Suspension of About the Largest Firm at PITTSBURG, Jan. 15 .- This afterno Oliver Bros. & Phillips and Oliver & Rob erts' Wire company (limited) were compelled to suspend payment, and purpose calling immediately a meeting of creditors. There seems to be a general feeling that an extension will be granted. The liabilities are reported to be from three to five millions.

The firm has made large investments in real estate, and has an immense amount of collateral of various kinds. The banks brought against him by sculptor Belt last winter. The case ended by the court of appeals affirming the verdict of the lower court, which awarded plaintiff £5000. Belt expected that Lawes' father, who is rich and had always patronized his son in his profession, would save him from arrest by paying the damages, but Lawes and his father regarded the verdict as unjust and the elder Lawes refused to delar they had belonged to their creditors, and he felt confident the assets would argely exceed the liabilities. The firm largely exceed the liabilities. The firm employs 4000 people.

What the Toronto ladies Relief Society is Bieling

The Toronto ladies relief society has divided the city into nine divisions, all of which are in efficient working order, with a staff of visitors aggregating 106, to attend to every case of distress known to them. Meetings are held the first Monday of each month at 148 Bay street at 2 30 pm, when reports from each division are read and information is given or received of persons in all parts of the city. University Confederation. The board of regents of Victoria college, at its meeting the other day accepted the scheme of university confederation subject to certain conditions. These are: 1. Equitable compensation to all co-inited in the federation for the losses inc

1. Equitable compensation for the losses incident united in the federation for the losses incident to their entering the federation.

2. The perfect equality of all colleges, University college included, in their relations to and rights in the Provincial university.

2. Such an arrangement as shall secure to the alumini of all the colleges an equitable representation in perpetuity.

4. That the chairman of the University professoriate be appointed by the government.

5. That the transfer of subjects from the University college course to the course under the University professoriate, or viag versa, shall be made by a three-fourths majority of the senate.

Passing over for the present the first of these conditions it is difficult to understand clearly what is meant by the second, for the "perfect equality" asked is manifestly ded to be guaranteed by the scheme. If there is anything in the language of the latter which seems ambiguous on this point there should be no difficulty in making it perfectly clear in the act of parliament, should one be passed.

The change asked for in the third condition is merely to have a prevision made perpetual which is made in the scheme terminable at the end of six years. There point either, provided the basis of representation be subject to periodical revision. "Equitable representation" clearly implies representation according to numbers, and if one college is more popular than another and thus attracts to ifself a large number recognized by means of increased represen-

It is difficult to see what is meant by the fourth condition, as the president of University college is now appointed by govment, and as he is also chairman of the necessity be an appointee of the government. The fifth condition does not pre clude a re-arrangement of subjects as between the university on one hand and the colleges on the other, but it would render such a re-arrangement more difficult than the conference scheme contemplates. It is not easy to see what would be gained from a meth odist point of view by such a change, bu it would be in any case too small a rock for such a scheme to split on.

Not so with the first condition. It inthe meaning conched under the word from the rest of the world. "eq ... ble." What are the nature and extent of the "losses" anticipated, and what would be "equitable" compensation? The definition of these terms can come only from the Victoria board, and the sals or demands must be with the governuniversity of Toronto. As the methodist scheme it is to be hoped that an agreement as to what is "equitable" will be promptly reached. Victoria must soon be moved to Toronto in any event, and therefore it would be unfair to charge any loss caused by that removal to the confederation scheme. On the obtaining free tution for Victoria students under the university professorate, and by being able to relieve herself of a large part of her present expenditure for the main tenance of chairs. In view of these facts it is hardly worth while for the board of regents to insist on any compensation at all, if such insistence is likely to endanger an otherwise acceptable scheme.

Canadian Independence With Commer BY R. W. PHIPPS.

The chief objection, in the minds of many, to any proposal of Canadian independence, is the supposedly resulting danger of attack by the United States. In defining independence, as applicable to Canada, it is impossible to avoid stating the fact that there is one course-one plan of independence, under which there would be no danger of that kind, but in which, on the contrary, it would be the interest and subject with me. I do not appear as its advocate; but say that, in the consideration of the possible independence of Canada, it would be altogether incorrect to overlook this most important course.

It is perhaps possible, with the improved that the great North American continent should be governed from one centre, or, in iron deposits, of which so many now use other words, that Canada should successfully be annexed to the States. But I am sure that all students of history will agree that such vast empires, even if, as in a few cases, able for a length of time to endure, have never also converted into articles of use. This presented uch successful experiments as one industry, we must observe, would to induce imitation. But if, in British North America, another great nation should arise, bound to the United States by such commercial ties as to render war between them well-nigh made, affecting commercial matters, withimpossible; adopting hopes, objects and intentions of national progress which might well advance side by side, in fair and honorable emulation, with those of the great republic, but never could conflict with them, such a nation, there arising, and so placed, would offer to the States, and tunities of worthy endeavor to equal or to tages. The third, Canadian independence surpass, in all the arts of peace, of commerce, or of war, neighbors who would be emulous; but who, in the nature of things, would be allies, and who could never be nemies. When we think of Europe—of the hereditary misery entailed on millions can be no great harm in conceding this by its causeless international animosityshall we not say that those who would

Such of students, it should have this pre eminence a plan, and more than one such, is possible. I will not advocate any. In my last article, I strove to sketch, with impartial pencil, the glorious possibilities of imperial confederation. With hand as fair, let me now endeavor to portray the advantages of independence, when coupled with commer-

Let'us suppose Canada and the States separate republics. We wish, let us say, to bind them together by indissoluble commercial ties. The course is this. They must establish a system by which each would buy all possible of the other, that the mutual demand for innumerable articles, perpetual and ever increasing, may call into existence every available resource of the two adjacent nations. In other words, let a complete commercial union with utter abandonment of custom houses along the whole frontier, be established, volves very grave possibilities according to with an equal tariff on all goods coming in My readers will observe that under this arrangement a vast trade would arise. Canada, a northern country, necessarily requires many articles the growth of south ern climes, articles which are produced or negotiations growing out of their propo- producible in the southern states. These states need much from our northern land, ment, not with the authorities of the and from our northern waters-in fish alone their demand is immense,-while church would gain rather than lose by the throughout most of the northern and southern states, if all obstructions to that traffic were removed, I am given to understand by parties long engaged in milling, our hard Northwest wheat would be eagerly secured for the purpose of mixing with their softer grades. In iron, wool, timber, salt, coal and many other articles, other hand, the church would gain by it is probable that a system of free interchange would, at many points along the border, be beneficial. It is very true that the States have adopted a thoroughly protective system, and Canada a partial one; but allow me to explain that this would not stand in the way of any basis of commercial union. A protective system against the world watches diligently that no other country manufactures for the country adopting the system, for that other country need not necessarily return the profits to the first. But in case of a commercial union, although both countries should have committed themselves to the protective system, neither would have so great objection to the other manufacturing

From the Week, Toronto. The Toronto World's suggestion that Canadian newspaper proprietors should combine to employ a special agent for the collection of European news in London, and for the despatch of such intelligence direct to Canadian centres, is worthy of serious consideration, and if adopted would avoid much of the misconception now prevalent in both this country and in Eugland. For it is morally certain that the enterprise of Euglish journalists would be enlisted, and reliable news incorporate. enterprise of English journalists would be enlisted, and reliable news incerchanged which would considerably discount the colored cablegrams despatched via New York. By the compilation of a suitable code, and the renting of a cable for a few hours daily, this most desirable end could be attained at comparatively small cost—a cost that might be still further reduced by arranging with the government for the despatch of official telegrams over the same medium.

San Francisco, Jan. 14.—The Sharon case developed a stunning sensation to-day. The question to be settled was that of alimony and counsel fees. Mrs. Sharon swore her husband was worth $15,000,000 and had a monthly income of $100,000. Her lawyers demanded $150,000 for compensation. Gen. Barnes then proceeded to read an affidavit from Nellie Bracket in which she admits the proceedings against Sharon are a plot, and that the "dear wife" letters were forgeries. Following this affidavit one of Sharon's was read, inthis affidavit one of Sharon's was read, incorporated in which was an agreement between George W. Tyler and M. Gumpel to the effect that the latter was to be paid $25,000 to testify as an expert, that he agreed to the contract and that the other letters were genuine. The agreement, with the signatures of the parties to the job, were submitted to the court. During the reading of Sharon's affidavit, Barnes' voice rose to thunder tones, while Tyler grew redder in the face. At the conclusion of the reading he burst out into a loud laugh. Foote, his assistant, looked uneasy, but after a whisper with Tyler he also smiled audibly. He wanted to know how the damaging documents had fallen into the hands of Barnes, to which no explanation was

Barnes, to which no explanation was offered until Tyler stated under oath that the document was bogus. Barnes then admitted that he had got it from Tyler's own clerk, paying $25,000. Tyler ex-plained that he had put up the job with his clerk who had been approached by a detective in Sharon's employ. Barnes wilted, and in five minutes appeared ton years older. He admitted having faller into the trap.

The point which Tyler has succeeded making is that of establishing a case of actual bribery. The inference is that the Sharon side resorted to similar means in the statement. other instances.

Is it Not Singular -that consumptives should be the lear apprehensive of their own condition, while all their friends are urging and beseeching them to be more careful about exposure and overdoing. It may well be considered one of the most alarming symptoms of the disease, where the patient is reckless and will not believe that he is in danger.

had been experienced on the north shore of Lake Superior, and that St. Mary's river was still crossed by boats. After the acquittal of some and the conviction of others of the Michipicoten whisky gang, quite a brisk trade was carried on in that commodity at the Sault, but with the result that it was nearly all captured before reaching the railway works. It was not all destroyed, however, as in Capt.

Pardan's time—the authorities being "Know him?"

"Labould smile." Burden's time—the authorities being apparently content so long as it was not peddled among the men. Twenty men arrived at the Sault from Michipicoten on New Year's day. They left the river on Christmas day in an open sail boat, and when about forty miles from the Sault were driven ashore in a storm and the boat wrecked. There was nothing left for the party but to foot it over the rock, and this was done. The travelers were hungry, cold and footsore (thanks to destruction of shoe leather) when they arrived, and took up quarters on the Canadian side of the

Catarrh-A New Treatment. Perhaps the most extraordinary success that has been achieved in modern science has been attained by the Dixon treatment for catarrh. Out of 2000 patients treated during the past six months, fully ninety per cent, have been cured of this stubborn malady. This is none cured of this stubborn malady. This is none the ess startling when it is remembered that not five per cent, of the patients presenting themselves to the regular practitioner are benefitted, while the patent medicines and other advertised cures never record a cure at all. Starting with the claim now generally believed by the most scientific men that the disease is due to the presence of living parasites in the tissues, Mr. Dixon at once adapted his cure to their extermination; this accomplished, the catarrh is practically cured, and the permanency is unquestioned, as cures effected by him four years ago are cures still. plished, the catarrh is practically cured, and the permanency is unquestioned, as cures effected by him four years ago are cures still. No one else has ever attempted to cure catarrh in this manner, and no other treatment has ever cured catarrh. The application of the remedy is simple and can be done at home, and the present season of the year is the most favorable for a speedy and permanent cure, the majority of cases being cured at one treatment. Sufferers should correspond with Messrs. A. H. DIXON & SON, 305 King street west, Toronto, Canada, and enclose stamp for their treatise on catarrh.—Montreal Star. 28

A Useful Marshal. From the Detroit Free Press. Talking of war and Bronson Howard reminds me of a story he told me of the fenian raid on Lower Canada a number of years ago. Perhaps I have fold that story in the Free Press before—I know I intended to—but anyhow here goes: Howard was then on the New York Tribune, and a half a dozen of the boys were working in one large room. The dispatches were coming up in "flimsy," hot and warlike. The telegraph editor was an Irishman, and he was powerfully excited over the news from the seat of war. In a loud voice he read the despatches to the rest and they spoke of the massing of the troops, the stands of arms, the order No. so and so of the general so and so of the general commanding. The whole tenor of the telegrams was so war like and in such phrases of the camp that they read as if they came from the headquarters of the German army on the eve of Sedan. Suddenly there came a despatch which said: "The United States marshal drove up in the said states and the general controlled without hesitation the danseuse—which, after all, is perhaps both easier and more practical than to attempt to express the maddening despair of abandonment by posture-making on the stage.

Clergymen, speakers, singers and actyears ago. Perhaps I have told that story "The United States marshal drove up in a closed carriage, arrested the general commanding and took him away with him." The crestfallen look of the teleraph editor, the sudden ceasing of the grandiloquent despatches, the collapse of the army on the frontier all on account of the unmilitary proceeding of the United States marshal with his closed carriage, States marshal with his closed carriage, were most ludicrous. All the boys shouted with laughter. "Heavens," said the news editor, "why didn't we have that United States marshal to go down South and arrest Gen. Lee at the head of his army. What a fuss it would have saved."

A Grand Shot. From the Missouri Republican. Uncle Hal Burgess, who lives several miles north of Warrenton, one day last week found a roost of five turkeys, and concluded he would set a trap for them.

He went home and secured some corn, and T. MELBURN & CO. Proprietors. Toronto.

The Defence Cleverly Caught in an Act of Bribery.

Came back to the tree, where they had been roosting, and scattered a few grains along until he reached an open space between two large logs near by, where he between two large logs near by, where he between two large logs near by the ground. He between two large logs near by, where he put a larger amount on the ground. He then secreted himself behind a tree and waited for their return. He had not been waiting very long when they made their appearance and commenced to pick up the strewn grains of corn, and followed the trail until they came upon the bulk between the logs, and there made a halt, when Uncle Hal fired and killed all five of them.

Thirty-seven years ago the weather at this season of the year was very like what it is at present. On Jan. 13, 1838, a com pany of the Seventy-first regiment arrived in Brockville from Montreal, having been driven in sleighs. Arriving here they found the river open and they abandoned found the river open and they abandoned the sleighs. A small steamboat, the Dolphin, was lying at the dock undergoing repairs, and she was chartered to convey the troops to Kingston. She reached the neighborhood of Gananoque on the evening of Jan. 13, and lay to for the night under the shelter of an island in the river. A heavy frost set in during the night and by morning the vessel was frozen in, and the ice was sufficiently strong to allow the soldiers to walk ashore to Gananoque, where they remained the balance of the winter. The boat was undergoing some repairs when she was taken from Brookville. Messrs. Jobling and Ferguson of this town were at work on her, when she was frozen in at Gananoque, and they followed her up and completed the job.

Superintendent North reported on the work of the year as follows: Inmates January 1, 1884, 89; admitted since, 56; discharged, 38; died, 12; inmates January 1, 1885, 95; average number of inmates, 74. The total number of out-door poor relieved was 4146: number of four-lb. 74. The total number of out-door poor relieved was 4146; number of four-lb. loaves distributed to out-door pensioners loaves distributed to out-door pensioners 32,428, and to temporary out-door poor 628. Soup givem out during the winter months, 175 gallons per day. Disbursements to sick families: tea, 248 lbs.; sugar, 1115 lbs.; rice, 1785 lbs.; oatmeal, 1785 lbs.; coal consumed in the house, 110 tors; delivered to the poor, 550; coke distributed, 1400 bushels.

There were some lively remarks over a report from Dr. U. U. Ogden, medical officer of the house, on the introduction of water closets into the building. He regarded these as a likely source of sickness, and would not be survised to see the and would not be surprised to see the death rate increased. The board opened wide its official eyes and wondered what Dr. Ogden meant by thus criticizing a change which had been made with his approval. Several members regarded the doctor's report as a piece of impertinence, and it was unanimously relegated to the realms of the rejected.

On three performances of the great melodrama Her last Hope will be given at the Grand, namely to-night and to-morrow matinee and evening. The piece gains in popular favor at every representation. It certainly is admirably acted.

On Monday and Tuesday next the most successful comedy of three seasons, known as the Bunch of Keys, will be given at the as the Bunch of Keys, will be given at the Grand. The press is a unit in speaking well of the piece, the St. Paul Pioneer Press, by way of example, saying: "This is one of the best entertainments that has ever visited our city. Miss Anderson, the star, is admirable, her representation of Teddy being a performance to remember for many a long day. F. H. Frear, as Snaggs, is also remarkably clever and amusing. But Arthur Dunn as Grimes caps the climax. He is simply inimitable. GREAT SUCCESS OF SHANACY'S TOURNAMENT.

An Attempt to Bring Mitchell and Mc-caffrey Together—A Walk from Brook-lyn to Frisco and Back—Popularity of Rugby Football.

The Torontonians who took part in the pigeon shooting tournament at Barrie returned home last night. They report the affair a big success. It was got up by M. Shanacy and was well and satisfactorily managed. There were thirty entries in the sweepstakes and every man came to the front. Irvine of Harriston and Pascoe of Woodstock divided first and second money ($100 in all) each having killed 15 birds straight. The contest for third and fourth places was between Bell of Markham and General Grant of Woodstock. Each scored 14 on the go in. Bell won the tie with 4 birds out of 5 and took third money ($30), the fourth ($25) going to Grant. Four competitors killed 13 birds, viz., John Townson of Toronto, Blea of Carleton, Jonathan Blong of Port Perry, and M. Shanacy of Barrie. The shoot off resulted in Shanacy taking fifth money ($20), Townson sixth ($15) and Blong seventh ($10). taking fifth money ($20), Townson sixth ($15) and Blong seventh ($10).

AN EVENING WITH ENGLISHMEN.

The President of the St. George's Society's Nov ! Entertainment. The president of St. George's society requests the pleasure of your company at supper on Thursday eving, the 15th, at John Holderness Albion of Representative Rng shmen and Welshmen have been invited to onverse about the position and prospects of their fellow-countrymen in this city.

In response to this invitation, R. W. Elliot had upwards of forty gentlemen seated round him at the festive board last night, among them being such prominent members of St. George's society as Barlow Cumberland, Samuel Trees, S. G.
Wood, Goldwin Smith, J. J. Allworth,
Richard Lewis, G. F. Frankland, Robert

Paul Rieby, Dr. J. S. King, James Banks,
John Coleman, James Burton, James
Miles, C. J. Holman, J. H. Stockwell; and Robert Jessiman of the ancient order

After the good things, which by the way were really good and excellently served, had been disposed of, Mr. Elliot proposed the queen, which was the only toast drunk. A talk concerning Englishmen in the city ensued. Toronto, said Mr. Elliot, was the most English city in America. The English societies here were 2500 strong. Many destitute English were in the city. St. George's society alone relieved 542 cases last year. The worst use you could put a man to was to make him a pauper. What would remedy the evil of distressed immigrants in the city? Goldwin Smith regarded greater care in conducting immigration as the principal and obvious remedy. Only special lines of immigrants could prosper in old Canada; the Northwest was open to all. This is where government and other agents should discriminate. Dr. Wild thought too many people could not come into the country. The old country was over-populated and it was no more wrong for a man to suffer a little in Toronto than in Manchester. Good times would soon come again and there would be work for all. Mr. Lewis, Mr. Frankland, Mr. Hulme, Mr. Jessiman, Mr. Symons and other gentlemen expressed their views. Mr. Frankland said our sympaties were drawn out a great deal too quickly for immigrants, and we were liable to pamper them. Let the men suffer a bit and they would soon make a move to help themselves.
