MEETING OF TOWN COUNCIL

Salary Increases Again Discussed and Side Tracked—Other Business.

A meeting of the Town Council was held in the Firemen's Hall Tuesday night. His Worship Mayor Murray, presiding. There were present Couns. Bissett, Ingram, Shannon, Belle-Isle and Jamieson.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

His Worship suggested that the standing committee be readjusted.

Coun. Ingram moved that Coun. Shannon be appointed to fill vacancies on all standing committees upon which Coun. Dickie was a member and that Coun. Shannon's position be the same as that of Coun. Dickie.—Carried.

Coun. Shannon is therefore Chairman of the Water and Sewerage Committee, and second on the Assessment and Appeals, Education, Improvement and Public Charities.

The usual communications asking for reduction of taxes were read and referred to the Assessment and Appeals Committee.

W. H. Gray wrote saying that he was about to establish an industry which required a large amount of valuable machinery placed in his basement, and wished the assurance of the Council that the necessary sewer would be installed to carry off the surface water which backed into his basement.

This matter was referred to the Water and Sewerage Committee.

David J. Smith wrote asking for compensation because his wife had broken her leg while walking along an unlighted street. Referred to Public Property and Streets Committee.

Nine applications for the position of Town Engineer were read as follows:

G. F. Isaac, Sydney, salary, $3900. per year; J. C. Wythe, Soo St. Marie, salary $3600; R. Palmer, Alexandria, Ont., salary $2400; R. R. Bebe, Fredericton, salary $2400; M. J. Goebel, Oshawa, Ont., salary $2200; I. R. Parker, Montreal, Que., salary $3000; A. R. Newman, Montreal, Que., salary $1800; Geo. Reakes, St. Lambert, Que., salary $3000; Donald F. McLeod, University, Miss., U. S. A.

There were all referred to the Water and Sewerage Committees for report.

Departmental accounts were passed. Coun. Ingram from the Finance Committee reported recommending that the salaries of the Town Clerk and Town Treasurer be increased $25.00 per month each dating from May 1st, 1920.

Coun. Shannon opposed increase at this time. He said cost of living was falling and he thought it was time the town was turning towards economy rather than the spending of more money. He said that it costs Campbellton nearly double as much in salary for these two officials as it did in Chatham.

Coun. Jamieson said that these officials had asked for increases in May, but the matter had been held over from meeting to meeting. He felt sure that the increase was only to bring the salaries up to a living wage.

Coun. Belle-Isle said that he thought that we had reached the climax in the cost of living and that it was unwise to increase salaries now. Of course he knew that merchants here are not following the market downward. They took prompt advantage of the upward trend, but were the last to come down. It was a fact that in other provincial towns of like size. He was sorry to say this but it was true. He advised delay in dealing with this matter. Other towns were having same work done for $160 while it cost $275.00 per month here.

His Worship explained that he had an urgent call and must leave.

Coun. Ingram took the chair.

TWO FIRES IN C. N. R. YARD

Car Loaded With Soft Drinks Destroyed.

Last Thursday night about midnight an alarm was rung in for a fire in the C. N. R. yard. This proved to be in a car loaded with soft drinks shipped by the Campbellton Ginger Ale Works for points up the I. N. R. An oil heater had been placed in the car to prevent freezing and it was thought this exploded and set fire to the car. The shunter coupled on to the burning car and ran it to a siding at the lower end of the yard where the fire was soon extinguished, the whole top being burned off.

Again on Sunday night there was an alarm rung in for a fire in the C. N. R. yard. This proved to be a shanty car, and it was shunted down near the McLenna Foundry, where the fire was speedily extinguished.

COST TOO MUCH.

A Restigouche man was recently fined $10.00 and costs for having a common lion in his possession, a migratory, non game bird under the new law. He fought the case and the costs were over $100 in addition to the fine.

GOING TO MONCTON.

Jacquet River, December 4th.—Mrs. J. W. Munroe is spending a few weeks at her hometown enroute to Moncton where she will take up new duties as Matron of the Atlantic Hotel which, we understand, is a very modern and up-to-date building erected by the Atlantic Underwear Co. Ltd. of that city as a residence for their out-of-town girl employees. Mr. Munroe is engaged as chef for the same institution. Both are being warmly welcomed by their many friends in Jacquet River and vicinity, who wish them the same success in Moncton as has been their in previous undertakings. We are proud of our girls who make good, and feel that the Atlantic Hotel is to be congratulated in its choice of matron.

CRAWFORD GETS WARM RECEPTION

Moncton Citizens Ask Questions And Get Evasive Answers.

The Moncton Transcript says: Mr. Lindsay Crawford faced a Moncton audience in City Hall on Monday evening, but his desire to give an address on the Irish question was not fulfilled.

Mr. Crawford was introduced to the audience by the chairman, Mr. John Doherty, but immediately a list of questions was presented by Mr. Thomas Doige, a local returned man, who stated that the questions were submitted on behalf of representative citizens.

The first question on the list was: "Are you a true British subject?" Mr. Crawford asked that all the questions be read and he would discuss them.

Mr. Doige and other returned men insisted that the questions be answered one at a time, yes or no.

Finally, after the singing of several patriotic selections, and the pouring of a crowd that over-taxed the capacity of the hall, Chief of Police Hutchinson asked the crowd to withdraw and the gathering dispersed with the singing of the national anthem shortly after eight o'clock.

Finally the crowd reached the railway station. Here it was said Mr. Crawford was struck by a piece of ice.

Friends gathered around to protect him. Mr. Crawford requested the services of a doctor, and a local physician gave medical assistance.

At the station, it was reported, the crowd compelled Mr. Crawford to kiss the Canadian flag.

A big crowd gathered in front of the Brunswick Hotel, to which Mr. Crawford was taken, and finally Dr. O. B. Price, responding to a request from Chief Hutchinson, spoke briefly from the hotel steps, stating that Mr. Crawford's friends said that he would stay in the hotel all night, but would be going away today.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT.

Mr. A. A. Andrew, Treasurer of the Soldiers' Memorial Hospital, acknowledges the receipt of $83.40 from St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, New Richmond, being the proceeds of the Hospital Sunday collection.

Next summer's prices prevailing on all leather goods, which means from 10 per cent. to 20 per cent. discount at McRAE'S SHOE STORE.

WILL BE HANGED ON THE FIRST OF MARCH

Death Sentence Passed on Newman Clark Saturday.

ANDOVER, N. B., Dec. 4.—Guilty, with a recommendation for mercy, was the verdict on Friday afternoon, by the jury who heard the evidence in the case against Newman Clark, of Four Falls, charged with the murder of Phoebe Bell, on March, 25th, at Grand Falls.

This morning, Mr. Justice Chandler sentenced the prisoner to be hanged on March 1st.

Clark received the death sentence with almost the same indifference that has characterized his deportment throughout his trial. He leaned upon a table while standing for sentence, and after it had been pronounced turned partly towards where some friends were sitting, and a grim smile broke over his face.

An appeal for commutation of his sentence will be made to the Governor General.

To Give Employment to Veterans

Ottawa, Dec. 3.—Representing that unemployment among veterans all over Canada was extremely serious and requesting that the Government take action to relieve the hardship caused by the lack of work, J. Fred Marsh, organizing secretary of the Grand Army of United Veterans, and Herbert Capewell, member of the advisory board of the same organization, interviewed the Prime Minister and members of the Cabinet this evening.

The delegates were received by Prime Minister Meighen, Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Militia; Hon. J. A. Calder, and Hon. J. D. Reid.

Seen after the interview Mr. Marsh stated that the Prime Minister had promised the fullest consideration of their representations. Public works would be gone on with as speedily as possible in order to employ veterans who were at present unemployed, and the Government would consider other means for meeting the situation.

I continued taking this fruit medicine, improving all the time, and now I can walk about two miles and do light chores about the place".

NO MOVE YET.

Despite all that has been said and done, Hon. Chas. H. LaBillois makes no move to clear his character of the serious charges made. He still walks about with as broad a smile upon his countenance as if nothing of a retinal character had been charged against him.

But his inaction is reacting very strongly against him. There were many life long friends who hoped against hope that he would make some move. Now these have reluctantly been forced to admit that in their opinion the charges are true. More and more are seeing their error in supporting a gentleman who remains passive under such a serious charge.

The Graphic, which for years has supported Mr. LaBillois would like to give that gentleman advice in the matter and that is: Act the man, either admit the charge is true or take steps to disprove them. We feel sure that his friends would more readily forgive him a passing weakness than a continued living under false colors. By all means Mr. LaBillois act the manly man.

SILK SHIRT DAYS ARE OVER.

"One is sorry to be obliged to note that increased efficiency by the worker has only come about with the slowing down of industry. This is not peculiar to any one calling but appears to be very general in all trades and industries. The railways who are not now going full speed ahead, and are laying off men rather than taking them on, report increased efficiency per unit. The steamship lines with a decreased freight tonnage are getting better work out of their crews. Manufacturing concerns which have been obliged, through overstocked markets, to slow down, report in turn that their production has not decreased in proportion to the number of hands laid off. Indeed in some instances there has been an actual increase of production with decreased staffs.

"In Canada there are now no threats of strikes, with one or two notable exceptions.

"Had labor a year or more ago arrived at its present frame of mind, to work and not to loaf; to stick to the job rather than strike, we would now be in a far better position to tide over a period of inaction such as the present."—Toronto Saturday Night.

YOU AND ROBINSON CRUSOE

"One of the most persistent advertisers in the history of success was Robinson Crusoe," writes Prairie Farmer.

"He knew what he wanted—a ship and he put up an ad for one.

"He flung a shirt on a pole at the top of his island; that, in the language of the sea, was plain to every seafaring man.

"The circulation was small, there was no other medium but Crusoe kept at it, despite the fact that he got no inquiries for a long time.

"In the end he got what he wanted, was happy, and his name and fame have come down through the ages!"—Suppose Robinson Crusoe had taken down his signal after a year and declared: "Advertising doesn't pay! Where would he and his ship be now?"

Or suppose something had whispered in his ear: "No use, Robinson—these are pretty hard times. Nobody is buying or selling any ships while money's so tight. Better cut out your advertising until times get good again."

Advertise now and next month, and next year. Put up your signal and keep it there.

Lady Aster told in London a story about an anti-suffragist.

"Anti-suffragists are all alike," she said. "Once I was canvassing for signatures to a petition about Lord Milner the viceroy to India at that time. When I called on Mr. Boga the grocer, he read the petition carefully and then said:

"Who is this here Milner, ma'am?"

"Our Indian viceroy," said I.

"We've a viceroy?" said Mr. Boga.

"A pre-consul you know! And explained Lord Milner's position in detail.

"Mr. Boga, satisfied, dipped his pen in the ink; then he looked up anxiously.

"You're not lettin' the women sign this are you?" he asked.

"Oh, no-oh-oh!" said I.

"That's right," said Mr. Boga as he slowly traced his signature. That's right ma'am. Women don't know nothing about these things."

THE TOWN MANAGER PLAN.

The Moncton Rotary Club heard an address last week from Mr. Armstrong of Woodstock, who has the distinction of being the first town manager not only in New Brunswick but in all Canada. It is probable that, relatively, more money is wasted in Municipal Government than in the provincial or federal arenas, and in some cities, Montreal and New York notably, there have been grave scandals. As a remedy some cities have adopted the Board of Control, a small body elected by the ratepayers as a whole as a check on the wire pulling of the Ward Aldermen, and this system is credited with bringing about a measure of improvement. The town manager plan is a newer development of municipal reform, and was adopted in Woodstock quite recently. At the Rotary Club meeting Mayor Chapman intimated that the town manager plan might be tried in Moncton and as a good many citizens have expressed to The Times a desire that the system be adopted here, an article in last week's Woodstock Sentinel will not be without interest. The Sentinel says:

"In several towns in New Brunswick there is going on some serious thinking as regards the conduct of municipal affairs and citizens are looking forward to the day when there can be an improvement locally.
What all is said and done, most of our local troubles arise from the system. The manager plan offers a new, and in Woodstock, a tried system which has passed the experimental stage and has proven its worth in actual operation.
It is one instance of where theory has held out in practice. The manager plan robs no citizen of any of his political rights and in the final analysis the power rests just where it does today—with the people.
But it does offer the people the opportunity to have their desires in government put into effect by trained and efficient officials to whom running the business of a city or town is just as much a profession as is surgery to the surgeon and law to the lawyer.
For those towns that are considering a change in the town government the Sentinel is confident that serious thought and approbation of the manager plan will go hand in hand. Woodstock can assuredly boast of a system in conducting municipal affairs that is a penance for the many defects that previously existed.
The town manager plan, though new in Canada, has been adopted in the United States, where perhaps municipal abuses are more glaring, on quite an extensive scale. The Boston Transcript recently had the following on the system:
A feature of recent developments in American municipal government has been the rapid spread of the city manager movement. Although the city manager plan is but a few years old, it already has achieved a notable success. At the convention of the National City Managers' Association, now being held in Cincinnati, the presence is reported of the managers of 192 individual cities. Of this number, twenty-five have adopted the city manager form of government during the last year—a figure which testifies to the general success of the city manager plan throughout the country.
A type of municipal government, indeed, which has been put into operation by nearly two hundred cities can hardly be referred to as being still in the experimental stage. The experiment of these two hundred cities show that the city manager form of government has arrived to stay.
Its success is due, in large part, to a strong reaction against the abuses which have so often characterized the government of American municipalities.
Boss rule, graft and inefficiency have too often, in the past, disgraced
the political record of our American cities. The city manager plan is a protest against these all too prevalent evils. Fundamentally, it is an attempt to replace inefficiency with efficiency, and wastefulness with economy. The city manager is an expert in city administration, making use of his chosen profession of all that can be obtained from a scientific study of municipal problems. The city manager is the symbol of the twentieth-century creed of efficiency.
The city manager plan deserves the close attention of all those who are interested in better and more efficient methods of American municipal government."
Of course in the adoption of the town manager plan, a good deal must always depend upon the man appointed to the position, who must be cap-

A Misunderstood Parable.
Writing in the Times Literary Supplement, Mr. James Gow suggests that the moral now attached to the "rolling stones" parable is "no man is perfect," is not that which it was originally intended to convey.
"It is now," he says, "used to hint that a man who frequently changes his occupation will not make money.
This is a grossly dishonest and misleading expression in a proverb or parable, but such parables should surely be drawn from honestly things fam-ilar to a society large enough to give currency to the parable. But where in the popular parts of our name are rolling stones familiar objects and where is it considered that it is the proper business of stones to become money? The parable appears to have become proverbial by a misunderstanding.
"Readers of Gray's or Cowper's remember that a rolling-stone (with this is the common name of a stone garden roller. I suggest that the parable was originally drawn from this homely implement, which gathers no moss because it is kept in continual use; and the parable was meant to hint that a man who keeps his faculties at work will not grow stale and feeble."

Want Hindus as Settlers.
The Amir of Afghanistan for the first time in history, has invited Hindus to settle in his country, to accomplish which he has announced the following royal concessions: 1. Freedom of the peoples of Asia: 1. Noninterference in the observance of Hindu religious beliefs. 2. Freedom of Hindus to travel and settle in any part of the country. 3. Government protection to Hindu homes. 4. Hindu representation in the Afghan Assembly. Unrestricted travel permitted Hindu women.
There are more than 230,000,000
Hindus and 750,000,000 Moslems in India and a Hindu, or exodus of many of the latter to Afghanistan, according to Dr. Hardiker, already is under way.
The proposals of the Amir are aimed, he said, "at dispelling the notion that Afghanistan is partial to Islamism. The proclamation protection will be extended to Hindu

be exercised in religious observances."
Joe Devlin's Rise.
Ireland's silver-tongued orator,
Mr. "Joe" Devlin, who has been so prominent in the House of Commons lately, must be one of the finest men at Westminster. He is said to tip the beam at sixty-three inches. What he lacks in height, however, he makes up for in his brilliance as an orator and organizer.
"Joe," as he is affectionately known, started life as a pot-boy. He was only eleven years of age when he got a job behind the bar of a public house to polish at one sitting a week. But he had ambitions even when carrying cans of beer for customers. At sixteen he won a prize for elocution—the first stepping stone to political fame. That he is son of the people is "Joe's" greatest pride.

Protecting Birds.
Neither airplanes, machine guns, barry guns, automatic guns nor any gun larger than a 10-gauge may be used in Alberta to kill migratory wild fowl under the International agreement that has just been entered into with the United States as a participating factor. Motorboats and sailboats are also forbidden as accessories to the sport of duck shooting.
Algerian Saboteurs.
In Algiers no fewer than three Sab-oteurs are observed during the week
—on Friday that of the Mohamedmedans, on Saturday that of the Jews, and on Sunday that of the Christians.
Few Pets in Japan.
Japanese children are rarely permitted to keep pets, and there is a pretty custom which teaches them that the gods have a tender care for the lower orders of creation.

An Historic Hospital

IN its long history since the twelfth century, when it was built, St. Bartholomew's Hospital and Church have undergone many changes. Henry VIII. destroyed part of the nave, and the central tower was pulled down and replaced in 1628.

The crypt was turned into coal and wine cellars. In the north transept a blacksmith's forge was set up, and the smoke from his fire can be seen on the blackened walls to this day. Part of the triforium was turned into a Nonconformist Sunday school, and another part served as a lace and fringe factory. In the Lady Chapel a printer set up in business, and here it is vastly interesting to note—Benjamin Franklin set type during his first sojourn in London.

Another part of the church was turned into a stable. Desecration such as this went on until fifty years ago, when a process of restoration began, and has continued until now, reverently and carefully, so that as one stands in the ancient building to-day it is easy to pass backwards through the centuries and imagine oneself in the presence of Rahere himself, supervising the early stages of his noble work.

"Sir Norman Moore speaks of seven great men, who have added to the fame and usefulness of the hospital. First there was Rahere, of whom we have spoken. The second was Rahere's immediate successor, Thomas of Osyth's, who, as the author says, 'is to us more than a venerable canon regular of the Order of St. Augustine, since by his regulation of the relations of the Hospital and the Priory, he gave to the former that independence which enable it to weather the storm of dissensions which raged in the reign of Henry VI. The third was Alexander of Southwell, a century scribe, whose fine vellum, unfading ink and beautiful handwriting preserved so much of the social history of his time. John Cok, a brother of the hospital, wrote the cartulary, and so present a mass of its history up to the end of the reign of Henry VI. The famous Dr. John Caius was a tenant in the hospital, and had a profound influence on it as president of the College of Physicians.

Under the new order a physician was specially attached to St. Bartholomew's, and the first was the notorious Dr. Rodrigo Lopez (Lopez), a skilful Portuguese Jew, who became physician to the Queen's Household and was executed at Tyburn in 1594, after being convicted of plotting to poison Queen Elizabeth. Marlowe and Middleton refer to his death in 1594, and it is suggested that Shakespeare had him in mind when he drew Shylock.

In the lodgers of the hospital, Sir Norman Moore found numberless facts of interest and importance. In 1547 the hospital received £1 14s 4d for letting 'booths' within the hospital during the time of Bartholomew Fair. We find payments made to the surgeons for treating the cases. 'For hoisting of John Smythe of a sore arm; for healing of Agnes Chaward of the biting of a dog; 6s.' Sometimes the patients on leaving the hospital received grants of money. 'Item, to an Yrle man and two midwives at their departing, 2s. 4d.' Wooden legs were also supplied, and the usual price was 1s. 4d.

One of the greatest contrasts between these distant days and those of the present is the value of food and drink. Consider the diet in 1887. On Sunday the patients were allowed ten ounces of wheat bread, six ounces of boiled beef without bones, a pint and a half of beef broth, a pint of ale or claret, and three pints of beer. During the week the beef was varied by mutton, chicken or 'supper soppes', but the three pints of beer were never omitted.

And what of 'Bart's' to-day? As full of life and interest as ever, if we may judge from Sir Norman Moore's ponderous but delightful tomes. 'One day,' he says, 'you see a woman from Madras with a jewelled steel fastened to her nose; another time a Malay from Singapore, loquacious and organman, who speaks curious dialects of Italian; and sometimes Welsh patients, who know little or no English, but are familiar with the Bible in its fine Gwynedd version, and with other parts of their native literature.'

Great Britain's Overcoming.

Great Britain will return to the State of Kentucky a flag which was captured from Kentucky when volunteers at the battle of the Thames in Michigan in the war of 1812. The Kentucky Legislature has appropriated money to send to England a commissioner who will bring back the flag. This commissioner, James H. Chandler, of Louisville, is a descendant of the commander of the Kentucky troops in the battle.

GOING TO ONTARIO.

TRAMP RESPONSIBLE FOR FIRE IN CAR

Fortunately for Him it Was Discovered in Time—Later Arrested.

NEWCASTLE, N. B., Dec. 4.—The fire department were called out about three o'clock on Friday morning to extinguish a fire in a car of hay at the C. N. R. depot. The car was being unloaded and a tramp had crawled to the car before it was locked up for the night and had accidentally set fire to the hay while smoking. The fire was noticed by some car repair men and the unfortunate tramp rescued, from his perilous position and the fire extinguished. He was later arrested by C. N. R. Officer O. B. Lawson and will be called upon to answer the charge of loitering on the C. N. R. property.

The artist beamed. A visitor—O wealthy-looking visitor, too—had paid a visit to his studio.

As he showed the great man around he fingered lovingly the products of his brain.

"This picture," he said, stopping before his masterpiece, "took me 19 months to paint. It was started in a garage."

"Well, well!"

"And a hundred thousand wouldn't buy it now."

"No," said the visitor, eyeing the masterpiece more closely. "And I'm one of the hundred thousand."

A small boy who didn't like doing his "home work" was being warned against the evils that are apt to come from habits of procrastination, by his mother when he asked to explain quite definitely what she meant. She replied by quoting the proverb: "Never put off till tomorrow what can be done today." On getting the moral reduced to this simple form, he said: "Well, then, mother, let's go down stairs at once and eat the rest of the strawberries and cream; there were heaps left over."

TWO KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Car Skidded and Went Over Bridge Near Pokeshaw, Gloucester Co.

Two men killed and a third seriously injured and perhaps dying is the toll of an auto mishap near Pokeshaw, Gloucester county Wednesday night.

The killed are two residents of Grand Anse Messrs. Pinau and Albert and the third man is Mr. Terriau, also of Grand Anse, the owner and driver of the auto at the time of the accident.

The three had been in to Bathurst and were returning home, reaching the bridge at Pokeshaw about 9:30 or ten o'clock. The car skidded on the bridge and smashed its way through the railing and plunged to the ice and rocks below, a distance of thirty feet.

Pinau and Albert were killed almost instantly and Terriau was pinned under the car and was helpless.

Fortunately a man passed over the bridge shortly after and noticed that the rail had been lately torn away. He notified a resident at the end of the bridge and the latter got a lantern and investigated. Securing help he had the car lifted and the injured man conveyed to the house, and the bodies of the other two men were conveyed to their homes in Grand Anse.

PILES!

For years I suffered with Piles until I found a simple home remedy which rid me of this complaint forever. I want every other sufferer to have the advantage of my discovery so if you will send me your name and address I shall be only too pleased to tell you FREE how you accomplish the same result at home, in a very short time. This notice will not appear again.

SCOTTISH CLAIM CHALLENGED

Was the First Organized Golf Club in England?

The oldest golf club in the world is a myth in Scotland, as might be imagined, but at Blackheath, England, writes Harold Saunders in the London Daily Express, James I. of England was not over-popular as a monarch, says the story, but his name has been immortalized wherever golfers foregather. For it was he who introduced the game into England, and really was responsible for the institution of the Royal Blackheath Club in 1668. This was 127 years before the Edinburgh Burgess Golfing Society came into existence and 150 years before the Royal and Ancient Golf Club was formed.

The curious thing is that golf at Blackheath was a rather to what it was when James and his golfing cronies set out by coach from Whitehall for a round of "the links." In a word, it was a "mull."

The course consisted of seven holes, which have to be played three times in a round, and a round there are no tee boxes and no flags to indicate the positions of the holes. Nor are there any sweeping bunkers. For the most part the Blackheath hazards consist of iron rails, rivets, heavy posts, curbstones and children.

There is something almost sacramental about a round at Blackheath, for it is enacted that each match shall be preceded by a prayer, and a red flag, unless you get used to it, you are apt to feel like a steam roller.

The club house is a museum of historic treasures relating to the game. The walls are hung with oil paintings of past and present members of the club—its captains and field marshals, bearded old gentlemen and scarlet coats and epaulettes—and other worthies of the links.

There is one painting showing the caddies of the past, old Greenwich pensioners in three-cornered hats, blue coats and white ducks. It is said that these old salts made themselves invaluable to their employers by the richness of their vocabularies. If the player forced his drive his henchman was ready with a ripe oath suitable to the occasion.

Blackheath also possesses a set of clubs 200 years old and a couple of balls stuffed with feathers, similar to those with which the first Stuart King used to take his recreation. The clubs are fearful to look upon and must be difficult to use. The wooden putters and drivers are massive affairs with thick shafts and enormous heads, but the most astonishing weapon in the collection is an iron club over four feet long with a head shaped as the letter "E."

The Blackheathians pride themselves on maintaining the traditions of their historic past. The club dispensers are attended with considerable pomp and circumstance. The members wear their picturesque scarlet uniforms and the captain is preceded to the table by an official carrying a silver club bag with silver balls, much in the same manner as the marshal-bearer precedes the Lord Mayor.

Historical Inn Signs.

There doesn't seem any connection between the "Pig and Whistle" and "The Bull and Mouth," but there is! This is how it came about: An innkeeper put the sign of the "Bull and Mouth" over his door, but his customers, not understanding it, pronounced it like "Bag o' Whistle," so it came to be known as the "Bag o' Whistle" inn. The name changed to the "Jolly Topers," says an innkeeper.

"The God and Compassion," was once "The God Encumbrance." Another of a similar nature is the "Pig and Whistle." It is very old, being derived from the Anglo-Saxon phrase, "Pig Wastell," or "Pill, Virginity."

"Lamb and Pig" is also religious in origin, but it retains its form unaltered. The "Swan With Two Heads," for its book was marked with two cats, or ducks, to show who owned it.

Some inn signs are historic. The "Bull and Mouth," for example, is the "Bull and Mouth" from a sea dog which occurred outside its mouth of the harbor. So is the "Cat and Fiddle." It should be the "Cat and Fiddle" or "Fiddle and Cat," after a governor of Calicut. Others are distinctly humorous. The "Good Woman" is a no less a while trying to wash a black horse white in the "Lamb and Pig."

Signboards have often been painted by famous artists, including Holbein, Hogarth and Millais, some of whose are still extant. In the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries the signs of taverns were often very elaborate. It is said that the "Bull and Mouth" at Soho, in Norfolk, cost £5,000. Another at Lambeth was so heavy that it brought down the side of the house, killing four people. The result was an act of Parliament prohibiting dangerous signboards.

Jerry-Bell's Religion? Does Mrs. Bell, Dulwich College Chapel, London, England, dedicated the memorial erected there to the boys who fell in the war. Referring to the war in his sermon, the dean said that the day came for the testing of our religious architecture during the last hundred years. Had we been building for eternity, or even posterity, or was the modern Jerry-Bell with a type of our religion? He was afraid that we had been preening on our faded security, and that we had become self-satisfied and careless, like the rich fool in the Bible.

Several sections of Iceland are rich in asbestos and chalcophony, which are widely used in making jewels for the bearings of watches and electrical instruments.

One Hope. "There's one hope for me."

"That some day the strikers will organize and call a strike on striking."

COSTLY MOOSE MBAT.

Three St. Louis farmers—Francis Gubard, Alex. Piro and Jos. Dolron—have been fined $300 each, in the Chatham Police Court, for shooting moose illegally—two cows and two calves. They paid off the fine, $150 each, and were given till Dec. 21st to pay the balance—World.

A Cascaret tonight will give you constipated bowels a thorough cleaning and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—no need to get up and strain your bowels. Buy a box from your druggist and say you're getting good for nothing.

Miss Gertrude McKay, who has been residing on the Pacific Coast during the last nine years, arrived home recently, and will be the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. McKay for a few months. Miss McKay looks well, and is being given a hearty welcome by her many school day friends.

Mr. E. E. Martin, Engineer of the Public Works Department, of Ottawa, with headquarters at Chatham, N. B., was here last week, a guest at the Queen Hotel. The object of his trip to the Shiretown, was to ascertain the importance of maintaining the ferry wharf as a permanent landing. The wharf requires considerable repairing, hence the investigation. Mr. Martin very courteously and wisely consulted with Mr. James Wallace, Harbour Master, A. & R. Loggie, W. S. Montgomery and Donald McGregor, large dealers in fish. H. H. McNeil, our veteran Light House Keeper, Hon. C. H. LaBillicois, through whose influence the wharf was built in the first place, and later transferred to the Federal authorities. If the wharf is thoroughly improved, it will be up to our Town Council, and to our business men, to see that arrangements are put in progress for a practical service between Quebec points, such as Upper Magusha, Fleurant's Point, St. Omer, and Chatham with Dalhousie. Three of the Quebec points have the convenience of substantial wharves. One or two trips per week might also be arranged for Campbellton.

THE REINDEER DO NOT DRINK THE POLAR SEA

The migrations of the reindeer is one of the mysteries of natural history but it is not true, as we have been told that they are performed in order that the reindeer may drink of the Polar Sea.

A splendid description of such a march is enshrined in literature, but the idea underlying it is totally wrong. The reindeer do not go to quaff the bitter sea, but to fill their empty stomachs with seaweed cast up on the beach. No animal drinks sea water. It drives wrecked men mad, and it is impossible as a drink for animals. It is believed that seals do not drink it, but obtain their moisture from the fish they eat; and it is one of the marvels of fish structure that, in absorbing moisture from the sea by way of skin, they have the power of expelling the salt from the water, just as frost, on converting the sea into ice, rids the water of its saline element. All ice at sea is free from salt; all drink of men and beasts must also be free from it. So the migrations of the reindeer, at ever increasing speed—a hundred miles at a gallop from inland to the coast—is not undertaken so that "once in his life the reindeer must taste of the sea in one long, satisfying draught or perish if he be hindered;" it is that he may find the food which, by some mysterious agency, he knows is stored for him upon the shore.

The Toad Does not Live in Rocks Without Food.

Science has proved that toads can live long periods in confinement without food, but the longest period possible is only a few months, not years. In a receptacle to which no food can come to the toad its life depends well within a year. If the conditions are such that insects can crawl into its prison through holes or crevices, the toad may live for two years, but three years under such conditions would be fatal to the sturdiest toad of moderate appetite. Whenever toads are found in holes from which there has clearly been no recent way of escape until they were set free by hand, it is certain that the patch by which they crawled in must have remained open, and that, where the little toad went, insects followed, and were eaten by the prisoner, which gradually grew too large to get out again, and had to remain there, waiting for its meals to come to it. If its meals do not come to it in such conditions the toad must die.

Coun. Jamieson from the Public Charities Committee reported that they had looked into matter of assistance to Mrs. Emile Roy and found as this party owned property no assistance would be given. Report received and adopted.

Do You Buy At Home?

WHEN YOU require Printed Stationery or Printing of any kind it is not necessary to send your order to a distant city. Your local printing offices can attend to all YOUR needs.

Buying at home; trading one with another so far as is possible, is the fundamental principle underlying the growth and trade expansion of every community. A dollar spent with your own merchant, manufacturer or printer may again come into your hands, but a dollar sent to a distant mail order house, print shop or factory is gone from your community forever.

DISASTROUS FIRE AT NEW CARLISLE

Hon. John Hall's Residence With Valuable Contents Burned Sunday Night.

Last Sunday evening during the terrible storm that was raging, the beautiful house of the Hon. John Hall Kelley was completely destroyed and gutted to the ground in a few minutes. Just before retiring for the night the occupants of the house, Mrs. Kelley, mother of Mr. Kelley, and her daughter, who was a nurse and child, perceived a peculiar odour and while wondering what it was, a friend who was passing by saw the flames leaping in the upper room and at once gave the alarm of fire by having the church bells rung. At the same time, Mr. Laws, the hired man of Mr. Kelley, rushed through the fire and rescued the child and nurse from the upper rooms, Mrs. Kelley following.

Much sympathy is extended to Mr. John Hall Kelley for not a single thing was saved. Silver, valuable pictures, library and valuable legal documents are all lost. The fire started in the attic of the house.

The fire spread very rapidly and it was thought that Sheriff Sheppard's house would go, the house was soon emptied but fortunately was saved by a heroic band of young men led by Sgt. Basil Hamilton. Had the fire caught Sheriff Sheppard's house the fire would have caught Mr. G. LeGrand's store, then on to the English church and then the very fine school.

Carlisle is a very ancient and antiquated town, its ideas and views of things modern are very obscure, perhaps from a few more homes and public places, and a few humble homes, for home is home to the poor as well as to the rich, that our Councilors, Mayor and public will ask if there is such a thing as a volunteer fire brigade, where buckets, etc., can be procured, a hose attached with wheels, men to handle same. An electric light system is urgently needed.

It is high time that the citizens of New Carlisle woke up and put into the Town Hall men who have the good will and progress of the town at heart. We have now a few right minded men, but what is their influence when the majority of our men protect that which is unlawful and is a disgrace to the good citizens of New Carlisle.

Let us go forward and let every good citizen who has the interest of our town at heart make up their minds that the lessons we are learning today will in the future be mitigated.

(Another Report).
The home of Hon. John Hall Kelly, K.C., New Carlisle, was completely destroyed by fire Sunday last. The contents including a huge library were consumed; the loss approximating fifty thousand dollars. The house and contents were insured for fifteen thousand dollars.

Hon. Mr. Kelly received the news while in Montreal yesterday. He left for Ottawa last evening and will return to New Carlisle to-day.

HEAVY STORM.
A heavy sleet and snow storm with high east wind prevailed all day Sunday. Sufficient snow fell to make good sleighing and put an end to automobileing.

"IT GAVE ME NEW LEASE ON LIFE"

That Is What Mrs. Robertson Says After Tanlac Freed Her Of Nervous Dyspepsia.

"I feel like I have a new lease on life since taking Tanlac, and I'll never stop praising it for what it has done for me," recently said Mrs. C. A. Robertson of 189 Agricola Street, Halifax, N. S.

"I had no appetite whatever," said Mrs. Robertson, "and I was in such a nervous run down condition that I could hardly drag myself about the house. My digestion was so poor that I suffered with indigestion and bloating and simply made me feel miserable. I had violent headaches and such dizzy spells that at times I just had to sit down or catch hold of some thing to keep from falling. I was so upset me, and I couldn't even stand the children playing about the house. I was so restless I could hardly sleep and many nights heard the clock strike every hour, and became so frantic that I just had to get up and walk the floor. Although I tried everything I heard of, nothing did me any good and my condition was becoming almost unbearable.

"Finally I heard so much about Tanlac that I decided to give it a trial, and the way the medicine fixed me up was nothing less than wonderful. I have only taken four bottles now and am enjoying as good health as I ever did in my life. My appetite is just splendid and I can eat anything and everything without being bothered with indigestion. I never have headaches or dizzy spells, my nerves are so calm I can stand any amount of noise and at nights I sleep like a child. Tanlac has built me up until I have gained twelve pounds in weight and now weigh a hundred and eighty pounds. I believe Tanlac is the best medicine ever made for troubles like I had, and I'm glad of a chance to recommend it."

Tanlac is sold in Campbellton, by THOMAS WRAN, Druggist; in Jacques River, by S. McALLISTER; in Archibald Settlement, by M. SKEARER; in River Charlie, by W. H. GLENDENNING; in Chandler, by ARTHUR NADEAU; and in Kedgwick by THE RICHARDS MFG. CO. LTD.

EDITORS MAIL

I wish to draw the attention of your readers to an article which appeared in your valued paper on Dec. 2nd, heading of same "Unanimous Call." Your correspondent has been misinformed or the writer has been carried away with his own good wishes. About the meeting referred to, the call referred to was not unanimous, as one of the managers of New Carlisle congregation expressed his wish for a change and also stated at said meeting that there were others in the congregation of the same opinion. I feel that your readers should have the true facts.

Thanking you for space in your valuable paper, I remain Yours truly,

NEW CARLISLE.

We learn that four of our citizens have been fined for selling whiskey, all bearing the names of old respected departed citizens.

It is on this account that your correspondent will not give their names, but it will be a very sad day for these bootleggers should they be caught again.

It is well known these bootleggers are going to Port Daniel and having the stuff shipped in fictitious names, the Express and Railway Companies should not allow such to be done and no doubt when this is brought before the management of both companies it will be stopped.

HON. MR. MEIGHEN'S DIFFICULTIES.

Discussing the Premier's problems a writer in the Toronto Saturday Night says:-

"Quebec is the hard nut which Mr. Meighen has to crack. He is faced by the urgent need of increasing the French-Canadian representation in his cabinet. It is a veritable nightmare which disturbs the sweet dreams of little Arthur, and at the present time he is engaged in the task of finding an answer to the Quebec riddle. His acknowledged ingenuity (they would call him "alim" in South Africa) has so far failed in its objective. Quebec looms up sullen and defiant, with an universal distaste within its provincial boundaries of anything and anyone smacking of unionism. But Mr. Meighen has a positive liking for hard nuts, and reveals in the joy of cracking the same.

"Take a cursory glance at the situation. French Quebec now has one lone cabinet minister, and even he has a seat in the Senate—that quite haven where many a politician hulk of the past is anchored safely—tied to a four thousand dollar post, as it were. Sixty-two of the sixty-five Quebec seats are held by the Opposition. The little trinity of St. Lawrence, St. Antoine and St. Anne's, all in the city of Montreal, forms the Government's ewe lamb. Arthur is worried over the situation; that fact is evident and to make any headway in the province, he must have adequate representation of its French majority in his cabinet. Just now he is courting Baptiste patiently, and the young Premier is some lover. He has taken as his motto the thought expressed in the lines:

"The wooer who can flatter most Will bear away the belle."

"There are several reasons for the coyness of Quebec with respect to this administration, and its predecessor. The aloofness of Sir Robert Borden had a great deal to do with the estrangement. Quebec never understood Sir Robert, because he never went to the trouble of trying to make her understand. True, the big man paid fleeting visits to Montreal, and to the Mount Royal Club, but his contact with the sister province ended there. To the mass of its people Borden was not even a name. He failed to get into close communion with them, in fact he seldom communed with anyone but himself. Compared with the brilliant flame of Laurier, Borden was the dimmest of farthing candles. He simply flickered and went out! This could not fail to engender misunderstanding, and has added to the hardness of Mr. Meighen's nut. When Sir Robert's leadership "will" was read, it was found that Arthur had inherited a party that to pieces, a hostile Quebec and a number of incapable hired men doing the cabinet chores. Some will, eh?

"Another, and really the chief reason for the aforesaid coyness is Laurier. "Le Vieux Coq" loved his people with a love surpassing that of women, and that love was returned to him in fourfold measure. Literally he held the province in the hollow of his hand. That charming personality, stately courtliness, engaging candor and camaraderie, that silver oratory and fiery championship of the rights of minorities, that flare of "le grand seigneur," all combined to place him high on the pedestal in the eyes of Quebec. He was a leader worth the following, and while he had many opponents, his enemies were few. Those of us who watched him, session after session, in the high noon of his power and in the splendid poverty of defeat, marvelled at the "many-sidedness" of the man. He played on the sensitive strings of the public imagination with the deft touch of the master. Even in the days of opposition, Sir Wilfrid was the real leader of the House. Is it any cause for wonder therefore that Quebec loved her eminent son? And though Sir Wilfrid sleeps in quiet Notre Dame, not far from the rushing Ottawa, where the boiling cauldron of Chaudiere booms its message, he is very much alive in his native province today. There is magic still in the name of Laurier! That magic put Mackenzie King in the high office of leader, for the old chief loved the lad and picked him for his heir."

"BOOT-LEGGING OR SKY-PILOTING"

The Editor,
Campbellton Graphic.

Sir—
The interest manifested in one (1) case a week bootlegging prompts me to write you, in regards to the above heading, or in other words, Why does the Yeast of Evil, live two lives? When the Flour of Life stands, or falls by One? Simple enough when the murders of yesterday are considered, of course we must remember that the Yeast of Evil, has no fear, as long as that Powerful Host called Justice, fails, by having not the Honourable Gentlemen to which title, some needs more than considering.

Heart strings of the poor are bleeding and torn from the acts of our Sky Pilots, and Honourable Gentlemen, when it comes down to the grave side. The one case, a week bootlegging is more in question, than that murdering innocent youth. That has been carried on for many years, without any action from that great body of so called gentlemen? Only some few months ago the penalty for this atrocious crime was but a first class ticket to the west, whereby a bootlegger selling about one case per week, or about, got six months.

Oh death where's thy sting, in thy cellars of thy rich. Oh death where's thy justice, at New Carlisle, Bottling Works.

The writer regrets that space in this valuable paper has forced a standing. Without doubt this statement will shortly be completed.

King George a Sportsman

A KING would be an unpopular monarch if he were not a sportsman. The British public, accordingly, consider him not a sportsman. Every American correspondent in his round of daily visits to the British Foreign Office hears substantially his lecture from a certain permanent official whose name, according to the traditions in the British diplomatic service, must not be disclosed. "Look here, Mr. —, if you really want to understand the British you must realize that they never get disturbed except over one thing — an interruption of their holidays and sports. Do you know that when war broke out in August 1914, the first thing thousands of us thought of was that grouse shooting, to begin on August 1, would be interrupted? I have shot grouse for twenty-seven years on August 12. This will be my first year since 1914 to go back to it again."

The conclusion of the lecture was along these lines: "When you understand that we take our sports and recreations just as seriously as our work, you can read our history and not laugh over such an incident as the dancing of the people when London was burning in 1666. You can also understand how our soldiers gambled all night until zero hours when they were to go over the top in the morning. And our King, because his chief job is to encourage national life, must be a good sportsman. It is his business to be interested in all sports, and fortunate and happy for him if he loves some sport. And by this standard George V. does not fail. He is a sportsman, and has two sports that he personally loves and excels in."

The King shows his interest in horseracing by holding court at a horse race—at Ascot. The King and his people picnic together at Ascot. Queen Anne had the course on Ascot Heath constructed in 1711, with an area for forestry as well as for a racing place for thoroughbreds. For two centuries the British public has shown its approval of the Queen's choice. Ascot is essentially a women's meeting, for there the leaders of fashion make history by revealing their well kept secrets.

On the opening day at Ascot this year the King and Queen drove down the course in state. They motored through the great park of Windsor to the approach of the course, where they took the royal carriages. Eight carriages made up the procession, the first being drawn by four white horses and the remainder by four bright bays, for which the royal stud is so famous. In the first carriage rode the King and Queen with Prince Albert, now Duke of York, and Princess Mary, while Prince Henry was among them in the second carriage.

Each day at Ascot the King gave a luncheon in the royal dining room immediately to the rear of the royal box. The Queen attended only on two of the four days, which morning to those who would gaze properly that they must wear the tall black silk hat when she attends and the tall white "topper" when she does not.

But it is quite a different matter at the Derby. There the King and Queen attend, in so far as they can, merely as two individuals among a quarter million other members of the great throng. They go by train and take their box by the nearest route from the entrance. Tradition says that here they wish merely to show that they have common tastes with the rest of their subjects in what is properly described as a national institution, where a few good colts race over a very bad stretch of ground.

George V. is not a fond of racing as was his father, King Edward. He seldom bets, not because he thinks it is morally wrong, but because he believes it to be the sport. King George believes in sport for sport's sake. He has brought up his children on that theory.

But the horse race the King really enjoys is Newmarket. There he can wear a better hat and so around as any other man in the paddock and stables chatting with his friends.

Because King George had been trained in the navy many people expected that aquatic sports would be his favorite diversions. But such is not the case. He owns a yacht, the Britannia, which will sail in the race this year and in the one at Clyde the King will actually be on board, and according to rumor, sail himself, he is perfectly competent to do so. He is a very good sailor. The story is told that one time when, then but a prince, he was in command of a destroyer, his father wrote to the commanding officer of the port for permission for George to spend a few days with him in the country. The permission was granted, and when the officer told George he was to go on leave he said: "What will happen to my ship while I am away?"

"Oh," said he, "it will stay at anchor here."

"Oh," said George, "I will not take the leave."

The King's devotion to things he shoots at personally is a strange characteristic. For instance, as a salmon fisher he is assisted by few. He goes salmon fishing in Scotland every year and is rated with Lord Grey as an angler. The King as a pistol shot has only three peers in England. Bagshotmen say he is probably one of the best pistol shots in the world. Grouse and pheasant shooting is his favorite sport. He goes to Sandringham soon after the season opens in August and spends many days on his ranges there. He takes great care of the birds on his estate there.

All She Had Left.

"I presume you carry a memento of some kind in that lock of your hair?" the inquisitive wife of the clergyman asked the parishioner.

"Yes. It's a lock of my husband's hair."

"But your husband is still alive?" the lady exclaimed in considerable surprise.

"Yes, that is true, but his hair is gone."

Western Farmers Building Silos

Field of Sunflowers
in Alberta

It is to be anticipated that before many years have elapsed almost every farm in the Canadian prairie provinces will have its silo. The growth of the dairy industry would naturally bring this condition about in course of time, but the movement is being expedited by the success farmers are having in growing sunflowers. Small fields of from three to thirty acres have been planted in various parts of the three prairie provinces of Canada. The yields are proving more satisfactory than the farmers generally dared to hope, and each acre yields on an average from fifteen to thirty tons of ensilage.

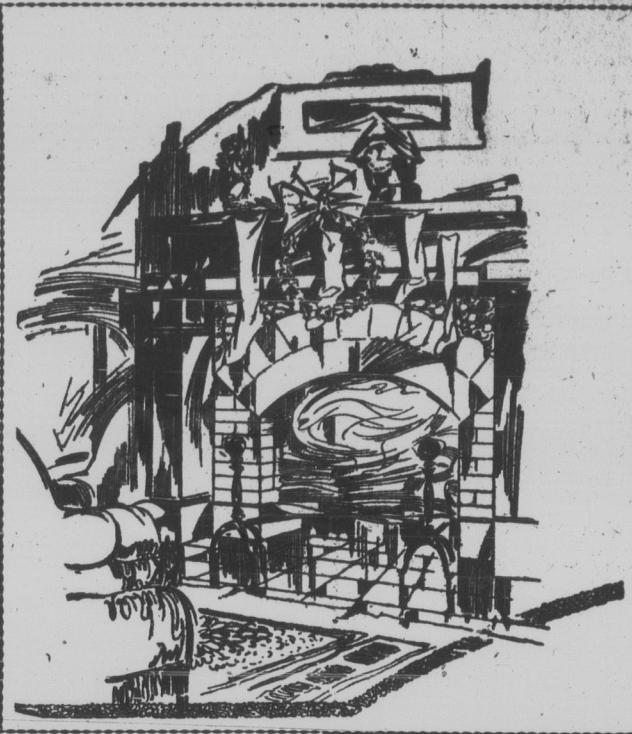

Many farmers have erected silos on their farms during the summer to take care of this crop, but most of them have under-estimated their requirements and will have more crop than they can put in their silos. Sunflower silage is due for a more extensive trial this winter than it has had before. The results in previous years have been very satisfactory but only comparatively few farmers have grown the crop for silage previous to this year. If in the more extensive use the crop proves to be as satisfactory as it has already proved in the few cases where it has been tried, it is safe to say that in a few years the farm without a silo will be an exception in Western Canada.

Since last year's results have been known, considerable interest has been shown in silos and ensilage in Western Canada and several hundred silos have been erected during the past summer. Typical of this movement is the Cardston district in Southern Alberta, where eight silos have been erected. This year and where about fifty acres of sunflowers were planted. The crop has proved so successful that it is predicted that one hundred silos will be built in the district next year and more than a thousand acres of sunflowers planted. Similar plans are being made in other parts of Western Canada, and the already rapidly growing dairy industry promises to grow much faster with the general acceptance of the sunflower as a silage crop. Any other evidence of the value of sunflowers as a forage crop will be the big gain in finished steers. Many of the larger livestock raisers are growing sunflowers and erecting silos for this purpose. This will be considerably increased the finishing areas of Canada, which, although have been somewhat restricted compared with the large feeding areas throughout the country, and the livestock industry in the West will be placed on a sound basis.
