The Big Raft Again. NEW YORK, Jan. 14. Some fears are entertained concerning the safety of the overland French steamer "Britannia," from Mediterranean ports, which left Gibraltar on Dec. 22nd. She carried 850 steerage passengers and a full cargo of Italian and Spanish merchandise. The steamer "Venice," which arrived a few days ago passed through 30 miles of logs from the broken Nova Scotia timber raft and thought the "Britannia" may have been hit by some of the logs. Shipping men consider the "Britannia" an unsafe steamer, as she brought cholera to this port three months ago.

Windsor, Jan. 14. The defeat of Burke, the new provincial secretary, by Frank Carter, St. Francis, is a matter certain to decide the wavering elements in the provincial legislature in Greenway's favor and secure an early overthrow of the Harbord government. The friends of the latter look for other results.

The Fishery Commission. TORONTO, Jan. 14. - The Mail's Washington correspondent telegraphs that the fishery troubles are likely to become more complicated, formal complaint having been made to secretary Bayard that the Canadian government are annoying and interfering with American fishermen on the great lakes in every possible way. The seizure of nets valued at $20,000 belonging to Michigan citizens is specifically charged and been made a subject of protest to the British government by Bayard.

Death of E. R. Moore. A great shock was given to the community yesterday morning by the announcement of the sudden death of Mr. E. R. Moore, one of St. John's most active, enterprising and widely known citizens. Mr. Moore had been slightly indisposed a few days previous and Dr. Walker had been called in, but nothing serious was apprehended by his family or friends, and he had informed them that he was improving. He rose before Mr. Moore, and when asked how he was feeling, he was better, and passed out to the bathroom. A short time afterwards, noticing that he had not returned, Mrs. Moore went thither and found him lying on the floor dead. He was in the act of opening it when he fell, death being instantaneous. It was a terrible shock to the family, who have the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community.

Mr. E. R. Moore was a native of Port Hope, Ontario, and was in his 57th year when his life so suddenly terminated. He came to this city twenty years ago, and spent with his widow mother and his elder brother, Mr. John M. Moore of the excise department in this city. He began his business with which he was so long and extensively connected, in 1868 in Waterloo street. He afterwards removed his factory to Portland Street. There it was destroyed by fire in 1870. But being disheartened by the loss, he immediately rebuilt it, and devoted his energies to the extension of his business. The capacity of the factory has since been doubled. In 1883 he purchased the Cold Brook mill factory, and has since operated both factories, giving employment to about 110 men.

Mr. Moore married in 1863, Miss Pickard, of Fredericton, sister of the late John Pickard, M. P. His widow and five children survive - three daughters and two sons. Their sad bereavement is the more severe from the home-loving character of the deceased husband and father, who was devoted to his family and spent with them the time not devoted to his business. Mr. Moore's death deprives the city of one of its most active and energetic workers, a large employer of labor, an upright, generous and hospitable man, whose place cannot be supplied.

OTTAWA, Jan. 11. - A sharp shock of earthquake was felt throughout the Ottawa Valley shortly before five o'clock this morning. In this city the disturbance was distinctly felt, some houses were much shaken. The trembling of the earth was accompanied by a loud roaring noise of timpano. Mary Tuplin, the unfortunate girl whose name was cut so short at the hands of the assassin, was in her seventeenth year at the time of her death. She was a daughter of Mr. John Tuplin, a well known farmer who resides at Margate. Both families have relatives and friends all over the province, and intense interest is shown in the case and in the solution of the mystery surrounding it.

The Big Raft Again. NEW YORK, Jan. 14. Some fears are entertained concerning the safety of the overland French steamer "Britannia," from Mediterranean ports, which left Gibraltar on Dec. 22nd. She carried 850 steerage passengers and a full cargo of Italian and Spanish merchandise. The steamer "Venice," which arrived a few days ago passed through 30 miles of logs from the broken Nova Scotia timber raft and thought the "Britannia" may have been hit by some of the logs. Shipping men consider the "Britannia" an unsafe steamer, as she brought cholera to this port three months ago.

Death of E. R. Moore. A great shock was given to the community yesterday morning by the announcement of the sudden death of Mr. E. R. Moore, one of St. John's most active, enterprising and widely known citizens. Mr. Moore had been slightly indisposed a few days previous and Dr. Walker had been called in, but nothing serious was apprehended by his family or friends, and he had informed them that he was improving. He rose before Mr. Moore, and when asked how he was feeling, he was better, and passed out to the bathroom. A short time afterwards, noticing that he had not returned, Mrs. Moore went thither and found him lying on the floor dead. He was in the act of opening it when he fell, death being instantaneous. It was a terrible shock to the family, who have the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community.

Mr. E. R. Moore was a native of Port Hope, Ontario, and was in his 57th year when his life so suddenly terminated. He came to this city twenty years ago, and spent with his widow mother and his elder brother, Mr. John M. Moore of the excise department in this city. He began his business with which he was so long and extensively connected, in 1868 in Waterloo street. He afterwards removed his factory to Portland Street. There it was destroyed by fire in 1870. But being disheartened by the loss, he immediately rebuilt it, and devoted his energies to the extension of his business. The capacity of the factory has since been doubled. In 1883 he purchased the Cold Brook mill factory, and has since operated both factories, giving employment to about 110 men.

Mr. Moore married in 1863, Miss Pickard, of Fredericton, sister of the late John Pickard, M. P. His widow and five children survive - three daughters and two sons. Their sad bereavement is the more severe from the home-loving character of the deceased husband and father, who was devoted to his family and spent with them the time not devoted to his business. Mr. Moore's death deprives the city of one of its most active and energetic workers, a large employer of labor, an upright, generous and hospitable man, whose place cannot be supplied.
