CONSERVATIVE CONVENTION CALLED FOR SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 19

Electors of Kent Will Then Choose Their Candidate for the Provincial Legislature—Splendid Meeting Last Evening—Address by H. S. Clements, M. P.—Young Men's Association Formed.

Saturday, November 19th, will be a memorable day in West Kent provincial political annals.

The local champions of good, clean, upright and honorable government will on that day convene in Chatham from all parts of the constituency of West Kent to choose a candidate to enter the lists in opposition to the Stratton-Sullivan-Ross regime, which has so disgraced and humiliated our province during the past months.

The coming campaign will be different from any of its predecessors. It does not promise to be fought on strict party lines. On the contrary, many of our most esteemed Liberal friends are heartily uniting in their efforts to purge the province of the deplorable state of affairs which have made such things as the notorious cruise of the Minnie M. possible. It will be a campaign of patriotism, purity and prosperity in which every Canadian—be he Grit or Tory—can heartily join.

A splendid and enthusiastic rally of the city workers was held last evening in the large offices of Barrister J. M. Pike, when many matters of interest were discussed and dealt with.

THE PRESIDENT SPEAKS.

The president, Dr. A. W. Thornton, occupied the chair, and amid hearty applause congratulated the workers upon the magnificent outcome of their recent efforts in the redemption of the West Kent Dominion constituency under the standard of Mr. Herbert S. Clements.—Cheers. He hoped no one was weary in well doing and that all were ready and willing to throw themselves with renewed vigor into the redemption of the work that was ahead of them, viz, the redemption of the West Kent provincial constituency.—Cheers.

SECRETARY PRAISES WORKERS.

Secretary S. B. Arnold spoke briefly. He desired personally to thank and congratulate the workers on what had been accomplished. He had never dreamed it possible to have such splendid organization and unanimity. Every sub-division in the County had been representative by a special committee with chairman and secretary and the results had shown what had been accomplished. The secretaries' roll-books, which had been returned as requested, immediately after he election had been a revelation to him. Most of them contained practically a brief on every elector. The statement of accounts was now in the hands of the auditors and would be placed before the Association very shortly. Mr. Arnold said that he would like to receive personal reports for all scrutineers as many matters had doubtless come up that would be of interest and advantage in the future.

Ald. Marshall, James Jenkins, J. M. Pike, Dr. W. R. Hall, W. H. Carswell, ex-Mayor Sulman, John Turner, Warren Lambert, G. G. Taylor, A. J. Dunn and others spoke briefly relative to the internal economy of the campaign.

THE COMING CAMPAIGN.

President Thornton then took up the matter of the coming campaign. He anticipated an early dissolution of the Provincial Legislature and a wave of indignation and disgust with the methods of the present incumbents was sweeping the Province. The fight before the workers, for clean and honest government was not an easy one, however, and meant lots of hard work. Everyone desired to see Kent send a supporter of the new and clean government to be established at Toronto. "There is then only one thing to do," declared the eloquent doctor, "Let us get at it now, all at it and always at it."—Applause.

A splendid discussion followed in which Messrs. Hall, Lambert, O'Keefe, Andrew, McGee, Eds. Massey, Darling, Cooper, Johnson, Stewart, Wilson, Hutchison and others heartily participated.

It was then unanimously decided to hold the convention for the nomination of a candidate on Saturday, Nov. 19th. At the mass meeting following it is probable addresses will be delivered by H. S. Clements, M. P., J. P. Downey, M. P., J. W. Hanna, M. P., and others.

OUR MEMBER SPEAKS.

Herbert S. Clements, M. P., was received with round upon round of applause, followed by three hearty cheers.

"I want to take this first opportunity of thanking the workers of West Kent very heartily for the splendid triumph they have recorded. I am grateful to you all; I am proud of you all. Everywhere I found the workers enthusiastic and diligent. Everyone went in to win—and if everyone keeps his shoulder to the wheel we can win again.—Applause.

"Be careful of one thing. Don't be over-confident. We have a hard fight ahead of us. But if we all go into it with the same energy and enthusiasm as before we can win again.

"I am very grateful to you for the past and I am glad I am going to have a chance to show my gratitude in a practical way. You have a fine organization, you have reason to be proud of it. But there are some divisions in which I think it could be improved a little. I believe I know the constituency and its people fairly well now.—Laughter and applause. I shall be pleased to take hold of your organization for your candidate.—Applause. Until the end of January you may command every hour of my time for the work. I have still my good horse—and you know he's a winner.—Applause.

"Then I am right with The Planet's suggestion for a Young Men's Association. It's a fine idea. Get the young men enthused and they'll do wonders. If the young fellows get going no one can stop them.—Cheers. Take it right up all through the constituency and have regular meetings. You cannot canvass this constituency properly in eight months, for often the voters are not at home but with such an organization of earnest young farmers you can do wonders.

TRIBUTE TO THE LADIES.

"And, fellow workers, don't forget the ladies.—Applause. True, they haven't votes but their influence and assistance can win and lose an election. The good women of West Kent did much to elect me and I want to publicly thank them for it. I have in my mind now one lady on the lake shore, whose husband was a Liberal, who secured two Liberal votes for me and got four others to refrain from voting against me.—Cheers. None of us could have done this but for the women of Kent as well as the men of Kent for our victory.—Applause.

David A. Hutchison followed in a spirited and forceful address. Dr. W. R. Hall spoke splendidly and also Barrister J. M. Pike, all of whom were greeted with hearty applause.

The work of organizing the Kent Young Men's Liberal-Conservative Association was then proceeded with and a large city enrollment thereupon enlisted. J. M. Pike, W. Wilks and A. J. Dunn were appointed a committee to look after the organization of the city branch.

The meeting adjourned after hearty cheers.

HOLDS THE RECORD

Chatham Opera House is now a Leader—Better Attendance at this Show House than at St. Thomas and London

Fred H. Briscoe was asked this morning how Chatham compared with the other Canadian cities as a show town.

"I'll tell you something," replied Mr. Briscoe, "Chatham is the best show town in Ontario outside of Toronto and Hamilton. The Grand Opera House here holds the record for the Canadian tours this year of Marie Wainwright, Quinlan and Walla that left at 11 P. M. for the East. Theatrical people used to look on Chatham as a Jonah town and never expected to do any business here, but now they look forward to coming to this town. Chatham now has a good name and it is getting much easier to get good shows here. I have seen several of the best one-night shows on the road promised, and more are negotiating for dates. I have endeavored this year to get the best shows and I very much appreciate the support of the Maple City residents in my efforts. Chatham has London and St. Thomas beaten to death as a show town, and I hope it will continue to lead."

SUDDEN DEATH

Mr. Sparks, Ingram Street, received a telegram yesterday at noon announcing the death of his oldest son, William Sparks, B. A.

Deceased died in Toronto after a few days' illness from diphtheria, and the telegram announcing his death was the first intelligence his parents had of his illness so that his death has come as a sudden blow.

Mr. Sparks was a clever young man and for some time taught on the Chatham Collegiate Institute. He left to accept the principalship of one of the Toronto Public Schools.

Mr. and Mrs. Sparks left yesterday at noon to attend the funeral, which took place to-day.

Besides his father and mother and several brothers and sisters he leaves a widow, who was formerly a Miss Fisher, of this city, and a little three-year-old daughter, to mourn his loss. The family have the sympathy of a large circle of friends.

DEATH'S PECULIAR WAY

Man's Head Caught and Crushed Between Roof and Wagon.

Thomas Cuff of Toronto Stood Up As the Horses Stopped Forward and Death Was Instantaneous—Belleville Lady Died From Injuries Received in a Fall—Young Man At Niagara Falls Asphyxiated in Bed.

Toronto, Nov. 8.—Death came suddenly and in a peculiar way to Thomas Cuff, an employee of the Frazee Cartage Co., yesterday afternoon.

He was on the seat of one of the large moving vans operated by the company which had been driven in to the wagon shed in rear of the storage house on College street. The driver alighted and went to the horses' heads to back the wagon under the shed. It did not go in as straight as was wanted, and he brought the horses forward again. As he did so, Cuff stood up for some reason and his head was caught and crushed between the hood over the driver's seat and the edge of the shed roof. When the horses were again backed, the body fell to the ground.

Dr. Ferguson was called, but death had been instantaneous. Coroner Elliott will open an inquest to-day. Cuff was about 50 years of age, and lived at 64 Nelson street.

Fatal Fall Downstairs.

Belleville, Nov. 8.—Mrs. Samuel Robinson, an aged lady of this city, fell down stairs a few days ago, receiving internal injuries, which caused her death at the hospital Sunday night. She was 79 years of age.

Asphyxiated in Bed.

Niagara Falls, Nov. 8.—William Fenwick, aged 24 years, employed on the power works, was found dead in bed about 1:30 o'clock yesterday morning by his room-mate, William Solvey, who, upon entering the room, was almost overcome by escaped gas. The deceased came from Sault Ste. Marie, where his parents reside.

Child Killed By Gun.

Quebec, Nov. 8.—Getting out of its bed early Sunday morning, while its parents were asleep, Mary Christine, the four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph O'Connell, St. Valier street, secured a bottle of gin and drank a large quantity, dying from the effects later in the day.

Editor Jaffray Injured.

Galt, Nov. 8.—J. P. Jaffray, editor of The Galt Reporter, met with a very serious accident in Preston on Saturday evening. While attempting to board the front end of a moving street car he missed the step, and the wheels passed over his foot, crushing it terribly. Mr. Jaffray was removed to the Galt Hospital, where his injuries were attended to. It is not yet certain whether the foot will have to be amputated or not.

Died From His Injuries.

Guelph, Nov. 8.—A young man named Frank Swartzburg of Toronto, who was run over by a train on the C.P.R. at Guelph Junction on Friday night last, died at the General Hospital on Sunday afternoon from his injuries. He was on his way to Guelph from Buffalo, and while waiting a few yards down the track in the darkness was struck by a ballast train. His left arm was taken off near the shoulder, also his left foot. Deceased was on his way to visit his mother, who was then ill at the hospital, where she since died.

Caught By Steam.

Brantford, Nov. 8.—An Armenian, name unknown, was badly scalded at Waterous Engine works yesterday morning. He was working in a tank when the steam was accidentally turned on. Unable to escape the man beat frantically at the side of the tank, but those outside did not notice it for some time. As soon as it was noticed the steam was hurriedly turned off and the Armenian pulled out of the tank. He was badly scalded in the face, neck, hands and wrists, and all exposed parts.

Body Found in Bay.

Port Arthur, Nov. 8.—The body of Thomas Kinneven was taken from the bay near the Canadian Northern dock last night. He was reported missing about a month ago, and had been employed at the Empire elevator.

Three Cars Jumped Track.

Brantford, Nov. 8.—The Grand Trunk Express No. 4, loaded with passengers, had a most close escape from a wreck Sunday morning. It was running between Princeton and Paris when the baggage and two passenger cars jumped the track. Strange to say, the accident was attended with no serious results. The coaches were not even overturned, and the passengers escaped with a bad jolting. The cause of the mishap could not be ascertained.

Libel On Our Cattle.

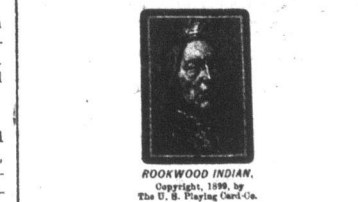

London, Nov. 8.—At a meeting of a branch of the Lancashire Farmers' Association on Saturday it was decided to petition the Board of Agriculture against the opening of ports to Canadian store stock, as desired by the Scotch and Norfolk grazers, because of the danger of importing disease and the disastrous effect it would have upon the rearing of young stock.

THANKS TO THEM.

Local Liberal-Conservative workers express appreciation of the fair and courteous treatment received from Crown Attorney H. D. Smith, who had the preparing of the voters' lists, and from Sheriff J. R. Gommill, returning officer. These gentlemen are held in grateful esteem by all the workers.

ENTHUSIASTIC AND EARNEST.

Last night's splendid meeting of the local Liberal-Conservatives will be an impetus to all workers for good, clean government. There was a splendid attendance and everyone was enthusiastic and earnest.

The coming convention on the 19th inst. promises to be a record-breaker. A good, energetic and worthy man will be chosen to champion the cause of good government, and with all the hearty co-operation of his supporters, his victory should be complete.

The formation of the Kent County Young Men's Association was a grand enterprise—and results will prove it. Meanwhile, let every one take the words of our new member to heart, take off his coat and go to work.

THE POLITICAL FUTURE.

This is the way the Ottawa Citizen puts it—

The Dominion has been phenomenally prosperous for the past eight years. Its revenue has nearly doubled. The solid basis of that prosperity was laid by the Conservative party under the leadership of the late Sir John A. Macdonald, by the National Policy, a measure which was violently, almost fanatically, opposed by the Liberals. When the latter came into power eight years ago they swallowed their principles and adopted the Conservative policy, with the growing revenues resulting therefrom. These revenues the Liberals have expended with a lavish hand and made the country forget the political past in the plenitude of patronage and National policy produced prosperity of the present.

In 1900 the Conservative party, having re-organized on an efficient basis after the unfortunate strife of three years before, appealed to the people of Canada for a return to power and the management of the policy it had inaugurated. The people of Canada not only refused the appeal, but they retired most of the leaders from public life, and sent to Ottawa a Conservative opposition depleted of its debating talent.

On Thursday last the Conservative party again made an appeal to the people of Canada to be returned to power on a platform which must have found approval in the sight of most thinking men. The answer of the people was to return Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the Liberals to power by a majority of what will be at least seventy. Not only that but the electorate rendered the opposition almost impotent by defeating its new leader, Mr. R. L. Borden, together with a number of leading men of ability on whom the party depended to voice Conservative thought and ideas in the house. Casgrain, Bell, Rufus Pope, Kaubach, Boyd and others of the most active parliamentary representatives, whether in power or opposition, were defeated at the polls. It was no sectional decision, either.

From Halifax to Victoria the mandate to the Conservative federal party was sweeping and complete. The gain of the little province of Prince Edward Island seemed rather in view of the defection of the premier province of Ontario, and the complete extinction of Conservative representation in Nova Scotia, the Northwest Territories, the Yukon, and possibly, British Columbia. The opposition as an effective force in the house of commons has been reduced not only in numbers but in debating talent and leadership. If Mr. Borden declines to return to a position in public life in which he has served at a great personal sacrifice and with such discouraging results, to whom will the party or the people of Canada look for that invaluable critical opposition to party measures which is one of the greatest strengths and safe-guards of popular representative government. Mr. Foster has re-entered public life and will undoubtedly prove a virile force in any legislative body. Mr. E. F. Clarke, of Toronto, is a member of great experience and executive ability. Without any reflection on the surviving members of what was the opposition of 1900 it can scarcely be said that there are others of sufficient prominence and experience to adequately discharge the onerous duties of actively opposing a cabinet with the support which the present government has been accorded. The elections have not only sustained the government by an overwhelming majority but they have wrecked the opposition.

The suggestion has been made, and it has much to recommend it, that the Conservative members of the new parliament should tacitly resign the responsibility of opposition, give the government both front rows and appear simply as private members, thus giving the government full swing. It will have at least one advantage of shortening the sessions. It may have other advantages, prospects of which we fail to foresee in the operation of any organized opposition against the existing odds.

NO ARGUMENT NEEDED

EVERY SUFFERER FROM CATARRH KNOWS THAT SALVES, LOTIONS, WASHES, AND SPRAYS AND DOUCHES DO NOT CURE.

Powders, lotions, salves, sprays and inhaled cannot really cure Catarrh, because this disease is a blood disease, and local applications, if they accomplish anything at all simply give transient relief.

The catarrhal poison is in the blood and the mucous membrane of the nose, throat and trachea tries to relieve the system by secreting large quantities of mucus, the discharge sometimes closing up the nostrils, dropping into the throat, causing deafness by closing the Eustachian tubes, and after a time causing catarrh of stomach or serious throat and lung troubles.

A remedy to really cure catarrh must be an internal remedy which will cleanse the blood from catarrhal poison and remove the fever and congestion from the mucous membrane.

The best and most modern remedies for this purpose are antiseptics scientifically known as Red Gum, Blood Root, and Hydrastin, and while each of these have been successfully used separately, yet it has been difficult to get them all combined in one palatable, convenient and efficient form.

The manufacturers of the new catarrh cure, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, have succeeded admirably in accomplishing this result. They are large, pleasant tasting lozenges, to be dissolved in the mouth, thus reaching every part of the mucous membrane of the throat and finally the stomach. Unlike many catarrh remedies, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets contain no cocaine, opiate or any injurious drug whatever and are equally beneficial for little children and adults.

Mr. C. R. Rembrandt, of Rochester, N. Y., says — "I know of few people who have suffered as much as I from Catarrh of the head, throat and stomach. I used sprays, inhalers, and powders for months at a time with only slight relief and had no hope of cure. I had not the means to make a change of climate, which seemed my only chance of cure."

"Last spring I read an account of some remarkable cures made by Stuart's Catarrh Tablets and promptly bought a fifty cent box from my druggist and obtained such positive benefit from that one package that I continued to use them daily until I now consider myself entirely free from the disgusting annoyance of catarrh; my head is clear, my digestion all I could ask and my hearing, which had begun to fail as a result of the catarrh, had greatly improved until I feel I can hear as well as ever. They are a household necessity in my family."

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are sold by druggists at 50 cents for complete treatment and for convenience, safety and prompt results they are undoubtedly the long looked for catarrh cure.

Showers of blessings seldom fall on the weather man.

BUSY MEETING

CCI Board Transact Considerable Routine Business—Some Improvements to be made

Routine business only was the order of the Collegiate Institute Board meeting yesterday afternoon.

There were present Chairman Battisby and Trustees McVean, Thornton, Arnold, Richards and Liddy, and Principal Twolhey. Colonel Rankin was present for the opening but was obliged to leave before the meeting was over.

John Brown, the janitor of the school, applied for an increase in wages owing to his increased duties. His present salary is $450 per year. He was granted an increase of $50 a year.

The agreements of the teachers accepting their appointments were received. They were all signed, with the exception of that of Mr. Thompson, who is applying for a release from his contract.

A communication from the Ontario Typewriter Company was received.

Mr. Richards, in connection with the request from Mr. Jewett for books, for a library in the school, which are absolutely necessary for the proper education of the pupils in Nature study, recommended that books to the amount of $50.00 be purchased. These books are all standard works on Nature Study, which forms part of the new curriculum.

Mr. Arnold—it is a good thing. All of these books should, in fact, be kept in the Sunday school libraries.

Dr. Thornton (laughing)—What good would they do you there?

At which the other trustees joined in a general laugh on the witty S. B.

The following accounts were passed:

H. Brown, $2.35.
G. W. Sulman, $12.46.
The Globe, $3.56.
J. L. Scott, $14.
Water Works, $3.09.
The Planet, $3.50.
S. Hadley Co., $11.10.
J. G. Kerr, $18.
C. Austin, 68c.
Crofton Co., 24c.
Electric Supply Co., 99c.
J. Figg & Sons, $158.50.
Coltart & Wilson, $22.
Coltart & Wilson, $19.50.
W. Anderson, $3.20.
A. W. Lowe, 68c.
Typewriter Co., $10.58.

Mr. Richards brought up several matters which had been referred to the Supply committee.

One was an account of $15 from W. J. Kenny, for ink. The ink had not been ordered by the Board, but Mr. Kenny, following out an old time custom, had delivered the ink in good faith. The ink had been purchased from Mr. Kenny and he, when the tank at the school had become empty, filled it up again with the same kind of ink. Mr. Kenny was willing to take $13 as a settlement.

Dr. Battisby—The ink was never ordered.

Mr. Richards—No, but it was delivered in good faith.

Dr. Battisby—No man should have a monopoly for supplying ink.

Mr. Harris—The last ink, the Principal tells me, was very bad.

Mr. Richards—The most dignified way would be to take the ink off his hands at the reduced price.

Mr. McVean—It is a reasonable price and as it has happened I would be in favor of accepting the ink if it is of good quality.

Mr. Battisby—No person should order ink or have ink supplies ordered without the consent of the Supply committee. Mr. Patterson has started this custom.

Mr. Arnold—We should advertise for tenders for supplies at the first of each month.

It was decided to purchase the ink if it is of good quality.

Mr. Jewett asked to have a Biological Library started in the school, but this was abandoned for the present, as there is no room. The Board, however, bought it capital idea if it could only be carried out.

Mr. Jewett also complained of poor workmanship on some tables which had been made for the laboratory. This will be repaired.

Mr. Jewett was granted more latitude in the purchasing of chemicals, and he may now order from wholesale houses without consulting the Supply committee. He asked for other appliances, but it was thought that owing to the already heavy expenditure they should be laid over. S. B. Arnold remarked that already the C. C. I. Board would withdraw their estimates $2,000 this year.

The following was the attendance for the past month, October, the figures being the form, total and average:

Form 4—7, 7.
Form 3a—37, 34.
Form 3b—44, 42.
Form 2—46, 42.
Form 1a—44, 43.
Form 1b—36, 32.
Form 1c—25, 24.

Juni.—42, 38.
Total—334, 310.
Board adjourned.

Egyptian Smokers and Madness.

An Egyptian smoker of hashish is even a more helpless slave than the Chinese opium fiend. He knows that in the end he will become a madman, yet he rushes toward the awful goal with unrelenting speed. With the strange exaltation which first comes to the smoker he feels himself floating from cloud to cloud or slighting in the gardens of palaces all his own. Most of the hashish which Egypt consumes comes from Greece. From the husks of the hemp seeds and the tender hops of the hemp plant the Greeks manufacture a greenish powder whose fumes bring the ecstasy its victims desire.

THAMESVILLE

Nov. 7.—The anniversary services at the Baptist Church Sunday were most interesting and profitable and there was a good attendance, as well as the service in the afternoon. Rev. W. E. Orton, occupied the pulpit morning and afternoon. His subjects were "Lawa and Grace," and "Why Christians observe the Lord's Day, instead of the Sabbath." The sermons being very instructive and helpful. Rev. M. P. Campbell conducted the evening service, which was very stirring and helpful. The singing in the morning was bright and inspiring; also in the afternoon, which was given by the choir of the Presbyterian Church, under the direction of J. Davidson, which was much appreciated by all who had the pleasure of listening to it, and the solo given by Miss Margaret Sherman in the evening, and singing by others was something of a special order.

ORAGG--GREGORY

An event of interest, local and otherwise, took place on Wednesday inst., Nov. 2nd, at "Seven Pines," Croton, Ont., residence of Mr. Henry Gregory, when his daughter, Dora, was married to Mr. Harvey D. Cragg, also of Croton. Rev. Wm. McMullin, Florence, tied the knot in the presence of about sixty relatives and intimate friends. The bride and groom were respectively the bride's cousin Miss Louise Bilton, of Florence, and the groom's cousin, Mr. Walter Cragg, Dresden. The bride was her usual dainty self in a gown of white silk, while the bridesmaid was becomingly attired in white voile.

After the ceremonies a sumptuous wedding dinner was served in the dining-room. During the evening, music was supplied by the Croton Brass Band, whose remarkable progress during the summer has been commented upon by all who have heard them. A great many gifts and tokens of esteem were received.

Mr. and Mrs. Cragg have taken possession of their new home, 11th Con. Camden, and are followed by congratulations and good wishes from a host of friends.

Do your CHILDREN ASK QUESTIONS?

Of course they do. It is their way of learning and it is your duty to answer. You may need a dictionary to aid you. It won't answer every question, but there are thousands to which it will give you the clear and definite answers, not about words only, but about things, the sun, machinery, men, places, stories and the like. Then, too, the children can find their own answers. Some of our greatest men have ascribed their power to study of the dictionary.

MUSIC IN MINSTRELSEY.

Those Kings of Minstrelsy, the six Guy Brothers, are providing this season an entertainment especially strong on its musical side. The superb silver band, the concert orchestra, the Eagle Quartette, flutes and flail, the widely known musical team with their surprising novelties, and such eminent solo vocalists as J. Frank Flynn, of Grand Opera fame, Norman Stanley, the well known baritone, Harry Leonard, robust tenor, and Ed. Keating, who is not only a basso of note but King of the Banjo and Mandolin, comprise, with Ainsley, with his cultured alto voice and impersonations, a musical program not equalled by any other organization in the business. At the Grand Opera House, Saturday night, Nov. 12th.

"On the Bridge at Midnight," a new comedy-drama, with remarkable scenic effects, comes to this city on Monday, Nov. 14th. George Klimt and Alma Hearn will appear in the leading roles in this production, which from a scenic standpoint, has effects entirely new to stage productions, and represents the acme of the scene maker's art. An important episode of the play transpires on a "Jack Knife Bridge." This furnished a wonderful bit of stage mechanism, the huge halves of the bridge rising to permit passage of a lake steamer, the whole presenting a wonderful picture. It is from this scene that the play receives its name. The comedy element is especially strong, although the play borders close on tragedy at times. Kidnapping and its horrors are strongly depicted, but a happy ending with fine bits of comedy relieve the sombre portions of the play, a fine bit of humor running through a entire production makes it one of the highest class dramas on the road to-day.

SPIRIT CLOTHING IS NOTHING EXTRAORDINARY.

One of the characteristics which almost every one has noticed in those of his friends given to delving in the mysteries of the orient is that they tell in the most matter-of-fact way about things which paralyze the humor, Americans, and show wonder and bewilderment themselves as dupes which any prestidigitator can duplicate. Seattle has been favored by the visit of an Englishman who throws a magic lantern screen photographs of ghosts which he has taken on his travels. The camera, he explained in a nonchalant way, is so much more sensitive than the human eye that it will often catch the likeness of a spirit where the operator can see nothing. No sooner had he started his lecture and displayed a picture of an unhappy looking little girl, not at all like the happy spirit children of Mr. Kipling's "They," than some practical-minded woman in the rear of the hall exclaimed: "My, do the poor little ghosts wear the same clothes that they were buried in?" The lecturer replied that the spirits wore their old-time clothes chiefly as a means of identification, it being obvious enough that they would look more familiar to their friends when they appeared in robes of glory or in no clothes at all. Then came from a man in the audience a remark which seems to the outsider much more remarkable than any orthodox ghost story. "There was one investigator," he said, "that once secured a piece of spirit clothing. He wore it on the lapel of his coat for about an hour, and then it dissolved in thin air."

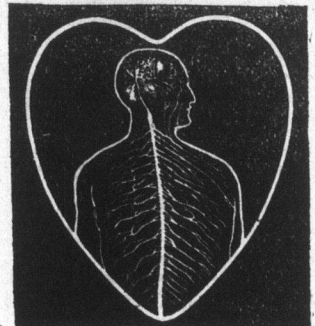

"That is nothing unusual," said the lecturer severely. "It happened to me many times. I once had a piece of spirit clothing that I kept for three days, and then it faded away like mist. It is all nonsense anyway to think that a spirit would go about another. Sometimes they only wear a soft, fleecy robe, and sometimes their regular clothes."

It is at least worth remembering for any one who goes about ghost hunting.—New York Evening Post.

A drive through the country in this district shows numerous large flocks of turkeys, yet the Watford Guide-Advocate, speaking only for that district, no doubt, says: "Turkeys will be scarce and expensive this year. The outlook for the Thanksgiving supply is rather dubious, and on that account it is very easy to prophesy high prices. Many tables heretofore accustomed to serve the royal bird on Thanksgiving Day will be without this important adjunct this year. Ducks, chickens and other fowl are as plentiful, however, as the turkeys are scarce. Buyers who have been searching the country for turkeys report the supply very limited. While the usual number of young turkeys were provided for in the settings, many of the young birds have perished on account of unfavorable weather. Some of the farmers who went into the turkey business a year ago came out so poorly they were fearful this year of another failure. This has had the tendency to reduce the supply. It is said that prices in November will range from 18 to 20 cents.

"Gentlemen,—Having been cured of a very troublesome disease, I find it my duty to write you a few lines. I was troubled with a very great palpitation of the heart and nervous prostration. I was attacked with it at College, and could not follow up my course of the University without being overcome with fatigue. I have left College, and am working in a general store, where I found your famous pills. I used three boxes, and am now completely cured; I cannot thank you enough. You may use this letter for the purpose of benefiting anyone who is suffering as I did. My home is in Sackville, N.B., but at present I am on Prince Edward Island."

"I remain, dear sirs, RAY V. CORMIER."

TO-DAY.

Every new day has its dawn,
Its soft and silent eve,
Its noontide hour of bliss or bane—
Wherefore should we grieve?

Why do we heap huge mounds of years
Before us and behind,
And scorn the little days that pass
Like angels on the wind?

Each turning round a small, sweet face
As beautiful as near;
Because it is so small a face
We will not see it clear.

We will not clasp it as it flies,
And kiss its lips and brow;
We will not bathe the weary souls
In its delicious now.

And so it turns from us, and goes Away in sad disdain;
Though we would give our lives for it,
It never comes again.

Yet every new day has its dawn,
Its noontide and its eve;
Live while we live, giving God
Thanks—
He will not let us grieve.

You May Pay When You are Cured.

A Detroit Specialist who has 14 diplomas and certificates from medical colleges and state boards of medical examiners, and who has a vast experience in doctoring diseases of men, is positive he can cure a great many so called incurable cases.

DR. S. GOLDBERG.

The possessor of 14 diplomas and certificates, who wants no money that he does not earn. In order to convince patients that he has the ability to do as he says, Dr. Goldberg will accept your case for treatment, and you need not pay one penny until a complete cure has been made; he wants to hear from patients who have been unable to get cured, as he guarantees a positive cure for all chronic, nervous, blood and skin diseases, which he accepts for treatment. He not only cures the condition itself, but likewise all the complications, such as rheumatism, bladder or kidney troubles, blood poison, physical and nervous debility, lack of vitality, stomach trouble, etc.

The doctor realizes that it is one thing to make claims and another thing to back them up; so he has made it a rule not to ask for money unless he cures you, and when you are cured, he feels sure that you will willingly pay him a small fee. It seems, therefore, that it is to the best interests of everyone who suffers to write the doctor confidentially and lay your case before him, which will receive careful attention, and a correct diagnosis of your case will be made free of charge. If you have lost faith with him, as you have everything to gain and nothing to lose, you must remember that one penny need be paid until you are cured. All medicines for patients are prepared in his own laboratory to meet the requirements of the individual case. He will send a booklet on the subject, which contains the 14 diplomas and certificates, entirely free. Address him simply 617 Dr. S. Goldberg, 208 Westward Ave., Room Detroit, Michigan. THE TRIO OF SEA KINGS

THREE NOTED AND MUCH-TALKED-OF ENGLISH SWIMMERS.

These British Aquatic Champions Attempted to Swim Across the English Channel—Their Exploits in the Water Since Their Names Became Household Words in Emulating Captain Webb's Deed of Years Ago.

The entire world at home and abroad has been aroused of late by accounts of the attempts of a trio of noted British aquatic champions to swim across the English Channel.

Not one man succeeded, but each made a gallant fight, only to be overcome by a very swift tide and by the unusual coldness of the water.

Montague Holbein, John Haggerty and G. N. Greasley were the contestants. Each man was backed by a prominent London newspaper.

Montague Holbein is a swimmer by accident. He was formerly a very successful cyclist, winning many prizes. One day, however, he had a smash and injured his leg. The doctor recommended swimming.

MONTAGUE HOLBEIN.

Holbein accordingly swam, and, being a man who does not do things by halves, he swam for hours at a time. In fact, he swam so long and so well that his friends pronounced him a marvel. That's how he came to try to equal Captain Webb's truly stupendous achievement of swimming the English Channel.

His name is now a household word wherever men talk of brave deeds by flood or field.

The man himself is a splendid fellow, with a magnificent physique to support his bold spirit. He has unusual powers of resisting the cold resulting from long immersion. His temperature is seldom anything but normal after a protracted swim. It is interesting to know that he can also bear immersion in very hot water. A bath heated to 125 degrees causes him no inconvenience, while it would raise blisters on most people. He takes long walks and swims during training, eats less vegetable food than usual and drinks no spirits. He has always been a non-smoker. During the swim, Holbein believes in taking nourishment every half hour. He employs a long, steady back stroke of his own invention, in which the hands are used, and strikes about twenty-two to the minute.

John Haggerty was selected by a London newspaper out of 3,000 applicants to swim the English Channel. His qualifications are naturally beyond the ordinary. He is forty-two years of age and since he began swimming, thirty-two years ago, has carried off 350 prizes.

When but ten he won the boy championship of his native town, Stalybridge, and fifteen years later he retired champion of England after he had met all the great swimmers of his day. He is a man of extraordinary physical strength and gifted with unusual power of endurance.

G. N. Greasley has won most things a swimmer can win, but he craves for fresh laurels and is going to make another effort to cross the Channel in the only way that appeals to the ambitious swimmer.

There is not space here to enumerate all his triumphs. It may, however, be stated that he was for five years champion of the Leicester Swimming Club of England. He has broken the records for the mile and half mile and has been champion of all England. One of his most striking victories was gained at the Paris Exhibition of 1900. The distance was 4,000 metres, and the crack swimmers of the world were arrayed against him. Greasley swam in most sensational style and won a splendid race amid the enthusiastic plaudits of a huge crowd, his fellow-countrymen being naturally much elated.

The poor in spirit are rich in possibilities.

A TINY COUNTRY.

What one might call an "after-dinner-coffee-size" country is the principality of Liechtenstein, a tiny land between the Austrian province of Tyrol and the Rhine, recently described by a writer in Harper's Magazine. Its area is about sixty-one square miles of territory, and its population less than ten thousand. Although practically a part of Austria, it has been more or less independent for nearly three centuries, and was, according to a local peasantry, forgotten by Bismarck when he reorganized Europe after the Prussian wars with France and Austria.

Once Liechtenstein had a standing army. In full force, armed and equipped, it marched away to join the Austrian forces in the war with Prussia, and had it arrived in time might have turned the scale, for although it consisted of but eighty men with a captain and a trumpeter, it was a whole army in itself, and very brave. Fortunately, the country was mountainous, and the roads bad, and when the army arrived at the camp of the Austrians the war was over. That was its last appearance in public. The Liechtensteins had grown weary of supporting the onerous military burden imposed upon the principality by these eighty idle men, and sent a weighty and respectful protest to the prince, who discontinued the army. So there is now no military service, no national debt, no direct taxes. The prince is very rich, and pays much of the expense of his little country instead of taxing it to support him. He issues coins with his head on them, and stamps of the same design. That is a pleasure in itself worth supporting a small country for, and he is the only member of the Austrian nobility who enjoys such distinction.

His little capital, Vaduz, is but a modest city, and the prince visits it but seldom. He wears an Austrian title as well as that of Liechtenstein, and sits in the Austrian House of Lords. But from Vienna he can call up his own country by long-distance telephone, and it serves him all the purposes of a suburban village to which to retire for rest from his duties as an Austrian nobleman.

HIS BIRTHDAY

Returning Officer J.R. Gemmill remembered Herbert S. Clements' 39th Anniversary

To-day was H. S. Clements' natal day, and Sheriff Gemmill made him very proud when he presented to the popular young Conservative his certificate of membership to the Dominion Parliament. Mr. Clements was born 39 years ago to-day in Dover township and it was a fitting finish to the glorious campaign he waged that on his birthday the legal count should be held and that on that day he should receive the little piece of paper that gave official record of his success.

Mr. Clements' friends were all extending double congratulations to him to-day.

A MIX-UP

Two Wives have a little difference—The same man is cause of all the trouble

A matrimonial mix-up was aired at the police headquarters this morning. Mrs. Kate Lucas had met Mrs. Rebecca Duckett and there was trouble. Mrs. No. 1 accused Mrs. No. 2 of knowing Nate Lucas not wisely but too well. The outcome was that Mrs. Duckett laid an information against Mrs. Lucas charging her with assault. This morning the plaintiff told her side of the story in which she said she was the victim of an unprovoked assault.

Mrs. Lucas said that her husband left her because the Duckett woman liked him. "You put me out of doors in Dresden and I came to Chatham like a man," interrupted Lucas. Then the husband and wife began to quarrel and Judge Houston had his hands full, stopping the war of words. He did it quite efficiently however, by ordering Lucas to be taken below to the cells. Mrs. Lucas in her evidence said she only suspected but really knew nothing wrong in the relations between her husband and Mrs. Duckett. After hearing all the evidence, Judge Houston fined Mrs. Lucas $1 without costs. Her husband confessed in court that he was contributing nothing to her support. He claimed they were separated but the wife denied this.

GUN WAS LOADED

Interesting and Startling Evidence Furnished at the Inquest in Wallaceburg Yesterday—Crown Attorney Fathomed Mystery

The Crown Attorney, H. D. Smith, is investigating the circumstances surrounding the death of John Pidgeon, who was killed while duck shooting at Bear Creek on Oct. 25th. Simon Thibodeau and John Pidgeon were in a boat together. Thibodeau called out, "There's a duck!" Thibodeau turned around, and while his head was turned he heard the report of a gun, and, turning around, saw Pidgeon had been shot in the breast with his own gun. The wound in Pidgeon's breast appeared larger than it should have been had the gun been held close to the breast. Thibodeau said that the gun had fallen overboard after the accident. The Crown Attorney ordered that it be searched for. It was an 1897 model Winchester and was found Saturday. On being brought to the surface, it went off, bursting the barrel. An inquest was ordered and was held in Wallaceburg yesterday by Coroner Dr. Mitchell. The above facts were adduced and the inquest was adjourned to get additional information.

For George Stephens - 3,543
Majority for Clements - 115

Such was the official summing up of Returning Officer Sheriff J. R. Gemmill's on the recent polling in West Kent, and at 12.55 this afternoon Mr. Gemmill made the statutory announcement that Herbert S. Clements was duly elected as member of the Dominion Parliament for this constituency.

The official opening of the ballot boxes occupied some two hours at Harrison Hall this morning. S. B. Arnold was present to represent Mr. Clements and Fred. Stone to represent Mr. Stephens. Towards the close of the count Mr. Clements arrived and received the congratulations of the few who had gathered to watch the proceedings.

The full detailed official returns as entered by the Sheriff are as follows:—

Mr. Borden to Go South.

Halifax, N.S., Nov. 8.—R. L. Borden left Halifax yesterday morning to spend a few days with his mother in King's County. Mr. Borden, his private secretary, said yesterday afternoon that he had received several offers of seats, but for the present he would give no definite answer to any of them. Mr. Borden is feeling the effects of the hard work of the campaign, and shortly after he returns from King's County he and Mrs. Borden will go south for a complete rest.

CLOTHING DEPT.

The tailor-made man and the man who wears one of these SUITS or OVERCOATS, in so far as his clothes are concerned, there isn't an atom of difference. But what a difference in the cost. The former pays say $22 to $25, the latter pays $10 to $15, if it's a suit—and $9 to $15, if it's an overcoat. And how keenly the first named feels the difference when he meets the last named, face to face, admires the faultless cut of his trousers, and inimitable swagger effect in his coat or overcoat, so much that he asks—"Who is your tailor?" And is informed that the clothes in question came from Austin & Co's.

We're proud to have our name associated with quality of clothing. We seek to interest more men in it whenever the opportunity affords itself.

Thos. Baxter, Prince Street, celebrated his seventy-fourth birthday, last week, and for a gentleman of his years is certainly enjoying the best of health. Mr. Baxter is very well known to all the older residents.

In the younger days of Chatham he was a carpenter and contractor and many houses in this city and the surrounding country were built under his guidance.

Lottie Blair Parker's picturesque and red-blooded drama of rural life in New England appropriately entitled "Way Down East," was splendidly presented at the Grand last night.

It has been before the public about nine years, and has gained a place in popular esteem scarcely second to that held by "The Old Homestead."

Although Mrs. Parker is credited with the authorship of it, it is a fact that essential features of it are the work of Joseph R. Gismer, who is given a place on the bills as the person who "produced and elaborated" it. Originally it had only nine characters—Anna, Kate, Martha, the Squire, Martha, the Professor, David, Hi Holler, and Sanderson. Now there are twenty characters.

The first person Mr. Gismer introduced in his scheme of elaboration was Seth Holcomb, Martha's persistent suitor, and inventor of those precious long-life bitters. He was regarded as a necessary complement to the vinegary old maid and neighborhood scandalmonger. Before the advent of Seth there was no logical significance in the existence of Martha Perkins. She began nowhere and ended with as little definiteness, being used merely as the medium of communicating knowledge of Anna Moore's supposed disgrace to the Bartletts. Next Mr. Gismer created Rube Whipple, the town constable, for the purpose of illuminating the action with a flash of comedy; and then came the Doctor who is introduced in the last act to revive Anna after that experience in the night and storm. Gradually the remaining dramatic personae came into being, and for several years we have continued to see the piece as it is now represented.

When the play left Mrs. Parker's stage there was no sugar house, and the heroine came back to consciousness of her own accord, so to say, and in a sheer spirit of accommodation for the author. She merely wandered around and finally dropped in the snow, where David Bartlett found her. Naturally, there was no sound reason why she should revive without help, and to that end the doctor and the sugar camp had to be born, and incidentally good use was made of Seth's dubious bitters. Anna also originally discovered that somebody had died and left her a sum of ready money. Everybody then fawned upon her, and those who had injured and despised her now wanted to be restored to her favor. In Mr. Gismer's view so ignoble and sordid a motive, how possible and natural so-ever in hard and grasping New England, could not be tolerated in a play, where ideal sentiment obtains. It was therefore all changed.

It is obvious that the larger part of the credit for the success of "Way Down East" should go to the practical and experienced Mr. Gismer. Even then Mrs. Parker will not be deprived of the honors that belong to the conception that is the foundation of the fable.

The manner in which the play is staged is realistic without being destructive of illusion or idealism. The lifelike does not seem to be lugged in neck and crop for the mere sake of motion, and the two interiors at the Bartlett home are as beautiful and suggestive domestic pictures as can be found in anybody's play. The entire structure is composed of good material, and it is presented by the actors in a direct and convincing spirit of naturalness and simplicity. The engagement was one of the best seen at the Grand, and Manager Briscoe deserves congratulations.

Read what Mrs. Wm. Castilloux, Newport, Quebec, has to say about Burdock Blood Bitters:—"Last December I fell very sick after confinement. I was not able to walk for three months, and was given up to die by the doctor. My husband read of the many wonderful cures made by Burdock Blood Bitters, so procured me two bottles. After using it for about ten days, I was able to get around, and could mind my baby without help from anyone, and am now well, and able to do my own work. I told a lady friend of mine who was troubled in the same way, and she used it with equal success. I cannot too highly recommend your medicine, for I know just how good it is, and hope and wish that anyone suffering as I did will give it a trial."

A ROYAL

LOVE STORY

Some time when novels fall upon you turn to a page of history that is far more engrossing than any fiction that was ever penned.

There is nothing more fascinating than to seize upon a character in history and read all that can be found about that particular person. Then, gradually, out of the dim and distant past rises up a figure that is very real and very human.

For a beginning, start on a time about which much has been written. The times of the Georges, for instance. Discover if you can the reason of Caroline's love for her husband, George the Second. Solve the mystery of the devotion of a brilliant, beautiful woman for the fat, ugly, little creature, who treated her harshly, selfishly, oft-times brutally.

Let us begin at the very beginning of the life of this wonderful woman. In the year 1683, near the close of the stormy reign of Charles the Second in England, a little princess was born at Ansbach. Her father was the Elector of Brandenburg, but he died shortly after she was born and her mother married again. Then the stepfather died and, when the little princess was but thirteen her mother died also.

It might have been a hard time for Wilhelmina Caroline Dorothea, to give her her full name, but fortunately she fell into the hands of a guardian who had an exceptionally good and clever wife. Sophia Charlotte took a great liking to her young ward and brought her up very carefully. When she became a young lady a very brilliant match was proposed for her. Archduke Charles, ruler of Spain, and afterwards Emperor of Germany, wanted to marry her. But there was an obstacle in the way. He was a Roman Catholic and she a Protestant. It was necessary for her to change her religion. You know that it is as easy generally for a Royal princess to change her religion as it is for a commoner to change his gloves. But it was not so with Caroline. A Jesuit Father was sent for, to come and convert her but he met with unexpected opposition. Long and weary were the discussions that took place between Father Bruno and Caroline. It ended by the young Princess writing and breaking off the whole thing. Then the question was whom was she to marry? She was twenty-two, which was quite old for an unmarried princess in those days, nay, even in these when our late Duke of Edinburgh's daughters are married off at seventeen with disastrous results sometimes as we know. But such a charming princess as Caroline could not long escape. One day along comes the Elector of Hanover and promptly falls in love with—as we are quaintly told—"her charms of mind and person."

There were no obstacles in the way of this match, and in 1705 Caroline and George Augustus were married. According to that travel writer, Lady Mary Wortley Montague, George was quite an attractive young prince. But a halo generally surrounds Royalty and we must take her eulogy with a grain of salt. Shortly after her marriage Caroline was stricken with the scourge of those days—small-pox. We can picture to ourselves the state of mind both she and her husband would be in lest her pretty face be spoiled. But the Fates were kind and she came out of the attack little the worse of it.

In 1714 the Crown of England came to George Louis, Elector of Hanover, through his mother, the old Electress Sophia, niece of Charles the First. It is on this slender thread that our present King hangs his claim to Stuart descent. There is a story told of this Sophia which illustrates the point touched on of princesses changing their religion. When her daughter was a pretty girl of thirteen, some one asked what church she belonged to. "Oh," replied Sophia, "I have not had her instructed in any religion as yet. I am waiting to see whom she will marry."

George the First was a harsh old man. The hero of innumerable love affairs himself, he banished his young wife to a lonely castle, and kept her there until she died thirty-two years later, for losing her heart to that fascinating scoundrel, who wrought much devastation, Philip of Konigs-marek, brother of the famous beauty, Aurora.

George the First and his daughter-in-law did not get on together. "Cetle diablesse, Madame la Princesse," he called her. One of the reasons of this dislike was, no doubt, Caroline's clever and biting tongue, which she seems to have exercised freely on George and his elderly inamoratus. Then, too, she was very ambitious. Her husband loved Hanover and was loth to go to England, but Caroline urged him to it and they were not long in following George the First across the channel.

When there they loathed, and then bought, Richmond Lodge, near Ken, and established a rival court. Gay, indeed, were the doings there. Walpole, in his gossip letters, has left us a vivid picture of the fetes that took place. Pope, a little lame poet, celebrated the beauties of this miniature court in verse. One of the gay damsels of this court was the lovely Mary Bellenden, who, when her Royal master wanted to make love to her, folded her arms on her breast and would have none of him. Not so beautiful Mrs. Howard, of whom Gay wrote:

"O wonderful creature, a woman of reason!
Never gave out of pride, never gay out of season!
When so easy to guess who this angel should be,
Who would think Mrs. Howard ne'er dreamt it was she!"

Of course no college man is a thorough graduate until he secures his sheepskin.

So different from Wall street. A man isn't considered a graduate there until he secures a lamb's skin.

Many women are denied the happiness of children through derangement of the generative organs. Mrs. Beyer advises women to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I suffered with stomach complaint for years. I got so bad that I could not carry my children but five months, then would have a miscarriage. The last time I became pregnant, my husband got me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After taking the first bottle I was relieved of the sickness of stomach, and began to feel better in every way. I continued its use and was enabled to carry my baby to maturity. I now have a nice baby girl, and can work better than I ever could before. I am like a new woman."

BERLIN BOASTS OF A THINKING HORSE.

A horse has been exciting a great deal of attention in Germany this fall. It is not as with most famous horses, because of his being fleet-footed, or his power, but because of his clever head. Hans—that is the horse's name—has astonished people with his wonderful tricks and memory that everybody who has seen him is asking, "Can a horse really think?" And Hans is called the thinking horse of Berlin. Photographs have been taken of Hans, showing him in the presence of a large audience, and engaged in the various tasks of reading from a tablet, distinguishing colors, recognizing a person from his photograph, solving arithmetical puzzles, and listening while a task is being set him. It is claimed for him that there is not the least trickery in his feats, but that he has been trained much as a child would be in school. Not long ago an examination of Hans was held in Berlin, and a commission, including a cavalry general, several other officers, officials from the Zoological gardens, professors from the Veterinary college, and the Physiological institute and two circus directors, inquired into his powers, and reported favorably.

A STARTLING REPLY.

Mrs. Barron was one of the new "summer folk" and not acquainted with the vernacular. Consequently she was somewhat surprised, upon sending an order for a roast of lamb to the nearest butcher, to receive the following note in reply: "Dear Mam, I am sorry I have not killed myself this week, but I can get you a leg off my brother (the butcher at the farther end of the town). He's full up on what you want. I sent him last night with five legs. Yours respectfully, George Gunton."

WHEN THE MISTS

ROLLED AWAY

"Of all the kinds of weather that grow along the Mississippi, I guess we had at least a sample on our last trip down," remarked the captain, as he sat on deck. "We left St. Paul on time, and everything seemed prosperous. Two hundred and fifty passengers, most of them through passengers going to St. Louis for the fair, and a nice lot of people. But it wasn't long till I began to wonder which was the Jonah among them. I noticed one fellow that went round with his hands crossed in front of him, and I hadn't quite made up my mind it was him, when we struck the fog."

"Now, a fog on the ocean is bad enough when you know you're a thousand miles from land; but a fog on the river, if you can't see the shore, means that you'll land the boat on top of some man's farm if you don't tie up to the bank."

"Well, we tied up at a forlorn little town, and lay there all the rest of the day. I've been on the river forty years, and I never before run up against the same combination of fog, rain and wind—all three at once. And nothing to do but lie there and lose time."

"I guess we all forgot that it was Sunday, but in the evening a church-bell rang up in the little town, and some of the passengers asked if there was any danger of our leaving before they could get back, and I told them there wasn't. So they went up to church."

"Well, it was one of those forsaken little places, you know, and the meeting-house don't look much from the river, and I don't suppose it's much better inside. When they got there, there was themselves and the preacher and about a dozen more. They said to the preacher that they could get him a bigger audience down on the boat, so down he came with his whole congregation, and held his evening service here. We had fastened down the curtains to shut out the fog, and the forward deck was pretty well filled with passengers. The rest gathered up forward, and preached out here."

"I'd just like to know whether that was the regular sermon he meant to preach on shore, or whether it was a special one he kept up his sleeve for great occasions. Anyway, it was all right."

"But the thing that took hold of me was the singing. The piano is away back in the ladies' cabin, and the preacher asked if there was some one would lead the singing. And up steps the fellow I was telling you about, and he begins to sing."

"He said he'd sing something to call the people together—something maybe appropriate for the situation. And he sang, 'When the mists have rolled away.' He stood with his back to the mast, and his voice was clear as the bell, and you could hear it as far. It rolled about the decks and down the long cabin and out over the river."

"In the dawning of the morning Of that bright and happy day, We shall know each other better When the mists have rolled away."

"He'd begin to slow up on the last line, you know, and let his voice out as if he was blowing for a landing, and by the time he got to the words 'rolled away,' you could hear it, yes, and feel it, rolling out through the fog, and it seemed to me it took the fog with it."

"Everybody felt as though he knew everybody else by that time, and they all joined in the singing after that. And then came the sermon, as I was telling you."

"Well, when the preacher got there, somebody asked him if there was any special object he like a collection for. And he told them he was very glad of a little help toward buying new seats for his meeting-house. He'd been trying to raise money, and they'd got a start, but it was slow navigation. Well, the hat went round, and they chipped in, and he walked up the bank with a money enough to put new seats in his meeting-house. I guess no happier man has walked the gangplank of this boat for many a trip."

"And you'll think it's funny, but as I looked out after him as he left, I saw the first star I'd seen that night, and I knew the fog was getting thin, and I ordered the plank drawn in, and began to move."

"I don't really suppose that had anything to do with it, but I guess all sailors have a little touch of superstition. That fog came sudden, and it went sudden, and we had now and then a dash of rain, but nothing to hinder us, and we moved along down the river, and next morning the sun was shining and the mists had rolled away."

ENDURANCE OF THE CARRIER PIGEON.

Some naturalists have been recently discussing the ability of a carrier pigeon to cross the Atlantic. Several years ago a pigeon post was actually established on transatlantic lines by a captain Reynaud, a Frenchman. It has been long discontinued, but while it was in operation a pigeon released from a steamer in mid-ocean actually succeeded in reaching the American shore. This feat, it is asserted by a recent French authority, was achieved only because the bird was in the track of numerous steamers, on which it rested during the nights. Even thus, its passage took nearly a month. Unaided flight over the sea for more than sixteen hours or so, this writer says, is a physical impossibility for any pigeon, and the idea that one could cross the ocean is an absurdity. In spite of the great speed and endurance of this bird, the sensational performances with which it is often credited are, he says, mostly fictions.

HOPE FOR EVERYBODY

THERE SEEMS TO BE NO CASE
SO BAD THAT ANTI-PILL CAN-NOT CURE IT. A STRONG
CLAIM. BUT WELL SUPPORT-ED.

Just recently a physician in Lincoln, Nebraska, has made a discovery which is exciting the interest and wonder of the medical profession all over the world.

Dr. Leonhardt began on the theory that the poisons sent through the system by the rotting and fermentation of undigested foods were the prime cause of nearly every disease.

He set to work to discover, if possible, a remedy that would stimulate and heal the mucous membrane lining of the stomach and bowels, till by their normal, healthy action, perfect digestion would be restored.

He succeeded, and his prescription he called Anti-Pill. The proof that his work was well done is found in the long list of remarkable cures made by Anti-Pill.

The Ancients and Electricity.
Although little was known of electricity until comparatively modern times, it has been understood since six or seven hundred B. C. that certain substances when rubbed show attraction and repulsion for various light materials. Among these is amber; so, in the latter part of the sixteenth century, when electricity was more definitely known, its name was taken from the Greek word for amber.

SLIGHT SPRAINS GROW WORSE

Unless promptly treated. The great strength of Nervine enables it to quickly cure all manner of sprains and strains. "I sprained my wrist," writes Leonard E. Milford, of Rockland, "while working in the mill, but had to lay off, it became so painful and swelled. I rubbed my wrist thoroughly with Nervine twice a day and put on a bandage. The pain soon went away and frequent rubbing with Nervine soon cured. Nervine is undoubtedly an excellent liniment and the best pain reliever I ever used." Nervine certainly is extra good. Price 25c.

His Way of Working Up.

daughter."

WAKEFUL CHILDREN.

For a long time the two year old child of Mr. P. L. McPherson, 59 N.
Tenth St., Harrisburg, Pa., would sleep but two or three hours in the mother concluded that the child had stomach trouble, and gave her half of one of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, which quieted her stomach and she slept the whole night through. Two boxes of these Tablets have effected a permanent cure and she is now well and strong. For

A BRAWNY EVANGELIST.

He First Whipped a Bully and Then Brought Him to Church.

A Methodist minister tells the following story about the late Sam Rozel, the great Virginia evangelist, who in his day was one of the best known pulpit orators in the south:

"Sam Rozel was a very big man and had a wide reputation for physical strength. In his college days he came off the field of combat, usually a cir-cumscripted and secluded area of the campus, wearing the laurel of victory on many occasions, and after he became a preacher stories of his physical prowess were spread far and near.

"One day he went to a village to hold a protracted meeting. The village blacksmith, who was a very big man, and who was recognized, especially among the tavern habitués, as a pugilistic wonder, heard about the coming of Rozel, and the villagers did not fail to tell him all they had heard about the size of the parson's arm and the length of his legs, and of the convincing way he had of closing an argument with his fists.

"All this nettled the smith considerably, so when Rozel reached the town he sought him out and asked him to fight.

"Rozel, of course, said he did not want to fight, but the smith kept on insisting, and finally Rozel became angry and agreed to gratify the fellow.

"They fought. Rozel literally wiped up the ground with the big man. When he had pounded him until the poor, vanquished bully was gasping hard, Rozel picked him up and threw him over a fence.

"The blacksmith had not said a word since the affray began up to this point.
As he rolled over on the other side of the fence, however, he called out:

"Say, parson, kindly throw my horse over too. I'm going away."

"But Rozel followed the man to his home, and had him sitting on a front bench at the meeting that same night singing louder than any one else."

NAST'S SURPRISE.

Dramatic Climax in the Convention
Which Nominated Grant.

In May, 1868, the Republican national convention came along. Nast went to Chicago to be present.

It was settled beforehand that General Grant was to be the Republican presidential candidate. The great soldier had maintained a calm and noble dignity through all the trying days of conflict between congress and Andrew Johnson and was now honored almost as much for his diplomacy as for his success at arms. Indeed the mantle of sweet renown left by Lincoln would seem to have been laid upon the shoulders of Grant, and he wore it with becoming grandeur and humility.

Realizing that the convention would name Grant as its choice, Nast prepared a little surprise for the event.
He painted upon a large curtain the White House entrance, with two pedestals, one on each side, bearing the words, "Republican Nominee, Chicago,
May 20," and "Democratic Nominee, New York, July 4," respectively. On the Republican pedestal was seated the figure of Grant, while Columbia stood pointing to the empty place opposite.
Below were the words, "Match Him!"

This curtain, with a blank curtain before it, was suspended at the back of the convention stage. At the instant when General Grant was announced as the unanimous presidential choice of his party the blank curtain was lifted, and the great cartoon, "Match Him!"
was suddenly exposed to full view.

The occurrence was so unexpected that the throng was silent for a moment, taking it in; then, realizing that it was a spectacular climax, the pictorial expression of a universal sentiment, the assembled multitude gave vent to an enthusiasm that turned the great hall into a pandemonium of exultation.—Albert Bigelow Paine in Exposition.

A Valuable Scrapbook.

To devote a scrapbook to one subject makes it much more interesting and valuable, and when you begin to gather material on any one theme you will be surprised at the amount which will come to hand. Suppose you want to know all about some famous person, either in the public eye at present or some one of past times. From magazines and other sources can be collected articles, portraits, perhaps poems in relation to the subject, etc. When matter is clipped, the scrapbook maker may copy it neatly with a pen into a book. The educational value of such a book is something worth while, as well as the satisfaction of having gathered oneself so much information on a single subject.

Artemus Ward's Protector.

While in the show business in Pennsylvania Artemus Ward was put to sleep in an attic where the sash had been taken out for ventilation. In the night it turned cold. Artemus got up and was busy at the window. "What are you doing, Artemus?" his companion asked. "I'm so cold," he chattered.
"I was hanging up some of these hoopskirts. I thought they'd keep the coldest of the cold out."

His Experience.

"There are some songs that will never die," said the musical enthusiast.

"I guess that's right," answered Mr.
Cumrox. "My daughter sits down at the piano and tries to kill a few of 'em every evening. But it's no use."

THEY MADE THIS COUPLE HAPPYDodd's Kidney Pills doing Good Work around Port Arthur

Mr. Dick Souvey and Wife Both Had Kidney Troubles and the Great Canadian Kidney Remedy Cured
Them.

Port Arthur, Ont., Nov. 7.—(Special).—That Dodd's Kidney Pills cure the Kidney ills of men and women alike has been proved time and again in this neighborhood, but it is only occasionally they get a chance to do double work in the same house. This has happened in the case of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Souvey, a farmer, and his wife, living about seven miles from here. In an interview Mr. Souvey said:

"My wife and myself have used Dodd's Kidney Pills and have found them a big benefit to our health.
We had La Grippe two winters and were exposed to much frost and cold.
Our sleep was broken on account of urinary troubles and pain in the kidneys. We each took six boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and now enjoy good health."

Seeing Too Much of One Another.
"A long day spent in the society of the same people is nearly always trying," says a fashionable woman.
"While we are all very effusive, we don't really, as a rule, like each other very much or for very long. We get on all right with those of our acquaintance whom we meet at tea parties or when we dine out, but the majority bore us intolerably when we find ourselves in their company for eight or ten hours at a time."

Have You Indigestion
And conclude the course that the stomach is at fault. So it is, but there is a cause away back of the stomach that must be reached before the stomach can be made to do its work. The cause is nerve disturbance or nerve debility. First get the nerves in shape and then the stomach will be right almost. Ferrazone has accomplished this for thousands of people whose digestion was completely gone. Ferrazone is food for the nerves and works wonders in stomach trouble. Where digestion, appetite and assimilation are faulty just try Ferrazone. It cures thoroughly.

Why a Harpioneer is Also a Taber.

Among the old New Bedford whaling families was that of the Tabers. In speaking of this fact to a representative of the family the other day, a man who is a member of a well known New Bedford family himself, said:
"In the old whaling days the har-pioneer who sailed out of New Bedford were very often of your name. After time the name Taber came to be the generic title of any harpioneer, whatever his name might be. Known to this day a famous harpioneer is known as a Taber."

Twinkling Stars Mean Bad Weather.

calm, fair weather, and the more they twinkled the worse the weather was invariably correct in the high latitudes, kissed her hand last night. Now, what do you think of that? Edythe—Well, I suppose the poor man had to do something and couldn't go her face.

A TIMELY SUGGESTION.

This is the season of the year when the prudent and careful housewife replenishes her supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is certain to be needed before the winter is over, and results are much more prompt and satisfactory when it is kept at hand and given as soon as the cold is contracted and before it has become settled in the system. In almost every instance a severe cold may be warded off by taking this remedy freely as soon as the first indication of the cold appears. There is no danger in giving it to children for it contains no harmful substance.
It is pleasant to take—both adults and children like it. Buy it and you will get the best. It always cures.

SNAKE RIVER VALLEY.

The largest irrigation enterprise in America is located in the rich Snake River valley of Idaho which has been reclaimed through man's handi-work alone. In this valley which is now comfortably settled, there remains 270,000 acres of land belonging to the state of Idaho which is under the Twin Falls irrigation canals and open to settlement. This land is among the richest in America as experiments have proved. Potatoes here yield 200 to 400 bushels to the acre with an average weight of 63 pounds per bushel. Fine crops of alfalfa are raised each season in the Snake River Valley. The climate is superb and of great value as a tonic for mind and body. Homeseekers' low rates to the Snake River valley are in effect via Union Pacific, the only direct route. Where crops of alfalfa are in person and fully realize its great possibilities? For full information,

JAPS INTO PORT ARTHUR

Success After Desperate Fight On Saturday Afternoon.

Outposts of Contending Forces Only Forty Feet Apart—Jap Trench Collapses Into Russian Gallery and the Enemy Being Surprised Fled in Confusion—In Manchuria the Two Armies Are Within Mating Distance.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—A Daily News special from Dally, Nov. 6, via Kobe, Nov. 7, says:

"After three days of continuous bombardment of Port Arthur, which caused extensive destruction to the Shojusan and Nirysuan forts, in the west centre of the Russian line of defence, and also to Keekwan fort, the right wing of the Japanese army assaulted Shojusan yesterday afternoon. Having carried the approaches to that height the assailants entrenched themselves under the glacis of the forts. In the evening the left wing delivered an assault on Keekwan, fighting its way to the lower parapet. There the Japanese held their ground stubbornly in the face of Russian counter attacks.

"Having been reinforced during the night, the Russians charged down upon the Japanese and desperate hand to hand conflicts ensued. The Japanese beat back the enemy and destroyed two covered positions in the front most. A Japanese sub-lieutenant with 30 volunteers then succeeded in making his way to the rear of the fort. There he engaged in a personal conflict with a Russian officer and killed him. Having discovered two more defences in the rear of the moat, the sub-lieutenant withdrew his force, losing two men.

"Later in the night the advanced position of the Japanese was taken and retaken twice. The besiegers succeeded in holding the approaches and constructing trenches connecting them with the army's front parallel. At dawn numbers of dead were visible on the slope. Fort P, north of the new and old batteries in the left centre of the line of defence, was captured by the severe fighting of the night. These operations have successfully driven an effective wedge into the Russian centre. Severe explosions and extensive fire have occurred in the fortress within the last few days. The total casualties of the Japanese in the late attacks were 1,100. Over 600 were killed up to Oct. 29. The spirit of the men is magnificent. The firing of all the guns is wonderfully effective.

"The climax to the late bombardment came between 4 and 6 o'clock Saturday afternoon. It was a superb spectacle. Every fort of the enemy was engaged and the fighting in the trenches was constant and severe. The outposts of the contending forces were only 40 feet apart. At 1 o'clock yesterday morning one of the Japanese trenches collapsed into a Russian gallery. The enemy being surprised underground, fled in confusion."

Clear Masses All His Forces.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 8.—The necessity for officers for service at the front has resulted in the mobilization of all reserve officers in St. Petersburg, Vilna, Warsaw, Kieff, Odessa, Moscow, Kazan and the Caucasus. The loss of officers at Liaoyang and below Mukden was about 1,300. The mobilization, while intended to supply the deficiency, is also necessitated by the grand scale on which the war in the Far East is to be prosecuted.

Kurapatkin Acts.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 8.—The news from the front indicates that Gen. Kurapatkin is devoting his attention chiefly to keeping the Japanese busy along the line of their fortifications below the Shakhe River.

Within Mating Distance.

Mukden, Nov. 8.—The Russian and Japanese armies, extending from Bentsiaputze east to Liao River west, at places are almost within a stone's throw of each other. At Bentsiaputze not more than 400 yards separate the advance posts, and at Sinchinpu, on the Shakhe River, just west, of the railway and 15 miles south of Mukden, the Japanese and Russians occupy the extreme ends of the same village.

At Hushgshantse the Russian centre has thrown advance posts across the Shakhe River. Both armies are still strengthening their positions all along the lines. The slightest movement on either side is the signal for firing, which occasionally lasts all night. The Russians are using six-inch guns.

The Japanese on Saturday night attacked some of the Russian outposts in considerable force, but the Russians had been warned and the Japanese were repulsed. They were not able to take away all their killed or wounded, leaving 28 bodies on the field. The Russians lost only nine men.

South of the Tumen.

New York, Nov. 8.—A despatch to The Herald from Wonsan, Corea, Oct. 28, via Chefoo, Nov. 6, says that 15,000 Russian troops are south of the Tumen River, with 38 guns. Of these 6,000 of the main body are at Kyungung, 2,000 along the coast in town garrisons, and 4,000 cavalry are thrown out westward in small bodies, menacing the Japanese lines of communication and railway construction between Pingyen and Wiju by frequent cross-country raids. The remainder of 3,000 are operating in strong scouting detachments to the southward at Peacheng, south of Hoowan.

On Duty For 36 Hours.

Ottawa, Nov. 8.—Inspector Dutil in his report on the railway accident recently at Eastwood, Ont., contributes the fact that the brakeman and conductor were on duty continuously for 36 hours. They were both killed.

BOTH SIDES CONFIDENT

Uncle Sam Votes To-day in the Presidential Contest.

Last Day Forecasts Indicate the Election of the Republican Candidate President Theodore Roosevelt—The Capitol Deserted—President Will Remain At Oyster Bay Only Long Enough to Cast His Vote—$2,000,000 Wagered.

Washington, D.C., Nov. 8.—A few hours before the balloting in the Presidential contest finds the national capital practically deserted by qualified electors. From every department of the Government hundreds of officials and clerks have gone home to vote.

Only two members of the Cabinet, Secretaries Hay and Morton, were in the city last night. On account of his health Secretary Hay felt that he ought not to make the trip to Ohio at this time, and Secretary Morton is detained here by important business in the Navy Department.

Arrangements have been completed for the President's trip to Oyster Bay, where he goes to cast his vote. A special car for the accommodation of the President and his party will be attached to the regular Pennsylvania Railroad train, which leaves here for New York at 2:30 a.m. Roosevelt will be accompanied by Secretary Loeb and several White House attaches who will also vote at Oyster Bay.

Both Sides Confident.

The President will remain at Oyster Bay only long enough to cast his ballot, returning in time to catch the 1:14 train for Washington. The party is scheduled to arrive here at 6:15 o'clock. Returns of the election will be received by the President at the White House. At the headquarters of both parties last night the utmost confidence is expressed. Betting on the result has been heavier in Washington than ever before. The odds on the general result are at 5 to 1 in favor of Roosevelt and Fairbanks, but many wagers have been made at shorter odds. The interest of bettors centres on New York. Odds of 2 to 1 have been offered that Roosevelt would carry the State, and they have been accepted. Many wagers have been recorded also on the result in Maryland and in West Virginia, but Republican money is as scarce on the former State as Democratic money is on the latter.

$200,000 Wagered On Result.

New York, Nov. 8.—The betting on the presidential result was livelier yesterday than at any other time during the campaign. It is estimated that nearly $200,000 were wagered on the Broad street curb and in the various hotels. The ruling odds were 6 to 1 on Roosevelt on the general result; two to one that Roosevelt will carry New York State, and 2 to 1 that Herrick will defeat Higgins for the governorship. One bet on the president was of $5,000 to $3000. One man offered $30,000 or any part of it at odds of 5 to 1 on Roosevelt without takers. The heaviest state bet was $10,000 to $8,500 on Herrick. Another Herrick bet was $10,000 to $6,000.

National and state tickets it is estimated that $2,000,000 has been wagered in New York City.

ANGLO-FRENCH CONVENTION.

Another Protest Against Relinquishment of French Rights in Newfoundland.

London, Nov. 8.—The Anglo-French Convention again was discussed yesterday in the Chamber of Deputies. Paris. Mr. Suchetot protested against the relinquishment of French rights in Newfoundland, expressed the fear that the rights of French subjects would not be respected and referred to regulations which might possibly be framed by the Newfoundland Legislature.

Premier Delcasse interposed that if such regulations paralyzed the exercises of French rights, the French Government would address itself directly to the Imperial Government.

Mr. Suchetot went on to relate the grievances suffered by French from the hands of the Newfoundlanders, and described what was conceded to France as a deceitful mirage. The inhabitants of St. Pierre and Miquelon were dissatisfied and prepared to accept union with the United States. The discussion was adjourned.

Cowan Goes to G.T.P.

Windsor, Nov. 8.—M. K. Cowan, K. C., member for Essex in the last Parliament, has gone to Montreal and arranged the removal of his family to that city on Dec. 1. Mr. Cowan will enter the office of the solicitor for the Grand Trunk and Grand Trunk Pacific Railways, and will permanently reside in Montreal.

No Trace of Bandits.

Casper, Wyo., Nov. 8.—Sheriff Webb and party returned to Casper yesterday afternoon from their pursuit of the bandits who held up the First National Bank of Cody and killed Okla. Sheriff Edgemoor. Not a trace of the outlaw was discovered, and it is the opinion of the officers that they have escaped.

Chief Reduced to Rank.

Berlin, Nov. 8.—The resignation of Chief of Police Winterhalt has been accepted. Last week he was suspended by the police commission for having been "drunk on duty." He will, however, be retained on the force, being reduced to the rank of a constable. P. C. George O'Neill was appointed acting chief.

Immediate Agreement.

London, Nov. 8.—Colonial Secretary Lyttelton, in a speech at Leamington yesterday, said there was an excellent hope of the almost immediate agreement by Russia to all of Great Britain's demands in connection with the North Sea affair.

Flynn's Move Approved.

Montreal, Nov. 8.—Hon. E. J. Flynn's manifesto has evidently been approved of by the Conservative party. The Witness argues that the Opposition made a mistake, but that the effect will be disastrous for the Liberal party. There is likewise a good deal of feeling against Sir Louis Jetté. L'Evenement scores the Governor with political partisanship in granting Premier Parent a dissolution of the House.

Storms Interfere.

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 8.—The complete polls of Trinity district show the election of Miller, the third of the Liberal candidates, by a majority of 16. There remain only two districts to be reported. Stormy weather prevents the collection of ballot boxes.

Almost a Disaster.

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 8.—The colonial cruiser Flama, with Premier Bond aboard, returning from Twillingate district, Sunday, broke a portion of her machinery and barely escaped going ashore in a fierce storm.

First State Ball of Season.

Ottawa, Nov. 8.—The first State ball of the season and the last under the regime of Lord and Lady Minto was held at Rideau Hall last night. Over 100 were in attendance. It was a brilliant assemblage.

What The Minister Says

Is Most Convincing.

"I thought I would write you what Pyramid File Cure has done for me. I had a most aggravated case of bleeding piles; indeed I dreaded when I had to go to stool. One fifty-cent box cured me. I feel like a new man. I have recommended it to others as being the most wonderful remedy known. It is indeed a great blessing to suffering humanity. You are at liberty to use this for all it is worth, and I hope it may do good." Rev. W. E. Carr, 355 No. Holbrook street, Danville, Va.

Clergymen (like all professional men who lead sedentary lives) are especially addicted to piles, in various forms, and are continually on the lookout for a remedy which will give relief, with little or no idea of obtaining a cure.

Recognizing this fact, Rev. Mr. Carr consents to the use of his name in order that other sufferers may know there is a cure called Pyramid File Cure, which is sold by druggists everywhere for the low price of fifty cents a package, and which will bring about for every one afflicted with piles, the same beneficial results as in his own case. Be careful to accept no substitutes, and remember that there is no remedy "just as good."

A little book describing the causes and cure of piles is published by the Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., and will be sent free for the asking. All sufferers are advised to write for it, as it contains valuable information on the subject of piles.

SATCHEL OF THE SATELLITE

Come on Ross, I'm a-laying for you.

Bugle Band jokes are good jokes.

How did the Banner come to overlook J. Gaston Kerr?

I saw Ald. John Edmondson out looking for a new market building.

Now for a chance to play Herb Clements on Ross, Stratton and Sullivan.

The Banner must have a great taste for red herrings the way he ran after them.

I wonder if the Banner man caught any of those red herrings that were drawn across the trail.

I have just ordered a couple of steam-trip hammers to crack some of those Bugle Band Minstrel jokes to-morrow night.

The nickel novel organette has probably learned by this time that it doesn't pay to insult the intelligent colored voters.

Market Building Edmondson will be more successful with this venture than he was with the election last week. I'm with him in this!

They tell me that Bugle Major Wm. Plummeridge, leader of the Bugle Band, still laughs at some of the jokes although he has heard them at twelve different practices.

There will be one good laugh at the Opera House to-morrow night. I know, because The Planet's representative laughter will be there with his election laugh.

SUDDEN DEATH

A very sudden death occurred this morning when William Everett, one of the best known and respected residents of Chatham Township, passed away from a sudden attack of heart failure. Deceased was 43 years of age and has been ailing for some time with heart disease.

Deceased was single and worked a farm in Chatham Township on the River Road with his brother James. He was a son of the late Squire Everett.

Besides a mother he is survived by seven sisters and one brother. His brother Edward passed away a few years ago. Those living are Hannah and Melissa at home, city; Mrs. Sydney Knapp, Chatham Township; Mrs. A. T. Arnold, Grant street, city; Mrs. Peter McLean, Vancouver, B.C.; Mrs. (Capt.) Wm. McKenzie, Vancouver, B.C.; Mrs. Robert Wallace, San Francisco, and James, with whom he resided.

The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at two o'clock to the Maple Leaf cemetery.
