain. Gradually as I continued taking the Pills the swelling of my limbs disappeared; the weak spells came less and less frequently; my appetite greatly improved, and finally I was completely cured and able to do my housework with ease. Later, my daughter Elma seemed to be troubled with anaemia, and we gave her the Pills with the same good results."

Why suffer in any way when you can begin curing yourself to-day with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Lucas—Parker.
The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Parker, Laura, Sask., was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Sept. 11th at three o'clock, p.m., when their fourth daughter, Pearl, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. David Lucas, a prosperous young farmer of Sutorville, Ont. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Morton, pastor of Delisle Methodist Church, in the presence of immediate relatives only. The bride, who looked charming in a gown of champagne silk and carried a shower bouquet of sweet peas, entered the room leaning on the arm of her father to the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Sadie Parker, sister of the bride. The bride was attended by Miss Sadie Page, who was becomingly attired in pale blue silk with pearl trimmings and carried sweet peas. The groom was ably supported by Mr. Wilbert Parker, brother of the bride. The groom's gift to the bride was a beautiful chip diamond and turquoise brooch. The many handsome gifts testified to the popularity of the bride, amongst them being a substantial cheque from the bride's parents.

After the wedding supper Mr. and Mrs. Lucas left for the east stopping at Saskatoon, Regina, Winnipeg and Morden, the bride travelling in a costume of navy blue broadcloth with hat to match. They will be at home to their friends after Oct. 1st.
