Why Don't You?
Some things there are you cannot do for which you weren't intended; but there are paths you might pursue, up which you never ventured.
Why try to do what can't be done, while that which can be done waits? The little things that you do not do, might prove so compensating.
A mile for some who find it hard to face the world of sorrow, Ah! why not help him on his way, and make his end more cheery?
A helping hand for some whose days are near the end and dreary, Ah! why not help him on his way, and make his end more cheery?
If you can't do more, don't do less. You'll be the galder, won't you? So easy to do for you to do.
The little things that you do not do, might prove so compensating.

Should Nova Scotia Farmers Grow More Wheat in 1916?
The amount of land plowed in Canada and especially in Western Canada has not increased considerably less than in the previous fall, as is evidenced by the following quotation from the November issue of the "Census and Statistics Monthly" published at Ottawa:—
"For all Canada about 54 per cent of the area intended for next year's crop is reported as plowed by Oct. 31st, as compared with 61 per cent last year and 54 per cent in 1913. In the Northwest the percentages are as follows: Manitoba 35 against 92; Saskatchewan 27 against 77; Alberta 34 against 55.
In Ontario, 25 per cent less land is reported to have been seeded to fall wheat, the principal wheat crop of that province, than in the previous year. Moreover, agriculturists fear, that owing to an unusually open winter, the crop will not do as well as usual.
So far as fall preparations are concerned, everything points to a reduced wheat crop from Ontario west. This shortage may or may not be made up in the spring. Everything will depend upon the character of the weather then and also upon the nature of the growing season. In general, spring plowed land cannot be depended upon for a crop in the West to the same extent as fall plowed land. Should either spring or summer conditions fall there is sure to be a shortage in the wheat crop from Ontario west.
On the other hand, it is estimated that the visible supply of wheat in United States and Canada is 41,000,000 bushels more than a year ago and an English authority estimates the world's supply is large enough to last until February, 1917.
As far from agricultural consideration, one must remember that prices for wheat will be largely affected by the status of the war next fall, a matter in regard to which no one can at the present time make any certain prediction.
Summing up the whole situation, it seems wise to counsel farmers in Nova Scotia to prepare for the worst that can happen by growing just a little more wheat than formerly. Should next season be a favorable one, or should the war be successful—terminated, it is altogether likely that prices for wheat and flour will not go up. But the things may turn out otherwise and so serious loss can be sustained by those who grow a little more wheat, it would seem to be a wise provision to prepare for the worst that may happen.
It seems needless to advise farmers that wheat requires better soil conditions than oats, or in fact any other cereal crop, and that accordingly it would be the height of folly to grow wheat on all kinds of land. An acre or two of wheat grown on well prepared land may, however, be highly valued next fall. The methods of cultivation, and varieties are discussed in the annual report of the secretary for agriculture which will be available for free distribution shortly.
M. COMINS,
Secretary for agriculture.

A Weak Heart.
When the heart is weak or irregular in action, when the blood is thin and watery, remember the blood-forming quality of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and by its use flood the system with rich, red, vitalizing blood. This is Nature's way of curing weakness and disease. It is the only way to ensure lasting benefit.

Pointed Paragraphs.
After a rough life has been polished it is called hypocrisy.
The man who is honest merely from policy is practically dishonest.
Through a man's tongue we get a glimpse of his brain—or his lack thereof.
Moles and poor physicians are easily traced by the holes they leave in the ground.
Perhaps the boy who plays marbles for keeps may be giving away libraries in after years.
Every time the sun shines the pessimist consoles himself with the belief that it is raining somewhere.
It is said the cat has nine lives—cat that is nothing to the number of lives of great men—sold by subscription only.

The Big House.
The time she went to meet him. "It would take me three years to tell it, Tom!" she laughed. "The principal thing is—I am glad to be home and glad to see you!"
He looked at her an instant—deep into her eyes. Then he held out his arms. And together they looked across the valley at the house.
"It was responsible for the trouble, dear," said Janie. "I coveted it—it made me unhappy."
"Never mind, dear, I bought it! It is yours now!"
A Tale of the Savia Blizzard.
A medical officer who was present at the evacuation of Gallipoli, writing home says:
"I believe I have told you of the great blizzard and frost at Savia, and how on the fourth and fifth days dozens of men came in frozen solid to the knees, many with gangrene far advanced. A lot of these were more or less recovered, but they refused to leave the trenches till reinforcements poured in. Even the sick in hospital rose up and took their rifles and went up to hold the line. It was truly magnificent."
"One little picture I will draw illustrative of our life for five days. One morning a N-wind blizzard in a trench near as called my attention to two figures in a ditch out by the Salt Lake. I took out a stretcher party, and there we found two lads of the City of London Regiment sitting in the ditch, frozen and dead. One had his arms round the other, who held fragments of biscuits in the corner of his mouth.
"Fancy the struggle for life across one and a half miles of frozen marsh in the teeth of the blizzard, and then, within sight of the lights of our camp, the weaker had given away and his chum had sat down with him and put his arms round him and tried to get him to eat a piece of ration biscuit, and so death had found them both. The agony of the battle of Sari Behr was matched by the despair of the blizzard at Savia. But these men were the heroes of the child's dream."

Spring Blood Is Watery Blood.
HOW TO GET NEW HEALTH AND NEW SYMPHONY AT THIS SEASON.
Spring ailments are not imaginary. Even the most robust find their winter months most trying to their health. Confinement indoors, often in overheated and nearly always badly ventilated rooms—in the home the office, the shop and the school—takes the vitality of even the strongest. The blood becomes thin and watery and is clogged with impurities. Some people have headaches and a feeling of languor. Others are low-spirited and nervous. Still others are troubled with disgusting pimples and skin eruptions; while some get up in the morning feeling just as tired as when they went to bed. These are all spring symptoms that the blood is out of order and that a medicine is needed. Many people take purgative medicines in the spring. This is a serious mistake. You cannot cure yourself with a medicine that gallops through your system and leaves you weaker still. This is all that a purgative does. What you need to give your health and strength in the spring is a tonic medicine that will enrich the blood and soothe the jangled nerves. And this you always reliable tonic and blood-purifier is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These Pills not only banish spring weakness but guard you against the more serious ailments that follow, such as anemia, nervous debility, indigestion, rheumatism and other diseases due to bad blood. In proof of this Mrs. D. E. Hughes, Hazenboro, Sask., says: "About a year ago I was badly run down, my nerves were all unstrung, and I could not go up stairs without stopping to rest. As I was a long way from a doctor I determined to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and in the course of a few weeks I felt like a new person. As an all-round restorative I can heartily recommend this medicine."
If you are alling this spring you cannot afford, in your own interest, to overlook so valuable a medicine as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Sold by all dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Too Tired.
We are so tired, we say, when the daily round of cares press heavily, when so many petty tasks and duties claim us—little things that must be done and yet weary us by their very smallness.
Love brings its burden of anxious thought and restless demand. We tire of work that is never done, and we long for leisure and rest.
And yet if our tasks were suddenly put into other hands, if the call we have always answered passed us to seek other hands, if love's sweet insistence sought its fulfillment elsewhere and we were left unneeded and undisturbed, how our hearts would ache with emptiness!
Earth holds no greater gift from God than a useful place among His toilers.
Life's sweetness is a share in the world's work; it keeps us sane and safe and more blessed than we know.

The Joy of Good Health Is Now Experienced
Nervousness, Dizzy Spells and Sleeplessness Are Now a Thing of the Past.
This is a cheerful letter from Mrs. Peacock, and it should bring joy to the heart of many a reader of this paper. Dizzy spells and sleeplessness are symptoms of an exhausted nervous system. I began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and can say that this medicine did me a world of good. It entirely freed me of the symptoms stated above, built up my health generally, so that to-day I feel that I am quite well again."
In a more recent letter Mrs. Peacock writes:—"Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has done me a world of good, and I would be pleased to tell everybody so."
In nearly every issue of this paper you will find letters about Dr. Chase's medicine. If this one does not describe your case watch for others or write to us. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50¢ a box, $2.50 a box of six, all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

On Saying Too Much.
Brevity is the soul of a good many valuable qualities besides wit. It is certainly the soul of discretion, and a good argument might be made out for it as the soul even of truth and honor. When a man wraps his meaning in many words, he is likely to be insecure or uncertain of just what he does think. Brevity of speech is not characteristic of clean-cut thought, as a rule, of simple and honest intention. Even when your intention is honest, the use of too many words is almost sure to betray you into a false position, and the use of more words to qualify, explain or justify will never quite set you back where you belong.
Excessiveness in speech is not the same as elaborateness of speech, but it has its own pitfalls. It injures you rather than the person or the principle that you attack; it makes you hearer ill-disposed toward the person or principle that you exalt or defend. Your judgment may be exceptionally sound, yet if you are given to an indiscriminating use of adjectives you will not win the reputation of being a person of sound judgment.
More fatal to reputation than either elaborateness of speech, which gives people a blurred impression of your character, or excessiveness of speech, which causes people to look on you as one for whom allowances are to be made and in whom great confidence is not to be reposed, is the habit of falling more than in other proper of kind. That leads to cattiness in women and coarseness in men.

Value of Farm Production in the Maritime Provinces in 1915.
According to statistics furnished to the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, by Prof. Commings, Sec'y for Agriculture, Nova Scotia, the total returns from the province for the year 1915 was $32,347,658.
The outstanding increase of the year has been from the dairy cow. This is indicated by the returns from the creameries, the output of which has been 34 percent in advance of last year, and over 200 percent in advance of 1914. The other noticeable feature was the record crop of hay—the king crop of Nova Scotia—the yield being 30 percent ahead of 1914.
In New Brunswick in 1915 the total value of produce to the farmer as furnished the Department for field crops and dairy products was $12,961,549, and in P. E. Island $1,130,000. New Brunswick did not furnish statistics as to the amount of live stock and poultry products.

8 Boxes Cured Psoriasis.
Mrs. Nettie Massey, Conson, Ont., writes: "Three doctors described my trouble as psoriasis, and one said I could never be cured. The disease spread all over my face and head and the itching and burning was hard to bear. I used eight boxes Dr. Chase's ointment and an entirely cured—not a sign of a sore to be seen. I can hardly praise this ointment enough."

Editorial Brevities.

A sugar refinery costing two and a half million dollars is to be erected at Charlottetown, Boston, by the United Fruit Company, replacing an antiquated refinery now in use. The output will be a million barrels annually, and it is expected to secure a market outside as well as in New England.

In Berlin the public school children were given a grand holiday because Germany had raised another war loan by issuing a gold bond for international exchange. It is surprising that the enterprising German did not give the children two days holiday and double the loan. It is just as easy to issue billions in fiat money as millions. It is only a question of using a printing press!

"Conservation," the organ of the Commission of Conservation for Canada, calls for a general clean up in its last issue. We quote:

"It is not too early for the health departments of our municipalities to prepare for their spring clean-up day. The snow will soon be gone, exposing to view the accumulated refuse of the winter months. In Canada we are favored with a covering mantle of snow during several months, and as a consequence are inclined to be somewhat careless of sanitary conditions. With the coming of warmer weather, this neglect becomes a source of great danger, and unless prompt action is taken, may give rise to serious epidemics.

Municipal Councils and Boards of Health should initiate without delay plans for a general spring clean up. Generous appropriations should be made for the purpose and a thorough organization developed for the removal of refuse.

The local pride of the people should be appealed to on behalf of a clean home—an appeal rarely made in vain. In many of our towns and cities there are organizations interested in public questions, only requiring initiative to secure effective action. The beautifying of their home towns should be made an incentive for energetic effort, thus increasing their interest and enthusiasm for the place called home."

Keep Children Well.

To keep little ones well the bowels must be kept regular and the stomach sweet. Nine tenths of childhood ailments are caused by derangements of these organs. Baby's Own Tablets never fail to regulate the stomach and bowels—that is why thousands of mothers would give no other medicine to their little ones. Concerning them Mrs. Chas. A. Turner, Marie Joseph, N. S., writes:—"We have been using Baby's Own Tablets off and on for several years and a husband and have found nothing to equal them." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Daylight Saving Scheme in Winnipeg.

On the fourth Sunday in April the daylight saving scheme will go into effect in Winnipeg, as the by-law was passed through all its readings at the last meeting of the City Council. In conformance with this official decision the city hall clock will be put forward one hour, and, as most of the big city business concerns, with the exception of the railroads and possibly the Grain exchange, are behind the move, all Winnipeg will go to work one hour earlier and lay off one hour earlier from the end of April to the last Sunday in September.

Ploughing Starts in Alberta.

According to a telegram received in Montreal from Vice President Bury of the Canadian Pacific, who is out West, ploughing started on the south end of MacLeod subdivision and on the Crow's Nest subdivision last week end and should be general this week. Some ploughing has already been done at Taber, Alberta, and it is expected that ploughing will be general on Lethbridge subdivision about the twenty-fourth. There should be a great deal of ploughing done throughout southern Alberta next week.

"The German War Woman," an intensely interesting article by Eva Madden, is the first item in the April number of THE ACADIAN MAGAZINE. It is followed by a fine north country story by Judith Kingdom, at historical article suggested by the Parliament Buildings at Ottawa, by H. O. Hammond; "Prehistoric Remains in Canada," by Day Allen Wiley; "Richard Hakluyt: The Spirit of Our Race," by W. P. H. Kennedy; "A Woman's Heart," a short play, by Arthur L. Phelps; "Historic Cap Rouge," by Q. Fairchild; a sketch of Mrs. Lady Fitzgibbon, by Ethel Cody Stoddard, besides several good short stories. The illustrations are even better than usual.

OLDER BUT STRONGER

To be healthy at seventy, prepare at forty, is sound advice, because in the strength of middle life we too often forget that neglected colds, or careless treatment of slight aches and pains, simply undermine strength and bring chronic weakness for later years. To be stronger when older, keep your blood pure and rich and active with the strength-building and blood-nourishing properties of Scott's Emulsion which is a food, a tonic and a stimulant to keep your blood rich, alleviate rheumatism and avoid sickness. At any drug store.

Another Letter from Pte. Paul Davidson.

East Sndling, Kent, Eng. Thurs., March, 17th, 1916

DEAR FOLKS—This has been another nice day only a light summer rain is falling now. This morning it was exceptionally fine and I had a signal station on top of a mound which runs past one side of the camp (a railway tunnel is underneath). On either side were nice green fields filled with such animals as sheep and guinea fowls. Was nice and comfortable in one's shirt sleeves and no cap, and I am afraid I put in rather a profligate morning lying on my back watching the clouds go over and listening to the birds and guinea fowls. This afternoon was on the same station only had something new to keep my mind from my work. There was evidently something of extraordinary interest on out on the Channel off Hythe. The first thing that caught my attention was a couple of destroyers, which generally lay off there, moving in under the shore. It wasn't long before the two dirigibles, which are generally patrolling off the coast here, coming up a fast speed and circling down over the destroyers and shortly after an aeroplane suddenly dropped from somewhere and circled over the top of them all. I was trying to read a message from the lamp at the time, and, as you can imagine, there were a few words that I lost. After about half an hour's time the destroyers moved out to their regular patrol, the aeroplane vanished almost as quickly as it had arrived, one dirigible struck out across the Channel and the other sailed up towards Folkestone. Just what all the excitement was about I do not know. It is necessary for me to say that I did not acquire so very much knowledge of the art of signalling, to day.

Have been getting along very well of late and things look rather encouraging. We had a test on Tuesday and I read 6 words (per minute) in the buzzer, 10 on signature flags, 6 on Morse flags and 4 in lamp. The requirements of a certified signaller are respectively 8 to 8 and 6 words per minute, so you see I am getting thither after a fashion. It is just a matter of practising every chance one gets. When we get so that we can read properly we will be sent to the school at Shoreham to get a course in wire laying, instrument repairing, and map reading.

Just got into conversation with a fellow across the table who I thought looked familiar and it turned out to be Rennie, at one time of A. C. A. He is with the 6th draft from Halifax I think. He says that Rimmer Kenney is also in this camp. By some good fortune we did not have to drill last Sunday so I went to Sandgate and saw Paul Tingley. He had just lately purchased an article, very little known in this country, namely, a base-ball, so we indulged in a few catches out in front of his ward. About 4 o'clock went to see Mr. and Mrs. Bidd. Had supper and spent the evening, having a very fine time. Monday night I went to Hythe to Mrs. Henshaw's and had another swell feed. On my arrival there I found E. den ahead of me (he had just been dismissed from hospital up north) and during the evening who should come in but Vaughn and Paul Tingley. Vaughn had just been dismissed from his hospital and sent to the Shoreham hospital to recuperate and had been placed in Paul's ward. We left there about 9.30 in a very cheerful frame of mind. I have certainly enjoyed the evenings I have spent there during the last week or so. It has made a nice change for me and broken up the monotony of camp life, not to mention the good things my stomach is filled with, things we talk about around the camp in awed whispers. Vaughn showed us where he had been wounded and he certainly had a close call. He has seven scars in all, the largest one in his stomach, resembling a large tear about the size of one's hand.

Tuesday I went to St. Martin's Plains and saw Don Chase; he left the next morning in a draft. It makes me sore to see those fellows who enlisted after I did getting "across" first. I would give a lot if I hadn't joined the signal section, but it can't be helped now as they will not allow us to leave it. The only thing for us to do is to work hard and qualify and then we will get there soon enough. The only consolation we have is that these fellows will have to train in France while before they can go to the trenches, while when we once qualify over here and get our papers and two crossed flags sewed on our arm we are prepared for anything.

Last night I went in to Mrs. Henshaw's again and had another feed even better than the last. Eiden, Paul Tingley and Vaughn were also there. Mrs. Blott, a friend of Mrs. Henshaw's, and the manager of the Imperial Hotel, one of the largest summer hotels on the south coast, came in and invited us all to the hotel for dinner to-morrow night. I certainly have been in luck for the last few weeks. Mrs. H. is leaving Saturday for New York via Jamaica. Vaughn is getting a two months' sick leave and will leave for Canada at the same time. I got some Canadian mail today for the first time in about three weeks. I understand it has all been quarantined somewhere. The fellow at home are certainly turning out in great shape now. Tell them to hurry or they'll be too late to see the fun. The war news has certainly been very encouraging of late, has it not. The French appear to be more than holding their own at Verdun.

A Raemaekers Poster.

FAMOUS DUTCH ARTIST'S REMORSELESS EXPRESSION OF GERMAN INHUMANITY IN BELGIUM

Louis Raemaekers, the famous Dutch Cartoonist, has generously drawn for the National Committee for Relief in Belgium one of the most remarkable and certainly the most heartrending of all the "War Posters."

The misery of the millions now in Belgium whom the Germans refuse to feed has inspired this notable artist to his latest effort. A Belgian woman, with a ragged red cloak over her shoulders, is holding tightly to her breast an infant in a shawl. Around the child is clasped the mother's hand—a hand which spells devastation. In the woman's face there is infinite sorrow of motherhood, driven to despair by the German inhumanity, and the pitiful, helpless yearning to relieve the child's suffering.

But it is in the face of the child that Raemaekers has told the full horror of the tragedy of Belgium. The staring terror in the eyes that look up at the mother makes one shudder and turn away to think what might have been in England. With remorseless realism Raemaekers, in this infant of pain, has visualized to the world the infamy of Germany.

The poster, which is artistically reproduced, has this laconic heading: "In Belgium." Underneath appears the one word "Help." Any reader of this newspaper can secure a copy of the poster free of cost by sending a postcard to the Hon. Secretary, National Committee for Relief in Belgium, Trafalgar Buildings, Trafalgar Square, London.

Red Cross Work.

The members of the Red Cross Society deeply appreciate the sympathy and help given it by our good citizens of Wolfville. From its inception there has been shown the most ungrudging kindness, all have worked untiringly in the grand cause, manifesting the same spirit of victory for freedom which characterizes those who go to the front to protect those who remain at home, and are not only willing but eager to do all in their power to supply the physical wants of those on the firing line as well as the sufferers in the hospitals. Not only have the people of Wolfville and Greenwich shown their willingness to work but the purse strings of our townspeople have been generously stretched, without which this great work could not be carried on. The treasury has never been empty of funds. All immediate needs have been met. Within a week a cheque was sent to the treasurer amounting to $92.50, through the kindness of Mrs. Cora Pierce Richmond, together with costumes worn by performers in the very successful and highly appreciated opera "Pinafore" which Mrs. Richmond put on the stage a few weeks ago.

Recently eight of our enthusiastic and interesting little folk presented the Society with $5.49, money raised through a club formed by themselves in order to help along the good cause. The club consisted of the following names: Theresa Harlow, Sophie Steele, Grace Perry, Jenn Creighton, Marjorie Cutler, Ruth Young, Claire Catten and William Catten.

Honorable mention should be made of our faithful men and women who are untiringly giving to the monthly pledges, others have donated from time to time amounts all the way from 50 cents to $10.00. Mr. Calkin has kindly given quantities of soap, boracic acid and cigarettes. You are all grandly doing your part in the awful world struggle, and will continue to do so bravely and well until our triumph is achieved. And, though the work is yours, our Society most gratefully acknowledges these generous donations of money, kind words and deeds of sympathy in our work.

Death's Harvest.
The death occurred at her home in Sunnyside on March 24th of Augusta, wife of Judson H. Pulsifer, in the 65th year of her age.
The deceased had been suffering for some time from an incurable disease, and her last illness was attended with great suffering borne with much patience. All that loving hands could do was done.
She leaves to mourn their loss a husband, five sons, Fred of Mass., William, Howe, Wade and Roy living at home. Three sisters, Mrs. A. Rouse of Sunnyside, Mrs. J. Thompson, Stellerton, and Mrs. K. Bishop of Hanport, and two brothers, Alonzo Dodge of Sunnyside, and David Dodge of Kempt Shore, Hanst Co.
The funeral service was held at the home on Monday afternoon, conducted by Rev. G. W. Miller of Wolfville, and was largely attended. The remains were then taken to Hanport on the afternoon express, burial being at River Bank Cemetery, beside her three children who predeceased her some years ago.

Appreciated

The following appreciative letter was received by Mrs. Howard Barrs from Pte. Leonard Eaton, His many friends will be much interested in it:
France, March 12, 1916.
DEAR MRS. BARRS,—If you were still here fifty or more boys would be glad to see you again after a long weary march this morning with the exact slippers on that you sent me to distribute you could then understand how much they were appreciated and how grateful we are to you and the young ladies of Wolfville. Although they were several months on the way, they could not have arrived at a more opportune time. Of course you know that the 6th C.M.P.'s have been broken up I can tell you we all felt very badly at first. But we soon decided to play the game in our new formation. We have had very few casualties. Everybody is well and happy. I must also thank you for the reading material. About five minutes after they arrived all were reading away for dear life. Thanking you and the young ladies of Wolfville again very, very, much (All the boys join in this) I am,
Yours sincerely,
LEONARD EATON.

With kindest regards to all the Wolfville people.

GinPills FOR THE KIDNEYS Why Demanded

"Gin Pills did for my husband what no other remedy could. I have advised two other parties to use them, one being my brother who has been a great sufferer from rheumatism, and one the cashier, so as to enable her to sleep on her left side. The doctor told her they would cure her, but she told me they would not. I bought a bottle of Gin Pills and she cured her. I would advise her to go. I got my husband cured. He is ever ready to speak in praise of Gin Pills."

A LIFETIME OF SICKNESS

Worn Out, Thin and Miserable Until She Took "Fruit-a-Lives"

Palmyra, June 20th, 1914.
"Sickness Trouble and Distressing Headaches nearly drove me wild. Some time ago, I got a box of 'Fruit-a-Lives,' your famous fruit medicine, and they completely relieved me. To-day I am feeling fine and a physician, meeting me on the street, asked the reason for my improved appearance. I said, 'I am taking Fruit-a-Lives.' He said, 'If Fruit-a-Lives make you look so well, go ahead and take them. They are doing more for you than I can.'"

Mrs. Grace McLeod Rogers, of Amherst, N. S., the well known writer of the charming stories of the Land of Evangeline, recently addressed the Women's Canadian Club of St. John. Mrs. Rogers dealt with the part women in Canada should play during the war, and severely criticised the thoughtlessness and pleasure-seeking tendencies which have been evidenced.

Mrs. Rogers, after a few opening remarks, related the story of the finding of Jesus in the Temple and His reply to His parents:—"What ye not that I must be about My Father's business?" This, she stated, would be her theme of the evening for she did not think women of Canada are about their Father's business when they make enjoyment and pleasure a means to raise money for patriotic purposes.

There is no harm in pleasures, she said, but they have their place. There are sad times and times of peril when England and Canada are at war, she asked, are not also the women of Canada at war? She deplored the practice of holding Red Cross dances and such entertainment, for there are many other ways of getting the desired results, such as sacred concerts, patriotic concerts, teas and sewing articles for sale. Mrs. Rogers referred to the effect these big social gatherings had on the young men who were there in silk hose and patent slippers, while other boys, who are at the front, are standing on guard all through the night, knee deep in water, with only a hole in the ground, a bar or a pigsty in which to sleep. She realized that all men could not go but those that stay at home can lead the strong manly life and improve themselves otherwise than by catering to their lust for pleasure at such a time.

Mrs. Rogers related instances of heroism and devotion on the part of the nurses and the men who had gone to the front and asked her hearers if they thought these men and women had given up all the comforts of home life and all their friends because they were wanted to or was it not rather that they had been impelled by the strict sense of duty. She cited the manner in which pleasure and all useless expenditure had been done away with in the royal family, and urged thrift and self denial during the war. She added that she could not understand why the women of Canada are unwilling to forego their gaieties when they have so many of their loved ones in the muddy trenches in Flanders.

If any living one in the home were to die, she asked, would the family give a party, feed, yet, Canada is only our larger home and many of her children are facing death and many have given up their lives for us. "What a grand thing it would be," she added, "were every woman in Canada to feel she also is a soldier; that she is on duty and that she stands at attention." Kitchener had stated that all must do their part, women as well as men, and the words of other great leaders all carry the same message. She urged that the pursuit of pleasure be not the goal of the Canadian woman of today. "She should have a more serious mien, being helpful and bringing cheerfulness. We

SALONICA

Salonica was, under rule of the Turks for six centuries before it came into the hands of the Greeks again, but it never became a Turkish city, although it contains more than forty mosques. More than half of the population consists of Jews, who practically control all trade and commerce. The Jews immigrated from Spain during the sixteenth century and they are still called "Spaniards." At the beginning of the seventeenth century the city and thirty-six Jewish congregations and its High School for Rabbis was famous throughout the East. Samuel Isaac, a Jewish poet of that time, called the city "a mother of the Jews, a paradise the like of which can be found nowhere in the wide world." The historian Hadashi Khalifa reports that the rugs and carpets produced by the Jewish weavers of Salonica were more famous during the seventeenth century than those of Smyrna and Persia. The Jewish merchants of the city supplied Occidental countries with the products of the Orient and sent their ships to Venice, Genoa, Marseilles, Spain, and even England and the German Hanza ports. Formerly the 65,000 Jews of Salonica lived in a ghetto, but more than 2,000 of their houses were destroyed by fire in September, 1890, and they are now scattered all over the city. They form about fifty-five per cent of the population. The rest of the inhabitants consists of twenty-five per cent Greeks, fifteen per cent Turks and five per cent Bulgarians, Serbians and Italians. The Jews still speak a corrupt Spanish, but most of them also understand Greek, Bulgarian, Serbian, Italian or Turkish. In the past three centuries they have given to Turkey some of her greatest statesmen.

INTOXICATING PILLS

German and Austrian Soldiers Are Fed With Them Before Battle
The mystery of the pits with which German and Austrian troops are provided has been elucidated. A fine of was thought that they were intended to assuage hunger, the nourishing properties of a "hearty" meal being attributed to each pill. Examinations of German prisoners in Russia reveal the fact that these pills are for a different purpose. Some pills contain salicylic, narcotic or alcoholic properties to make a man slightly drunk. It stimulates him and fills him with a desire for battle. He feels for a relatively short time more vigorous.

Two of these pills are served out daily to the German soldiers, especially before an attack, or on those days when a particularly trying ordeal in the trenches is anticipated. When the pills are given alcoholic rations are cut off. Prolonged use of this new discovery of German chemists causes a feeling of discomfort and a weakening of the whole physical organism, so that soon the soldier has no new relish for the dose.

TAXIGABS IN KAMERON
Remarkable Campaign of Anglo-French Near the Equator
Fifty London taxicabs, travelling about one hundred miles from the equator played a most important part in the fall of the Kamerun country on the west coast of Africa, according to Mr. John H. Howell, sub-lieutenant of H. M. S. Africair, who took part in practically all of the campaigns against the Germans there, as it was waged by a British column from Freetown to the coast of this country, which is nearly as large as Germany. The capture was planned only after one of the most brilliant campaigns known in the history of the world, in which individual sacrifice and courage such as is rivalled only by the feats of the Allied armies in France and Flanders have been displayed.

NOT LIKE BOER WAR

Wounds More Quickly Infected and With More Tearing
Sir Anthony Bonhill, Surgeon-in-Chief to King George, has been drawing some interesting comparisons between the present campaign and the one in South Africa. In the South Africa War wounds were not so severe, and there was less smashing than in the present campaign. There were bullets frequently travelled for more than half a mile and not much of their velocity, whereas in the present war the bullet only travelled a few yards. The ordinary bullet wound of the South Africa war was quite small, as though it had been made with a broadsword. In the present war there was much more tearing of the tissues, and one bullet that has struck Sir Anthony is the extreme rapidly with which wounds become infected.

Correcting Kitchener's Manners.

An incident that happened during the South African War is told as a good story concerning General Sir Horace Smith-Dorrien and "K. of K." A somewhat impolite order handed to Sir Horace an important dispatch from Lord Kitchener, and also delivered a verbal message in a manner that was rather brusque. "Say that I will be ready in two hours," replied Sir Horace, "and the next time you speak to me say 'please!'"

When the orderly returned to Lord Kitchener, he recited the following: "General Sir Smith-Dorrien will be ready in two hours, Sir," and the next time you speak to him you will kindly say 'please!'"
