All Fighting Power Gone; Togo Tells Battle Story

Russian Dead Placed at 7,000---3,800 Prisoners Landed ---Parole To Be Given Russian Officers.

Tokio, June 1, 7 p.m.—The navy department made the following announcement today:

"Later reports from the different divisions of the fleet engaged in the naval battle of May 27, show as follows:

"The Russian battleship Oslabya was heavily damaged in the early part of the fight on Saturday, going down at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The first Russian vessel sunk was the battleship Sissoi Veliky.

"The armored cruisers Admiral Nakhimoff and Vladmir Monomach, after being in the general engagement during the daytime, were still further damaged by torpedoes during attacks by night, and were eventually completely disabled. They drifted into the vicinity of Tsu Islands, where they were discovered on Sunday morning (May 28) by the auxiliary cruisers Shilano, Yawata, Tainau and Sado, which were about to capture them, but they all sank.

"The crews of our auxiliary cruisers rescued 915 of the crews of the sunken Russian ships.

"The battleship Navarin was torpedoed four times after sundown on Saturday (May 27) and sunk. The survivors of the Navarin's crew confirm this story of her destruction.

"The cruiser Niitake and Otawa discovered the Russian cruiser Svietlana at 9 o'clock on Sunday morning in the vicinity of Chappyan Bay, and immediately attacked and sunk her. The commander of the Niitaka reports the fact.

"It is suspected that the Russian cruisers Almaz and Aurora were sunk by torpedoes on the night of May 27.

"The former report includes the statement that the Russian cruiser Jemtschug was sunk. As yet this remains unconfirmed, and the cruiser's name has been excluded from the revised list of Russian vessels destroyed.

"JUDGING FROM THIS AND FORMER REPORTS, THE ENEMY'S MAIN STRENGTH, CONSISTING OF EIGHT BATTLESHIPS DESTROYED OR CAPTURED, THREE ARMORED CRUISERS AND THREE COAST DEFENSE SHIPS DESTROYED OR CAPTURED, WITH THE SECOND-CLASS CRUISERS AND OTHER VESSELS DESTROYED, THE ENEMY'S FIGHTING POWER IS THUS ANNIHILATED.

"LATER REPORTS SHOW THAT DURING THE NIGHT OF MAY 27 OUR TORPEDO BOATS NUMBERED THIRTY - FOUR, THIRTY - FIVE AND SIXTY-NINE WERE SUNK BY THE ENEMY'S FIRE. COMRADES RESCUED THE MAJORITY OF THEIR CREWS. BESIDES THE ABOVE THERE WAS NO DAMAGE WORTH REPORTING. NO WARSHIP NOR DESTROYER SUFFERED ANY LOSS OF FIGHTING OR NAVIGATING POWER.

"WE ANTICIPATED A HEAVY LOSS OF LIFE, BUT FIND THAT OUR CASUALTIES WERE COMPARATIVELY SLIGHT. THEY DO NOT EXCEED 800 KILLED AND WOUNDED. THE CASUALTY REPORTS WILL BE RENDERED AS SPEEDILY AS POSSIBLE IN ORDER TO REASSURE FAMILIES AND FRIENDS.

"Nearly the whole strength of both combatants met in battle and the area of the fighting was very wide.

"The first day proved foggy, and even without the smoke and fumes, resulting from the battle, it was impossible to see five miles. Consequently during the day it was impossible to locate or observe all the ships under my command. Moreover the fighting having lasted two days and the ships of my command being scattered for the purpose of chasing and attacking the enemy, some having received special orders after the battle, it is impossible to collect and frame any detailed report covering the whole battle at the same time."

7,000 Good Men Gone.

TOKIO, JUNE 1. — ROUGH ESTIMATES MADE OF THE RUSSIAN LOSSES IN THE BATTLE FOUGHT IN THE SEA OF JAPAN EXCLUSIVE OF NEARLY 4,000 PRISONERS, VARY FROM SEVEN TO NINE THOUSAND. IT IS FEARED THAT THE MAJORITY PERISHED. CALCULATING ON THE COMPLEMENT OF THE SUNKEN AND CAPTURED SHIPS AT UPWARDS OF 10,000, 7,000 GOOD MEN REMAIN UNACCOUNTED FOR. IT IS POSSIBLE THAT THE SHIPS WHICH ESCAPED RESCUED SOME OF THE MEMBERS OF THE CREWS OF THE LESS FORTUNATE SHIPS. MANY BODIES HAVE BEEN WASHED ASHORE ON THE ISLANDS AND ON THE SHORES OF THE NEIGHBORING COASTS NEAR THE SCENE OF THE BATTLE.

Japan's Naval Losses.

Tokio, June 1. — The necessity, for secrecy no longer existing, the navy department confirms the reports of the loss of the Japanese battleship Yashima off Port Arthur in May, 1904, and announces other naval losses heretofore withheld. The list is as follows:

Battleship Yashima, sunk by a mine, May 15, 1904, while engaged in blockading Port Arthur.

The torpedo-boat destroyer Akatsuki, sunk by a mine, May 17, 1904, while taking part in the blockade of Port Arthur.

The gunboat Oshima, sunk in collision, May 17, 1904, while co-operating with the army off the Liao Tung Peninsula.

The torpedo-boat destroyer Hayatori, sunk by a mine, Sept. 3, 1904, while taking part in the blockade of Port Arthur.

The gunboat Atago, struck a rock and sank, Nov. 6, 1904, while taking part in the blockade of Port Arthur.

The protected cruiser Takasago, sunk by a mine, Dec. 12, 1904, while taking part in the blockade of Port Arthur.

An Infernal Fire.

London, June 1. — In describing the naval battle a correspondent of the Daily Telegraph with the Japanese fleet, says:

"An infernal concentration of fire reached its zenith at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. As the Russians advanced in the direction of Vladivostock, a Japanese squadron was lying between them and their destination, and the doomed Russians were battered on all sides. Between 3 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon a cruiser of the Admiral Nakhimoff class, and the repair ship Kamchatka founded after their upper works had been shattered. The Russians broke in utter disorder, lost their formation and went zigzag. The Japanese closed in and pressed them towards the Nagoto coast.

The fight, the correspondent says lasted until 7 o'clock in the evening. The correspondent continues:

"Togo risked nothing and lost nothing. Darkness brought a glorious night, with smooth and transparent seas. The Russians were edging northward with the powerful Japanese fleet in a horizontal line across their bows, forming an effective barrier. Then under searchlights and the cover of the big guns of the warships, the Japanese torpedo flotilla began like wasps to sting and sink the enemy, the Russians continuing to return the gunfire. At 2 o'clock in the morning the fighting was fierce and intense, and no rest was allowed the Russians. With dawn of Sunday the Japanese fleet came to a still closer range. All day long the battle continued, and by evening was raging off Northern Nagoto. The Russians were powerless to offer any effective resistance."

3,800 Prisoners Landed.

Nagasaki, June 1. — Fully 3,800 Russian naval prisoners have been landed. Three damaged Russian vessels have drifted ashore off the coast of the Province of Nagato.

Russ Admiral's Wound

Tokio, Wednesday, May 31. — 7:15 p.m. — The serious wound of Admiral Rojestvensky, who was taken to Sasebo on a Japanese battleship, is a bruise on the forehead and a slight fracture of the skull. The nature of his internal injuries is not known. The admiral's temperature and pulse are normal and there is no sign of brain trouble. He has other wounds, but they are not serious.

Rojy Changed Ships.

Tokio, June 1. — 8 a.m. — It is understood that the Emperor intends to direct that the Russian officers captured at the naval battle of the Sea of Japan, on May 27, be given terms of parole, identical with those granted the army officers taken at the surrender of Port Arthur.

An officer of the Russian battleship Borodino, brought as a prisoner to the Maizura navy yard, says that while Vice-Admiral Rojestvensky had raised his flag on the battleship Kniaz Souvaroff, he was really on board of the Borodino, during the action. When the Borodino was sinking he boarded the Russian destroyer Bedovi, on which he was eventually captured by the Japanese.

Infringed the Rules.

London, June 1.—The Daily Telegraph's Shanghai correspondent says that the hospital ships Orel and Kostroma have been captured and taken to Sasebo, charged with infringing The Hague convention.

The Daily Telegraph's Tokio correspondent says that three Russian warships of the Izumrud, Kniaz Souvaroff and Aurora types respectively, have arrived at Hamada, on the west coast of Honshiu, Japan, and will probably be captured.

Parole for Russ Officers.

Tokio, May 31, 1 p.m.—Admiral Togo reports that two Russian hospital ships which accompanied Admiral Rojestvensky's fleet into the Straits of Korea on May 27, were suspected of a violation of The Hague convention, and besides, owing to the great necessity for strategic protection, he detained them temporarily and conveyed them to Sasebo on May 28.

By direction of the Emperor, Admiral Ito has instructed Admiral Togo to allow Vice-Admiral Nebogatoff and other Russian officers to transmit a report of the battle and a list of casualties and prisoners to the Emperor of Russia.

The officers of the battleships Orel and Nicholas I. and the coast defense ships Admiral Apraxine and Admiral Seniavin are to be permitted to return to Russia on giving their paroles.

The damage to the Japanese fleet, Admiral Togo says was slight. Only three torpedo boats were lost. No warships or destroyers were sunk.

The Emperor has issued the following rescript to Admiral Togo: "Our combined fleet encountered the enemy's fleet in the Korean Straits, and after several days desperate battle, annihilated it, accomplishing an unprecedented feat.

"We are glad that by the loyalty of our officers and men we have been enabled to respend to the spirits of our ancestors.

"Though the war be long, we hope that you will be loyal and brave and secure a successful result."

To the navy the Emperor issued the following rescript:

"Our navy with the best strategy and greatest courage annihilated the enemy's squadron and answered our hope. We appreciate deeply your splendid success."

TOGO DID.

Rojestvensky left behind him one epigram—a cable dispatch to the Czar when he cut loose and went for the Japanese fleet: "If I am victorious, I shall inform you. If I am vanquished Togo will inform you."

BOMB THROWN AT KING ALFONSO

Spain's Boy-Monarch Has Narrow Escape in Streets of Paris.

Paris, June 1.—An anarchist threw a bomb at the royal carriage containing King Alfonso and President Loubet, as they were leaving the opera, after a gala performance. The bomb exploded without injuring either the President or the King. Soldiers belonging to the escort were wounded. Many arrests have been made, including the person who is believed to have thrown the bomb, and three persons suspected of complicity in the plot, as the latter were seen under the archway of the Louvre with a destruction engine a few minutes before the explosion occurred.

Arsene Arnould is the name of one man arrested on suspicion of having attempted the assassination of King Alfonso. He is held on the evidence of a woman, who alleges she noticed him lighting a supposed fuse.

Arnould is employed as a laboratory attendant and resides in Paris. He is suffering from a wounded eye.

Shortly after the passing of the Spanish King, another bomb was found in the Rue Rivoli, near the spot where the explosion occurred. It also contained dangerous explosives. The plot is said to have been planned in a hotel near the scene of the explosion.

The names of several additional injured persons have been reported to the police, the number now reaching ten, and including several who were struck while watching the procession from balconies.

BETTING ON RACETRACKS

Barreau's Bill to Amend Criminal Code Shelved for Present.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, June 1. — It is understood that the bill to amend the criminal code, so as to prevent the management of racing associations from being prosecuted for betting on the track will be dropped. Betting on racetracks is now permissible, but while this is so, there is a clause in the criminal code regarding betting-houses which does not exempt track management, and it was to make this clause conform to the other that the bill was introduced by Mr. Barreau, of Three Rivers. It passed through committee and stands for a third reading, but it will not likely be heard of again at this session.

Will Visit Northwest.

Toronto, June 1. — The members of the Gridiron Club, composed of congressional correspondents of the principal United States newspapers, propose visiting the Canadian Northwest, as the guests of the Western Passenger Association. They will arrive in Toronto from Washington on June 22, spend a day here and go on to Montreal, from whence they will start on their trip across the continent.

And Her Name Was Maud.

Toronto, June 1.—A woman named Maud Murray was arrested this morning chargel with obtaining money under false pretenses. She attempted to cash three checks in the T. Eaton store, two of them purported to be signed by D. Boake, of Downsview, and the third by Mrs. Dr. Charles Sheard, wife of the medical health officer of Toronto. Dr. Sheard said it was not his wife's signature. The woman was remanded for a week.

Winding Up Petition.

Toronto, June 1. — Peter Ryan, registrar for West Toronto, has filed a petition asking for the winding up of the Purity Manufacturing Company, dealers in oils and soaps. The company assigned on May 30 to J. P. Langley, of Toronto. The capital stock is $40,000, of which $27,000 is paid up. The directors are Alfred H. Pritchard, holding $16,000 stock; Frank Sullivan, holding $4,000, and Alfred Brown, holding $9,000. The overdue liabilities amount to $5,000.

A Sad Death.

Windsor, Ont., June 1. — Charles Stephens, a former resident of Windsor, now employed on the Southern Pacific in California, came home after an absence of several years to visit relatives, bringing with him his bride, aged 22 years. On Tuesday Mrs. Stephens was taken ill, and was removed to the Hotel Dieu, where she was operated upon for intestinal trouble. She died yesterday. Mr. Stephens will return to California tomorrow with his wife's remains.

GRAY AND THE WORKINGMEN.

The Free Press has the effrontery to make another bid for the workingmen's vote in Mr. Gray's behalf.

It repeats the stale libel that Mr. Hyman defeated legislation demanded by railway men.

This is a trick to divert attention from the charges made against Mr. Gray by the Industrial Banner.

At the last election Mr. Gray paraded himself as "The Workingmen's Candidate," and the most unscrupulous tactics were devised to discredit Mr. Hyman in the eyes of the workers.

Mr. Gray's chickens are now coming home to roost.

In November last he was placed in the field at the eleventh hour and the workingmen had no time to find him out before the election.

Many of them thought he was sincere when he represented himself as the special candidate of the laboring classes.

They were undeceived when the Industrial Banner, a few days after the election, told of the part Mr. Gray had played against organized labor in 1899.

Mr. Gray was in the role of a strike breaker in 1899. He took a pretty sharp curve when he posed as the workingmen's candidate and friend in 1904.

He has been forced to drop the pose. The labor organ has stripped the mask from him. At the east end meeting he dismissed the workingmen with one sentence. He wants to get away from the subject. His organ imagines that by resurrecting an old falsehood against Mr. Hyman, the attacks upon Mr. Gray by the Industrial Banner will be neutralized.

Mr. Hyman has not talked much about his friendship for the workingmen, but he has done things for them. Mr. Gray has given the workingmen a fine line of talk, but when it came to doing things he knifed them.

A PARLIAMENT FOR RUSSIA TO AVERT POPULAR STORM

The Czar in Desperate Plight---Hopes to Head Off General Rising of His People.

St. Petersburg, June 1. — The extraordinary council at Tsarskoe-Selo yesterday reached no conclusion on the subject of peace, but definite reports say the Emperor agreed to meet the internal situation by the immediate proclamation of a decree providing for the convocation of a national assembly. M. Witte (president of the committee of ministers), who was present, is understood to have assumed the leadership of the advocates of peace, and the immediate convocation of a national assembly is anticipated as the only means of averting the popular storm which is threatening to break. The war party is dying hard. It is the unanimous opinion in diplomatic circles that the logic of events points to no other issue except peace, but the diplomats also admit that the decision rests with the Emperor. But even when all the ministers, except War Minister Sakharoff and Minister of Marine Avellan, are solidly arrayed against attempting to continue the hopeless struggle, the Emperor has refused thus far to say a word. To a visitor on Tuesday his majesty is reported to have declared that he would rather die than sign an ignominous peace.

Strength of London Corps Is to Remain Unchanged

No Truth in Ottawa Story That Seventh Regiment Is To Be Reduced.

Latest information received from Ottawa is to the effect that the strength of the Seventh Regiment is to remain as at present, the wording of the order issued a few days ago having been misunderstood. The order simply cuts off what is known as the "Dundonald war strength," and which had no existence except on paper. The "war strength" was one of the many schemes of the late commander-in-chief, and has been pronounced by military men all over the country as without value and a great nuisance. Col. Little and the Seventh, in common with other militia corps, did not put the Dundonald scheme into practice, and all will be heartily glad that it has been abolished. It existed only on the regimental books, but had to be taken into consideration in the regiment's dealings with headquarers, and thus became an unutterable eyesore and bother.

Newspaper reports of the new order were somewhat misleading, but now that the regiments throughout the country have received printed copies of the order nothing but the greatest satisfaction exists on all hands. Under the heading "A Bad Slap at London," the local Conservative organ makes a ridiculous attempt to hurt the Government, and thus get an indirect hit at Mr. Hyman, making use of such expressions as "The Seventh will be practically cut in two," "Feeling of the keenest indignation exists among the officers and men," "The officers are up in arms."

Following is the establishment authorized by the new order: Number of companies, 8; officers, 32; sergeants, 33; buglers, 8; privates and corporals, 264; total, 337. This is almost exactly what the regiment has at present. The Dundonald scheme authorized the appointment for each company of an extra captain, an extra subaltern or lieutenant, extra color-sergeants, sergeants and corporals, to be used in time of war. The extra officers and non-coms were to remain at home in time of war for recruiting purposes, when the rest of the regiment had gone to the front. In time of peace, the duties of these extra men were nil, although Dundonald provided that they should be paid the same as the others, using up good money for nothing. Col. Little and other commanders refused to appoint these visionary officers and non-coms. In making its reports to headquarters, however, the Seventh had to take the position of being under strength, and report the absence of the phantom officers. This was a very annoying state of affairs, and the capable military council, seeing the scheme would not work, has abolished it. Captain Adjutant McCrimmon expressed himself in the highest terms of approval of the new order when questioned by The Advertiser this morning, and was indignant at the totally inaccurate statements made by the Free Press and its omission to correct them.

It is true that the Seventh has a slight overstrength in the rank and file—that is, there are a few more men than the number for which the regulations provide pay. But most regiments have this overstrength, and it is an encouraging feature. The pay, as is well known, never reaches the individual pocket, but is put in the regimental fund by the consent of all, and used for special purposes, such as trips to outside towns, etc. The regiment will not be entitled any longer to any pay for the visionary "war strength," but loses nothing since this strength was never appointed. The introduction of the Dundonald scheme caused general dissatisfaction in the militia. Three officers, four sergeants and three corporals are all that the men wanted in each company, all that the Seventh ever had, despite Lord Dundonald.

VOELKERSAM IS AMONGST DEAD

Admiral Blamed for North Sea Blunder Killed in the Conning Tower.

Tokio, June 1, 11 p.m.—Rear-Admiral Voelkersam, who was commander of the battleship squadron of the Russian fleet, was, it was anounced today, killed the first day of the battle, May 27, in the conning tower of his flagship, the battleship Oslabya, one of the vessels sunk by the Japanese.

Rear-Admiral Voelkersam was appointed commander of the battleship squadron of the Russian fleet in July last, and left Cronstadt Aug. 25 with the other vessels, commanded by Admiral Rojestvensky. It was Voelkersam's squadron, according to a report, which fired on the British trawlers in the North Sea, mistaking them for Japanese torpedo-boats. It was reported last month that Voelkersam was seriously ill, and it was intimated unofficially that he would have relieved Rojetvensky of the command of the fleet had it not been for his own sickness.

Wife Murder Charged.

Belleville, May 31.—Adam Lloyd, an aged resident of Hungerford, was arrested today, charged with killing his wife. She was found dead in a chair, with her clothing partly burned. The old man said she burned herself while he was at the barn, but the doctors testified at the inquest that the woman was dead or insensible when her clothes were fired.

Belonged to Wealthy Family.

Montreal, June 1. — Some months ago a young man employed running an elevator in the Turkish Bath Hotel was crushed to death, and his body was in due time burned. Since then inquiries have been on foot, and it transpires that the man was living under an assumed name, and, in fact, belonged to a wealthy and prominent family in France. Last night the body was exhumed on a court order and the remains will be forwarded to France.

Found Blood On Deck; Threw Canadians in Jail

Govt. Making Every Effort to Secure the Release of the Uruguayan Prisoners.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, June 1. — The state department is still pressing the British authorities to come to the relief of the imprisoned captain and officers of the Canadian schooner Agnes G. Donohue by the Uruguay Government, but so far nothing definite has been done. The British consul at Uruguay says that the case was worked up against the prisoners, who were accused of peaching for seals, without their being any law upon the subject. What the Uruguay Government sentenced the officers and crews for was the taking of property belonging to a company holding a Government lease. It was held that they were guilty, because there was blood on the deck of the schooner which looked to be fresh blood. But the charge was denied on the part of the captain and crew.

TOOK FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE OATH; RECEIVED GOLD BADGES

Graduate Nurses of Victoria Hospital Rewarded for Long and Faithful Services.

The graduating exercises of the Victoria Hospital Training School for Nurses took place at the Auditorium, yesterday afternon, in the presence of a large and fashionable audience. The platform was beautifully decorated with ferns and palms. Besides the graduating class about 25 nurses-in-training were on the platform, together with Mayor Campbell, the Bishop of Huron, Superintendent Heard, Hospital Trustees Screaton, Mattinson and Labatt, Dr. John D. Wilson, and others. Mayor Campbell occupied the chair. While the audience was gathering Tony Cortese's original harpers played several beautiful selections. Prayer was offered by the Bishop of Huron, and Miss Mabel Scarlett sang a beautiful solo, entitled, "Spring Has Come." She sang splendidly, and deserved the hearty applause accorded her.

Dr. John D. Wilson delivered the first address. He apologized for the absence of Hon. Adam Beck, who was prevented from attending the exercises. Dr. Wilson paid many compliments to Mr. Beck's untiring efforts for Victoria Hospital. He paid tribute also to the zeal of former boards of trustees, and mentioned the name of the late Mr. Isaac Waterman, who shortened his days in working for the hospital. The speaker then gave a history of hospital enterprise in London, from the time of the old hospital on York street with its five or six rooms, to the present grand structure with its great accommodation. In 1897 there were 542 patients and the revenue was $4,299; in 1904 there were 1,920 patients, and a revenue of $18,872. Dr. Wilson was sorry that the Government had not increased the grant, which was distributed over too much ground. He found tault with the Government's grant of $300,000 for a hospital in connection with the University of Toronto, in addition to the grant to the university proper. All were proud of the work being done by the Western University, and the hospital, and the citizens should uphold them. If their claims were placed before the Government he was sure that a good sum would be voted them. The hospital needed a pathological laboratory, and also some equipment. He congratulated the graduating class and wished them God-speed.

Mr. Dickison sang a solo entitled "The Bell Ringer" (by Wallace). Mr. Dickison has a very rich baritone of excellent range and compass. He was the recipient of many congratulations. He is a new-comer in London, and is a decided acquisition to the musical talent of the city. Miss Regan played the accompaniments with rare judgment and skill.

Bishop Williams delivered a masterly address, dealing with the progress of humanitarianism since the time of the Saviour. In olden times, he said, men spent money lavishly upon the circuses, upon the arena, and upon gladiatorial shows. In Rome and other centers they spent millions for pleasure, but nothing for the alleviation of suffering, nothing for education, nothing for refinement, nothing for advancement of people. There were no hospitals or asylums in the old world. The change was due to the spirit of Christ. The greatest contrast between the old and the new was shown in the alleviation of suffering. He paid a warm tribute to the mother of nursing—Miss Florence Nightingale, who gave herself without money and without price for humanity's sake. Hers was the expression of the Christian spirit. Nursing had become professional since then. It was not necessarily worse, but on the contrary might be a great deal better. One aim and object produces better results. Amateurs are not the best. Specialists do best work always. Bishop Williams warned the graduates against doing their work professionally, for the gain of it, but always to keep in mind the glory of God. The professional in that sense does so much and no more; the man of God will never cease to do. He also warned them of the danger of withdrawing their services from the poor, the lower classes, as they were called. He disliked the latter expression. A mechanic, a clergyman, a doctor, a nurse—all were equal in the sight of God, if faithful to their trust. There should be no trades unionism among nurses. Trades unions were necessary to fight corporations. They were not necessary among nurses. He outlined a scheme whereby wealthy men might interest themselves in the poor by hiring a nurse or several of them to work among the poorer classes. He congratulated the graduating class and wished them every success.

One of the most solemn parts of the programme was the taking of the Florence Nightingale pledge, by the graduates. The pledge is as follows:

"I solemnly pledge myself before God and in the presence of this assembly, to pass my life in purity and to practice my profession faithfully. I will abstain from whatever is deleterious and mischievous, and will not take or knowingly administer any harmful drug.

"I will do all in my power to maintain and elevate the standard of any profession, and will hold in confidence all personal matters committed to my keeping, and all family affairs coming to my knowledge in the practice of my calling.

"With loyalty will I endeavor to aid the physician in his work and devote myself to the welfare of those committed to my care."

Mr. Screaton presented the diplomas, and Mr. Labatt the gold badges to the following graduates: Misses Florence MacGill, Eva Lovina Bond, Miriam Sharpe, Lizzie Thom, Ethel M. Fraser, Jessie Kenward Smith, Isabel J. Hutchinson, Edythe C. Fredin, Annie Burnett Wall and Frances Vera Whiting. After this ceremony each nurse was presented with a magnificent bouquet.

Miss Isabel Hutchinson read a clever valedictory, in which she gave a history of the class, its ups and downs, its losses by death, and the many things that entered into their probationary career.

Mayor Campbell, in a short but pithy address, completed the programme. He wanted to give them a word of advice and encouragement. Graduation was but a step; their real life was before them. Nursing had formerly been a servitude; it was now a profession. It was not to render a minimum of service for a maximum of pay. The nurses were to keep their pledge in mind. They must at all hazards preserve the ethics of the profession. He advised them to render faithful service, to be kind, to be cheerful always, and above all to be discreet. He wished the graduates all prosperity.

Has Been Cured of Nervous Headache and Nervous Dyspepsia by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mrs. J. Hamilton, 709 William street, London, Ont., states: "For a number of years I have suffered a great deal with nervous headaches and nervous dyspepsia and indigestion. Believing this to be the result of a weakened and exhausted nervous system, I began to use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and can say that I found it very beneficial. It strengthened and restored the nerves, improved the digestion, and cured the headaches. I can heartily recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to any affected as I was."

It takes time to thoroughly cure dyspepsia and its accompanying symptoms, but you can be certain that each dose of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is of some benefit to you, and that the cure will be complete and lasting.

Queries Answered.

DEVIZES.—I hire a man for twelve months and I did not say anything to him about holidays or helping to do the necessary chores on Sundays. What holidays has he got and can I compel him to help me do these necessary chores on Sundays. Ans.—The man must do necessary chores on Sundays and all other legal holidays observed by his employer, who may dismiss him if he refuses or neglects to do so. We have frequently published the legal holidays, some of which are not observed generally in Ontario.

READER.—A has a cow tied in B's vacant lots to pasture. C goes and turns the cow loose on the street, because, he says, it was too close to his house, yet not on his property. It has been done two or three time, and this last time I watched and saw him. A has not got permission to pasture his cow on B's lot, yet knows B would not object. The cow went in on another man's lawn and ate some shrubs. Can A make C pay damages? Ans.—C had no right to turn the cow loose, upon the facts stated, and is therefore liable to an action for damages by A.

DEPORTATION OF MARQUETTE OFFICIALS CAUSES AGITATION

Americans Do Not Like Outcome of Move Made by Mr. Hyman in Workingmen's Interests.

The decision of the Dominion Government to deport a dozen or more Pere Marquette officials who were brought in to replace Canadians on the road, continues to agitate some of the newspapers across the line, and from many come threats of retaliation if the decision is enforced.

The investigation of the charges of discrimination preferred against the Pere Marquette was instituted at the instance of Mr. Hyman, and it revealed the fact that numbers of competent Canadian railway men were given their walking tickets by the Pere Marquette to make room for others from the United States. The evidence was secured by Mr. Joseph T. Marks, editor of the Industrial Banner, the investigation was conducted by Judge Winchester, and the latter's report was such that the department of labor did not hesitate to order the deportation of the Americans, allowing the company sufficient time, however, to fill their places. The move of Mr. Hyman was in the interests of Canadian workmen in general, and railroaders in particular, who now feel that it will bring about the degree of protection for Canadians intended by the alien labor law. Now that the move of Mr. Hyman is to hit some of the Yankees, the papers in the States are raising a cry, forgetting that every day of the week at the border towns American officials are busy turning back Canadians whom they suspect are going to the United States to work, and are also subjecting others to all kinds of petty annoyances. One Detroit daily stated that 3,200 Windsorites find daily employment in Detroit, but the Windsor Record investigated the matter, and it found that not one-tenth of that number of Windsor's population work in Detroit. Moreover, it makes the statement that the number of Detroit workmen employed on the Canadian side of the Detroit River exceeds the number of Windsorites working daily in Detroit and living under the Union Jack. The Record even has the assurance that the highest-priced officials in the following industries are persons living in Detroit:

At Walkerville — Canadian Bridge Company, Berry Bros., Walkerville Match Company, Globe Furniture Company, Fly Paper Company, The Seagrave Company, Ontario Overall Company, Parke, Davis & Co., Walkerville Brewing Company, Walkerville Ferry Company, Ford Motor Company, Walkerville Malleable Iron Works, and also in the Hiram Walker & Sons, Kerr Engine Company, and the Ontario Asphale Company.

At Windsor — Ideal Manufacturing Company, Penberthy Injector Company, Western Woolen Mills, D. M. Ferry Company, Windsor Gas Company, Frederick Stearns, Seeley Manufacturing Company, Columbia Coffee Company, Dr. King Gelatine Company, McGregor Boiler Works, British American Brewing Company, and others.

BRITISH SOLDIER DEPORTED.

A discharged British soldier, who served in the South African campaign, was crossing the river when he was spotted by one of the immigration agents.

"Have you your discharge papers?" asked the official.

"Yes, I have them in my baggage," was the reply.

"Never mind, all I want to know is which side you fought on," remarked the agent.

"With the British," came the quick reply.

"Well, you will have to pay $2 or return to Canada," ordered the official.

The man refused to settle the fee, returned to Windsor and later crossed like a thief in the night to evade the tax.

FAIR VISITORS NABBED.

During the St. Louis Fair hundreds of Canadians were held up for payment of the poll tax, or ordered deported. Nearly every day good Canadian citizens were turned back at the border with the same vigilance as Chinese immigrants. One instance will suffice. Two young men from London, one employed by George C. Gibbons, were invited to come to St. Louis just before the fair. They got as far as Sarnia and when they were crossing the river one of the twain indiscreetly remarked that he expected to secure a position as coachman in the Mound City. That was enough. Both were deported. Some days later they came to Windsor and crossed there successfully.

JOKE WAS COSTLY.

Last fall an elderly gentleman started from Dundas for Detroit. He had his ticket with him and some small change. Before crossing the tunnel at Sarnia he was warned about the United States immigration laws, but jokingly remarked to the official on the train that he expected to work if he was going to live on earth. Nothing more was said until the passenger got off at Port Huron to change cars. Then he was rather roughly taken in charge and sent back to Canada because he did not have the requisite amount for the tax, although his ticket called for his delivery in Detroit.

A PRINTER CAUGHT.

Printers are usually the most experienced kind of "tourists," but a former employe of the Record proved a victim of the watchful immigration official on the ferry boat. Robert Watterson carried over a few 13-em rule, a "stick" and sundry paraphernalia of the printshop. Watterson tried to hide under a chair, but could not elude the lynx-eyed agent. He confessed that he was guilty of being a British subject and also the crime of crossing the river. The inflexible rule cost the printer the little sum of $2 for admission to the republic with its boasted freedom.

Three young men from Petrolea who were in Walkerville wanted to take the Port Huron Electric Railway. At Campeau avenue $2 was demanded of them and they returned.

CARPENTER TURNER BACK.

Eli Mannie, a carpenter of Sandwich West, went over with his tools to work on a boat and was turned back.

On the same day twelve Italians came over to this side with their tools to work on the Pere Marquette Railway.

Cornelius Derdah, of Sandwich East, went to visit friends in Michigan, but did not get past Campeau avenue. He was turned back.

On Sunday afternoon about ten Canadians stopping over Sunday in Walkerville started over to see Detroit and Belle Isle. They were turned back at Campau avenue for declining to pay the $2 head tax.

An Englishman, a stranger, was turned back.

A Scotchman who lived with his family in Walkerville and employed at the Kerr Engine Works was turned back on refusing to pay the $2.

A Windsor girl, a domestic, was assessed $2 when she went to take a situation in Detroit. She paid it, but, having occasion to return to Windsor, another $2 was demanded, which she declined to pay, and she was deported.

WOMEN INTERFERED WITH.

A woman arrived from the east by Grand Trunk. She was going to Delray and was alone. The conductor arranged to see her properly transferred at Detroit. When the Brush street depot was reached the woman was missing. Inquiry disclosed that one of the American inspection officials ordered her to remain until he could accompany her. She was afterwards taken over on the Wabash and landed at the Wabash station. Her friends were at the Brush street station to meet her.

Two Scotchmen were going to Essex. They had their tickets via G. T. R. to Windsor and required their baggage transferred to the M. C. R. They were stopped by an American inspector and had to appeal to Grand Trunk officials for protection.

An American inspector interfered with two Englishmen who were going to work at the Walkerville Bridge Works. They had their tickets to Windsor and baggage checked to Windsor.

A young mechanic from Woodstock was going to Cleveland. He had his tools with him, but had no contract to work. He was turned back.

A young man, a stationary engineer from Hamilton, had worked at his trade in Toledo for five years. He went back home to visit, and on returning bought his ticket from Hamilton to Toledo. At Detroit he was turned back and applied at the Grand Trunk for a rebate on his unused ticket.

A man who had lived in Nova Scotia for 35 years crossed over and had to pay $2. He came back to Windsor and on attempting to go back was required to pay $2 more. He refused and returned to Canada.

What Causes Snoring

When asleep, people that snore breathe through the mouth instead of the nostrils, which are choked with catarrh. Just use "Catarrhozone" before retiring and you'll quickly cure the snoring habit. By destroying the cause of catarrh and healing the membranes, Catarrhozone makes a complete cure in every case; it cleans the nostrils, stops the discharge, and prevents dropping in the throat in a few minutes. Nothing so pleasant or certain to cure snoring, catarrh or colds, as Catarrhozone—that's worth remembering.

Interesting to Unions.

Toronto, June 1. — A long legal battle is threatened over the vexed question as to whether or not the funds of a labor union are attachable. In the action of the Metallic Roofing Company against Local Union, No. 30, Sheet Metal Workers, the master decided that the funds were not attachable. Mr. Justice Anglin upset this judgment, and now the Sheet Metal Workers announce their intention of appealing to the division court.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury, as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is tenfold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Nervous Consumption

DR. WM. BUCHAN,

In his treatise on "The Prevention and Cure of Diseases," says:

"Nervous Consumption, or Atrophy, is a wasting or decay of the whole body, without any considerable degree of fever, cough or difficulty of breathing.

"It is attended with indigestion, weakness, want of appetite, etc.

"At last the swelling of the feet and legs, the total loss of strength, the sinking of the eyes, the difficulty of swallowing and the coldness of the extremities, show the immediate approach of death, which, however, the patient seldom believes to be so near. Such is the usual progress of this fatal disease, which, if not early checked, commonly sets all medicine at defiance.

"I would chiefly recommend for the cure of Nervous Consumption, a light and nourishing diet, plenty of exercise in a free, open air, and the use of such bitters as brace and strengthen the stomach, as Peruvian Bark, etc."

HONOR THE FLAG

Gibraltar's Governor Says Children Should Be Taught Patriotism.

London, May 31. — The text of a speech delivered by Sir George Stewart White, Governor of Gibraltor, at Gibraltar on Empire Day (May 24) has just reached London. Sir George based his speech on a recent address by former Ambassador Choate on the subject of patriotism. The governor said that England was sadly lacking in education in regard to patriotism compared with the United States, where a vast and increasing population enjoy the blessings of peace and unequaled wealth, which meant the sinews of war, and where statesmen, headed by the far-seeing President Roosevelt, neglected no opportunity of educating the children of the nation to honor the flag above all else. Sir George said that England's omission in this essential was a notable blot and fraught with dangerous potentialities.

Ascension Day.

Montreal, Que., June 1. — Today being Ascension Day, is a legal holiday in the Province of Quebec, and all the public offices and courts of law are closed as a result. Services in observance of the feast of the Ascension were held this morning in the Roman Catholic and Anglican churches, and were largely attended, it being a typical, beautiful June day.

A Positive Cure for Dandruff.

Dandruff is an enemy of luxuriant hair. It makes the scalp unhealthy — retards the growth — causes the hair to fall out.

Oriental Rum and Quinine Hair Tonic keeps the scalp clean and healthy — and positively cures dandruff.

It feeds the hair—stops it from falling out—makes the hair grow thick and beautiful.

ALL FIGHTING POWER GONE

The total Japanese casualties are under 800.

A Staggering Disaster.

Tokio, May 30, 9 p.m.—(Delayed in transmission).—Admiral Togo's supplementary report, which reached the navy department this afternoon, makes the Russian defeat a staggering disaster unequaled in naval history. Practically every fighting ship of a once splendid fleet was either sunk or captured, representing a loss of tonnage exceeding one hundred and fifty thousand tons. The remaining units of the fleet, consisting largely of auxiliaries and transports, have been dispersed, some going to Vladivostock, others to the China coast. Admiral Rojestvensky, gravely wounded, occupies a cot in a Japanese hospital, a prisoner of war. Tokio, astounded and elated at the first measure of victory, seems to be unable to clearly grasp the still greater triumph that Admiral Togo brings to the nation.

Before the combat a partial victory with operations around Vladivostock during the summer was generally expected.

No one dreamed of annihilation at the first meeting. Later reports indicate that the fighting was of the most desperate nature. On Saturday and Sunday there were persistent torpedo attacks following heavy gun-fighting. Admiral Rojestvensky appears to have been hopelessly outclassed in gunnery. It is reported that it was necessary for Admiral Rojestvensky to change his flagship five times during the battle. He finally took refuge on the torpedo-boat destroyer, where he was captured.

Admiral Togo's later dispatches given to the public early this evening created the highest enthusiasm. High officers of the army and prominent officials hurried to the navy department and offered congratulations.

The entire staff of the Bank of Japan, headed by a band, marched to the navy department and cheered in honor of the victory.

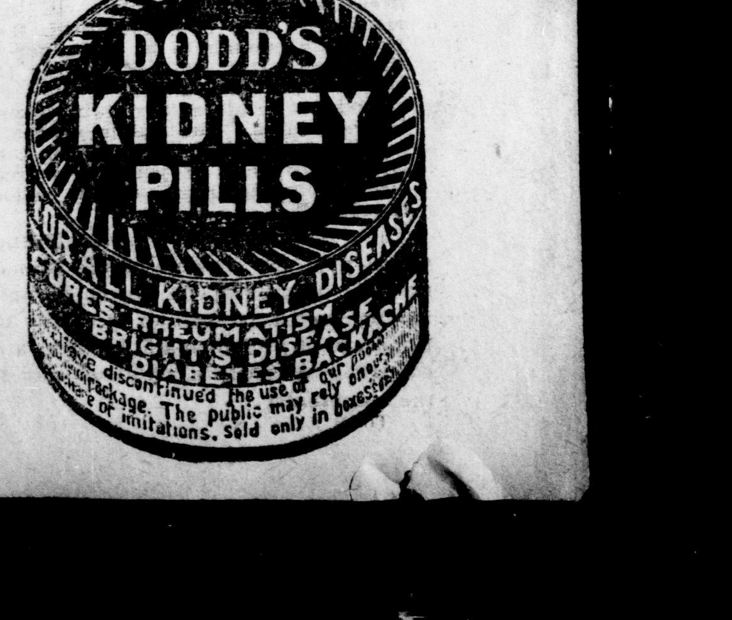

TOWN ROWS WITH G. T. R.

Firemen Turn On Hose to Prevent Laying of Track.

Waterloo, June 1. — A fight between the Grand Trunk and the town of Waterloo is raging. Acting under orders from Trackmaster Whoarry, of Stratford, the Grand Trunk sectionmen commenced on Tuesday to tear up the town's cement walks and street-crossings on Caroline and Erb streets so as to ship their track two feet nearer the Seagram's warehouse, which would further delay or entirely block the C. P. R. track to their new freight yard on Erb street. But the prompt action of Mayor Uffelman and the town council, backed by the firemen, who have been sworn in as special constables, with their hose ready for use, the Grand Trunk's effort to move their track failed. The town's solicitor subsequently secured an injunction restraining the Grand Trunk from further tearing up Erb street without permission, and a strict watch will be kept night and day to see that the order is obeyed.

LONDON, THURSDAY, JUNE 2.

A Man Who Has Made Good.

As a citizen of London, as an employer of labor, in London, as London's representative in the House of Commons, C. S. Hyman has always "made good."

In Parliament, C. S. Hyman has won a standing in keeping with the importance of the city of London, which honored him with its confidence. As chairman of the Railway Committee he has displayed ability of the first order. As chairman of the special Redistribution Committee in 1903 he was equally proficient, and acquitted himself in that highly difficult task, according to the testimony of both friends and opponents in a way worthy of all praise.

London is honored in C. S. Hyman's selection as Minister of Public Works for Canada. A few Toronto, Hamilton and Ottawa politicians ask London to reject the honor, and to reject C. S. Hyman, who has always proved faithful to London, and why? For the alleged reason that the Government is wronging the Northwest. But the weight of evidence from the Northwest goes to prove that the people mainly concerned are remarkable well pleased with the Autonomy Bills.

Will London reject its own honor, and a man of proved ability and faithfulness, such as C. S. Hyman, on account of a make-believe separate school issue, at the behest of George Eulas Foster, Richard Bailey Bennett, and William Gray? Where were these men when the principle of public control of public schools was really attacked in 1896? Trying to coerce western people, then as now. They were trying to coerce Manitoba into accepting clerically-controlled schools then. They are now trying to coerce the Northwest into an agitation which the Northwest people themselves repudiate.

When the principle of provincial rights is in danger, London and C. S. Hyman will be on guard, and London will look with little hope in such an hour to Geo. E. Foster, R. B. Bennett or Wm. Gray.

London is for Canada, London, and C. H. Hyman.

Appealing to Prejudice.

It was hoped by sober-minded Liberals and Conservatives that this contest would not be embittered by appeals to sectarian or religious or class prejudices.

In 1896 the Liberal party fought a winning battle for provincial rights, but it can be said without fear of contradiction that nothing was uttered in that historic campaign by responsible Liberal public men or newspapers which could offend the adherents of any creed or race. The issue was clearly defined: the Federal Government endeavored to force legislation upon the Province of Manitoba which the Legislature of Manitoba, supported by the great majority of the people of the Province, would not accept. The Liberal party advocated a policy of conciliation and compromise, and a Liberal Government at Ottawa afterwards accepted the terms which Manitoba offered the Conservative Government, but which the latter refused.

At the present time the Federal Government is enacting laws against which the Legislature of the Northwest Territories, and the great majority of the people make no protest. These federal laws are in effect precisely what the Territorial Legislature has asked for. The leader of the Opposition claims that this federal legislation is an invasion of Provincial Rights, but he offers an amendment which constitutional lawyers say is in essence identical with the Government's proposals. The only difference is that the Government is straightforward, and Mr. Borden skulks behind a technical jargon which may be interpreted one way in Ontario and another way in Quebec.

But Mr. Borden has raised the cry of Provincial Rights, and says it is not a religious question, or a question of separate schools. Upon the latter point he was very emphatic when he came to this city a few days ago to give the keynote of the campaign. But the Toronto clique, which is responsible for this election, is determined to make the issue one of race and religion. The speeches of Dr. Sproule, M. P., and W. F. Cockshutt, M. P., at Mr. Gray's nomination, were brazen appeals to prejudice. Dr. Sproule gave the lie to his leader by raising the cry of national schools. Mr. Cockshutt represented the Federal Government as the enemy of religious freedom. At a later meeting Messrs. Bennett and Foster harped on the same string, the former a supporter of Premier Haultain, who asked for the legislation which the Federal Government is granting; the latter the right-hand man of Sir Charles Tupper in the attempt to coerce Manitoba.

Mr. Gray's organ, the Free Press, has also dropped the mask. It is industriously fanning the flames of discord. In yesterday's edition it attributes these remarks to one whom it calls "Father Crowley, of the Archdiocese of Chicago":

> "The church school is a flourishing institution in the States; it has been increasing in strength for some years, but its dimensions are not nearly so great as those to which it has reached in this country. Still, they are large enough to be a danger to the state. But we are fighting the separate school system. We are resolved not to allow it to gain ground in the States. The public generally are becoming aroused, and you need not be surprised if you see a great stir across the line on the school question."

The man styling himself Father Crowley is not a priest of the Roman Catholic Church. The object of publishing such a paragraph is to stir up the dregs of prejudice and bigotry, and endeavor to create a religious war in the community.

Provincial Rights.

What are provincial rights? In 1867 when the original four provinces were federated certain subjects were set apart as being under the exclusive legislative jurisdiction of the provinces and certain others were reserved to the Federal Parliament only. In most of these cases the reasons for assigning the subject specially to the jurisdiction to which it is assigned is clear, e. g., as when matters of customs duties, naturalization and aliens, sea coast fisheries, beacons, buoys and light houses, currency and coinage, postal service, militia defense and trade and commerce are assigned exclusively to the Federal Parliament, because they have more or less to do with our relations to foreign countries. In other cases, such as census and statistics, inland fisheries, marriage and divorce, bills of exchange and promissory notes, interest, savings banks, weight and measures, the criminal law, etc., there seems no special reason for assigning these matters to the federal authority other than that it makes the same laws apply to a wider jurisdiction and gives us greater uniformity. Lawyers tell us that it would be a great convenience if the laws of property were the same and administered by the same authority throughout the country, and that many other laws would be more useful in the wider sphere. But the negotiations leading to confederation were a series of compromises. The provinces were naturally jealous of their powers and were reluctant to give up any of them. There were two distinct races in the country, each cherishing its own institutions, usages, and privileges. The new entity called the Dominion was not yet in existence and called forth no enthusiasm, no loyalty, and no special care from any party, and some things which might safely have been given to federal jurisdiction were left with the provinces to satisfy them and to procure their assent to confederation. The American union had the same difficulty, and the jealousy of the various states for their "sovereign powers," as they called them, not only at first, but for more than half a century, caused many bitter contentions. This state jealousy and the necessity for compromise has produced not a little inconvenience, for there the extent of the state sovereignty far exceeds that of the provinces wtih us. This inconvenience the American public have met and put up with in that spirit of compromise and recognition of the rights of each man to have some regard paid to his views and his conscience which is necessary to the welfare of every community. The social compact called the state or the community depends on concession and compromise, each member yielding something of what he considers his natural right in deference to the opinions of others, and in this country, no less than in the United States, and in education, no less than in some other matters, have contradictory consciences to admit honesty in each other and to yield some points for general peace and good.

In Canada, once the founders of the Dominion had yielded to each other so far as to enable them to unite, there has been little friction between the two authorities. In the cases of the Rivers and Streams Bill and of the Liquor License Act the Conservative Government at Ottawa sought to invade the provincial field, but were foiled by the sturdy defense of the Liberals under Oliver Mowat. These cases are within the memory of most Liberals, and few of them, remembering the conduct of the Conservatives in these cases and in that of the Manitoba schools will place much confidence in the pretensions of the Conservatives of today, the very persons who have all along been the determined enemies of Provincial Rights. When these assaults were made upon the rights of the provinces where were R. L. Borden and William Gray and almost every other man of these new champions of liberty? Fighting in the fiercest ranks of the coercionists. Conservatives never have and never honestly will stand for real autonomy. The whole history of that party is a long record of class privilege, class arrogance and class oppression. Against their assaults on liberty the Liberal party, weak and few at first, but ever bold in the defense of freedom, has always nobly stood and still so stands, and no thoughtful Liberal will be deceived at this date by the pretended conversion of these life-long encroachers. When Messrs. Borden and Gray shall have the manhood to stand up in public and confess their wrong of 1896 and to declare their penitence, then, and not till then, may a Liberal listen to their new claims. We don't pretend to be theologians, but we understand that repentance goes before conversion.

Cosmic Insanity.

We are far from attributing to certain Toronto daily newspapers, which are denouncing the Laurier Government, any real responsibility for their apparently sinister conduct. The insane may even commit murder, which after all is a less crime than to stir up civil and religious strife, and go unpunished True, they are in such cases, restrained by due process of law from repeating the offense, but unfortunately no process of law has yet been enacted for the restraint of newspapers while criminally insane. A farmer who sows Canada thistle seed in the highway may be punished. The editor or orator who sows falsehood and dissension and hate—well, in this case, we plead on his behalf that he is not responsible. Toronto is not only a hotbed of Toryism; it is also a hotbed of what is closely allied to it, religious bigotry. It is in the air there, like gold mining fever or oil fever, a cosmic insanity, from which a large part of the community suffers, the editors like the rest. If it could be quarantined and localized, it might do little harm, and the editors will recover after awhile, but in the meantime, it scatters broadcast a certain degree of infection. Happily, in the purer air of outside towns, like London, and with the good antiseptic, common sense of our people, infection is not usual, though some persons here have suffered slight attacks. A great study is cosmic insanity—especially of the Toronto type.

And still no word from Mr. Beck!

A vote for Gray is a vote for King Edward.—London Free Press.
God Save the King!

That great constitutional exegete, Billy Gray, still refuses to say what Mr. Borden's school policy means.

The people of the Territories want their present school system, and are getting what they want.

The Free Press will be sorry to hear that the Seventh Battalion will not be reduced. It is deprived of another knock at Mr. Hyman.

Mr. Bennett, of Calgary, asked a London audience if he would travel 3,000 miles if the west didn't care about the autonomy bills. As Mr. Bennett is a railway solicitor and travels on a pass his self-sacrifice is not so very touching.

Many people imagine that Mr. Borden's amendment if it became law would give the new Provincial Legislatures power to abolish the present school system. Mr. Borden's amendment would no such thing. Mr. Borden himself makes no such claim.

A Lover's Letter.

[Clinton Scollard.]

O long are the leagues of division
'Twixt me and the dream of my heart!
And fate, as in wintry derision,
Persistently holds us apart.
I could breathe my devotion far better
Inspired by her presence I know;
Alas, I must tell her by letter!
How—how should it go?

Shall I call her "my friend"? That sounds chilly:
No ice (except ices) for me!
Shall I greet her as "sweet"? That seems silly,
Although she's as sweet as can be.
Shall I mention a goddess—say Venus,
Or one of her mythical crew?
Well, somehow I fancy (between us)
That hardly would do!

Shall I delve into botany's pages
And quote from the language of flowers?
Shall I cull from the lore of the sages
"Bright gems of expression" for hours?
Love-lines from a bard, perhaps Swinburne,
In delicate hand shall I frame,
To indicate how I within burn
With passionate flame?

Shall I study the stars in their courses?
Shall I brood on the moon from the glen?
Shall I ponder the ethical forces,
For stropes that are fitting to pen?
Dear heart, naught about nor above you
Is fair as you whom I adore.
So I'll just write: "I love you! I love you!
Be mine!" and no more.

Hamlin's Client.

[Boston Herald.]

Hanibal Hamlin, for many years a United States senator from Maine, and vice-president during the civil war, was wont to tell the following story on himself:

"An Englishman by the name of Pearson, while passing along the main street in Bangor, stepped in a hole in the sidewalk, and, falling broke his leg. He brought suit against the city for $1,000 and engaged Hamlin as counsel.

"Hamlin won his case, but the city appealed to the supreme court. Here, also, the decision was for Hamlin's client.

"After settling up the claim, Hamlin sent for his client and handed him $1.

"'What's this?' asked the Englishman.

"'That's your damages, after taking out my fee, the cost of appeal, and several other expenses,' said Hamlin.

"The Englishman looked at the dollar, and then at Hamlin. 'What's the matter with this,' he said, 'is it bad?'"

Bessie Fails to Make a Hit.

[Atchison, Kansas, Globe.]

The audience laughed at Bessie's "Curfew Shall Not Ring Tonight" until it was nearly black in the face. The sad little song about "Farewell, Dear Heart," was so excruciating that the pianist fell off his seat. There is no use talking, Bessie was awful. This remedy for Bessie's attack of stage fever was a severe one, but it was the only thing that would cure it. No one could tell her anything. It is now hoped that Bessie will settle down and be of some use to her mother.

"Blunoz"—a Canadian Serge made on the Semi-ready standard

"Blunoz" is our exclusively controlled serge.

We had an idea that Canadians would wear a Canadian-made serge, if it was made good enough. We didn't want to appeal to their loyalty—what we wanted was a serge that would appeal to their pocket-books and their common sense.

We have it in "Blunoz" serge.

Our cloth experts hunted up a Canadian manufacturer who was honestly trying to make good serge, and instilled into him our ideas of what a serge should be. He is making "Blunoz" serge for us now. We control the output of his factory and the secret that makes "Blunoz" wear well and never fade.

The only place you can get this excellent "Blunoz" serge is in the Semi-ready Wardrobes—in single and double-breasted sack suits.

GUY STOPPED, HE WEPT.

New York, May 30. — Guy Vaughn, who started out in a Decauville car at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon at Empire City track to smash the 1,000-mile automobile record, was stopped by the judges at 4:58 o'clock this morning. He was dragged from his car weeping, expostulating and kicking. The track at the time was a sea of mud and a terrific thunderstorm was making conditions continually worse. When he was forced to quit the attempt to lower the record held by Charles Wridgway, Vaughn had covered 504 miles, and was an hour and a half behind the record. Through punctures he lost three hours and a half. Forty-five minutes were consumed in putting on two new rear wheels shortly before daybreak.

JOSEPHINE CARR FOUND GUILTY

Verdict of Jury On Death of the Murray Infant at Toronto.

Toronto, June 1. — "That Harry McHarg Murray came to his death on the night of May 19 or the morning of May 20, by drowning, and that Josephine Carr, by her criminal neglect and ill-treatment caused the death," was the verdict of the coroner's jury in O'Neill's Hall last night, when the inquest was resumed in connection with the stealing of the Murray child from Eaton's premises, and its subsequent murder.

The girl Josephine Carr was present, and was the center of interest. To those who had only read of her she was a distinct revelation. There was absolutely nothing in the features or expression of Josie to suggest that she was anything approaching a criminal. She looked the essence of happiness and contentment, and obviously failed altogether to realize the serious nature of the charge which was hanging over her. The girl can, without undue flattery, be called pretty. She has a profusion of blonde hair neatly parted on the left side, and it was covered with a large high set straw hat. She wore a white blouse and a fawn coat.

Josie, who was in charge of Mr. Lee Williams, of the Children's Shelter, was not at all impressed by the seriousness of the coroner's court. She seemed more concerned in her little brother Earl, who has figured prominently throughout the case, and who was her constant companion while a string of witnesses related their story. Then the boy went to sleep in her arms, other children in court caught the contagion, and it seemed almost a pity to sit so late under such circumstances, for 10 o'clock had passed. As it was, Josie herself, who had got through the ordeal well, showed signs of dozing shortly before 11, and she was wisely taken back to the Children's Shelter before the verdict of the jury was reached. She was more amused than distressed during the greater part of the evening.

The jury, after considerable deliberation, returned the verdict already referred to. Josie Carr was taken back to the Children's Shelter in a carriage and pair, and a big crowd assembled outside the hall to see her away. She was crying bitterly as she drove off.

DETROIT RIVER BOUNDARY

At Some Points as Much as 300 or 400 Points in Canada.

Toronto, June 1. — Mr. J. P. Mabee, K.C., chairman of the Canadian section of the international waterways commission, which met a few days ago in Washington, says that while he was in that city he looked over some boundary maps prepared by the American authorities, and noticed that at certain points in the Detroit River the American boundary is indicated as being from 300 to 400 feet within Canadian waters, the line being, in one instance, within 50 feet of the Canadian shore. In these Canadian waters the American Government had spent millions of dollars in public works.

The chairman said he had received a message from the secretary, Mr. Thomas Coote, to the effect that Mr. Loomis, acting secretary of the United States war department, had informed him that the Canadian interpretation of the act of congress defining the scope of the waterways inquiry would probably be accepted. President Roosevelt. Mr. Mabee added, had also expressed the desire that the widest possible scope should be given the investigation, as requested by the Canadian authorities. "If, however," added the chairman, "our interpretation is not accepted we will report full particulars to the Ottawa Government with the object of ascertaining whether it is their wish that we should proceed with the inquiry within the prescribed limits set forth by the American commissioners."

The next meeting will be held in Toronto immediately after the decision of Secretary Taft and the war department has been announced, provided that decision is as Canada desires. An announcement is expected at once.

PATCHED UP A PEACE

Possibility of War Between Norway and Sweden Vanishes.

Christiania, Norway, June 1. — All party feeling has been obliterated in the face of the crisis between Norway and Sweden, and the whole country is of one mind, but the people and the newspapers preserve a sober and unprovocative temper, and there is a complete absence of any warlike feeling. At the same time, Norway's defenses are said to be in a far better state than they were during the crisis of 1895. The fact that Gen. Krohn, commanding the Trondjhen district, accompanies the Crown Prince to Berlin, is regarded as showing that on neither side of the frontier is war considered probable.

FOSTER AT WOODSTOCK

The "Arch-Conspirator" Addresses Tory Gathering at Baby City.

Woodstock, May 31.—Hon. George E. Foster and A. B. Ingram, M. P., addressed a good-sized gathering of North Oxford Conservatives here this evening in the interest of the Opposition candidate, Mr. J. G. Wallace. Mr. Wallace, at the same hour, addressed a meeting at Thamesford. Mr. Foster somewhat overdid it by stringing out his address for close on two hours. Many of his listeners left the hall before he had finished. Mr. Foster's address was along the lines that the Toronto Tory dictators have adopted for this campaign, wholesale denunciation of the autonomy bill as a measure of frightful injustice. "Shackles of separate schools," and "coercion" are the battle-cries of this company of agitators, and they indicate precisely the methods by which they are endeavoring to arouse race and religious prejudices. He repeated the statement made at London that the defeat of Messrs. Hyman and Smith would cause the Government to call a halt in regards to the educational clauses of the autonomy bill.

Mr. Ingram's principal point was that the Government should have brought down the measure prior to the Dominion elections in November.

A Turkish newspaper announced recently, in recording various honors conferred on deserving soldiers of the Sultan, that Captain Ali Rira Agha, of the Zouave Regiment of the Imperial Guard had received the title of effendi for having learned to read and write.

ONTARIO GOVT'S SPOILS SYSTEM

Wholesale and Unfair Wielding of Axe Discussed in the Commons.

Ottawa, May 31.—Starting out with the knowledge that the autonomy bill would not be taken up again before the middle of next week owing to the absence through illnes of the Minister of Justice, the House again dealt generously with a miscellaneous list of estimates, chiefly for public works. The supplementaries were all finished but two items, and the House will take up the necessary but monotonous procedure known as concurrence on Monday. During today there was quite a flurry on the introduction of the spoils system in Ontario, which charge the Opposition tried very ineffectively to hurl back on the Federal Government. The House adjourned tonight until Monday, tomorrow being Ascension Day, and there being a disinclination to return for Friday.

On a vote for a wharf at Gaspe, Mr. J. B. Morin complained that no man who was not a Liberal could get a day's work from the Government.

Mr. Lalor (Haldimand) and Mr. Geo. Taylor said they never asked a man whom they employed what his politics were. They thought the Government should act as a good business man does.

Hon. Mr. Fielding said it was very well to say this now, when they were not in power but that had hardly been the Conservative practice in the past. If the Government required the services of a man, and two equally capable, one a Liberal and one a Conservative, applied, he would have no hesitation in giving the preference to the Liberal. If gentlemen opposite were in power he would not blame them if they gave the preference to Conservatives.

Mr. Geo. Taylor—That is not business.

Dr. Barr (Dufferin) said the Finance Minister had laid down the dangerous doctrine, "to the victor belongs the spoils." He had given a frank statement of the principles which had actuated the Dominion Government in dismissing Conservative office-holders all over the country.

Mr. Finlay (East Peterboro) — How about the dismissals being made by Mr. Whitney?

Dr. Barr—They are for cause.

Mr. Arch. Campbell told Dr. Barr he had made a lot of declarations which had no foundation. When the Liberal Government came to power in 1896 it had shown the greatest forbearance toward Conservative officials, even those who had been active partisans. There were hardly any dismissals. Mr. Whitney was taking just the opposite course. He had issued a wholesale order, sweeping the license commissioners and license inspectors out of office without complaint or investigation.

Mr. Lalor—Will you say these men were dismissed without cause? Had they done their duty?

Mr. Campbell—Yes, they were doing their duty, and they were dismissed without cause. Mr. Whitney has only just begun. He is only established in office. Give him a little time and he will show what he can do. There will be few Liberals left holding office. Mr. Campbell said the Liberals were not squealing about this. If Mr. Whitney wanted to conduct business this way he would have to take the consequences. The Conservatives in the House had for nine years been squealing about the dismissal of a few incompetent partisans by the Federal Government. In view of what Mr. Whitney was now doing it would be well for them to stop.

Dr. Barr asked Mr. Campbell for a single instance of the improper dismissal of competent officials.

Mr. Campbell named the license inspectors of East and West York.

Dr. Barr declared these men had been partisans and it would have been a disgrace if they had not been dismissed. They had kept the gambling pools and the bars open at unwarranted hours.

Mr. Martin, of Wellington, and Mr. Miller denied that there had been wholesale dismissals of Conservatives by the Federal Government.

CONFERENCE HAS DAY OF ROUTINE

"Breach of Promise" Charge Against a Minister Is Being Investigated.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Listowel, June 1.—The conference proceedings yesterday were altogether routine in connection with the ministerial session. Prior to the opening of the business an evangelistic service was conducted by Rev. C. W. Brown, of Mitchell.

During the day a surprise was occasioned by a request for superanuation from Rev. Dr. Hannon, of Exeter. Two others are also asking for a superannuated relation—Rev. James Walker and Rev. Mahlon Pickard.

The secretary of conference laid on the table the official papers relating to the transfer into this conference of the new men—Rev. E. B. Lanceley, Rev. J. W. Graham, B.A., Rev. Dr. Griffith and Rev. W. L. Rutledge, B.A., all of whom have been stationed as expected.

The following named probationers were advanced a year in their standing: J. Herman Beer, A. W. Budd, J. T. Knight, F. W. Langford, J. A. Agnew, W. A. Gifford, B.A., W. A. Walden, W. H. Harris, David Wren, C. W. Down, W. L. Hiles, M. D. Madden, N. MacDonald, J. W. Kilpatrick, C. W. Coulter, C. W. Baker, C. F. Logan, A. P. Kellam, Charles W. McKenzie, W. R. Osborne, A. C. Haynes, A. S. Whitehall, L. C. McRoberts, A. C. Doan, Charles A. Thompson.

The ordination class this year will include James E. Hunter, R. J. McCormick, B.A., W. A. Finlay, J. H. Johnson, B.A., and Harvey Kennedy.

Considerable time was spent in the investigation of a charge of "breach of promise" against Rev. Thomas A. Steadman, of Point Edward. The matter is not yet settled. Nothing else has arisen during the year to mar the record of the 300 ministers within the conference.

A large audience assembled in the evening at the Sunday School and League service. The occasion was the conference service in the interests of Sunday Schools and Epworth Leagues. President Hobbs occupied the chair. The first address was given by Mayor Humphries, of Parkhill. His subject was "Practical Methods of Sunday School Work."

The mayor is a superintendent of a school and demonstrated his methods in a practical way, and gave an object lesson on how to conduct a school.

Rev. Dr. Crews, of Toronto, also addressed the meeting. The choir of the church, under the leadership of Newton Large, rendered excellent music.

BANQUET AT BERLIN

The Industrial League Holds a Most Successful Gathering.

Berlin, May 31. — What was the most magnificent banquet which has ever taken place in Berlin was held this evening in the Auditorium under the joint auspices of the Industrial League branches of Waterloo County towns and the Berlin Board of Trade. About 500 guests were present. President Mills, of the Berlin Board of Trade, was toastmaster. Among the speakers were Hon. J. G. Jenkins, ex-Premier of South Australia; Messrs. F. D. Monk, M. P.; J. D. Allan, Toronto; George Clare, M. P., Preston; George Pattinson, M. P. P., Preston; G. B. Ryan, Guelph; J. P. Downey, M. P. P., Guelph; Watson Griffin, Toronto, besides local men. The theme of the speeches was the spirit of national co-operation among all classes of Canadians for the purpose of building up Canada. In Berlin, as in other towns where branches of the Industrial League have been established, Liberals and Conservatives have joined together most heartily in advancing the objects for which the organization stands. This is one of a series of similar banquets to be held under the auspices of the league in the different provinces.

Pulled Down the Fence

Waterloo, May 31. — Between 12 and 1 o'clock last night, some person or persons pulled down the Grand Trunk's objectionable piece of fence, which had been placed to block the P. and B. Electric Railway connecting link of the C. P. R. on Erb street. Scores of townspeople visited the Erb street crossing last night, expecting to see a midnight gang of G. T. workers shift their track, but none appeared. No arrests have been as yet ordered, and no one seems to know who the guilty parties are.

To Make Pure

Biscuit, cake, rolls, muffins, dumplings, etc., a pure leavening agent is indispensable.

While the Royal Baking Powder is reported absolutely pure and healthful, the official reports show most other baking powders, as well as the cream of tartar of the market depended upon by many housekeepers for raising biscuit and cake, to contain either alum, ammonia or sulphuric acid.

The Government Analyst of Ontario says:

"As a result of my investigation, I find the Royal Baking Powder far superior to the others. It is pure, contains none but wholesome ingredients, and is of greatest strength."

AGRICULTURAL CONFERENCE

International Gathering at Rome—Lord Minto On Committee.

Rome, May 31. — The international conference on agriculture has appointed three commissions—the first to study the organization of an international institute under the chairmanship of M. Barrere, the French ambassador to Italy; the second to study the object the institute has in view, under the chairmanship of Lord Minto, one of the British delegates; and the third to consider the means by which the institute shall be supported, under the chairmanship of Signor Rava, the Italian Minister of Agriculture. King Victor Emmanuel gave a dinner of 125 covers last night in honor of the delegates to the conference. The dinner was characterized by great cordiality. A prominent topic of conversation was the victory of the Japanese fleet in far eastern seas. No Russian representative was present. The Japanese minister, Mr. Ohyama, was warmly congratulated on the success of his country's ships.

LOCAL MARKET.

Thursday, June 1, 1905.

The market today was similar to that of Tuesday so far as attendance and the amount of produce offered was concerned. While the supply of small stuff was light, yet there did not seem to be a brisk demand for what was offered. Prices were about steady.

Grain—Oats sold at $1 20 to $1 23 per cwt, mostly at $1 21 and $1 22 per cwt. Wheat was reported cheaper at $1 per bushel.

Hay and Straw—There were twenty loads of hay offered today. Sales were slow at $6 50 to $8 per ton. Only one or two loads of choice hay sold at the last-named figure. Several loads of straw were offered; sales slow at $5 50 and $6 per ton or $2 75 and $3 per load.

Butter and Eggs—Very little butter offered; there was, however, not much of a demand; sales were slow, at 14c to 16c per lb, mostly at 15c. Eggs were firm, at 14½c for crate and basket lots.

Vegetables and Roots—Potatoes were higher, at 75c and 80c per bag; rhubarb dull of sale, at 20c and 25c per dozen; asparagus scarce, at 50c per dozen; other vegetables plentiful and no change in prices.

Poultry—Several lots of live spring ducks sold at 75c to $1 10 per pair; there were no dressed chickens offered; old fowls sold at 75c to 95c per pair alive, and 80c to $1 10 per pair dressed; turkeys went at 11c per lb alive and 12c to 13c per lb dressed.

STOCK MARKETS.

H. C. Becher, stock broker, Bank of Commerce building, received the following by private wire from Bartlett, Frazier & Carrington today:

New York, June 1. — Noon, — Commission house business is practically at a standstill. The Steel stocks have been under pressure throughout the morning, and nearly every instance in the active issues declines have been recorded. Sentiment has been somewhat upset by reports that the Frick investigating committee of the Equitable affairs will be a disturbing influence upon the market. It looks now as if the balance of the session would be dull and irregular.

KEEP FORTS ON A WAR FOOTING

Naval Experts Would Have the British Ready to Open Fire at Any Moment.

London, May 31.—At the Royal United Service Institution this week, Lord Ellenborough, retired commander, R. M., read a paper on the possibility of England's fleets and harbors being surprised.

Admiral Togo's attacks upon Port Arthur, he said, furnished a lesson to Portsmouth and Portland. If simultaneous attempts to sink English battleships—the positions of which were shown on charts that could be bought for a few pence—and to block harbors were successful, the enemy might then be able to protect his transports from torpedo attacks and so reinforce an invading army.

The doctrine of mare clausum would have to be partially revived for the next naval war, and the three-mile limit extended to the enemy's shores.

England was in far greater danger of attack when all of her fleets were assembled at Spithead for a naval review than on any other occasion, he added.

Lord Ellenborough advocated that all of the forts that protect naval anchorages should be constantly kept on a war footing, ready to open fire, that a post-captain should be on duty night and day at the Admiralty, and that no pilots except those British-born should ever be allowed to exercise their profession on England's coasts.

He prophesied disaster from the freedom of the English press, suggesting that the folly or sense of rivalry of some editor may cause England's plans to fail, and involve her in great disasters. Once a war began, a wave of public opinion would probably carry a bill dealing with the press, but it might come ten days too late.

Admiral Sir N. Bowden-Smith, in the discussion that followed, said that he considered that the possibilities of surprise were exaggerated, but he thought danger existed in the many thousands of foreign waiters who might be used as spies. Another grave danger existed in the forty thousand foreign seamen in our merchant fleet.

Gravest of all was the risk arising from the fact that 59 foreign pilots are employed on the coasts. Probably, the admiral pointed out, there were many others on the retired list who could be employed. British ships abroad were compelled to take native pilots, and he wished to see an act passed that, no alien should be granted a pilotage certificate for English waters.

Express Hits Dynamite.

Columbus, Ohio, June 1. — St. Louis express, No. 28, on the Panhandle Railroad, struck a wagon supposed to have been filled with dynamite, at Stillwater, Ohio, southwest of Dayton, today, and the accompanying explosion wrecked the train and killed Engineer E. S. Ginbey and Fireman C. E. Pryor, both of this city. The train was due in this city at 8:20. None of the passengers is reported to be injured, but the engine and some of the cars are badly wrecked.

WORK CUT OUT FOR HIGH COURT

Three Cases So Far Entered for the Non-Jury Sitting—Blocking a Street.

Three cases are so far entered for the non-jury sittings of the high court of justice for this district, which opens here at 1 o'clock on Monday. The cases are as follows:

Tier vs. MacRobert.—This case was commenced in the surrogate court with William Tier the plaintiff, and Freeman MacRobert the defendant, but was transferred to the non-jury sitting. The plaintiff is the executor of the will of the late James Tier, a farmer of London Township, who died June 12, 1904, and asks that the court decree the probate of the will. The defense, in which about a dozen persons are interested, alleges that the said will was obtained by undue influence exerted by plaintiff and others upon deceased, the latter being of unsound mind at the time. Defendants also claim that the will is not the last one executed by deceased. Leonard Harstone, of St. Marys, for plaintiff; Meredith and Fisher for defendants.

London Township vs. George W. Francis.—The dispute in this case is over Park street, a highway in London Township. The defendant, who owns land on both sides of the road, has built a fence across Park street and thus barricaded it against public use, denying that the township had the right to use the street as a highway. Plaintiffs claim $500 damages and an injunction preventing defendant from closing the road. Meredith, Judd & Meredith for plaintiff; Buchner & Gunn for defendant.

H. I. Gleason vs. Mrs. Hanah Leadman—The plaintiff is a farmer of East Nissouri, and the defendant, who lives in the same township, was the trustee of the late Herman Gleason, father of the plaintiff. Plaintiff claims that his father gave in trust to defendant $2,400 for him, and now that he himself has taken over the administration of the estate, sues defendant for an account of all moneys she received from the deceased during his lifetime. The late Mr. Gleason lived for some time with the defendant. Plaintiff sues for full possession of all property left by deceased. Meredith, Judd & Meredith, for plaintiff; T. H. Luscombe, for defendant.

The case of John H. Way and J. R. Elliott vs. Owen H. Falls and the Hygienic Underwear Company, which was to have come up at the sessions, has been settled out of court. The dispute was over the right to sell the "Way's Muffler" in Canada. Plaintiffs claimed that Falls and the company which he represented infringed their patent. Jarvis & Vining for plaintiffs; Meredith, Judd & Meredith for defendants.

GOT CHEAP FARES

St. Thomas Drives a Good Bargain With Traction Company.

Under the agreement, which has at last been reached between the South-western Traction Company and the St. Thomas Council, the Traction Company's cars will enter the city at the west end, and traverse a portion of Talbot street, at a point on which it will connect with its own line to Port Stanley.

The track required to connect the city and company lines will be built by the company, but the city is to have the privilege of taking it over at a valuation at any time it may desire. The company is to pay the actual cost of the power required to run their cars in the city, the price to be determined by the engineers of the two companies.

One-half of the cost of maintaining the pavement in the track allowance is to be paid by the company, which is also privileged to pick up passengers for any point in the city for a five-cent fare, of which the city will receive two cents.

The question of fares to and from Port Stanley also came up in connection with the agreement, the company consenting to give a return rate of 20 cents for adults and 10 cents for children on all public holidays, and on Wednesdays and Saturdays during July and August.

In return for the 25-year franchise, the company is to pay the city $1,200 a year for five years, $1,450 a year for the second five years, $1,600 for the third five years, and $2,000 a year for the last ten years of the franchise.

Both the city and the company are perfectly satisfied with the agreement. The latter has now to receive the sanction of the people of St. Thomas.

WAS VERY BOISTEROUS

Drunk Who Created Disturbance Heavily Fined by P. M.

Another light docket was the lot of Police Magistrate Love this morning. Michael Dempsey, an old man on crutches, was charged with being a vag. Having a ticket for his home he was allowed to depart.

A wearer of the King's uniform, who got very drunk last night, was also in the cage. He had first attempted to trounce the soldiers who were trying to take him home, and when his yells became too much like the red man's, a policeman arrested him. He went peacefully with the officer until he got to Carling street, when he attempted to "do" the bluecoat. He was finally placed in the cells. Ten dollars and costs or 21 days was the fine imposed.

A drunk was discharged, as it was shown that he had been working steadily.

Two wheelmen were taxed $2 each for riding on the sidewalk.

George W. Sanborn did not appear, and a warrant was issued to insure his appearance in the morning.

In the juvenile court a youth was charged with riding on the sidewalk. He was allowed to go after the police magistrate had lectured him.

The deputation will tell the aldermen that they have a contractor who is ready to do the work at 60 cents a yard. Engineer Graydon says there must be a mistake of some kind, as a macadam roadway cannot be laid for less than 94 cents a yard.

CAPTURED JAPS TURNED TABLES

Crew of Transport Taken by Russians Defeat Guards and Retake Ship.

Nagasaki, June 1. — Russian torpedo-boats, from Vladivostock, captured the Japanese steamer Daishen, of 766 tons, off Hokkaido, and placed a prize crew of thirteen men on board with orders to take the vessel to Port. By mistake, the Russian commander of the Daishen headed for Gensan, Korea, and met a Japanese transport. The latter seeing the Russian flag flying from the Daishen intended to recapture the vessel, when the Japanese captives aboard the steamer, on seeing their compatriots, attacked the prize crew, recaptured the vessel, and eventually took her to Gensan. The Russian prize crew have been taken captives to Sasebo.

SPROULE RE-ELECTED

Will Remain at Head of the Orange Grand Lodge.

Owen Sound, May 31. — There was marked unanimity manifested among the delegates at the 76th meeting of the Grand Orange Lodge of British America at its opening session here this afternoon that when the Parliament of Canada was right in the midst of a spirited discussion of the educational features of the autonomy bills it was no time for a change in the grand mastership of the order. M. W. Bro. Dr. T. H. Sproule, M. P., of Markdale, after listening to a strong indorsation of his fight for provincial rights in the House of Commons, and at the earnest wish of every delegate present, consented to continue in office for another year. Dr. Sproule's declaration robbed the grand lodge of its outstanding feature of public interest, the possible election to fill the chief office in the gift of the Orangemen in Canada. Delegates, however, see in the election of the grand chaplain tomorrow morning a very heated contest. There is a certain section of the delegates who believe Rev. William Walsh, of Brampton, has been too long in office. They are supporting Rev. Canon Dixon, of Toronto, for the office of chaplain. The subject of the autonomy bills was just touched upon this afternoon in the resolution approving of Dr. Sproule's course in Parliament. More will be heard of the matter tomorrow, when it is expected the grand lodge will take a pronounced stand in favor of provincial rights.

ELOQUENT CAPTAIN CLADO

A Distinguished Russian Who Has Demonstrated His Ability.

London, May 31.—The interest aroused concerning Capt. Clado, by the publication of the report of the North Sea commission, has once more been reviewed by the publication of this officer's latest work, "The Russian Navy in the Russo-Japanese War." Before the outbreak of the war in the east, Capt. Clado was a nonentity so far as the English nation was concerned, but in his own country he has always been looked upon as one of the "powers to be reckoned with." His claim to notoriety is based on his marvelous insight and knowledge of nautical powers. He is regarded and rightly so, as the most powerful and convincing speaker in Russia. When any of the Russian admirals in the far east have found themselves wrong, and yet have been desirous of convincing their fellow countrymen that such was not the case, Capt. Clado, who was serving as aide-de-camp to Admiral Skridloff in Vladivostock, was despatched to St. Petersburg as their mouthpiece. In like manner, Admiral Rojestvensky selected him as the chief witness to explain away the North Sea outrage, and the cordial support of the Czar lent his commander-in-chief during that period, when all Europe was crying aloud for vengeance, is an eloquent testimony of the manner in which the Russian officer fulfilled his commission.

In ordinary life there is nothing to distinguish Capt. Clado from the ordinary run of humanity. He is of medium height, dark hair, coupe a la brosse and a small pointed beard. He does not shine in conversation and a knack he has of smiling feebly after everything he says seems to suggest that he is completely out of his element in society. The moment he has stepped on the platform, however, all traces of nervousness instantly vanish. His command of language is little short of marvelous. There is never a break in his speech, never a pause in search of an illusive adjective or an appropriate simile. The words flow from his lips like a stream of clear sparkling water, illuminated here and there by a brilliant flash of wit or a gleam of true genius. From beginning to end he holds his audience spell-bound. As far back as 1903, when the war cloud in the east was a mere speck on the horizon no bigger than a man's hand, Capt. Clado was busy lecturing in all the naval centers of Russia, warning his fellow countrymen to arise and prepare for what would surely come to pass. With wonderful intuition he prophesied the downfall of Port Arthur and the destruction of the fleet. And Russia, steeped in indolence and apathy, applauded his rhetoric as wild flights of imagination and slumbered on.

Sunk in Collision.

Windsor, Ont., June 1. — The steamer Sand Sucker, D. Borroughs, of this city, was sunk in a collision yesterday morning in the St. Clair River, when on her way to Windsor, with a load of gravel. The steamer that struck her did not stop to offer any assistance. She is believed to be the C. F. Bielman. The Burroughs was run ashore, but slipped off the channel bank and sank in 30 feet of water. She is insured. The crew of five men, the woman cook and her little son, escaped, but all had a close call, the boat sank so quickly.

A PENNY COLLECTION

Nucleus of a Splendid Fund—Good Results From a Joke.

Eldora, Ia. May 31. — From a penny collection jokingly subscribed to in order that a bald-headed travelling man who was as good as dead broke might have a hair-cut, taken up at the annual state convention of the United Travelers in this state four years ago, has been formed the nucleus of a fund, which will build in Iowa a national home for the widows and orphans of the "Knights of the Grip," to cost $200,000. The location will be arranged for at the coming state meeting at Cedar Rapids next month.

A drummer named Houck struck Sioux City four years ago to attend the state assembly of traveling men. He had a $150 draft in his pocket, but not a cent of ready money. His friends as a joke notified all the hotels, stores and banks not to cash the draft as it was bogus, and Houck was in a predicament. At the morning session it was suggested that a penny collection be taken to buy the man a haircut. Eight cents were subscribed which Houck refused. Secretary Olmstead carried the money home and reported the fund on hand in his annual report next year.

Houck at the next meeting told the members that eight cents was insufficient to obtain a haircut and suggested another collection. The subject was humorously discussed, but the next year at Cedar Rapids the members became serious about the money, and a home for the order was suggested. The proposition met with the unanimous approval of the National Council. A big collection was generously contributed to swell the fund.

The money is known as the "Father Houck" fund and ample provision will be made in the annual dues of each member to support this new home.

ZELDA DAMERON

BY MEREDITH NICHOLSON.

[Copyrighted by the Bobbs-Merrill Company, Indianapolis.]

"Yes; if my fever goes down, I can speak the lines somehow. I'm afraid there's fever with the cold."

"Then you must see the doctor. You must not trifle with yourself."

"No, no: I beg of you, no! I don't know any doctor here and a stranger would only be a nuisance. I'll be better. I don't like being a trouble; and I'll come anyhow, dead or alive."

"That's the right spirit; you've simply got to appear. We'd never hear the last of it if we failed."

"Yes, I know. Would you mind drawing that shade a trifle lower That's better."

Zelda opened her eyes wide and stared about her dejectedly.

"I'll tell you what I might do. Something's just occurred to me. You know Christine's part is much lighter than Gretchen's. If Olive would consent to trade with me,—" She broke into a fit of violent coughing. "My! I wish my chest didn't hurt so. What was I saying? Oh, yes; about that other part—if Olive would exchange with me, I think I might carry Christine's part through. She can sing Gretchen as well as I can—"

"Certainly not; it's impossible. And hers is a soprano part, anyhow."

"Oh, that's easy,"—another fit of coughing—"the range is not so very different. That won't be any trouble."

"It would take days to do it!" said Mrs. Carr, with a groan.

Zelda lay back on the pillows and pressed the camphor-soaked handkerchief to her nose.

"That's the only way out of it that I see. If Olive will trade with me, I think I can go ahead; but I can't do the work of my own part. Gretchen is on the stage all the time. You'd better telephone Professor Schmidt at once. He can have a rehearsal with Olive; but you'd better go to see her. She's at home today—the Thanksgiving vacation has begun. If she'll do it—and you tell her she must—I'll try to take her part."

"But it can't be done—so suddenly—the change will throw all the rest out."

Mrs. Carr threw up her hands helplessly.

"Please don't make me feel any worse," begged Zelda, piteously. "I'm ever so sorry on your account. And I'll do the best I can—honestly I will. And do find Olive and tell her to come over and see me. Tell her to bring her Christine dresses with her. We'll have to trade costumes and make them suit."

Mrs. Carr rose as one who will not bow to circumstances.

"For heaven's sake, don't fail me! I shall be utterly ruined if we don't make this go some way."

"I know,—I know,—I shall certainly be on hand, if they have to bring me in a box,"—and Zelda sighed and coughed again as though her dissolution were imminent.

Mrs. Carr brought Olive back and dropped her at the Dameron door with solemn injunctions to be sure that Zelda was produced at the Athenaeum at 7 o'clock; then she went with her troubles to Professor Schmidt.

Olive appeared at Zelda's door bearing a suit case in her hand. A groan greeted her, as she paused in the doorway, blinking in the dim light of the room.

"Oh, Zee!"

Another moan, followed by a racking cough, and Zelda's arms beat the covers as though in an agony of pain.

"Olive, have you come? I thought you would never get here!" and Zelda moaned. "Here I am all alone in the house and nobody to do anything for me. I didn't think you would treat me that way,—and your own flesh and blood, too."

Olive dropped the suit case and drew near the bed.

"I'm burning with fever," moaned Zelda. "It's typhoid pneumonia, I'm sure. I read of it in the papers. Maybe it's contagious. Most likely they will put a red sign on the front door so no one can get it."

She extended her hand to Olive, who took it solicitously.

"You poor dear! When did you first feel it coming on?"

"Oh, I haven't been well for several days, but I tried to bear up. I'm so miserable I don't know what to do."

"Mrs. Carr didn't think you were so sick. She said you wouldn't have a doctor."

"No, I'm afraid of them. Hand me that bottle—can you find it?—on the table there. I can't bear to face the light. That's it, I think. Yes, that will do, thank you. Please look at those candles. I'm sure they're dripping all over everything."

She took the bottle which Olive handed her, clutching it nervously as though her hope of life lay in it.

Olive had thrown off her coat and hat.

"Sit down, Olive, will you? If you are cold you'd better stand over the register. I'm simply burning up myself." Zelda succumbed to a fit of coughing. "Have you the music, and the Christine dress? I hate awfully to disappoint Mrs. Carr, and I told her I thought I might carry your part. It will do just as well for a soprano. The soprano is always the star, anyhow. You know that as well as I do," she added petulantly, as though the subject were one of long contention between them.

"It's horrible. It's perfectly ghastly," declared Olive. "I can't sing it. I can't sing, anyhow; and this whole show rests on you. You simply must s'ng your part! About all I had hoped to do was to skip around and do the light fantastic soubrette business like a little goose. To think of my attempting to sing Gretchen,—"

Olive spoke with a fierce animation as the enormity of the proposed change slowly dawned upon her.

"You can do it as well as I can—better! I'd be a perfect wooden Indian as Gretchen. I have almost as much animation as an iron hitching post. It's either that or I won't appear at all, and they can go to the North Pole for all me. I'm merely proposing the change as a favor to Mrs. Carr. Your liking it doesn't matter. You've got to like it."

"But the words,—I might hum the airs,—but I don't know the words of your part."

"Nor I yours; but they will come to you. You'll have a chance to rehearse the part. My sewing things are on the table. We'll fix up the duds first. About three inches off my first act skirt and a little out of the back and you'll have it. Do you see the sewing basket anywhere?"

"The whole idea is preposterous. My things can't be made to fit you," said Olive, opening the suit case.

"We needn't fix those things of yours for me after all," declared Zelda, suddenly. "I bought a Tyrolese peasant costume once on a time, and here's my chance to use it. It's the ideal thing for Christine."

"But Zee—" began Olive.

"Please don't make me talk. It's unkind. I'll need all my strength for tonight,"—and Zelda lay back and watched her cousin with languid interest. Olive kept up a fire of protest as she set herself to the task of changing the Gretchen costume. She had been taken aback by the suddenness of Zelda's attack and the necessity of prompt action.

Olive looked up suddenly, holding Gretchen's gown in one hand and a pair of scissors in the other.

"This is all absurd, Zee Dameron. You can't put me off as you did Mrs. Carr. I'm going to telephone for the doctor at once."

"No, no, no! I tell you I have plenty of medicine. I'll not let a doctor cross the threshold."

She held up the bottle that Olive had handed her.

"It's a French doctor's prescription for just this trouble. It's fine. I've taken quarts of it."

Olive went to the bed, snatched the bottle and held it to her nose.

"Violet water! A French medicine! You fraud, you awful, shameless fraud!"

"Please don't abuse me! My chest, oh-h-h!"

Zelda Dameron, you are no more sick than I am! No person could get as sick as you are pretending to be in a few hours. You were as well as anybody at midnight, and you went through the rehearsal splendidly. Don't try any tricks on me—"

Zelda sat up again and folded her arms. A smile twitched the corners of her mouth; then she began to speak and fell into another fit of coughing, burying her face in the blankets and seeming unable to recover herself.

"Oh-h-h! it has got me again!" and she shook first with the vigor of her cough and then with laughter. Olive seized her and forced her back on the pillows.

"I'm going away! I'm going home! I don't intend to have you make a guy of me in such a way as this." Olive seemed about to cry, and Zelda laughed until the tears rolled down her cheeks.

"I must say that your hilarity is decidedly unbecoming," said Olive, with dignity. "Mrs. Carr may forgive you, but I never shall—never!"

RAILBIRDS WATCH THE MATINEE NAGS

The railbirds went out to Queen's Park yesterday afternoon to get a line on the matinee prospects for the season. The track was slow, but the time made was most satisfactory. Dr. Wood's Clipper, a big fellow, went a mile in 2:31—the first half in 1:17, and the last half in 1:14. He broke badly in the second half. Clipper looks good. Wilcox's Joe Blossom went a half in 1:23, doing it easily. He's a good going horse. Joe Leiter, belonging to Norman McLeod, did a half in 1:17. Johnnie K., best of them all last year, went a full mile in 2:28, coming very fast at the finish. Dr. Tennent has a pair of green ones, a trotter and a pacer, both going fast and true.

THE DERBY PROVED POPULAR AS EVER

Drew the Same Old Crowd to Epsom—Cicero, the Unbeaten, the Favorite.

London, May 31. — There was no diminution visible today in the popularity of the historic jaunt to Epsom to see the Derby run. With daybreak the exodus commenced from all parts of London, and the roads were soon filled with the usual stream of traffic, coster's barrows, coaches, motor cars and every other variety of vehicle forming for hours an endless procession to the course.

The absence of American entries from the great event at Newmarket deprived the face of much of that international character which made recent Derbys interesting. France sent a competitor in M. Blanc's Jardy, which was second favorite, though the betting indicated that it was not considered that Jardy had much of a chance against Lord Rosebery's Cicero, which was ridden by Maher, the only American jockey participating. Almost any price was obtainable against the rest of the entries. In the result, however, Cicero had not much to spare, and only beat the French crack by three-quarters of a length, with Signorino only a head behind. Cicero's time was 3:11.

Jardy led to the mile post and then gave way to Silver Streak. When in fairly line for home, however, Cicero came to the front, followed by Jardy. In an exciting finish Maher landed the unbeaten Cicero a winner, giving Lord Rosebery his third Derby and being the first American jockey to win this classic race twice. An enormous crowd at Epsom witnessed the race and received the result with enthusiasm. With the exception of King Edward, no sportsman in England is so popular as former Premier Rosebery. King Edward, the Prince of Wales and other members of the royal family present were among the first to congratulate Lord Rosebery. The betting was to 11 to 4 on Cicero, 4 to 1 against Jardy, and 50 to 1 against Signorino. In the race for the Juvenile plate, immediately preceding the Derby, Braw Lady's filly fell and her jockey, Evans, was killed.

ATLANTIC LOWERED THE OCEAN RECORD

Kaiser Cup Winner at Southampton—Other Yachts Sighted.

Southampton, Eng., May 31. — The American three-masted auxiliary schooner Atlantic, winner of the Emperor William's cup, arrived here early this morning flying the stars and stripes. She soon attracted a crowd of admirers to the quayside. Wilson Marshall, owner of the yacht, was full of praise for Captain Barr's splendid handling of the schooner, and attributed her victory to Barr's remarkable seamanship. Barr himself was specially pleased, and announced that the Atlantic had beaten the Endymion's record to the Needles, of 13 days, 20 hours, 36 minutes from Sandy Hook. He paid tributes to the crew of the Atlantic and their smart work throughout. Later in the day the Atlantic was taken into drydock for a cleaning, preparatory to competing in the Dover-Heligoland race, which Barr says he calculates on winning. Hundreds of congratulatory telegrams have been received by the owner and commander of the Atlantic.

MORE YACHTS SIGHTED.

Plymouth, May 31. — The Deutschland, which arrived here today from New York, May 25, sighted the three-masted schooner Utowana, one of the contestants in the trans-Atlantic race, yesterday 435 miles west of the Lizard.

Scilly Islands, Eng., May 31. — The English yacht Valhalla, one of the contestants in the trans-Atlantic race, was sighted this morning twenty miles southwest of these islands.

Liverpool, May 31. — The British steamer Vancouver, which arrived here today from Portland, Maine, spoke to the two-masted schooner yacht Endymion May 25 in latitude 45 and longitude 38, and the auxiliary three-masted schooner Sunbeam, May 26, in latitude 47 and longitude 31, both contestants in the trans-Atlantic race.

TONGORDER TOOK THE HOTEL STAKES

Beat Inferno and Claude in Best Race of the Woodbine Meeting.

Woodbine Race Track, Toronto, May 31.—Fine weather prevailed at Woodbine again today, although a cool wind off the lake made wraps desirable. The track was fast and the racing keen. The big event of the day, and from a racing point of view the best of the meeting, was the King Edward Hotel cup race. Claude, last year's winner, and Elliott, the Daly entry, ruled favorite, with Tongorder next in demand, and Inferno third choice. Ailes d'Or, the other starter, was 40 to 1 in the betting. The race was won by Tongorder, but to do so he had to break the track record for the distance, which was formerly 2:09½. The results:

First race, Gimcrack purse, selling, for 4-year-olds and up, 5½ furlongs — Monte Carlo, 109 (O'Connell) 3 to 5, 1; Pat Bulger, 107 (E. Walsh), 16 to 5, 2; The Elba, 95 (J. Malin), 30 to 1, 3. Time 1:09. John Peters, Clear the Arena, Orderly, Step Away, King Crane and Fitz Rosa also ran.

Second race, Lansdowne purse, for 2-year-olds, 4½ furlongs — Loud Harangue, 115 (Romanelli), 9 to 5, won by a length; Zelinda, 115 (Creamer), 9 to 5, 2; Sleeping Partner, 115 (H. Phillips), 11 to 5, 3. Time, :57. Wicklow Girl, Cannie Hand, Fair Havana, Blue Jeans, and Sword Dance also ran.

Third race, Beaufort purse, for 3 year-olds and up, 1 1-16 miles—Henry Waite, 107 (J. Jones), 30 to 1, and The Bugaboo, 112 (J. Booker), 4 to 5, ran a dead heat; Yeoman, 105 (Creamer) 5 to 1, 3. Time, 1:50½. Benvkart, Setauket, War Paint, Waddell II., Barabossa and Economist also ran. In the run-off The Bugaboo, 7 to 1, beat Henry Waite, 11 to 10, by 30 lengths. Henry Waite ran out at the second turn. Time 1:54½.

Fourth race, King Edward Hotel gold cup, for 3-year-olds and up, 1¼ miles—Tongorder, 106 (E. Walsh), 8 to 5, won by a length; Inferno, 101 (Creamer) 9 to 5, 2; Ailes d'Or, 126 (Romanelli), 40 to 1, 3. Time, 2:09. Elliott and Claude also ran. This breaks the track record.

Fifth race, Hunters' steeplechase, for 4-year-olds and up, about 2½ miles —Pillardist, 164 (Mr. Harris), 6 to 5, 1; Wellington J., 170 (Mr. Hendry), 8 to 5, 2; Tawkins, 138 (Mr. Devereau), 7 to 1, 3. Time, 6:21. Punctual and Gearholm also ran. Both lost riders.

Sixth race, for maiden 3-year-olds and up, 1 mile—Golden Green, 102 (Perters), 6 to 1, 1; Blue Buck, 109 (Miles), 8 to 5, 2; Berry Waddell, 104 (C. Phillips), 3 to 1, 3. Time, 1:45¼. My Mate, Get Lucky and Gambler also ran.

BASEBALL SEASON OPENED AT ST. THOMAS

The Western Ontario Baseball League opened its season in St. Thomas yesterday, when the Saints crossed bats with "Knotty" Lee's Brantford bunch. A half-holiday had been declared, and everybody knocked off work to see the ball game. A large crowd witnessed a game that certainly was worth the money. There was a procession, in which the mayor, Judge Colter, city officials and many citizens in carriages took part. The Twenty-fifth Regiment Band headed the crowd to Pinafore Park, where Judge Colter delivered an address, and then his lordship took the ball and delivered it to the mayor, who was to be the receiving end of the battery. The pennant won by the Saints last year was raised, the band played, and the game went on.

The game was fast, and there were many fast plays pulled off. Lefthander Cobean held St. Thomas well in hand until the ninth, when the Saints made one of their spectacular garrison finishes, for which they are becoming noted. In the last half of the ninth the score was 3 to 2 in favor of Brantford. In St. Thomas' half, Killingsworth and Graney got down, and Pete McDonald was up. Pete never fails in a pinch and he hit the ball a mile, and Killingsworth and Graney crossed the plate with the runs that won. The Saints did not need Pete's run. It was the kind of finish that does the game good and the fans went away delighted. Delaney held the indicator, but his work on balls and strikes looked a trifle yellow.

The tie between the Barracks and the L. C. I. football teams was broken on the former's grounds last night, the Institute team pulling out a victory by a score of 2 to 1.

finer setting could be found for a Shakespearean performance than a bit of woodland. Underneath the boughs of an immense oak tree, the players will come and go, and these surroundings will give a new beauty to the comedies. This is the third year that this company has acted in America. The company is under the personal direction of Ben Greet, and is the same that has during the past three seasons, during the winter months acted the old morality play, "Everyman," and Elizabethan performances of Shakespeare's plays. The seats are now on sale at Nordheimer's.

"PARADA" AT THE GRAND.

That the "Parada" has the finest staying qualities and wears well is shown every night at the Grand, and last night was another demonstration. The audience was again large, pleasure undiminished, and the programme splendidly carried out. Notwithstanding that it was the third night of the "Parada," the audience was just as enthusiastic as on the first night, and probably more so. It was not spontaneous combustion, but a genuine expression of admiration for the meritorious work of all the participants in dance, song or march. Frequent applause and numerous encores were the rule.

MAKE JAIL PLACE FOR HARD WORK

Inspector Smith Does Not Think Prisoners Should Have an Easy Time.

In the course of his annual report just issued, Dr. Bruce Smith, inspector of prisons, who regularly visits the county jail in this city, comments upon the number of paupers kept in the jails. He also strongly censures the practice of sending insane persons to jail, mentioning 89 so sent in Toronto and 28 in Ottawa. The local county jail is not free from this trouble, as is well known. There are at present in the jail two old men who have each been there about two years. They are William Blackwell and Martin Tierney. The former was pronounced an idiot long ago by the judge, and was committed to the Orillia Idiot Asylum. On Oct. 2 of last year, Blackwell was again committed, but he has not yet reached Orillia, and there are no present prospects of his doing so.

Martin Tierney is 84 years of age, and was committed by Magistrate Love in 1902. He was pronounced insane by the county judge, but has never reached the asylum. Dr. McCallum and other medical men declared that Tierney's trouble was that his mind was weakened by age and that he should be sent to a charitable institution, not the asylum. There seems to be a general feeling, in accordance with the sentiments often expressed by Dr. McCallum, that there should be institutions for those afflicted with senile insanity. In the meantime, Tierney must be kept in jail, as if he were a criminal. He could not be confined in the house of refuge in Strathroy, the authorities say, because he would run away and could not be allowed with the other old people.

Many are of the opinion that the Provincial Government should provide an institution which is neither an asylum, a jail, or an ordinary poorhouse, for old, weak-minded persons.

Dr. Smith also says that the number of persons confined in the jails is increasing more than it should from the fact that not enough work is provided for prisoners, and they get to look on the jail as anything but an objectionable abode. The inspector says: "In several of the jails I have visited I have found able-bodied men spending their time in idleness, and on inquiry I was told that the only work these prisoners had was in looking after their cells and sweeping out the corridors. I would suggest that district jails might, with advantage, be named where facilities for hard labor might be provided and the work of the prisoners utilized with advantage to the municipality. Let it once become known that every prisoner committed to jail would have to work, and let those in charge understand that labor is an imperative condition of jail residence, and I venture to predict our jails will cease to be harbors of refuge where the vagrant and vicious are made comfortable.

ONE PRICE SYSTEM

Mr. J. J. Callaghan, of Nordheimer's Adopts the "One Price to All" Method.

[From the Music Trades, May 27.]

Local piano men report that business the past few weeks has been somewhat quiet and house-cleaning is blamed for the falling-off in trade. The weather, too, has been most unfavorable.

J. J. Callaghan, who handles the Steinway, Haines and Nordheimer pianos, however, says that business has been good since the first of the month. He has lately put a one-price system into effect, and he claims that the people are well pleased with the change.

On the other hand, the majority of the other dealers declare that a one-price scheme will never go in the piano business until all the piano men get together, and they are awaiting the result of Mr. Calaghan's announcement with interest.

The above is from the London letter of one of the leading musical publications in the United States, and carries its own message to the people of London and the west. That Mr. Callaghan should have taken up the fight in behalf of one-price methods is of interest to everyone who contemplates the purchase of a piano. It has been the belief of the public for years past, whether founded upon fact or not, that piano men secured what they could for their instruments, and that there was one price for one customer and another for someone else. The unfairness of such a system is manifest, and the public will not be slow to appreciate Mr. Callaghan's move towards one price for everybody

People Are Changing

There was a time when people spent their money for tooth powders, face lotions, hair tonics, etc., but never thought for a moment of their poor feet, which had to bear the weight of the whole body day after day. The feet could sweat, blister and agonize, and people thought all this was necessary. Since the introduction of Foot Elm, however, many have learned how to change foot misery into foot happiness. It eases work. Try Foot Elm.

ROOM FOR GROWTH WANTED

Adelaide Street Baptists to Have Church Much Enlarged.

For a good while it has been very evident that the Adelaide Street Baptist Church edifice is altogether too small to hold the increasing crowds that have sought admission at the Sunday evening services. Consequently, during the past two months the question of enlargement has been carefully and industriously canvassed by a competent committee of deacons and trustees. At a well-attended general meeting of the church members held last night the building committee submitted for approval the plans that were considered the best suited for the purpose, and which provide ample room, at what they deem a reasonable cost. The finance committee also outlined their scheme for raising the necessary funds. The plans were scrutinized, thoroughly discussed and unanimously adopted, on condition that the cost shall not materially exceed the committee's estimates. The finance committee's report was also adopted.

The plans provide for extending the building at the front and on King street, a gallery on three sides, new baptistery independent of the minister's platform, the choir to be behind the preacher; gallery stairs at each end of the building and ample means of exit in case of emergency. There will be seating accommodation for 900 to 1,000 persons. The basement will be remodeled, and the estimates provide for a pipe organ. The outlay, including taking up balance on old mortgage is $16,000, and it is expected to have the work completed by the 1st of October.

The thanks of the church were voted the committee for their painstaking and satisfactory work. It was also voted that the pastor be given a month's vacation in July, with a margin in June and August, when Mr. Shields will probably visit Winnipeg.

Before the business session a short prayer meeting was held, and three adults were baptized.

HOW GERMS ENTER THE SYSTEM.

Have No Bad Effect Upon People With Good Digestion.

Like a thief in the night, unheralded and unsought, the disease germ steals into the system under cover of the air we breathe, or our food and drink.

If this germ finds a weak stomach and digestive system, he at once sets up housekeeping, with the result that his landlord has a serious illness.

On the other hand, if the stomach where the germ finds lodgment is strong and healthy through the use of Mi-o-na, the injurious effect of the disease germ is at once neutralized, or the germ itself is driven out of the system. Keep the digestion good by strengthening the stomach and intestines with Mi-o-na, and there need be no fear of what disease germs will do.

If you suffer with headaches, indigestion, flatulency, specks before the eyes, vertigo, heartburn, dizziness, or have a variable appetite, and a general feeling of despondency and weakness, you should at once strengthen the stomach and digestive system by the use of Mi-o-na. There is no liquid, no alcohol, no spoonful doses with this remedy. Just one small tablet out of a 50-cent box, before each meal, and your stomach will soon become so strong and healthy that you can eat anything you want without fear of distress, and will be germ proof.

Ask W. F. Strong to show you the guarantee under which he sells Mi-o-no. It costs nothing unless it cures.
