

Fine Tailoring
Spring Goods
First-Class Work Fit Guaranteed
C. BREWITT
2nd AVE.

Bet!

Up to $5,000
ticket will particulars

OLFO..

Imported
Confectionery

Opp. N. C. Co.

Hardware Co..

RE, SECOND AVE.
Tin Shop, Third Ave. and York St.

Potatoes
0.00

Company

Everybody

Raw Furs

EXTRA

THE DAILY KLONDIKE NUGGET.

EXTRA

Vol. 3—No. 22

DAWSON, Y. T., THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1902.

PRICE 25 CENTS

HENRY C. MACAULAY MAYOR OF DAWSON

The "Kid" Committee Has Met a Waterloo From Which It Will Never Recover—Tammanyism and Wire Pulling Receive a Stern Rebuke at the Hands of the Dawson Electorate—Honest and Efficient Government Is Guaranteed to the Newly Created Municipality.

HENRY C. MACAULAY . . . . . 370

DR. ALFRED THOMPSON . . . . . 354

Macaulay's Majority . . . . . 16

Norquay	450
Macdonald	305
Adair	356
Murphy	341
Vachon	335
Wilson	311

The electorate of Dawson have redeemed the pledges which the Nugget on their behalf have made to the community during the campaign which ended today.

Henry C. Macaulay has been elected to the office of Mayor of Dawson and four of the candidates on the aldermanic ticket have also been placed in office with him. The control of the city of Dawson for the first year of its existence as an incorporated municipality will therefore be placed in the hands of Mr. Macaulay and the board of aldermen who were nominated by the amalgamated Citizens' and People's party.

The figures given above indicate the number of votes given for each candidate. Mr. Macaulay wins the day by a majority of 16 which, small as it is, is sufficient to preserve the city of Dawson for all time from the fear of domination by the Kid Committee.

The people of Dawson have been thoroughly aroused to the danger which has confronted them and today every man who is opposed to the Kid Committee has been in the harness, working for the grand victory which has been achieved.

In this, the hour of triumph the Nugget and the hundreds of voters who so manfully have stood behind the amalgamated ticket can afford to be magnanimous.

The victory has been won by a straightforward, clean, open fight. It is simply the result of a determination on the part of the citizens of this Yukon metropolis, to start our newly created municipality out upon a business basis.

The Nugget congratulates the community upon the glorious victory which has been achieved for good government, and congratulates itself upon the fact that through the entire contest this paper has steadfastly fought for the object which has been so splendidly obtained.

The votes given to the unsuccessful aldermanic candidates are as follows: Binet 227, Brimston 281, Davison 226, Landreville 238, McKinnon 299, Seabrook 263, Shepard 84.

NOBODY SATISFIED

Premier Robert Philip of New Zealand Dissolves Parliament.

ISSUES NEW ELECTION MANIFESTO

Voicing Dissatisfaction With Australian Federation.

AS BITTERLY DISAPPOINTING

Says Many Australians Would Gladly See Existing Federation Dissolved.

Auckland, New Zealand, Feb. 5.—The New Zealand parliament has been dissolved and the premier, Robert Philip, has issued an election manifesto voicing the Queensland's dissatisfaction with the result of the Australian federation. The premier criticizes the commonwealth government and declares that it has been a bitter disappointment to the strongest advocates of the union which many Australians would now be pleased to see dissolved.

Valuable Land

New York, Feb. 5.—The Hogg-Swain Syndicate has transferred 7½ acres of its proven Texas oil field to a British syndicate for 150,000 pounds cash and 600,000 pounds stock in the English company, which is capitalized at 900,000 pounds.

Dole Is Out

Washington, Feb. 5.—Sanford B. Dale, governor of Hawaiian Islands, has been cashiered by President Roosevelt and succeeded by Col. Parker, who was prime minister under Queen Liliuokalani.

Succeeds Howland

Toronto, Feb. 5.—R. Merritt of St. Catharines has succeeded the late H. S. Howland as president of the Imperial Bank. General Manager D. R. Wilkie becomes vice-president.

Mills Accepts

Ottawa, Feb. 5.—Hon. David Mills accepts the judgeship made vacant by Gwynne's death.

EMPIRE HOTEL

JAS. F. MACDONALD, Prop. and Mgr.
Everything New, Elegantly Furnished, Well Heated, Bar Attached.
SECOND STREET, Near Second Ave.

THE DAWSON CLUB

E. W. PAYNE, Prop.
The Most Popular Club in Dawson
Membership Fee $6.00 per Month, Billie and Pool Rooms, in connection. Also Best Bowling Alley in Dawson. All Games 15¢ per Person.
1st Ave., Over Monte Carlo.

ALL EUROPE FLOODED

By Monday's Storm, Greatest in the history of the Country.

ALL TRAFFIC SUSPENDED IN SWITZERLAND

Switzerland Villages Were Cut Off From Communication.

HEAVY SNOW FALL IN VENICE

Roman Forum, Pantheon and Temple of Vesta Flooded, River Tiber on a Bust.

London, Feb. 5.—All Europe suffered through Monday's storm. Vehicular and railway traffic was suspended throughout Spain; several villages in Switzerland were cut off from communication with the outside world. There was more snow in Venice than for 25 years, and the lower portion of Rome was flooded, together with the forum, pantheon and Temple of Vesta. The river Tiber was 25 feet above high water mark.

Woman Killed

Winnipeg, Feb. 5.—The body of an unknown woman was found in the C. P. R. yards here this morning. She was doubtless killed by a passing train. An inquest is being held.

CROOKEDNESS CHARGED

By W. M. Cribbs Against His Partner, Henry E. Rogers.

Something of a sensation was sprung Tuesday by the filing of a suit in the territorial court by W. M. Cribbs against his partner Henry E. Rogers, in which it is alleged the latter has misappropriated several thousand dollars belonging to the firm of Cribbs & Rogers, has used the money for the purpose of purchasing property for his own use, has loaned large sums at high rates of interest and pocketed the profits, has destroyed the books of the firm in order to better hide the defalcations, and the court is now prayed to order a dissolution of the co-partnership and the appointment of a receiver for the purpose of winding up the affairs of the firm.

The trouble has only arisen since the return of Mr. Cribbs, who arrived a few weeks ago after an absence of nearly two years. At the time he went to Nome in 1900 the partner, Mr. Rogers, was left in charge of the Dawson house, it having been the intention of Mr. Cribbs to establish a store in Nome. He did so, remaining there until last fall when he returned to the states and came in over the ice last month. Mr. Rogers remained in Dawson until last summer, when he too went to Nome, leaving the business here in charge of his brother.

Upon Mr. Cribbs' arrival last month he found things in a very unsatisfactory state of affairs which upon investigation did not improve in the least. The daily sales last summer were scarcely half what they should have been and the indications that the books had been doctored were so strong that Mr. Carr, an expert book-keeper was employed to go over them. After two days work Mr. Carr discovered enough evidence of crookedness to warrant Mr. Cribbs placing the matter in the hands of his solicitors with the result as stated. The total defalcation is at present not known and probably never will be, but it will aggregate, it is thought, at least $8,000, a sum no less than $2,300 having already been found to have disappeared in the last six months. Much of the money it is thought has been used for the purpose of buying property which Mr. Cribbs will endeavor to have the court declare him a half owner of. The suit will probably result in Mr. Rogers keeping the Dawson store and Mr. Cribbs that at Nome, providing a satisfactory settlement can be reached. Both gentlemen have agreed upon Dr. Hepworth as receiver, and he is now in charge of the store. The complaint filed sets out the following facts:

The Ladue Assay Office

Is prepared to Assay all kinds of Rock. We have the finest equipped assaying plant in the Yukon Territory and guarantee all work. Our Quartz Mill will soon be in operation and we will make it possible to develop the values of any free milling ledge. Call and talk it over with

The Ladue Co.

PREMIER LAURIER

Has Many Subjects to Discuss With Premier Barton of Australia.

AT LONDON COLONIAL CONFERENCE

Cabinet Meeting Yesterday Chose New Senators.

WANT WIRELESS TELEGRAPH

Many Applications For Private Legislation 'Fitzpatrick After Mills' Former Position.

Ottawa, Feb. 6.—Premier Laurier has written Premier Barton, premier of the Commonwealth of Australia, suggesting a discussion of the following subjects at a colonial conference to be held in London in June:—
Trade relations of Canada and Australia.
Fast mail service and better steamers between Australia and Vancouver.
Establishment of a line of steamers from Australia to Canadian Atlantic ports via South Africa.
Effect of the Pacific cable project on concessions granted to Eastern Extension Telegraph Company by Australian states.
Premier Barton's answer says he would be delighted to discuss these subjects with Sir Wilfrid, but the federal government will not delay the settlement of the cable question until after the colonial conference.

Cruel Apaches

Tucson, Arizona, Feb. 5.—A T. Vail, a pioneer rancher near this place, was burned to death at his home, supposed by Apache Indians. The natives are much dissatisfied on account of the government cutting off their rations and it is supposed they killed Vail and then applied the torch to conceal their crime.

Just Like Him

Constantinople, Feb. 6.—The Sultan has condemned to death Damad Pasha, ostensibly for conspiracy but apparently for the purpose of obtaining his large estates, which will be inherited by his wife and children.

Mrs. Gibson Dead

St. Catharines, Ont., Feb. 5.—Mrs. Gibson, wife of Colonel William Gibson, ex-member of parliament from Lincoln and Niagara, is dead.

Almost Wrecked

London, Feb. 5.—The British flag-ship Crescent narrowly escaped being wrecked in a storm in the West Indies. She was ashore on Antigua Reef 24 hours and was only floated after being jettisoned. She is loaded with coal, guns, ammunition and provisions.

Fake Preachers

Washington, Feb. 5.—Word comes that trouble is imminent in Afghanistan where Ibladda Mullah is preaching for a holy war. Other of Mullah's fakirs are preaching agitation everywhere.

Bold Robbery

Elizabethtown, N.J., Feb. 5.—Early this morning four masked men entered the office of Contractor Geo. Hill and after gagging the night watchman carried off $2500. The watchman was very badly injured.

Needed Here

New York, Feb. 4.—General Booth has inaugurated a special temperance campaign in connection with the Salvation Army in which he relies chiefly upon the co-operation of saloon men in reporting to him the names of confirmed drunkards.

Dropped Dead

Keene, Ont., Feb. 5.—Rev. Dr. Andrews, for 51 years pastor of the Presbyterian Church here, dropped dead this morning while lighting a pipe. He was 82 years old.

Welsh Coming

London, Feb. 5.—Secretary Chamberlain will meet the deputation which is seeking government aid in removing a Welsh settlement from Patagonia to Canada.

Have a Hot Time!

Heaters and Cook Stoves Below Cost.

AMES MERCANTILE CO.

Avery's Grocery

FAIRVIEW HOTEL
JULIAN BAKER, PROP.
AMERICAN AND EUROPEAN PLAN
Is the largest, has the best accommodations, lowest rates, bath, any other first-class hotel in Dawson.
First Ave. and First St. Phone No. 4

REOPENED HOLBORN CAFE
R. L. HALL, PROPRIETOR
Business Lunch 11:30 a. m. to 3:30 p. m.
Dinner 4:30 to 9:00 p. m.
—OPEN ALL NIGHT—
FIRST AVENUE. Next J. P. McLennan's

DINNER SETS

100 Pieces $30.00.
Half Set $15.00.

EVERY PIECE NICELY DECORATED AND GILDED.

McLennan, McFeely & Co., Ltd.

The Ladue Assay Office

Is prepared to Assay all kinds of Rock. We have the finest equipped assaying plant in the Yukon Territory and guarantee all work. Our Quartz Mill will soon be in operation and we will make it possible to develop the values of any free milling ledge. Call and talk it over with

The Ladue Co.

HAVE A HOT TIME!

Heaters and Cook Stoves Below Cost.

AMES MERCANTILE CO.

The Klondike Nugget

TELEPHONE NUMBER 15... ISSUED DAILY AND SEMI-WEEKLY... SUBSCRIPTION RATES... Yearly, in advance... Single copies...

NOTICE... When a newspaper offers its advertising space at a nominal figure, it is a practical admission of "no circulation"...

LETTERS... And Small Packages can be sent to the Creeks by our carriers on the following days: Every Tuesday and Friday to Eldorado, Bonanza, Hunker, Dominion, Gold Run.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1902.

$50 Reward.

We will pay a reward of $50 for information that will lead to the arrest and conviction of any one stealing copies of the Daily or Semi-Weekly Nugget from business houses or private residences, where same have been left by our carriers.

KLONDIKE NUGGET.

CITIZENS' TICKET.

FOR MAYOR Henry C. Macaulay. FOR ALDERMEN Charles Bossuyt, J. F. Macdonald, Geo. Murphy, H. C. Norquay, J. I. Seabrook, Peter Vachon.

HENRY C. MACAULAY.

AMUSEMENTS THIS WEEK.

Auditorium Theatre—"Lady Windermere's Fan." New Savoy—Burlesque and Vaudeville. A. B. Hall—Choral Concert Friday night.

THE KIDS EXPOSED.

The exposure made last night by Henry C. Macaulay at the meeting of the Elective party in the A. B. hall should place the seal of public disapprobation upon the Kid Committee for all time to come.

The ringleaders of the gang have proclaimed their purity and the righteousness of their methods from every platform, on every street corner and in every bar-room in Dawson. They have made dark hints as to promises made to various individuals by Mr. Macaulay and his supporters, but in their wildest flights of imagination they have never conceived anything to approach the enormity of the conduct of their own chosen leader, who was so thoroughly exposed by affidavits last evening.

The people of Dawson may now understand more thoroughly the danger which confronts them if by any peradventure the Kid Committee should triumph. They will immediately inaugurate a system of Tammanyism in the clutches of which the business and property interests of the city might well have occasion to tremble. If the kids should win, then may Heaven help Dawson.

The telegraph line has been doing splendid work of late. When one stops to realize that the telegrams published in the Nugget are identical with those which appear in the afternoon papers of Vancouver, Seattle, Portland and San Francisco, the effectiveness of the service will be at once apparent. Since the through wire was constructed the Nugget has spared no expense in the task of furnishing the excitement incident to the campaign just ended, the fact has been entirely overlooked that the days are growing constantly longer and that already harbingers of spring are in the air.

There will be very few men whose names appear on the voters' lists and who are within reach of the polls to-day who will not cast their ballots. There probably never was an election in which a greater interest has been manifested by the public.

The News has flopped again. Editor Beddoe repudiated the so-called "News" ticket last night and swung over bodily to the Kids. That makes five separate and distinct positions which the News has occupied during the campaign.

As long as we can have elections in the middle of winter no one should complain of the tediousness of the cold weather. Under the spur of politics time flies with great rapidity.

ADVENTURES WITH BEARS

Incidents in the Life of a Famous Hunter.

Perry Sound Veteran Tells of Some Thrilling Experience—A Bit of Tragedy.

Alexander Tremblay, the famous hunter and trapper of the Perry Sound district, some of whose experiences in bear hunting were given in last Saturday's Globe, relates the following:—

Two years ago last spring he was returning to his shanty after buying a quantity of supplies. These he packed and carried them on his shoulders in the Indian fashion, with a supporting strap round his brow, the bundle projecting high above his head. Walking slowly along the main trail, with his head bent, his sense of smell warned him of the presence of a bear.

He looked up quickly, and saw a fair-sized bruin of the black variety some twenty paces in front of him. The bear regarded him with wondering gaze, apparently doubtful as to whether his form, with the big pack looming piously above him, was really that of a man's, or that of some new animal. Tremblay on his part was mentally debating as to the best course to pursue under the circumstances. And so they halted for what seemed to the man to be "a little eternity."

The bear was on its hind feet, standing straight up, waved its paws in an aimless fashion, and finally drew one across its eyes, as though to clear its vision. Then it dropped to all fours and backed slowly to a little stone-heap on the side of the road, sat down and waited. Tremblay concluded that the boldness in this case was the better part of valor, and continued his walk, conscious that he was still trying to form an opinion as to what manner of animal this could be. On passing the knoll Tremblay turned, and gave vent to a series of shouts. Bruin's head was sharply raised, his whole attitude betokened startled conviction and fear. "Scratch my fur, but it's a man after all," he seemed to be saying to himself, as he plunged into the thicket and disappeared. "Hee's (I) get him's not so long," says Tremblay when telling the story, "and him's fur ver' good."

An amateur sportsman during the spring season spent a few weeks with Tremblay and met with an adventure which, while ending happily, and furnishing a hearty laugh, he has no wish to repeat. He borrowed one of the trapper's dugout canoes, and started out on one of the small lakes of the Perry Sound district in search of game, his weapon being an old but hitherto reliable musket and a tomahawk. Fortune was against him, and after unsuccessful explorations of several points at which he landed, he commenced his return journey in the late afternoon. Within a mile of the home shore he saw what he at first thought to be a piece of clothing floating in the water. He paddled towards it, and his heart beat fast with anticipation when he discovered it to be a good-sized black bear. Bringing the canoe alongside Bruin, he reached out, placed the muzzle of the musket against the animal's head and pulled the trigger. But, alas, for visions of glory, bear, steam and a good hide, the weapon missed fire. Again he tried, and again the musket refused to act up to its reputation. Meanwhile the bear, evidently tired of swimming, had apparently arrived at the conclusion that he would go to shore as assistant crew of the dugout. Placing his paws on the dugout he proceeded to climb aboard. A dugout is apt to play queer tricks unless properly handled, and the young sportsman, having no desire to take a bath at that time, and realizing too late the bear's intention, confined himself to preserving the equilibrium of his craft. If necessity demanded it he determined to fight with his tomahawk and take the chance of a ducking. Bruin, however, had no thought of war. He simply desired to get to land with as little exertion as possible, and squatted down at one end of the dugout, while the sportsman, sitting as far away as possible, paddled toward the shore. The man was frightened, and kept a close watch on the animal. The bear sat perfectly quiet, however, and seemed to be filled with the melancholy thoughts which a brilliant sunset followed by the falling shadows of night are apt to produce in even the healthiest of minds. At last the dugout with its strangely varied living freight struck land. The man jumped out quickly.

The bear's movements were more leisurely. On reaching terra firma it nodded its head as though to convey a "Thank you, old chap," and walked slowly away. Tremblay, who had been looking for his young friend, was a spectator of the close of the episode. At the younger man's request he made no attempt to slay the animal, but the former, whose nervous system was yet unstrung by the strange encounter, could not give a connected story of the incident until he had rested and partaken of the evening meal.

The sportsman referred to himself tells the following story of which he was an eye-witness, as illustrating one of the many fine traits in Tremblay's character. One year ago last spring the old trapper set a trap on the main trail, near to his shanty, at a point where he believed bears were in the habit of crossing. On the following morning," says the young man, "we found a she bear in the trap, quite dead. Lying on her back, with a cub near her head, and its own head was badly caved. Both cubs were alive, and seemed to be about two weeks old. They had evidently been injured by the mother in her wild struggles while attempting to escape. They took no notice of us until we began to unlock the trap, when both squeaked pitifully and caressingly patted the dead body. After removing the trap and before skinning the dead animal Tremblay took off his thick hunter's shirt, wrapped it carefully and tenderly around the cubs and carried them to his shanty. He washed their wounds, fed them some bread, all the time remarking, "Pore little fellers, pore little fellers!" Then he made a bed for them near the fireplace. No one would have given kinder care to a sick friend than he did to those cubs, and from his conversation and conduct I am convinced that he was actuated solely by kind-heartedness, and not by any thought of bringing them up for future gain. They died within two days; however, and Tremblay's sorrow was genuinely deep."—Toronto Globe.

Will Compete for Trans-Continental Traffic.

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 21.—The announcement is made officially that the Union Pacific is prepared to spend between $25,000,000 and $30,000,000 during the present year in carrying out its campaign against the Hill system for the trade of the Orient. The money will be spent in improvements and extensions.

This improvement will be along the two vast channels. One is the bettering of the Southern Pacific from Ogden to San Francisco. For this purpose the sum of $20,000,000 has been set aside as a fund for minimum expenditure on this project alone. More money may be used. The other improvements will be the further extension of the Oregon Short Line route from Salt Lake City toward Los Angeles. This will be completed if possible by January 1, 1903, and the construction from Calientes, Nev. to the point now reached, will entail an expenditure of many millions more.

The Union Pacific has long since decided that it must have the leading fast line to the coast gateway in order to retain its hold on the Oriental trade. The official who explained the proposed plan "That traffic is becoming greater every year, and it was some years back that this scheme for complete overhauling of the system was adopted.

The plan has been steadfastly adhered to so that now there is the finest kind of a railroad from Council Bluffs to Ogden. For that much of the way we now make wonderful time just as soon as we get past Ogden we are compelled to slow up and maintain the reduced speed all the rest of the journey.

"These improvements will fix us for the Oriental trade, which is something enormous, especially to and from the Philippines and Japan. They will also cover Central California satisfactorily. The other arm of the work, meanwhile, will be looking toward the improvement of facilities for getting into the Southern California business. The Southern Pacific improvements are far the most important, since they have bearing directly on the gateway business, but this extension of the Oregon Short Line to Los Angeles is also a big proposition.

"That road is striking straight across the country from Salt Lake City. They are working at it every day. A month ago our maps showed it in operation as far as Nevada and under construction as far as Calientes, about forty miles further on. Now we have information that has caused a change to be made in our map series, about to be issued, which will show the road in operation clear to Calientes. It is between 500 and 600 miles more to Los Angeles and it is hardly probable that this can be completed in 1902, although the efforts will be made.

"Another feature of this improvement scheme which has been conducted rather quietly the last year but which will receive more attention than any of it in 1903, is the improvement of the Oregon Short Line to the Northwest from Ogden. That means an active attempt to come in-

ADVENTURES WITH BEARS

Incidents in the Life of a Famous Hunter.

Perry Sound Veteran Tells of Some Thrilling Experience—A Bit of Tragedy.

Alexander Tremblay, the famous hunter and trapper of the Perry Sound district, some of whose experiences in bear hunting were given in last Saturday's Globe, relates the following:—

Two years ago last spring he was returning to his shanty after buying a quantity of supplies. These he packed and carried them on his shoulders in the Indian fashion, with a supporting strap round his brow, the bundle projecting high above his head. Walking slowly along the main trail, with his head bent, his sense of smell warned him of the presence of a bear.

He looked up quickly, and saw a fair-sized bruin of the black variety some twenty paces in front of him. The bear regarded him with wondering gaze, apparently doubtful as to whether his form, with the big pack looming piously above him, was really that of a man's, or that of some new animal. Tremblay on his part was mentally debating as to the best course to pursue under the circumstances. And so they halted for what seemed to the man to be "a little eternity."

The bear was on its hind feet, standing straight up, waved its paws in an aimless fashion, and finally drew one across its eyes, as though to clear its vision. Then it dropped to all fours and backed slowly to a little stone-heap on the side of the road, sat down and waited. Tremblay concluded that the boldness in this case was the better part of valor, and continued his walk, conscious that he was still trying to form an opinion as to what manner of animal this could be. On passing the knoll Tremblay turned, and gave vent to a series of shouts. Bruin's head was sharply raised, his whole attitude betokened startled conviction and fear. "Scratch my fur, but it's a man after all," he seemed to be saying to himself, as he plunged into the thicket and disappeared. "Hee's (I) get him's not so long," says Tremblay when telling the story, "and him's fur ver' good."

An amateur sportsman during the spring season spent a few weeks with Tremblay and met with an adventure which, while ending happily, and furnishing a hearty laugh, he has no wish to repeat. He borrowed one of the trapper's dugout canoes, and started out on one of the small lakes of the Perry Sound district in search of game, his weapon being an old but hitherto reliable musket and a tomahawk. Fortune was against him, and after unsuccessful explorations of several points at which he landed, he commenced his return journey in the late afternoon. Within a mile of the home shore he saw what he at first thought to be a piece of clothing floating in the water. He paddled towards it, and his heart beat fast with anticipation when he discovered it to be a good-sized black bear. Bringing the canoe alongside Bruin, he reached out, placed the muzzle of the musket against the animal's head and pulled the trigger. But, alas, for visions of glory, bear, steam and a good hide, the weapon missed fire. Again he tried, and again the musket refused to act up to its reputation. Meanwhile the bear, evidently tired of swimming, had apparently arrived at the conclusion that he would go to shore as assistant crew of the dugout. Placing his paws on the dugout he proceeded to climb aboard. A dugout is apt to play queer tricks unless properly handled, and the young sportsman, having no desire to take a bath at that time, and realizing too late the bear's intention, confined himself to preserving the equilibrium of his craft. If necessity demanded it he determined to fight with his tomahawk and take the chance of a ducking. Bruin, however, had no thought of war. He simply desired to get to land with as little exertion as possible, and squatted down at one end of the dugout, while the sportsman, sitting as far away as possible, paddled toward the shore. The man was frightened, and kept a close watch on the animal. The bear sat perfectly quiet, however, and seemed to be filled with the melancholy thoughts which a brilliant sunset followed by the falling shadows of night are apt to produce in even the healthiest of minds. At last the dugout with its strangely varied living freight struck land. The man jumped out quickly.

The bear's movements were more leisurely. On reaching terra firma it nodded its head as though to convey a "Thank you, old chap," and walked slowly away. Tremblay, who had been looking for his young friend, was a spectator of the close of the episode. At the younger man's request he made no attempt to slay the animal, but the former, whose nervous system was yet unstrung by the strange encounter, could not give a connected story of the incident until he had rested and partaken of the evening meal.

The sportsman referred to himself tells the following story of which he was an eye-witness, as illustrating one of the many fine traits in Tremblay's character. One year ago last spring the old trapper set a trap on the main trail, near to his shanty, at a point where he believed bears were in the habit of crossing. On the following morning," says the young man, "we found a she bear in the trap, quite dead. Lying on her back, with a cub near her head, and its own head was badly caved. Both cubs were alive, and seemed to be about two weeks old. They had evidently been injured by the mother in her wild struggles while attempting to escape. They took no notice of us until we began to unlock the trap, when both squeaked pitifully and caressingly patted the dead body. After removing the trap and before skinning the dead animal Tremblay took off his thick hunter's shirt, wrapped it carefully and tenderly around the cubs and carried them to his shanty. He washed their wounds, fed them some bread, all the time remarking, "Pore little fellers, pore little fellers!" Then he made a bed for them near the fireplace. No one would have given kinder care to a sick friend than he did to those cubs, and from his conversation and conduct I am convinced that he was actuated solely by kind-heartedness, and not by any thought of bringing them up for future gain. They died within two days; however, and Tremblay's sorrow was genuinely deep."—Toronto Globe.

Will Compete for Trans-Continental Traffic.

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 21.—The announcement is made officially that the Union Pacific is prepared to spend between $25,000,000 and $30,000,000 during the present year in carrying out its campaign against the Hill system for the trade of the Orient. The money will be spent in improvements and extensions.

This improvement will be along the two vast channels. One is the bettering of the Southern Pacific from Ogden to San Francisco. For this purpose the sum of $20,000,000 has been set aside as a fund for minimum expenditure on this project alone. More money may be used. The other improvements will be the further extension of the Oregon Short Line route from Salt Lake City toward Los Angeles. This will be completed if possible by January 1, 1903, and the construction from Calientes, Nev. to the point now reached, will entail an expenditure of many millions more.

The Union Pacific has long since decided that it must have the leading fast line to the coast gateway in order to retain its hold on the Oriental trade. The official who explained the proposed plan "That traffic is becoming greater every year, and it was some years back that this scheme for complete overhauling of the system was adopted.

The plan has been steadfastly adhered to so that now there is the finest kind of a railroad from Council Bluffs to Ogden. For that much of the way we now make wonderful time just as soon as we get past Ogden we are compelled to slow up and maintain the reduced speed all the rest of the journey.

"These improvements will fix us for the Oriental trade, which is something enormous, especially to and from the Philippines and Japan. They will also cover Central California satisfactorily. The other arm of the work, meanwhile, will be looking toward the improvement of facilities for getting into the Southern California business. The Southern Pacific improvements are far the most important, since they have bearing directly on the gateway business, but this extension of the Oregon Short Line to Los Angeles is also a big proposition.

"That road is striking straight across the country from Salt Lake City. They are working at it every day. A month ago our maps showed it in operation as far as Nevada and under construction as far as Calientes, about forty miles further on. Now we have information that has caused a change to be made in our map series, about to be issued, which will show the road in operation clear to Calientes. It is between 500 and 600 miles more to Los Angeles and it is hardly probable that this can be completed in 1902, although the efforts will be made.

"Another feature of this improvement scheme which has been conducted rather quietly the last year but which will receive more attention than any of it in 1903, is the improvement of the Oregon Short Line to the Northwest from Ogden. That means an active attempt to come in-

ADVENTURES WITH BEARS

Incidents in the Life of a Famous Hunter.

Perry Sound Veteran Tells of Some Thrilling Experience—A Bit of Tragedy.

Alexander Tremblay, the famous hunter and trapper of the Perry Sound district, some of whose experiences in bear hunting were given in last Saturday's Globe, relates the following:—

Two years ago last spring he was returning to his shanty after buying a quantity of supplies. These he packed and carried them on his shoulders in the Indian fashion, with a supporting strap round his brow, the bundle projecting high above his head. Walking slowly along the main trail, with his head bent, his sense of smell warned him of the presence of a bear.

He looked up quickly, and saw a fair-sized bruin of the black variety some twenty paces in front of him. The bear regarded him with wondering gaze, apparently doubtful as to whether his form, with the big pack looming piously above him, was really that of a man's, or that of some new animal. Tremblay on his part was mentally debating as to the best course to pursue under the circumstances. And so they halted for what seemed to the man to be "a little eternity."

The bear was on its hind feet, standing straight up, waved its paws in an aimless fashion, and finally drew one across its eyes, as though to clear its vision. Then it dropped to all fours and backed slowly to a little stone-heap on the side of the road, sat down and waited. Tremblay concluded that the boldness in this case was the better part of valor, and continued his walk, conscious that he was still trying to form an opinion as to what manner of animal this could be. On passing the knoll Tremblay turned, and gave vent to a series of shouts. Bruin's head was sharply raised, his whole attitude betokened startled conviction and fear. "Scratch my fur, but it's a man after all," he seemed to be saying to himself, as he plunged into the thicket and disappeared. "Hee's (I) get him's not so long," says Tremblay when telling the story, "and him's fur ver' good."

An amateur sportsman during the spring season spent a few weeks with Tremblay and met with an adventure which, while ending happily, and furnishing a hearty laugh, he has no wish to repeat. He borrowed one of the trapper's dugout canoes, and started out on one of the small lakes of the Perry Sound district in search of game, his weapon being an old but hitherto reliable musket and a tomahawk. Fortune was against him, and after unsuccessful explorations of several points at which he landed, he commenced his return journey in the late afternoon. Within a mile of the home shore he saw what he at first thought to be a piece of clothing floating in the water. He paddled towards it, and his heart beat fast with anticipation when he discovered it to be a good-sized black bear. Bringing the canoe alongside Bruin, he reached out, placed the muzzle of the musket against the animal's head and pulled the trigger. But, alas, for visions of glory, bear, steam and a good hide, the weapon missed fire. Again he tried, and again the musket refused to act up to its reputation. Meanwhile the bear, evidently tired of swimming, had apparently arrived at the conclusion that he would go to shore as assistant crew of the dugout. Placing his paws on the dugout he proceeded to climb aboard. A dugout is apt to play queer tricks unless properly handled, and the young sportsman, having no desire to take a bath at that time, and realizing too late the bear's intention, confined himself to preserving the equilibrium of his craft. If necessity demanded it he determined to fight with his tomahawk and take the chance of a ducking. Bruin, however, had no thought of war. He simply desired to get to land with as little exertion as possible, and squatted down at one end of the dugout, while the sportsman, sitting as far away as possible, paddled toward the shore. The man was frightened, and kept a close watch on the animal. The bear sat perfectly quiet, however, and seemed to be filled with the melancholy thoughts which a brilliant sunset followed by the falling shadows of night are apt to produce in even the healthiest of minds. At last the dugout with its strangely varied living freight struck land. The man jumped out quickly.

The bear's movements were more leisurely. On reaching terra firma it nodded its head as though to convey a "Thank you, old chap," and walked slowly away. Tremblay, who had been looking for his young friend, was a spectator of the close of the episode. At the younger man's request he made no attempt to slay the animal, but the former, whose nervous system was yet unstrung by the strange encounter, could not give a connected story of the incident until he had rested and partaken of the evening meal.

The sportsman referred to himself tells the following story of which he was an eye-witness, as illustrating one of the many fine traits in Tremblay's character. One year ago last spring the old trapper set a trap on the main trail, near to his shanty, at a point where he believed bears were in the habit of crossing. On the following morning," says the young man, "we found a she bear in the trap, quite dead. Lying on her back, with a cub near her head, and its own head was badly caved. Both cubs were alive, and seemed to be about two weeks old. They had evidently been injured by the mother in her wild struggles while attempting to escape. They took no notice of us until we began to unlock the trap, when both squeaked pitifully and caressingly patted the dead body. After removing the trap and before skinning the dead animal Tremblay took off his thick hunter's shirt, wrapped it carefully and tenderly around the cubs and carried them to his shanty. He washed their wounds, fed them some bread, all the time remarking, "Pore little fellers, pore little fellers!" Then he made a bed for them near the fireplace. No one would have given kinder care to a sick friend than he did to those cubs, and from his conversation and conduct I am convinced that he was actuated solely by kind-heartedness, and not by any thought of bringing them up for future gain. They died within two days; however, and Tremblay's sorrow was genuinely deep."—Toronto Globe.

Will Compete for Trans-Continental Traffic.

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 21.—The announcement is made officially that the Union Pacific is prepared to spend between $25,000,000 and $30,000,000 during the present year in carrying out its campaign against the Hill system for the trade of the Orient. The money will be spent in improvements and extensions.

This improvement will be along the two vast channels. One is the bettering of the Southern Pacific from Ogden to San Francisco. For this purpose the sum of $20,000,000 has been set aside as a fund for minimum expenditure on this project alone. More money may be used. The other improvements will be the further extension of the Oregon Short Line route from Salt Lake City toward Los Angeles. This will be completed if possible by January 1, 1903, and the construction from Calientes, Nev. to the point now reached, will entail an expenditure of many millions more.

The Union Pacific has long since decided that it must have the leading fast line to the coast gateway in order to retain its hold on the Oriental trade. The official who explained the proposed plan "That traffic is becoming greater every year, and it was some years back that this scheme for complete overhauling of the system was adopted.

The plan has been steadfastly adhered to so that now there is the finest kind of a railroad from Council Bluffs to Ogden. For that much of the way we now make wonderful time just as soon as we get past Ogden we are compelled to slow up and maintain the reduced speed all the rest of the journey.

"These improvements will fix us for the Oriental trade, which is something enormous, especially to and from the Philippines and Japan. They will also cover Central California satisfactorily. The other arm of the work, meanwhile, will be looking toward the improvement of facilities for getting into the Southern California business. The Southern Pacific improvements are far the most important, since they have bearing directly on the gateway business, but this extension of the Oregon Short Line to Los Angeles is also a big proposition.

"That road is striking straight across the country from Salt Lake City. They are working at it every day. A month ago our maps showed it in operation as far as Nevada and under construction as far as Calientes, about forty miles further on. Now we have information that has caused a change to be made in our map series, about to be issued, which will show the road in operation clear to Calientes. It is between 500 and 600 miles more to Los Angeles and it is hardly probable that this can be completed in 1902, although the efforts will be made.

"Another feature of this improvement scheme which has been conducted rather quietly the last year but which will receive more attention than any of it in 1903, is the improvement of the Oregon Short Line to the Northwest from Ogden. That means an active attempt to come in-

ADVENTURES WITH BEARS

Incidents in the Life of a Famous Hunter.

Perry Sound Veteran Tells of Some Thrilling Experience—A Bit of Tragedy.

Alexander Tremblay, the famous hunter and trapper of the Perry Sound district, some of whose experiences in bear hunting were given in last Saturday's Globe, relates the following:—

Two years ago last spring he was returning to his shanty after buying a quantity of supplies. These he packed and carried them on his shoulders in the Indian fashion, with a supporting strap round his brow, the bundle projecting high above his head. Walking slowly along the main trail, with his head bent, his sense of smell warned him of the presence of a bear.

He looked up quickly, and saw a fair-sized bruin of the black variety some twenty paces in front of him. The bear regarded him with wondering gaze, apparently doubtful as to whether his form, with the big pack looming piously above him, was really that of a man's, or that of some new animal. Tremblay on his part was mentally debating as to the best course to pursue under the circumstances. And so they halted for what seemed to the man to be "a little eternity."

The bear was on its hind feet, standing straight up, waved its paws in an aimless fashion, and finally drew one across its eyes, as though to clear its vision. Then it dropped to all fours and backed slowly to a little stone-heap on the side of the road, sat down and waited. Tremblay concluded that the boldness in this case was the better part of valor, and continued his walk, conscious that he was still trying to form an opinion as to what manner of animal this could be. On passing the knoll Tremblay turned, and gave vent to a series of shouts. Bruin's head was sharply raised, his whole attitude betokened startled conviction and fear. "Scratch my fur, but it's a man after all," he seemed to be saying to himself, as he plunged into the thicket and disappeared. "Hee's (I) get him's not so long," says Tremblay when telling the story, "and him's fur ver' good."

An amateur sportsman during the spring season spent a few weeks with Tremblay and met with an adventure which, while ending happily, and furnishing a hearty laugh, he has no wish to repeat. He borrowed one of the trapper's dugout canoes, and started out on one of the small lakes of the Perry Sound district in search of game, his weapon being an old but hitherto reliable musket and a tomahawk. Fortune was against him, and after unsuccessful explorations of several points at which he landed, he commenced his return journey in the late afternoon. Within a mile of the home shore he saw what he at first thought to be a piece of clothing floating in the water. He paddled towards it, and his heart beat fast with anticipation when he discovered it to be a good-sized black bear. Bringing the canoe alongside Bruin, he reached out, placed the muzzle of the musket against the animal's head and pulled the trigger. But, alas, for visions of glory, bear, steam and a good hide, the weapon missed fire. Again he tried, and again the musket refused to act up to its reputation. Meanwhile the bear, evidently tired of swimming, had apparently arrived at the conclusion that he would go to shore as assistant crew of the dugout. Placing his paws on the dugout he proceeded to climb aboard. A dugout is apt to play queer tricks unless properly handled, and the young sportsman, having no desire to take a bath at that time, and realizing too late the bear's intention, confined himself to preserving the equilibrium of his craft. If necessity demanded it he determined to fight with his tomahawk and take the chance of a ducking. Bruin, however, had no thought of war. He simply desired to get to land with as little exertion as possible, and squatted down at one end of the dugout, while the sportsman, sitting as far away as possible, paddled toward the shore. The man was frightened, and kept a close watch on the animal. The bear sat perfectly quiet, however, and seemed to be filled with the melancholy thoughts which a brilliant sunset followed by the falling shadows of night are apt to produce in even the healthiest of minds. At last the dugout with its strangely varied living freight struck land. The man jumped out quickly.

The bear's movements were more leisurely. On reaching terra firma it nodded its head as though to convey a "Thank you, old chap," and walked slowly away. Tremblay, who had been looking for his young friend, was a spectator of the close of the episode. At the younger man's request he made no attempt to slay the animal, but the former, whose nervous system was yet unstrung by the strange encounter, could not give a connected story of the incident until he had rested and partaken of the evening meal.

The sportsman referred to himself tells the following story of which he was an eye-witness, as illustrating one of the many fine traits in Tremblay's character. One year ago last spring the old trapper set a trap on the main trail, near to his shanty, at a point where he believed bears were in the habit of crossing. On the following morning," says the young man, "we found a she bear in the trap, quite dead. Lying on her back, with a cub near her head, and its own head was badly caved. Both cubs were alive, and seemed to be about two weeks old. They had evidently been injured by the mother in her wild struggles while attempting to escape. They took no notice of us until we began to unlock the trap, when both squeaked pitifully and caressingly patted the dead body. After removing the trap and before skinning the dead animal Tremblay took off his thick hunter's shirt, wrapped it carefully and tenderly around the cubs and carried them to his shanty. He washed their wounds, fed them some bread, all the time remarking, "Pore little fellers, pore little fellers!" Then he made a bed for them near the fireplace. No one would have given kinder care to a sick friend than he did to those cubs, and from his conversation and conduct I am convinced that he was actuated solely by kind-heartedness, and not by any thought of bringing them up for future gain. They died within two days; however, and Tremblay's sorrow was genuinely deep."—Toronto Globe.

Will Compete for Trans-Continental Traffic.

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 21.—The announcement is made officially that the Union Pacific is prepared to spend between $25,000,000 and $30,000,000 during the present year in carrying out its campaign against the Hill system for the trade of the Orient. The money will be spent in improvements and extensions.

This improvement will be along the two vast channels. One is the bettering of the Southern Pacific from Ogden to San Francisco. For this purpose the sum of $20,000,000 has been set aside as a fund for minimum expenditure on this project alone. More money may be used. The other improvements will be the further extension of the Oregon Short Line route from Salt Lake City toward Los Angeles. This will be completed if possible by January 1, 1903, and the construction from Calientes, Nev. to the point now reached, will entail an expenditure of many millions more.

The Union Pacific has long since decided that it must have the leading fast line to the coast gateway in order to retain its hold on the Oriental trade. The official who explained the proposed plan "That traffic is becoming greater every year, and it was some years back that this scheme for complete overhauling of the system was adopted.

The plan has been steadfastly adhered to so that now there is the finest kind of a railroad from Council Bluffs to Ogden. For that much of the way we now make wonderful time just as soon as we get past Ogden we are compelled to slow up and maintain the reduced speed all the rest of the journey.

"These improvements will fix us for the Oriental trade, which is something enormous, especially to and from the Philippines and Japan. They will also cover Central California satisfactorily. The other arm of the work, meanwhile, will be looking toward the improvement of facilities for getting into the Southern California business. The Southern Pacific improvements are far the most important, since they have bearing directly on the gateway business, but this extension of the Oregon Short Line to Los Angeles is also a big proposition.

"That road is striking straight across the country from Salt Lake City. They are working at it every day. A month ago our maps showed it in operation as far as Nevada and under construction as far as Calientes, about forty miles further on. Now we have information that has caused a change to be made in our map series, about to be issued, which will show the road in operation clear to Calientes. It is between 500 and 600 miles more to Los Angeles and it is hardly probable that this can be completed in 1902, although the efforts will be made.

"Another feature of this improvement scheme which has been conducted rather quietly the last year but which will receive more attention than any of it in 1903, is the improvement of the Oregon Short Line to the Northwest from Ogden. That means an active attempt to come in-

ADVENTURES WITH BEARS

Incidents in the Life of a Famous Hunter.

Perry Sound Veteran Tells of Some Thrilling Experience—A Bit of Tragedy.

Alexander Tremblay, the famous hunter and trapper of the Perry Sound district, some of whose experiences in bear hunting were given in last Saturday's Globe, relates the following:—

Two years ago last spring he was returning to his shanty after buying a quantity of supplies. These he packed and carried them on his shoulders in the Indian fashion, with a supporting strap round his brow, the bundle projecting high above his head. Walking slowly along the main trail, with his head bent, his sense of smell warned him of the presence of a bear.

He looked up quickly, and saw a fair-sized bruin of the black variety some twenty paces in front of him. The bear regarded him with wondering gaze, apparently doubtful as to whether his form, with the big pack looming piously above him, was really that of a man's, or that of some new animal.

SUPREME COURT DECISIONS

Judgments of the Hon. Mr. Justice Dugas Sustained.

Two Cases Appealed to the Higher Tribunal at British Columbia are Dismissed With Costs.

Clerk of the Court Charles Macdonald by last night's mail received two judgments from the supreme court of British Columbia on cases which had been appealed from the territorial court of this city.

In the case of James A. Williams and Joseph W. Boyle, trading under the name, style and firm of James Williams Mill, plaintiffs (appellants) vs. Isidore Mc Wm. Bourke and Mary Bourke, defendants (respondents) judgment which was rendered January 16, was as follows:

"This appeal of the above named appellant from the judgment of the Hon. Mr. Justice Dugas, judge of the territorial court of the Yukon Territory, rendered on the 4th day of February, 1901, having come on to be argued before this court on the 14th and 15th days of June, 1901, whereupon and upon hearing Mr. L. P. Duff, K. C., of counsel for the respondents, this court was pleased to direct that the matter of said appeal should stand over for judgment and the same having come on this day for judgment, this court doth order and adjudge that the said appeal should be and the same is hereby dismissed with costs to be paid by the appellants to the respondents forthwith after taxation thereof.

The second case referred to was that of Isabella M. Healey, plaintiff (appellant) vs. A. W. Heimbarger and Archibald J. McClatch, defendants (respondents). Judgment was given January 13, as follows: "Upon motion made unto this court this day by Mr. F. Peters, K. C., of counsel for the above named respondent for an order dismissing the appellants' appeal from the verdict and judgment given the 6th day of Aug., 1901, by the territorial court of the Yukon Territory, and upon hearing read the notice of motion and the affidavit of Arthur Gordon Smith, sworn the 8th day of January, 1902, filed, and upon hearing counsel aforesaid for the respondents and Mr. E. P. Davis, K. C., of counsel for the appellant, this court doth order and adjudge that the said appeal should be and the same is hereby dismissed with costs to be paid by the appellant to the respondent forthwith after taxation thereof.

And this court doth direct that the costs incurred by the respondents in British Columbia be taxed by the registrar of this court and that the balance of such costs be taxed by the clerk of the territorial court of the Yukon Territory at Dawson.

Up to Boers London, Feb. 6.—The correspondence between Britain and the Netherlands has been forwarded to Kitchener, who will communicate their contents to the Boer leaders. If the latter are disposed to accept Kitchener's negotiations for peace, the proposition will be cabled to the war department immediately.

Steamer Ashore Portland, Feb. 6.—A cablegram says the steamer Knight Companion, belonging to the Oregon Railway & Navigation Co., is ashore on the east coast of Japan and is fast going to pieces. The loss will exceed $600,000.

Waiter Drowned Skagway, Feb. 6.—F. T. George, a waiter on the Alki, fell off Moore's wharf and was drowned yesterday. He was a son of Captain George, commander of the Wellington, which arrived here coal laden this morning.

Gas Explosion Chicago, Feb. 6.—At two o'clock this morning a gas explosion occurred in the Throstle House which destroyed $500,000 worth of property and caused an unknown number of deaths. Ten bodies have been recovered.

Large Company New York, Feb. 6.—A thirty million dollar company has been formed by the Whitney-Widener-Elkins-Dolan combination to lease the Metropolitan Railway System of New York.

Very Natural Vladavostok, Feb. 5.—Two female prisoners escaped from a convict camp by killing two female guards and taking their clothing. Both convicts were recaptured.

L. A. Garner Dead Omaha, Feb. 6.—Lafayette C. Garner, general western superintendent of the American Express Company, died here last night.

Report Denied Rome, Feb. 6.—The report that the Count of Turin, cousin of the Italian king, is going to America in quest of a rich wife, is denied.

Swiped Funds Buffalo, Feb. 6.—Ex-treasurer Philip Gerst is under arrest charged with misappropriating $27,000 of city funds.

Too Much Heat Wlarton, Ill., Feb. 6.—The plant of the Wlarton Heating Company was burned last night. Loss $300,000.

France's Demand Paris, Feb. 5.—The French government has notified Venezuela that it will not sign a protocol for renewal of diplomatic relations unless M. Secretan, Jr., is immediately authorized to land at Laguaira to protect his father's interests. In case of Venezuela failing to grant France's demands, France will impose duty on Venezuelan cocoa. It is reported that Venezuelan troops have been defeated by Batalla and Loretoim near Baula, Seamora.

Irish Danger London, Feb. 6.—Russell's compulsory land purchase campaign against the British government has its first fruits in the defeat of the government candidate at East Downs. Lord Salisbury made an alarmist speech before the Carlton Club concerning the situation in Ireland. He said the feelings of hostility now prevalent are more serious than even in the time of Parnell and O'Connell. The Irish government with power to accumulate arms and ammunition would constitute a more serious threat than had the Boers. The Transvaal war, he said, must be coming to a finish.

Coming to Dawson Skagway, Feb. 6.—H. D. Weeks, chief clerk for Manager Newell, has resigned his position and accepted that of manager of the Klondike Mines Railroad with headquarters at Dawson. He leaves Sunday for Seattle to confer with Hawkins. They expect to leave Skagway March 10th, and will immediately proceed to the construction of the railroad.

Row at Church London, Feb. 4.—Anti-ritualists created a disgraceful scene at requiem service at St. Andrew's church. Immediately after the service they stood up and shouted "This service was a blasphemous insult to Queen Victoria's memory." Some one shouted "This is not God's house," and others replied "This is a Joss House."

Row at Church London, Feb. 4.—Anti-ritualists created a disgraceful scene at requiem service at St. Andrew's church. Immediately after the service they stood up and shouted "This service was a blasphemous insult to Queen Victoria's memory." Some one shouted "This is not God's house," and others replied "This is a Joss House."

Row at Church London, Feb. 4.—Anti-ritualists created a disgraceful scene at requiem service at St. Andrew's church. Immediately after the service they stood up and shouted "This service was a blasphemous insult to Queen Victoria's memory." Some one shouted "This is not God's house," and others replied "This is a Joss House."

Row at Church London, Feb. 4.—Anti-ritualists created a disgraceful scene at requiem service at St. Andrew's church. Immediately after the service they stood up and shouted "This service was a blasphemous insult to Queen Victoria's memory." Some one shouted "This is not God's house," and others replied "This is a Joss House."

Row at Church London, Feb. 4.—Anti-ritualists created a disgraceful scene at requiem service at St. Andrew's church. Immediately after the service they stood up and shouted "This service was a blasphemous insult to Queen Victoria's memory." Some one shouted "This is not God's house," and others replied "This is a Joss House."

Row at Church London, Feb. 4.—Anti-ritualists created a disgraceful scene at requiem service at St. Andrew's church. Immediately after the service they stood up and shouted "This service was a blasphemous insult to Queen Victoria's memory." Some one shouted "This is not God's house," and others replied "This is a Joss House."

Row at Church London, Feb. 4.—Anti-ritualists created a disgraceful scene at requiem service at St. Andrew's church. Immediately after the service they stood up and shouted "This service was a blasphemous insult to Queen Victoria's memory." Some one shouted "This is not God's house," and others replied "This is a Joss House."

Row at Church London, Feb. 4.—Anti-ritualists created a disgraceful scene at requiem service at St. Andrew's church. Immediately after the service they stood up and shouted "This service was a blasphemous insult to Queen Victoria's memory." Some one shouted "This is not God's house," and others replied "This is a Joss House."

Row at Church London, Feb. 4.—Anti-ritualists created a disgraceful scene at requiem service at St. Andrew's church. Immediately after the service they stood up and shouted "This service was a blasphemous insult to Queen Victoria's memory." Some one shouted "This is not God's house," and others replied "This is a Joss House."

Row at Church London, Feb. 4.—Anti-ritualists created a disgraceful scene at requiem service at St. Andrew's church. Immediately after the service they stood up and shouted "This service was a blasphemous insult to Queen Victoria's memory." Some one shouted "This is not God's house," and others replied "This is a Joss House."

Row at Church London, Feb. 4.—Anti-ritualists created a disgraceful scene at requiem service at St. Andrew's church. Immediately after the service they stood up and shouted "This service was a blasphemous insult to Queen Victoria's memory." Some one shouted "This is not God's house," and others replied "This is a Joss House."

Row at Church London, Feb. 4.—Anti-ritualists created a disgraceful scene at requiem service at St. Andrew's church. Immediately after the service they stood up and shouted "This service was a blasphemous insult to Queen Victoria's memory." Some one shouted "This is not God's house," and others replied "This is a Joss House."

Row at Church London, Feb. 4.—Anti-ritualists created a disgraceful scene at requiem service at St. Andrew's church. Immediately after the service they stood up and shouted "This service was a blasphemous insult to Queen Victoria's memory." Some one shouted "This is not God's house," and others replied "This is a Joss House."

Row at Church London, Feb. 4.—Anti-ritualists created a disgraceful scene at requiem service at St. Andrew's church. Immediately after the service they stood up and shouted "This service was a blasphemous insult to Queen Victoria's memory." Some one shouted "This is not God's house," and others replied "This is a Joss House."

Row at Church London, Feb. 4.—Anti-ritualists created a disgraceful scene at requiem service at St. Andrew's church. Immediately after the service they stood up and shouted "This service was a blasphemous insult to Queen Victoria's memory." Some one shouted "This is not God's house," and others replied "This is a Joss House."

Row at Church London, Feb. 4.—Anti-ritualists created a disgraceful scene at requiem service at St. Andrew's church. Immediately after the service they stood up and shouted "This service was a blasphemous insult to Queen Victoria's memory." Some one shouted "This is not God's house," and others replied "This is a Joss House."

Row at Church London, Feb. 4.—Anti-ritualists created a disgraceful scene at requiem service at St. Andrew's church. Immediately after the service they stood up and shouted "This service was a blasphemous insult to Queen Victoria's memory." Some one shouted "This is not God's house," and others replied "This is a Joss House."

Row at Church London, Feb. 4.—Anti-ritualists created a disgraceful scene at requiem service at St. Andrew's church. Immediately after the service they stood up and shouted "This service was a blasphemous insult to Queen Victoria's memory." Some one shouted "This is not God's house," and others replied "This is a Joss House."

Row at Church London, Feb. 4.—Anti-ritualists created a disgraceful scene at requiem service at St. Andrew's church. Immediately after the service they stood up and shouted "This service was a blasphemous insult to Queen Victoria's memory." Some one shouted "This is not God's house," and others replied "This is a Joss House."

Row at Church London, Feb. 4.—Anti-ritualists created a disgraceful scene at requiem service at St. Andrew's church. Immediately after the service they stood up and shouted "This service was a blasphemous insult to Queen Victoria's memory." Some one shouted "This is not God's house," and others replied "This is a Joss House."

Row at Church London, Feb. 4.—Anti-ritualists created a disgraceful scene at requiem service at St. Andrew's church. Immediately after the service they stood up and shouted "This service was a blasphemous insult to Queen Victoria's memory." Some one shouted "This is not God's house," and others replied "This is a Joss House."

Row at Church London, Feb. 4.—Anti-ritualists created a disgraceful scene at requiem service at St. Andrew's church. Immediately after the service they stood up and shouted "This service was a blasphemous insult to Queen Victoria's memory." Some one shouted "This is not God's house," and others replied "This is a Joss House."

Row at Church London, Feb. 4.—Anti-ritualists created a disgraceful scene at requiem service at St. Andrew's church. Immediately after the service they stood up and shouted "This service was a blasphemous insult to Queen Victoria's memory." Some one shouted "This is not God's house," and others replied "This is a Joss House."

Row at Church London, Feb. 4.—Anti-ritualists created a disgraceful scene at requiem service at St. Andrew's church. Immediately after the service they stood up and shouted "This service was a blasphemous insult to Queen Victoria's memory." Some one shouted "This is not God's house," and others replied "This is a Joss House."

Row at Church London, Feb. 4.—Anti-ritualists created a disgraceful scene at requiem service at St. Andrew's church. Immediately after the service they stood up and shouted "This service was a blasphemous insult to Queen Victoria's memory." Some one shouted "This is not God's house," and others replied "This is a Joss House."

Row at Church London, Feb. 4.—Anti-ritualists created a disgraceful scene at requiem service at St. Andrew's church. Immediately after the service they stood up and shouted "This service was a blasphemous insult to Queen Victoria's memory." Some one shouted "This is not God's house," and others replied "This is a Joss House."

Row at Church London, Feb. 4.—Anti-ritualists created a disgraceful scene at requiem service at St. Andrew's church. Immediately after the service they stood up and shouted "This service was a blasphemous insult to Queen Victoria's memory." Some one shouted "This is not God's house," and others replied "This is a Joss House."

Row at Church London, Feb. 4.—Anti-ritualists created a disgraceful scene at requiem service at St. Andrew's church. Immediately after the service they stood up and shouted "This service was a blasphemous insult to Queen Victoria's memory." Some one shouted "This is not God's house," and others replied "This is a Joss House."

TODAY'S ELECTION

Looks Very Good for Macaulay.

Today has been an ideal election day and at 4 o'clock the votes expected were nearly all in. When the polls opened at 9 o'clock there was a large crowd of electors on hand and from that hour until 10 o'clock the voting was the heaviest at any time during the day. At 11 o'clock 400 ballots had been cast and the election of Mr. Macaulay even at that hour was conceded by practically everyone. At 2 o'clock the number of votes had increased to 562 and both sides were working like demons to get in all their supporters. The day was remarkably orderly, there being no fights and but very few sharp words exchanged. Much challenging was indulged in by the kids, some of which was so monstrously insulting as to be beyond belief, notably that of Madame Dugas, the wife of the Hon. Mr. Justice Dugas. At the hour of going to press the most ardent supporters of Dr. Thompson had given up hope and the faces of the kid ring leaders resembled a ball of putty plastered against a brick wall. The vote at 4 o'clock was as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Booth No. and Votes. Total 693.

According to the scrutineers for the Citizens' ticket the vote is divided between the mayoralty candidates as follows: Dr. Thompson 290, Henry Macaulay 403.

Macaulay's majority, 113. It will probably be 8 o'clock before all the ballots are counted and the result is definitely known.

At 4.15 Joe Clarke was placed under arrest for using abusive and threatening language. The complainant in the case is F. T. Congdon, who has subpoenaed Dr. Thompson as a witness. Clarke will appear in police court in the morning.

Roosevelt's Hand Washington, Feb. 5.—President Roosevelt has declined to appoint B. D. Crocker of Walla Walla to succeed F. T. Heustiss, resigned, as collector of Puget Sound customs at Port Townsend, Wash. The office will be given to Clarence W. Ide, U. S. marshal, and Chas. Hopkins will succeed Ide as marshal.

Trains Collide Antwerp, Ill., Feb. 5.—An Illinois Central passenger train collided with a freight tonight killing Joseph White, passenger engine fireman, and seriously injuring two other trainmen.

Fire at Dwight Dwight, Ill., Feb. 5.—Fire last night destroyed the laboratory of the Keeley institute, Livingston hotel and several other buildings. The loss is $300,000.

Ban Removed Chicago, Feb. 5.—As the result of the city council removing the ban against tall buildings, structures to cost $21,338,000 are planned for construction at once, while $4,300,000 will be put in improvements of buildings already constructed.

Lost His Life Peekskill, N. Y., Feb. 5.—Wm. Martin, the best known guide in the Adirondacks, lost his life in Sunday's storm. He had gone for help for a sick companion and was overcome by the storm on Lake Madowski.

His Mistake Green Spring, Ky., Feb. 5.—Elijah Thomas, who had given information to the federal officers, against moonshiners, was burned to death on Monday.

He Wants Kruger Washington, Feb. 5.—Representative Cochrane of Missouri has introduced a resolution in the house of congress inviting Kruger to visit the United States and appropriating $25,000 for his entertainment.

Many Favored New York, Feb. 5.—Three thousand people have received invitations to attend the launching of Emperor William's yacht Meteor.

Assassinated

Berlin, Feb. 6.—A report has reached here that M. Kamtebuff, Bulgarian minister of education, was assassinated in his study this morning by a Macedonian who gained admission of the pretext of presenting a petition. The assassin afterwards suicided.

Not Trustees St. Louis, Feb. 5.—In deciding a case against the defunct firm of Brokers, Gaylor & Blessing, U. S. District Court Judge E. B. Adams declared that the relations of broker and customer are those of debtor and creditor, and that the broker is not trustee for the customer.

Severe Storm Montreal, Feb. 5.—City Surveyor Barclay estimates that the late storm cost the city $40,000 irrespective of the damage to private interests.

Was a Draw Los Angeles, Feb. 5.—Al Neill and Mike Dohovan fought twenty fierce rounds to a draw here last night.

Will Present New Mayor Los Angeles, Feb. 5.—Al Neill and Mike Dohovan fought twenty fierce rounds to a draw here last night.

Manager Bittner Will Introduce Him on Stage Tonight. Manager William Bittner has arranged for introducing the newly elected mayor of Dawson to the patrons of the Auditorium from the stage tonight.

In addition to the above mentioned attraction the play this week "Lady Windemere's Fan" is the best ever presented in Dawson. Do not fail to see it.

ONLY COMMON AMERICAN GIRL Will be Miss Roosevelt's Standing at the Coronation.

New York, Feb. 5.—Whitelaw Reid has invited Miss Alice Roosevelt, the eldest daughter of the president, to accompany him to London as his guest when he goes to attend the coronation of King Edward. Miss Roosevelt will avail herself of the opportunity to see London, but as the coronation she will have no status other than that of a young American girl and will not figure in any of the ceremonies in any manner.

Ultimatum London, Feb. 5.—The British government has replied to Dr. Kuyper, the Dutch premier, that if the Boers in the field desire to negotiate for peace such negotiations can be entered into directly with the British commander in South Africa. The government adheres to its intention to not accept any intervention from any foreign power.

Has Recovered. Mrs. Jack McDonald, who has been ill at St. Mary's hospital the past week, has returned to her home on Third avenue north.

Why Not Ottawa, Feb. 5.—The Ontario College of Pharmacy will hereafter recognize diplomas from the British Columbia board.

Horse Sale New York, Feb. 5.—The Fasig-Tipton horse sale closed yesterday. The total receipts were $320,265, an average of $377 per horse.

Job printing at Nugget office.

HOTEL ARRIVALS. Hotel Flannery—W. J. Devlin, Gold Bottom; M. Spirah, Clear Creek; D. J. McIntyre, Dominion; Andrew Halseth, 3 Eldorado; C. Olsen, 11 Eldorado; Geo. N. Clarke, Dawson; L. C. Conner, American Gulch; Wm. Varnsen, Hunker Creek; S. P. Anderson, Hunker Creek; Ed. Kennedy, Montana Creek.

Incompetent London, Feb. 5.—Inquiry into the army remount scandal shows that the British purchasing officers were grossly incompetent.

Indefinite London, Feb. 5.—Lord Salisbury insists that he will retire from politics as soon as the war is ended.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES. The illness of the Marquis of Dufferin and Ava, ex-viceroy of India and ex-governor-general of Canada, has reached a critical stage. Five hundred miners at the West End Company's colliery at Mocoanqua, Pa., went on strike because non-union workmen were employed. Mr. and Mrs. M. H. DeYoung, of San Francisco, were entertained at lunch by Charlemagne Tower, the United States ambassador at St. Petersburg.

Benjamin Ide Wheeler, president of the University of California, is being considered as a candidate for the presidency of the University of Wisconsin, to succeed Dr. Adams. The International Olympic Games Association, through its president, has appointed a committee of Chicago men to arrange spectacular evening performances on an enormous scale during the Olympic games of 1904.

Kelly Wiley (colored), who was arrested on a charge of robbing Albert Lowenthal of $10,000 worth of diamonds at the Hotel Portland, two months ago, has been sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary. William Allen White, the Kansas author and newspaper man, is sick and has given up work for the present. He, with his family, is going to Colorado Springs for a rest. A week ago he had an attack of grip, which has left him in a state of nervous exhaustion.

The condition of Prof. Rudolph Virchow, the eminent pathologist, who injured his thigh by a fall when alighting from a street car the early part of this month, causes apprehension among his physicians. The professor is growing weaker as a result of the accident. Mme. Marcella Sembrich, returning to her hotel from a drive, tried to call her maid, but found that she could hardly speak. Examination by a physician showed that a small artery had been ruptured. Though the mishap is not dangerous, the physician has advised postponement of professional engagements.

A fire of incendiary origin broke out at Goldfields, Colo., and for a time threatened the destruction of the town. For forty minutes there was no water in the mains and the firemen fought the flames by tearing down buildings. The damage is estimated at $30,000, the Clayton Hardware Company being the heaviest loser.

Ernest Gutschow, manager of the American Tobacco Company's works at San Francisco, Judge Bernard Phillips and Rufus Patterson are in St. Petersburg investigating the tobacco industry for the American Tobacco Company. They have been conferring with the great Lafere Company, from which arose the report that the latter had been purchased, but that is denied by the Americans.

The ceremony of the confirmation of the Right Rev. Charles Gore as bishop of Worcester, at the church house, Westminster, was attended by an extraordinary scene of tumult. Numerous objectors to the confirmation, among whom was John Kansit, the notorious anti-ritualist crusader, protested so vehemently that what was intended to be a semi-religious ceremony assumed the character of a disorderly political gathering.

Shoff's Cough Balsam cures at once. Pioneer Drug Store. Who is your tailor? Why, R. J. Goldberg. He cleans, presses and repairs my clothes at Hershberg's. All kinds of game at Bonanza Market, next Post Office. Kelly & Co., Leading Druggists. FOR RENT.—Four-roomed house, completely furnished. Three blocks from postoffice; cheap. Inquire Nugget office.

...J. J. O'NEIL... MINING EXPERT. Quartz mines examined and reported on. Correspondence solicited. Address: - General Delivery, Dawson.

Chipped diamonds, yellow diamonds or flawed diamonds can not be bought at J. L. Sale & Co.'s. They carry only the best. Finest cuts, beef, mutton and pork, at Bonanza Market, next Post Office.

Fine Tailoring. First-Class Work. Fit Guaranteed. GEO BREWITT. 2nd AVE. OFFICE.

A Good Bet! I WILL BET $10,000 TO $5,000 That my mugwump ticket will win. For further particulars see ..GANDOLFO.. The leading dealer in Imported Cigars, Tobacco and Confectionery. KING STREET. Opp. N. C. Co.

Giant Powder, Fuse And Caps. Dawson Hardware Co. STORE, SECOND AVE. Phone 36. Tin Shop, Third Ave. and York St.

Genuine Lubeck Sliced Potatoes. 28 Pounds to the Can, $10.00. Cheaper Than Fresh Potatoes to Ship to the Creeks. No Freezing, No Waste. Always Ready.

N.A.T. & T. Company. Northern Commercial Co. Everything for Everybody. Highest Price Paid for Raw Furs.

INVEST BEFORE IT IS TOO LATE. Lone Star Stock Is the Best Investment Ever Offered to the Public.

We claim we have the mother lode. Can you deny these facts. The mines are situated at the head of the two richest creeks on earth—Eldorado and Bonanza. Gold is found on every claim on Bonanza creek, and up Victoria Gulch to the quartz mines. If it did not come from this ledge, where did it come from? The gold found in the creek is the same as that found in the ledge. The gold is found in slide matter on Seven pup. Where did it come from? The best pay found in Gay Gulch is at the head of the gulch, below the quartz mines. There are eight gulches heading at the Lone Star mines. They all carry gold. Where did it come from? Lone Star stock is the best investment ever offered to the public. Buy now. The books will soon be closed and you will be too late. Don't let the man who knows it all tell you that there is no quartz in this country. The fools who make that statement have no bank account, which is the proof of their wisdom. Every placer camp in the world turned into a quartz camp. Cripple Creek was a placer camp. The men who knew it all were there. They made the same statement. A carpenter found the quartz after the wise men had left. Have you ever visited the Lone Star mines? If not, you have no right to even think. Go up and satisfy yourself. Yours for business and a quartz camp. LEW CRADEN.

LONE STAR MINING AND MILLING CO. LEW CRADEN Acting Manager.

Chipped diamonds, yellow diamonds or flawed diamonds can not be bought at J. L. Sale & Co.'s. They carry only the best. Finest cuts, beef, mutton and pork, at Bonanza Market, next Post Office.

Fine Tailoring. First-Class Work. Fit Guaranteed. GEO BREWITT. 2nd AVE. OFFICE.

A Good Bet! I WILL BET $10,000 TO $5,000 That my mugwump ticket will win. For further particulars see ..GANDOLFO.. The leading dealer in Imported Cigars, Tobacco and Confectionery. KING STREET. Opp. N. C. Co.

Giant Powder, Fuse And Caps. Dawson Hardware Co. STORE, SECOND AVE. Phone 36. Tin Shop, Third Ave. and York St.

Genuine Lubeck Sliced Potatoes. 28 Pounds to the Can, $10.00. Cheaper Than Fresh Potatoes to Ship to the Creeks. No Freezing, No Waste. Always Ready.

N.A.T. & T. Company. Northern Commercial Co. Everything for Everybody. Highest Price Paid for Raw Furs.

INVEST BEFORE IT IS TOO LATE. Lone Star Stock Is the Best Investment Ever Offered to the Public.

We claim we have the mother lode. Can you deny these facts. The mines are situated at the head of the two richest creeks on earth—Eldorado and Bonanza. Gold is found on every claim on Bonanza creek, and up Victoria Gulch to the quartz mines. If it did not come from this ledge, where did it come from? The gold found in the creek is the same as that found in the ledge. The gold is found in slide matter on Seven pup. Where did it come from? The best pay found in Gay Gulch is at the head of the gulch, below the quartz mines. There are eight gulches heading at the Lone Star mines. They all carry gold. Where did it come from? Lone Star stock is the best investment ever offered to the public. Buy now. The books will soon be closed and you will be too late. Don't let the man who knows it all tell you that there is no quartz in this country. The fools who make that statement have no bank account, which is the proof of their wisdom. Every placer camp in the world turned into a quartz camp. Cripple Creek was a placer camp. The men who knew it all were there. They made the same statement. A carpenter found the quartz after the wise men had left. Have you ever visited the Lone Star mines? If not, you have no right to even think. Go up and satisfy yourself. Yours for business and a quartz camp. LEW CRADEN.

LONE STAR MINING AND MILLING CO. LEW CRADEN Acting Manager.

We claim we have the mother lode. Can you deny these facts. The mines are situated at the head of the two richest creeks on earth—Eldorado and Bonanza. Gold is found on every claim on Bonanza creek, and up Victoria Gulch to the quartz mines. If it did not come from this ledge, where did it come from? The gold found in the creek is the same as that found in the ledge. The gold is found in slide matter on Seven pup. Where did it come from? The best pay found in Gay Gulch is at the head of the gulch, below the quartz mines. There are eight gulches heading at the Lone Star mines. They all carry gold. Where did it come from? Lone Star stock is the best investment ever offered to the public. Buy now. The books will soon be closed and you will be too late. Don't let the man who knows it all tell you that there is no quartz in this country. The fools who make that statement have no bank account, which is the proof of their wisdom. Every placer camp in the world turned into a quartz camp. Cripple Creek was a placer camp. The men who knew it all were there. They made the same statement. A carpenter found the quartz after the wise men had left. Have you ever visited the Lone Star mines? If not, you have no right to even think. Go up and satisfy yourself. Yours for business and a quartz camp. LEW CRADEN.

LONE STAR MINING AND MILLING CO. LEW CRADEN Acting Manager.

We claim we have the mother lode. Can you deny these facts. The mines are situated at the head of the two richest creeks on earth—Eldorado and Bonanza. Gold is found on every claim on Bonanza creek, and up Victoria Gulch to the quartz mines. If it did not come from this ledge, where did it come from? The gold found in the creek is the same as that found in the ledge. The gold is found in slide matter on Seven pup. Where did it come from? The best pay found in Gay Gulch is at the head of the gulch, below the quartz mines. There are eight gulches heading at the Lone Star mines. They all carry gold. Where did it come from? Lone Star stock is the best investment ever offered to the public. Buy now. The books will soon be closed and you will be too late. Don't let the man who knows it all tell you that there is no quartz in this country. The fools who make that statement have no bank account, which is the proof of their wisdom. Every placer camp in the world turned into a quartz camp. Cripple Creek was a placer camp. The men who knew it all were there. They made the same statement. A carpenter found the quartz after the wise men had left. Have you ever visited the Lone Star mines? If not, you have no right to even think. Go up and satisfy yourself. Yours for business and a quartz camp. LEW CRADEN.

LONE STAR MINING AND MILLING CO. LEW CRADEN Acting Manager.

We claim we have the mother lode. Can you deny these facts. The mines are situated at the head of the two richest creeks on earth—Eldorado and Bonanza. Gold is found on every claim on Bonanza creek, and up Victoria Gulch to the quartz mines. If it did not come from this ledge, where did it come from? The gold found in the creek is the same as that found in the ledge. The gold is found in slide matter on Seven pup. Where did it come from? The best pay found in Gay Gulch is at the head of the gulch, below the quartz mines. There are eight gulches heading at the Lone Star mines. They all carry gold. Where did it come from? Lone Star stock is the best investment ever offered to the public. Buy now. The books will soon be closed and you will be too late. Don't let the man who knows it all tell you that there is no quartz in this country. The fools who make that statement have no bank account, which is the proof of their wisdom. Every placer camp in the world turned into a quartz camp. Cripple Creek was a placer camp. The men who knew it all were there. They made the same statement. A carpenter found the quartz after the wise men had left. Have you ever visited the Lone Star mines? If not, you have no right to even think. Go up and satisfy yourself. Yours for business and a quartz camp. LEW CRADEN.

LONE STAR MINING AND MILLING CO. LEW CRADEN Acting Manager.

We claim we have the mother lode. Can you deny these facts. The mines are situated at the head of the two richest creeks on earth—Eldorado and Bonanza. Gold is found on every claim on Bonanza creek, and up Victoria Gulch to the quartz mines. If it did not come from this ledge, where did it come from? The gold found in the creek is the same as that found in the ledge. The gold is found in slide matter on Seven pup. Where did it come from? The best pay found in Gay Gulch is at the head of the gulch, below the quartz mines. There are eight gulches heading at the Lone Star mines. They all carry gold. Where did it come from? Lone Star stock is the best investment ever offered to the public. Buy now. The books will soon be closed and you will be too late. Don't let the man who knows it all tell you that there is no quartz in this country. The fools who make that statement have no bank account, which is the proof of their wisdom. Every placer camp in the world turned into a quartz camp. Cripple Creek was a placer camp. The men who knew it all were there. They made the same statement. A carpenter found the quartz after the wise men had left. Have you ever visited the Lone Star mines? If not, you have no right to even think. Go up and satisfy yourself. Yours for business and a quartz camp. LEW CRADEN.

LONE STAR MINING AND MILLING CO. LEW CRADEN Acting Manager.

We claim we have the mother lode. Can you deny these facts. The mines are situated at the head of the two richest creeks on earth—Eldorado and Bonanza. Gold is found on every claim on Bonanza creek, and up Victoria Gulch to the quartz mines. If it did not come from this ledge, where did it come from? The gold found in the creek is