CHAPTER VII.

"I wish I could," said Disbrowe. "Perhaps she is your spiritual affinity, whatever that is. Frank says she looks like you."

"Who don't I look like?" said Jacquetta, looking up and breaking into a laugh. "I am the image of Captain Nick Tempest and little Orrie Howlet, and consequently, a cross between a demon and a goblin. I won't think of it, though; and now, that being gone, I am myself again. I'll race you home, Cousin Alfred."

She dashed off, leaving him to follow; nor did she draw rein till Fontelle was reached.

"You have beaten me, but I will have my revenge later," he said, striking an attitude, as Jacquetta, declining his aid, leaped lightly off her horse, and ran up the steps and entered the house.

With a saucy nod of her curly head Jacquetta disappeared, and passed on until she reached Augusta's room, and there she paused and knocked softly.

There was no response, and she knocked again, more loudly. Still there was no reply, and Jacquetta turned the handle and entered.

And there a terrible sight met her eyes.

On the floor lay Augusta, prone on her face, her whole form writhing like one in unendurable agony, her long, wild, black hair streaming, unbound, around her, her hands clinched till her delicate veins stood out like whipcord, every motion quivering with unbearable torture. Startled and alarmed—albeit both to her were unusual—Jacquetta went over, and, catching her arm, exclaimed: "Augusta!"

With a fearful shriek and maddened bound, she was on her feet, confronting her—her beautiful face distorted with anguish and remorse—her whole countenance so altered and terrible that Jacquetta involuntarily recoiled a step as she beheld her.

"Augusta! Augusta! Good heavens! What is the meaning of this?" cried Jacquetta.

But Augusta, with a wild, moaning cry, sank down on a seat, and, with a convulsive shudder, hid her face in her hands.

"My Hands Trembled and I Could Not Sleep"

Mr. Thomas Honey, Brantford, Ont., writes—

"When I began taking Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, I was so nervous that when I picked up a cup of tea my hand would tremble like a leaf. I could not sleep well, could not remember things, and there were neuralgic pains through my body. After taking seven boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, however, I am in perfect health."

FOR JOY OF GOOD HEALTH

Manitoba Woman Thanks Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Crandall, Manitoba.—"When I was a young girl at home and working I had terrible pains, almost more than I could bear, and I was not regular. These troubles kept me so tired all the time that I had no strength and no ambition to join in with my friends and have a good time. I was just tired and miserable always and life just seemed as if it wasn't worth living. I saw so much in the papers about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and then I had a friend who had taken it and told me about it, so I got some. Every month after taking it I got stronger and I soon did not suffer every month. It stopped the pains and helped me in other ways. Then when my babies were coming I was tired and worn out the first three months and ached badly. I took the Vegetable Compound right along and must say it made a new woman of me and able to do my work, and it helped me through confinement. You see I am a farmer's wife with a big house to look after, and three babies now. I have told ever so many women about your medicine. Just last week I got a friend from my old chum in the East. Her baby was born fifteen days before mine, and she told me she was not feeling very well, her back aches so much, and that she is going to take the same medicine I took. You can use my letter if you wish." Mrs. J. M. Kimb, Box 58, Crandall, Manitoba. C

With an irresistible impulse, he turned to follow them, but both were gone—vanished like phantoms of the night; and he turned to retrace his steps, wondering inwardly where the secrets of this strange old house were to end.

CHAPTER IX.

"The top of the mornin' to yet, captain darlin'" said a voice, in a slightly foreign accent. And the next moment, Master Frank, with a whoop that spoke well for the strength of his lungs, sprang up the front steps, and stood beside Disbrowe, who was lounging indolently against one of the quaint old pillars supporting the doorway, looking at the north wing, and thinking of the little incident of the previous night.

"The same to yourself, my sprig of shillilly," said Disbrowe, lifting his eyes, but without moving from his lazy position.

"I say Frank," he added, suddenly, "do you know anything about that mysterious old tower or wing over there? I think there's something wrong about it."

"Why?" asked Frank, casting an uneasy look, first on the speaker, and then on the place indicated.

"Well, from nothing that I know of my own knowledge, of course," replied Disbrowe; "but it has a comfoundedly suspicious, ghostly look about it for one thing, and I saw something strange there a few nights ago."

And with a cry of despair, she sank down again, shuddering, and called Jacquetta stepped back, and calmly regarded her.

"You are insane, Augusta, or in the delirium of a brain fever. I shall send for a doctor."

"Oh, leave me! leave me! leave me!" moaned Augusta in a dying voice.

"Not in this state. I should be as mad as you if I did. I will stay with you until you come to your senses," said Jacquetta.

"Will you leave me, Jacquetta? I wish to be alone, go!"

With a sigh, Jacquetta left the room, and she heard the key turn behind her in the lock.

The proud heart of Augusta De Vere might bleed and break, but it could do both alone.

Captain Disbrowe waited in vain for Jacquetta to appear that evening. A last giving up hope of seeing her he set off for a stroll, with his own thoughts for company.

It was a clear, starlit night, mild and warm as June; and, tempted by its quite beauty, he walked on and on, returning, at last, by the north wing, that, in its gloomy silence, had a strange fascination for him. While he stood leaning against a broken pillar, looking up at it, he became conscious of voices near him; and a moment after two dark forms appeared from within the shelter of a low, ruined wall, overrun with ivy. One was the tall form of a man, muffled in a cloak, and wearing a slouched hat drawn down over his face, completely hiding it from view, and the other

"I wonder you never asked Jack?"

"Well, I don't know; there's a sort of touch-me-not flash in Jack's eyes now and then when you tread on forbidden ground, and somehow I've always felt that she's more concerned 's this affair than any of the rest."

Just then they were called to breakfast.

Jacquetta was, as usual, the life and soul of them all—keeping up a constant war of words, and a steady fire of short, sharp, stinging repartees with the company generally—sometimes provoking Disbrowe to laughter, and sometimes to anger, and appearing most delightfully indifferent to both.

"She spoke of going to see one of her pensioners," said Disbrowe. "How many has she got?"

The Song of the Bank

(With apologies to "The Song of the Shirt")
From "The Caduceus," Staff Publication of The Canadian Bank of Commerce.

With fingers weary and worn, from counting bundles of "ten,"
A bank clerk sat, in threadbare clothes, busily plying his pen.
Scratch, Scratch, Scratch. He looked so hungry and lank,
And still in a voice of dolorous pitch,
He sang the Song of the Bank.

Work, Work, Work. All day I rush and toil,
And work, work, work. I burn the midnight oil.
It's to be a slave along with the barbarous Turk
Where men have never a soul to save, if this is Christian work.

Work, Work, Work. Till the brain begins to swim,
Work, Work, Work. Till the eyes are heavy and dim,
Cheque upon cheque he lays, cheque after cheque he pays,
Till over the blotter he falls asleep, and enters the cheques in a daze.

Work, Work, Work. In the dull December light,
Work, Work, Work. Till the tears lose their slight
As they shiver in their cages, one sometimes hear them sing,
"If—will make us warmer, O death, where is they sting?"

But why do I talk of death, that phantom of grisly bone,
I hardly fear his terrible shape, it seems so like my own,
It seems so like my own, because of the fasts I keep,
Alas that bread should be so dear, and bank clerks held so cheap.

Have the Directors no pity? Have they not children and wives?
It is not books they are wearing out, but human creatures' lives.
Scratch, Scratch, Scratch. In poverty, hunger and dirt,
The bank clerk works with coat removed, displaying his threadbare shirt.

With fingers weary and worn, from counting bundles of "ten,"
A bank clerk sat, in threadbare clothes, busily plying his pen.
Scratch, Scratch, Scratch. So poor, so hungry and lank,
And still his weak voice bravely soared,
Would that its tone could reach the "Board."

He sang this Song of the Bank.

13th The Century of Best Dressed Women

To be well dressed, women should copy the fashions of 700 years ago. That is the opinion of Mr. W. Hughes Jones, who lectured at the City of London Vacation Course in Education.

He produced drawings of wonderfully dressed ladies in different times, and especially praised the thirteenth century.

"Look at this monstrosity," he said, holding up a drawing of a lady in elaborate crinolines skirts. "Would you place that in the thirteenth century? No, for in that century there was not very much money and material was expensive."

"The skirt at once indicates the spacious days of Queen Elizabeth. People were getting rich and extravagant in the sixteenth century, and Queen Elizabeth was probably the most vain woman who ever lived. She had 800 dresses."

"England," he added, "is going back with sure instinct to the effort and achievement of the gem of the centuries, the thirteenth. All the best-dressed ladies of the twentieth century approximate more to the style of the thirteenth century than to those of any other women in English history."

The Envy of the Architectural World

A tablet has been placed in St. Paul's Cathedral by the Architectural League of New York "as an expression of the deep admiration and indebtedness felt by the Architects of America to the illustrious British Architect, Sir Christopher Wren."

The Earl of Crawford and Balcarres, in presenting it to the Cathedral authorities, said:—

"As to-day we stand beside the very heart pulse of the throbbing life of this great city, in our imagination we carry back our minds to this same city in the days when the genius of Wren walked its streets. He knew the city decimated by plague, shattered by death, devastated by fire, and from the ashes of its despair he raised this giant monument of the Hope of Immortality."

"Many generations have passed through the life of the Cathedral each adding its tribute of praise, yet our words are but rippling waves passing over the unfathomable depth of his greatness. Indeed, so great a master was he that one might almost say of him, as was said of the greatest of all his followers: 'He went before, and they were amazed, and if they followed they were afraid.'"

"In that dark hour of our history the genius of Wren took wing, hovering like some great spirit over the scene of desolation, surveying its ruins and conceiving its massive reconstruction. Generation followed generation, each exelling its neighbour in strength and grandeur, in grace and fidelity of execution, and so our city became the envy of the architectural world."

Poincare Admonishes Germany -- Four Nations Land Marines at Shanghai-Labor Proposals for Empire Policy -- Writer of Threatening Letter Arrested-- Experts Studying Arbitration Problems.

1100 MARINES LANDED. SHANGHAI, Sept. 8. Eleven hundred marines from the British warships this morning were ordered to land in Shanghai at 9 a.m. and take up defence positions on the boundary of the International Settlements. The order for the landing of marines followed a new assault in the railway sector directly west of the city, bringing the fighting nearer than it has been before in the week of fighting between the troops of the rival factions of Chiang Kai-shek and the British. The marines were ordered to land at a point known as the "Great Britain" representing the United States 250, representing Japan 400, representing Italy 200.

PARIS, Sept. 8. The French and Belgian customs unions along the eastern frontier of the occupied territory in the Rhur will be abandoned tomorrow, in accordance with the terms of the London Agreement, according to word received by the Reparation Commission today from the office of Owen D. Reports from Mr. Young's office continue optimistic over the progress being made in purging the Daves' plan into effect, the belief being expressed that the Germans are earnestly trying to fulfill their engagements.

PEKING, Sept. 8. The mandate issued by President Tao K'un, directing Chi Shieh Yuan, Governor of Kiangsu Province, to send an expedition to enforce submission on the part of Lu Yung Shieh, Governor of Cheiang Province to the Central Government is regarded as officially initiating a civil war in China. The mandate which was issued by President Tao K'un after a special meeting of the Cabinet yesterday, called attention to the report to him by Chi Shieh Yuan that Lu Yung Shieh had recruited and rallied around him the outlaw element of the populace, and that Kiangsu, because of its proximity to Cheiang has been obliged to make defensive plans to protect its frontiers and maintain peace. For several days Governor Chi has been at battle with the forces of Governor Lu west and north of Shanghai.

Electricity From Sun Rays? A very promising study in modern wireless is the effect that lightning flashes have upon atmospheres. Professor Elith Thomson, the inventor of electric welding, told us recently that while listening he had noticed that the flashes of lightning from a distant storm coincided with the crack of the atmospheres in the telephones. Just before a flash the signal faded, but came back slowly after it.

DICKENS TREASURE HUNT. One of the favorite pastimes of the Canadian in London these days are an unusual number this year--to look out places associated either with Dickens or with his characters. Of these there is no lack. David Copperfield's London rooms, for instance, have been located at No. 15, Buckingham Street, Strand, and Bob Sawyer's in Lamb Street, Southwark.

In London's streets there are now nearly a thousand drinking-fountains, all of which have been acquired since 1859, where the first (presented by one Samuel Gurney, Quaker, banker, and M.P.) was erected outside St. Sepulchre's, Holborn. It was removed when Holborn Viaduct was built (1847-48) and only restored after spending many years in a private garden, about 1922.

St. Bon's College

MAKES NEW RECORD IN C. H. E. EXAMS.

Yesterday (Monday) forenoon, the students of St. Bon's assembled in the Aula Maxima where the results of the recent C.H.E. Exams. were announced by the President, Rev. Bro. J. E. Ryan, in the presence of Rev. Dr. Carter, representing the Archbishop, Fathers Pippy and Miller, Dr. V. P. Burke and the College Staff. The President gave an interesting address on the work being done by the College's students during the past year, notably their success in the C.H.E. Exams. He observed that another new record had been added to the long list of St. Donatians, when a total of 130 passes were secured in all the grades. The work done was brilliant, and it gave him very sincere pleasure to congratulate both students and teachers on such a signal triumph.

Dr. Carter followed at some length on subjects particularly suited to the students, and eulogised them for their splendid work. Having referred to the importance of receiving nowadays a thoroughly good education, he spoke in flattering terms of their good conduct at all times, and exhorted them to live up to the best traditions of the College.

Fathers Pippy and Miller, and Dr. V. P. Burke also addressed the students along the same lines, their remarks being very practical and calculated to influence all who heard them.

In honor of the occasion, a half holiday was granted, after the whole student body had, in the beautiful College Chapel, attended Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, given by Dr. Carter.

Police Efficiency

The efficiency of the detective force is illustrated by two matters which came before the Magistrate yesterday. One concerns a 40 year old resident of Gambo named Turner, who is accused of setting fire to a store owned by his cousin named Broderick and with whom he lived. The fire was discovered by Mrs. Broderick, who saw the reflection from her bedroom window. The matter being reported, Const. Bennett was detailed to make investigations. The fire was started by pouring kero oil on some rags. When he arrived at Gambo he was met by Turner, who appeared very anxious that the guilty parties should be discovered. Suspicion was thrown on a resident who on the night of the fire had procured a bottle of kero oil from a neighbor, and it is probable he would have been arrested only Bennett became suspicious of his assistant and pressed him as to his whereabouts at the time of the fire. Failure to establish an alibi led to a confession and arrest. The second matter concerns the arrest of a resident of Colliers named Hearn, who is charged with raising a cheque from $140 to $64, and also the larceny of a sum of $54. Hearn was working at Corner Brook and on Saturday at 5 o'clock the police were notified to look for this man who was suspected of going on the incoming express. Const. Lee was given the job. He went out by the local train at 6 o'clock and joined the express at Briggs Junction. Only two passengers were aboard for Colliers, but neither went under the name of Hearn. Before Avondale was reached Lee discovered that his man was travelling under the name of Murphy. On his admission of the fact he was placed under arrest.

Prospero Returns From Northward

FISHERMEN DOING WELL WITH HOOK AND LINE.

S. S. Prospero, Capt. Field, arrived from the Cook's, H.R. Service at 9 o'clock last night, after a boisterous round trip of 12 days. High winds, heavy sea and much fog was met with, but the ship behaved splendidly and all ports of call were made without any interruption. The ship brought a small freight and a large list of passengers. Among the saloon passengers who arrived were: Messrs. Veitch, Snelgrove, Miller, Kennedy, Hayward, Hewett, Wylie, Parsons, House, Parsons, House, Thistle, Lilly, House, Paters, Thistle Lilly, Boone, Kennedy, Crobble, O'Neill, Colbourne, Gidge, Hennebury, Gillard, Earle, Cobb, Torrville, Gough, Spurrell, Pearce, Oakley, Lodge, Escott, Anstey, Mesdames, Marshall and 2 children, Blackler, Pearce, Farwell, Payne, Cobb, Earle, Torrville, Lodge, Vatcher and child, Coffey, Kean, Walker and child, Sheppard, Stokes, Burry, Escott, Hennebury, Parsons, House, Lilly, Hennebury, Flemings, Mises, Grills, Davis, Grills, Rowe, Wylie, Parsons, Noble, Wiseman, Peet, Gillett, White, Jones, Hyde, Earle, Pomeroy, Torrville, Penney, Tetford, Wells, Winsor, Spurrell, Eagan, Crocker, Boone, Lodge, Escott, Edgcombe, Courage, Collins, House, Miffin, Penney, Ryan, Smith, MacDonald, Pitcher, White, Snelgrove, Simmonds, Fowlow, House, Peckham, Hennebury, Moore, Fitcher and Moore.

The fishery north of Cape John is very encouraging. Boats have secured from 8 to 10 qts. daily with hook and line. The traps have been all taken in. Fish is also reported plentiful in the vicinity of the Grey Islands, but the fishermen have been handicapped owing to a succession of high winds and heavy seas. There is plenty of squid for bait, and should the fishermen be favored with a few weeks of good fine weather better results will be obtained. Serret Gardner arrived by the ship from Bonavista with an escaped inmate for the Lunatic Asylum. This man, it appears, escaped from the institution about two months ago and beat his way to Bonavista, a distance of 270 miles.

Here and There

Cherries were introduced into this country from Flanders in 1540. Sensitive plants in the Tropics protect themselves from cattle by drooping and seeming to die. There are also sharp spurs on the stalks which prick the tongues of hungry animals.

A halfpenny is exactly an inch in diameter, and therefore is a convenient measure. Laid on an Ordnance map of one-inch scale the halfpenny just covers 500 acres.

The Sydney Harbor Bridge will be the largest in the world, having a clear span of 1,460ft., and the roadway, railway track, and footbridges having a combined width of 150ft. The two main arches will be placed 98ft. 6in. apart and the construction will require 50,885 tons of steel. The central 400ft. of the span will provide a clear headway of 170ft. above mean high water. —T.H. Bits.

LAST NIGHT'S FOOTBALL.

St. John's Defeat H.M.S. Hood.

The football game between the City and H.M.S. Hood, in aid of the Permanent Marine Disasters' Fund, took place at St. George's Field last evening before one of the largest gatherings of spectators for the season. The game was not as closely contested as anticipated, and resulted in an easy victory for the City by a score of 6 goals to 2. At one stage of the game the City had notched up six goals to their opponent's nil, but towards the end of the game the Hood players gave a much better exhibition and secured two pretty goals.

Promptly at 8.30 p.m. Referee Cassidy, of H.M.S. Hood, called the teams together. The City team winning the toss elected to defend the eastern goal. From the face off the City forwards made a run west and secured a corner. The ball went behind. The City pressed matters and confined the ball to their opponent's territory almost at will, and saw Ewing and the two Phelans getting in some clever work, but the Hood goalie was always in the desired spot. Play was transferred from end to end. Both teams were putting up a very creditable exhibition, though much of the play was spoiled by the slippery condition of the field. The naval team was playing well individually, but there was a noticeable slackness in combination.

The City team played their positions well, and all attempts made by the Hood forwards when getting within the danger zone were frustrated. Accordingly, as the game progressed, the City team gradually improved, and after 13 minutes from the opening of play, Young scored a beauty on a timely pass from Quick. The City boys increased the pace, and scarcely two minutes had elapsed when Young gained control, and by a pretty pass from the right wing across the mouth of the goal, Ewing picked it up and scored No. 2. Upon the ball being re-centred, the naval men made a determined attack on the City goal, but try as they would the local defence was found impregnable. Delahanty was called upon to stop a few well directed shots, which he handled in good style. The City team resumed the attack and were soon awarded a third goal when Drover, by good play near mid field, eluded several of his opponents, and passing to H. Phelan, the latter headed the ball safely between the posts for the third goal.

Just before half time the City forwards were playing rings around the Hood, and by some clever combination play on the part of Eddie Phelan, Quick and Young, the latter player fooled the Hood goalie with an easy shot. The teams then crossed over with the City leading by 4 goals to nil.

Second Half.
Upon resumption of play it was generally predicted that the Hood would soon reduce the score. For the first few minutes of play the Navy had the advantage, and made several determined efforts to score, but without success. The City team were playing to advantage and never slackened the pace, and were again rewarded after eleven minutes of play when H. Phelan scored the Navy's second goal. Game over: City 6 goals; H.M.S. Hood 2.

The game on the whole was very good, and was devoid of any roughness. The City team played a fine game. A notable feature of the play was that every man played his position well, which helped materially in their win. On Thursday night next the City team will meet the players from H.M.S. Repulse.

I LIKE TO FIGHT.

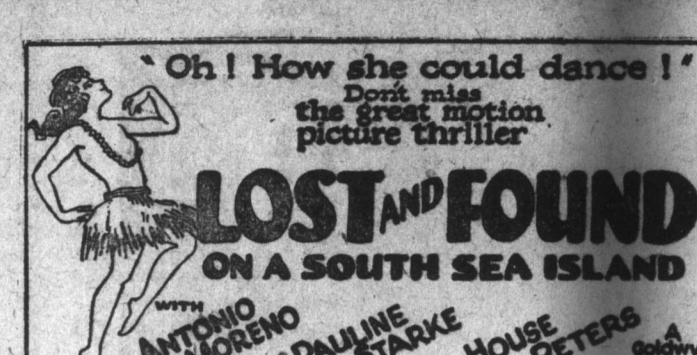

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—(A.P.)—Looking back over 95 battles, which led through a period of 13 years, to his most important engagement, that with Luis' Angel Firpo, at Boyle's Thirty Acres, on Sept. 11, Harry Wills, negro heavyweight, made a simple comment: "I like to fight."

Looking forward to the five years of active ring work which he considers still remain for him regardless of the outcome of the Firpo fight or a possible battle with Jack Dempsey for the goal of all pugilists, the heavyweight championship of the world, he answered a query regarding his future: "I like to fight."

Of his 95 battles, Wills won 44 by knockouts and 30 by decisions. He was knocked out once, lost four times by decisions, fought two draws, 13 no-decision engagements and one exhibition, record books show.
The only knockout he suffered in his career was administered by Sam Langford, negro heavyweight, considered by many observers as the hardest hitting man of his weight who ever fought. It came in 1916 in the 19th round. Wills more than evened the score by knocking out Langford in five rounds in 1918.
Sam McVay, Bill Tate, Ted Jackson, Kid Norfolk and Jeff Clarke, all negro boxers, were also fought over by Wills, as he fought his way to challenge the white heavyweights. The first of these to take a chance, Fred Fulton, was knocked out in 1920, in one round; since that time no white man of prominence has risked his CHILDREN AND EXCUSES.

As I sat in the car the other day waiting for a friend to pick some wild flowers in a field just over the stone wall, I overheard the following conversation between a man in a nearby garden and his son.

"I thought I told you yesterday to roll up this hose on the rack," said the man angrily.

"Yes, but mother said to leave it there and she'd tend to it later because she wanted to use the lawn spray."

The Sarcastic Answer.

"Oh, you're always ready with an excuse, aren't you," was the sarcastic rejoinder. "I'd like to have you do something you're told to once in awhile for a change instead of thinking up excuses."

Under what circumstances shall we accept them from our children?

I agree with the exasperated father that children are usually too ready with excuses. But I don't agree with him in this instance. The boy's excuse was perfectly justifiable, and a sweeping condemnation of all excuses on all occasions doesn't right the wrong.

But is Army Discipline Ideal?

Camp and army discipline demand that excuses for violations of regulations shall be reduced to the minimum, and it's a very good thing because when it is understood that excuses don't go they aren't likely to be offered by way of escaping punishment for some neglected duty.

But in the home I do think that a child's excuse should at least be listened to with as much consideration as would be given to a grown up under similar circumstances.

Now don't jump at the conclusion that I am condoning the childish tendency to get out of things or to avoid the punishment for errors of either commission or omission by finding an excuse.

You Kill the Child's Faith.

I am only saying that when you fail to accept a perfectly good excuse like the one in the incident I have related, you are killing a child's faith in your justice and fairness. The fact that the boy was probably glad of an excuse to get out of rolling up the hose, or even the fact that he might have done it later, after his mother had finished using it, without being told, has nothing to do with the matter. It isn't child-like to do a thing without being told and if you expect children to follow a grown up code you must treat them with the same fairness that you would a grown up.

There are two lines from a poem of Edgar Guest's that I often think of on occasions like this. He was writing about his son and he said, "Even though I seem unjust I would keep his perfect trust."

"That's a pretty high standard to live up to in our relations with our children, but it is a height worth attaining."

You can't keep a child's perfect trust, though, if you are unfair to him.

THE TEST.

God won't ask if you were clever. For I think He'll little care When your toll is done forever. He may question: "Were you square?" Did you do the best you could do With the knowledge you possessed? Did you do the things you should do? That will be your earthly test.

God won't ask what sort of labor Life commissioned you to do. Were you richer than your neighbor? Of the many or the few? But you knew what right and wrong were. What was bad and what was good. And you knew what weak and strong were. Did you do the best you could?

Were you skilful, were you daring. Were you brilliant? What of those? All the medals you are wearing. Once in death your eyelids close, Will remain on earth behind you; And you'll never take away Is the soul which God assigned you For its tenement of clay.

There the great may be the humble And the poor may be the rich; And the weak and frail who stumble And the digger in the ditch May receive eternal glory For the good they have tried to do; God shall smile to hear your story If you lived to what you knew.

Spectacular Film Now Playing at the Nickel

THRILLS AND ROMANCE CONTAINED IN "LOST AND FOUND."

A romance of the South Seas that is both thrilling and convincing is the new Goldwyn picture, "Lost and Found," by Carey Wilson, which is the offering now at the Nickel Theatre. It showed to great enthusiasm on the part of the first audiences in this city to see it unreeled.

The film is filled with pictorial beauty, with strange and compelling drama, with unusual persons in thrilling situations. It may be classified for those who like such definitions, as a romantic melodrama, with action rapid enough to suit the most jaded taste. The photography is unusually clear and much of it depicts scenes that are beautiful beyond belief.

Goldwyn announced that it had sent the director, R. A. Walsh, and the entire cast to Tahiti to film the story on the spot where the action is supposed to take place. That this was really done is borne out by the picture itself, nowhere else than among the islands of the South Seas could such land and sea-scapes have been found. The entire film, on the pictorial side, is a panorama of beautiful scenes.

The story concerns one Captain Blackbird, a planter on a Pacific island, whose wife deserted him for the island governor, fleeing with their eldest daughter, injuring the younger in her mad haste to leave. The man, swearing vengeance upon all of her sex, took to the seas as master of a slave ship. Upon the deck of his vessel the drama is played out when his elder daughter appears. Not knowing her identity, Captain Blackbird is on the point of forcing her to marry Dingo, his filthy mate. The revelation of who she is comes, and there follows one of the wildest, most realistic ship-fights ever staged for a picture.

The cast is exceptionally gifted. House Peters as Captain Blackbird again proving his right to stand at the head of his profession. Others players who give sterling and vivid performances are Pauline Starks, Antonio Moreno, Rosemary Theby, Geo. Siegmann, Mary Jane Irving, William V. Mong and Carl Harbaugh.

"Prodigal Daughters"

STAR MOVIE WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY.

Elmor Forbes, known to her intimates as "Swittie," is the super-famous daughter of J. D. Forbes, head of the Forbes Locomotive Works, who has waxed rich during the war. His second daughter, Marjorie, as well as "Swittie," is inoculated with the spirit of modern Panamanian and unrestrained by their club-going mother, the two daughters follow the paths of jazz, drinking, smoking and rebellion to parental authority.

J. Daniel Forbes returns from Europe and finds no one of his family to welcome him. He learns the bitter truth and when he protests against "his daughters" conduct, both quit his home and announce their determination to live their own lives. Corbin loves "Swittie," but she turns him down and devotes herself to her artist friends in Greenwich Village. Garside is devoted to her, but when Corbin proposes marriage, she agrees, only to change her mind. Meanwhile Forbes, conscious that money has changed his daughters' natures, quits business in despair, leaving the works in the hands of Young Corbin.

"Swittie" continues to gamble at Garside's resort and loses heavily. Garside takes advantage of her weakness and agrees to cancel her debts in the turn of a card provided she will give herself to him if she loses. They cut the cards of a stacked deck, and "Swittie" loses. She agrees to marry him sixty days thereafter. Marjorie, who has married Hodges and separated from him, returns to her parents in penitent mood. "Swittie" sees them at church, but despite the pastor's sermon on the duty of children to their parents, she finds herself unable to confess her weakness to her father and returns to the gateway of Greenwich Village.

Garside demands of "Swittie" the fulfillment of her contract to marry him, and a few hours before the time set for the marriage, she goes to the locomotive works where Corbin's newly designed locomotive is just about to be tested. She gets into the cab and accidentally starts the engine when she clings to the throttle for support. She jerks at the throttle, determined to wreck the engine and die in the smash. The locomotive strikes an automobile in which Garside is seated and kills him. Corbin, who realizes "Swittie's" danger jumps into his airplane and following the speeding engine, hovers over it as he drops a rope ladder.

"Swittie" climbs the rope, leaving the cab just as the engine collides with another on the track ahead. Corbin and "Swittie" come to terms, and later we see them happily guarding a bright youngster who makes life happy for grandpa, J. D. Forbes.

That animal life ascends the mountains far beyond plant growth is one of the discoveries of the Mount Everest expedition.

"The highest growing plant observed was blue vetch at 18,000ft.," writes Lieut.-Col. E. F. Norton, leader of the expedition. "Yet animals possess permanent habitations as high as 22,000ft. A minute and inconspicuous black spider hops about on the rocky cliffs and hides beneath stones in those bare places which happen to be swept clear of snow by the wind. I cannot think on what it lives at such a height."

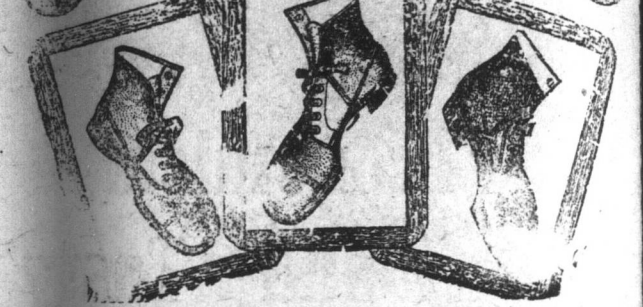

"In these altitudes there is no other living thing—nothing but rock and ice. This little spider is worthy of note, being the highest permanent inhabitant of the earth. We therefore find life on the highest mountains far above the permanent snowline."

London's 4,824 Fires

Of the 7,227 calls received by the London Fire Brigade during last year, 2,403 were false alarms—532 of these being caused maliciously.

There were 4,824 actual fires, causing a monetary loss of £727,901, compared with £708,876 in the previous year.

Seventy-one deaths were caused by fire and 444 people were injured, while 247 firemen were hurt in the execution of their duty.

In response to requests for assistance outside London, the brigade attended 17 fires, at which the estimated monetary damage was £1,529,288.

World Ships

Before and After The Great War.

The enormous impetus given to ship-building by the war has, as in many other lines, left the world over-equipped with ocean transportation. In June, 1914, the gross tonnage of sea-going steel and iron steamships and motor ships owned by the principal maritime countries amounted to 42,514,000 tons.

In June, 1924, these figures mounted up to 57,530,000 tons—an increase of 15,016,000 tons.

The steel tonnage is exclusive of one and a half million tons of wooden and composite steamers (of small importance in international trade) in existence at the present time.

Great Britain, in June, 1924, operated 18,917,000 tons. This is 40,000 tons greater than the amount operated in June, 1914. British tonnage shows an increase of 8,000 tons.

The greatest increase, amounting to nearly 10,000,000 tons, is shown in the case of the United States, their tonnage having increased to 1,837,000 in 1914 to 11,823,000 in 1924. Tonnage in Germany has not increased recently, but, notwithstanding this, the report shows that Germany's tonnage at the present time is 2,242,000 less than in 1914, a decrease of 2,242,000 tons, compared with 2,856,000 tons.

The only other maritime nation showing a decrease from the condition is Greece, whose tonnage has fallen from 820,000 tons in 1914 to 751,000 tons to-day.

In 1914, the United Kingdom owned nearly 44 1/2 per cent. of the world's sea-going iron and steel tonnage. At the present time it owns 33 per cent. The United States now takes second place in tonnage of the world, showing 20.5 per cent. of the total.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
CANADA'S FOREST RESOURCES EMPLOY MANY.

There are upwards of 100,000 people in Canada actively engaged in converting the products of the forest into wealth in some form or another, and with their families this means that half a million people in the Dominion are dependent on the forest for their living. The value of the manufactured pulp and paper products alone is $250,000,000 per year. The pulp and paper companies employ 33,000 men in the mills and pay them each year $40,000,000 in wages. The value of lumber, lath and shingles produced in Canada in one year is $150,000,000. If the lumber industry proper has an invested capital of $250,000,000, employing 65,000 men, and paying them $60,000,000 wages, then you have a forest business that reaches the stupendous distribution in Canada of $500,000,000 a year. And all this comes from Canada's forest resources.

BADLY INJURED BY HIGH TENSION WIRE.

Disregarding the advice of several people who called to him to come down as he was making his way up a telegraph pole, a 15 year old lad of Lachine was hurled 35 feet to the ground, when his arm came in contact with a high voltage wire. The youngster was badly burned and suffered a broken leg. He lies at St. Joseph's Hospital in a critical condition.

VERDUN'S SCHOOL PROBLEM.

The Protestant School Commissioners of Verdun are faced with a debt of $51,000, and have a number of actions for recovery of interest pending against them in the Courts on behalf of bondholders. Some 3,000 children are faced with the difficulty of not being able to attend the different Protestant Schools unless something is done to wipe out the debt. Uniform School rates and a central sinking fund are suggested as a cure. The Commissioners hope that the new Commission appointed by the Taschereau Government will act and act quickly on their behalf. The Chairman of the Board said that the accounts were being sent out, and the best they could do with the money collected was to pay the teachers' salaries, and look after the maintenance of the schools, as regards heat, light and water.

ADVERTISING THE WINTER SPORTS.

"Looking Ahead," and "Take Time by the Forelock," are probably the motto's which the Montreal Winter Sports' Committee adopted in advertising next winter's sports. The committee expect to stage a bigger and better programme than ever before. An attractive brochure has been prepared, showing the many attractive features of a winter holiday in Montreal, and these are being distributed to hundreds of thousands of summer tourists. The hotels, the railways, the teamship companies and tourist bureaus are contributing in their distribution.

The booklet contains the usual pictures of toboggan slides, skating, snow shoeing, dog racing and other delights which are Montreal's own when the snow is on the ground.

TEN YEAR OLD KILLED BY BROKEN GLASS.

Death came suddenly and unexpectedly to a ten year old youth who was riding with his father in an automobile. As the car was proceeding along St. Denis Street, near the subway, where street repairs were being effected, it came into collision with a heavy touring car. Flying glass from the broken windshield struck the boy in the neck. The driver of the touring car had no time to stop his car and the driver of the smaller machine could not swerve in order to avoid the accident. The ambulance from the Royal Victoria was called, but the little victim was beyond medical control.

PROFESSIONAL HOCKEY FOR NEW ARENA.

A new professional hockey team, to be admitted in the National Hockey League in connection with the new arena, is a move that's causing quite a stir among the hockey players and hockey fans. E. W. Ferguson, Sporting Editor of the Herald, says: "Plans are going ahead for the formation of the second Montreal team, and as told exclusively in the Herald three days ago, that fine sportsman, Jimmy Strachan, is almost certain to be on the board, and no expense is to be spared in rounding up a strong team. But the team hasn't yet been admitted to the National Hockey League, and it is only by unanimous vote that a new team can be entered. Whether Canadian will care to pass up their present monopoly on hockey, which has proven a great money-maker under the present clean and astute guidance, is a matter for debate. Considerable pressure will have to be brought to bear before this comes to pass, and if the new team gets in, it can be taken for granted that only well-backed threats of a new League being formed will bring it about. For it is extremely questionable whether two Montreal teams can do well financially. Two teams means hockey twice weekly all through the season. Montreal has a weakness for patronizing only those games which are of importance, Ottawa being the one big drawing card here in recent years. Canadians were attracting an ever-increasing English-speaking support, and if this is diverted and the other support split up, no money is going to be made by either of the local teams. In other days, when Wanderers and Canadiens were both in the League, there was only one year in which both local clubs made money. Montreal is not much larger now, for sport-supporting purposes, than in those days. Canadians, since acquiring a monopoly in the local professional hockey world which has lasted since Wanderers dropped out when the old Westmount arena burned, have always made money, even in the lean war-time days when they were playing in the old Jubilee rink. Wanderers were losing heavily at the time they retired, and were glad of an excuse to quit the game. And history has a painful habit of repeating.

AN APPEAL AGAINST STIFF SENTENCE.

Judge Perrasault in the Court of Special Sessions sentenced Robert French, who was found guilty of holding up Thomas Flynn, paymaster of the British Empire Street Corporation, at the foot of Harbor Street, Hochelaga on May 30th, last, to ten years in the penitentiary and receive 20 lashes with the cat-o-nine tails in two whippings of ten lashes each. French has instructed his lawyer, James Kraukshaw, K.C., to enter an appeal against the judgment. If the appeal is allowed the case will be tried before Mr. Justice Wilson, at the opening of the Court of King's Bench, on September 30th.

CHEAP FRUIT AND VEGETABLES.

Montreal's leading market, "Bonsecours," presents a busy place these days. The farmers come from far and near to dispose of their fruits and vegetables at the famous market. In fact, the market place proper became too small for the large number of farmers who bring their produce to the city in such abundance, that the City was obliged to allow them to use the space in front of City Hall and the Court House, known as "Champ de Mars." But when you pay a visit to the famous Bonsecours, on market days, and see the hundreds of people buying all kinds of vegetables and fruit, you stand in admiration and wonder where all the fine produce came from, and with such an abundance of stuff its quality and cheapness, why anyone in this city should not be well provided with good, cheap and healthy foodstuffs. Here are a few of the prices:—Tomatoes, in boxes, according to size, 25, 50 and 75 cents and $1. Apples, 25 and 50 cts. a basket. Peaches 60c. to $1 a basket. Pears 75c. to $1 a basket. Oranges 25c. to 60c. a dozen. Lemons, 25c. a dozen. Bananas, 30c. and 35c. a dozen. Potatoes, 30c. a peck. New Cabbage, 20c. a half dozen. Turnips 20c. a bunch. Onions, 3 bunches for 10c. Lettuce 5c. a head. Carrots 10 cents a bunch. Celery 5c. a head. Parsley, 4 heads for 10c. Beets, 10c. a bunch. The farmer is a very necessary adjunct in the life of the community, and it would be hard, yes, very hard, to get along without him.

Another Scandal Exposed

Remarkable feature at the Majestic, "The Eternal Three."

It tells the story of a famous Surgeon's devotion to his professional duty despite the personal suffering that it cost him. In the Love-Thief society's most dangerous criminal? He steals into the lives of daughters, sisters and wives—breaking hearts, ruining reputations. He laughs at the tears of woman and plucks his stolen kisses from lips that no longer have the power to deny him. The story of the Man, the Woman and the Lover is Life's drama. The picture which Marshall Neilan has created for the screen is like a living pulse beating across the silver sheet, so warm is it with the emotion of life, so fiery is it with the flames of passion.

Marshall Neilan delves deep into the life of To-day in his latest sensational photodrama. He tells the story frankly and fearlessly of a man who had faith in women—and of another man who destroyed that faith. Only a few times during the course of a year does Marshall Neilan's name appear before the public, and when the announcement is made every lover of the best in the photoplay art is quick to take advantage of the treat. Marshall Neilan has given to audiences a powerful photoplay built from his own original story of modern society life. He pictures with a fearless dramatic touch the hidden secrets of idle wives, the amazing amours, the furious flirtations. He tells the story of a physician whose professional sacrifices leave him little time to spend with his beautiful young wife. Into their life comes a handsome scoundrel. A JOURNEY TO THE SOUTH COAST.

Aug. 26th—Up betimes, having to make a journey this day to the South Coast. So taking the morning train, to arrive in time at Argentinia. But Lord a thing to madden one, the Portia being in Argentinia these three days past, yet has no freight on board her and the cause of it that there are not enough men at the work and the Argyle takes first place to the Portia. A great storm of wind coming up this night. I on board and Mr. Johnstone having a gramophone, we to pass the evening with music. So to bed.

Aug. 27th—Up, the Portia still at Argentinia, and the wind not abated in the smallest, I to wander about Argentinia, being the first time of my having an opportunity to see the place, and is the dearest ever I did see. Anon, the steamer puts to sea, and the water the stormiest I have ever seen it, so that everybody almost is taken with seasickness and forced to go below. I finding it more comfortable on deck, to lay me down in the smoke room and there spend the night.

Aug. 28th—Up and the ship at sea, the water still stormy and few people to be seen anywhere about, albeit the groaning from the cabins terrible to hear and give me a strange feeling about my stomach which I do not like at all. Indeed, the rest of the morning did find me in the utmost misery and the greatest possible relief to make the port of Fortune. I to go ashore there in the mail boat and with divers others, to walk to Grand Bank which is but 4 miles away. But Lord, what a pleasant thing it be to step on the shore after a sea voyage, most pleasant even than anything else I know. Anon, coming to Grand Bank, to put up at Mrs. Patten's hotel, being minded to stay there for some little while.

Aug. 29th—This day I hear strange tale of a motor vessel that did have its captain washed overboard in Langley Reach, which is near St. Pierre. The others of the crew being but a man and a boy, did put to sea in a small dinghy, and in the very nick of time, their vessel sinking immediately after them. So, the man sculling, having but one oar on the dinghy, and the boy bailing, they did weather the storm and after many hours come to Lamaline Beach, which they teach in a state of complete exhaustion. This is, indeed, a marvellous demonstration of the hardness of the Newfoundlander, and one not to be equalled outside this country.

Aug. 30th—Busy all this day with my writings, being much behind in my correspondence. Among other things, did write to my wife, and is the greatest relief that I am away from the wretch for a while, since her tongue do often drive me nigh to madness. But Lord, how I do miss the news of the day here, being that the wires are down and very little coming over them. And indeed, I have had no news since Tuesday, nor know aught of what is happening in the world. This night to Dr. MacDonald's, the magistrate's, to sup with him and his family. The evening mighty pleasant and passes quickly with much good discourse.

Aug. 31st. (Last Day)—Up betimes and take a walk towards Garath, picking berries all the way. Anon, to have tea with Mr. Carr and to pass the day pleasantly in discourse. But Lord, what a surprise I see, when the Sebastopol, coming in this night Povey lands from her, and is come with instructions from our office, and will accompany me throughout the trip, which I am glad for. So bringing him home with me, to help him arrange his things and settle down.

Sept. 1st.—This day mighty warm. I by motor coach to Fortune, Mr. Williams coming with me, and much pleasant discourse with Mr. H. Lake, Mr. Spencer and divers others. Mr. P. Lake shows me his canned codfish which he puts up fresh, and is I believe, a very fine article of food. Anon back and to Bill Matthews shop, there to be trimmed, which is done mighty well. At night to Dr. MacDonald's, Povey and I, and the night passes again with much pleasant discourse.

Sept. 2nd—The strangest thing this day, the vessel Vivian Ruth coming into Grand Bank, collides with the vessel Electric Flash, that was tied to the wharf, and drives it so that the bowsprit enters the store of Captain Piercey and does much damage. A great hole torn in the wall of the building, but neither vessel greatly damaged. Good news this day, of the Government Railway Commission, they putting the Glencoe on South Coast and having the Portia make St. John's her eastern terminus. This a very popular move on the Coast which is not satisfactorily served by one steamer at this season of the year.

Conditions at Hampden

Editor Evening Telegram
Dear Sir—Kindly allow me space in your highly esteemed paper to say a few words concerning conditions at Hampden at the present time. During my stay (which was eight days) I visited most of the families residing there, and found that they were treated well by the Company. On several occasions, (being accompanied by Mr. Balfour and Mr. E. P. Crowe) I visited the different sections where the wood was being barked, and found the men in good spirits, and having advantage given them to work well and without any hardships. There are several cases of typhoid there, but these have now been taken to a newly built Hospital, and are attended by a doctor and two nurses. Arrangements have been made by the Manager to remove all nuisance from the sheds, and also arrangements made to give a good supply of water. Considering the present arrangements it is hoped that the much dreaded disease will soon be cleaned up. The Company has given the upper flat of their office for religious services, and towards the fund, which now amounts to $200.00.

HINARD'S LINIMENT FOR CORNS.

Bishop Spencer College

Spencer College opened this morning at 9.15 with a very large number of new scholars. The Spencer Lodge also began operations with more pupils for residence than last year augurs well for the coming scholastic year. His Lordship, the Bishop of Newfoundland with the Rev. Canons, Bolt, Jeeves, Rev. J. Brinton, Mr. G. R. Williams, Secretary, were present.

After the opening prayers the Bishop addressed the class and welcomed them back to school, which was followed by Miss Cherrington, who gave a synopsis of the recent examinations which were considered most satisfactory. A larger number of pupils having passed than for the past two years. She referred feelingly to the bereavement in the family of the late Mr. Samuel C. Thompson, Assistant Superintendent of Church of England Schools and to his wife who is Vice-President of the Spencer and his daughter, Helen who is very ill. She also referred to Lieut. Grace Watson, Ethel Johnson and Ruth Dawson and others, the former having gone to Montreal to take a course as a Dietician and the later to study nursing at the Orange Memorial Hospital, N.J.

The Rev. Canon Bolt spoke of the good work of the recent examinations and congratulated the staff on the results.

Mr. Williams spoke of the successful Spencer Camp at Mackintosh, where over forty guides spent a very happy holiday, and he congratulated Captain Nash and other officers for the excellent arrangements. Margaret Campbell who won the prize for sketching in camp received her souvenir from the hands of the Principal.

Spencer Club's last gift of a Doherty Kindergarten Piano was placed in position last week which will facilitate Miss Jessops work in that department.

The Directors extended a very hearty welcome to Miss Williams of the University of Wales whose specialty is mathematics and she joins the staff to-day.

TALK DIVIDEND ON MT. ROYAL.

Net Earnings Running Well In Advance Of Last Year—Good Prospects Balance Of Year.

(Financial Times, Sept. 5, 1924).

The situation in connection with the holders of preferred stock of Mount Royal Hotel Company appears to be improving to such an extent that the declaration of an initial dividend before the end of the present year would not be a surprise. Ever since the year opened gross earnings have been running somewhat ahead of last year and yet even more so, as overhead expenses have now been reduced in connection with the operation of the hotel. During the month of August, it is understood, the gross earnings were slightly less than last year, but no convention of any size were held in August this year, whereas the Knights of Columbus convention increased the gross very considerably one year ago. At the same time the overhead had been so cut down that the net for August was above that of August last year.

It is reported that the Hotel has booked a number of conventions for the remaining four months of the present year, and that it will be assured of excellent business, so that there should be a marked improvement in net earnings for the full calendar year ending Dec. 31, 1924, over that of last year.

British Empire Steel Corporation, Limited—Operations are gradually assuming increased activity around the plants of the corporation. The bar mill has been in operation for two weeks and the rod mill will be placed in operation this week, work beginning immediately after Labor Day. It is believed that one of the principal achievements planned in connection with the shutdown of the plant was a general reorganization of staff. Of this account the reopening of the mills in occurring somewhat earlier than was expected when the plant closed down.

Doctors' Debt to Seaweed

MARINE HARVEST THAT BRINGS HEALTH.

Unknown to most people, a new word has been added to the dictionary by the establishment, in recent months, of giant seaweed farms on the Californian coast. "Mariculture," the word in question, will soon be as widely used in conversation as agriculture, horticulture, or any of the other names denoting the cultivation of crops.

In only five years the Californian seaweed harvest has grown to be one of the most important industries on the Pacific coast. More than half a million tons of the seaweed are now harvested annually, and it is expected that in a year or two this output will be increased, by improved methods, including the adoption of elaborate cutting machinery, to 2,000,000 tons a year.

Food for Microbes.
From seaweed science has enabled us to obtain a number of products, including agar-agar, a jelly-like substance invaluable to the medical profession; potash; cattle food; manure; and fibre for use in upholstery and similar work.

Agar-agar, which is semi-transparent and shiny in appearance, is the best-known food for microbes, many varieties of which thrive on it exclusively. This is its most important use, but it is also employed as a curative agent in certain kinds of wounds or injuries, and experts predict that in time it will displace many of those drugs which, while they are valuable in different ways, often have baneful after-effects. In addition, it forms a constituent of jellies and soups, and is used for making moulds in plaster of Paris, clarifying certain liquors, beer and wines among them, and for stiffening the texture of silk and other materials.

Another seaweed product is a form of kelp which is superior to the vegetable substance which photographic films, iodine, and algin, a particularly sticky kind of adhesive paste, are being made in increasing quantities from the same source.

Of the many varieties of seaweed, that known as kelp is the most common and the most beneficial to man. Kelp is found on almost every coast, in stages of growth ranging from two or three feet in length to giant plants with foliage extending more than a hundred feet in different directions. Providing it is carefully cut, a kelp bed will yield three, and sometimes four, crops a year.

In the Californian industry the State Fish and Game Commission has fixed close seasons during which no kelp may be cut. Kelp thrives best in a depth of about seventy-five feet of water, the foliage being held upright by tiny air bulbs, one at the base of each leaf, which ensure that it grows towards the surface. The dense masses are cut with scythe-like knives lowered to a depth of six feet, an apparatus similar to the mechanical reaper seen on farms dragging the seaweed on to the deck of the harvesting ship. Thirty tons an hour can be harvested in this way by a crew of five men.

Japan's Women Divers.
In Japan the cultivation of seaweed is an industry of considerable antiquity, although it was not properly organized until recently. The Japanese kelp grows at the bottom of the sea, and is only a few feet in length. It is collected by women divers, who go overboard with sharp knives, gather a bunch of seaweed in their arms, cut it off with a dexterous sweep of the knife, and return with it to the top, making dozens of descents in the course of a day. But in spite of these more or less primitive methods, Japan exports enormous quantities of agar-agar every year, sending hundreds of tons to America, Great Britain, and France, at a price ranging from £100 to £140 a ton.

LAMB-CLEARY.

At a Nuptial Mass at the Church of St. Vincent De Ferris, Brooklyn, New York, on August 29th, the marriage took place of Miss Elizabeth Kathleen (Kitty) Lamb and Mr. John S. Cleary, both of this city. Rev. Father Murdoch performed the ceremony. The bride wore a dainty dress of pearl grey brocade with hat to match and carried a bouquet of white roses. She was attended by the groom's sister, Miss Madeline Cleary, also his niece, Miss Hilda Krentzlin. They both looked charming in dresses of champagne Canton crepe, with hats to match and carried pretty bouquets. Mr. "Bob" Cleary, brother of the groom, performed the duties of best man.

The groom, who served three years with the Newfoundland Regiment, is an ex-Sergt. and one of our Blue Puttees boys.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleary will reside at 555 Lafayette Avenue, Brooklyn, New York. The numerous friends of the young couple in this city wish them many years of wedded life.

Real Life Portrayed in "Fighting Blood"

WATCH FOR OPENING STORY AT NICKEL THEATRE.

The college boys and girls of America, with their amusing pranks, their secret fraternities, their wholesome, jolly good times; the romances of the worldly youth of twenty and the utterly alluring flapper of seventeen; the joys and sorrows of love, the hopes and disappointments and ambitions of Youth, will be seen in all their co-ed glory in a picturization of H. C. Witwer's story of eager, pulsating young America, "Fighting Blood" one "round" of which will be shown at the Nickel Theatre on Thursday.

Although there is a smashing ring battle shown in one of these pictures, "Fighting Blood" is not a story of pugilism. Gale Galen, the lovable young hero who rises from a soda-jerk to middleweight champion of the world is not the ordinary pug. He is a typical twenty-year-old American youth, with a live sense of humor ready to bubble into action at the slightest provocation, and a goodly streak of romance. The story is crammed full of wholesome comedy and a pleasant love story. George O'Hara, playing the leading role, brings a distinct personality to the screen and is rapidly becoming one of the greatest favorites of motion picturegoers.

Clara Horton plays the role of Judy Wilcox. The pictures were all directed by Mal St. Clair.

PUGILISTIC PLUTES.

We hear about the great rewards that pugilists obtain; they take in money, cords on cords, they haul it in a wain, and then they live like belted lords on t h e i r ignoble boys, w h e n they're in bed, have dreams of earning fame, by punching Firpo's seamless head, or knocking Dempsey lame; as conquerors they hope to tread, the foreign scads, they'll battle for a dime; these victims of the worst of fads once dreamed their dream sublime. They would be monarchs of the ring, and every caravan would bring new stores of good long green; and now their weary duker they swing to get three squares, I ween, There's nothing sadder than to see a fifth rate scrapper fight, to know that haply he might be a useful, helpful wight, a farmer plowing up the sea, with gorgeous crops in sight. He well might see the hungry few, dispensing steaming lunch; or he might herd the cattle red, and keep them in a bunch; but here he's blasting some one's head with blows that lack a punch. Where one man makes the fight game pay, a hundred don't make good; a hundred have their little day, and fade, as failures should; so dreamers, dream of bailing hay and sawing red elm-wood.

WALT MATSON

Trotsky is Popular With People; Feared By Soviet Officials.

Moscow. (A.P.)—Leon Trotsky, Soviet Minister of War, retains a dominant place in the minds and hearts of the Russian Bolsheviks. All efforts within the Communist party and Soviet government to subordinate him have failed. There is little doubt that if a referendum were held among the people of Communist leanings, the creator of the Red Army would be selected to fill the place left vacant by the death of Premier Lenin. But the war minister's associates in the government fear if he were chosen as the national leader of the country, he would attempt eventually to set himself up as a sort of Napoleonian dictator. For this reason they lose no opportunity to repress his personal ambitions and political activities.

Trotsky's services as a speaker are in great demand because of his ready oratorical skill and wide knowledge of international affairs. Scarcely a day goes by that he is not called upon to address a political convention, a scientific congress, or a workmen's gathering. One of his favorite topics at these meetings is America and the American "bourgeoisie." But Americans at home must sometimes be amused at some of the extravagant and alarmist expressions of the Soviet war minister. He is forever ranting about "America's preparations for a new and more deadly warfare on Europe and Japan."

In a flamboyant speech before the All-Russian Sanitary Congress recently, Trotsky said the European proletariat, in its struggle for power and world revolution, would have to reckon upon "capitalistic America as an irreconcilable and all-powerful enemy." He said the revolution would develop much more slowly in the United States than in Russia and the East. He predicted the people of the East would throw off the yoke of imperialistic countries and seize power in Europe, but that "America will remain the most formidable opponent of the proletariat."

The head of the Red Army said that the World War, which reduced Europe to ruins, was made possible only by American support. "Now that the war is over," he continued, "the United States is helping the European bourgeoisie maintain its position. The United States, which has tenaciously refused to recognize Russia, is attempting through the report of the Dawes Committee to organize a system for the enslavement of the European laboring masses. America is monstrously rich. Her bourgeoisie possesses unusual resources for manoeuvring internal and foreign politics."

The Caribou

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir—Hind sight is not the best kind of knowledge, but in some cases, as in the case of our caribou, it may not be entirely displeasing. Looking the stable door after the steed has been stolen is an extreme case of hind sight, and I hope it has not gone so far as this in respect to the preservation of the deer. From all accounts it is problematical whether we can save the deer from the fate of the Great Auk and the Beothuck. An effort should be made even though we wake up a quarter of a century after the call to action first was sounded. The preservation of the deer a quarter of a century ago was quite an easy matter, but then deer were so plentiful he was called foolish who could even think of their extermination. A bit of foresight then could have saved the situation, but when we have never been gifted with such foresight in this country, and I really do bubble into action at the spare when all is spent. We are spending a day of our resources with a carelessness that is criminal. Let an aroused public opinion demand some action at once.
