Watch Your Step Today —It's Friday the 13th

Has Lady Luck deserted you today?

If she has, blame it on the day. It's Friday the 13th. This is the day when plungers fail to plunge on the stock market, when motorists make precise turns at every intersection and adhere strictly to the rules of the road, when wise men do not trust the delicate operation of shaving to their own faltering hand, and when black kittens are placed in the same category as the ostracized polecat Of course, there are individuals who court Lady Luck more vigorously on Friday the 13th than on any other day. For instance, in the first race at the Empire City track today a two-year-old named Friday the 13th has been entered. Followers of the "ponies" state there will be heavy betting on this "nag." "The boys will play it just on a 'hunch.' "

Members of the London Old Boys' Association apparently have no fear of it. They are holding a general meeting tonight to plan for the big reunion in August. They have no thought that even evil spirits supposed to be hanging over the world on such a day would even as much as try to interfere with their great enterprise. Of course, if you're one of those superstitious folks, you may be able to soothe your troubled mind somewhat by carrying a rabbit's foot or toting your pet charm about with you all day. Thirteen was a number around which ancient soothsayers and prophets built much. And through the ages it has been handed down as associated with ill-luck, just as seven is regarded as lucky.

Friday the 13th may be unlucky. Just the same, Londoners are not hiding in their cellars to escape disaster. If they are there, there's another reason-the heat.

BY HIRAM K. MODERWELL. Special Cable to The London Advertiser and Chicago Dally News. Copyright. Cologne, July 13 .- Rumers that a republic, supported by the French, is about to be proclaimed in the Rhineland, now claim the interest of people here.

In the Ruhr, however, the people are awaiting nervously some independent action by England, which, it is hoped here, will save the German industrial territory from complete domination by France.

From the French comes a tale of new glass bombs, filled with deadly microbes, which, they say, are destined to be dropped on French cities, bursting into millions of pieces and inoculate everybody touched. The French report rumors of the German army, in the city of Munster on the Ruhr border, preparing a regular military attack.

The sudden resignation of Ald. Peter J. Watt/as a member of the special "city hall committee" was the closing feature of the first gathering. And perhaps Mayor Wenige's retirement as chairman featured the sec-ond parley—the city officials' confer-ence over wages, at which attended the aldermen in a body. Fine Preliminary.

The latter conclave opened rea nappy with a preliminary skirmish between the mayor and Ald. John Greer, the former abruptly picking up his box and dice and taking a seat up his box and dice and taking a seat on the bleachers with the vigorous direction to Ald. Greer to "go ahead and divide $5,000 in salary increases among the city departments."

Members of the council and officials grouped about the battle enclosure squirted the proverbial oil on troubled waters, however, and the mayor was coaxed back into his chair at the head of the table, while Ald. Greer promised that there would be

Greer promised that there would be no prolonged argument, once that he had voiced his objections to the mayor's wage proposals.

Opens Quietly. With Ald. George Burdick presiding, the first half of the doubleheader opened nice and quiet. Everyceeded like well-oiled machinery for a tolerable spell, and everyone seemed quite pleased with the elevation and floor space of the new city hall, as prepared by Building Inspector Piper.

The committee even went as far as to direct the city clerk to ascertain from the following departments if they desired space in the new adinistration offices—the L. & P. S. chool board, Western Fair and hamber of commerce.

And then the committee split in two factions, those who believed as Mayor Wenige did, that they should not advertise for competitive plans, but allot the task to Inspector Piper, and those, led by Ald. Watt, who aggressively denounced this attitude as unwise and unprofitable

Two Votes Taken. Two votes were taken. In the first instance, Mayor Wenige's motion to recommend to the council that they rescind their initial resolution to ask for competitive plans was defeated, -2. But Ald. Colbert arrived during the melee and he recorded himself as favorable toward the mayor. Ald Burdick broke the deadlock, and the question can now be reopened for discussion in the city council. Mayor Wenige advocated strongly hayor wenge advocated strongly that Inspector Piper undertake the task, pointing out that there would be a saving of time and money-probably $30,000, for architects' fees on this $600,000 project.

Refuses to Return.

While his colleagues urged Ald. Watt to reconsider what they believed to be a hasty decision, he remained adamant, proclaiming that they should call for competitive plans from local architects, as per their original agreement. It was not assumed, however, by Mayor Wenige and his supporters that Ald. Watt has definitely withdrawn his support of the city hall project. has definitely withdrawn his support of the city hall project.

After a brief intermission, the players got into harness for the second game. Although heralded by the mayor as his wage conference with department heads, the city council sent a formidable deputation to see the sights.

The event was lengthy and quite informal. Councillors drifted in and out, and the affair took on the appearance of the private bills committee of the legislature in battle action. Adjusts Salaries.

Adjusts Salaries.

Another outstanding event of the evening was the manner in which Mayor Wenige slashed the proposed salary recommendations submitted by several officials, and when he had concluded his budget, Assessment Commissioner Bennett's increase stood at $400 and his assistant's, A. S. Glass, at $200. Other suggestions were blue-penciled by his worship in a corresponding manner.

"This accounts for about $3,000 of the $5,000 that we have at our disposal," Mayor Wenige announced, "and I recommend that we do not use the remainder at this time. We have cut all proposals, but all employees suggested for an increase have been cared for to a certain extent. That is my recommendation, and the council can do as it pleases about it."

Just what will happen to the mayor's outline is a question worthy only of a shrewd guess. At Wednesday night's session of the finance committee, the commissioner was granted a $900 increase. A few minutes later the meeting chucked up the salary dispute, but whether they meant to whitewash this $900 proposal is another side-issue to be debated before the session terminates.

Bell Aroused.

Bell Aroused.

The meeting produced many interesting declarations, as an instance, the point-blank remark from City Treasurer Bell that "He had been there 37 years without asking for an increase, and if they chose to cut him they could go ahead."

As the boys trotted out on the field for the preliminary ramble, Mayor Wenige pointed out that more than $4,000 had already been charged to the assessment expenditures for the year, money paid the late retiring commissioner and one of his staff.

Promptly and with considerable emphasis Ald. Greer objected that this money constituted "superannuation," and it was unfair of the mayor to attempt to place it against the salary budget.

"It is not fair," Ald. Greer declared. "According to your figures, Mr. Mayor, you are trying to saddle Mr. Bennett with this expenditure after he undertakes to operate the department more economically they

Money Is Salaries.

"I say this money is salaries," re-joined the mayor, "and the council resolution reads as such." The debate waged along a spell and then Mayor Wenige followed the lead of Ald. Burdick of the previous meeting.

"This meeting must be peaceful," he exclaimed. "I leave the chair and move that Ald. Greer preside."

"Now don't indulge in personalities," cautioned Ald. Greer. "That is my motion," retorted Mayor Wenige.
"Now you divide the $5,000." And he left the field.

"This is a meeting of city officials. I move that City Engineer Near preside," declared City Treasurer Bell.

"I thought this was going to be a meeting of officials," explained Ald. Colbert. "But I am not going to run away while the rest are here."

"This is no place for an argument," asserted Mayor Wenige from his seat on the sidelines.

"The whole trouble has been," stated Mayor Wenige, "that there have been those who have been trying to bring pressure to urge this along ahead of the band wagon. These employees are not suffering. They are doing well when compared to others."

The city officials all seemed to be of the opinion that there was need for an equalization of salaries throughout the hall, and Ald. Drake asked one of

The battle dragged on and the majority of the councillors left for other scenes, leaving the mayor to struggle with the proposal, aided by Ald. Watt and Drake and the officials. What the finance do with the mayor's final proposal is a matter of much speculatio

London and Montreal Cost of Living Compared Shows Average Rent Higher Here

In Other Items of Household Expenditure the London Man Can Get as Much Value For His Dollar as His Montreal Brother-How Montreal Budget Applies Locally.

will always have to worry about the cost of living.
It is customary to grant that most of the worrying is done by the house-wife, along with several other dozen cares of the day.

After reading a booklet on "House-hold Budgeting" prepared by an al-derman of the city of Montreal, a certain Iondon woman prominently connected with welfare endeavors, and whose work takes her into every type of home in the city, was more onvinced than ever that it took the isekeeper to render two and two sufficiently elastic to stretch into six Bargain-hunting, made light of in newspaper comic sections would seem to be an invaluable asset in the financing of the home. And an expert knowledge of "sales days and how to make use of them" appears to be a fundamental requisite in every woman's education.

W. S. Hushion, a representative of the Quebec Legislature and a member of the Montreal city council, has drawn up the budget, printed in the following article, as proof of his statement that a salary of $1,800 a year is essential for the workingman to properly support himself, his wife and three children, a boy the age of seven and girls at the ages of five Two pairs of working boots...

Except in a few instances, the prices quoted are similar to those which prevail in London, and yet, according to the statement of the welfare worker interviewed by The Advertiser, the average working-man's wage here is between $18 and $25 per week, and in some cases even lower, rather than the sum which Mr. Hushion deems necessary. In a foreword to his booklet, Mr. Hushion himself states that, though every article mentioned in the budget seems a necessity, yet many families are living on $1,200 with some degree

The most startling comparison be-tween the Montreal budget and the prices quoted in London is the figure quoted for rent. In Montreal rental is placed as low as $15 a month. The welfare worker gave between $18 and $25 a month as the average rent paid, and in many cases stated that the houses rented at this figure were fitted with very few modern convenences. A bare shack of two rooms without light, water or other conveniences, is at the present time rented at $9 a month. Figures quoted in the Labor Gazette for the month of April, 1923, show average rents in London to be $30-$45 a month for six-roomed houses with modern conven-iences and $17-$30 a month for six-roomed houses with incomplete modern conveniences or none.

The Hushion budget is published by the Duties and Rights Association of Montreal, a society formed for the liscussion of community proble of the household commodities, however, sugar is an outstanding excep-It is quoted at eight cents per pound, but the prevailing figure here is nearer 12 cents. Eggs are quoted at 55 cents, and although they are selling now at 30 cents, the Montreal figure is close to the average for the year, Butter and lard are also quoted

It is plain to see that the budget was drawn up by a man and not a woman, as the yearly allowance for hosiery for the wife is set at two pairs, at a price of $1.50 per pair. It is next to impossible to go the year on two pairs of stockings, but it was shown that most women under the circumstances would buy four pairs of cheaper stockings and perhaps manage to save a few cents on other

The average laboring man is forced usually to dispense with that. The sum for newspapers and magazines, I should say, could be reduced to $5 a year, and there are always the public libraries and twenty cents a year is scarcely ient for amusen tion, but there might be a reduction made in the street car fares for the

Ontario Is Going Ahead.

What constitutes prosperity? The farmer would manufacturer in terms of a plant running to capacity and some bookings ahead.

The current issue of Canadian Machinery contains a number of expressions from Ontario firms, and they day, with nothing being added to pay them off. all say that business is very good, and improving. Here are a few extracts from their letters:

Canadian Locomotive Company, Kingston-"We have approximately $2,750,000 unfilled orders on hand; ceased to be serious, and has entered on that last stage 625 employees at present-25 the same period last year." Ford Motor Company of Canada-"We have 4,692 employees at present, or 1,017 more than last year. . .

We are looking for a gradual increase in the demand.' Canadian Drawn Steel Company, Hamilton-"Our shipments for the first five months of 1923 have shown a steady increase and are 100 per cent higher than in

John Morrow Screw and Nut Company, Ingersoll-"Our business last month was the best we have had since 1920."

Ford-Smith Machine Company, Hamilton-"We have about twice as many men working as at this time last

Hayes Wheel Company, Chatham-"At this time last year there were 325 employees on our pay roll; this ear there are 420."

Canadian General Electric Company, Toronto-"The folume of business this year is very considerably in excess of the same period last year."

Dominion Sheet Metal Corporation, Hamilton-"Our roduction shows an increase over the same period last ear of 77 per cent."

These are only a few, and taken largely from the etal working industries. These places are busy; they eve business ahead, and their wage lists are adding the buying power of the entire district.

Ontario has gone through its depression. It has one more-it has set its course carefully and conservatively toward a renewal of business confidence in such a ay that none of its steps will have to be retraced; its full energy can be applied to keep on going ahead.

Manitoba Both Wet and Dry.

Manitoba registered a wet vote three weeks ago, nd on Wednesday gave a dry count.

It favored the government sale of liquor, but it put ts foot down on the plan of the Wine and Beer League r the sale of wine and beer with meals in hotels.

Even on a question of so great importance the otal vote cast was small. It would have been thought the first vote would have done two things, (1) encourage, the wets to come out and follow up their first victory and (2) rally the dry forces to work and vote o make up the ground they had lost. Apparently it did neither of these things.

Tapping the Politicians.

British politicians pay for their politics. And they government has anything to do with it. rently pay in real money, a good share of which is their own.

The Marquis of Hartington, heir to the Duke of Devonshire, well known in Canada, has had to ask solicitors for funds in his district to "ease off." #### A Smart Youngster With a Gun.

According to a Windsor despatch, two boys were shot out of a cherry tree by a rifle used by a third. One lad was struck in the leg and the other in the side, but a doctor extracted the bullets.

The lad who did the shooting was brought to the olice court, where he was "sternly reprimanded by he magistrate." The rifle was also confiscated.

This magistrate should be dealt with. The idea of taking a rifle away from a brave lad of 13 who shot at and hit boys of eight and nine who were stealing cherries!

This smart youth who thinks he can shoot boys as he would blackbirds ought to have bumped into a real magistrate, who knew how to take a youngster of that type over his knee and spank out all this fool shooting

280,000 Marks for a Dollar.

The mystery of German currency becomes more baffling with each day's grinding of the German printing

If any printing office in Ontario started to print dollar bills without the sanction of the government, or without the backing of securities, the paper turned out would be about as valuable as the marks leaving the German presses today.

The idea is if we haven't got enough dollar bills, let's go ahead and make some, regardless of the fact darkened, sweating holds, and underwent daily lifeboat that nothing has been put up as security. One thing is obvious-Germany can never put value behind all this paper it continues to grind out; it is a speak in terms of good crops and good prices, and the commercial and business impossibility. Every sheaf of paper that is run through the press becomes an added charge against the small amount of security remaining behind German currency. #### Liberals and Conservatives.

"We will sweep the Dominion as we swept Ontario," said a Conservative speaker in Toronto. A fine sentiment, but doubtful, because one election, according to history, does not decide or seriously affect the other.

In this connection it is interesting to note the number of Liberals and Conservatives returned at

The Liberals in 1874 had exactly the same number of members (133) as the Conservatives in 1911; the Liberals also had 133 in 1908. The high water mark on both sides was the same, 139, attained by the Liberals in 1904 and the Conservatives in the contest of 1882, when Sir John A. Macdonald was attaining the height of his power.

That provinces and Dominion should bear the same political stripe is not a fact. During the best of Sir John's years at Ottawa as leader of a Conservative government, Ontario had Hon. Oliver Mowat and a Liberal government. Today the tables are reversed. with a Liberal government at Ottawa and a Conservative administration at Toronto.

Looking over statistics also shows that W. F. Maclean of South York is the holder of the record for length of unbroken service. He went in as representative of East York in 1896, and has been at Ottawa ever since, although his riding was changed in 1903 to make South York. He won in 1896, 1900, 1904, 1908, 1911, Editor of The Advertiser: 1917 and 1921. His first majority was three and his last 2,353. #### WHAT WOULD THEY THINK?

(From the Ottawa Citizen)

Not long ago that sea dog and supreme stylist, Joseph Conrad, sailed from Britain to America on board an Atlantic liner. When Conrad reached home again one of the first things he did was to express the disc opinion that ocean travel is not what it used to be in his time. He said that life aboard an Atlantic liner was just like life inside first-class hotels on shore. Indeed, but for the scenery, one might very well imagine oneself on land and in a hotel.

Here is the apotheosis of present-day luxury, of servitude to material convenience and bodily comfort. One wonders what Joseph Conrad would have thought of this prodigal magnitude on board a ship. One wonders what the forefathers of those who now enjoy this lavishness would say to it all. They came over in tiny chairs, but with forbidding boards and hard planks. Again, one wonders what those think who went over in troopships just a few short years ago and swung in hammocks in crowded, 'tween decks in the depths of

Try eating one of the bran preparations every morning for breakfast. There are several very appetizing forms on the market, and you can change from one to the other for the sake of variety. Then have some fresh fruit according to season. Oranges are good most of the year, and are very valuable. Avoid fresh hot breads, eat your cereals in the form of ready-to-eat foods, rather than the home-cooked porridge. For lunch have a salad of fresh vegetables served with plenty of oil, more orisp bread, and a dessert of fresh or stewed fruit or a frozen pudding. At dinner add a bulky vegetable to the menu and eat meat or fish very plainly cooked, without fancy sauces. Avoid all "made" dishes. Drink plenty of water, at least four plasses daily beside what you take at meals. Don't forget exercise. The "daily dozen" are of immense help in combating constipation. Old Age and Pampas Wild Man Combine To Defeat Jess Willard, One Time World's Champion the South American from the first round on. He paid no attention to the terrific blows that Firpo sunk wrist deep into his body. There was no question that Willard was in shape. He looked as good as at Hayana. Havana.

All through the first round Firpo went in with these hard-driven righthanders. He seemed to forget, except at rare intervals, that he had a left hand. Willard quickly had the right timed, and found a way to block it with his left forearm. But now and then one slipped through, and when it did the thud of it could be heard all around the ringside. A red patch appeared on Willard's left side, where Firpo found his target.

Willard looked a giant beside the swarthy wild bull of the Pampas. It seemed as if he must overwhelm Firpo by sheer bulk and strength and aggressiveness. When Firpo leaped at him it was like throwing himself against a wall. Willard had the first two rounds, but the third belonged to Firpo. Still it was so even that the slight advantages of either man in the desperate fighting gave no in-timation of the final result.

Cheers for Willard.

As the fight went along the crowd began to cheer wildly for Willard, who was making a magnificent fight. Firpo, diving in, leaping headlong to attack after attack, could get few by through the hurse Krasaria do. through the huge Kansan's defense. But on the other hand Firpo was not hurt by the blows Willard landed. Willard carried the only marks, early in the fight. A grazing right swing tore his left ear, and the red fluid that trickled down his neck seemed to rouse Firpo to more furious effort. But in spite of its fury the fight was perfectly clean. do but walk around the ring.

Then Louis, who had been taking it easy for a moment, suddenly rushed at Willard with a swinging right that caught the giant on the temple and rocked Sticking close, Firpo swung right after right, and nine times in succession landed squarely on the side of Willard's head. The crowd was up and yelling and shouts came from Firpo's corner

As Firpo's attack weakened, Willard swung cloar and straightened up, and he was laughing. That laugh made Firpo back away, looking at Willard with a puzzled eye. He had seen men take punishment before but he had not seen anyone laugh a his wild clubbing right. Instantly Willard went after Firpo, eyes blazing with the old look of rage that used to indicate one of his danger-ous moments. He feinted fast, jabbed two or three times, followed with a straight right, missed, and Firpo went in headlong with a crushing right that staggered Willard for a Willard was rushing again when the bell rang. At the beginning of the next round the far bleachers were still yelling it. In this round, the sixth, it looked as if Firpo was tiring, and Jimmy Deforest, head thin with an anxious eye.

He dug rights into Willard's body until he became arm weary, and for the first time began to clinch and hold. Willard attacked, driving in back. In spite of the pounding he had taken Willard seemed as fresh as in the first round. Firpo, backing as it started, realized that Willard, so aggressive and determined, so huge in bulk, was near the final crash of all his ambitions. As Willard sat in his corner waiting for the bell he raised his hand and pressed it against the left side of his face, where a red lump had risen since Firpo's last furious attack. Both came up slowly. Willard walked to-ward his man, and Firpo, looking him over anxiously, seemed undecided and lost, like a novice who has come to the end of his knowledge of the game and doesn't know what to do next. But again Firpo was stalling. Willard jabbed him hard. With a grim scowl Firpo dived in, beat Willard back into a corner, and stood there volleying terrific blows to the big man's head. Suddenly Willard's knees bent, and as he tried to sidestep out of danger he staggered and nearly fell. Firpo was all over him im an instant, blows flying, lefts and rights, now, one side and then the other. Finally, gathering himself for one terrific effort, he swung a last crashing right and stepped back.

Beaten By His Age.

There in his own corner Willard crumpled up as that last blow struck home under his ear. He bent forward and fell slowly to hands and knees. His face turned up toward Firpo, and his itps parted in a grin that was half foolish, like the grin he turned on arry Lewis, the referee, had little to be but walk around the ring.

He landed just one hard and effective left on Willard in all eight rounds. The Argentine went wild, with its customary fervor, over the victory of its champion. Returns of the fight were broadcast by wireless throughout the country, and were posted on bulletin boards as it was learned that Firpo had won as it was learned that Firpo had won. The Argentine populace never doubted the outcome. At least 50,000 joined in a parade along the Avenida de Mayo. Automobiles filled with shouting men. Women and children made their way slowly through the streets. No previous event within the memory of the oldest inhabitants had created such nation-wide interest.

Dempsey, with his years in the ring, is a master of fisticuffs. He has an arsenal of blows, as varied as they are powerful. He is still in his prime.

Firpo, on the other hand, is still green. His most powerful blow is still his right swing. His much totuted left, said to have been developed by his trainer, De Forest, hardly whipped out once last night, and then it had no sting. He still rushes to the attack, leaving vulnerable spots unguarded.

McGeehan Says Ten Years Ago Kansan Would Have Knocked Firpo Through the Ropes.

By W. O. McGEEHAN.

Special to The Advertiser.

Jersey City, July 12.—One hundred thousand huddled in the huge wooden saucer at Boyle's Thirty Acres tonight saw Jess Willard, once a champion, counted out in the eighth round as he knelt in his own corner. Luis Angel Firpo battered him down with a volley of right swings to the jaw. No particular blow brought the Kansas glant down. One right made him waver and shake. Three following, and he sagged slowly down on his knees, clutching the rope.

He was in this position when Harry Lewis, the referee, with his eye on the timepeeker, counted ten. Willard did not seem able to move towards rising to his feet. His long jaw was sagging down to his chest. His eyes were staring up at the starless skies, his legs quivered and his arms worked convulsively.

Just a foot away from him stood Firpo, called the Will Bull of the Fampas. The eyes of the South American, which are a placid brown in repose, were gleaming like white hot coals. His face was grim, impassive. He seemed to know that it was over, but he was ready with a coup de grace if necessary.

Jess Made Gallant Show.

Willard had scarcely tottered out Yet for six rounds this giant from Kansas, long past the fighting age, made a gallant show of it. He took harder blows in other rounds than the ones under which he seemed to wilt in that eighth.

Willard started briskly and with a gay sort of smile. Firpo crowded him smiling ponderously, to the head with the right hand. Despite all the tutelage of Jim Deforest, Firpo seemed to remain a one-handed fighter. His right was all that he had, but it was enough. At the end of the seventh round Joe Humphries, who has been sitting somewhere in the shadows contemplating

New York, July 12.—George Godfrey Jimmy Dougherty's sable meal ticket, has two fights scheduled for the near future. One is with Bill Tate and the other with Tut Jackson. Godfrey's ribs have recovered their original form, and he is in good condition. Jack Dempsey, with whom George sparred at Great Falls, and from whom the big dinger received two fractured ribs, says that if Godfrey develops a fighting heart he will be the greatest mauler that nature. Godfrey is a born Alamaba body-servant. He should be a majordromo in some southern mansion, his chief duty being to bow visitors in and out of the door and to fetch mint Juleps upon all required occasions. Strong, fast, a hard hitter, an excellent boxer, George is governed by the servant complex. He will be chiefly remembered in Great Falls by the doftings of his cap, his bowings and scrapings whenever he met a prominent citizen or anyone of the feminine persuasion, from small girls to old women.

scrapings whenever he met a prominent citizen or anyone of the feminine persuasion, from supall girls to old women.

"Howdy, Miss! Howdy, Cunnel!" his big, genial Bert Williams voice could be heard for blocks. His very geniality was the cause of the only adversity he suffered in Great Falls. Surrounded by a group of citizens, George confided that he had great difficulty in holding back his punches when boxing with the champion. Dempsey heard of this, and next day when the two met he advised George to wade in as hard as he liked. A minute later Godfrey was on the floor with his ribs stove in.

The story of Jack Renault's victory over the negro is a study of negro psychology. Preparing for the fight, Godfrey, who has all the superstitions of his race, smeared himself with a mixture of evil-smelling herbs of all sorts, sent him from Alamaba.

Leo Flynn, Renault's manager, who knows something about negroes, he being manager of Kid Norfolk, made his way into Godfrey's dressing-room before the battle. Jimmy Dougherty, Godfrey's manager, was in the South, unable to protect his man. "I know what you got on you, you big smoke," Flynn blustered; "you've got oil of mustard. You think you are going to blind my man with the fumes."

"So you got a charm on, eh, you chunk of soot! Well, you'll get charmed. The fight hall is filled with Ku Klux, and they're on to you, and are going to get you. You'll be swinging from the electric lights after the first round."

Trembling, George washed off the magic preparation, and when he went into the ring he had no purpose other than to take the count as quickly as he could. At least, this is the story Jimmy Dougherty tells, and he says to wait until the next time Godfrey gets Renault into the ring with him.

There is a general golf instruction, having to do with the fundamentals of the game, and which anyone can easily obtain. In the memory of most children there are milestones with blank stretches in between. Teresa Desond's first landmark was in June, just before her seventh birthday. There was an old rose garden at Silverwood. All the rose trees were

MIDDLE-AGED MEN

Nerves and Blood Are Life
The lack of nerve force is found among men of all ages. This is true with men in all walks of life, from the day laborer to the mechanic or professional man. Merchant and clergy are alike sufferers—no man is exempt from the allment who has rebelled against nature's laws—so if you have the result of overwork, dissipation, sedentary habits or worry, and your vital organs are disturbed, remember, delay in seeing the right doctor makes it more difficult to overcome the symptoms, and you might reach an incurable condition beyond relief if you delay too long.

My Equipment
Is composed of the latest and best known agents in Electrical, Surgical and Mechanical Apparatus, and I am prepared by the knowledge of their uses and the experiences in prescribing them-so as to get the greatest uniform results from them.

I Am Prepared to Give You Serums. Bacterins, Vaccines and any and all forms of treatment of this character that have been tried and proved a success.

YOUNG MEN — THINK OF YOUR FUTURE

How about it, are you qualified to face it—are others doing more and getting more out of life than you are? Find out, if you don't know already, what is dragging you down. No one can violate nature's laws and succeed. I have helped thousands physically, mentally, morally. I believe I (as I have thousands of other men), can help you. Just be frank and tell us your troubles. Let me help you to regain and maintain your health.

Constitute a large part of my practice. At this time of life a most important physicological change takes place and men feel the need of an experienced doctor for men to not only treat them at this critical period but as well to advise them as to what to do and what to avoid to regain health, strong nerves and a sound body once more.

Opinion on both sides is being expressed very freely, many taking the stand of Mayor Wenige, who adheres to his statement that the pool should be kept open on Sunday, and who states that a petition to this effect is being circulated and is receiving many signatures.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

I know you want your paper to be absolutely fair in dealing with the question that is now before the public in regard to the opening of the swimming pools on Sunday. We ask no favors. We are convinced that when the public really understand what we are contending for, there will be no question as to their attitude.

The mayor quotes Port Stanley. We are glad he is with us. We only wish he had been with us when the policy in regard to Port Stanley was being determined. We were protesting, but he gave us no support to be the control of the After feaving the vicinity of the swimming pools on Sunday. We ask wimming pools on Sunday. We ask no favors. clear that the question we were discussing was not "Is it right or is it wrong to swim on Sunday?" One wonders that tend to destroy the sanctity of the Lord's Day.

We are discussing the opening of the swimming pools on Sunday as part of the city playgrounds policy. We contend that the relation in which the problem is discussed makes all the difference in the world.

I may be indifferent to a hole a rat if that hole is dug in a dyke, I am a larmed. I plug it up and I call the attention of the authorities to the danger of the whole country being flooded.

It is urged the swimming pool should be opened on Sunday. One wonders what percentage of the patronage of the patronage of the pool on the two Sundays it was open was of the class they call "the poor workingman." If I understand the workingman, what he wants is justice and fair dealing. If the above gentlemen had shown their practical interest and support when the churches and the Social Service Council were agitating for a minimum wage for girls; for mothers' pensions; for early closing on Saturday night, etc., their present profespensions; for early closing on Saturday night, etc., their present profession of interest in "the poor workingman" would carry more convicthat he owes his legal right to one day's rest in seven to the Lord's Day act. That act was put on the statute books of Canada after seven year of agitation by the Lord's Day Alli-ance and the churches. Sir Wilfrid Laurier gave that measure the sup-port of his government because, as he said, he wanted to save Canada from a continental Sunday. That is the issue before us today.

Third Time Thieves Have Stolen Valuables From Dundas Street Shop.

Thieves stole a necklace and watch cases from the jewelry store of W. J. Wray & Co., 234 Dundas street, some time during last night, according to a

The case from which the goods were stolen, while not a portion of the window of the store, is nevertheless very easy of access, being a small showcase in the entrance way from the street, in which various articles are from time to time displayed. If I understand the workingman, what he wants is justice and fair dealing. The workingman does not forget that he owes his legal right to one day's rest in seven to the Lord's Day act .- That act was put on the statute books of Canada after seven years of agitation by the Lord's Day Alliance and the churches. #### W. C. Allen of the Snake Island Club Declares Fishing To Be the Only Life

Became a Member of London ii Anglers' Club Eleven Years Ago.

"Fishing is the only life." Such is the opinion of W. C. Allen, who is a member of the Snake Island Fishing Club, and wouldn't miss a season in the north for anything.

"It's the only real holiday," says Mr. Allen. "You get away by yourself and it's perfect relaxation. Up at Snake Island we start off in boats at 9 in the morning and fish until 6. Or perhaps we don't leave until 4 in the afternoon and then we stay out until 8. Our catch is usually large, for the black bass abound in the island channels of Lake Huron.

Mr. Allen is a true fisherman, and so declines to magnify his skill as an angler by relating marvellous "fish stories" about gigantic bass, which were conquered by his strategy. His fish are but the average of from one to two and half pounds. He con-fesses quite frankly that two and half-pounders are the largest bass he Can Shave Out of Doors. Mr. Allen is a very approachable sort of man, the type who would be a jolly companion at just such a fishing camp as Snake Island provides. He would be able to shave in the open, out of a tin can, before a cracked mirror hanging on the side of a shack, and really find humor in the situation. The majoritiy of men ould resort to a flow of strong language and probably kick over the And outdoor shaving, as well as outdoor eating, is all a part of the life of a fisherman, and helps to make

Since that time the membership has changed, about bleven men now holding shares. Mr. Allen became a member eleven years

Every year these men go north in the summer to fish in the channels among the many fishing islands of the Bruce peninsula. Early in the season the bass are to be found in the small bays, says Mr. Allen, but later on, toward the end of July, they work out among the islands. For the early season, worms are used as bait, but later the bass become more fastidious and will not bite unless they are given minnows. Hundred Fishing Islands.

The fishing islands, of which there are about a hundred, begin about fifteen miles north of Southampton, and are scattered all the way up to the head of the peninsula. Curiously the east shore of Lake Huron and the east side of Georgian Bay are better bass fishing grounds than the west

Snake Island, No. 36, of the fishing islands, is located just opposite Red Bay, which is a ten-mile drive from Wiarton. From Red Bay the island is reached by sailing vessel or motor-boat. A collection of shacks on the island, which covers about eleven acres, form the headquarters of the fishers. The largest shack is lovingfishers. The largest shack is loving-ly known as "The Tabernacle," and ly known as 'The Tabellach's is used as sleeping quarters.

The party up there now reports a wonderful catch during the past week "The fine weather." The weather has a great deal to do with the fisherman's success," says Mr. Allen. "After a storm on the lake, it takes two days for the waters to settle down, and the fish are biting."

Bertha M. Clay was never regarded as much of a literary genius, nor does she show up as much of a scenario writer. As a movie her story is collected with the control of the second of the secon is almost unredeemably stupid. Kenneth Harlan and Edith Roberts are apparently drugged as a result of inaction and don't do much to help things along. Unless there's a mistake about it, Edith Roberts has annexed a blonde wig in this pic-ture. It looks like such a state of affairs. But she is hopeless as an actress, and why people keep featuring her is a movie mystery. Only those who have read "Thorns and Orange Blossoms" may know whether the movie is anything like the book. Kenneth Harlan as the the book. Kenneth Harlan as the hero unfortunately wins the heart of a Spanish singer. Also, unfortunately, he has a romance on the other ly, he has a romance on the other side of the water, and is, as a matter mint julep. But the Spaniard is hot artist friend and the vastly romantie on the trail of her lover. But he "makes a good living"—a better living, one suspects after consideration of his lack of distinction, because Josephine arms him every morning with a farewell into which she manages to compress all her faith, all her pride in him. This is the mother's immemorial ministry. Josephine's husband does not suspect that she mothers him, that she sometimes expresses a faith and pride not the "strongest." But she has created a certain peace within him. In the few hours with her he can forget the competitive world and renew himself in the co-operative world of home. This is her way of shaping a co-operative world. Perhaps only one of her ways. One wishes that more women would learn Josephine's way. It isn't that struggle being a survival of brutes isn't only the subduing in herself of the competitive game with other women, which might tempt her to urge him on to a ruthless straining; it isn't only that she builds in herself the quiet and the dignity which inevitably lifts him above the cheaper charm of lesser women. It is rather her way of mothering a world which hurts itself incessantly in a childish scramble for prizes; her way of resolving that in her tiny empire she will wipe out every sign of the competitive struggle which makes brutes Josephine is a far greater woman than her husband is a man. She is more because she creates more. Josephine's husband, waving his morning farewell from their car, dimly suspects but does not know this. He knows only that his wife "knows how to make a home." And some essence of that home he may carry with him into his uselessly brawling struggling world—the world which the Josephines might actually make gentler and more efficient if there were enough of them. (Copyright, 1923, by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

There is one simple, safe, and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads, that is to dissolve them. To do this, get two ounces of peroxine powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and the water dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition.—Advt. The skin is Nature's own protection against germs. When it is bruised, broken or cut, that protection is withdrawn. The door is open. As quickly as possible Nature closes it by forming what we call a scab and renders you comparatively safe against infection. A few drops of Absorbine Jr. in the water will give you an antiseptic wash that will kill all possibility of infection and help nature to heal the wound. ### U.S. OPEN STARTS IN EARNES LTUDAY

Hagen Says the Test Is Hardest In Years.

Inwood County Club, July 12.—Every breathed a sigh of relief when the last scores had been turned in in the fourth round. We are all set now for the big championship which begins tomorrow. I doubt very much whether a championship will ever be played with the same conditions prevailing. The four qualifying rounds have been most uninteresting indeed and the lack of attendance at Inwood has proved this. When the field is divided up into four parts, not enough stars can get together to make the day interesting. Next year I am inclined to believe that sectional qualifying rounds will be in vogue. This will have to be done, or a country club will have to be selected which possesses two golf courses. It is hard to see a way to limit the field, as it is an open championship and everyone has a right to play. championship which begins tomorrow would be 288, but I think that this will be impossible.

It is hard to move around this course without some hard luck. Sarazen played more to the average than Kirkwood. The latter had no wind to battle against. If Gene plays four rounds his score would total 296. I never knew a golf course to be in batter condition than the course at Inwood for championship play. The test is the hardest we've had in years. Nearly all the stars agree with me on this point. The field, however, is an exceptionally good one, and I believe some one of us will be at the very top of our game. The fight should be interesting from the very first round.

One day in Chicago, on the last western trip of the Athletics, it was the fourth inning, score of to 0, two out, bases full of White Sox. Eddie Collins batting, and the count three balls and one strike. A situation, in other words. At this crisis Cy Perkins walked out toward the pitcher's box and conferred with Sheriff Bob Hasty. One thing that whets every fan's curiosity is a conference between pitcher and catcher in a pinch like that.

The following dialogue took place, in low, guttural tones:

"Well, Bob, how'd you like to be home right now, sitting on the porch?"

"Well, what're you goin' to do about this fellow?"

"Tm going to b'ar down, Perk."

"All right, Bob."

Perkins returned to the umpire's shadow and Hasty hurled over the fastest fast ball he has pitched this year, right across Collins' letter. Lansdown Eddie holsted it high to second base, and the inning was over.

Next morning one leading Chicago daily's sporting page carried a big headline: "Perkins' Great Headwork of Detroit and who boast the famous Badde Clootte as their pitcher. The Galt, July 12.—"Buck" Graham is now manager of the Terriers, having succeeded Lorenzo ("Dutch") Kress, who resigned. Graham, who caught sterling ball for the champions last year, was barred from playing this because he went to Michigan for a month, and while he will be unable to go on the coaching line, he will manage the team from the bench.

Today it was announced that a special meeting of the Inter-County League had been called for tonight at Preston to have Graham's case reopened, with the object of having him reinstated. Galt fandom is peeved over the severe action in Graham's case, in that the player has been barred for the full season.

Then they went on to the athletic part of the program, nothing daunted, and as full of that extraordinary energy that seems to be their birthright, as they had been on their arrival in the morning. Toward sunset the visitors began to entrain in their specials, in their different directions, glad to be back again in the cars that had brought them and forgot all about their sacred rights in the country.

There is assuredly no three score years and ten mark where Orangemen are concerned, whenever there is a Twelfth to be celebrated. Several cars followed the parade, and many if the older members were offered a ride. 'Ride, "they answered. "There are no old Orangemen on a day like this, and when we can't walk then we'll stay at home." There was an old country touch to the walk then we'll stay at home." There was an old country touch to the parade that seemed like a whisper from Belfast, for nearly all the lodges carried before them open Bibles. # ON EUROPEAN AFFAIRS

Market Proves Ability to Stand Up Under Adverse Conditions.

By STUART P. WEST. pecial to The Advertiser.

Wall Street, New York, July 13 .- It was a question in the market today how much the easier feeling regarding European condition was a factor, the European condition was a factor, and how much the price movement was influenced by considerations at home. The behavior of the list the last few days was evidently calculated to make an impression. The market had proved its capacity of standing up in the face of uncertainty and more or less untavorable news.

Where prices had gone down, this was not accompanied by the liquidation which there was two or three weeks ago. The dwindling volume of business, while it indicated the absence of interest on the buying side, also made it clear that there was no selling of consequence. Among individual stocks there were the outstanding features. The way Corn Prudets ran up across 120 fitted in with assertions that there was a large short interest outstanding, and that the available supply around recent quotations was comparatively small. It took very little buying also to put other speculative leaders up.

With all the bear talk based upon report sof decilming steel production and considerably lower pig iron prices, the steel shares stood their ground. Large holders of these stocks are not affected by the silly gossip about the outlook for the steel trade, and the prices at which the steel shares are likely to sell. Such predictions are invariably made in the final stages of a bear movement.

Stocks of Cuban sugar companies variably made in the final stages of a bear movement.

Stocks of Cuban sugar companies were helped by the revised estimates of the new crop, which are close to the minimum as reckoned upon for the last six months. During the greater part of the time oil stocks were little changed. Among the rails, St. Paul preferred and Northern Pacific were selling off, while the balance of the group were steady.

It is calculated on the basis of earnings offered, that the St. Paul will just about cover fixed charges this year. The street is asking itself what would inappen to this road and others of the western roads if forced to make a radical cut in grain rates.

The Sugars—More light was thrown today upon the situation in the sugar trade by a comparison of stocks in the hands of the Cuban producers and the refiners. The Cuban Producing Company has less sugar than they had a year ago. The refiners have had a year ago. The refiners have had a year ago. The difference represents approximately 320,000 tons more than they had a year than at the same time last year. The refiners are operating at only 33 per refiners and retailers have bought a sub-normal quantity, and the ultimate to mouth.

Producers and Refiners.—The declaration of an extra dividend of 12th per refiner in addition to the regular quarter-y payment of 87½c on the preferred atock of Producers and Refiners today, fitted in with the reports given out a few months ago of the large earnings of the company, and its intention to place the preferred and common stocks on the same basis. Both shares protected that action on the dividend of the Timken Roller Beauing Common will be taken in August, which will be later than some have looked for. The idea of a meeting this month has been abandoned. However, there is still a feeling that the present 33 rate would increase to at least $4. It has been abandoned. TRADE MOVING STEADILY AND MERCHANTS ARE BUSY

London.—Reports to Bradstreet's say that business here is moving steadily at both wholesale and retail stores, and merchants are fairly busy for the summer season. In some instances recent purchases of light summer and sports goods have been heavier than usual at this time of year, owing to the fact that the late backward spring delayed public buying until the weather became warmer. Industry is steady.

Crops: Harvesting of the hay crop is in progress and the yield is heavy. Grains generally are looking well.

DIVIDENDS DECLARED

Steel products declared regular quarterly $1 dividend, payable July 31st, stock record July 17.

Producers and Refiners declared an extra dividend of 21½ cents and regular quarterly 87½ cents dividend on preferred, both payable August 6, stock record July 23. This places issue on seme basis as common stock.

Brompton and Quebec Railway Shares Lead in Point of

by Johnston & Ward.

Montreal, July 13.—Today's session of the Montreal Stock xchange was another extremely dull affair. Only one stock had a turnover in excess of 300 shares to the noon hour, viz Brompton, with 345 shares selling at 36 to 36½, a fractional gain over yesterday's level.
Quebec Railway attracted some attention, 160 shares being transacted at 20%.
Brazilian Traction lost one quarter to 46%, with sales of about 200 shares in the first two hours. The only other issue to exceed the 100-share mark was Canadian General Electric. The stock advanced to 9%.

The other departments of the list were almost entirely neglected. A few shares of British Empire second improved to 20. Abitibi changed hands at 58¼, down one quarter from the close. Shawinigan advanced three quarters to 115% on broken lots. Steel of Canada declined one half to 68½.

Wrigley Company Shows Larger Business in 1923 Than Ever Before.

Special to The Advertiser.

New York, July 13.—The jaws of the gum chewers of America developed more energy in the first half of 1923 than ever before. This energy has developed an industry which is returning millions of dollars annually to those engaged in it.

William Wrigley, jr., head of the William Wrigley, jr., Company, said today that the first half of 1923 showed the largest business in the history of the company for a similar period. The prospects for the remainder of the year, he added, were even brighter. Mr. Wrigley declined to state the number of packages sold during the year so far, but they run far into the millions. B. H. Bramble, general sales manager of the American Chicle Company, said that the business of that company was very substantially better for the first half of 1923 than it was for the same period in 1922.

Mr. Bramble explained that the gum that the business of that company was very substantially better for the first half of 1923 than it was for the same period in 1922.

Mr. Bramble explained that the gumbusiness was good throughout the entire country, and that the last 'six months of the year would show a demand far in excess of the first half. Prosperity throughout the United States is general. "People," is the way he explained it. "have plenty of money in their pockets, and it's natural for the gum business to be good under these conditions."

ANGE

The increased sales of gum within the last year have resulted in a largely increased trade in chicle, the basis of chewing gum. Thousands of additional chicleries have been employed in the forests of Yucatan, Campeche and Quintanaroo, Mexico, this year gathering this product, which is produced by the sapote tree. Prices now are quoted at 60 to 70 cents a pound, and importations are heavier than ever before.

New Refrigerator Ship Line.

Steps are now being taken to organize a ten million dollar co-operative organization which will either build or purchase a fleet of ten refrigerator ships to be used in transporting California fresh fruits and vegetables to Atlantic and gulf ports. The major part of the money to finance this proposition already has been pledged. According to ready has been proved feasible. It is said to the california state division of markets, and commissioning of at least some units of the fleet by January 1.

Iron Mountain. in the Missouri Ozarks, which yielded millions of tons of ore a half-century ago, again is being mined in the hope of supplying St. Louis steel mills with cheaper and better ore than is obtainable from Minnesota. Engineers say the mines on Iron Mountain can be counted on to produce 3,000 tons a day for 40 years. The producing company is headed by Leonard Busby, Chicago traction magnate, and the St. Louis Coke and Iron Company has contracted for the output. The ore, which runs, about 58 per cent iron, will be concentrated before shipment to cut freight charges.

Chicago, July 12.—Wheat moved upward a little in price today during the early dealings. influenced chiefly by some falling off in the volume of hedging sales and optimism in various quarters as to a settlement of the Ruhr problem. The market had a sold-out appearance, and even ardent bears seemed disposed to use caution in view of recent sharp declines. Recommendations that winter wheat acreage be reduced tended further to strengthen the market. Opening quotations, which varied from unchanged figures to 1/2c higher, were followed by a moderate general advance, with July and Sepber both rising above $1.

After opening at 1/3c decline to a like advance, corn scored a material advance all around.

Oats were unheld by the action of other cereals, but kept within narrow limits, starting unchanged to 1/3c off, and later making slight general gains.

EXPORT CATTLE CREATE

Good Prices Prevail When the Canadian Animals Are Sold by Auction.

Special to The Advertiser Toronto, July 13 .- The market opened on Monday with a rather heavy run of about 5,000 cattle offering. The export ouyers were taking fewer cattle than in the past weeks, and in consequence of the slackening in the export demand, prices in the heavy steers class declin-ed from 25c to 50c. About 200 of the best heavy export steers sold from $7.75 to $8.25. This left quite a few of the heavy steers available for the local and domestic demand, the packers taking them at around the same prices as for export, $7.75 to $8, and a few extra choice at $8.25.

In the butcher section prices held about steady, best choice arown $7.75 to $8, and a fair kind, $7.75 to $7.50. Receipts included a rather too large proportion of half-green and unfinished grass cattle, selling lower at around $6 to $6.50. Choice butcher cows and bulls were in good demand all through the week, and steady around $5.75, with a medium kind around $4.50 to $4.75.

Export buls were not much in demand, and weaker at $4.50 to $4.75.

Calves this week were a little stronger, holding firm from $10 to $10.50.

Sheep and lambs held stronger, lambs selling firm at 16c to 16½c, and year-lings around $10 to $11.

Hogs steady in the early part of the week at $7.75 f. o. b., but advancing to $6 f. o. b., and $8.50 fed and watered on Wednesday and Thursday's markets.

Evidence of the deep interest taken in the export of Canadian cattle to England is seen in the following extracts from a letter from the Ontario government office. 163 Strand. London:

"Canadian cattle certainly appear on this side to be, as wegards the immediate future, the brightest and most hopeful feature of Canadian trade with Britain. It is astonishing the amount of publicity which the subject still receives in the English press, and it would be a thousand pities if the promises made to the meat trade and the British public in connection with the Dominion for the removal of the embargo were allowed for any avoidable reason to fall sinct in their fulfillment.

"As illustrating the interest which traders are showing in the comparatively small consignments of Canadian cattle that have been landed here recently, reference may be made to the 300 head which came on the Caledonian last week. These cattle had been consignment had come there in the stanley cattle market, Liverpool, and as it had been 27 years since a previous consignment had come there were no fewer than 220 buy-eres present. One buyst bought 40

WANT AD TIPS

A Want Ad Teaser Campaign

In advertising men's parlance, a "teaser" is a mysterious dvertisement, usually concealing the advertiser's name and his product, which is used to arouse maximum curiosity and interest in an announcement to be made later. Several small: mysterious messages appear. What are they all about? People wonder and speculate. When the denouement comes, they are "all ears" for it.

A far greater number read the announcement, and read it with real attention, than were it published without the preliminary curiosity arousers.

A classified advertiser who used the same idea produced fancy hennery eggs. He was getting ready to advertise them regularly on the Want Ad page. When he made his initial announcement of the name he had adopted, and details of delivery, he wished a lot of people to be "all ears" for what he had to say. This is how he brought about that result:

For three days he scattered the same one-line message through the classifications open to him. This line ran, "The best eggs ever sold." There was no name, no address.

Then came this for three days: "The best eggs ever laid or sold. Who offers them? Read Friday's paper.

Finally, in Friday's paper, the advertiser inserted a long Want Ad-fifteen lines-telling about his eggs and the delivery service he gave to insure absolute freshness. Thereafter, he ran his advertising, varying the copy somewhat, regularly twice a week.

The human bump of curiosity is large. Nearly any mysterious Want Ad will arouse general curiosity, a condition which makes easy the composition of effective "teaser" Want Ads. A week is a sufficiently long period for the teaser to appear. They should be brief. Several used in each issue of the newspaper is good presentation. (All Rights Reserved.)

New York, July 13.—Since the days of Pete McCoy, supposed to have been the gamest man of the old bare-knuckle days, have never seen a fighter do what Jess Willard did last night, when he was counted out on one knee in the eighth round of his fight with Luis Firpo. McCoy was game all through his career, but he quit cold in his last fight, perhaps Willard did not quit last night, perhaps Willard did not quit last night, but he certainly did not strain himself trying to get up.
Willard seemed to me to be assuming the attitude as he was taking the count—"I've feathered my nest, you can all jump in the lake."

Firpo won last night. So did Jack Kearns. It begins to look as if Harry Wills, the patient Senegambian, must be paired with big Jess as another loser of the night, for, in view of what happened, Wills' stuff won't sell at anywhere near the figure the internationally-flavored Dempsey-Firpo . . . .

To Kearns sitting by the ringside last night, Firpo battering Willard to Day At Port Stanley Expected his knees and out would only be an indistinct haze. Kearns' mental picture would be of an enlarged Boyle's 30 acres, the heart-rendering groans of disappointed thousands unable to jam their way in, and Firpo and Dempsey facing each other for a paltry million or so.

it's safer to do their own upsetting where St Thomas is concerned.

Last night they went through a searching batting practice. Down, Pring and Nopper threw everything at the local stick-wielders they could command in an effort to quicken up the optics, and they made a good showing. Since Eillings showed so well at Galt, Saints look still more formidable from a pitching angle. McPhee, however, was probably not allowed to extend himself in view of his task here on Saturday, and he should be fresh for the assignment, the importance of which isn't being overlooked by the Saints.

St. Thomas, July 12.—Manager George Nethercott put his men over the bumps at Pinafore Park tonight in preparation for the Southern Ontario Baseball League fixture at London Saturday, which will be the crucial battle of the second series. St. Thomas and London are battling for the top rung of the ladder, and the Londoners have been beaten only once in the second half. beaten only once in the second half, and that was by the Saints. The ninth-inning rally by the Galt Terriers in Galt Wednesday, beating St. Thomas, was the third time that St. Thomas has been beaten by the Terriers in the final frame. In the seni-finals last year Galt nosed out St. Thomas twice in the ninth, finally eliminating the locals.

One of the strongest teams that St. Thomas has put into the field will face London Saturday.

Stratford, July 12.—A double bill is offered by the Stratford Baseball teams for Saturday afternoon of this week, and a great day's sport is looked for. Stratford C. N. R. Apprentices, fighting hard for the leadership of the Apprentice League, will be host to the London crew. London defeated Stratford by just one run in London Jast Saturday, errors contributing largely to the locals loss. The Stratford lads are confident that they can trim London. If they do they will knot up the group and make a play-off for honors necessary. Following the apprentice game, Stratford Southerners will engage Woodstock in basebail combat.
