FAIRBANK LEAVES $375,000 Scores Believed Dead As Quake Rocks South California

TO APPEAL DECISION ON FARES

Instructions Issued by the City
Solicitor To Fight Rail
Board Ruling.

BECK ACT INVOKED
Ald. Douglass Believes 1922
Change in Franchise May Have Been Illegal.

The fares fight is not over yet. An appeal was ordered this morning by City Solicitor T. G. Meredith, K.C., against the ruling of the Ontario railway and municipal board.

Following the adverse decision of Saturday, Mr. Meredith conferred with Ald. Frank McKay. Today instructions were issued to open an appeal against the board's ruling.

"We will appeal the case on a number of points," Mr. Meredith declared this afternoon. "I cannot give full particulars just yet."

Opinion of the five-member board concerning the five-cent fare ruling, Ald. L. H. Douglass, M.D., declared today that an appeal would be entered. Ald. Frank McKay believes other members of the council are unable to accept the judgment of the railway board as final.

Not only will an appeal be entered against the decision, but victory is claimed in the interpretation of the act of 1922.

May Use Beck Act.
There is a strong possibility of the Beck act of 1912 being brought into play in appealing the fares judgment. By means of the act of 1912, the council might seek to have the fares act of 1922 invalidated so as to destroy value of precedents quoted in the board's latest finding.

Upon the arrival in London of the railway board's judgment on Saturday, Ald. Frank McKay, chairman of No. 1 committee, conferred with the city solicitor in order to discuss chances of an appeal. Ald. L. H. Douglass will also confer with City Solicitor Meredith. A report from the solicitor will be brought before No. 1 committee at its meeting on Thursday.

Ald. Douglass points to the Beck act of 1912 as providing that many franchises in existence before March, 1909, could not be changed without a vote of the people. Therefore, the change in franchise effected by the act of 1922 was illegal, as no vote was taken in support of the change. He believes that the wrong light has been shed on the city's rights, and that proper interpretation of the act of 1912, as applicable to legislation since then, will profit the city. He is ready to support an appeal against the railway board's judgment.

Another interpretation.
While believing that an appeal is possible, Ald. McKay states that, according to the letter of the law, the Beck act of 1912 applied only to extensions of lines, and not to fares or other franchise agreements. At least the act is interpreted as applying only to line extensions.

City Solicitor Meredith is of the opinion that the Beck act of 1912 is of the continued on page 3, column 6.

LONDON ROLLING MILLS TO BE BIG POWER USERS

Block of 4,000 Horsepower of Hydro Needed for Smelting
Furnaces.

BIGGEST CITY USER
Will Mean Substantial Increase in Surplus Revenue of P. U. C.

Decision of the management of the London Rolling Mills company to install electric smelters in the big new steel plant soon to be erected in conjunction with the mills at the foot of William street, will give the local hydro department a new customer of first importance.

The company, it is understood, will utilize electricity exclusively for the smelting of steel and will provide for a plant with an eventual consumption of nearly 4,000 horsepower. This amount is far in excess of the amount required by those at present rated as the city's best consumers, namely: The Corn Flakes, McClary company, car shops, Empire Brass, London and Port Stanley railway, and London street railway.

The use of this block of power will necessitate the provision of great substation capacity in the south end industrial area, but will yield a substantial increase in surplus revenues to the public utilities commission. As recently announced in The Advertiser, the Rolling Mills company, of which Mr. J. Frank White, Conservative M.P. for London, is a part owner and official, intends as soon as possible to embark upon the manufacture of steel in addition to the present lines of rolled iron.

This enterprise will be a matter of much importance to London and, it is expected, will mean the employment of an increased staff.

LEVI GENERAL,
Chief of the Six Nations Indians, whose death occurred suddenly yesterday morning on the Tuscarora reservation near Niagara Falls, N. Y.

CHIEF'S DEATH IS BLOW TO FACTION

Indians' Independent Movement
Liable To Collapse As Result.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Brantford, June 29.—It is believed in circles here in touch with the Six Nations that the death of Buffalo, Chief Levi General will prove a knockout blow to the independent faction which viewed him as leader. General was undoubtedly the brains of the movement, which demanded through the league of nations that the sovereignty and independence of the Six Nations be recognized, a move which failed.

Otherwise, however, the movement, restricted in its nature, may proceed, although the remaining leaders will not talk. These were undoubtedly grievances, but some of them have been redressed and with regard to the actual observance of the letter of agreements with the Six Nations Indians, many of the later day generation believe in fewer rather than more restrictions.

Many of the Indians favored the elective council as against the old council of hereditary chiefs, and are for wider education to enable the Indian to stand side by side with the white as his equal. The cause of the "nationalists" has suffered its greatest possible loss in Levi General's death.

Associated Press Despatch.

DR. BATESON REALIZES GOLFER'S AMBITION

Makes Hole in One On Course at the Byron Sanatorium.

Dr. U. E. Bateson, 616 Richmond street, has accomplished what every golfer dreams about, but which few realize. The doctor is now entitled to join that very exclusive golfing club known as the "Hole in One."

Last week Dr. Bateson journeyed to the Byron sanatorium golf course and walloped the ball with a snappy crack as he teed off from the 9th hole.

Approaching the green, Dr. Bateson looked in vain for the little white ball. Finally his companion told him he better look in the cup, as it might be there.

It was, and now the London physician is the envy of all his golfing friends and the hero of the sanatorium course.

Associated Press Despatch.
San Francisco, June 29.—The Southern Pacific Railway Company reports 65 dead at Santa Barbara as a result of the earthquake.

The American Red Cross headquarters here are negotiating for all available army aeroplanes here to rush a fully equipped relief force to Santa Barbara.

The Santa Barbara exchange of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company was demolished by the earthquake, information to company headquarters at San Francisco over a crippled wire said shortly before 9 a.m.

Associated Press Despatch.
Santa Barbara, Cal., June 29.—All the brick buildings in Santa Barbara were demolished this morning, including the Arlington hotel, by the earthquake, which swept the state, and it seems to have centered its ferocity on this city. Water mains and river reservoirs were broken and the city was partly flooded.

Two fires started in the city, but so far little damage has been reported due to fire.

It is feared that there may be considerable loss of life, particularly in the ruins of the Arlington hotel, one of whose walls collapsed like an eggshell.

The main street of the city upheaved and buckled under the tremor, and as the water mains parted, gasers shot up through the pavement.

JUDGE MCGILLIVRAY DIES

Canadian Press Despatch.
Whitby, June 28.—T. A. McGillivray, senior judge for Ontario county, died here today, aged 68 years, after a short illness. He was born in Whitby and received his appointment to the bench in 1912 as registrar of the surrogate court of Ontario county. His wife, two sons and a daughter survive.

ALFRED GUNTHER
DIES SUDDENLY
Head of City Wholesale Firm
Succumbs At His Office.

Alfred Gunther, head of the firm of A. Gunther & Co., and exceptionally well known in London as a commercial traveller, dropped dead at his offices, 130 Carling street, shortly before 10 o'clock this morning. He had apparently been in excellent health, but stricken with a sudden heart attack, he was found dead by his son, Arthur Gunther, before medical aid could be given.

Mr. Gunther, who lived in London for the greater part of his life, was for many years a commercial traveller for the district. He was born in Germany 55 years ago, but came to Canada with his parents when a young boy. He commenced as a traveller when 18 years of age and in succeeding years acquired a host of friends who looked upon him as a true citizen, popularized through his genial personality and irreproachable business methods.

Dr. Cameron Wilson was called soon after Mr. Gunther was found. Death was due to an acute heart attack, he said. An inquest was unnecessary.

Mr. Gunther was a prominent member of Kilwinning lodge, A. F. & A. M. He was an active member of the London Bowling club, and an enthusiastic bowler and member of the city's team. He belonged to Knox church.

More than two years ago he commenced business for himself with his son, Arthur, as his partner. The firm was established as wholesale agents for hats and caps.

Besides his wife, five sons, Roy of Kitchener, Claude of Toronto, and Rodney and William, at home 75 Byron avenue, one brother, Fred Gunther of Detroit, and three sisters, Mrs. Adam Hendrick of Lismore, Mrs. Martin Berger of Milverton, and Mrs. Joseph Burns of Winnipeg are the survivors.

The delay is costly.
Existing difficulties in connection with the navigation of the big steamer in and out of Port Stanley harbor do not seem so great as to be incapable of solution at comparatively small cost. The present trouble has arisen, because when the St. Ignace is at her slip the channel is so narrow that it is impossible to tow out the scows no disposition was made to dredge the floor of the harbor. The delay thus occasioned is said to cost the dredging contractor large sums of money for which no provision was made in the contract with the dominion government. But if a temporary arrangement can be arrived at for the next two weeks it is expected that the first twelve-foot strip of the widening of the channel will be completed, and this particular angle of the problem will disappear.

But there is a danger, both to the boat and to the pier, owing to the size and weight of the vessel. There are no fender piles alongside the slip where the vessel docks, and the result is that each time she ties up there is considerable damage done to the pier and also to the paddle boxes of the steamer, which is a side-wheel.

The marine insurance companies have refused to make good damage to the vessel or cargo. It was one reason why the Western Reserve was brought to a stop.

Identification of the victims was established through the finding of a Sunday school book, bearing Woodring's name, on the pilot of the engine.

MAY SHARE COSTS AT HARBOR

London and St. Thomas Bodies
Move To Prevent Closing.

EXPENSE OF $800
Action Being Taken Today May Result in Temporary Solution.

Strenuous efforts being made by the local chamber of commerce and city council, and by analogous bodies in St. Thomas, may result in the finding today of a temporary solution of the problem which has arisen at Port Stanley owing to an attempt to have the harbor there closed for the remainder of the season until dredging operations are completed.

A meeting is taking place here this afternoon between officials of the Western Reserve Navigation Company, which operates the Cleveland steamer St. Ignace; R. H. Dowler, president of the chamber of commerce; Mayor Wenige, H. B. R. Craig, district engineer of the department of public works; J. E. Richards, general manager of the L. and P. S. Railway, and other interested citizens in an effort to find a solution of the problem. Following the meeting the whole body intends visiting Port Stanley to look into the situation on the spot. Arrangements are being made to meet the mayor of St. Thomas and members of the St. Thomas chamber of commerce and have them accompany the party.

Both cities have vital interests at stake in the maintenance of the boat service in and out of Port Stanley, and the proposal to close the harbor is viewed by London businessmen with something approaching consternation. President Dowler of the chamber of commerce spent a large part of Sunday in an effort to get the tangle straightened out.

Meanwhile London faces the possibility of losing the Cleveland connection altogether as it is understood that the C. P. R. have made a very attractive offer to the Western Reserve Navigation Company, whereby the harbor at Port Burwell would be the Canadian port of call for its vessels, which would mean that the freight and passenger traffic which is now handled by the London and Port Stanley railway would go through Tillsonburg.

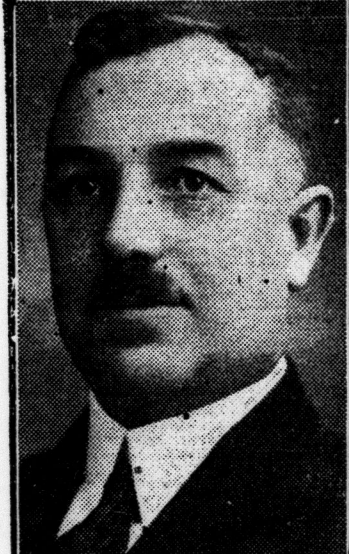

P. G. Petersen, president and general manager of the Western Reserve Navigation Company, is in the city today and is remaining over this afternoon to discuss the situation with local businessmen and officials.

Existing difficulties in connection with the navigation of the big steamer in and out of Port Stanley harbor do not seem so great as to be incapable of solution at comparatively small cost. The present trouble has arisen, because when the St. Ignace is at her slip the channel is so narrow that it is impossible to tow out the scows no disposition was made to dredge the floor of the harbor. SPLASH IS HEARD AT THAMES POOL

Official Opening This Morning
Greeted by Whoops From Youngsters.

With a whoop and a splash, the long-delayed opening of the Thames Park swimming pool, officially took place this morning.

There was no ceremony. A few hopeful youngsters who for the past week have been on hand daily to watch the progress of the filling of the big pool were there bright and early to try their luck, and this time their hopes were not disappointed. The tank was full, the supervisor was on hand and they had full permission to swim to their heart's content.

Being lightning quick change artists they were soon in bathing suits, and there was a race for the initial plunge in the waters of the pool. It must be confessed that it was a chilly plunge, but that made no difference, and meanwhile the rumor flew all over the neighborhood that the pool was open.

Kiddies with bathing suits began to arrive from all directions and by noon the pool had assumed a most animated aspect. The biggest crowd is expected this afternoon, and in view of the long delay and the publicity given to the pool it is expected that something like a record for an opening day will be created.

KLANSMEN BALKED BY MINISTER

Made To Shed Hoods and Robes Before Entering Auditorium of Church.

KLAN SERMON HEARD
Congregation Unaware That Members of Order Were in Church.

Uninvited, and unknown to the people with whom they worshipped, the executives and members of the local Klu Klux Klan convoked attended divine service in Hyatt avenue United church yesterday morning.

It was not the intention that the Klan should so appear, however. Members of the Klan executive were robbing themselves in their distinctive and notorious white hoods in the basement of the church, preparatory to proceeding to the auditorium for the sermon, when Rev. R. J. McCormick, pastor of the church, happening upon them, flatly denied them the privilege of attending the service in any other guise than that of ordinary citizens.

Only after a lengthy and heated word battle did the mysterious visitors accede to Mr. McCormick's pronouncement and agree to lay aside the robes of the hooded order. They then went upstairs, and scattered about the auditorium, apparently to a Protestant or anti-Catholic address delivered by B. C. Eckhardt, lay preacher, Nilestown, supposedly a Klansman, who has supplied the pulpit on previous occasions.

Strangers Coming.
Mr. Eckhardt, who was informed some days ago of the Klan's intention, took no exception and merely informed Mr. McCormick that a number of strangers would be attending the service.

Had not Mr. McCormick chanced to come upon the Klan delegation in the basement, undoubtedly they would have appeared at the service fully robed. As the congregation chattered their pastime, they were in facting the averted Klansmen, undauntedly barring their pathway to the auditorium above, despite protests of a more or less threatening nature. Mr. McCormick held his ground and argued with such force that the first of London's Klu Kluxers to appear in the open tucked their swaddling sheets and hoods under their arms and as unostentatiously as possible joined the congregation above.

Despite the brush between Mr. McCormick and the Klansmen, Mr. Eckhardt delivered his sermon as prepared, and while unrecognized by the congregation as a Klan address, it was so declared to be later by members of the order. The regular attendants of the Hyatt avenue church proceeded to their homes as the close of the service blissfully ignorant of the drama which had been enacted in their very midst.

First Appearance.
The fact of the Klu Klux Klan in London attending a public service, even though unknown to practically any one but their own selves, constituted an anti-climax to the burning of three large fiery crosses within the past month in the immediate vicinity of Roman Catholic institutions.

At Woodstock, a month ago, a Sunday afternoon meeting of the Klan was held, presided over by Little Egan, and yesterday morning's surprising event at Hyatt avenue church marks only the second occasion on which the Klan, in doing so, declared their program to be "good if it is lived up to by the order."

SIMON LELIEVRE DIES

Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, June 28.—Simon Lelievre, LL.B., assistant clerk of the senate, died yesterday en route to Montreal.

Operation Prolongs Life of World's Largest Apple Tree

The largest apple tree in the world is dying. After more than 140 years growth it has reached a period of failing health. It was operated upon last week in order that its strength might be preserved for at least another few years. The tree is situated in itself as large as any ordinary tree, was severed.

Springbank is the tree's home on property at the summer resort of U. A. Buchner. It has been object of wonderment for years—the largest apple tree in all the world. Two years ago it yielded more than eight barrels of three different varieties of Canadian apples. Its trunk is more than seven feet in diameter. Its branches from one extremity to another measure 54 feet.

The tree is dying, people who remember its appearance in years gone by, declare. It is dying, but by submitting to operation last week and losing one of its limbs, it will conserve energy sufficient for at least two years of life.

CITIES SUFFER HEAVILY AS EARTHQUAKES ROCK FOUR NORTHERN STATES

Terror Reigns in Montana, Washington, Idaho and Wyoming When Series of Tremors Demolishes Buildings, Causing Property Loss of Half Million—People Sleep in Streets For Safety.

RAILWAYS AND ROADS BLOCKED BY SLIDES

Associated Press Despatch. Livingstone, Mont., June 28.—Mother earth regained her composure today after badly shaking up last night four states in the northern half of the Continental Divide—the Rocky Mountains range. The report of a new tremor at Three Forks, Mont., at 10:45 o'clock this forenoon, however, caused some apprehension to the population of the section of southern Montana.

Idaho, Montana, Washington and Wyoming felt the oscillations of the earth last night, but central Montana received the heaviest buffets. Scores of cities and towns in central Montana suffered severe tremors, while their residents, many of them panic-stricken, hastily vacated business structures and homes.

Railroads Blocked.

Landslides on many mountains blocked highways and railways. No loss of life occurred, according to meagre reports.

Damage to property, based on scant information is estimated at around $500,000. Towns in the Gallatin Valley were the heaviest sufferers, damage estimated there running to $200,000.

Three passenger trains were hemmed in by avalanches near Lombar, Mont. A Northern Pacific train also was blocked by a landslide at Lombar. A small cave-in occurred in the Lombar tunnel on the Milwaukee line last night, which temporarily blocked the passage of trains through it.

Fear that the earth upheaval might be continued with disastrous effect, prompted the residents of Three Forks and Manhattan to vacate their homes and sleep in the streets. They also moved their household effects from the houses, and today prepared their Sunday repairs outdoors. Patrols of police and volunteer citizens were thrown about buildings in Three Forks to guard weak structures where danger of falling walls existed. Plans to raise with dynamite several of the shattered structures were under consideration, the authorities said.

BUILDING DEMOLISHED.

Associated Press Despatch. Butte, Mont., June 28.—Sections of four western states were harassed by earthquakes for three hours last night. Panic resulted in practically every city in Western Montana.

Pavements and buildings were cracked in many cities; a half-dozen buildings were reported to have been demolished, and electric railway lines temporarily crippled, and there was a recurrence of the recent avalanche at Jackson, Wyo., but nowhere was any loss of life reported.

The convulsions of the earth shook two loaded cars of coal from their perch on an overhead dock at Bozeman, and they ran wild down the decline, piling up at the bottom and botting up the exit of the round-house there.

MAJOR W. D. SHARPE, M.D., Retiring president of the G.W.V.A., whose place is being taken by Gen. Sir Richard Turner, V.C.

Livingstone was shaken four times, and most of the cities in the danger area reported many shocks. Apparently the shocks began at 6:23 o'clock and lasted intermittently until well after 10. The quake was felt from Seattle east to the South Dakota line; from Spokane south to Thompsonville and Casper, Wyo.

BIG DOMINION DAY CELEBRATION PORT STANLEY WEDNESDAY.

GOOD SAMARITAN IS BITTEN BY COLLIE

Mrs. R. E. Sanders of Beaconsfield Avenue Injured by Canine Vagrant.

While trying to free a strange dog from the coils of a rope entwined about its hind legs, Mrs. R. E. Sanders, Beaconsfield avenue, was severely bitten on the arm yesterday morning. The dog was a yellow collie with a white neck. A passing traffic constable was notified and searched the vicinity for the dog. He gave chase to an answering description, but it was found to be the wrong one. A physician was called to cauterize the bite. Mrs. Sanders was reported as improved this morning.

VOLLE BALL AND GOLF FOR SUMMER STUDENTS

Miniature golf is to be one of the pastimes of the summer school students of the University of Western Ontario this year. The first students arrived today. The links were laid out this morning, according to Dr. H. R. Kingston, director of the summer school.

In addition to golf, the students will play volleyball and tennis on the college courts. One new course has been added to the curriculum. It is a special study in agriculture and nature work which will be of benefit to rural teachers. The lectures start tomorrow. It is expected that the enrollment will exceed 100 students.

PIANO EMPLOYEES ENJOY BIG OUTING

Over 200 From Sherlock-Manning Plants Picnic at Port Stanley.

Special to The Advertiser.

Port Stanley, June 28.—Sherlock-Manning Piano Company's outing staged here Saturday afternoon was a decided success in every way. Over 200 employees from the London and Clinton factories were present. A special train brought the picnicers to the beach early in the morning. At noon lunch was served on the heights after which a long list of sports was run off. The softball game staged on the beach in the afternoon was one of the features of the day, when the Neverlocks, captained by William McFarland, handed C. Comber's Die Hards a 35-22 defeat.

The feature attraction of the day was the brass band composed of employees of the Clinton plant. The committee in charge of the affair was: Chairman, J. R. Stephenson; H. Doherty, R. Chown, A. Larke and J. E. Sherlock.

Scored Stained.

Harbor men, after three days' work, were successful in raising a scow which sunk in the harbor mouth last Tuesday. Divers were used in the raising operations. The scow sank when being towed out to the lake to be emptied and since its sinking has been a menace to harbor traffic. It is owned by the Birmingham and London Company and used in the work on the dock here.

CAR OWNERS HIT BY ADVANCE IN RUBBER

Prices Go Up 15 Per Cent Within the Last Month.

Motor car owners aren't having much fun these days. First the Ferguson governments put a 3-cent tax on every gallon of gasoline, and now the price of tires has gone up once more.

On June 1 tires advanced 5 per cent and tubes 10 per cent, William Newman, tire dealer, states. Another advance came along last Thursday, bringing the total increase on some tires to 15 per cent and on others 10 per cent.

"Owing to the fact that England has cornered the crude rubber market, prices have advanced from 70 to 80 cents per pound," explained Mr. Newman. "That is the reason for the advance and we don't know when another increase is coming."

Gordon Roche, manager of the Gutta Percha Rubber Company in London, stated that the increase on June 23 was from 2 1/2 to 5 per cent. "The crude rubber market is soaring," said Mr. Roche. "Prices have advanced 100 per cent in the last year. There was a tire war on in the United States between the big tire manufacturers, but it has been wiped out now that England has gained control of the market. There is a possibility that tires and tubes will have one or two more increases in price before the summer is through."

TOURING CAR STOLEN.

A touring car belonging to George Glover, Lambeth, was stolen from the market square sometime yesterday afternoon. Mr. Glover had parked it there at 2:30, when he went to visit friends. On his return at 6:30 it was gone. It is a small touring car and bears license number 88-154.

BABY IS THROWN TO SAFETY; THREE OTHERS HURT IN CRASH

Escapes Death When Mother Acts As Car Turtles On St. Marys Road.

HIT LOOSE GRAVEL

Fifteen-months-old Baby Burke of 290 Smith avenue, Detroit, escaped unhurt, when her mother tossed her into a ditch as a big touring car, in which the family was riding, turned somersault yesterday afternoon, on the St. Mary's road, near the fourteenth concession, London township. Her father, Peter Burke, was badly cut. Her nine-year-old sister, Augustina, suffered a broken leg and other injuries, and her little brother had three ribs broken. Mrs. Burke was unhurt.

Augustina is in St. Joseph's hospital. Mr. Burke was badly cut about the wrists, by flying glass, but was able to leave the hospital yesterday afternoon.

The Burke car had just passed a sidewalk, and was not going more than 25 miles per hour, according to eye-witnesses, when the accident happened. The car ran into some loose gravel, turned almost completely around, then turned over twice, landing right side up on the edge of the ditch.

Mrs. Burke was riding in the back seat with the baby and the boy. When she realized that the accident was impending she threw the baby clear of the car into the ditch on the east side of the road. How the child escaped without honor is a mystery, but when picked up it was as bright and happy as ever.

The family was on its way to Sudbury when the accident occurred. The top of the car was completely wrecked. The steering wheel was torn off and the hood flattened to about twice its normal size. The one of the headlights was crushed almost beyond recognition, the bulb in it remained intact.

NOTE OF WARNING IN HYMAN HALL ADDRESS

A note of warning was sounded in the discourse of C. W. Curfouri in the Hyman hall Sunday. The subject, "Where Are the Dead?" mingled with the explanation of this doctrinal theme were prophetic statements of great concern for many. "Who are the wicked?" the speaker asked, "from God's standpoint? Not so much the thief, profane, gambler or bootlegger, but rather those who know the true gospel and are hiding it from the people, while they take money in the name of God."

The speaker declared that the wicked shall be suddenly cut off, and before many months pass by we shall know that this word of God is true. St. Peter refers to the great union of churches when he declares that the heavens shall catch fire and men shall be away with a great noise. Other scriptures liken it to a scroll rolled together. The conflicting things therein are already developing in such heat. The dead exist only in God's memory, but there shall be a resurrection of the dead. The one who created has power to recreate."

CASE OF MRS. MOTT ALMOST UNAVOIDABLE

Telegrams Arouse Suspicion of Officials, Says Local Vice-Consul.

In order to save delay at the border Canadians who wish to visit the United States should carry birth certificates and credentials which fully identify them. This is in brief the best way to approach the immigration officials according to C. E. B. Payne, American vice-consul here. Speaking of the case of Mrs. Mabel Mott of Toronto, who was held up at Detroit by the immigration authorities while her husband died in a Detroit hospital, Mr. Payne said that was not the purpose to make it a hardship for people to cross the line, but there were thousands who were trying in every conceivable way to evade the laws at the border.

While not conversant with the details of the case, Mr. Payne said that it was apparent that the officials were not naive. The fake telegram was one of the oldest dodges known. It was tried all the time. What appeared to be an irregularity would have to be investigated. In that case the person would have to wait while inquiries were made.

"It was an unfortunate case," said Mr. Payne. "Out of the thousands that go backward and forward there is an occasional regrettable incident. It is almost unavoidable."

Along with a birth certificate letter of identification should be carried by those who propose to visit the United States, says the vice-consul. The letters should be from a minister or prominent person and deal with the reason why a person should return to Canada in a short time, such as business interests, connections at home and so on, together with a paragraph on the character of the applicant. The immigration authorities in the face of rigid laws must be satisfied.

IDEALS IN ACTION IS NEED OF WORLD

Rev. A. L. G. Clarke Addresses Masonic Divine Service in Temple.

A world, weary of sentimental pretensions, one hundred per cent service and other alleged perfections, destructive critics, and persons whose hobby is talking, was pictured by Rev. A. L. G. Clarke, speaking at a Masonic divine service in the Masonic temple yesterday afternoon.

Introduction of the beautiful Anglican evensong added to the force of the ceremony. Mr. Clarke acted as chaplain, while the choir responded under the direction of Wor. Bro. E. W. G. Quantz. Wor. Bro. J. H. C. Woodward acted as chairman, and Very Wor. Bro. R. Booth was secretary. Rt. Wor. Bro. Birnie Smith, D.D.G.M., was also present. The offering was in aid of the local board of benevolence.

Dwelling upon the traditions of Masonry, Mr. Clarke related how, in former times, Masons were exactly what the term implies, skilled craftsmen. He told of the use of great beauties in England when stately cathedrals, imposing abbeys, and mighty castles were built with all the skill and taste for grandeur that was typical of the period.

The building ceased, but the Masonic craft, embodying as it does a constructive spirit, that knows no age nor languor, lived on. Progress was continued, and today the craft contributes much to the life of the country.

Mr. Clarke scored the hypocrisy which he claimed was noticeably retarding the advancement of the world at the present time. International relations are suffering, he said. The world is waiting for a constructive genius.

"The castles of the lords and barons of old were built for local purposes," he continued. "They were social centers, but when the crusades came, these castles were training schools for knights, who afterward left to fight the sacred fight. Abbeys and churches have broadened. Modern Masonry is a parallel. Its influence has extended. If a Mason was obligated to no one but a brother Mason, then the craft would soon develop into a select mutual benefit society."

"The Mason voluntarily takes a higher standard of morals and ethics than that accepted by the world. His symbols are not ornaments; they illuminate high ideals. The world is tired of sentimental pretensions, 100 per cent service and 100 per cent other things. It needs people who will live to their ideals. There is a nobility of purpose in Masonry that urges men to play a constructive part in the life of their community and to strive to follow the example of the master craftsman."

One of the Pitfalls That Beset a Widow

Reprinted from Toronto Mail and Empire.

WIDOW OF NOVELIST SUING UNDERTAKER

Claims Huge Overcharge for Funeral of Creator of "Wallford."

Mrs. Chester alleged that while she was in a state bordering on mental and physical collapse following her husband's unexpected death last February, she was induced to make an assignment of $8,000 out of a $25,000 life insurance policy to Campbell (an undertaker) to cover the expenses of the funeral, and that she received back a receipted bill for $7,972.17 and $27.83 in cash. She alleges an overcharge on the part of Campbell of $6,543.17.

If a Trust Company had been made executor of Mr. Chester's will it would have been impossible for persons seeking financial gain to prey upon the emotions of his widow, to the decided detriment of her future livelihood.

The London & Western Trusts Company has facilities for determining the necessary expenses incurred by a funeral. An overcharge is never countenanced.

This is but one of the many advantages of appointing The London & Western Trusts Company as administrator of your estate.

Next in importance to amassing an estate is the making of a will to insure its careful disposition.

A consultation will be welcomed.

Undaunted Presbyterians Answer Call of Auld Kirk In Big Rally at Springbank

Twenty-Five Hundred Brave Storms To Show Loyalty To Cause.

PRESENTATION MADE

Rev. Banks Nelson Brings Cheers With Optimistic Prediction.

The banner of Presbyterianism, representative of the asserted religious freedom and independence of the "auld kirk," was acclaimed with vigor and determination by 2,500 church people gathered at Springbank park on Saturday afternoon. Bravely discountenancing intermittent showers, the assembled throng stoutly defended their cause, proudly upheld tradition and looked with optimism to the future.

Rain came to soothe parched farm lands from districts which had noted to continue Presbyterianism in Canada, and city brethren, as well as farm folk, joined in glad praise for the showers. Rain came to the great gathering, not as a token of destructive adversity, but as the harbinger of hopefulness.

The Skirl of the Pipes. The inimitable wit and stubborn debate of the Scot ministers, appreciative applause of the assemblage, the merry laugh of children as they entered with vim into the sports program and with happiness into the picnic "spread," the skirl of the pipes—all these things held high the determination and optimism of the continuing church in Canada.

Rev. Banks Nelson, D.D., Hamilton, was chief spokesman for the Presbyterian cause, and his review of the battle with church union ideals and his outlook for the future of Presbyterianism brought cheers and applause from the folk who gathered beneath the kirk building as the rain poured down upon the great park.

Church folk came far and wide, representing not only the congregations, but also those of Mount Rogers, St. Marys, Belmont, St. James, Yarmouth, Komoka, Ovan, Tillsonburg, Kintore, Embro, Windsor, St. Thomas, Ilderton, Alisa, Craig, Centre Road, Fingert, Appin, Glenora, Port Stanley, Alvinport, Port Glasgow, St. Catharines, Parkhill and other places.

Urges Arguments. Constructive argument, in place of an attempt at peace and compromise, was urged by Rev. Dr. Banks Nelson, as the true key to religious perfection. Argument prevented priesthood from securing a stranglehold on the people. The speaker sought a great merger, which would lead the people into the church of Rome, Dr. Nelson declared.

The wit, intellect and debate of the Scot was lauded by Rev. Dr. Nelson. He pointed out that Presbyterians are "improved Scots," whose stout debates had resulted in the fine strength of the continuing church. "Three churches, where each of whom have an argument, who have the wit to carry on an argument, and who have the courage of their convictions in argument," declared the speaker, "bring forth a church which is better than any other church in the world."

The minister, something hypocritical. "The unionists are tooting their horn a little too soon."

"I cannot understand how W. E. Rowell, K.C., Joshua Mason, K.C., Alfred Gaudier and George Pidgeon could ever get into their noodies the belief that the country where cats and dogs and ponies are so clever, and where the people are clever, how did they think they could put over this coercive church union scheme on such a people as Scotland, where cattle are cunning?" What about the men and women?

Tributes For Leaders. Dr. Nelson paid tribute to the work of Rev. James MacKay and Rev. John McNair in fighting "the battles of the people." He pointed out that the ministers and elders who sought to lead the church into union without a vote. The women of the church, too, deserved great praise for their work.

The confession of faith and the true axioms of Protestantism were defended by Dr. Nelson, who asserted that the unionist merger would ultimately seek to carry the people into the church of Rome.

Two popular presentations were made by Dr. Nelson on behalf of the Presbyterian church. The first was a presentation to the Rev. James MacKay, who was tendered a purse of gold and appreciative tribute for his work on behalf of the Presbyterian church here. He will take a well-earned holiday, thanks to the kindness of his friends. No less popular was the presentation to Rev. John McNair, D.D., who received a handsome travelling bag, well filled with travelling needs.

Sees Growing Church. In addressing the people, Rev. Dr. MacKay called on them not to belittle the beliefs of other people, neither to go to work in their brothers' camps to win them to Presbyterianism, but to continue to work for a great church in Canada. He foresaw a great church, with increasing strength. Dr. McNair also spoke with deep feeling and appreciation.

An all-inclusive program of sports provided foot races for every age and for every age and for every group. Here the argument of the athletic found utterance and happy settlement.

To Mrs. Grace Isaacs of St. George's church went the honor of being the oldest Presbyterian on the grounds. She is 94 years of age. For 60 months of age Mrs. Isaacs was presented with a handsome Morocco-bound Bible.

Little Mary Louise Emerson of Glenora was the youngest Presbyterian and to her was given a silver spoon.

GUNS WILL FIRE BIRTHDAY SALUTE

Flag Ceremony Will Also Be Feature of Local Celebration.

For the fourth year the Canadian club and other organizations of the character will again stage on Dominion day morning at Victoria park, a civic celebration of Canada's national birthday. The plans which have been under way for some weeks past indicate that, with good weather, this will be probably the most successful celebration that has yet been held.

The chief speaker this year will be Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the opposition at Ottawa. Mr. Meighen will arrive via C. N. R. shortly before 11 o'clock, and will be driven at once to Victoria park, where he will inspect the military and other organization drawn up. The program will begin at once, with Fred Landon, president of the Canadian club, as chairman.

The co-operation of the district militia headquarters will bring features of special interest to the program. Music will be provided by the 7th Fusiliers' band, and the singing of patriotic songs and hymns will be under the direction of Mr. E. W. G. Quetz.

Following the address of Mr. Meighen, a salute will be fired by the guns of the 12th Battery, and a flag-raising will be conducted by the children of the city are specially invited to attend. Flags will be distributed to the children before the beginning of the program.

The Canadian club and allied organizations responsible for the celebration are hopeful that there will be a very large turnout of citizens, and the children of the city are specially invited to attend. Flags will be distributed to the children before the beginning of the program.

Robert Culver, representing the British Dominion Emigration Society, today in the course of a tour of Canada from coast to coast, to obtain first-hand information as to opportunities in the various Canadian centers for immigrants from the old land. The local chamber of commerce is arranging to have Mr. Culver meet with a committee this afternoon to talk over the situation locally, and the result may be the formation of a permanent committee here to co-operate with the British Dominion Emigration Society in welcoming newcomers and to some extent looking after their welfare until they have become firmly established.

In an interview with The Advertiser, Mr. Culver, who has on several previous occasions visited this city, explained that the association which he represents has for the past 43 years been assisting British families to establish themselves in Canada. The organization is an entirely voluntary one, the members of which put the necessary funds from a sense of patriotic duty. Careful selection is made of those whom the association assists, and a special feature of the work has been to make possible the bringing out to Canada of families of men already established here but who are unable, except by a long and tedious process of saving, to finance the bringing out of their dependents.

In such cases the association advances the necessary money, part of which is repayable in small installments after the family is established in Canada.

About seven hundred persons have been brought to Canada so far this year as a result of the association's efforts, Mr. Culver reports.

He was arrested by Sergeant of Detectives Harry Dunn Saturday morning when he attempted to cash a second check for $94.60.

J. G. Glanders, the prisoner's counsel, asked for a remand in order that the prisoner might be able to make arrangements for his defence.

COURT TO BE HELD. London township court of revision will meet tomorrow night at St. Johns to hear appeals from township assessments.

The Rotary club listened with deep interest today noon to the report made by its delegates of the annual Rotary international convention held at Cleveland last week.

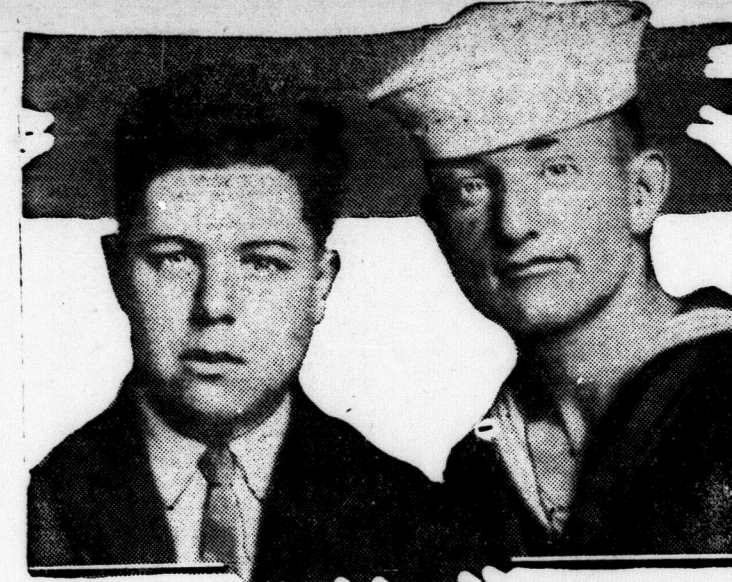

President Bert Spittal, James Gay and William A. Martin gave information as to the convention, their impressions of which proved interesting and helpful to the club.

The announcement that the Rotary club of Montreal had been awarded the medal for all-round service during the year, together with the fact that the club's convention is to be held in that city, was received with hearty applause.

A vote of thanks was tendered the three Rotarians for their splendid report, the opinion being voiced that the local club was ably represented at the Cleveland convention.

CASE A MINUTE IN POLICE COURT

Speed Record Created by Prisoners, Police and Witnesses.

Speed records were made in this morning's police court. Eight cases were disposed of in as many minutes. Prisoners, policemen and witnesses aided in establishment of the record as they performed their part in each case with haste and exactitude.

A Londoner, charged with driving his car while intoxicated, lost no time in pleading guilty the moment his name was called by the court. Facts of the case promptly disclosed by constables who arrested him Sunday night, warranted a seven-day jail term, which Magistrate Graydon imposed, supplementing the sentence with an impromptu lecture on the dangers of drunken motorists.

Then five names were called, and after each a charge of intoxication was read. Each entered a plea of guilty, and each was fined the minimum amount of $10 and costs. Two other persons, charged under the highway traffic act, similarly pleaded guilty and minimum fines were also imposed in their cases.

One man's name was listed on the police court blotters twice for the same charge. He pleaded guilty to each and was fined for each after court was adjourned it was revealed that the man was arrested on Saturday afternoon. Late at night he was allowed his freedom on bail on condition he would go immediately to his home. Half an hour later he was arrested again. He failed to go to his home. He had a friend, police say, and the two together commenced another party.

There is a fill-in with a drop of about six feet at the side of the road at the place where the accident occurred. Mr. Williams had no information that there was a vehicle on the road until he came suddenly upon a horse and buggy proceeding on the wrong side. In an attempt to avoid hitting them he turned his car sharply to the left-hand side of the road and in so doing drove it over the edge of the fill-in and into the ditch, where it turned over, pinning his wife under the car.

The driver of the horse-drawn vehicle, after Mr. Williams ditching his car in order to avoid striking him, deliberately drove on and left the victim of the wreck in the ditch.

A London motorist who was on his way home from the north, arrived a few minutes after the smash and with the help of Mr. Williams, lifted Mrs. Williams into his car and took her to her home. She was suffering from painful injuries around the head, and her face was badly cut. It is possible her sight may be affected.

Efforts to get the motorist by telephone were unsuccessful, so the London motorist drove at once to Lucan and notified Dr. Orme of the accident.

Mr. Williams and the little lad were not injured.

FORMER HIGH CONSTABLE DIES

James Gumb of Thorndale Expires Suddenly In His 61st Year.

County Constable James Gumb, one of the most efficient members of the county police force, died at his home near Thorndale on Saturday night at 11 o'clock, following a heart attack.

Mr. Gumb, who was in his 61st year, served on the county force for over fifteen years. In 1913, he was appointed high county constable, and held office for two years before resigning the position. He was succeeded by B. F. Watterworth, who was deputy sheriff at that time.

Only the most efficient of the county constables were re-appointed following the shakeup in the force when Arthur J. Wharton was appointed high constable. Mr. Gumb was one of the first to be signed by the new chief of the county police.

"Mr. Gumb was a fine constable and a very fine man," said Chief Wharton today. "I was very sorry to hear of his death."

Tributes to Mr. Gumb were also paid by County Clerk John Stuart, Capt. Tom Robson, county treasurer, and License Inspector Walter Bolton, who was a member of the county council at the time Mr. Gumb was high constable.

Surviving Mr. Gumb are his wife, three sons—Eddie, Lloyd and Lester of Thorndale; one sister, Mrs. Hedley of Kingston; and one brother, Thomas Gumb.

The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon from the family residence in West Nisouri to Brown's Hill cemetery. The service, at 2 o'clock, will be conducted by Rev. Mr. Connor of the Presbyterian church.

Canada House Officially Opened By King George

Associated Press Despatch.

London, June 29.—King George V, accompanied by Queen Mary, today formally opened Canada House, the new Canadian headquarters in London.

Their majesties drove from Buckingham Palace by way of the Mall and the Admiralty Arch to the main entrance of the Canadian building, Cockspur street, and were received at the foot of the steps by Hon. P. C. Larkin, Canadian high commissioner, who handed the key of the building to the King.

When the doors were opened His Majesty returned the key to Mr. Larkin. On entering the building Queen Mary received a bouquet from Miss Aileen Larkin, daughter of the Canadian high commissioner, and the royal party were then conducted by the high commissioner to the dais, and the national anthem was played by the Grenadier Guards band.

The high commissioner then read an address to the King and after His Majesty replied O Canada was played by the band. Official presentations to the King followed, and these included representative of the builders and workmen who had been employed in the alterations that were made in the building after it had been purchased from the Union club by the Canadian government. The presentations were made to the King by Mr. Larkin.

CHIEFS ELECTED AT Y.W.C.A. CAMP

Interesting Program Is Being Carried Out At Orendaga.

The chiefs have been chosen at Orendaga camp, Port Bruce. One of the early items of the first camp, now in progress, was the election of Miss Grace Plewes (of London) as chief of the Wakletah (Sunshine) tribe, while Miss Evelyn Wallace of Sarnia was elected chief of the Wee Chien Gahn (To Help Along) tribe.

A glorious week of setting up exercises, swimming, boating, Bible study, handicrafts, hikes and other sports has already been enjoyed by the early campers. As a result of the handicraft hour on Friday, the camp now boasts a sign bearing the name of Orendaga, outlined in willows. Leather work and basketry are but a part of the fascinating things to be followed next week.

For so early in the season many visitors have already found their way along the winding road and play grounds (for at Orendaga all work is play). Among the guests have been Miss Louise Burns of Toronto, who for the past two years has been the sports leader, and who is this year to be associated with Miss Helen St. John in the direction of the camp under Mrs. Taylor Station; Miss Margaret Armstrong, missionary on furlough from Japan, who spoke at the Sunday morning service; Miss Aida Menchick of London, former nature study leader, who arrived on Saturday for the week-end, and Miss Mae Cook and Miss Bacon, who arrived on Saturday for the balance of the camp. Miss Beryl Heathcote arrives today.

C. R. WALKER REMEMBERED BY WESLEY SUNDAY SCHOOL

The regular session of the Wesley United Sunday school was featured with a tribute to the past superintendent yesterday, when C. R. Walker, who for the past four years took an active interest in the work of the school, was presented with a handsome club bag. Upon opening it he found it contained a seal leather travelling case, monogrammed in silver, and many other useful bits of travelling equipment in ebony.

In reading the address accompanying the gift, Miss Mabel Gregory spoke of Mr. Walker's work in the past, and also told him of the respect the scholars held for him. Fred Mitchell made the presentation.

Mr. Walker was taken by surprise and was deeply moved by the kindness of the school. He fittingly replied, thanking the members for their thoughtfulness.

SHOE BUT COVER FOR TOE AND HEEL

Cutouts Reach Extreme in the Latest Models From Abroad.

By AILEEN LAMONT. Special to The Advertiser. Copyright.

New York, June 28.—No traffic cop has yet been hard-hearted enough to stop a "cross over" gown of the latest pattern. These frocks are of printed chiffon with a cross-over bodice and skirt which, however, cross from opposite sides. The wearer therefore is likely to meet herself going and coming. The skirts are adorned with handkerchief points of a contrasting design at either side. The neck line is square and of medium depth and the sleeves are quarter length.

Whatever difficulty east and west have in meeting, north and south get together effectively in the latest evening cape to be imported from France. This garment is of black moccasin falling to the hips. The yoke is composed of ermine, allegedly from Siberia, which shades off into white fluttering lances plumes of ostrich from Africa. One can laugh that off since it has no fastening, but hangs open.

On the Hip. Escorts nowadays are not the only persons to carry something on the hip. The daintiest undies designed recently are of sheer lawn with bird designs printed on a white or pastel-tinted background. On one hip is worn a detachable cockade of putative feathers, which is removed when the garment is washed.

If cutouts go much farther on footwear, most of the shoes will have disappeared. The latest model to arrive from abroad consists of a counter and heel, a stiff sole, an unfilled space and a toe. That portion of the shoe known as the "saddle" has been entirely obliterated, except for a narrow strap about the ankle. The toe is formed of braided leather thongs of contrasting shades.

Waists Not Wanted. Comparatively few women today wear a waist, but the type of tailored frocks now being developed in the summer woolen fabrics shows at least that she has one. The new coats are being shaped at the waist. The double-breasted fastenings lending themselves admirably to such treatment. This trend has come in revolt against the extreme masculine type of tailleur.

STARVED HEARTS

By MILDRED BARBOUR.

CHAPTER I. THE Lion's Den.

"So Madelon is coming home today," Stephen Lane looked up from his book, frowning at the interruption.

Ann Ordway, standing by the window, absently twirling the cord of the lace-edged shade, was the only human being in the world who dared disturb him while he read. But then Ann had been a family friend for upward of thirty years, and, moreover, feared neither man nor devil.

Lane answered briefly between compressed lips: "We expect her."

"I wonder if she will prove to be like her mother?" mused Ann. "Reckless and full of life? All big, violent eyes and ridiculous little hands with queer foreign gestures? She must have had French blood in her veins, perhaps that's why Madelon was left to the French nuns when she and your brother died, remember? It's voted they were, isn't it? It's hardly curious that he didn't survive her a fortnight."

Lane rustled the pages of his book with ill-concealed irritation. "It is necessary to comment on something that is now history? The past is done. The result of my brother's unwelcome alliance is now the French nonsense out of her head. I dare say I'll have the devil's own time doing it."

"But you'll accomplish it, my friend, if it's humanly—or satanically—possible," was Ann's inward comment.

She turned her eyes from the broad, sunlit boulevard of the great western city, where the afternoon traffic flowed sluggishly, to the room behind her. They lingered on the man who sat by the reading table in the dimness of the richly sombre library.

Iron-gray hair on a large, well-shaped head, almost leonine in its fine proportions; a high, intellectual forehead; pale, cold, gray eyes, which maintained an habitually inscrutable expression; a nose, finely chiselled, with the flaring nostrils of quick passions; the mouth, a thin, cruel line . . . The face of a man whose will had never been gainsaid.

Lane flung down his book with an exclamation. "My dear Ann, it is possible that after thirty years you are not thoroughly familiar with my features?"

She flushed a little and withdrew her gaze.

"Sorry if I annoy you," she shrugged lightly. "I never permit myself to be annoyed," he told her loftily, his tone implying that her presence held just that degree of insignificance.

But he turned the tables upon her maliciously. His eyes measured her coolly. She was a trim, plump little figure, with brown hair frankly graying above her temples, nice, brown eyes, and a kindly face, innocent of artifice. Lane's appraisal of her was cruelly deliberate. He worshipped beauty, and she, who had never known even prettiness, shrank inwardly from his scrutiny.

Lane's first wife, who had died, had been a belle. The present Mrs. Lane, nee Barbara Parsons, was acknowledged the most beautiful woman in the city. Her husband was more than twice her age.

Ann moved restlessly away from the window and picked up her gloves. "I'll be off now and leave you in peace. Let me know if there is anything I can do to make little Madelon comfortable. I fancy she and Barbara will come to be great pals . . . The two of them, so near an age, ought to bring some light and laughter into this gloomy old place."

SESSION OF HOUSE VICTORY FOR KING

Is Example of Rare Achievement On Part of Liberal Government.

OPPOSITION SPLIT

By E. C. BUCHANAN. Special to The Advertiser.

Ottawa, June 28.—The session just closed was one of remarkable success and sustained victory for the Mackenzie King government. Although commanding but a bare majority in the Commons and being in a hopeless minority in the Senate, the government carried through its program with surprising little difficulty and despite the efforts of the Conservative opposition and the withholding of the support which it has had in previous sessions from the Progressive group, its life was never in danger. From vote after vote in the House of Commons, it emerged triumphant, its policies being approved throughout the session by substantial majorities. On the other hand, the conclusion of the session saw both opposition parties more divided in themselves than they have hitherto been. They face the prospect of a general election after having given the country demonstration of their lack of cohesion. Rarely in the political life of Canada has there been a more outstanding example of achievement in the face of odds than that furnished by the Liberal government during the last few months.

Due to Leadership.

The success of the government has been due in large measure to the leadership of Mr. Mackenzie King. Under that leadership the ministry has continued determinedly to pursue the aim of compromise and conciliation, the conflicting demands and interests of the various sections of the Dominion. It has declined to accommodate any section or sections at the sacrifice of the common interests of Canada and has kept the general welfare of the country in view in the important legislation it has placed before parliament. Government, as the prime minister has repeatedly declared, has sought to follow through the middle course to cure sectional misunderstandings and jealousies, to bring about unity of interests. It has pursued a broad national policy calculated to give the greatest possible measure of justice to all the communities and elements of the Dominion. In this it has been accorded the repeated endorsement of the commons.

Strike at Budget.

Perhaps the most vigorous assault upon the government during the session was in connection with the budget. The Conservative opposition making it the occasion of a wholesale attempt to discredit the ministry, while the Progressives, with the prospect of early polling in view, thought to advantage themselves by a display of a combative attitude. In several weeks of free debate, the government was sustained by no less a majority than 37.

On what was generally regarded as the most important question of the session, the party behind the government alone was united in its councils. The government's legislation was based on its general policy of equality and justice to all sections of the country. Giving the West a continuance of the Crown's best rates on grain and flour, and extending the application of these rates to a much wider area with a view not only to the special requirements of western agriculture but to the prosperity of that basic industry, the government measure provided for a thorough investigation of the whole scheme of freight rates and for the establishment of rates for the entire Dominion on a basis of equality. Such investigation and equalization, the government determined should be carried out by the Dominion Board of Railway Commissioners. Here again the ministry met with a mass of conflicting criticism from the opposition groups and again it carried its policy successfully through parliament.

MEXICO WORKS HARD TO REORGANIZE ARMY

Many Officers and Men Are Dropped From Permanent Forces.

Associated Press Despatch. Mexico City, June 28.—Troop movements into the capital which late in May, increased the garrison to the unprecedented figure of 15,000 and caused excited speculation, elicited the reassuring statement from the war department that the men were being brought to Mexico City from outside posts to be retrained and rearm.

Reorganization of the army in accordance with plans announced by the Calles administration when it took office has been proceeding steadily for nearly six months, and the regular forces, according to latest information available, have been reduced to approximately 50,000. Among the enlisted men discharged were 5,000 minors. The number of generals and commissioned officers down to the rank of major who have been unable to prove their right to the rank they claim and have been dropped totals more than 1,000.

Modernization of military regulations, unchanged for more than a century, and a plan for a modified system of universal, obligatory military training are the tasks assigned to a special commission of officers.

Travellers who wish to post letters on trains gain time by mailing them at station boxes, is the notice given out by the postal authorities today.

TOURIST COMPLIMENTS CONSTABLE BILYA

Likes the Way He Straightened Matters Out After Crumlin Crash.

There is one American tourist who thinks a whole lot of the Middlesex county police force and Constable Bilya of Thorncliffe in particular. The tourist arrived at the office of High Constable Wharton this morning to tell him of the efficient manner in which Constable Bilya straightened out matters following a motor crash near Crumlin Saturday night.

My car crashed with a machine driven by a woman," explained the American "and it looked as if we were in for a whole lot of trouble. Your constable Mr. Bilya happened along and he soon had us out of the car. He's a fine chap and I wish we had a few more like him over in Michigan. I just thought I would drop him a line to give him a boost for him to do so."

The remedy consisted in the driving of a number of piles at the eastern side of the channel mouth. This was pointed out to the captain of the boat by the United States government inspectors who came to Port Stanley to investigate the death of a deck hand who was drowned when he fell overboard. The company was warned not to use the harbor in its present condition owing to the risk involved.

PASTOR MAY STARTS PASTORATE IN LONDON

Hamilton Man Occupies Pulpit of Christian Workers' Church.

Pastor Fred May, Hamilton, has accepted the pastorate of the Christian workers' church Ottawa avenue, and began work there yesterday.

General Manly, pastor of the church, welcomed him to the congregation two weeks ago, following which he was tendered a unanimous call to London as soon as it was convenient for him to do so.

He will succeed Rev. Wm. J. Smith, who resigned some months ago to associate himself with the work of the Baptist church ministry. Since Mr. Smith's resignation the pulpit has been supplied by men sent on to the congregation here by Rev. Wm. McKendrick, himself a former pastor of the church.

The local branch of the Christian workers was organized by Rev. Wm. McKendrick about 25 years ago, the first services being held in a church on Carling street.

Tourists Using Courthouse Lawn

Motorists Find Ridout Street Grounds Ideal For Lunch.

A new use has been found for the courthouse grounds. The lawns and flower beds which are kept in an attractive condition by the jail prisoners, looked particularly inviting to a party of American tourists travelling in the motor cars on Sunday morning.

Parking the cars on King street, just west of Ridout, the visitors spread tablecloths on the ground and enjoyed their lunch. Later they gathered up all the scraps and went merrily on their way.

"The county can now run on opposition to Springfield park," declared one citizen who witnessed the tourists devouring their meal.

The natives appeared in the most outlandish costumes, proudly parading their cherished garments regardless of the general effect.

Some wore discarded London police helmets, while others sported tartan kilts. The prince turned out that of a chief who appeared in a British Hussar busby, the mess jacket of an officer of the British Foot Guards, and golf knickers of plus fours cut. MINERS SEEKING NEW WAGE SCALE

Possibility of Strike in Hard Coal Fields Depends On Terms.

Associated Press Despatch. Scranton, Pa., June 29.—Whether there will be a suspension of operations in the hard coal field Sept. 1, on expiration of the present wage contract, depends upon terms for its renewal which representatives of 155,000 anthracite workmen formulated at the tri-district convention opening today.

Discussion of demands will take the greater part of the week, it is expected. Once ratified, they will be presented to the anthracite mine owners at Atlantic City, probably next week. They are expected to stress a wage increase, adoption of the check-off, a term contract, and other features.

John L. Lewis, president of the United mine workers of America, arrives today to assume the personal leadership. He will likely retain this leadership throughout the scale negotiations with the operators.

P. U. C. WILL PROBE DEATH OF EMPLOYEE

Albert Pryce Electrocuted When He Touched Live Wire While Working.

Deeply deploring the death of a valued employee who had been in the service for sixteen years, officials of the Public Utilities Commission are today getting all the information possible concerning the accident which on Saturday afternoon cost the life of Albert John Pryce, foreman in charge of cable-work when he touched a live wire while working on a pole at Talbot and Horton streets.

"It will probably never be known just what happened," General Manager E. V. Buchanan stated this morning. "The late Mr. Pryce had been carrying on such work over a long period of years and was so proficient in it that he had been made foreman although he continued to do a large part of the cable work himself."

He was thoroughly familiar with the work and its attendant dangers, and it will be very difficult, if not impossible, to find out exactly what happened.

Mr. Buchanan pointed out that the report that the wet platform on which he was working was a contributing cause of the accident was incorrect, as the rainstorm did not come on until half an hour after the accident occurred.

A coroner's inquest has been called for tomorrow evening by Coroner Dr. Robert Ferguson.

City Should Take Its Steps Carefully.

According to the finding of the Ontario railway board, the London Street Railway Company is within its legal rights in charging patrons a five-cent fare. The general impression was that the company had been collecting a five-cent fare in defiance of the order of the legislature and the also of the city council. The way in which the company collected this fare also gave weight to the same impression because conductors were instructed to collect the five-cent fare, and if a patron refused to pay it that passenger could be taken out of the car. If the company had felt that it was riding free within its legal right in charging the five-cent fare it would have given no such instructions as to the operation of its cars; it would undoubtedly have insisted on the payment of the fare, or else had the person who refused to pay it put off for nonpayment of fare. For these reasons the finding of the Ontario railway board will come as a piece of legal enlightenment to both the citizens and the company.

The board holds that when the Drury government changed the rate of fares as provided in bylaw 916 it repealed that section entirely; in other words, it wiped it out of existence, and future negotiations would have to be conducted on the basis that such provisions in bylaw 916 no longer existed. For that reason, the Beck legislation which sought to undo the Drury provision was faulty because it sought to revert to a condition which the railway board holds no longer existed. That is another phrase in the legal enlightenment of the finding that will come as a surprise, because it shows a degree of finality in legislative alteration of agreements between municipalities and companies of which the members of the Ontario legislature could not have been aware when they assented to the Beck measure. It also shows the danger of any more minor or major operations on bylaw 916 by either civic or provincial surgeons until it is certain what the outcome is likely to be. The permanent removal of a few more of the salient features of 916 would leave the old bylaw a much-broken reed and open the door for protracted and intricate legal tangles were the city desirous of dealing with the company for infractions of the franchise under which it operates.

Out With the Truth

It is sometimes urged that sporting writers favor the home team, and in this way give a biased idea of what a game really looked like. No such protest could be lodged against the reporter on The Advertiser who reported a lacrosse game that took place between London and St. Marys teams in this city twenty-five years ago today. St. Marys won the game quite handsily, in fact very easily, but the scribe of that date did not explain that London's best men were away, or that the team was not playing up to form. He wrote this style:

"London has seldom witnessed such a masterly exposition of the manner in which lacrosse should not be played as that provided by the lacrossists of the London club yesterday in their match against the St. Marys Alerts. If by any mishap any of them secured the rubber it either sild gently off his stick or was thrown with a wild, convulsive throw, and some waiting St. Marys player smiled gleefully, held out his stick and the ball dropped in. (Simple, wasn't it?) Or, if by an accident a Londoner saw the ball coming his way, he straightway fell down before it, and allowed an opponent to step over his prostrate form and scoop up the rubber. There is really enough of sorrow and gloom in the world without adding to it by a recital of the harrowing details of yesterday's game."

And just to show that Londoners could stand still and take their punishment, the next day's paper has no reference to that reporter having been struck on the head with a piece of scuffling.

An Energetic 95.

Officials found it necessary to remove an old colored lady from the home in which she had been living in London for 30 years and place her in a home where old people are well cared for. The authorities seem to have made every attempt to deal fairly with the case, and of course it is desirable that places where people live should conform to the usual laws of sanitation and all other regulations.

At the same time we can't overlook the fact that this old lady of 95 seems to have been in a remarkably healthy condition in those surroundings of which the authorities complained, so healthy in fact, that it is recorded that it required the combined efforts of two or three nurses and the driver of the police ambulance to overcome the resistance she offered to being removed from her old home. Considering that she was but five years removed from the century mark, this display of physical force cannot really be put down as defiance of the law, but deserves to be chalked up as a tribute to the reserve energy that can be stored up under the old order of living as you want to and where you want to.

There are scores of people at 60 who couldn't have put up a struggle like that. Just one very refined nurse could lay hold on them and make them submit; as a matter of fact, they would make it for granted that there wasn't a good fight left in their make-up.

Of course it's wrong to extol the virtues of those who do not do what the health department and the civic officials tell them to do; there would be all sorts of mischief in the land were many people to become seized with the idea of physical resistance, because our whole system of law, order, taxation, sanitation, regulation, representation, fumigation and all the rest of it is based on the idea that we move when we are told to move, stop when directed to stop and pay when ordered to do so, asking no questions and offering no resistance.

But somehow we can't help putting the fine, enthusiastic fight of this woman of 95 in a different class, particularly as she was being moved for the benefit of her health. Now that she has found her home in pleasant places, we anticipate she'll see the wisdom of it all, and amid sanitary surroundings let us hope that she may live to a ripe old age.

Crime Must Be Punished.

The nature of some of the crimes that have been committed in Ontario recently will probably put an end to any effort to do away with capital punishment.

Just a week ago a young man died in Toronto, because he was shot fatally when seeking to keep bandits from robbing the gas station where he was employed. The bandits knew nothing of him, he had done nothing against them, but he stood in the way of their securing the few dollars they secured, and they considered those few dollars of more importance than the life of a young man.

Hamilton officials have a triple murder to solve, a case that is as brutal and sordid as anything ever written in the annals of Canadian crime. On the surface, it appears as though the murderer desired the silence of three persons, or else killed them from motives of vengeance. Whatever the cause, he held that three lives should be the price paid for his vengeance.

In both the Toronto and Hamilton cases the murderers have deliberately named human life as the standard by which they measured their deeds; they did not suggest that their victims should be put in prison for a term of years or for life.

As long as that devilish instinct shows its slimy head in the land, so long must there be capital punishment. Justice must be swift, unerring and definite, for above all else it must be established that murder is the most horrible of crimes, that a man's life is something that no one dare take from him, and that the one who commits murder must forfeit his own life. From that position, in the face of crime tendency, we cannot and dare not recede.

As a Minister Sees It.

A minister in London district offered the suggestion in a letter to The Advertiser that there should now be a return to definite work on the part of both the United church and the continuing Presbyterian church. His claim is that it has now been fully demonstrated that there is to be a United church and a Presbyterian church, and that members should be permitted to go where they desire "carrying with them nothing but good will and leaving behind nothing but good wishes."

In a season such as that through which the uniting and nonuniting churches have passed, argument and debate, controversy and a certain amount of human temper were certain to make themselves felt. It could hardly have been otherwise, and it was proof that people do take their religion seriously. On the whole the proceedings were carried on with a minimum of friction, and that stands to the credit of the men conducting the negotiations.

It is a very plain fact that there is a large non-churchgoing element in every community, providing a great field in which to work. The minister who wrote to The Advertiser feels that as organization has been completed, and members have made their decision as to where their lot shall be cast for the future, the great task is now to go forward, regarding the fork in the road as a starting point for greater and more consecrated efforts for the accomplishment of the same great purpose.

There may have been that fork in the road, but the various roads must find their common destination at the top of the same mountain.

Note and Comment.

The return of Andrew Peppall will be delayed about one month. That is not any more serious than the delay of the inquiry as to who was taking money for provincial business from the Home Bank prior to the regime of Peter Smith.

An echo of the days when factories were bonused is found in The Advertiser files of 25 years ago in the following: "St. Thomas offered the Oshawa Woolen Co. a bonus of $15,000, free taxes, water and a site but the company want $25,000, and won't take less. The deal is off."

A nephew of the late czar of Russia has been declared bankrupt in London, with assets of $21.75. He has lost $60,000 in an effort to establish a sporting club, make motor cars and manufacture cigarettes. He may get along now, as he knows for certain there are three things he can't do.

The Liberals of Elgin county made a good choice when they named Mayor George H. Sloggett of St. Thomas as their candidate for the dominion elections. He has displayed a commendable amount of common sense in civic affairs, and knows intimately the needs of the people he offers to serve in the larger field.

Detroit woman is suing a barber for over-charging, because he trimmed her hair, fixed her neck, gave her a shampoo and permanent wave when all she wanted was a plain hair-cut. That's great, isn't it? Going in for a ham sandwich and a cup of coffee and ending up with a full-course dinner right down to finger-bowls and a tip for the waiter.

A small boy was walking home with an armful of books, and gave vent to his feelings: No more history. No more books. No more teachers' Cross-eyed looks.

No, he had no particular grievance against the teachers, for he had passed without having to write examinations. It was simply his method of announcing that summer holidays had arrived.

Fickle Men

There's men around whose head should be as white as any driven snow, but they keep fightin' on to look as what they was ten years ago.

A picture I was lookin' at was in the paper just last week, and made the man whose face it was look somethin' like a varnished sheik, for he had hair upon his head enough to fill a half a peck, and on his jaw were rolls of fat that likewise clustered round his neck.

The lines that went along with it said it was Mister So and So, it must have been a picture that was took about ten years ago. For now few hairs have stood by him, the most of them has died and went, and he is not by any means a handsome and a pompous gent, for years has pinched the fat from him, the work of fast-decreasing law, and he no longer has a row of fat that bulges on his jaw.

I guess it's human nature though to fight the ravages of time, and try to picture to the folks the days when cloudless sun would shine.

For some men take a lot of pains to try and cover up their age, and make them look as though their tale was written on a recent page. It's wonderful to see at times how they manipulate a few stray hairs, and curve them down upon their brow and make them stand aside in pairs.

They laugh at women many times who plaster mud upon their chin, and use all sorts of ointment, too, to bolster up their wrinkled skin, but men can't laugh and get away when tryin' to make their liacs grow, because they, like themselves to look like what they did ten years ago.

And I know men who's sixty years would make their hair as white as snow, but they keep puttin' up a fight and scrap with age each step they go. Yes they put stuff upon their hair, they use a sort of deep black paint, to keep their hair a-lookin' young and passin' off for what the ain't.

I guess there's lots of men like that who want to keep each youthful look, and that is why the most of them don't go and get their picture took.

And when you want to print the face a-showin' Mr. So and So, he wants you to present his face like what he looked ten years ago.—ARK.

350 MILES NORTHWEST OF EDMONTON. (From the Edmonton Journal)

THE following extract from correspondence that appears in the Grande Prairie Herald is commended to the attention of the Old Country publication which recently limited the area for profitable settlement in Canada to 80 miles beyond the American border:

"Flying Shot district never looked better than at present; the wheat, when all in, received a copious rain, and the same with the oats. All grains are up and a fine, healthy stand. The hay meadows were never better and the pastures are so good the stock will not leave them for oats."

"Mr. Watson's garden is a riot of color. Lilacs, caraganas, syringas, Japanese honeysuckle are all in bloom, and the fruit trees are in blossom. All the gardens in the district are well advanced, and some of the people are hoeing their potatoes."

The date on which this was published, June 8, should be noted, and also the fact that Flying Shot is some 350 miles northwest of Edmonton.

CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE.

A country school board was visiting a school, and the principal was putting his pupils through their paces.

"Who signed Magna Charta, Robert?" he asked, turning to one boy.

"Please, sir, 'twasn't me," whimpered the youngster.

The teacher, in disgust, told him to take his seat; but an old tobacco-chewing countryman on the board was not satisfied; so, after a well-directed aim at the cuspidor, he said: "Call that boy back, I don't like his manner. I believe he did do it."

COMING OUT EVEN.

Sandy—"Hoo is it, Jock, that ye mak sic an enormous profit off yer potatoes when ye gie a special price to each friend?"

Jock—"Well, I tak a half-crown off the price because he's a friend, o' mine; then I tak ten pounds off the hundred weight because I'm a friend o' his."

SO WOULD WE.

"I'd be much better off if they'd put that sign on the mail box."

Wallace Willis of Sandusky Was Deckhand On Ill-Fated Boat.

Special to The Advertiser.

Leamington, June 28.—The body of Wallace Willis of Sandusky, a deckhand on the ill-fated Kelly Island, was found yesterday on the beach, about two miles east of here and not far from the present location of the sunken vessel. There was a heavy storm on Friday and the body is believed to have been washed out of the hull of the boat.

Alf. W. Robb of Detroit, who has a summer cottage on the lake shore, found the body and reported to Coroner Dr. M. A. Kentrick. Today a boat came from Sandusky to take the remains to that city for interment. The Kelly Island Lime and Transport Co., took charge of arrangements.

Are You Making Sure of a Pension?

You may often have wondered how much it is necessary to save each year in order to be sure of $50.00 or $100.00 a month steady income when working days are over—an income that will continue as long as you live, no matter what may happen to your other plans, or what financial reverses may occur later in life.

We can tell you exactly what amount to set aside.

The Canada Life has issued a new

"Deferred Annuity Bond"

for men and women, which can be purchased by instalments spread over any number of years.

It is a bond which is backed by a Company with more than 100 million dollars of assets, and with the experience of more than three quarters of a century as a guide.

A Savings Policy

The "Deferred Annuity" plan is the most reliable Bond in existence. The most conservative investors have always believed in this form of saving because of its unquestioned safety. Nothing is so absolutely sure as a monthly Annuity, and no other plan for saving can possibly take its place.

Be Fair to Yourself

Dependence upon relatives or charity in old age should be guarded against. This can be done so very simply by the Canada Life "Deferred Annuity" that no man or woman should neglect to set aside yearly the small amount required to support them after age 60 or 65.

Why not ask for information?

ASBESTOS LEADS MONTREAL SALES LABORITES' MOTION EXPECTED TO FAIL

Important Industrial Developments Are Forecast by English Observers.

Associated Press Despatch.
London, June 29.—This promises to be a week of important industrial incidents, all more or less directly influenced by the trade depression and consequent unemployment.

The foremost is today's debate in the house of commons upon the Laborite vote of censure, seeking to put the house on record as declaring lack of confidence in the government "which, after a lengthy period of industrial depression and confronted with the steadily increasing number of unemployed, has failed to take measures to deal with a situation of unprecedented gravity."

It is not expected that the motion will get a majority, but the Laborites have taken the vote. The Times remarks: "Unfortunately the industry in the main is beyond the control of governments. British industry particularly is dependent upon world conditions which the government cannot control, and pathetic threatening appeals to the government to cure the evil of unemployment will do nothing to increase production.

government's power in the matter." It is recalled that the Conservatives themselves, about a year ago, moved in the commons to reduce the salaries of the minister of labor because Premier Macdonald's government, they declared, lacked a policy in dealing with unemployment.

The Liberals at that time came to the aid of the Laborites and averred that the Conservatives' government will be saved today by majority in the house.

BELIEVE CHAPMAN INNOCENT VICTIM

Police Declare Triple Murder Outcome of War Among Bootleggers.

Canadian Press Despatch. Hamilton, June 28.—The police have discovered that had blood been spilled between several other bootleggers and William Buda, one of the three found murdered last Thursday.

Word was received from Montreal that Mike Lakatuch, husband of the woman found murdered, is still in penitentiary there.

The police believe that the woman and Buda incurred the enmity of other bootleggers, and hold that the other murdered party, who was an innocent victim, whose presence in the house cost him his life. Buda was alleged to have run what is locally known as an "alky joint," where nothing but raw alcohol is served.

There has been acute trouble between Buda and men running similar places in the neighborhood, with whom Buda is alleged to have quarrelled, was threatened by police, but was able to prove an alibi.

Dr. J. C. Tufford Sustains Broken Ribs—Companions Escape Injury.

St. Thomas, June 28.—While on the way from Detroit to attend the wedding of his niece, Miss Katherine Tufford, Dr. J. C. Tufford, his wife and brother-in-law, Walter Wit, met with a serious accident when the car in which they were travelling, turned over in the road near Wallacetown.

Dr. Tufford suffered a broken rib and possible internal injuries. He was brought to this city at once, where his brother, Dr. A. Tufford, cared for him. A speeding auto which raised a cloud of dust in the face of Dr. Tufford, was responsible for the accident. The auto struck loose gravel, which swung it about and upset it on a highway.

AN INACTIVE LIVER IS THE CAUSE OF CONSTIPATION

When your liver gets sluggish and inactive your whole health suffers.

Your bowels become constipated; you have sick and bilious headaches; your tongue coated and furry; your breath bad; specks float before your eyes, and often you feel as if you were going to faint, especially if in a crowded place where there is little or no ventilation.

When in this condition there is only one thing to do, and that is to take

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills

They will stimulate the sluggish liver so that it will regulate the flow of bile to act properly on the bowels, and thus clear away all the poisonous matter that is responsible for all your liver troubles.

HAIG IS HOPEFUL OF SOLDIER UNITY

Former Leader of Canadian Forces Hopes Conference Will Bear Fruit.

Canadian Press Despatch. Montreal, June 28.—Field-Marshal Earl Haig spent last night on the steamship Letitia in Montreal harbor. Accompanied by Countess Haig and a distinguished party, the field-marshal arrived on the Letitia in the afternoon, received officials and friends on board, and proceeded this morning to Ottawa, where, as grand president, he will preside over the meeting of the British Empire Service League.

The group which went aboard to welcome the field-marshal included Brigadier-General C. G. Armstrong, general officer commanding Military District No. 4, and Col. H. Chasse, staff officer; Ald. Thomas O'Connell, mayor of Montreal; Sir Henry Thornton and railroad and steamship officials. On behalf of the city, a huge bouquet of roses was presented to Countess Haig. Later the earl appeared on the afterdeck and was cheered enthusiastically by a large crowd on the docks, which included many veterans. Montreal's official welcome to him will be given on July 26 and 27, and elaborate arrangements are being made.

In a statement to the press, the field-marshal emphasized the value of unity in solving the problems affecting ex-service men, and expressed the hope that the Ottawa conference would be productive of happy results to the veterans of Canada.

HYDRO EMPLOYEE IS ELECTROCUTED

John Pryce Touches High-Tension Wire—Thrown From Pole.

Albert John Pryce, 38 years old, of 204 Grey street, hydro-electric cableman, was killed Saturday afternoon, when his hand came into contact with a high tension wire. The shock threw him from the pole upon which he was working, and his head was badly crushed.

Pryce was fixing wires at the southwest corner of Talbot and Horton streets.

On the pole upon which he was working, about 30 feet from the ground, there is a small platform without a railing around it. It is surmised that Pryce losing his balance, seized a live wire. The platform being wet, a contact was immediately established. A current of about 15,000 volts passed through his body.

He was rushed to the hospital in a truck which had been standing nearby, but he died soon after being picked up. The body was removed to Oatman's undertaking parlors, where it was viewed by a jury.

Coroner Dr. Robert Ferguson was called. The inquest will be held Tuesday night at the police station.

Pryce had been an employee of the hydro for about eight years.

The case is made particularly sad by the fact that he leaves five small children, between the ages of 2 and who was held up for three hours by American officials at the border while her husband lay dying in a Detroit hospital. She reached his side 40 minutes too late. Mrs. Mott claims to have been insulted and treated like a criminal by an over-zealous immigration officer.

14. Mrs. Pryce is a cripple, and has been practically confined to the house during the past two years. She had just arisen from a sickbed, and the catastrophe which has struck the house has prostrated her.

Survivors are his widow, four daughters, Jessie, Lorraine, Annie and Pearl; one son, Albert, 12 years old. He is also survived by one brother, John; and two sisters, Mrs. Jessie Tuttle and Miss Pearl Pryce.

Spirit of Brotherhood Pervades at Inaugurals At Eight City Churches

Only Former Methodist Congregations Affected by June Changes.

SEVEN OUTSIDERS

The compelling spirit of church union with confident predictions of a greater brotherhood in the future pervaded the inaugural sermons delivered in eight local United churches yesterday.

Former Methodist congregations only were affected by the June changes. Of the eight ministers to take over new pulpits, seven are from other points in the London conference, Rev. A. E. M. Thomson, M.A., B.D., having been transferred from Centennial church to Ridout Street church.

The eight changes involve three ministers who have held London pulpits on previous occasions: Mr. Thompson at Centennial church; Rev. George N. Hazen, D.D., Elmhurst, who comes to the city for a second term at Centennial church and who also was minister of Wellington street church for a term; and Rev. B. H. Robinson, M.A., Leamington, who was pastor for a term of Robinson Memorial church.

The list includes also three former presidents of the London Methodist conference: Mr. Thomson, of course, who was the unanimous choice at the last conference held here a few weeks ago; Dr. Hazen, who was

Old French Coin Passed By Fakir

Special to The Advertiser.

Woodstock, June 28.—Foreign coins, easily discernible from Canadian pieces, have come prominently into circulation in Woodstock during the past few days. The coins, have, in all cases been accepted in busy moments by local storekeepers, and on closer examination have proved to be mostly of faked and foreign currency is blamed to some extent on tourists but a number of silver pieces have come to light. One storekeeper accepted a French franc of the reign of Charles X in mistake for a Canadian quarter.

president in 1914, and Rev. J. W. Hibbert, Kingsville, who was president in 1921.

The Christian church is not a Noah's Ark where people may flee for safety, neither is it an insurance company which guarantees a stated condition for the future, Dr. Hazen told the morning congregation at the Centennial church. His subject was "Some Essentials of a Successful Church."

An Everyday Service. There is an everyday service to fulfill if the Christian is to be worthy of his name, the speaker asserted. It is not enough for the members of a church to leave evil things behind, they must press forward and do good things.

Comparing the relation which should exist between Christ and His church to the connection between the mind and the body, he said that just as the body expresses itself through the impulses from the mind, so the church should react to the influence of God.

"The body is the servant of the will; so should the Christian church be the servant of Christ," he stated. "The first essential of a successful church is that each member be in communion with God."

"The second essential may also be explained through the body. It has various organs, which are, by nature, united to each other. So it is in the church. We are all partakers of one divine nature. Brotherhood is vital in the Christian church. See how these Christians love one another," was the comment made when Christianity was struggling for a foothold. "Love thy neighbor as thyself," says Jesus.

"Our bodies were created for a very important mission, that of giving the spirit a medium of expression. Just as the eyes, the heart, the lungs and the hands are all necessary to the proper functioning of the body, so are each of us necessary to the welfare of the Christian church."

COUNTY BREEDERS RETURN OFFICERS

Middlesex Livestock Association Holds Annual Meeting—Rapidly Advancing.

So successful have been the operations of the Middlesex Livestock Breeders' association in the first year of its existence that all the officers were returned at the annual meeting held in the department of agriculture office Saturday afternoon.

E. S. Little was re-elected hon. president; Col. Robert McEwen, Byron, president; S. P. Brown, Coldstream, first vice-president; R. A. Finn, secretary-treasurer. The directors, who were also re-elected, are: A. Nicholson, Parkhill, representing the Shorthorn breeders; A. E. Perry, Appin, Hereford; Robert McEwen, Byron, Angus; S. P. Brown, Holstein; E. S. Little, Jerseys, and W. J. Connolly, Strathroy, Ayrshires.

In opening his address to the 50 members present, Col. McEwen pointed out that the winnings of the Middlesex breeds at the great international show at Chicago last year were greater than any one state in the American union. He hoped that Middlesex would keep up this enviable record.

Col. McEwen stated he was more than pleased at the reception the officers of the association had been receiving from the farmers, and declared that the coming year would be most successful. He pointed out that a good sire was absolutely necessary in order to have success in livestock breeding.

Secretary R. A. Finn, giving his report for the year, stated that $500 had been paid out in bonuses to 125 breeders, who had purchased pure-bred sires for the first time.

Three bacon hog clubs had been formed during the year, two more being in process of formation. Three hog-buyers were already buying hogs on grade and more have signified their intention of buying in this manner.

Mr. Finn said: A pig club organized in the county for the boys and girls, had been most successful, winning $25 a month, $70, in car lot prizes at Toronto stock yards.

After some discussion by the members, the executive was empowered to take up the menace of grade bulls running at large, with the livestock branch at Toronto. The authorities will also be asked to have bulls that have been approved by the association, tubercular tested when sold. The campaign against scrub bulls will be continued vigorously this year.
