The Prussian Government, fearing that Prince Bishop Forster of Breslau will, when further proceedings are taken against him, withdraw to the Austrian portion of his diocese, and thence continue to agitate, has applied to Vienna for assistance at the Vatican to obtain a rearrangement of the diocese according to the territorial frontier of the two States. Austria being willing to grant bills application, has instructed her envoy & h. Yatic. n. Court Pear, acordingly. The watchers seized the burning sheet and pulled it from the coffin, which was badly scorched. The flames communicated to a window curtain, and the fire threatened to destroy the building. It became necessary to call the fire dep r.ment. Mrs. Kerwin, who is on the point of death, had to be carried out of her bed to an adjoining building. When it became apparent that the fire would become serious the coffin was carried out. The furniture was damaged.

Like many other things buttons on dresses are going out of fashion. Now-a-days the front of the waist is fastened with hooks and eyes, and down the front instead of buttons are placed a row of small bows made of the same material as the dress. The effect is quite pretty. The idea, we understand, is "imported."

But this description, though exact, gives no idea of the effect produced by that wondrous tissue, of the incredible effect of delicacy and thorough feminine elegance which it sheds around. The room is filled with vague, floating grace; its every detail is combined to aid and sustain the almost fairy aspect it presents. The bed is shrouded in thick hang others made of muslin so vaporously filmy that its folds seem almost mist, the coverlet, which hides the lacetrimed sheets and pillows, is in blue satin, lined with eiger down, and covered with the same veil of floating white, hanging down in a deep flounce over the woodwork of the bed. The tollet-table is the same—a nestling maze of transparency and lace, with blue beneath, and

The London Post says: "The blunders of the Government are far more than the average. Its exercise of power has been as absolute as it has been indiscreet. It is immaterial whether the adverse results of the elections are due to the dissatisfaction of the country at the past, or uncertainty regarding the policy of the Government in the future."

Here is a chance for enterprising literateurs. An advertisement calls for a pleasing and sensational writer to get up a book of the exploits of detectives. Our own notion is that it would take a veritable romancer to do that. The preponderance of material would be in favor of the historian of the fizzles of detectives.

This is the first prosecution of the kind, and the result is looked for with great interest.

The Rev. Mr. Mitchell lectures in the Calvin Church this evening on "Sir Walter Scott."

Can anyone familiar with the rapid shoaling of the harbor, and the formation of bars in it, believe that it will be rated first-class twenty-five years hence if there is not a radical change made in its management? That our harbor is none too good now is admitted on all hands, and that the expenditure of a respectable sum per annum is absolutely necessary to keep it from becoming worse is admitted. A residence and a proessional experience of over four years in this the most healthy city in the world, FOR DIGBY AND ANNAPOLIS! after my professional experience in Canada and the Eastern States, enables me to draw a pretty correct conclusion as to the curative qualities of a climate. I do not wish to be understood to throw disfar from it,—but I do claim that air and climate are the most efficient remedial agents at the physician's command, if prescribed with judgment and discretion and not delayed until the eleventh hour. Our climate is one continual Spring or Summer. To-day, for instance, I sit without fire, windows and door open, thermometer in office 70° at this hour (1½ p. m.) first of June in St. John and you have what we have now. Then you would say, But how is it in July and August? Look at the table and you will see that the greatest heat we had last year in July was 77, only 7° warmer than at this moment, and for August 8° warmer, or 78°. Examine this table carefully and you will be surprised to learn that 85° is the highest point, while 37° is the lowest, in the whole year; but I leave you to draw your own conclusions. The tale speaks for itself. Will you please examine it carefully, and then tell the consumptives of Canada your opinion through The Tribune, where they can find the best climate in the world. The best and cheapest route for invalids to San Diego is by watervia Panama. From New York to San Diego, cabin fare $100, time 22 days. Yours truly,

Cases of kidnapping are still not uncommon, but it prevailed to no such an alarming extent as in former years. The kidnapping was prevailed to no such an alarming extent as in former years. The kidnapping was probably wholly confined to Maco, which being a Portuguese settlement was without the jurisdiction of the Chinese authorities. At Canton, where kidnapping was once carried on to such a terrible extent, it is unknown. The authorities have put an end to it, and none now depart from that port except of their free will.
