Advertisers must have copy in by Monday noon in order to insure changes for standing advertisements. New display advertising copy can be accepted one day later.

Correspondence—Letters addressed to the Editor and intended for publication must be short and legibly written on one side of the paper only. The longer an article, the shorter its chance of insertion. All communications must bear the name of the writer, not necessarily for publication. The publication or rejection of articles is a matter entirely in the discretion of the Editor. No responsibility is assumed by the paper for the opinions expressed by correspondents.

Editorial

Our pulpits are our work clothes. Each of us live some kind of a sermon every day.

NEWS WE DO NOT GET

It occasionally happens that a newspaper is criticized for having failed to mention some event of more or less importance, but one in which, nevertheless, a considerable number of people are interested. Usually it happens that such affairs have been of a somewhat private nature, have not been advertised to any great extent, if at all, and at any rate no representative of the local paper was able to be present to prepare a report.

In this connection it will be readily understood that no one man can possibly attend every concert, entertainment or banquet, even though he might wish to do so. Therefore it should be considered incumbent on those in charge to see to it that the paper is supplied with particulars of such affair. The paper is always anxious to get it, and will be only too pleased to publish such news. But, as stated, someone should see to it that the necessary information is supplied to the editor as soon after the event as possible. Whether or not it is written in newspaper style does not matter, as that can be looked after by the editor. All that is required is the necessary information as to what happened and any special features in connection therewith.

Fraternal societies should appoint some member to attend to this, whose duty it should be to keep the local editor informed as to what transpires which may be considered of public interest, or of interest to their members.

All newspapers, particularly those located in the smaller centres, are most anxious to promote and encourage all local undertakings, and are ever on the lookout for items of local interest. Consequently, if any event is inadvertently overlooked, it is because it has not been brought to the notice of the editor, and has not been through any fault or wish on his part.

Since a bright newsy paper is the very best advertisement any town could desire, and since it reflects the nature of a community, and the energy and enterprise of its people, it may readily be seen that co-operation on the part of the people with their home paper is very much to be desired. Given this THE ACADIAN will be able to maintain the reputation which it has made for being the newest paper in the Valley.

AN EVENT WORTH COMMEMORATING

An anniversary which hitherto has never received proper recognition commemorates the signing of Magna Charta by King John at Runnymede in the year 1215.

Although of far greater importance to the English speaking people than such events as decisive military or naval battles it has been allowed to a great extent to pass unnoticed. It was on the 15th of June that the signing of this important treaty between king and people was entered into, and the proposition is now made that a day be appointed to commemorate the memorable occasion. Especially should the day be observed in the public schools and it is also urged that churches and Sunday schools should take cognizance of the occasion on the third Sunday in June. To that end an international movement has been inaugurated in which seven countries are participating, representing all sections of the British Empire and the United States. The movement is a timely one as the occasion affords a splendid opportunity for teaching the principles of true citizenship to the youth of the land.

The signing of the Great Charter was the beginning of the struggle for liberty and responsible government which has since come to fruition and become recognized in almost every country of importance in the world. It demonstrated that a despotic king could not, even in those early days when government was primarily based on force, rule oppressively in defiance of the rights of an indignant nation. During the centuries following the signing of this historic document the kings were not a few in British annals who lost sight of the great treaty between the crown and the people, but its principles remained unchanged and were eventually returned to. Other treaties were from time to time signed between the reigning sovereign and parliament, but in every case the principles of Magna Charta were adhered to and formed the basis of the new document.

It seems particularly fitting that the present year should be selected for an observance of this anniversary, since the day proposed falls now upon the exact date.

OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS

The time for holding the annual school meetings throughout Nova Scotia will be at hand in the course of a few weeks. These gatherings, in some sections at least, are not so well attended now as formerly, but should be numbered among the most important events of the year. Nothing should be allowed to prevent the presence of those who make up the community. Due preparation should be made for the business to be presented which ought to be thoroughly discussed and understood by every ratepayer before definite action is taken. The best men available in the section should be selected as trustees and they should be directed by the school-meeting to provide the very best possible conditions for the physical and mental development of the boys and girls who constitute the school. In many sections a generous amount is always voted for carrying on this important work, but in too many instances a penurious policy which is anything but wise is often followed. A person whose duty required the visiting of the schools of a large district once remarked in the presence of the writer that the schoolhouse was very frequently identified as the plainest and least pretentious edifice in the settlement. This ought not to be the case. On the contrary the aim should be to make the school-building and surroundings attractive and comfortable and to have it equipped with everything necessary to ensure a systematic and efficient training of the youth of the community. Money wisely expended in the proper education of its young people is the best investment which any community can possibly make. More and more this fact is becoming recognized. The children of the present day enjoy advantages unknown by those of a few generations ago, and yet our schools are very far from what they should be. The welfare of the future men and women of this country demands that the very best possible conditions should obtain in regard to the instruction given in our schools, the construction of our school buildings, the lighting and arranging of our school-rooms and the general equipment employed in this most important branch of education.

THE WHITE-BREAD PLAGUE

White bread and other highly refined foods are to blame for 90 per cent. of all human ailments.

Unrefined wheat from the field contains all the organic elements essential for life, health and growth. Chickens, mice and guinea pigs, fed on natural wheat, live and thrive indefinitely. Fed on white bread they die in from five to seven weeks.

The reason white bread lacks nourishing qualities is the fact that the milling process removes eight of the sixteen essential elements from wheat and destroys four others to the extent of 75 per cent.

From ground grains three-fourths of the mineral salts and colloids are taken, including iron, phosphorus, manganese, fluorine, sulphur, calcium, magnesium, chlorine and potassium. These are contained in the outer skin, the germs of the berry and in the cells underneath the skin. The milling process sifts these out and leaves only starchy cells as indigestible as so much wood pulp.

Most of the nourishing part of wheat is fed to cattle and hogs. Sensible men will give their own stomachs at least an even break with the somachs of their livestock by demanding breads that contain ALL the life-giving elements that old Mother Nature put into wheat.

The article on "Illegitimate Parenthood", by Rev. Dr. Shearer, which appears in another place in this paper, should have the careful consideration of the readers of THE ACADIAN. Nova Scotia should not be allowed to lag so far behind the other and newer provinces of the Dominion in this most important matter. A similar measure to that passed by the legislature of Ontario has been rejected by our legislators at Halifax, to the shame of the people of our fair province. It is high time for those who rule in Nova Scotia to be given to understand that they represent a present-day people.

ILLEGITIMATE PARENTHOOD

Dr. J. G. Shearer.

Five thousand children are born out of wedlock in Canada every year! These children are—very badly handicapped for life's struggle. They are inadequately supported, often poorly educated and socially ostracized. Their mothers, also, are most unjustly treated. They are ostracized by society, especially women, have single-handed to care for their children and bear usually the entire economic cost of maintenance. The illegitimate fathers in the past have gone scot free. Too great cads to volunteer to bear their fair share of responsibility, the laws of the past have been too weak to compel them to do so or pay the penalty.

But this is rapidly being changed in Canada. In 1921 the Social Service Council of Canada began a movement for a modern and efficient law for the care of children born out of wedlock, and for the securing of justice to the mothers of such. The Ontario Legislature passed the measure in that year; Manitoba the following year; Alberta and British Columbia in 1923; Prince Edward Island in 1924; and the present prospect is that all the other Provinces will adopt the measure in the near future.

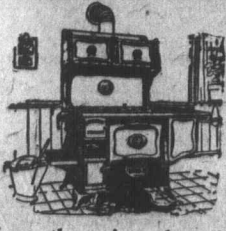

An important feature of the measure compels the illegitimate father to support the child according to the standards of his own station in life until it is sixteen years of age, and it is not left to the mother to take the initiative in putting the law in motion. This duty rests with the Superintendent of Child Welfare for the Province, who gets his information from the Registrar to whom the doctors and others are required to report the facts of each such birth. The Judge is clothed with power to decide the question of the fatherhood with all the evidence before him, and as well to fix the amount of financial responsibility of the father; also at discretion to require the mother to personally care for the child, assuming her fitness. Thus far as possible the child is assured a fair chance in life, and the father is compelled to bear his just share of responsibility for its maintenance. This law has been in force in Norway for 8 or 9 years and has worked well, and in addition to serving the purpose for which it was enacted its operation has resulted in a steady decline in the number of such births in proportion to the population.

The law in Ontario, which contains one-third of the population of Canada, has been in operation for nearly three years. The latest report indicates that 2,500 cases have been reported. A large proportion of these cases are still in process, but at least half of them have been finally dealt with. In 203 cases it was impossible to establish the paternity of the child for lack of corroborative evidence supplementing the mother's statement. In 104 cases the parents were voluntarily married. In 314 cases the mothers specially desired that no action should be taken. 639 cases were settled by agreement between the parties concerned, with the approval of the Superintendent of Child Welfare and of the County Judge. Considerably over 200 cases were decided by compulsory court order. Of 1,387 cases, 920 were of Canadian birth, 467 from the British Islands—an abnormal proportion. Almost $100,000 has been collected and—much more has been ordered paid, but not yet due. Of $100,000 the major portion, namely $87,922, was collected in 1923. It seems probable that 1924 will itself approach the $100,000 mark.

It is, of course, too early yet to observe or report the effect in that Province of the operation of the measure on the number of births out of marriage in proportion to population, but no doubt in future years we shall be able to make the report of decrease in the proportionate number of such births as has been already appearing from the longer experience in Norway. When are Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, Quebec and Saskatchewan going to

BROUGHT LAW AND ORDER WHERE MISTRUST RULED

Canadians, particularly in the East, all too easily forget landmarks in the life of the historic Royal Northwest Mounted Police, now the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. It was in 1874 that the agitation among missionaries and traders in the Great West led to the establishment by the Dominion Government of that force. After the cession of Rupert's Land by the Company of Gentlemen Adventurers Trading into Hudson's Bay, the present prairie provinces were for a time the paradise of smugglers and murderers.

Canada east of the Great Lakes was appraised of conditions through letters written by George McDougall, a Har- veteran missionary, endorsed by Har- disty and other public-spirited officers

THE INVERTED PYRAMID

CHAPTER II

The path Rod walked approached the house by a circuitous route. It turned aside here and there like a leisurely pedestrian to skirt red-trunked arbusts with oily-green leaves and clusters of purple berries, to curve around the base of massive firs that rose like dun pillars in a blue-vaunted forum, to pass great fibrous-barked cedars with drooping boughs wherein unseen squirrels chattered. Everywhere grass clothed the ground, a carpet with green velvet pile, close shorn. Stones great and small had been gathered in artless piles so long ago that their granite nakedness was hidden under thick moss disguised with ivy, or bright with flowering plants, brilliant dabs of color against vivid greens and somber browns. This walk brought him at last to one end of a great stone house with wide, cool porches, deep window recesses, a roof of tiles that glowed in the sun like a cardinal's hat.

There were people sitting about on the porch, a dozen or more. Rod greeted them without halting until he reached the corner. Then he looked back over his shoulder through the trees on the parked slope he got a flash of the racing tide. The voice of the rapids waded strong. Across the channel Oliver Thorn's weather-beaten house was a drab spot on the forest's edge. Over the low shoulders of Valdez the distant backbone of Vancouver Island cut the sky into jagged tracery. That three-hundred-mile wall which stopped the marching surges from tropical seas loomed in a bluish haze out of which rose high, conical peaks, far and white and faintly shining.

He skirted the house. If he had destination or purpose Rod was not conscious of either as a definite urge. He was simply strolling. But as he turned the corner he came upon a girl leaning on a parasol and staring at some letters cut in a massive cornerstone where the thick foundation rose out of the earth.

"Oh, Rod," she said. "Do answer about a million questions for me, please."

"Have you got a list?" he asked.

"A list? Oh, no," she chuckled. "I'm still on an even keel."

"Nautically all right," Rod smiled. He didn't know Laska Wall very well. He hadn't seen much of her. She had only been at Hawk's Nest three days. Prior to that he had heard more or less about the Wall. They were people who had lately begun to cut quite a figure in Vancouver society. His brothers knew them. Both Phil and Grove had pretty well monopolized Laska since her arrival here. But what Rod had seen of her he liked. She was a quiet girl, with a slow smile that wonderfully transformed a piquant, delicately tinted face. Rod looked at her now admiringly. He wondered if Isabel, the pretty, bisque-doll creature whose dainty clothes Mary Thorn had remarked, would be like that when she was twenty-one. He supposed so, since they were sisters, but he could scarcely believe it. He detested Isabel. She giggled incessantly, flaunted herself before him with an irritating archness, annoyed him with her glib French, with numerous manifestations of what Rod contemptuously termed (to himself) "kindergarten stuff". He was a man, in his own estimation. It was a trial, which bore as a gentleman, to be expected to act as Isabel's cavalier, merely because they were the juveniles of this house party. Isabel was juvenile enough, Rod admitted. He exempted himself from the charge of extreme youth. But it was provoking to have every one else blandly proceed on that assumption. Perhaps that was why he warned to this fair-haired young woman who addressed him as an intellectual equal who could impart knowledge.

"What does that signify, Rod?" she asked, pointing to a group of letters and figures graven deep in the stone.

"On that's the cornerstone of the first course of masonry above ground of the first wing of the old house, built by the first Norquay," Rod told her with a trace of pride that he covered by assumed casualness. "Those are his initials. R. S. N. for Roderick Sylvester Norquay. And the year."

"1829," the girl murmured. "A hundred years exactly. You know I have always thought of this country as a semi-wilderness—the last American frontier. How many generations, Rod?"

"We're the fifth from his time," he indicated the chiseled stone. "Grove and Phil and myself and Dorothy. I don't know if you've met Dorothy. She's married to a chap named Hale. Lives in Victoria."

"A century since that stone was laid by a man's hands," Laska continued musingly. "Five generations. No, certainly I did not imagine one would find any such well-established ancestral heritage on this wild coast."

"What a century!" Rod commented. "Greece and Egypt had philosophers and poets and noble ruins when our ancestors were wearing skins and killing their meat with clumsy spears."

The girl paid no heed to this.

"I knew this place was old the moment I stepped ashore," she continued. "I knew it must have a history. Who ple, unpretentious place in which plain men could take their long sleep.

Rod stopped by the first of the larger headstones.

"This was the first of our family here," he said.

The girl looked down at the inscription.

RODERICK SYLVESTER NORQUAY
Born 1770
Died 1834
His eye was not dim
Nor his natural force abated

"This was his wife," Rod pointed. "The first white woman to live on the Pacific coast north of California. That was his youngest son. That was his eldest son, my great-grandfather. And that was his youngest son, who was killed by the Chilcotin Indians on their second raid. There's grandfather's wife, and a son and daughter. There is my mother's grave. And over there is my oldest brother, who died before I was born."

"How interesting," the girl murmured. "What an adventurous time these first people of yours must have had."

"Rather," Rod agreed, "when you think of some of the things they had to face. Still, by all accounts, they rather enjoyed themselves. It never seems to have occurred to them to go elsewhere. There were lots of men pioneered after Vancouver's first voyage, but all of them except old Roderick seem to have come here to make a fortune in the fur trade and go home to live on their gains. Old Roderick kept a journal all his life. It's a queer matter-of-fact account of what he did, mixed up with a lot of philosophic speculation on why he did it. It appears that from the first time he dropped anchor in Mermaid Bay to wait out a fair tide through the narrows, he had the feeling that right here was the place to make a stand. He says quite frankly in his journal that a few men could easily subdue the natives and possess great estates. He says further that shortly after letting go the anchor he saw a hawk fly from its nest in a great tree, and he thought to himself that, by the grace of God and his own resolution, he would some day build on this silent headland a stout nest in which many a brood of Norquays should be hatched.

"Imagine a man who had crossed the Atlantic and rounded Cape Horn in a hundred-ton sailing vessel on a fur-trading venture looking at a savage coast and planning to found a family!"

"He had vision," Laska supplied.

"He needed to have, those days," Rod grinned. "The North Pacific was a fur-trader's paradise, but it was several thousand miles from anything like civilization. Old Roderick knew that well enough. He knew a good deal about this region before he came here on his own hook, you see. He happened out here first when Captain George Vancouver made his voyage of exploration in 1792. He was a petty officer on the "Discovery". He had the journal habit, even in those days. He tells about the surveys they made that year and the next. The idea of this country—after he'd seen a lot of it—took such a hold of him that three or four years later he got out of the British navy, scraped up all the money he could beg and borrow, outfitted a barque called the Hermes and sailed for the North-west to make a fortune trading knives and brass wire and Sheffield blades to the Indians for sea-otter skins.

"On that first voyage he got the idea of settling here. It evidently grew on him, because when he came out a second time—the first venture was a very profitable one—he brought a couple of dozen extra men, artisans of different trades, and set up a trading post here just as Captain John Meares tried to do at Nootka Sound a very interesting earlier—you'll find a very interesting account of Meares and his clash with the Spaniards over that post in Begg's "History of British Columbia". Meares and Don Martinez between them very nearly got Spain and Great Britain into war. Vancouver came out here to look into that squabble as much as for anything else.

"But ancestor Norquay had this spot pretty much to himself. He bought Big Dent from a local chief for six sheets of copper, an old cutlass, and a pint of glass beads. Think of it! He built a blockhouse of logs with a sixteen-foot stockade. His men cultivated some land for vegetables. He had cattle and pigs and sheep—brought 'em out in the "Hermes", like Noah with the animals aboard the Ark. But fur-trading was the chief business. He traded for sea otter as far north as Sitka. Here at home he got beaver, mink, martens, whatever the Indians brought in. The Northwest Fur Company claimed this territory. They were carrying on a big scrap with the Hudson's Bay Company at the time. Finally the Hudson's Bay swallowed the Northwest concern and got a free hand. They tried for years to make all North America their private fur preserve. But they didn't scare old Roderick off. Apparently he wasn't afraid of them. Too well-equipped, I suppose, to be driven off."

"On his fourth voyage in 1804 he took a cargo of twenty-two hundred sea otter which netted him fifty-six thousand dollars—so you can see what the fur trade meant in those times. On that trip he met up with the daughter of a country gentleman of Northumberland—he was Scotch himself, you know—an English girl named Dorothy Grosvenor. Her people considered him a low-class adventurer. So they took a bit in their teeth, boarded the "Hermes" and sailed away. Sounds quaint. They brought out three or four families with them. The men stationed here had mostly gotten Indian wives by that time. Dorothy sailed with great-grandfather wherever he went with the barque for three or four years. But their first child was born here on Big Dent in 1807.

"The next year the Chilcotins came down. They've a fighting tribe from the interior. They had a way of coming down a river to the head of Bute Inlet, killing as many coast Indians as they could, taking the loot and the young women back across the mountains. I suppose they had heard of this white man who had lots of goods. So they organized a surprise attack on Hawk's Nest, as it was already called.

"There was quite a scrimmage by all accounts. The Chilcotins were beaten off. We lost six men in the fight. Those small headstones are for them." Rod indicated a compact row of graves.

"So the following year old Roderick, who had never given up for a moment the idea of making this his permanent home, started the stone house. He built one wing. His son added a wing. Grandfather can tell you how he built the albat addition, and another story, and how he put on a roof of tiles in 1860 after the Cariboo gold rush.

"The Chilcotins pulled off another surprise party in 1826, but they got such a hot reception they never tried again. By that time old Roderick had two sons and two daughters. The youngest son was the only man killed on our side. He led a party to destroy the Chilcotin canoes while they were attacking the house. He was killed by an arrow. But they smashed the canoes and only two Chilcotins out of forty got away. In fact, they were spared to go back and tell the rest of the tribe that it was bad medicine to molest the white men who lived at Hawk's Nest.

"They understood that, evidently, because they never came back. Although nearly twenty years later a brother of grandfather's was stuck full of arrows one evening right down where our boat landing is now. That killing was credited to the Chilcotins—in revenge. But it wasn't a fight. It was pure assassination. However, that was the last bloodshed here.

Telephone About Summer Quarters

The Seaside or in the Country.

Now June is here with the great question, "Where are we to spend the summer?"

It was quite a task a few years ago and took lots of time and trouble, hunting for holiday accommodation by the aid of pen and ink and postage stamps.

Now that the ladies of the household have taken, like their fathers, husbands and brothers, to the use of the Telephone, the hunt is more of a pleasure than a toil and takes practically no time at all.

Every, even the smallest, village in the Province has Telephone service and if the person wanted hasn't herself a Telephone, why she can easily be brought to one

Personal and Social

Miss Margaret Allan, of Halifax, is visiting friends in town.

Mr. Gerald S. Bauld, of New Glasgow, has been a visitor in Wolfville this week.

Horace Jackson, of the D. A. R. station here, is now in New York for a two weeks' vacation.

Miss Mildred Patten from Yarmouth spent the past two weeks at the home of Rev. F. E. Roop.

Miss Elza Shaw, of Hantsport, was an over Sunday visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Harris, Lower Wolfville.

Mrs. J. W. Vaughn will occupy Dr. Spidle's residence on Summer street during the absence of Dr. and Mrs. Spidle.

Arthur Brady, of the Freshman class, son of Mrs. Brady, Locust avenue, has gone to Sherbrooke, where he will spend the holidays.

Rev. Dr. Patterson was in Middle-ton on Sunday last and was the preacher on Sunday evening at the Baptist church at that place.

Mrs. George W. Churchill, who spent the past winter as usual at Brookline, Mass., has returned to her home on Acadia street for the summer.

Mr. W. H. Chase left on Monday morning for Toronto. On his return he will spend some time at his fishing lodge at Metapedia, that favorite rendezvous of anglers.

Miss Erma Taylor, who has been in training for the nursing profession in U. S. A., arrived home on Tuesday for a rest period after a serious illness of appendicitis.

Mrs. Percy Benjamin who spent the past winter in St. John, her former home, returned to Wolfville last week and has reopened her pretty home on Main street.

Mrs. E. M. Sipperell, who with her two sons, has spent the past winter in Wolfville, left on Friday last for her home in St. John. She was accompanied by her son, Roy F. Sipperell.

Miss Stella Bleakney, who has been teaching in Massachusetts during the past winter, arrived home last Friday to spend the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Bleakney.

Rev. J. H. Bars left on Monday for Ann Arbor, Mich., where he will visit his son, Dr. J. Ernest Bars, who has just completed his medical course at the University of Michigan.

Charles Huggins, B.A. of Acadia in the class of '20, who has just received the degree of M.D. at Harvard, was in Wolfville on Saturday last on his way to his old home in Parrsboro.

Messrs. Charles and Herbert Jordan, John E. Coldwell and William Norman, of Newtonville, started last Friday on a fishing trip to Forks River, Methall Lake and Mantletree Lake.

Rev. E. S. Mason was in Canning on Sunday morning last and delivered an address in the United Baptist church in connection with his work as superintendent of the Home Mission Board.

Mr. H. P. Davidson, editor and manager of THE ACADIAN, returned by the midnight train on Monday from Toronto, where he was in attendance at the meetings of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association.

Mrs. (Dr.) Addington, her two sons, Montague, and Howe; Mr. and Mrs. Short and baby Kenneth from Bedford; Mrs. (Rev.) L. J. Tingley and her son, Walter, from Windsor, visited Rev. and Mrs. F. E. Roop Sunday.

Ludlow J. Weeks arrived in Wolfville on Tuesday from New Haven, Conn., where he is a student of Yale, and spent a day with his mother, Mrs. Weeks, before proceeding to Cape Breton, where he will be engaged in Government survey work during the summer.

Mr. Francis Archibald, who since his graduation from McGill University has been acting as research chemist in the employ of the Imperial Oil Co. at Sarnia, Ont., arrived in Wolfville on Monday to visit at the home of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Archibald, Westwood avenue.

Prof. E. M. Keirstead, D.D., of McMaster University, Toronto, has been in town during the past week. Dr. Keirstead still retains a warm interest in the affairs of this town, where for many years he made his home while a member of the faculty of Acadia University. It is safe to say that no old resident who returns to Wolfville is more gladly welcomed or more highly esteemed by citizens than is Dr. Keirstead.

Mr. David Collins, of Detroit, Mich., is visiting relatives here. He was a native of Berwick, brother of Enoch L. Collins and Harvey Collins, who was so well known at Wolfville. Mr. Collins has not been home for 53 years and has wonderful changes from the recollections of his early boyhood. His niece, Mrs. Arthur Starr, called at Detroit on her return from the South and brought Mr. Collins with her to Nova Scotia.

The teachers of the Wolfville Baptist Church Bible School met at the home of the superintendent, L. E. Shaw, on Saturday evening. Mrs. W. A. Coit was the guest of honor. Mrs. Coit, who is a valued member of the staff is about to leave for the States where she will reside in the future. L. E. Shaw, on behalf of the teachers, presented her with a beautiful string of pearls as a token of esteem which the members of the class hold for her.

THE BOY SCOUTS

While the Boy Scout Association has been discussing the problem of reorganization, the Wolf Cubs have been carrying on a series of baseball games. None of the groups except the Anglicans are at present under supervision.

On Tuesday afternoon the baseball team of the Anglican Cubs visited Port Williams and defeated a team of Cubs and Scouts. It is hoped to arrange games with Kentville and Windsor. It is now time that the boys who wish to go to camp should start in to earn the necessary funds. It is probable that the charge will be the same as last year, $3.00 for the Cubs and $4.00 for the Scouts. District Commissioner E. Percy Brown has agreed to take charge of the camp. The dates will be as follows:—Wolf Cubs, August 4th to 11th; Boy Scouts, August 11th to 18th; and the Chester trip for the Lion Patrol (formerly the Presbyterians), about Aug. 20th to 30th.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh E. Calkin are on a trip to Toronto and other points.

Miss Inez MacCallum, of Campbellton, N. B., is visiting at the home of Rev. and Mrs. H. Y. Corey.

Grant Hall, vice president of the C. P. R., has been making an inspection trip over the D. A. R. this week.

Sir Charles and Lady Townshend, Miss Townshend and George Townshend, motored to Halifax on Tuesday.

Miss Good, of Burmah, who spent the past winter in Wolfville with her sister, Mrs. Schurman, left last week for Boston.

Mrs. Chester McGill, of Boston, arrived in Wolfville last week and will spend the summer with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Chute.

Dr. and Mrs. Chute returned last week from an extended visit to Boston and Kingston, Ont., and are gladly welcomed home by numerous friends.

Mrs. A. H. McLeod, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. H. F. Lewis, have left for Pleasantville, Lunenburg county, where they will spend the summer months.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Keirstead, of Toronto, were visitors in Wolfville for the Rogers-Keirstead wedding, being guests at the home of the latter's mother, Mrs. Stackhouse.

Miss Margaret Ford, who has been teaching at "Parson's school", Essex Falls, N. J., has returned and is spending the vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Ford.

Misses Griffith and Gifford, of the teaching staff of Acadia Seminary, left recently for Boston, where they will pursue advanced courses of study during the coming year.

Miss Marguerite Christie, of the staff of Phinneys Ltd., Halifax, accompanied by her sister, Miss Evelyn Christie, left on Saturday on a trip to Boston, New York and Montreal.

Mrs. C. R. H. Starr, who has been spending some weeks in New York, returned home last week. She was accompanied by Mr. George Boggs and Miss Helen Starr, the party making the trip by motor.

Misses Chute, Bent and Mildred Schurman, of the teaching staff of Colchester County Academy, and the Misses Dorothy and Lee Schurman, of Truro, motored through from Truro and visited at the home of Mrs. I. W. Schurman over the week end.

Miss Boswell, of Ottawa, Inspector for the Victorian Order of Nurses, has been in Wolfville this week inspecting the work being done here by Miss Harry. She reports conditions very satisfactory and commends our town on the good work which is being done here.

"The Inverted Pyramid" is a good two dollar's worth.

The Woodville United Baptist church held an anniversary service on Sunday last which was well attended and most interesting. Rev. Dr. H. T. DeWolfe was the speaker both in the afternoon and evening services. His subject for the afternoon was "Religious Education and Evangelism", in the discussion of which he made a strong plea for the church school which holds the key position for religious education. At both services the music was of a high order, in the morning Mr. Gerald McElhenny rendering a vocal solo and members of the choir of the Kentville Baptist church assisting. The music for the evening service was rendered by the choir of the Woodville church.

In spite of the fact that our Main street was thronged with automobiles on Sunday, many of which were driven much faster than they should have been, no very serious accident resulted. The exception was the case of a small child, which was a passenger in an incoming Halifax county car. The car was stopped for some purpose in front of the new engine house and the occupants took advantage of the opportunity to make an inspection. A small child belonging to the party when crossing the street was struck by another car and considerably injured. Fortunately no bones were broken, and Dr. Grant, who was summoned, dressed the wounds so that the party might proceed.

"FLOWER SERVICE" AT BAPTIST CHURCH

At the Baptist church last Sunday morning "Apple Blossom Sunday" was fittingly celebrated by a "Flower Service" in which the pupils of the Bible School took part under the leadership of Miss Chisholm. The church was appropriately decorated with apple-blossoms among which several canaries sang during the service. After the opening march the children presented a floral tribute to their King. These beautiful bouquets were afterwards sent to the shut-ins and invalids of the town. The Scripture reading was then given by Leon Shaw, Barbara Eaton, Reginald Finch, Margaret Everett. After a prayer by Dr. Marshall, the children of the kindergarten department sang "Thank You". Flower stories to the school pupils, by Miss Chisholm and Miss Trotter and a few remarks by Dr. Marshall ended the service.

KINGS COUNTY BAPTIST DISTRICT MEETING

The Baptists of Kings County met in their quarterly District meeting at Greenwood, one of the stations on the Lower Aylesford, on Monday and Tuesday, June 2nd and 3rd. The speaker Monday evening was Rev. J. C. Hardy, who substituted in the absence of Rev. H. G. Hiesler of Canning (who was delayed on the road owing to car trouble). A very good service was held, Rev. Mr. J. Hardy being an interesting speaker. On Tuesday morning saw the gathering of a large number of delegates from all over the County, and after a business session the Moderator, Rev. G. W. Schurman of Billtown, gave a splendid exposition of the Epistles to the Ephesians, which called forth much commendation. Rev. G. D. Hudson, of Upper Canard, read an interesting paper on "The Church and Social Service", which started a lively discussion. At the afternoon session an inspiring devotional service was conducted by Rev. A. H. Saunders, of Aylesford, after which Rev. J. C. Hardy spoke in connection with the Women's Missionary work, along the line of Home Missions. This was followed by a report presented by Rev. P. R. Hayden, of Berwick, on the Denominational Finances.

On Tuesday evening, Rev. G. R. T. Ayling, of the Cambridge Church, was the preacher and spoke of "The Driving Power of Life". The service was conducted by Rev. A. H. Saunders, and Rev. H. G. Hiesler read the Scriptures and led in prayer. This brought to a close a very successful and inspiring District meeting, which was well attended. Rev. H. H. Phinney is pastor of the church at Lower Aylesford.

BAD ADVERTISING

THE ACADIAN has received from a friend a clipping from a newspaper which contains a despatch from Kentville, dated May 30th, which is certainly not good advertising for this section. The writer makes a statement unquestionably not consistent with facts when he says that "there is not accommodation in any town from Digby to Halifax for a carload of tourists". In Wolfville, at least, the committee of the Board of Trade is prepared to furnish such information to summer visitors as will insure them comfortable and satisfactory entertainment at a reasonable price. There have been in the past and are yet, defects in our system of providing adequately for the reception and care of tourists, but these are being corrected to a considerable extent. At this time when Nova Scotia is spending money and effort to promote tourism to our province seems a very bad time for the dissemination of such nonsense as appears in the despatch in question, even if it were true, which it decidedly is not.

CANNING

Many tourists are arriving to visit the "Lookoff" and the surrounding country. Among the guests of Thursday of last week was a party of students attending the Student's Conference, Wolfville.

The picnic grounds are now opened and are free to the public. The genial host is Mr. Douglas Blenkhorne.

The Canadian Girls in Training, leader, Mrs. (Rev.) W. G. Heisler, held an interesting meeting Friday evening, June 6. At the conclusion of business picture books were made for the Children's Hospital, Halifax.

The Ladies Aid, of Christ church, was delightfully entertained by Mrs. W. D. F. Smith on Tuesday afternoon, June 3rd.

Mr. S. Wentzell, of the staff of the Maritime Telegraph and Telephone Co., is a guest at the Waverley Hotel.

The Girl Guides, Captain Bigelow, Lieutenant Melvin, continued practice on their play to be presented in July, at the meeting held Friday, June 6, in Canning Armory.

Mrs. Spurr Woodworth entertained the Arts and Crafts Club delightfully on Monday evening of last week.

Canning Citizens' Band will begin Thursday evening, June 12, hold weekly open-air concerts, which are being looked forward to with much pleasure. Canning Citizens' Band, which is one of our finest organizations, and one of which we are justly proud, is the means of bringing hundreds to our town.

Our streets are presenting a very attractive appearance, much having been done to improve them.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Newcombe, Wolfville, formerly of Sheffield Mills, are being congratulated on the birth of a son, born in Canning Hospital.

Mr. Hilchey, contractor, has returned from Halifax.

A number of our young people held an enjoyable picnic at Bishop's Point last week.

Mrs. James Kennedy entertained the Modern Priscilla Art Club, Friday of last week, a delightful evening being spent.

Miss Hilda Fordham, accompanied by Miss Jennie Hilcroft, arrived from Boston to spend a month in Canning and Wolfville.

Mrs. C. F. Reynolds arrived on Saturday from Halifax.

Mrs. L. W. Slack entertained at the tea hour on Wednesday, June 4, in honor of her guest, Mrs. Bain, of Moncton. Mrs. Slack, who wore a handsome gown of black, was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Bain who wore blue chiffon velvet. The rooms were very attractive with flowers, apple blossoms and pansies in profusion. Tea was poured by Mrs. Charles Dickie, who was assisted by Mrs. H. K. Bain, Mrs. Allan Clarke and Mrs. A. B. Harris.

Mr. Henry Blanchard, Hillaton, is building a fine barn, Samuel Chipman, contractor.

It brings summer to your table in winter months. Preserve it now while plentiful and cheap.

Miss Harriett Rand, daughter of Mrs. Harry Rand, is spending the vacation in P. E. I., guest of Mr. and Mrs. Hall.

Scotia Lodge, No. 28 A. F. and A. M., held its regular communication on Wednesday evening.

KINGSFORT

Mrs. D. B. Weaver entertained the Sewing Circle of Kingsfort Congregational church Wednesday afternoon, a large number enjoying a social hour which was followed by supper. The afternoon was spent in filling orders for fancy work and in sewing for the coming sale.

Miss Farny Graves, of the teaching staff of Kingsport, spent the holiday at her home in Aylesford.

Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Loomer have returned from a motor trip to Berwick, where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Morse.

The Government wharf at Kingsport is being repaired under the supervision of Mr. Halle Bigelow.

Rev. Mr. Crosby conducted Divine Service on Sunday, his helpful discourses being listened to by a large congregation.

Rev. Gordon C. Brown preached to large congregations in Kingsport Episcopal church and in Christ church, Canning.

Mr. C. H. Meek, Canning, and Mr. Fred West, Kingsport, left Saturday, June 7, for Denver, Colorado, to visit the former's brothers.

Miss Minnie Healy, professional nurse, who spent several months in California, returned last week, and with her mother, Mrs. Healy, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald North. Mrs. Healy and Miss Healy will later occupy their bungalow at Kingsport.

CENTREVILLE

The home of Mr. Hugh Manson, Centreville, Kings Co., was the scene of an interesting event on Tuesday noon, June 3, when his daughter, Elaine, became the bride of Mr. Harry Dibbins, of Everett, Mass., Rev. R. B. Layton, officiating. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a gown of white crepe de chene, with conventional veil and orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of carnations and maiden hair fern. The wedding march was played by Miss Leah Harris, of Sheffield Mills.

The drawing-room was very lovely with flowers, the ceremony being performed beneath a beautiful arch of apple blossoms erected by friends of the Nova Scotia Sanatorium staff, of which the bride was a member, being secretary to Dr. Miller, superintendent. At the conclusion of the ceremony luncheon was served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Dibbins left for a trip to Halifax and the South shore. The girls were very beautiful and numerous, the groom's gift to the bride being a gold wrist watch. Gifts of silver were received from the staff of the Nova Scotia Sanatorium. Mr. and Mrs. Dibbins will reside in Everett, Mass.

SCOTTS BAY

Mrs. Wilnot Irving, Scotts Bay, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McKeen last week.

Miss Jennie Tupper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tupper, Kentville, is visiting Miss Leone Tupper, at the home of Mrs. Marchant Steele, Scotts Bay.

MAJOR-GENERAL SIR DAVID BRUCE, K.C.B., C.B., F.R.S.

Chairman of the governing body of the Lister Institute of London, England, has been honored by societies throughout the world for his work on Malta fever and sleeping sickness. He is a Royal Medallist of the Royal Society and possessor of many distinctions. During the war he was a member of the Trench Fever committee, and his various works have shed a great deal of light on inter-relations between human and animal diseases. He is president of the 92nd meeting of the British Association for Advancement of Science which will meet in Toronto in August. This association has met in Canada on three other occasions, Montreal in 1884, Toronto 1897 and Winnipeg in 1909. In 1904 the meeting was held in South Africa, and in 1914 in Australia. With these exceptions the Association has never met outside the British Isles. Famous scientists from all over the world will attend the Toronto meeting.

Scotts Bay. A number of the young people of Scotts Bay held an enjoyable picnic to Amethyst Cove, Tuesday, July 3rd.

Miss Winnie Shipley, Dartmouth, who is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Steele, Scotts Bay, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Steele, spent a few days in Parrsboro last week.

Mrs. Trueman Corkum, Scotts Bay, left on Wednesday for the Victoria General Hospital where she will undergo medical treatment. Mrs. David Webster, who accompanied Mrs. Corkum, will spend a week in Halifax.

Captain Havelock Steele and son, Mr. Elton Steele, of Hortonville, were guests last week of Mr. and Mrs. Oxley Steele.

Mr. Cyrus Steele, son of Mr. Oxley Steele, has purchased the business of Mrs. Manie Ellis, Scotts Bay. Mrs. Ellis, who arrived a few weeks ago from the States, will spend the summer at the Bay, leaving in September for Aurora, Illinois, where her daughter, Miss Iva Ellis, and her sons are residing. Much regret is felt over the departure of Mrs. Ellis, who was at all times of great assistance in social and community life, always standing for the highest and best. Mr. and Mrs. Steele will, we are glad to know, reside permanently at Scotts Bay.

Scotts Bay Division held a largely attended meeting on Monday evening of last week, the programme being a very fine one.

SHEFFIELD MILLS

Mrs. George Pye was the hostess at Friday's meeting of the Women's Institute, the president, Mrs. W. W. Harris, in the chair. Mrs. (Captain) A. W. Bower and Mrs. Frank Irving were appointed delegates to Truro convention. A pleasing feature of the afternoon was the honorary membership presented to Mrs. George Osborne Bower in appreciation of her kindness in assisting the Institute by her musical talents, which are of the highest order.

UPPER CANARD

The pupils of Upper Canard School, with their teachers, Miss Brechen and Miss Wilson, held a delightful picnic at Bishop's Point, July 3rd.

EASY, SON, EASY

A youth who became much interested in boxing while in service, took his father to a boxing show the other night, the son willingly paying the admission. "Now," said the son when they were well seated, "you're going to see more action for $2 than you ever saw in all your life." "I don't know, son," said the father. "I don't know, son," said the father. "I don't know, son," said the father. "I don't know, son," said the father. "I don't know, son," said the father.

The Value of a Guarantee lies not so much in its protective penalty as in its satisfying assurance. No firm selling goods with a guarantee attached, expects to be called upon to pay the penalty. For it is naturally the intention to so carefully guard the quality that dissatisfaction will be impossible.

Throughout its many years of service "King Cole" Tea has consistently been sold with a guarantee—a guarantee definite and substantial. It is printed on every "King Cole" package. It carries to the buyer an evidence of good faith—a confidence in ability to serve—a determination to serve well. "You'll Like the Flavor."

DUNLOP TIRES

30 Years in Canada

Many a man is driving a motor today who was not born when Dunlop Tires first appeared on the highways of Canada.

Thirty years is a long time in the Tire business. It is the very beginning of the industry. 1888 saw the world's first pneumatic tire; 1894 saw the industry taking hold in Canada.

Doesn't it stand to reason, in view of the above facts, that we must be better equipped and better qualified to serve the exacting demands of Tire users?

Knowing the past of the Tire Industry so well, we must have pretty good intuition regarding not only the needs of the present, but the possibilities of the future.

A BANKRUPT'S REVENGE

If everybody paid their debts promptly the average business man would have an easy time of it. For verification of this statement ask any Wolfville business man; he knows. Human nature is the same the wide world over, and therefore a news item from a southern city will be as much appreciated here as there.

Even though they might not care to give it their endorsement as a regular practice, honest folk will not be wanting in sympathy for the unusual courses taken by a Hagerstown, Md., meat dealer to explain his insolvency. Smarting under the sting of having been forced into bankruptcy, the man posted on his front door a list of persons who he declared owed him money and stated that if they had paid their debts he would have been able to pay his. "These people forced me into bankruptcy," said the sign over the names.

In the list, says the correspondent reporting the affair, were the names of some of the prominent housewives of the town. They were naturally but not righteously indignant, and about twenty of the women stormed the shop and tore the sign down.

Of course it was humiliating to them to have their names exposed to the public gaze in this unpleasant way; yet, if the butcher told the truth—as he probably did—their shame was not undeserved. The bankrupt suffered more than humiliation; he lost his business as a result of extending credit to persons who failed to meet their obligations; and he can hardly be blamed for wanting to share his humiliation with those responsible for it.

The incident is humiliating as an example of the manner in which petty defalcations in the aggregate affect business. Probably none of the butcher's debtors owed him more than a few dollars each. Yet in their total these had ruined him, and his insolvency in turn will prove at least slightly embarrassing to his creditors. Misplaced trust may cause annoyance to far more than those directly concerned. Happily most people pay their debts; otherwise it would be impossible to do business on a credit system, and without credit commerce would languish.

The southern housewives whose names were made public as defaulters are angry now; but no doubt down in their hearts they are a little remorseful. They have been taught what the consequences of not paying even small debts may be. If they are more conscientious in meeting their obligations promptly hereafter the butcher's revenge will have served a good purpose.

NOT ALL ROSES IN YANKEE LAND

An Amherst mechanic went to Boston last week to secure work. He was a moulder, and after visiting 13 foundries and finding them all working only three days or less per week he returned to Amherst. He was told that the depression in New England was expected to exist until after the presidential elections in November. Many Nova Scotians asked him what the prospects of work were in Nova Scotia, if they should come home; and on the train on which he left were 45 Newfoundland people going home because of the lack of work in Boston. It is well that information of this nature should be given to the people of these provinces, not only for the benefit of any who may be thinking of migrating to New England, but to remind everybody that by comparison times in Nova Scotia after all are not as dull as to warrant a despondent feeling. The dullness is universal, apparently, but times in Canada are on the upgrade.

BLEMISHES ON WOOD AND LINEN

Sometimes sweet oil or vaseline left on the marks for some time followed by hard rubbing with a soft cloth will remove marks on tables though, of course, there may be something in the finish that needs expert treatment by a furniture polisher. Other simple remedies are: Rubbing with hot milk or turpentine. A stubborn heat mark may sometimes be made to yield if you lay on the spot a mixture of sweet oil and salt; let it remain for an hour or so and then remove it and rub briskly with a damp cloth. Grease-stains may be removed by washing with soap and hot water. For finger marks rub with a cloth wet with diluted vinegar. Dilute until it simply tastes sour. To remove mildew from linen place in strong sunlight until the mold is killed first soaking the spots in lemon juice; then mix two tablespoons of soft soap and the juice of a lemon and lay on the spots with a brush applying it to both sides of the fabric. Let it lie a day or two till the spots disappear. Soaking the material in buttermilk or sour milk is sometimes successful; the affected spot being allowed to soak therein for some time and then being thoroughly washed out in a pail of warm water in which the mildewed spots are to be allowed to soak for half an hour. When other means fail javelle water may be tried, but this is a remedy which is hard on the linen, as it is too apt to eat into the fabric.—Housewife.

TO CLEAN SINK PIPE

One of the most frequent and trying annoyances of housekeeping, as many can testify, is the obstruction to the free, quick outlet of the waste water of the washstand, the bath tub and the kitchen sink. This is caused by a gradual accumulation of small bits of refuse material, paper, rags, meat, bones or other waste, which check and finally entirely stop the outflow of the waste water. A simple, inexpensive method of clearing the pipe is as follows: Just before retiring at night pour into the pipe enough liquid potash (not soda) lye of 36 degrees strength to fill the "trap" as it is called, or the bent portion of the pipe just below the outlet. About a pint will suffice for a washstand or a quart for a bath tub or kitchen sink. Be sure that no water runs into it until next morning. During the night the lye will convert all the waste in the pipe into soft soap, and the first current of water in the morning will remove it entirely and leave the pipe as clean as new.

A HALF DOZEN ECONOMICS

Keep a pile of old newspapers in the kitchen; you will find many uses for them.

Pockets of black or white oilcloth or cretonne inside of closet doors make handy containers for shoes, dust cloths, etc.

Don't throw away short lengths of lace or insertion. They may be just the things to set into the shoulder seam, or down the sleeve of a child's dress or nightgown, which needs enlarging.

When tinware is first bought if it is rubbed all over with lard and thoroughly heated in the oven before using it will never rust.

To prevent clothes from freezing add a handful of salt to the rinsing water.

This is why you see prettier complexions, today

Women have learned this simple way to keep youthful loveliness

The prettier complexions you see everywhere, today, are due to one thing:

Women have learned that it is unnecessary to sacrifice youthful loveliness to the passing years. This simple treatment has made it possible for millions of women to keep youth, charm. The secret is yours, too, if you will.

Just try this

Cleanse the skin regularly, authorities say, to keep your complexion lovely, radiant, youthful.

But beware of harsh cleansing methods. They injure skin.

Wash thoroughly with Palmolive Soap—each night before retiring. Rub the creamy, foamy lather well into the tiny pores. Rinse — and repeat the washing. Then rinse again.

Then—if skin is dry—apply a little cold cream. That is all. Skin so cared for is not injured by cosmetics, by wind and sun, or by dirt.

The simple, correct way

You cannot find a more effective beauty treatment. Because Palmolive Soap is blended of rare palm and olive oils—famous for mild but thorough cleansing qualities since the days of Cleopatra. And it is inexpensive. Use it for the bath, too.

Take no chances. Palmolive is never sold unwrapped. Get it from any dealer. Then for one week try this easy method. You will have cause for delight even in that short time.

The Port Williams Acadian

PORT WILLIAMS AND VICINITY

The W. M. A. S. held their regular meeting in the vestry of the Baptist church, on Wednesday last, a goodly number attending.

Mr. S. G. Reid, of Musquodoboit, spent the week end as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Cogswell.

Miss Marjorie Trotter and her grandmother, Mrs. Freeman, spent one day last week with Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Rand.

Mr. James Hanson, of Camp Hill Hospital, spent the week end in Port Williams.

Miss Clare Cogswell had as her guests on Sunday Miss Marguerite Parks and Mr. MacDonald, both of Halifax.

We are glad to report Mr. J. W. Harvey able to be out again after his illness.

Several from here attended the anniversary services of the church at Woodville on Sunday evening.

Miss Hattie Boyne, of St. John, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Fred Wood.

The many friends of Miss Elinor Hanson will be glad to know she is steadily improving after a serious operation for appendicitis at Highland View Hospital, Amherst.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mosher and children have returned to the "Port" for the summer months.

Mrs. K. T. Hibbert, of Halifax, has been spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bedford Chase.

"Dame Rumour" whispers of a very important event taking place within the next week, i. e., one of our most popular young men has decided to join the ranks of the benefactors.

Mrs. W. O. Taylor, of Wolfville, spent the week end with her niece, Mrs. M. K. Ellis.

Mrs. Sydney Crawley, of Wolfville, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Michaels, of Calgary, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Marriott, Starr's Point, on Sunday last.

Mr. M. K. Ellis has gone to Sydney, C. B., on his annual business trip.

The death of Mrs. Selma Newcombe, widow of the late Robert Newcombe, Church Street, occurred Tuesday morning, June 10th, at the age of 77 years.

"Children's Day" will be observed in the Port Williams church on Sunday next, the Junior choir having the musical part of the service.

The Community Dramatic Club, of Port Williams, presented their comedy, "The Old Maids' Convention" at Coldbrook on Friday night, June 6th. Every available seat in the hall was occupied.

If one can judge by applause, everyone present enjoyed it greatly and it was also a success financially.

Mrs. Fannie Baxter, widow of the late Capt. John Baxter, accompanied by her son, Mr. Bent Baxter, spent a few days the guests of Mrs. (Capt.) J. E. Faulkner, renewing old acquaintances and receiving a most cordial welcome from their many friends.

Mr. Hocken's sister, Mrs. Mooney, who has been visiting him for the past few weeks, has returned to her home in Toronto.

GREENWICH

A new and strong railing was placed last week on each side of the road thru the so-called Neady Hollow. This was badly needed there for safety, also being an improvement to its appearance.

Our teacher and pupils are busy with work for our school exhibition just now, as well as regular school work. Much interest is being shown in the line of Botany.

Professor Ross, wife and child, of Wolfville, visited relatives here one day recently.

Mr. William Bowles, of Grafton, is visiting at the home of his sister, Mrs. C. L. Bishop.

We regret to learn that Mr. Omar Pudsey, who has been very ill for the past few weeks, is no better. Much sympathy is expressed for Mr. Pudsey, a busy season too, with farm work.

Mr. and Mrs. Burpee Bishop motored thru to Bedford last Friday, visiting at the home of the latter's brother, Mr. Andrew Cobb. They returned home Sunday afternoon.

Miss Freda Ritcey and Miss Evangeline Cox enjoyed a motor trip and return on Saturday, to Brookly, Hants county.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Andrew Pearson and daughter, Annie, also Miss Ritcey, motored thru to Bear River station Saturday evening, where they were guests of their daughter, Mrs. B. L. Merry, returning on Sunday evening.

Mr. Preston Warren, of Wolfville, preached here in Methodist church Sunday afternoon, as Dr. Hemmenon preached at Grand Pre. Mr. Warren gave a splendid sermon and was enjoyed by those present, although it was evident "Blossom Sunday" was the cause of many being absent from the service.

It is estimated nearly two thousand, or more, autos went thru here on Sunday, strangers and others enjoying the Valley.

HANTSPORT MAN IS BURIED ALIVE

Victim, Frederick Fields, Leaves Wife and Eight Children.

A tragedy which has shocked the entire populace of Hantsport occurred there yesterday afternoon when Frederick Fields, a laborer, was buried alive beneath several feet of earth.

The unfortunate man had been engaged in digging a sewer from the bungalow of H. E. Wilson to the Avon River, when the side of the ditch gave way, burying him completely.

The accident happened near the lower end of the drain where it was about 15 feet deep.

It is presumed that the cave-in occurred about two o'clock, but Mr. Fields was the only one employed at the work the accident was not discovered until five o'clock. The body was recovered between six and seven o'clock.

Mr. Fields was a married man and is survived by his wife, one son and seven daughters. He had been a resident of Hantsport for the last 20 years, going there from Avonport.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE CONVENTION

The eleventh annual convention of Nova Scotia Women's Institutes opened at Truro yesterday morning. About eighty delegates were registered, representing a membership of some 3,000 women.

The following are the delegates from Kings county: Berwick: Miss Dorothy Morse, Mrs. H. G. Woodworth; Blomidon: Mrs. J. D. Bennett; Canning: Mrs. A. A. Ward Canard; Mrs. J. E. Kinsman; Grand Pre: Miss Clara Vaughan, Mrs. A. H. Patterson; Gaspereau: Mrs. Edwin Davidson, Mrs. A. Duncanson; Habitant: Mrs. John Ross, Mrs. E. Hawley; Medford: Mrs. R. S. Kinsman; Port Williams: Mrs. C. Woodworth, Mrs. F. Jackson; Sheffield Mills: Mrs. A. W. Bowser, Mrs. F. Irving; Kingsport: Miss J. Loomer.

I. O. D. E. WAR MEMORIAL

At the annual convention of the Daughters of the Empire at Toronto last week announcement was made by Miss W. Gordon, of Kingston, that of the original objective of $500,000 for a memorial fund for bursaries in Canadian Universities and overseas scholarships for sons and daughters of deceased soldiers and sailors, $386,151 has been secured.

Several resolutions were brought forward and passed, one providing for the raising of the age limit from 29 to 33 for those receiving the overseas scholarship. In urging the need for completion of the fund, hope was expressed that larger contribution would be made by the I. O. D. E. Chapters.

ACADIA RELICS

A find of Acadian relics was turned up the other day, in digging a foundation for a barn on the farm of Mr. W. W. Jaques, on Church Street. About three feet down an iron pot was struck, very much rusted. It had been placed upside down to protect a small pot underneath it. The latter contained two small glass cruets and a double mug, with a handle between them. They are supposed to be part of a communion service. Some years ago at Windsor Forks many Acadian relics

CANADA'S WEALTH

Total in 1921 Estimated At $22,195,000,000—The Averages

OTTAWA, June 9.—Canada's national wealth in 1921 was $22,195,000,000, according to a report issued by the Dominion bureau of statistics, which has concluded a survey of the tangible wealth of the Dominion in that year by the inventory method. In the tabulation, agricultural wealth comes first with $7,982,871,126, nearly 26 per cent. of the total and about $908 per head of population.

Of the provinces, Ontario ranks first, with an estimated aggregated wealth of $7,358,000,000, which is 33 per cent. of the total wealth. Quebec comes next with $5,541,819,967. Saskatchewan is estimated at $2,845,842,000; Alberta at $1,950,873,000; Manitoba's at $1,650,495,000; Manitoba's at $1,650,495,000; British Columbia, $1,365,896,120; Nova Scotia, $752,697,986; New Brunswick, $597,596,000; Prince Edward Island, $119,912,000; and the Yukon $16,869,000.

In per capita wealth, the Yukon led with $4,058; New Brunswick had $1,541; Nova Scotia, $1,437; Prince Edward Island, $1,353.

For the whole Dominion, the aggregate per capita wealth was $2,525.

CANADA'S DEBT IS BEING REDUCED

Decrease of Fourteen Million Dollars During May.

OTTAWA, June 10.—Increased income tax collections, which more than balanced reductions in sales tax and customs revenue resulting from the last budget, were a large factor in a fourteen million dollar decrease in Canada's national debt during May. The total net debt of Canada on April 30 last was $2,399,548,872. On May 31 it had dropped to $2,385,263,512. Last year there was a decrease in the net debt amounting to $4,302,700 during the month of May.

URUGUAYANS WON OLYMPIC SOCCER

South American Team Defeated the Swiss Eleven 3 to 0 Before 60,000 Spectators

PARIS, June 9.—The Uruguayan soccer football team today won the Olympic title, defeating the Swiss team in a fast and furious battle, which was bitterly contested from beginning to end and in which the South Americans fought down unexpectedly sturdy opposition while a crowd of more than sixty thousand persons, which filled the Colombes Stadium to capacity, cheered frantically. The score was 3 to 0.

KING GEORGE CAN HANDLE A HORSE

ALDERSHOT, Eng., June 10.—The excellent horsemanship of King George got him out of a tight place this afternoon and saved him from a possible mishap.

As the King was leaving the parade grounds on his charger, after reviewing the troops, the horse became frightened at the cheering crowds. The animal "bucked" and nearly collided with a horse ridden by the Duke of Connaught beside the Queen's carriage.

The King made a second attempt to force his horse to accompany the procession, but the animal, terrified, plunged until its royal rider was forced to turn back and ride home along a quiet route.

this special prize—a rather remarkable record.

BUY AT HOME

And Divide Your Dollar With Your Neighbor.

Everybody has a certain amount of Civic Pride—that sort of pride which helps make a village a town and a town a city.

The growth of any community is dependent upon the support given by its citizens. If we fall in our co-operation the town either stands still or retrogrades. If we uphold the town by sustaining it wholeheartedly we help ourselves and the community. The theme of this advertisement is "Help our town, buy at home."

Let us divide our dollars among our merchants and fellow citizens who have the interests of the community at heart. Help them and they will help us to greater values—for increased volume means decreased costs.

The town needs our support and we need the support of the town. Let's get together and share our fortunes.

my observation. We have been to meeting this morning. Rev. Vaughan preached, sacrament followed; it is always a solemn season to me. In the afternoon we went up to see about a Sunday School. James Elder and N. Harris were there, who will take the lead; and several who will be teachers, and some scholars. After talking the matter over it was arranged for the S. School to be held each Sabbath at nine o'clock. After we were dismissed we went up to Father's and took tea; we read a while and then went up to Sam's, but they were away; we called at Lydia's but they were somewhat, so they might know they'd had callers, and then we came down across Mr. Toy's pasture to Mrs. Michener's. The scene there is beautiful, having quite an extensive view of the river and surrounding country. We came down to the new meeting house, I never was there before; I think it a good place to have it. When we came home Sam and Mary were at Mrs. Michener's, they called here a while then went home, called Lord Nial.

14th. This is a cloudy day with appearance of rain. I have been washing Simeon has just gone to the vessel. I must look over the book he brought home, called Lord Nial.

Friday, 18th. This week has been a busy one. Wednesday sister Olivia and Aunt Olivia were here. Sister stayed all day but Aunt went to Olivia Terie's and then came to Mary's and stayed all night. We heard Aunt Sarah had another daughter. Sister Ann came afternoon I went over to see Mrs. Harris and her new baby. It is a fine child; she calls her Anna Elizabeth. Silas Lockhart died on Wednesday, was buried today. Eliza will be left a widow quite young; they had only been up in Halifax about a week. I worked in the garden this forenoon. Granny was out and said she would be here since Simeon came home. They are caulking the vessel. I wish he always could make a good stay when he comes home.

19th. A fine day. Enoch's vessel came in this morning. Granny spent the afternoon here; she and Maria took tea with us for the first time. John, Rob and Ann came down after tea. Simeon had to go down to the vessel. About sunset we all went down to the shore. Rob went on board the "Alida". John, Ann, and I got in the boat with Ben Bradshaw who was waiting for the tide, that he might go home. We had a row along the beach. I should have liked to have gone to Newport very well. We all came back a little after dark, except Robert, who stayed to help Simeon until he came. John went home and Ann stayed with Mary.

20th. Soon as we arose we took a walk down to the shore, as Simeon had to go to the vessel. It was a beautiful morning. At nine o'clock we went to S. School. James Elder is Supt. and N. Harris, assistant. There were six classes of girls and three of boys, over forty scholars being present the first Sunday. All the children could not be prepared to come. The teachers were Mrs. Nunn, Mrs. Manson, Ruth and Elmira Holmes, Nancy Elder and my self—the male teachers were Mr. Elder, Harris and brother Robert. I did not wish to have the same class I had last summer as I thought they were too old for me. I tried to get Mrs. Nunn or Manson to take it, but they put me in after all. Abigail Holmes, Jane Elder, sister Ann, and Isabella Young were there. After school we stayed to meet Rev. Vaughan preached from Ezekiel, 13th chap. 32nd verse. After meeting we went to Father's, and at three o'clock went over to Mount Denison, where Mr. Vaughan preached again—a truly good sermon. When we got back Mother told us Joseph and Eliza had been there, the "Wanderer" having just arrived. After supper Simeon went to see James Piatlen, who had come home in the "Wanderer".

21st, Monday. The "Alida" went up to load.

22nd. She came back in the afternoon and Simeon said he was going to leave. Mr. Elkanah Harvey and Son came to see Mrs. Michener. I wrote a letter to Rebecca Elder and sent it by him to Newport.

23rd. A stormy day.

24th. Simeon went to Duncan Dorman's, and I went home. Ann was keeping house for Olivia who is at Windsor.

25th. Mary Sam and her mother came here and spent the afternoon.

26th. A fine day. Some of the women were cleaning the meeting house. They sent for me but Lydia and her family were here in the forenoon. In the afternoon we all went to the launching. The vessel is called the "Daniel Huntly". (It was a beautiful sight. She slid so easily into the water. A great many were there, and some ladies were launched on board. Louisa Kirk, Malinda Crowl, Harriet, Amy and Malinda Lynch. Simeon was in the foretop.

AN ENQUIRY

Dear Editor,—I recently had a discussion with a friend over the spelling of the name of our attractive suburb, Mount Denison. That is the way that I have been accustomed to spell it, but my friend claims that the correct spelling is Mount Denison. Will some of your correspondents who are in possession of the knowledge kindly advise me as to the correct spelling of the word and of the origin as well, if possible?

EGYPTIAN MARRIAGE CONTRACTS

Marriage contracts were in vogue among the early Egyptians, according to tablets found in the Nile region by explorers. The earliest known nuptial contract there dates from 550 B. C., the terms of which were drawn by the husband. It has been translated as follows: "Since God willeth that we should unite one with the other in righteous wedlock, after the manner of every free man and every wise woman, therefore I have given thee four dollars in gold as a bridal gift. And for my part I will not neglect thee. Neither shall I put thee forth without a cause having legal ground. But should I wish to put thee forth, I will pay 17 dollars for the matter."

A Scottish minister asked the bridegroom if he were willing to take the woman for his wedded wife. "Aye, I'm willin'", was the reply, "but I'd rather have her sister".

REMEMBER THE DAY

Perhaps One, Perhaps Ten or Fifty Years Ago—Your Wedding Day.

To the bride of today her first wedding anniversary seems centuries distant yet only twelve short months will slip away and she will be a matron of a year's standing.

In order that wedding anniversaries may be fittingly celebrated by the friends of the happy couple a series of special anniversary celebrations has become customary.

- First—Cotton. Second—Paper. Third—Leather. Fourth—Fruit and Flowers. Fifth—Wooden. Sixth—Sugar. Seventh—Woolen. Eighth—India Rubber. Ninth—Willow. Tenth—Tin. Eleventh—Steel. Twelfth—Silk. Thirteenth—Lace. Fourteenth—Ivory. Fifteenth—Crystal. Twentieth—China. Twenty-fifth—Silver. Thirtieth—Pearl. Fortieth—Ruby. Fiftieth—Gold. Seventy-fifth—Diamond.

The first or cotton wedding anniversary is usually a source of much enjoyment to the young friends of the married couple, and brings a wealth of much appreciated cotton goods to the housewife.

The young woman who would entertain upon her second or paper wedding anniversary has a chance to excel herself as a hostess.

Very few couples omit the celebration of their fifth or wooden wedding. The refreshments are usually served picnic style from wooden dishes on a white oilcloth table cloth.

The tin wedding marks the tenth milestone of wedded bliss. If the wooden wedding celebration is an enjoyable one, the tin wedding is doubly so.

When Milady reaches her fifteenth or crystal anniversary the friends of the family all rally to make it an event long to be remembered.

Still another woman got the surprise of her life on her twentieth or china anniversary. The members of her family and that of her husband banded together and bought a handsome Limoges tea set that they knew she had been secretly coveting for some time.

The twenty-fifth anniversary finds the bride and groom in middle life, usually with grown up sons and daughters to add zest to the celebration. It is a formal affair, calling for more elaborate preparations than former anniversaries.

SUPREME COURT

The docket of the Supreme Court which was in session at Kentville last week included three criminal and twenty civil cases.

The first was that of the King vs. Wallace Foster, the charge being that of receiving port wine, knowing that the same had been stolen.

Of the twenty civil causes only one was tried, the others being either settled or laid over until an adjourned sitting to be held on July 7th.

A TRUE SPORT

He does not boast. Nor quit. Nor make excuses when he fails. He is a cheerful loser. And a quiet winner. He plays fair. And as well as he can. He enjoys the pleasures of risk. He gives his opponent the benefit of the doubt. And he values the game itself more than the result.

WHAT TO DO

When stoning raisins pour boiling water on them and let them stand four or five minutes. Drain and rub between thumb and finger.

To remove white spots left by hot dishes on the dining table use camphorated oil, rubbing it in well.

When washing blouses or handkerchiefs put in a small lump of orris root into the rinsing water.

Wood alcohol will take vaseline stains from wash goods. Soak them a few minutes in the alcohol.

BE A SAFE DRIVER

It is not the fault of the automobile that 100,000 people have died as the result of automobile accidents—14,000 last year alone.

Driving an automobile requires both hands on the steering wheel, both eyes on the road and one's whole mind on the job.

For sightseeing, take the "rubber neck" wagon; for courtship, the old parlor sofa is hard to beat.

is commonly supposed to be blind, and it too often is—at the steering wheel. Increase in automobiles and pedestrians requires additional care in driving.

SIXTY CANADIANS COME HOME FROM WEST CHINA

Something of the vastness of the modern missionary enterprise is hinted at by the announcement that the party of Canadian Methodists returning from their field in Szechwan Province, China, this summer, numbers 60 persons.

Of the sixty, twenty-five are workers and thirty-five are children, the number of children in the party being larger than is usual.

oped in West China as in Canada, and the climate there is more trying to Anglo-Saxons.

Canadians are attempting in the name of their religion.
