—but I was informed that the materials of which they are constructed does not readily burn. The food seemed to partake of the same character in every part, and was cooked in the same style—being boiled in a vessel of iron like shape with the top taken off placed between the stones forming the fire place. I could not decide with certainty of what their food consisted—but it seemed to me to be the flesh of a lamb, cut into small pieces and boiled. It may have been the flesh of a dog or cat, quite as probable I think—but whatever it was, it was a popular dish with them all.

THE IRISH GOVERNMENT AND THE ORANGE ASSOCIATION.

REPORT OF THE GRAND LODGE OF IRELAND, HELD IN THE CITY OF DUBLIN, THE 13TH OF MARCH, 1848.
The Grand Lodge of the Orange Association, in its annual meeting, held in the City of Dublin, on the 13th of March, 1848, was attended by a large number of members, and was presided over by the Grand Master, Mr. J. P. Kennedy.

The Grand Master, in his opening address, referred to the late meeting of the Grand Lodge, and to the various resolutions passed thereon. He then proceeded to read the report of the Grand Lodge, which was adopted by the members.

The Grand Master, in his closing address, expressed his confidence in the loyalty and patriotism of the members of the Orange Association. He then proposed a vote of thanks to the Grand Lodge, which was carried.

FRANCIS'S MESSAGE.—The House of Representatives having chosen a speaker on the 22d ult., the President transmitted his Message to Congress on Monday the 23d. The following abstract of the document was telegraphed to the Boston press:—

"The President congratulates the country that we are at peace with all nations, that we have been greatly blessed by Providence, and that the scourge, cholera, has been averted. Our relations with Great Britain are of a friendly character. The recent abrogation of the navigation laws by Great Britain, and reciprocated by us, are likely to prove mutually advantageous. A slight interruption in the diplomatic relations between America and Hungary. The sword prepared in case of success on the part of Hungary was to welcome them among the family of nations. He invested an agent with power to recognize their independence should circumstances justify it.

Our claims upon Portugal have been pressed with renewed vigor. During the late revolution at Lisbon our charge was unable to present letters of credence. The President recommends the cultivation of friendly relations with Mexico, and the faithful observance of treaties. He recommends close relations of friendship with South American states bordering on the Pacific. A convention had been negotiated with Brazil providing for the settlement of American claims. Care is taken to existing laws concerning the African slave trade, with a view of its more effectual fulfilment.

The President recommends a revision of the existing tariff on a basis which shall advantage the revenue, and does not doubt the right of Congress to encourage domestic industry; he thinks specific duties best adapted to prevent fraud; recommends duties light enough to protect home industry. The application of the tariff to duties on iron and steel, should receive the favorable consideration of Congress. A coast survey has been ordered for the Gulf of Mexico, to fix upon proper locations for light houses.

A contract having been made with Nicaragua by a company composed of Americans, for the purpose of a ship canal, the President has directed negotiations for the purpose of forming a treaty with Nicaragua pledging both governments to prosecute the work. He thinks that it is not expedient to have other nations enter into the same treaty stipulations. He thinks the canal may be made the bond of peace between the nations of the Atlantic and Pacific, and that it is not expedient to have other nations enter into the same treaty stipulations.

The President calls attention to the position of the Sandwich Islands and desires that they may be made independent, and that they may be able to defend themselves, and that they may be able to defend themselves, and that they may be able to defend themselves.

A BOLD PIECE OF VILLAINY.—A leg of pig was placed in the Congressional meeting-house at Dedfield, (Mass.) and a slow match laid to it, for the purpose of blowing up the building. The incendiary was discovered, and the plan frustrated. The incendiary had carried out two evident purposes. A concert was soon to have been given in the church, and some think that time was set for the explosion. The Wain Gazette says the presumed object of this diabolical outrage was to prevent the church from being used for the purpose of holding active measures to put down the sale of liquor in that town, by prosecutions. There is a clue in the individual who is supposed to have arranged the plot.

SEARCH FOR SIR JOHN FRANKLIN.—We learn that a letter has been received in this city from Lady Jane Franklin, in which she asks advice and information from the party to whom it is addressed, as to the expediency of her coming over, with a view to the arrangement of an expedition, at her own expense, for the search for her lost husband. She meditates the purchase and equipment of two steam yachts, with which she hopes a more successful result may be obtained than that which has so cruelly disappointed her, under the command of Sir James Ross.—N. Y. Commercial Ad.

THE DAY OF THANKSGIVING AT HALIFAX.—The Day of General Thanksgiving on Thursday the 20th, was observed with becoming solemnity; and although in consequence of the heavy rain the Churches were not well filled, the Public Offices were closed, and business in general suspended. Appropriate Resolutions were presented in all the Churches of the City, the several Pastors of which taking the opportunity of bringing prominently before their congregations the many mercies they had received, and for which a Public Thanksgiving was especially necessary.

WE feel greatly indebted to the Government for this sacrifice of its prerogative. Whatever opinions may be entertained upon its general policy, we feel assured that pious and intelligent men have yielded their approbation of this measure, and trusting all considerations which might destroy the agreement, having gladly availed themselves of the opportunity of coming up before God in their national character to offer up the tribute of a National prayer.—Liberal Collections were made for the Poor.—Church Times.
