

SOLEMN POMP AND SPECTACLE MARK THE FIRST STAGES OF KING EDWARD'S FUNERAL

The Remains of Late Monarch Removed From Buckingham Palace to Westminster Hall, Where Archbishop of Canterbury Conducts Service in Presence of a Great and Notable Body of Mourners.

[Associated Press Cable.]

London, May 17.—The body of King Edward VII., the Peacemaker, was taken with stately pomp this morning from Buckingham Palace on the first stage of the journey to the grave, and now lies in state in Westminster Hall, where hundreds of thousands will pay a last tribute to the dead monarch before the march through the streets of the capital on Friday.

THE PROCESSION.

The procession from Buckingham Palace to Westminster Hall passed through double lines of red-coated soldiers, flanked by rows of stalwart policemen, and a mass of silent black-garbed humanity. The buildings along the route were heavily draped with mourning.

The German and other embassies in Carlton House terrace were covered with funeral pall of black and purple, occasionally by green, and bouquets of white lilies.

GUNS BOOM SALUTE.

The first intimation that the crowd, which had been waiting for hours, had of the approach of the funeral cortege was the booming of the first of 68 minute guns, which were fired at St. James' Park, followed by the tolling of "Big Ben," the great bell in the clock tower of the House of Commons, which heretofore has been heard only as it struck the hours, and the roll of muffled drums.

WITH SWORDS REVERSED.

Then a guardsman, with sword reversed, came down the Mall at measured tread, two other guardsmen following close behind. Then came the officers of the headquarters staff, the army council and the board of admiralty. As these appeared the troops came to a half salute, with reversed swords, and remained until Field Marshals Lord Roberts and Lord Kitchener of Khartoum, the admirals of the fleet, the Indian orderlies officers in black uniforms, and the aides-de-camp of the late King passed.

"REST ON YOUR ARMS."

As the gun carriage, on which the casket was borne, approached, the order, "Rest on your arms," was given sharply. With heads bowed the soldiers kept their eyes on the ground while the body of their late King passed by, coming to attention again for the royal standard, which was carried immediately behind the casket and in front of King George, who, like the officers and other members of royalty, was at foot.

THE ROYAL MOURNERS.

The Duke of Cornwall and Prince Albert, in the uniforms of naval cadets, followed their father, King Frederick of Denmark and King Haakon, with the Duke of Connaught between them, came next, and then followed the other members of the British and foreign royal families in their gorgeous uniforms, the only touch of mourning being the black bands on the sleeves of their coats. An array of officers of the late King's household, nearly all of them in bright uniforms, but a few of them in mourning dress, followed.

INTEREST IN ALEXANDRIA.

The greatest interest of the crowd was aroused at the approach of the first carriage, for in this rode the Queen-Mother, to whom the hearts of all Britishers have gone out during the past week. Her majesty wearing the deepest mourning, had lifted her veil, and the people reverentially raised their hats to the pathetic figure who, even in the hour of her great grief, acknowledged the silent testimony of sympathy by bowing her head. The Queen-Mother was accompanied by her sister, the Dowager Empress Marie of Russia, and her daughters, Princess Royal and Princess Victoria.

THE STATE CARRIAGES.

Queen Mary occupied the second state carriage, having for the occasion surrendered the first place to which as Queen she was entitled. Her majesty was preceded by the sovereign's escort and 1,000 sailors along the route, but in the procession itself the largest body of uniformed men was the massed bands of the Guard's regiments, numbering 250, which played funeral marches.

THE FUNERAL MARCH.

Upon leaving Buckingham Palace a corps of 60 drums played a special introduction, at the conclusion of which the massed band took up "Bethoven's Funeral March." The most striking feature of the music was provided by a body of 40 players, who played "Flowers of the Forest" as the procession passed Marlborough House, the music bringing tears to the eyes of many in the great crowd. During the Horse Guards' parade the bands played "Chopin's Marche Funebre," and as the procession approached Westminster Hall the strains of Handel's "Dead March from Saul" were heard. Arrived at Westminster the gun carriage stopped, the palls were removed and the bearer company, composed of Life Guards, lifted the casket and carried it into the hall.

The dominating characteristic of the procession was the impressive simplicity. There were 12,000 troops, foot and mounted, and 1,000 sailors along the route.

EARTHQUAKE HORRORS BEAT THE GOLD CURE

Hundreds of the Costa Rican Drunkards Have Turned Over a New Leaf.

[Associated Press.]

Port Limon, Costa Rica, May 17.—Following 200 earthquake shocks since April 3, with violent eruptions from the volcano Poas, a wave of reform has swept over this republic. Hundreds of drunkards have been reformed and reckless youths have vowed to live better lives.

Conditions are horrible in the extreme throughout the quake zone. Long trenches are being dug and the dead are hurried along to the cemetery as soon as the carts engaged in picking up the bodies are full. The Guatemalan representative to the peace court at Cartago, whose wife and children were killed, has gone insane.

BOY RESCUES BABY FROM THE FLAMES

Saves Little Brother After Grown Ups Had Been Asleep.

Detroit, May 18.—Dudley Lapine, 13 years old, made a hero of himself by rescuing his two-year-old baby brother from their burning home after the children's mother and a neighbor had been driven back by the flames and given the child up for lost. The little boy had the presence of mind to throw his coat over his head. With this protection he groped his way through the smoke and came staggering out with the little one safe in his arms. The bed clothing had protected the infant from being burned and the boy rescuer escaped with painful, though not serious, burns.

HENRY HERBERT DEAD.
Walkerville, Ont., May 17.—Henry Herbert, 72 years old, proprietor of the Riverside Hotel in Sandwich, is dead of cancer. Mr. Herbert was a practical fisherman and farmer for many years. He and Alex. Campeau rented fishing privileges at Belle Isle from the city of Detroit for nearly a quarter of a century. Mr. Herbert leaves a widow and nine children.

EMPLOYERS REFUSED THE MEN'S ADVANCES

It Is Said That a Compromise Agreement Is Now Being Gone Into.

There is little new in the cigar-makers' strike. Yesterday the committee interviewed the manufacturers and discussed the new schedule of rates. None of them accepted the union's terms. A compromise agreement is being formulated, and the question is being taken up with the international executive. The basis of the compromise could not be learned, but it is understood that a reduction in the bill asked for will be made. It is possible that the demand for a clean table may be abandoned.

LOCAL CIGARMAKERS OFF FOR NEW YORK

Employers Will Look Up Labor-Saving Machinery in That City.

A committee from the cigar manufacturers left today for New York, where they will interview the different manufacturers of cigar-making machinery. Tests will be made in many shops, and if the results are satisfactory, it is probable that several will be purchased.

In the meantime, negotiations to call off the strike will be delayed, it is said, until a report is received.

NEW CATTLE RATE.

Ottawa, May 17.—For cattle shipments between Toronto and Smith's Falls the railway commission today ordered a rate of 14 cents instead of the present rate of 17 cents per hundred-weight.

An Overburdened Mother

There is a certain hen, residing on a certain small farm on the Hamilton road, just outside the city limits, that is one of the most overburdened of mothers.

Some time ago she hatched out nine beautiful chicks. The same day two incubators which had been at work brought out 175 birds.

The hen, being a poor hand at arithmetic, and possessing an open heart, imagined herself the mother of the whole tribe, and daily she does her best to keep order in the family, and scratch for the 184 little birds.

When she croons to them, a perfect avalanche of broilers races in her direction. When she seeks repose, she is almost smothered under brand new chickens.

When an Advertiser man saw her she was doing her best to get her wings over all the chickens, but in a minute she looked like a well-decorated miniature pyramid of spring fowl.

DRUGGIST ARRAIGNED TODAY FOR SELLING CANDY ON SUNDAY

After Hearing the Evidence Police Magistrate Love Decided to Postpone His Decision for a Week—The Case as Presented.

The charge laid by Chief Williams against Lawrence Stevenson, of the Grand Opera House Pharmacy, of breaking the Lord's Day act by selling chocolates to Bert Fenech and Joseph Catalano on Sunday afternoon, March 20, was laid at the police court this morning, and after hearing the evidence Magistrate Love reserved his decision for a week.

Mr. Stevenson has yet to appear on another charge of breaking the Lord's Day act by selling gum on the same Sunday to Newton Maloney, a boy of 12. It is understood that the defence will be that gum is a medicine, and as such Mr. Stevenson had a right to sell it.

The Evidence.
Bert Fenech, aged 15, first called, stated that on March 20 P. C. Ewen came and took some candy from him. He had gotten the candy in Stevenson's drug store from Mr. Stevenson himself about 4 o'clock that afternoon.

Mr. McEvoy produced the former evidence taken before Mayor Beattie, and asked witness why he had sworn that his father had told him the policeman said that Stevenson said that if witness had gotten any candy he had stolen it. Witness said he didn't say that, but that his father had said he saw it in the paper that Stevenson had said that.

There was a lively argument between Chief Williams, Magistrate Love and Mr. McEvoy because the latter continued to press this question, and the court finally ruled that Mr. McEvoy was wasting time, and that he could not allow him to do so any more.

Joseph Catalano, who was with Fenech, said the chocolate was bought by Bert Fenech from Mr. Stevenson. Witness stated that another lad, named Maloney, bought some gum. Witness said that when P. C. Ewen went back with Fenech and himself and asked Stevenson if he had sold the boys the chocolate, Stevenson said he had not.

Policeman's Testimony.
P. C. Ewen stated that he saw the boys eating the chocolate and took them back to the store, and asked Mr. Stevenson if he had sold it to them. Stevenson said he had not sold it to them. He asked the boys if Stevenson Continued on Page Eight.

ONLY GREY ST. CROSSING WILL BE CONSIDERED

Railway Commission Will Not Take Up Other Questions Affecting London.

The Dominion railway commission at their session in Toronto tomorrow will not consider any case so far as London is concerned, save that of the Grey street crossing over the London and Port Stanley.

Ald. Rose thought it would be a good thing to bring all the crossings in the city to the attention of the commission, but it was discovered by City Solicitor Meredith this morning that it would be impossible to discuss anything save the Grey street crossing, about which they have a report from their expert.

"The only question to be discussed will be that of the Grey street crossing," said Mayor Beattie. "Other matters will not be considered."

"If we desire to make an appeal to the railway commission to settle all level crossing questions, we can do so, but the council would have to come to some conclusion on that score. That would open up track elevation, rather a big problem at this time."

TICKETS CANNOT BE INTERCHANGEABLE

[G. N. W. Dispatch.]
Ottawa, May 17.—The C. P. R. and G. T. R. today made application to the railway commission to have tickets between Toronto and Hamilton interchangeable; that is, that the tickets of one company be good on the trains of the other, where both use the same track. The board refused on the ground that a company can collect tolls only where it has filed a tariff.

GOTHAM PREPARES FOR COMET NIGHT

The Tenderloin Expects to Have a Joyous Time.

FOREIGNERS TERRIFIED

Wednesday Night's Astral Crisis Will Not Originate a Cataclysm.

[Associated Press.]

New York, May 17.—Unusual preparations are being made to celebrate "comet night," as tomorrow evening already has come to be known, and if the fiery tail of the astral visitor originates a cataclysm, it is bound to be preceded by much joy.

According to official figures the earth will pass through the centre of the comet's tail at 11:20 p.m., eastern time, but as the comet will then be directly between the sun and the earth it will be visible only to persons at points in the Pacific Ocean and Australia. However, some astronomers anticipate something unusual in this atmosphere, and wireless operators along the coast and the great lakes have been asked to make careful observations.

The Tenderloin Prepares.
The large hotels and restaurants in New York are making preparations for the reception of numerous patrons, and the theatres schedule special comet programmes. The manager of one East Side theatre, aiming to reap the benefit of the comet, has announced today that he will "blow an atmosphere of pure oxygen" into his auditorium on Wednesday evening, and will have medical advisers present. The effect of an atmosphere of pure oxygen would possibly be such as to require the presence of medical advisers.

Foreigners in Terror.
There is little apprehension of a catastrophe among most New Yorkers, but in some of the foreign colonies the approach of Wednesday evening's crisis is being awaited with feelings of superstitious terror. Prof. S. A. Mitchell, of Columbia University, will leave today for the Normandy School for the benefit of the students. Dean Davis, Rev. A. K. Birks, Rev. Mr. Walker and Rev. J. G. Stuart will officiate.

A Special Sermon.
At 8:45 Friday morning a special memorial service will be held in the Normandy School for the benefit of the students. Dean Davis, Rev. A. K. Birks, Rev. Mr. Walker and Rev. J. G. Stuart will officiate.

SEVENTH REGIMENT OFFICERS MAY REFUSE THAT $400 GRANT

"City's Own" Says the Council Has Treated London Regiment Shamefully—County Now Gives $1,200 a Year to the Twenty-Sixth Regiment—Row Over Band Money.

The Seventh Regiment Band may refuse to give any concerts this year, being thoroughly dissatisfied with the division of the band concert money by the council last night.

Other steps may be taken to prevent the Twenty-Sixth Regiment Band being called in that name, and compelling them to be called a "Citizens' Band."

The matter will be taken up with Col. Hodgins, D.O.C. Some announcement will be made shortly as to the result.

"We are thoroughly dissatisfied with the council," said Lieut.-Col. Campbell to The Advertiser. "We cannot bring ourselves to think the division equitable, and the shabbiness of the council is one of the many obstacles we have to contend with in this city in keeping our regiment up to proper strength."

Only City Regiment.
"We are the only city regiment, and I am sure we ought to be encouraged. The county of Middlesex recognizes its regiment, the Twenty-Sixth, and gives a grant of $1,200 a year to it."

In London we cannot get even the band money. We give concerts without number. Take last night, for an example. We had a route march, that was certainly pleasing to a large number of citizens. At the Armories the band gave a short concert at which a large number were present. That does not happen once or twice, but is constant. The Twenty-Sixth Regiment is not a military band in the true sense. They do not wear a uniform, but it is simply a citizens' band, and one or more organizations in the city have as much right to demand and receive a grant as that body.

"The county council would not give us a grant if we asked them, and I do not think the city should give the county regiment band a grant."

"I do not know what definite action will be taken, but the disposition of the officers is to refuse the grant absolutely, and give no concerts. The officers now pay out $1,200 a year of their own pockets for the band, and we might as well pay the difference and refuse to give concerts for the city."

Meeting To Be Held.
A meeting will be held in the near future at which definite action will be taken. Arrangements may be made with the London street railway to give a series of concerts at Springbank Park, as it is felt that the regiment would be a drawing-card there.

Other plans are also being formulated, and it is quite likely that the city council will be with its support. "Why, Sarnia would give us $200 to spend two days up there, and London will give us little more for all the entertainment and music we furnish the citizens," said Capt. Little. "It is not fair at all. It is a humiliating position to put the regiment."

Some Hot Shot.
"The kindness of Col. Campbell alone makes it possible for the Twenty-Sixth Regiment Band to be located in London," said another officer. "If he so desired, he could order the band removed from the city, as Strathroy is the headquarters of the regiment, not London. Col. Campbell could order the band out of the city, and the members would be compelled to lose that employment and money by the removal of the band to some other place. He has not done so. Strathroy is also trying at this very moment to induce the county council to withdraw its support from the city hospital and establish a county hospital in Strathroy. We have always treated the county fairly, and we have no been as much right to demand and receive a grant as that body."

William Ryan Sues for Injuries He Received in a Grain Elevator at Sarnia.

A writ for $5,000 has been issued against the G. T. R. by Mr. J. N. Faulds in favor of Wm. Ryan. The plaintiff was injured at Sarnia in a grain elevator, a plank falling on his foot.

A high court action and will probably come up in the fall.

TO INVESTIGATE POLICE COURT MONEY

Attorney-General's Department Thinks It Gets Into Wrong Channels Sometimes.

Toronto, May 17.—The city council of Chatham has placed itself in a somewhat anomalous position in paying the fine of a local dog-catcher, convicted of assault.

The dog-catcher, who is alleged to have been in the employ of the city, was convicted before the magistrate, Mr. M. Houston, and fined $15. Some local influence was presumably exercised, and at a subsequent meeting of the civic fathers they solemnly passed a resolution remitting the fine.

The facts of the case were published and came to the attention of an Attorney-General, who instituted an inquiry. The offence coming under the code, the council, had, of course, no authority in the matter. The fine—small as it was—could only be remitted on the order of the Minister of Justice, or by the consent of the province, to which it would revert under the law, while the members of the council would become accountable to the city if the fine were repaid from the civic coffers.

Mr. J. W. Mallon, inspector of legal officers, has been instructed to investigate closely the appropriation of all fines in the various municipalities to avoid their payment by police court clerks into erroneous channels. All penalties under the code, come from the provincial treasury, while fines for infractions of bylaws alone go to the municipalities.

Alexandra's Tribute Has Place of Honor On Edward's Bier.

London, May 17.—(Whit Monday, 1910, as seen in London differs from its predecessors, inasmuch as it presented a much more chastened aspect than usual.

The inhabitants of the city hastened out of town, glad at heart to quit for a time the sombre-hued city and revel in the verdant freshness of the countryside.

A number of privileged persons, including members of the diplomatic service attached to the court of St. James' and intimate friends of the late King went to the throne room at Buckingham Palace, where the body of Edward VII. is lying in state. All the visitors paid the usual respect to the dead monarch.

A wealth of wreaths surround the catafalque and at the head of the casket there is a magnificent cross of white and mauve orchids, which is Queen Alexandra's own contribution. Among the floral tributes there is a wreath tied with ribbons of the Austrian national colors, which was sent by Emperor Francis Joseph.

The impression of the throne room, with its coloring of crimson and white, which is always one of great space, has been heightened by the removal of all the furniture. A temporary altar stands beneath a heavy fringed canopy, which is banked at the sides with a profusion of hydrangea, while on the altar there are four vases containing white lilies.

WRECKED BY BLOW OF A WHALE'S TAIL

Ship's Bow Stove In, Crew Camps on Shore.

Juneau, Alaska, May 17.—An unusual disaster was suffered by the whaler Sorenson, owned by the Tyee Whaling Company, of San Francisco, which was wrecked by a blow of a whale's tail off Cape Carmaney last Thursday. The harpooned whale crushed the hull of the whaler, so that the vessel sank in four minutes. All the crew escaped in small boats. The large whale was harpooned but after taking out much rope, it came back directly for the vessel. Passing under the stern it delivered a blow with its tail that smashed the hull, letting water in in floods. The crew camped on the shore and were picked up the following night. The whale was found dead next day.

CONVICTED BY HIS OWN STORY

Hyde's Testimony Brought Him Life Behind Bars.

CYANIDE TALE DOUBTED

Jurors Could Not Believe Doctor Had Forgotten Where He Bought the Drug.

Kansas City, May 16.—Dr. B. Clark Hyde, whom a jury today found guilty of slaying Col. Thomas H. Swope by poison, and sentenced to life imprisonment, owes his conviction to his own testimony on the witness stand, according to a statement made tonight by W. C. Crone, the juror who decided the physician's fate after nearly three days of balloting.

Until Saturday night Mr. Crone and Juror Johnson, a farmer, held out for acquittal against the rest of the jury. Remembering Dr. Hyde's demeanor on the stand, Mr. Crone finally decided the physician's fate by voting for conviction and persuading Mr. Johnson to do the same.

"Dr. Hyde was his own worst enemy in the trial," said Mr. Crone tonight. "His own testimony convicted him."

Cyanide Story Doubted.

"When Dr. Hyde said he had bought cyanide for ten years, and yet could not remember where he bought it, he damned himself as a witness. If he had not testified as he did, I think he would not be in the position he is in. At first I believed Hyde innocent, and until Sunday night I voted to acquit him. Then I recalled his testimony about his cyanide purchases and I decided he was guilty. I told Mr. Johnson I had changed my vote and I talked about my decision. I think my reasoning had an effect on him."

Mr. Crone's son, Albert, was recently sentenced to 18 years in the penitentiary for killing Bertha Bowler, his sweetheart.

The return of the verdict today was marked by an absence of dramatic features. Mrs. Hyde cried when she heard the verdict in the court room. Dr. Hyde did not change his usual stoical appearance.

Mrs. Logan O. Swope was unnerved when, at her home in Independence, she heard the outcome, but she soon regained her composure. It was what she had been fighting for, and she was satisfied, she said.

Believes Verdict Just. "If I had not been satisfied I was going right," she said, "I would never have started this prosecution of my son-in-law. I am convinced justice has been given the defendant. Of course, it does not behoove me to say whether I want to see him hanged."

"As for a reconciliation with my daughter, I stand now as I have always stood. The doors of my house and my arms and heart are open to her whenever she wants to come home. My mother-love for her has never cooled. I have thought she was mistaken, but never that she was other than the sweet, innocent girl she is."

But Mrs. Hyde is not going back to her mother. She is still loyal to her husband and confidently believes the supreme court will free him. She is going to take up his fight immediately and battle on until he is freed or her funds are exhausted, she says.

"Clark is innocent, and he shall be freed," she declared.

which a mounted policeman was seated became frightened at the music at the circus and plunged forward. There was a large crowd of women and children waiting close by to go into the matinee performance. When they saw the horse coming toward them, some one shouted "A lion is loose!" and immediately the panic occurred. Women and children screamed and ran in all directions, scores of the women running into yards and jumping through windows in their frantic efforts to reach places of safety.

In the scramble a number of baby carriages were overturned and a number of small children were knocked down and trampled upon. It was seven of these children that were removed to the city hospital, while others were taken to their homes.

The policeman managed to get his horse checked after he had gone a few yards, but it was then too late to stem the tide of rushing women and children. It was some time before they could be made to understand the cause of the panic, and many of them refused to go into the circus, being too badly scared.

KING'S PHYSICIAN FOR THE COLONEL

Examines Mr. Roosevelt's Throat at the Suggestion of George V.

London, May 17.—During his visit at Marlborough House yesterday Col. Roosevelt's hoarseness was so noticeable that King George inquired anxiously as to its cause, suggesting that the colonel consult a physician without delay. At the same time he recommended to him St. Clair Thompson, the celebrated specialist, who was summoned to attend his majesty's late father soon after the latter's recent return from Biarritz, when it was discovered that Edward's attack of bronchitis was assuming a serious phase. The King volunteered personally to arrange for a consultation with Dr. Thompson. As a result, Roosevelt's throat was examined by Dr. Thompson late last evening at Dorchester House while the guests were gathered for the dinner with Ambassador and Mrs. Reid.

TREATMENT OF LAW BREAKERS.

The chief of police of Cleveland, Mr. Kohler, is a strong advocate of the policy of not making what he calls useless arrests of petty first-offenders. He would even go so far as to extend that principle to the treatment of convicted criminals. His theory, based on long experience, is that the disgrace of arrest often confirms the victim in a criminal career, when considerate action by the police would spare that humiliation and serve as a sufficient warning.

In the course of an address before the National Association of Chiefs of Police at Birmingham this week, Chief Kohler boldly declared that no person, whatever his crime, should be sentenced to a definite term of imprisonment, inasmuch as it simply resolves the punishment into a vengeful waiting for the expiration of the period and turns the convict loose upon society with hatred in his heart, robbed of self-respect and with his record a bar between him and any attempt to begin life anew. Mr. Kohler argues, on the other hand, that if the terms were indeterminate, depending solely upon a reformation of the prisoner, to be proved before a court of rehabilitation, he would have every motive to turn from evil. The hardened criminal or habitual offender would find his record insuperable. Chief Kohler's idea is that since the man has forfeited his place in society by his acts he should be compelled to regain it by his own act, and having done so, no stigma should attach to his banishment.

Better than the indeterminate sentence is the fixed sentence, combined with a wise administration of the parole and probation system. There is some merit in the fixed sentence, because of its exemplary effect upon the public mind, if not upon the prisoner. If prisoners convicted of offenses of greatly varying degrees of criminality are sentenced for indeterminate periods, many people would get the impression that the worst malefactors escaped as lightly as the petty offender. The determinate sentence is at least a measure of the enormity of an offense, and it has a moral influence upon the community. After that, the prisoner's behavior should be a factor in reducing his term of imprisonment. The parole system has, so far, worked well in this country.

EGYPTIAN UNREST.

The existence of discontent and sedition in a menacing degree in Egypt is admitted in the annual report of Sir Eldon Gorst, British agent and consul-general in that country. The murder of Boutros Pasha, the prime minister, two months ago, Sir Eldon says, was due to the pernicious influence of the native press and a morbid state of public mind. The murderer had no personal grudge against his victim, nor was he acting under the influence of religious fanaticism. In defence of his deed he merely repeated the accusations which have in and out of season been alleged against Boutros, in violent and threatening language, in the columns of the Nationalist press. Sir Eldon has no hesitation in saying that the leaders of the Nationalist party are morally responsible for the murder. For years past they have fomented and promoted these attacks in full knowledge of the fact that their words could not fail to stir the ignorant and excitable youths to whom they were addressed to acts of violence which they now pretend to deplore. The consul-general declares the unofficial and upper and middle classes are mixed up in the agitation. Since the murder the tone of the press has been even worse than before, toleration being often construed to mean weakness. The press laws have been applied in several cases to articles that incited to crime.

The large land owners and their followers have no love for the British, but they appreciate the prosperity and security British rule has brought, and would rather put up with it so long as it is strong and efficient than trust to native government.

Sir Eldon Gorst is in a difficult position. He believes it to be the duty of Great Britain to aid Egypt toward self-government, but he sees that Egypt is not yet able to walk alone.

In the meantime Egyptian nationalism grows stronger and more violent, and tends to postpone the time when British tutelage can safely be withdrawn. This is the problem for British statesmanship, not only in Egypt, but in India.

UNCLE SAM'S WEAKNESS AT SEA.

In one of the American magazines, Representative Humphrey, of the house committee on merchant marine and fisheries, draws attention to the fact that while nationally the people of the United States claim to be the wealthiest in the world, less than eight per cent of their own trade is carried under the Stars and Stripes. He considers it most humiliating that not a single United States vessel now goes regularly to the Philippines; that not an American vessel was available when needed to carry United States soldiers to Cuba a short time ago, and that they had to be sent in a foreign ship; that it was with the greatest difficulty an American steamer was found to carry President Taft to the mouth of the Mississippi recently, while the river was filled with foreign ships, and that though Uncle Sam has a naval station on one of the Samoan islands, the only means of communicating with it during the past three years has been by foreign ships. "A short time ago," says Mr. Humphrey, "we sent our navy around the world, but we could not do it until other nations had consented to furnish us with ships to carry the coal. During every mile of this tour our navy was completely at the mercy of foreign vessels, for at the first hostile gun these foreign ships would have left our magnificent battleships where they were, and they would have been more helpless than if these foreign vessels had carried away their guns, for they would have been unable to proceed on their journey, neither could they have returned home. In our country we speak of this trip of our navy as parading our power. While in fact we advertise to the whole world our weakness." The writer declares, further, that if war were begun on the Pacific today the United States battleship fleet could not leave the harbor on the Atlantic in which it is anchored, as under the neutrality laws foreign ships then could not carry the coal, and sufficient American coal-carrying vessels do not exist. In case of war 240 vessels would be needed for the army, yet not 25 for army use are today under the flag. Even if international law permitted the purchase of foreign vessels in time of war, every first-class foreign vessel is under contract prohibiting its sale.

Mr. Humphrey points out that on the seas today engaged exclusively in the foreign trade, there is but one American steam vessel that receives assistance from the Government at Washington, and asserts that there is not a first-class vessel afloat that does not receive assistance from some government. "Every nation that has a merchant marine," he says, "gives it assistance," and he asks, "Is it not time for Americans to get into the game?" Representative Humphrey fails, perhaps purposely, to explain the disappearance of the American merchant marine from the high seas. Ships cannot be built in American yards as cheaply as in Europe, because of the exactions of the steel trust, and of the high cost of everything that goes into the construction of a vessel in the United States. As American register is forbidden to ships built abroad, and as Americans cannot afford to build them at home except for the coasting trade of which they have a monopoly, the American flag has been almost swept from the ocean. This could be remedied by allowing foreign-built ships to come under American registry free of charge or duty, but the American shipbuilders claim their share of protection. The admission of materials free of duty would be another remedy, but the steel trust will not hear of it. As a result the Americans pay two hundred million dollars a year to other countries, principally Great Britain, to carry goods to and from the United States. Representative Humphrey favors the plan of subsidizing American carriers; in other words, taking money out of the pockets of all the people to put it into the pockets of a few ship owners. Even protectionist Germany builds up her merchant marine by a policy of free ships, but the United States is too enthralled to the protected interests to copy her wisdom.

NOTHING THRILLING, BUT—

The really distinctive feature of our history, in recent years, at least, is the absence of sensational incidents. It was our good fortune to be able to convert feeble and isolated provinces into a country of imperial extent almost without a show of physical force. If for this reason our history lacks the thrilling interest that belongs to battlefields, it nevertheless has a distinctive interest, and is well worthy of study by all who watch the progress of free institutions and of civilization.

AGAIN THE COMET.

Those who enjoy the new sensation of blaming the comet for all that happens should make the most of their opportunity. It will only last a couple of weeks more, and it will not be back for a long time.

CANADA AND THE STATES.

A limited reciprocity treaty might be arranged, covering certain products of Canada and the United States, and leaving each country to deal as it pleased with products coming over the seas. But the simplest way is the reduction of duties by tariff legislation. Without exception, discriminating in favor of Canada, the United States could reduce the duties on goods imported mainly from Canada. But we hardly expect this to be done, except by a general change of tariff sentiment in the United States. So long as it is generally believed that prosperity depends upon a high tariff wall, it is very difficult to pick out articles here and there, and admit them at a low rate of duty for purposes of reciprocity.

FRENCH-CANADIAN LOYALTY.

The expression of the Province of Quebec toward the mother country, dealing with the death of Edward VII. and the accession to the throne of his son, George V., is as tender and appreciative as anything that has appeared in print. As Mr. Bourassa remarked, in the resolution, it is worthy of note that the first public expression of homage to the new sovereign came from the provinces of the empire which were represented by French-Canadians.

To make sure the youngster was not disobeying the bass fishing law, the game warden took his string of fish out of the water and found only catfish, perch and suckers on the line. PERHAPS.

"I have no opinion of these new-fangled women's notions," said Mr. Hyde when his wife finally expressed her desire to join the Women's Self-Improvement Society.

"But we learn so much there," ventured Mrs. Hyde.
"Don't believe it," snapped Mr. Hyde. "Women don't know much, that's a fact, but let 'em stick to their domestic duties and learn them. That's my opinion. Let 'em follow St. Paul's instruction—stay at home and ask their husbands if they want to know anything."
"But, John—"
"I've settled it, and that's enough, Jane."

Could Not Sleep.

DOCTOR SAID HEART AND NERVES WERE RESPONSIBLE.

There is many a man and woman tossing night after night upon a sleepless bed.

Their eyes do not close in the sweet and refreshing repose that comes to those whose heart and nerves are right. Some constitutional disturbance, worry or disease has so debilitated and irritated the nervous system, that it cannot be quieted and causes nightmare, bad dreams, starting in the sleep, twitching of the muscles, restlessness, etc.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are a specific for all people troubled in this way. They have a soothing and calming effect on the nervous system.

Mrs. Calvin Stark, Rosemont, Ont., writes:—"About two years ago I began to be troubled with a smothering sensation at night when I would lie down. I got so bad I could not sleep in the dark, and would have to sit up and rub my limbs, they would become so numb. My doctor said my heart and nerves were responsible. I saw Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills advertised and got a box to try them. I took three boxes and can now lie down and sleep without the light burning and can rest well. I can recommend them highly to all nervous and run down women."

Price, 50 cents per box or 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct or receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

SHUNTING CAR KILLS

Like an Egg.

Gananoque, May 17.—A terrible accident occurred here at 10:30 yesterday morning by which Mrs. Robert Johnston, of Woodburn, about five miles out of town, was run over by a freight train on the Thousand Islands Railway and killed.

She didn't notice a train being shunted, and as she drove across the tracks the buggy was caught and crushed like an eggshell against a telegraph pole standing close to the track. Mrs. Johnston was thrown under the car, both trucks of which passed over her body, which was horribly mutilated. PASSING OF A PIONEER

Death of Mr. Andrew Ewart, One of Plympton's Early Settlers.

A Maudsoun correspondent writes: It is with much regret that we are called upon to announce the death of one of Plympton's few remaining early settlers in the person of Andrew Ewart, sen., which occurred at his late residence, west half lot 5, con. 2, of Plympton, on Sunday, May 8. Mr. Ewart was born at Huntingdon, Quebec, and in the early days came to Plympton, where he resided continuously up to the time of his death. He was beloved for his kind-hearted disposition, and during his long illness bore his suffering with Christian fortitude, patiently waiting for his Lord and Master to give the summons.

Deceased leaves a widow, four sons and one daughter, who during his suffering ministered to his wants with increasing devotion. His sorrowing family have the sympathy of a large circle of friends.

Service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Byers, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, Maudsoun, the remains being interred in the Wyoming Cemetery Wednesday afternoon.

SICK HEADACHE

A Symptom of Troubles Which are Removed by

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills.

Sick headaches are not merely afflictions to be borne as patiently as possible—they are danger signals. They never come unless the digestive system is out of order, and their regular recurrence is proof positive of serious trouble and a warning that should be heeded promptly.

Sick headaches are caused by Indigestion, Bilio-sness or Constipation, and no amount of "headache powders" will do more than temporarily relieve them. The only way to get rid of them entirely is to cure the Constipation or Indigestion that is causing them, and nothing will do this quicker or more effectively than

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills are purely vegetable in character, and are free from any harmful drug. For over fifty years they have been in constant use in Canada, and have proved most effective in regulating the bowels, aiding digestion, banishing sick headaches and restoring vigorous health.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills have stood the test for over fifty years, 25c. at all dealers. W. H. Comstock Co., Ltd., Brockville, Ont.

STRATHROY IS ANXIOUS FOR A HOSPITAL

Would Like the County to Give Its Money and Indorsation to Project.

Strathroy wants a hospital, but is anxious that it should be a county institution.

A committee from the town of Strathroy, composed of Mayor Pope, Reeve Atkinson and Councillor Hill, waited upon a committee of the county council yesterday afternoon to induce the county, if possible, to invest in the hospital.

Strathroy has been left a bequest of $12,000 for the purpose of erecting a hospital, and the proposition is that the county council add $15,000. The deputation pointed out that private individuals had practically undertaken to furnish the building.

The advantages of Strathroy as a site for a hospital were dwelt upon at some length by the speakers. It was thought that a hospital here would draw patients from all over the western side of Middlesex.

As to the cost. The cost of non-paying patients at the Strathroy hospital would be materially reduced, as compared with the cost at Victoria Hospital, it was argued. It would also receive a provincial grant of 20 cents a day for non-paying patients, which would help considerably in the upkeep.

The councillors were not all heartily in favor of the proposition, thinking that Strathroy should be satisfied with a county loan and administer the hospital.

The Strathroy representatives stated that the town will give free water to a hospital and electric light at half rate after three years.

The county would take no definite step and promised to do nothing more than report to the whole council.

The committee representing the county was as follows: A. K. Hodgins, chairman; J. McFarlane, Geo. Innes, Warden D. S. Campbell, J. A. McGuigan.

BLIND 10 YEARS SIGHT IS RESTORED

Bridget Horn, an Associate of Florence Nightingale, Recovers Vision.

Detroit, May 17.—Totally blind for the last ten years, Bridget Horn, an aged inmate of the Windsor Home of the Friendless, is now able to see once more through what she is pleased to call a special gift from God.

Bridget, when seen in her little room in the home Monday morning by a Journal reporter, was highly elated at the restoration of her sight, and expressed a desire to obtain a close view of an automobile and an aeroplane.

Mrs. Horn has yet to see an automobile, in spite of the fact that since the recovery of her sight she has been walking about Windsor's streets.

"I have heard the automobiles going past me in the street," she said, "but I do not know what they look like. I can remember the bicycles, however, and suppose they must be something like them. I would not ride in one for the world, though. I suppose if I saw an aeroplane I would think the world was coming to an end."

Mrs. Horn was born in Ireland—she does not know how long ago—and came to America shortly after the outbreak of the civil war. She has been in Windsor 30 years and eight years an inmate of the Home of the Friendless.

She is intimately acquainted with Florence Nightingale, and saw the entire action during the Crimean war with her husband, who was killed in battle, spent her long life in the household of Florence Nightingale, who, by the way, has just celebrated her 91st birthday, and also looked after the quarters of Lord Raglan during the war.

Mrs. Horn says she retired to her bed one night a few weeks ago as usual, and that when she awoke the next morning she could distinguish objects before her. The first color she saw was her native green, with which the walls of the room are painted. This pleased her immensely.

YANKEE APPRECIATES MACKENZIE KING

Senator Lodge Writes to That Effect From Washington.

Ottawa, May 17.—Senator H. C. Lodge, the chairman of the special committee of Congress, on the "Increase in prices," has sent a letter to the labor department expressing great appreciation of Hon. OH, LOOK, WHO'S HERE!

New York, May 17.—Dr. Frederick Cook, the discredited polar explorer, is in the United States—with his wife and will issue a statement shortly, according to a sister-in-law, at her home in Brooklyn.

"Dr. Cook will explain everything," said Mrs. Cook to a reporter. "He is not stopping at any hotel in New York City, and in fact is not in New York City at all. I am in constant communication with him and it will not be more than two or three weeks before he will issue a statement that will explain his silence during the past months."

In his agony Mr. Holland thought of an old and reliable remedy which had a great reputation in this Canadian home—the famous Gin Pills.

He is now anxious to have Gin Pills put on sale in the United States in order to cure his new friends of Kidney and Bladder Troubles.

THE WOMAN'S CORNER

SAILORS, JAUNTIER THAN EVER, COME AGAIN

Have you seen the new sailor? For this favorite among hats is come back to us once more. It promises to be the millinery craze of the season. And no matter how many other hats you may happen to have, you will surely conclude that you need some kind of a sailor also, when you see the late openings. The new sailors come in three styles.

The Mushroom

some one of which is sure to prove becoming. The mushroom shape seems especially designed to protect the complexion from the sun; the regulation flat sailor is jaunty only when it is worn by youth and beauty; but the roll-brimmed sailor, which is newest, can be worn by matrons as well as maids.

The curve of the new brim is truly classic, and the hat even admits of leather or flower trimming, which the flat sailor does not. Braids are both very coarse and very fine. For trimming the strictly tailored style velvet ribbon in vivid green, chamois red or Mediterranean blue is preferred.

An old-fashioned remedy for chilblains is potato-water. Boil potatoes without salt. Save water. Let cool, put feet in and leave until the stinging pain is gone.

Casoline is the best of cleaners for wash bowls and bathtubs that have become stained.

A good way to brighten colors in a carpet is to wipe it with a flannel cloth wrung out of warm water containing a little ammonia.

If a kettle burns dry take it from the stove, place at once in cold water and the food will not taste burned.

Lemon Scones. For afternoon tea try these delicious scones: Four cups flour, three level teaspoons of cream of tartar, and one slightly smaller teaspoonful of baking soda, thoroughly blended with a knife, two tablespoonfuls of butter, half a teaspoonful of salt, two tablespoonfuls of granulated sugar, four tablespoonfuls of finely-shaved lemon peel, quarter of a teaspoonful of essence of lemon. Mix the dry ingredients; add the essence to two small cups of water, as that will be about the quantity needed. If more is needed to make a soft dough use it, but in a case of this kind it is easier to add to than to take from. Divide the dough into four pieces; turn each out on a floured board, pat into a round cake, and roll slightly to half an inch thick. The knack of handling dough with a light hand, and of knowing how much liquid is needed comes only with practice, and cannot be given in directions. The best way is to watch an experienced hand at it, and then you will "catch on." Brush the top of the scones with milk, and bake in a quick oven until brown under and on top.

FADS OF FASHION

An important dress detail that is recurring with persistency is the introduction of black pipings. They are used to emphasize the important lines of a costume. The bolero line that is certainly creeping into the newest models of the season is successfully suggested by pipings. The extended yoke frequently can be emphasized by narrow pipings that cross the bodice or the sleeves. The value of a touch of black can never be overestimated. Pippings afford excellent opportunity for this touch that frequently holds the different tones of a color scheme together in one effective whole.

Turbans closely imitating Oriental styles are much worn in Paris, and are rapidly becoming popular here. They come as a relief from the extremely large hats and the small, closely-fitting toques occupies a place which cannot be filled by any other shape. Of simple straw, so soft that there seems to have been little difficulty experienced in plaiting it into the brim, the turban, swathed with Persian silks, speaks for itself of the possibilities of color and form. But the predominance in this model, while a rose of old-gold silk nestles in green leaves at one side. The hair forms a soft resting place for the entire form.

The Russian influence is still felt in outdoor toilets, though, as the weather grows warmer, the double-breasted coat is modified by leaving off the collar and having a V-shaped opening at the neck, which is very becoming to nearly all figures.

Light colored broadcloths are meeting with great favor for evening wraps and caps.

"THE MESSAGE"

BY LOUIS TRACY

Author of
"THE WINGS OF THE MORNING,"
"THE WHEELS OF FORTUNE."

In her eagerness the girl tried to rise to her feet. "Sit still, miss," growled Peter, laboring mightily. "Judging by the position of that other craft, an' from wot I know of Mr. Warden, there'll be a devil of a bump in 'arf a tick." "Starboard a point," cooed Warden, on his knees in the bows. "Steady as she goes." Suddenly he sprang upright. "Hard a-starboard!" he cried, and leaped overboard.

A yell from the boat, a sharp crack as an oar-blade snapped against the sturdy ribs of the dinghy, and the two boats shot past each other. Peter's prompt obedience to orders having averted a collision.

"My godfather!" he roared, "e 'ad to jump for it. But don't you worry, miss—e can swim like a herring!" "Nevertheless," Warden said, as her white face and straining eyes well showed, Peter swung the dinghy about so nimbly that she lost all sense of direction. It seemed as if the laughing Soudier had snatched Warden and she gazed affrightedly on every side but the right one.

"Oh, how could he do it?" she wailed. "I shall never forgive myself."

"Then she heard a deep breath from the water behind her, and she turned to see Warden, with blood streaming from a gash across his forehead, swimming easily with one hand. She whisked round and knelt on the seat.

"Come here, I can hold you."

"Please do not be alarmed on my account," he said coolly. "I fear I look rather ghastly, but the injury is nothing, a mere glancing blow from an oar."

Even in her unnerved condition she could not fail to realize that he was in no desperate plight. But she was very frightened, and gazed at him anxiously, when his fingers rested on the stern rail. Yet even under such trying circumstances, she was helpful.

Though half sobbing, and utterly distressed, she dipped her handkerchief in the water and stooped until she could wash the wound sufficiently to reveal its extent. He was right. The skin was broken, but the cut had no depth.

"Why did you behave so madly?" she asked with quivering lips.

"It was method, not madness, fair maid," he said, smiling up at her. "Our opponents had four cars, and a light motor, and I had only two and a chance, that is as broad as it is long. To equalize the handicap I had to jump, else you would have lost your prize. By the way, here it is."

With a flourish he gave her a smooth, highly polished oval object, which proved to be a good deal larger than when afloat. The girl threw it into the bottom of the boat without paying the least heed to it. She was greatly flustered, and, unconsciously, ed to box Warden's ears for his absurd action.

"You have terrified me out of my wits," she gasped. "Can you climb a board?"

"That would be difficult—perhaps dangerous. Peter, pull up to the ear-sticker's ladder. Then I can regain my perch forward."

With a gasp, she gazed with an extraordinary expression of awe almost of fear, at the unusual cause of so much commotion.

"Well, sink me!" he muttered, "if that ain't a sight to behold, I'd give my head stoker's I've never seen anything like it, no, not in all my top gals. My aunt! It's ugly enough to cause a riot!"

CHAPTER II.
How the Message was Delivered.

Owing to the return of the rival boat, Peter's agitation passed into a dead. A superior person was apologizing for the accident, though inclined to tax Warden with foolhardiness.

You have only yourself to blame for that knock on the head, which might have been far more serious than it is," he said.

"Will you kindly go to—Jericho?" said the man in the water.

The cup of Peter's tons' grew more civil when he found that he was talking to one whom he condescended to regard as an equal.

"Don't you want any assistance?" he inquired.

"No thanks, unless you will allow me to use your gangway in order to climb aboard the dinghy."

"By all means, I am sorry the car caught you, but you annexed the prize, so I suppose you are satisfied. What was it?"

"A calabash, I fancy. You will see it lying in the boat."

Peter, who was really fascinated by the Greek face of health and vigor, suddenly kicked it and turned it upside down with his wooden leg. The men in the second boat saw only the glazed rim of an oval bowl, and, some twelve inches long, and eight or nine in diameter.

"The pot was hardly worth the scurry," laughed one of them.

"If Greeks once strove for a crown of olive-branches, the Englishmen for a calabash," said Warden.

There was an element of the ludicrous in the unexpected comment from a man in his predicament. Every true-born Briton resents any remark that he does not quite understand, and some among the strangers grinned.

The girl, still holding Warden's wrist as though she feared he would vanish in the depths if she let go, darted a scornful look at them.

"The truth is that these gentlemen competed because they thought they were sure to win," she cried.

"It was a fair race, madam," expostulated the leader of the yacht's boat.

Colic, Cramps, Stomach Pains. They come mightily suddenly sometimes. Are you ready with a remedy like Nerviline, that takes but a minute or two to relieve? If words could express the security and comfort Nerviline is, it is a cordial not a family in the land would go to bed without a bottle in the house. Nerviline is one of those remedies that must be used to be appreciated. It fulfills so perfectly every service a remedy against pain that once used, you're never again without it. We want you to test the extraordinary merit of Nerviline—you can test it at our risk. Nerviline is sold and guaranteed by druggists. Large size, 50 cents; trial size, 25 cents.

"Y-yes," she admitted. "My presence equalized matters." "As the men were four to two, she scored distinctly." "Give way, Peter," said Warden. "I laugh I shall swallow more salt water than is good for me." He was soon seated astride the bows of the dinghy, which Peter's strenuous arms brought quickly alongside the Sans Souci. By that time, the girls' composure was somewhat restored. Warden obviously made so light of his ducking that she did not allude to it again. As for the gourd, it rested at her feet, but she had lost all interest in it. In truth, she was annoyed with herself for having championed her new friend's cause, and thus, in a sense, condoned his folly.

It did not occur to her that the Sans Souci's deck was singularly untenanted, until a gruff voice hailed the occupants of the dinghy from the top of the gangway.

"Below there," came the cry. "Wotcher want here?"

The girl looked up with a flash of surprise in her eyes. "What?" she answered instantly.

"I am Miss Evelyn Dane, and I wish to see Mrs. Baumgartner."

"She's ashore," was the reply. "Well I must wait until she returns."

"You can't wait here."

"But that is nonsense. I have come from Oxfordshire at her request."

"It don't matter tuppence where you've come from. No one is allowed aboard. Them's my orders."

Miss Dane turned bewildered eyes on Warden.

"How can one reason with a surly person like this?" she asked.

"He is incapable of reason—he wants a hiding," said Warden.

A bewhiskered visage of the freak variety glared down at him.

"Does he, you wot?" roared the apparition, "an' e's goin' to give it 'im?"

"I am. Take this lady to the saloon, and come with me to the cutter yard. My man will bring you to your bunk in five minutes, or even less."

"For goodness' sake, Mr. Warden, do not make my ridiculous position worse," cried the girl, reddening with annoyance. "Mrs. Baumgartner wrote and urged me to see her without delay on board this yacht. I telegraphed her early this morning saying I would be here soon after midday. What am I to do?"

"If I were you I would go back to Oxfordshire," he said.

"But I cannot—at least not until I have spoken to her. I am—poor I am practically engaged as companion to her daughter, for goodness' sake, I suspect—to Mrs. Baumgartner's daughter."

NERVOUS HEADACHE

AND MUSCULAR RHEUMATISM DISAPPEARED WHEN THE NERVES WERE RESTORED BY

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

Feeble, wasted, starved nerves often make their condition known by nervous headaches. This is one of the first and most marked symptoms.

If you are at all subject to rheumatism you have noticed how much worse it gets when the system gets run down.

Both nervous headache and muscular rheumatism disappear when Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is used to rebuild and revitalize the wasted and weakened body.

Mr. James Riley, molder for the Waterbury Engine Company, 46 Jarvis street, Brantford, Ont., writes: "I suffer from years with muscular rheumatism and as I also had frequent and severe attacks of nervous headache I concluded that the trouble came from nerves and began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. As I continued this treatment the rheumatism was gradually driven out of the system, my nerves got stronger and steadier, and the headaches disappeared. I consider Dr. Chase's Nerve Food a splendid nerve regulator and health builder."

You cannot possibly make a mistake in using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food when the nervous system gets run down, for by forming new, rich blood this great food curbs built up the nerve cells as nothing else can.

When you have made up your mind to test this treatment, so at it in earnest and keep at it regularly until you feel the cable of health and vigor.

and I dare not throw away the chance of obtaining a good position."

Warden, who was dabbling his forehead with a handkerchief, did not reply at once, and Evelyn Dane, in her distress, little guessed the irrational conceit that danced in his brain just then. But the presence of Peter, and the torrent of sarcastic obfuscation that flowed from the gourd of the Sans Souci, induced restraint. It was on the tip of his tongue to suggest that, under the conditions, it would be a capital notion if they got married, and took a honeymoon cruise.

In the Nancyl Long afterward he wondered what would have been the outcome of any such fantastic proposal. Would she have listened? At any rate, it amused him at the time to think that there was little difference between a lover and a lunatic.

ENGINEERS CONVENED

Earnings From New Headquarters' Building Will Meet the Deb.

Detroit, Mich., May 17.—Members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers are delighted with their new office building in Cleveland, but they do not let sentiment interfere with business. They enjoyed themselves for two days dedicating the building, but they were on hand bright and early yesterday for the business session and took up the question of financing the enterprise.

The office building will cost a little over $120,000 when completed. Of this amount $100,000 has been paid, having been taken from the surplus fund of the order, which is a pretty concrete example of the fact that the brotherhood is enjoying prosperity. Regarding the balance due the proposition came up as to whether it should be raised by assessment or let the building pay itself out.

Earning Capacity Good.

No decision was reached, a point of order putting the matter over, but it is quite probable that the balance will be paid from the earnings of the building, which are conservatively placed at $50,000 a year. In addition to the 400 offices the building has a fine auditorium seating 1,400 and equipped with the magnificent organ. There are a number of singing societies in Cleveland which will rent the auditorium at $100 a night, and as the seats can easily be removed it will

A Storekeeper Says:

"A lady came into my store lately and said: 'I have been using a New Perfection Oil Cook-Stove all winter in my apartment. I want one now for my summer home. I think these oil stoves are wonderful. If only women knew what a comfort they are, they would all have one. I spoke about my New Perfection to a lot of my friends, and they were astonished. They thought that there was small and smoke from an oil stove, and that it heated a room just like any other stove. I told them of my experience, and one after another they got one, and now not one of them would give hers up for five times its cost.'"

The lady who said this had thought an oil stove was all right for quickly heating milk for a baby, or boiling a kettle of water, or to make coffee quickly in the morning, but she never dreamed of using it for difficult or heavy cooking. Now—she knows.

If you really appreciate what a New Perfection Oil Cook-Stove means to you? No more coal to carry, no more coming to the dinner table so tired out that you can't eat. Just light a Perfection Stove and immediately the heat from an intense blue flame shoots up to the bottom of your kettle or oven. But the room isn't heated. There is no smoke, no smell, no outside heat, no draughty air in the kitchen where one of these stoves is used.

CONSIDER ALL LEVEL CROSSINGS

City Would Like If the Dominion Railway Commission Would Do This.

GREY STREET COMING UP

Commission Will Hold a Session in Toronto on Thursday—Matter Discussed in Council.

The Dominion railway commission will hold a session in Toronto on Thursday at 10 o'clock, and among the questions to be considered is that of the level crossing over the London and Port Stanley Railway at Grey street, this city.

City Solicitor Meredith will represent London at the hearing. Ald. Rose, at the council meeting last night, pointed out that the city should make an effort to have all level crossings here considered by the commission, and Mr. Meredith will today inquire whether or not the commission will consider the whole proposition, or merely the one crossing at Grey street.

Dangerous Crossings. "There are scores of crossings in this city just as dangerous as Grey street," declared Ald. Rose. "The Grand Trunk has almost a score of them, and if the commission is going to deal with Grey street it may as well deal with them all. Egerton street crossing is a frightfully dangerous one, and so is Rectory street. They should be protected. If the Grand Trunk are not going to consider track elevation for some years they might as well be compelled first as last to protect the crossings properly. A fatal accident was avoided at Burnell street by the merest chance."

"I move, then, that City Solicitor Meredith make inquiries whether or not the commission will take up the question of level crossings at this session. We want to know if we can get a hearing for the whole matter."

Keep Them in Repair. "I second the motion," said Ald. Saunders. "Furthermore, we should see that the Grand Trunk keep their crossings in repair. They are disgraceful now. I would suggest that the opinion of the city solicitor be obtained as to the power of the city, and if the company do not repair them we should do the work, and make them pay the bill."

UNILIZING SWAMP LANDS

Drainage Demonstration in Middlesex Under O. A. C. Direction.

Ottawa, May 17.—The Ontario Agricultural College is emphasizing the value of drainage again this summer, for which purpose demonstrations are being held in many parts of the province.

The following demonstrations are announced for this county: At Mr. A. E. Perry's, concession 2, lot 9, Ekfrid Township, on Saturday, May 14, at 3 o'clock.

At Mr. W. Urquhart's, concession 1, lots 17 and 19, Ekfrid Township, on Wednesday, May 18, at 3 o'clock.

At Mr. H. McCutcheon's, concession 2, lots 3 and 4, Mosa Township, on Saturday, May 21, at 2 o'clock.

These meetings should be of special interest, as some difficult places to drain are involved. Besides the discussion of the particular problems of these farmers, there will be a demonstration of methods of finding the fall over a ditch determining the grade, digging true to grade, etc. Those interested in drainage should not miss these meetings.

Anyone wishing information about the drainage work should write Professor W. H. Day, O. A. C., Guelph.

C. E. CARRUTHERS WAS APPOINTED

Successful Young Newspaperman Named Publicity Agent by the City Council.

A VOTE OF 9 TO 3

No Serious Opposition to the Naming of Mr. Carruthers, Who Will Begin Work at Once—Salary $1,200 a Year.

Mr. Chas. E. Carruthers, a local newspaperman, was named publicity agent by the council at its session last evening.

His was the only name seriously considered by the aldermen, and his appointment was practically unanimous.

The report of the manufacturers' committee on the subject submitted two names for the position, and Ald. Underwood promptly moved that Mr. Carruthers be named. Ald. Morgan seconded the motion.

Ald. Tancock moved in amendment that a publicity agent be advertised for, and Ald. Pocock seconded the motion. They were of the opinion that much better publicity should be given to the fact that a publicity agent was required.

Ald. Richter opposed the appointment of a man at this time, declaring that there were no funds available for the purpose.

Ald. Tancock's amendment was voted down, 9 to 3, and Ald. Underwood's motion, naming Mr. Carruthers, was carried. Only one alderman voted against it. The salary was fixed at $1,200 a year, and Mr. Carruthers will begin work at once.

CITY COUNCIL PAID TRIBUTE TO DEAD

Death of Ex-Mayor Wilson Was Fittingly Referred to in a Resolution.

The death of ex-Mayor Wilson was fittingly referred to at the council meeting last night, and a resolution of sympathy was passed by a standing vote.

When the council assembled Mayor Beattie paid a tribute to Dr. Wilson's memory.

"It is my sorrowful duty to convey to you, the council of the city of London, the fact that ex-Mayor John D. Wilson has been called away," he said. "He occupied the position of chief magistrate of this city in the years 1898 and 1899. In the death of Dr. Wilson the city has sustained a distinct loss. Possessed of a fine public spirit, he allied himself with every movement for the public good, with that energy so characteristic of him. A man of great sympathies, his charity towards the poor were very great. He was one of those who believed in not letting his right hand know what his left hand did, and it is difficult to estimate the amount of good works he accomplished in his life. Personally, I feel I have lost a very good friend, and the city has lost a useful and valued citizen."

The Resolution. Ald. Richter then moved the following resolution: Whereas, it has pleased the Ruler of the Universe to remove from our midst Dr. John D. Wilson, who was mayor of the city of London in 1898 and 1899;

"And, whereas, the circumstances of his four weeks' illness, his unselfish life, his care for the sick poor, his zealous efforts on behalf of our hospitals, Canadian Club, schools and Western University, have combined to create a widespread sympathy in the public heart;

"And, whereas, his ever pleasant and cheering smile, his deep interest in the city's welfare, have endeared him to all classes of citizens;

"Be it resolved that we, the mayor and aldermen of the city of London, in council assembled, desire to express our deep sorrow and regret at his decease.

"Be it also resolved that a record of the sincere appreciation of his many excellent qualities as a physician, mayor, and public-spirited citizen be spread upon the minutes of council.

"And be it further resolved, that this council extend its deepest sympathy with the family of the deceased in their sad bereavement."

Ald. Jeffries seconded the motion, and it carried by a standing vote.

On motion of Ald. Ashplant and Ald. Eckert, the mayor was instructed to forward a suitable floral offering, and it was decided to attend the funeral in a body.

LONDON BOY WRITES FROM COSTA RICA

Tells of the Earthquake in Which Many Lives Were Lost.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Pirie, of 364 Hill street, received a letter this morning from their son Will, a London boy, who was in Cartago, Costa Rica, during the recent earthquake. He escaped without injury. Mr. and Mrs. J. Sheehy, of 274 Hamilton road, also heard from their son Frank. Both letters contain graphic descriptions of the damage done. Mr. Sheehy's letter is as follows:

Pt. Limon, May 5, 1910. Mrs. J. Sheehy, London, Ont.: Dear Mother—Just a few lines to let you know we are all safe. I suppose you have heard about the big earthquake we had here last night. It was an awful shock. It is not known as yet how many lives were lost. It is going to be a big death list. The city of Cartago was totally destroyed. It is a place of ten thousand population. That is where the Piries live. I have been trying to find out about the death list, but have had no information as yet about them. Tom McCarthy was just going into Cartago when the shock came, and a big stone church fell across the track in front of them. They then backed up to the next town and all that was left standing was the railway station. It was a place of 2,000 inhabitants. It is going to be an awful death list. We have been having shocks since the 14th of last month, but this one was the worst. I tell you, Ma, it is an awful sensation. There are a great many thousand people homeless. Tents and box cars are being used to house a lot of the people. Well, Ma, I guess this will be all. I will find out something about the Piries tomorrow. We just got a message since I started this letter that they are safe.

Your Son, FRANK.

P. S.—If you see Mrs. Pirie tell her we just got this message that they escaped.

THE EPWORTH LEAGUE FROM ITS INCEPTION

Interesting Address at a Big Rally Held in Dundas Centre Methodist Church.

The Dundas Centre Methodist Church was crowded to the doors last night for the annual rally of the London Epworth League Union.

Each church was well represented, a certain part of the church being devoted to each Epworth League.

Rev. S. L. Bartlett, general secretary of Epworth Leagues and Sunday schools throughout the Dominion, was the speaker of the evening. His address was an interesting one, tracing the history of the Epworth League from its inception to its present high standard of efficiency.

Great advancements and achievements have been made, and the speaker stated that next August at the meeting of the general conference an advanced step would be taken.

"The Epworth League means young Methodists in earnest work for God," said Mr. Bartlett. "There is no competition between it and the Sunday school, only intelligent acquaintance."

"There is need that the Epworth Leagues stand for experience. A person who is inexperienced is essential to the highest usefulness."

"Cash will never take the place of character, and it is to this end that the Epworth League is working with the hope of forming good characters. The league should always be the centre of organized activity. It is easy to turn out mechanical Christians, but they are not worth much. What we want is the full-blooded, earnest Christian, who goes into it with the right spirit."

Rev. Mr. Bartlett's address was much appreciated, and a hearty vote of thanks was moved by Rev. Richard Whiting and seconded by Rev. Mr. Hazen.

The Officers. The new officers for the year are: President, J. H. W. McRoberts, Dundas Centre; president, Alf. Jones, Wellington street; treasurer, Miss L. Templeman; secretary, Miss N. Sellers.

The new president, Mr. McRoberts, gave a short address, thanking the leaguers for electing him to the presidency.

The trophy for the most new members was won by the Hill Street Church, Miss Blanche Richardson going forward to receive it. The trophy given was a check for $10.

The program was an interesting one: Opening hymn; prayer, Rev. Dr. Manning; anthem, Dundas Centre choir; roll call; solo, Miss Hill; secretary's report, Miss Frebble; treasurer's report, J. TRUMPETERS SOUNDED "THE LAST POST"

Band of the Seventh Regiment Also Played Dead March After the Drill Monday Night.

The first parade of the Seventh Regiment since the death of King Edward VII. was held in the Armies last night, and was largely attended.

In command of Col. Campbell the men were put through a number of manoeuvres, and accompanied by both bands, they took part in a parade. The taking of the oath of allegiance to King George V. by the officers and recruits was left over until next week.

At the close of the drill, the band played the dead march, after which the last post was sounded by the trumpeters.

Col. Campbell stated to The Advertiser that the Seventh will not go away any place on May 24, but he fully anticipates a trip on Dominion Day.

The Orders. The orders for the week are as follows: All officers commanding companies will see that all time-expired N. C. men and men are engaged at once as otherwise they will not draw pay for them.

The commanding officer has confirmed Sergts. E. Walker, E. Nichols and P. Campbell to A Company.

Buglers J. Clugston and Fred Gardner have been transferred to H Company as privates.

Pte. F. C. Borden will be acting sergeant to D Company, and Pte. W. Hayes to H Company.

The following are appointed corporals: Ptes. Thos. Anderson, to F company; Pte. A. Dolan to D Company; Ptes. John Widdicombe, J. Erskine and A. C. Joseph to A Company; Ptes. Percival and H. Graham to H Company.

W. A. McCrimmon, major, acting adjutant of the Seventh Regiment Fusiliers, has made the following appointments for the week.

Captain Ingram to be commanding officer, with Lieut. Andrews next for duty.

STROUD REPLACES HIM

When Donovan Is Given a
Workout—Score 11-4.

Boston, Mass., May 16.—Almost before the game was well under way today the Red Sox were beaten, Boston indulging in such a batfist in the first inning as is seldom seen on a major league field.

Pennell, the left-hander whom Jennings secured largely for the purpose of stopping the Red Sox, started the game, and the things that were done to him it is almost a shame to mention.

He was taken out at the end of the first inning, Stroud, who had pitched a full game on Friday, and who went in almost cold, being substituted. He retired at the end of the fifth, the game being hopelessly lost at this time, and Bill Donovan was given a workout. In his three innings he was not scored on. The score:

Washington, May 16.—Washington defeated Cleveland today by 3 to 1. Reising was effective with men on bases, while Falkenberg was hit at opportune times. Gessler made the first home run for the local team this season, a drive to the extreme corner of the field.

The Railways Are Making For Fort George

You have been told that the railway lines of Central British Columbia will centre at Fort George. You have seen that the waterways of the interior converge from this point. You realize that the railways must follow the rivers in order to have feasible grades. You know that the Grand Trunk Pacific is building into Fort George from two directions. You know that other projected lines centre at Fort George, the British Columbia and Alaska Railway; the British Columbia Central Railway; the Victoria and Fort George Railway being among them. The following item reproduced from The Vancouver Province of April 29, shows the status of the British Columbia and Alaska Railway:

Another Railway British Columbia and Alaska Company Will Send Out Survey Parties Tomorrow.

Two survey parties now being organized here will leave tomorrow for Lytton to start locating a portion of the proposed line of the British Columbia and Alaska Railway Company, which was incorporated at the last session of the provincial legislature.

Mr. J. Early will have charge of one outfit of sixteen men. They will be employed between Lytton and Eagle Lake. The other engineering party will proceed direct to Fort George and then work south to Eagle Lake. As soon as this task is completed the surveyors will be transferred to the Lillooet district to locate a branch line into Vancouver. The second survey party will be in charge of Mr. E. C. Simpson. It will also number sixteen members.

Although the charter was acquired by Mr. Ralph Smalles, formerly of Greenwood, and Mr. H. B. Robertson, of Victoria, lawyer, it is understood that they simply represented the New York capitalists who are behind the enterprise. Mr. Smalles is a member of the engineering firm of Messrs. L. M. Rice & Co., which was awarded the contract for making the surveys. It is understood that the British Columbia Railway will be only a link in a big railway project, having for its object the building of a through line to Alaska. This is indicated by the fact that the company has incorporated for $12,000,000 under the laws of the State of Delaware and styled the British Columbia Railway and Development Company.

The route through British Columbia as authorized by the provincial legislature is as follows: Commencing at or near Lytton, thence following the valley of the Fraser through Lillooet to a point at or near Fort George; thence following the valley of the Stuart River to Stuart Lake and the Tackla River and Middle River to North Tackla Lake by way of Fort Connely; thence following the Skeena and Stikine Rivers to Telegraph Creek, and thence north to Teslin Lake to a point at or near the northern boundary of British Columbia; or in the alternative by the most feasible route between Lytton and Teslin Lake. The company which is incorporated for $12,000,000 is also authorized to build a branch line to Vancouver along the south side of Anderson and Seaton Lakes, and via Lillooet Lake and River.

Mr. Smalles is a Canadian by birth, and has a wide knowledge of conditions in the west. The location of the line between Fort George and Lytton as the first step in the company's plans is regarded as a wise move, as the engineers will have the choice of location over more tardy rivals. Mr. Smalles admitted today that the survey of the branch line into Vancouver would be started as soon as the engineers complete the survey between Lytton and Fort George.

Fort George

while it will centre the railway systems operating in Central British Columbia, will not be dependent upon them. It is the centre of the great internal river system of the province—the centre of 1,000 miles of water NOW NAVIGATED BY STEAM-BOATS. With very little expense 1,000 miles additional can be made navigable. The great rich valleys of the interior, with their coal, gold, copper, silver, their timber and their 50,000,000 acres of farming land, will thus have two mediums of transportation, and BOTH OF THEM CENTRE AT FORT GEORGE.

Three steamboat lines are now operating from Fort George. Additional steamers are being built.

A second newspaper is being established. Hotels are being built. Four banks will soon have branches doing business here.

NOTE.—No lots are for sale in the townsite of Fort George except by us or our accredited agents.

TRANS-ONTARIO CANAL WANTED BY AMERICAN MANUFACTURERS

Make the Suggestion That the United States Government Help
Canadians to Connect Lakes Huron and Ontario
by Big Ditch.

New York, May 17.—Three important subjects for the consideration of the Federal Government were put forward yesterday in the opening session of the annual convention of the National Association of Manufacturers. One urged the participation by this country in the building of a deep water canal through Canada as a means of aiding the transportation of ores and grains from the lake regions. Amendment of the immigration laws to provide more liberal terms for the admission of skilled labor and steps to see that aliens are distributed in the farming sections where they are needed, instead of being allowed to congregate in large cities, also were advocated.

Frequent references were made to the death of James W. Van Cleave, former president of the association.

FIGHT FREIGHT RATES Illinois Manufacturers Protest Against Proposed Increase.

Chicago, May 17.—Vigorously opposing the proposed advance in freight rates, shippers from all sections of the country gathered in the largest meetings of the kind in years. The conference was called to order by W. H. Burn, vice-president of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association, under whose auspices the meeting was held.

All of the speakers declared the rates on many articles are already too high and that the carriers are wrong in their contention that higher rates are necessary to meet increased operating expenses.

WIRELESS MEN ARE WARNED AGAINST COMET

Detroit, Mich., May 17.—The United States hydrographic office has cautioned wireless telegraph operators and vessel masters along the lower coast of the Atlantic that the use of wireless instruments and compasses may be affected by atmospheric conditions caused by Halley's comet.

Both operators and captains are expected to take careful note of the comet's position and the effect of its magnetic variations. The sighting of meteorites, it is said, should be promptly reported in detail.

The Agony OF PILES

ONLY those who suffer from piles know the misery it brings! It robs life of its pleasure, steals the brightness from existence, and substitutes days of dull pain and moments of acute agony. Most so-called "remedies" give ease only for a time, and then back comes the trouble and pain and misery! Zam-Buk cures Piles! And cures permanently. Proof of this lies all around you. Women and men in all stations of life have proved it—possibly, some of your friends! Let it cure you!

Mrs. Wm. Hughes, of 253, Hochelaga St., Hochelaga, Montreal, says:—"I was cured for years from blind itching and protruding piles. The agony I suffered for no one knows. Remedy after remedy proved useless. Day following day there was no relief for me—pain, loss of strength, dulness, misery, this was my experience until Zam-Buk was introduced. I know now that there is nothing on this earth like it! It cured me of piles, and once cured, I have had no return of the evil. I would like all women who suffer as I did to know that Zam-Buk will cure them!"

Besides being a specific for piles Zam-Buk cures hemorrhoids, blood-poisoning, cracked or chapped hands, ulcers, cuts, burns, bruises, scalds, rashes, ringworm, bad leg, frost bite, cold sores, and all skin injuries and diseases. All druggists and stores sell at 60¢ per box or from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto for price.

THIRTY-SIX CONVICTS PERISH BY FLAMES Building Fired by One Prisoner and Comrades Are Trapped in Fiery Furnace.

Centerville, Ala., May 17.—Thirty-six negro convicts lost their lives early yesterday, when the stockade of the Red Feather Coal Company, at Lucille mines, Bibb County, about 15 miles north of Centerville, was destroyed by fire, started by one of the prisoners, in an effort to gain his freedom.

Thirty-five of the convicts were burned to death, and another was fatally shot by guards while trying to escape. Among those burned is the negro who started the blaze.

The fire spread rapidly throughout the structure, which, on account of the extreme dryness of the material, was quickly consumed, and it was with much difficulty that the hundreds of convicts in the stockade were prevented from eluding the guards.

CORRESPONDENCE A National Service.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:
It seems a pity that while history is being made before our eyes, no one seems alive enough to impress it on our minds, and on the minds of our children. When, nearly ten years since, Queen Victoria died, the nation was so unused to such a calamity that there was some excuse if the right thing could not be done, but with the difficulties and experiences of that event fresh in our minds, there should be little excuse for further errors.

Now that in the wisdom of Providence our great and good ruler, King Edward VII., has been taken from us, it is not fitting that a really national memorial service should be held, one at which we could all show our respect for the royal peace-maker, where all would be equal, whether Catholic, Protestant, Jew or Gentile, rich or poor, bond or free, where all class, national, religious or other prejudice, could be laid aside, and where we would be but one, and that Canadian, mourning our ruler. It seems a pity that in order to show our sympathy in this case we must crowd into a building which the majority of us are strangers to, and where we would be in danger of crowding regular worshippers out, and thus being intruders on their sacred ground, at best cannot accommodate above one-third of the population. Why cannot some public-spirited man or men arrange for a great memorial service in one of the parks, as is being done in Toronto? Why could not the buildings or grandstand in Queen's Park be used (and if a second demonstration be desired, that in Tecumseh Park, letting those who live in wards one and two attend in the latter, and three and four the former)? Something better should be done for the children than the sectional meetings suggested in last night's papers. A splendid opportunity of gathering these young Canadians into one grand memorial service, uniting them, shoulder to shoulder, for once, is being lost.

I have heard my parents describe how as scholars in the last century, they attended such united gatherings and know the effect these national events had on them, and while those of us who were raised in mid-Victorian times had no such demonstrations to impress our minds, surely we want our children to be stamped with the import of these great events.

One more suggestion: As June 3 is King George's birthday, would it not be a good date for this school picnic? Verb. Sap. Yours truly,
CANADIAN OVER ALL.

SEVENTH REGIMENT WAS ONCE AGAIN TURNED DOWN

City Council Refused to Make
Change in Band Concert
Grant.

The annual trouble over the distribution of the $700 appropriated for band concerts was in evidence at the city council last evening. It was decided to give the Seventh Regiment $400, and the Twenty-sixth Regiment Band $300.

The report of Ald. Ritchie favored a grant of $450 to the Seventh, and $250 to the Twenty-sixth Regiment. Ald. Ashplant and Ald. Jeffries moved in amendment that the division be $400 and $300. Ald. Saunders moved in amendment to the amendment that the Seventh Regiment be given $450 and the Twenty-sixth Regiment $300.

Capt. A. Little and Capt. T. J. Murphy addressed the council on behalf of the Seventh. They pointed out the disadvantages under which they labored in the city, and the great encouragement from the citizens generally. They represented a very large number of ratepayers, and should be given consideration. The present grant of $400 was too small, and not what should be granted.

However, Ald. Ashplant's amendment carried, and the city regiment will receive but $400.

ROYAL EDWARD HAS FINE AND FAST TRIP Canadian Northern New Liner Heard From by Wireless.

[By Wireless.]
S. S. Royal Edward, 250 miles east of Cape Race, Monday, May 16.—The Canadian Northern liner, the Royal Edward, has had a remarkably good trip across the Atlantic. Today she broke the record for a day's run with 472 miles. Her previous runs were 278, 447, and 466. Captain Roberts is delighted with the behavior of his ship, as the passengers are with the accommodation and service. Sunday afternoon furnished the greatest display of marine life that the oldest Atlantic traveler aboard has ever seen. For about five miles were accompanied by a great herd of porpoises. They raced the ship and many were scared out of the water from under the hull until hundreds were visible at once. Some jumped perpendicularly out of the water and turned a complete somersault in the liveliest manner of these notoriously sportive sea-horses.

A big school of whales was observed three miles ahead on the starboard bow blowing great clouds of spray. As we approached they were seen to be a school of fifty or sixty feet high rising out of the water, and looking very much like admiralty submarines. The whole school crossed the bows of the ship only about 200 yards ahead, and there was a possibility of a repetition of Captain Roberts' experience last fall near Belle Isle, when his vessel cut a sixty-foot whale in two.

Last night brought another unique experience. Ordinarily the limit of Marconi transmission at sea is four hundred miles. The operator here extended this to a distance of eight hundred miles to the south, a feat of wireless telegraphy that is really a promise of greater things to come.

Passengers include: Colonel Hon. J. S. Hendrie, of the Ontario Government, and Mrs. Hendrie; Mr. D. G. Gordon, M. P., and Mrs. Gordon, Wallaceton; Mr. Hugh Sutherland, Sutherland, Winnipeg; Mr. F. T. Bullen, the famous writer of sea-faring stories; and Alderman Twigg, chairman of the Bristol docks committee. Mr. Bullen is undertaking a tour of writing for the book, "The Great South," a special mission to secure an increase in the port's Canadian trade. He will visit the principal cities of the east and west, interviewing boards of trade and the shipping and sailing up the coast, and the most advanced prospects of the development of British-Canadian trade generally.

MINISTERS' MOVEMENTS The Federal Capital Will Be Unusually Quiet This Summer.

Ottawa, May 17.—Sir Richard Cartwright left yesterday afternoon for a week's stay at Caledonia. Sir Richard will spend most of the summer at his home in Kingston.

Hon. W. S. Fielding will sail for England at the end of the week, where he will arrange for a convention, on July 1 next, of the Government of £4,000,000, made in 1885, bearing interest at 4 per cent. He will also discuss the arrangements in respect to Canadian finances in the European money markets.

Hon. Wm. Patterson will join the Minister of Finance in London a little later on, to complete their work as members of the royal commission on trade between Canada and the West Indies.

Hon. Wm. Templeman and Hon. Frank Oliver will leave for the west where they will be absent from the capital during the greater part of the summer.

With four ministers, namely, Hon. Messrs. Aylesworth, Fisher, Patterson, and Fielding, in Europe, and with Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. G. P. Gordon, Hon. Frank Oliver, Hon. Wm. Templeman and Sir Frederick Borden scheduled for Western Canada, the summer point, promises to be unusually quiet.

A STRONG APPEAL BY STRATHCONA

Talked Straight to Colonial Office
About Funeral Plans.

CHANGE WAS EFFECTED Statement That Dominions Overseas Would Cut Up Had Its Weight.

London, May 17.—The Canadian Associated Press learns that on his secretary drawing attention to the announcement of representatives of overseas dominions were not to take part in the funeral of the King, Lord Strathcona immediately communicated with the colonial office vigorously protesting against such treatment, the result being that the representatives have a place in St. George's Chapel, Windsor.

The Canadian office was closed yesterday, but the Canadian press is unofficially informed that the colonial office was severely taken to task, it being pointed out that representatives of Canada coming spontaneously to express the Canada's sense of loss were deserving of more consideration, and that such treatment as has been proposed to show Canada's representatives were not rectified, would cause most unpleasant comment in Canada.

DR. WILSON'S WORK IS APPRECIATED Committee on Tuberculosis Passed a Resolution This Morning.

At a meeting of the tuberculosis committee, held at noon today, in Mayor Beattie's office, a resolution of condolence was passed and forwarded to the family of Dr. John D. Wilson, a former member and active worker on the committee.

The resolution was moved by Mrs. E. B. Smith and seconded by Mayor Beattie, and was as follows:
That it is with the deepest regret and sorrow we meet this morning to send our message of sympathy and condolence to the sorrowing wife and family of the late and much-lamented Dr. John D. Wilson, who has always been the great mover and inspiration of this our tuberculosis committee.

We all feel that it was the heartfelt interest of Dr. Wilson in the tuberculosis cause which awakened the universal sympathy for the noble work now existing in our midst. It was through his influence that the late member of our committee that the Blair fund was left for the tuberculosis cause. It was through the energy and ever-ready interest of Dr. Wilson that Mayor Stevenson and the city council of 1908 were asked to allow a vote of the people for the granting of $5,000 for the tuberculosis cause, which was carried by the people—again the influence of departed members of this committee.

The example of such noble and unselfish work must always remain a living memory with each one of us, spur us on to true and earnest endeavor, and the great privilege we have had in working with one so sincere in all his efforts.

The eloquent plea for the indigent consumptive made by Dr. Wilson at the Irish Benevolent annual meeting, his last address in public, should be quoted here: "I do not care how this work is done. I do not care who does it, or who gets the credit. I am only concerned that it be done. These poor suffering people should be cared for. I have no interest to serve. I am not seeking glory or gain, but I do want to see these poor people cared for, and their last days made peaceful and happy."

The motion was passed by a standing vote.

A Solemn Spectacle.
The spectacle at Westminster Hall during the brief service, when the casket was deposited there, was a solemn and moving picture of deep contrast. The casket rested high on the purple catafalque in the centre of the hall covered with a white and gold embroidered pall, and draped with the royal ensign. Upon the ensign at the head were placed the jewelled crown and sceptre.

King George stood at the foot of the casket with the Queen-Mother, Queen Mary and the young princes. Behind them were the members of royalty, who had followed the body, a group of twenty royal ladies in deep black, with long veils, no touch of color relieving their garb, which was above the floor and the most sombre that mourners wear. Around this body were stationed the officers of the household, the royal household, the earl marshal, Black Rod, and others in their brilliant uniforms.

In long rows on either side, and extending nearly the length of the hall were massed the peers and the members of the House of Commons, more than 400 from each chamber. All of these, which included many of Great Britain's foremost statesmen, were in informal black dress. The others who made up the great assemblage that filled the hall made a shining field of color in which gold and scarlet predominated.

The choir, supplied in white and crimson, occupied an elevation at the west end of the hall, under the vast stained windows. A step lower were stationed the red-coated bandmen. The heralds and their pursuivants occupied a still lower position, but well above the floor, and the entire group suggested a chorus on the stage.

Great Ones There.
Grouped at the foot of the elevation were a hundred of the greatest generals and admirals of the empire. In the centre Lord Kitchener, tall and dark, towered over Lord Roberts, who is short and gray. Nearby was seen the grim face of Lord Fisher, one time senior naval lord of the admiralty.

At the opposite end of the hall, was a great congregation of courtiers and officers, picked men, the finest appearing in England, and wearing a dazzling variety of uniforms and decorations.

The service occurred only half an hour. The Archbishop of Canterbury standing at the head of the casket recited the Lord's Prayer, which was repeated by the whole congregation. The archbishop then read the Twenty-third Psalm, and the Dean of Westminster read the scriptural lesson from St. John, the fifth chapter, twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth verses. At the conclusion of the reading the choir chanted a brief anthem, and the archbishop offered prayer. He said: "Lord, our heavenly Father, by whom kings reign and princes decree justice, we remember before Thee, our late sovereign lord, King Edward, in thankfulness for the blessings Thou hast bestowed upon us through his reign, for the wisdom of his rule, and the faithfulness with which he served the people to his charge; for his continual effort to further and maintain peace among the nations, and for his watchful care of the sick and poor."

Addressing the congregation, the archbishop said there was reason for thanking for the peace and prosperity of the Empire, and for a ruler who was devoted to his people. He charged his hearers to consider well the lesson that death teaches.

As the archbishop concluded, the trumpets and drums sounded, and the choir sang, "Oh, God, Our Help in Ages Past," the accompaniment closing after the first stanza to be renewed with the last. As the music died away, the archbishop pronounced the benediction.

was the man who sold them the candy and the said Mr. Stevenson said to witnesses, "if the boys got it here they stole it."

Maloney, who was also taken back, had gum and cough drops, and Stevenson said it was all right for him to sell those things.

Newton Maloney, aged 12, said he went into Stevenson's store to buy some candies, and saw Bert Fenech with the chocolate. To Mr. McEvey, witness said he had stated to outside parties that he understood Stevenson to say either that he didn't have the chocolate or could not sell it. Witness wasn't sure which. Cross-examined by Chief Williams, witness said he had gone into Stevenson's store, and Stevenson had asked him if he didn't hear him refuse to sell chocolate to the boys. Witness replied that he was not sure what Stevenson said, and Stevenson told him he must not say that when he went to the police station, but must say "yes" or "no." Later he was asked by a policeman, an uncle of his, what he knew about the matter, and said he didn't know much, and would tell to say so when he went up in court.

The Chocolates.

Percy Hodgins, of 715 Richmond street, who was in the store, said Mr. Stevenson showed Maloney a whole case of chocolates, when he said he thought Stevenson might have said that he did not have them, and must have said he could not sell them. Witness later heard Maloney admit that Stevenson had said he could not sell chocolates, but would sell cough drops.

In the witness box Lawrence L. Stevenson denied absolutely that he had sold the boys' chocolates. He said he told them when they asked him for chocolates that he could not sell them that on Sunday, or creams or nutbar.

"Did you sell them cough drops, that day to anyone?" asked Chief Williams.

"My recollection is that I didn't," said Stevenson.

"Will you swear you didn't," asked the chief.

"No, I cannot," said Mr. Stevenson.

"On how many occasions have you been convicted in a year of breaking the Lord's Day law?" asked the chief.

"Twice," said Mr. Stevenson.

ALD. STEVENSON PLAYED DOG-CATCHER BLACKSTOCK

Tells of a Memorable Sight When Ben Tried to Take a Dog Out of Man's Arms.

Ben Blackstock will be given police protection on his rounds henceforth. At the council meeting last night Ald. Tancock and Ald. Pocock presented a motion instructing the police commissioners to furnish protection to Blackstock.

"Why has not a policeman accompanied Blackstock, as was the case years ago?" asked Ald. Stevenson. "We should not be instructing people to do their duty. Blackstock should have a man with him. We went dog-catching, however, not rowdying. I saw a man with a pup in his arms pounced upon, and a tug-of-war followed for the possession of the dog. That's not dog-catching—that's downright rowdying, and the sooner the city officials refrain from that sort of thing the better for all parties concerned."

Ald. Tancock's motion passed. Mayor Beattie, Ald. Richter, Ald. Ashplant, Ald. Tancock and Ald. Fitzgerald were named a committee to amend the bylaw relating to renting the city hall.

Opening of Tenders. Ald. Ashplant introduced his motion to amend the bylaw relating to the opening of tenders. It was given a first reading and then sent to No. 1 committee. In the meantime each alderman will be furnished with a copy of the proposed amendments.

The bylaw to lay a pavement on Richmond street, from Oxford to Cheapside street, under a two-thirds vote of the council was laid over until the citizens along that street can appear before the council and explain their opposition to it.

ALD. UNDERWOOD WANTS AUTOMOBILES BARRED

Says They Scorch in Victoria Park—"Backwoods Legislation," Says Another Alderman.

Automobilists who scorch through Victoria Park were taken to task by Ald. Underwood at the council last night, and he brought forward a motion to prevent them using the park. "A large number of women and children use the parks afternoons," he declared. "These men speed through the park at a rapid rate, throwing clouds of dust everywhere, and otherwise endangering the lives of the women and children. I do not know that I want to exclude them from the park, but there should be some limit. We should define the speed at which they can go through the park, and limit it. I have received a large number of complaints."

TEMPORARY REPAIRS ARE TO BE MADE

City and County Will Do Something to Improve Court House and Jail.

At a conference between the board of works and a committee of the county council at the courthouse yesterday, it was decided to make certain repairs to the courthouse and jail. Dr. R. Bruce Smith, inspector of charities and prisons, was present and outlined the changes necessary to give relief, temporarily, at least. Alterations to the furnace were recommended, and changes in the heating system. Both parties agreed to the changes, and City Architect Nutter and County Engineer Talbot were deputed to prepare the necessary plans. The outlay was estimated at $1,000. At the council last night the board of works were instructed to prepare an estimate of the cost and submit plans to the council.

At the June session of the county council a committee from the city council will be present to discuss a new joint building.

Those present at the conference were Ald. Tancock, Ald. Morgan, Ald. Pocock, City Architect Nutter, County Councilors S. Frank Glass, C. W. Hawkshaw, A. K. Hodgins, F. W. Atkinson, C. N. MacFie and Dr. Bruce Smith.

IRISHMEN SEND SYMPATHY TO THE BEREAVED FAMILY

Officers and Executive of the I. B. S. Will Attend Funeral of Dr. John D. Wilson.

A special meeting of the Irish Benevolent Society, held last night in the board of trade rooms, passed the following resolution: "Moved by Stephen Grant, seconded by Philip Pocock: 'That the Irish Benevolent Society, at a meeting called for the purpose, desires to place upon record its deepest sorrow upon the death of Dr. John D. Wilson, a valued member, and one of its revered past presidents, its appreciation of his many works in behalf of the society, of his unflinching efforts in behalf of those who needed a helping hand, and his praiseworthy conduct at all times as a public-spirited citizen. And it is hereby directed that a copy of the above resolution be forwarded by the secretary to the family of the deceased, who may be assured of the fact that they have in their bereavement the undivided sympathy of the Irish Benevolent Society.'

President Stevely paid a beautiful tribute to Dr. Wilson as a physician, a public-spirited citizen and man, and incidentally gave some touching personal stories concerning the deceased. Water Commissioner Pocock and Assessment Commissioner Grant also spoke with the keenest regret of the doctor's death.

A committee, consisting of Messrs. B. C. McCann, John M. Daly, Ben Noble and E. E. Carthy, was named to make arrangements for attending the funeral.

It was decided that the officers and executive should be present on that occasion. A beautiful floral harp was sent by the society as a token of sympathy. Those present were E. Stevely, president; Philip Pocock, B. C. McCann, Denis Mason, Ben Noble, W. Fulton, Stephen Grant, John M. Daly, Secretary Carthy, and others.

A Wild Pigeon?
To the Editor of The Advertiser: I have found a nest which my father says is a wild pigeon's. The bird is a slate color, lays two snow-white eggs, and has built its nest, made of the roots of plants or plant fibres, on the top of a stump among some underbrush. My father said it was a wild pigeon as soon as he saw it. I think I saw in The Advertiser that a reward was offered for a nest. Would you please tell me through your paper to whom I should apply for the reward? Yours truly, OLIVER R. WATSON, Cairo Postoffice, May 16, 1910.

(Special).—Among the fishermen here who through exposure to wet and cold are subject to those pains and aches which come from diseased Kidneys, Dodd's Kidney Pills are looked upon as a positive boon to mankind. They are never tired of telling how their Backaches and their Rheumatism vanish before the great Kidney remedy. Among many others Mr. Frank Banfield, after years of suffering, has found relief in Dodd's Kidney Pills, and here is what he is telling his friends: "I find Dodd's Kidney Pills the best medicine for Backache I have ever used. I only used two boxes and they cured of Backache I had had for five years. It started through a strain. My father's back also bothered him, and he got some relief from one pill I gave him. They were too precious to give away. All persons suffering from Backache should use Dodd's Kidney Pills."

CAUGHT SLEEPING

Convicts in Prison Stockade Had Little Chance to Escape Flames. Birmingham, Ala., May 17.—Dr. W. A. Burns, state physician of mines, has returned from Lucif, Bibbi County, where a fire destroyed the prison stockade. He said: "Twenty-seven convicts are missing, and there is no doubt they are dead; thirty-three convicts escaped. The stockade was burned by three ring leaders, who attempted some time ago to burn the place. Two of these were shot down by the guards. It is believed that most of the convicts were sleeping when the fire alarm was turned in, and a stampede that followed resulted in the deaths. There were 150 convicts employed, and it was lucky that so many of them escaped from the fire, in view of the quickness with which it spread."
