MORLEY CHIEF SECRETARY.

CONFERENCE BETWEEN THE IRISH LEADERS AND MR. GLADSTONE.

The Home Rule bill will be introduced in front of all other measures. The Home Rule bill will be introduced in front of all other measures. The Home Rule bill will be introduced in front of all other measures.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—The series of conferences between the leaders of the Irish party and Mr. Gladstone has definitely resulted in such a degree of mutual confidence as promises to expedite greatly the advent of the Home Rule bill.

Mr. Morley fully agreed to accept the secretaryship which was represented to him by Mr. Gladstone that no other Minister would so fully command the support of Irish members of Parliament.

In an interview to-day John Dillon expressed the satisfaction of the Irish party at the prospect of Mr. Morley's holding the post during the critical period in the progress of the Home Rule bill.

Referring to the reports printed in some of the English papers that certain Irish members might take office under Mr. Morley, Mr. Dillon said that such a thing was next to impossible. No member of the party, he declared, would dare to accept a place under an English Government.

"We are pledged," he added, "to accept no post except under a purely Irish administration, when we get it, and we are not prepared to see that rule violated."

When asked whether he could communicate with modification Mr. Gladstone had made in his Home Rule bill, Mr. Dillon replied he would do so.

"We will not have any amendments," he added, "We will not have any amendments, we will not have any amendments, we will not have any amendments."

When asked whether he could communicate with modification Mr. Gladstone had made in his Home Rule bill, Mr. Dillon replied he would do so.

TREND OF TRADE.

Business is of Customary Moderate Volume Without Special Activity.

New York, Aug. 5.—Special telegrams to Bradstreet show that at most commercial centres general trade is of customary moderate volume without special activity, though there are some exceptions.

As seen from the Province of Quebec indicate that the results of six months' business there have been on the whole disappointing. Harvest products, however, are good and the outlook is bright.

In Ontario wholesale trade is fairly active with some lines improving. The wheat yield there will probably not equal earlier estimates.

Bank clearings at Halifax, Montreal, Toronto and Hamilton equal $19,170,000 this week, a decrease from the previous week's total of less than 2 per cent.

The three cities named report bank clearings of $18,440,000 this week, a decrease of nearly 2 1/2 per cent. from last week, but an increase of fully 11 per cent. as compared with the total for the first week in August, 1891.

There were 16 business failures in the Dominion of Canada this week as compared with 22 last week and 28 in the like week a year ago.

THEY WANT A NEW SYSTEM.

North Torontoians Dissatisfied With Their Improvement System in Extension.

The local improvement system in extension here is a humber and a curse to the town, said an indignant ratepayer at the public meeting at North Toronto last night.

Pursuant to the petition of numerous ratepayers, Mayor Fisher called the meeting for the purpose of discussing the question of water supply.

Discussion, however, was not held, as the Mayor refused to accept a purely Irish administration, when we get it, and we are not prepared to see that rule violated.

When asked whether he could communicate with modification Mr. Gladstone had made in his Home Rule bill, Mr. Dillon replied he would do so.

NEWFOUNDLAND IN BRITAIN.

PROPOSED $1,000,000 LOAN OF NEARLY $4,000,000.

Lord Salisbury Promises to Support It Should It Come Up in Parliament, But Will Not Oppose Such Legislation—Verdict Against the British Government in the House of Commons.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—In view of the present critical political situation Lord Salisbury has declined to legislate in favor of a distress loan of £750,000 for Newfoundland, but he promises to support the measure if it is introduced in Parliament.

The celebrated case of Baird v. Walker has been settled at last by a victory for Newfoundland. It arose out of the closing in 1890 of lobster factories on the French shore, owned by James Baird, by Sir Baldwin Walker, captain of H.M.S. Emerald, setting by the British Government.

The case was argued before the Newfoundland Supreme Court, claiming $250,000 damages. The court unanimously upheld his claim, and the British Government, which upheld Walker, appealed to the Imperial Privy Council. It delivered judgment in London yesterday night, in favor of the Newfoundland claim, and the British Government disallowed the sum claimed, besides costs, which are enormous.

STEAMER AUSTRALIA ON FIRE.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—The steamer Australia, formerly the splendid Anchor Line plying between Glasgow and New York, while lying at the Portland Dock, near Bristol, took fire on Wednesday night. In spite of the efforts to extinguish the flames the steamer was well-nigh gutted.

THEY BLAME A MOSQUITO.

But Peter Kennedy's Death was Really Caused by Blood Poisoning.

New York, Aug. 5.—Peter Kennedy, laborer, 60 years old, died in Bellevue hospital yesterday of what he and his family believed to be a mosquito bite.

The physicians, however, set down the trouble as cellulitis of the face and say it was simply a case of blood poisoning.

They say that the insect bite, which was made on the forehead, was not the cause of the trouble, but that it could not have come from a mosquito bite alone.

TO MEET THE AMEER.

Gen. Roberts Despatched to Jellalabad With a Detachment to Regulate the Situation as Serious.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—The serious position of affairs in Afghanistan has decided the British Government to send General Roberts to meet the Ameer at Jellalabad. The mission will be accompanied by a political agent, but the main object is to arrange plans to strengthen the Ameer against internal feuds and Russian advance.

FORESTALLING UNCLE SAM.

Pago-Pago Harbor Seized by a British Man-of-War.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Aug. 5.—The steamer Mariposa arrived last evening from Australia, and in addition to details of the British occupation of Johnston Islands brought intelligence that a British man-of-war had seized Pago-Pago harbor, to be used as a coaling station by the English Government.

The vessel was the British man-of-war, which sailed for Sydney via Samoa on July 16, took an officer of the United States navy, John H. Coffin, whose destination was Apia. His duty was to the United States coasting station at Pago-Pago in order to collect duties on cargo.

Before leaving he stated that the United States was going to keep a regular naval station of the place. The Evening Star of Auckland, New Zealand, says Pago-Pago Harbor was formerly a British man-of-war station, but with the loss of their ships in Apia in the 1890 hurricanes it has been discontinued.

BLAKE'S SPEECH IN FULL.

TEXT OF HIS ADDRESS BEFORE THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

The Member for South Longford Says He Believes Ireland is on the Eve of Becoming a Free Nation.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—The Eighty Club entertained Hon. Edward Blake at dinner last night. Prof. James Bryce presided, Mr. Blake occupying the position on his right hand.

In the introductory speech which Prof. Bryce, who is member for the South division of Aberdeen, delivered he said that although the Liberal majority was small it was full of fighting spirit. The one main object of the Liberal party was the attainment of Home Rule for Ireland. There were the Liberals welcomed a new and valuable ally in the solution of the Irish problem.

Mr. Bryce, recalling the fact that the last time he was present at the Eighty Club, the occasion being a dinner given to him by Mr. Blake, said that the speaker more than fulfilled the expectation which he had formed of the inner working of Home Rule.

The Times, however, makes a severe criticism and says that Mr. Blake has not yet made acquaintance with the problem he purports to treat. He is, he says, too much in a hurry to bid the devil good morning when you meet him.

He is a Leader of the Irish Party.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—The Times' London special says that a consensus of opinion is being formed in the House of Commons as to the introduction of Home Rule into the Cabinet. Everybody is full of the story that Mr. Gladstone is having a whole old hand of fossils once more about him, saying he is now too old to learn how to use new tools.

The Irish party had a meeting in the historic committee room No. 10, looked itself over, and was very well pleased with the result.

The new Committee of Control contains all the old members—Mr. Blake, Mr. Dillon, Mr. O'Shea, Mr. O'Brien, with the exception of David in place of William Abraham, who is not a member of the House of Commons. Mr. Blake, Mr. Dillon, Mr. O'Shea, Mr. O'Brien, with the exception of David in place of William Abraham, who is not a member of the House of Commons.

Mr. Blake will be Leader.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—Blake's address at the Eighty Club dinner last night is the chief speech of political comment in the papers to-day. Mr. Blake follows his speech so closely, but the subject matter of the speech was warmly received by the audience last night and heartily recognized by the Liberal press to-day.

HIS DEATH DUE TO A FALL.

Investigation Into the Death of William Chapman at Thornhill—Found Lying on the Roadside and Carried Into a Barn to Sleep of What was Supposed to be a Drunken Man.

The death of William Chapman of Thornhill has been investigated, and the verdict of the coroner's jury is that he died from injuries received by a fall; cause of fall unknown.

Coroner Orr presided at the inquest, which was held at Skardon's Hotel yesterday afternoon, and County Crown Attorney Dewar did all the questioning. High Constable Jones looked after the jury, and everything was carried out with despatch.

The following is a true story of the whole affair, as gleaned from the evidence of the half-dozen witnesses who were sworn:

The deceased, William Chapman, was a hard drinker, and had several relatives in Thornhill who are highly respected. On Friday night last he called at Skardon's Hotel at 8.30 and again at 10 o'clock. On the occasion of his last visit he was considerably under the influence of liquor, and the daily news says that towards 11 o'clock Skardon, wanting to close his house, took Chapman and another man named Edward Brown to the hotel.

The two men went out accompanied by a woman, who was identified as the wife of Chapman. They had walked into the street Chapman and Parkinson began to wrangle, and the other two men followed them. Chapman and Parkinson went to the hotel to fetch her husband home.

THE PRINCE'S WAGER

[It is easier to get arrested for nothing than one would at first imagine; as is shown conclusively in this amusing story, which is translated by Sophie Earl from the French of Henri Pages.]

Toward the end of the second Empire, Prince Edmond de Karival was the most brilliant troubadour of the Boulevard des Italiens.

Very blond, pale and slender, imperceptibly plump, a temperance coachman, zero,—with the aid of his enormous fortune he amused society by his freaks and fancies, even communicating occasionally to acquaintances the populace.

One evening he gave a grand dinner at his own mansion in the choir was exquisite, and the dessert was served in a whirl of gaiety.

"Very well; let us wager," cried the prince suddenly, "I will bet you a thousand francs that you will not be able to do anything better than to tell me a story of a vagabond, a thief, an assassin."

He spoke in an easy tone from which he never departed, even when making the most extraordinary statements or propositions, and his words cut clearly through the laughter and conversation.

"I wager two thousand francs—who will take it up?"

There were wealthy men around the board, well used to heavy stakes; but the magnitude of the sum startled them.

"There is no doubt," said the prince, "no words, or anything like that," quired the fat Duke de Morville.

"Not in the least," replied the prince; "I give you my word as a gentleman."

"But," suggested another, "you will probably proceed to do one of those actions which, without being classed as offences, yet arouse the police. As, for example, you will show yourself in public in such an extravagant or remarkable costume that you will be followed by a crowd of jeering urchins, and, to put a stop to the disorder, an officer will be obliged to conduct you to a station, where he will lead you less conspicuously."

"You are quite wrong," replied de Karival; "if I should get myself taken up for wearing some extraordinary costume, the officer would know very well that he had only to deal with an eccentric character, an oddity otherwise inoffensive. No; I tell you they will grasp me by the collar and drag me to the station believing me to be conducting a mafioso, while I shall be perfectly innocent of any fault or misdemeanor, transmitting or transmitting."

"Well, then, how will you go about it?" exclaimed Gastamie, the banker, who was very nervous and excitable.

"Ah, that is my secret. You can understand that if I told you that beforehand."

"Of course," interrupted Gastamie; "but I have it now! You will tap a policeman on the shoulder saying: 'Old fellow, I'm your man. I have killed all my family in a moment of frenzy. Remorse is choking me. Take me up, old fellow, let the law do its worst.'"

They started with laughter. The idea of the Prince de Karival tapping a policeman on the shoulder, calling him "old fellow" and begging relief from his remorse, awoke the wildest merriment. The prince alone preserved his cool gravity. He explained quickly to the impatient banker that his intention was not only to abstain from evil-doing, but even to avoid any words or actions capable of provoking his arrest. And he repeated:

"I shall take up the two thousand francs."

"I cried Gastamie with an exuberant gesture.

The next day, about seven o'clock in the evening, when the honours were swarming with people and the restaurants began to fill up, a shabby wretch made his way through the crowd with bent head and watery eyes, picking up here and there, the cigar-stems others threw away.

The man was still young, and had evidently fallen from a higher rank to judge from the distinction of his pale, refined face, his patrician hands, his general bearing.

Very tall and thin, he must have been an elegant figure in society. Now he was reduced—by what vice or misfortune?—to old shoes with broken straps, and at his neck an old black silk cravat which looked as if it might have been worried by a family of playful puppies.

Still, it was evident that this unfortunate man was not discouraged or despairing, for in all his misery there was a certain care and cleanliness not usually apparent in men of his class.

As he passed before Vignerot, a restaurant then very fashionable, he stopped for a few seconds to look in at the clear windows with their gipsy hangings, through which the diners could see the diners seated opposite to richly dressed ladies, and dividing their attentions between the exquisite viands and their fair companions. At that moment a gentleman and lady got out of a carriage, and entered the dining room. Through the open door the shabby beggar could see a table laden with fruits and airy vegetables, while toward him rattled that color of request, so disagreeable to those who have just dined, so delectable to the hungry.

He advanced, and before the door closed, placed and timidly placed himself at the first empty table.

But he was scarcely seated when the head-waiter, a very distinguished and stylish-looking individual, perceived him and hurried toward him with an expression of annoyance.

"What are you doing there, you?"

"Why," replied the unfortunate, pointing to the other guests, "I come to eat, like all these people."

He spoke so seriously that it was impossible to think he had been drinking. He shook his napkin at the intruder to chase him off, as one would a troublesome fly. His appearance certainly did not grace the establishment. But the other diners did not seem disposed to quit his place.

"I don't care much for soup," he answered, "and the food given out in the morning would not suit me."

The head-waiter was struck with the purity of his accent and the refinement of his thought. "This is no born vagabond," he thought; "it is some man of position, ruined by gambling."

"And," continued the shabby one, "there is no reason why you should not serve me a dinner when I am ready to pay for it. There—if you have any doubts—there is my pocket book." He opened his napkin and from an inside pocket drew out a pocket-book stuffed with banknotes. Selecting one, he handed it to the waiter.

"You may look at it closely if you will see it is not a counterfeit."

It was a note for a thousand francs; and there were at least fifty others in the purse, so judge from its volume. The waiter took it, and scrutinized it for several instants, with wide nostrils and meditative frown. Then abruptly raising his head, like a man who makes

A CHAPTER OF ADVICE

How Youthful Dissipations Make Drafts Upon Old Age—The Language of the Passions.

Middle-Aged Men.

THE good I do hath oft been evil spoken of by fools. A man without wisdom lives in a fool's paradise.

Though I look old, yet am I strong and hearty for in youth I never did apply hot and rebellious liquors in my blood; nor did I with unwholesome diet fill my stomach.

Old age has the foundation of its joy or its sorrow laid in youth. Every deed, right or wrong, that transpires in youth bears relation to all that ensues.

Every immoderate draft which is made by the appetite and palate in youth is so much as is cashed in old age.

It is not object to any amount of gaiety or vivacity that lies within the bounds of reason or health, but I do reject such excess as worthy to be stigmatized as dishonorable and unmanly.

Men have an impression that youth is a time when the body is sound and wholesome and that it is not subject to any of the infirmities of old age.

The appetites of youth, which either in social or solitary life are so much gratified and which are so many inducements to sin.

It is not one single appetite or passion that is not in nature, but the insatiable indulgence of that appetite or passion leaves that natural language, sores or lesions, upon the face of the body.

Man creates his own diseases. In a general sense, disease is the legitimate and necessary result of the violations of the laws of our physical system.

Improved Approaches and Rapid Transit Required at High Park. Will Convert It Into a Recreation Resort for the Masses—Correspondence on the Proposal of Beautifying Toronto.

Editor World: The unprecedented duration of the recent heated term has brought forcibly before the public the absolute necessity of a sufficiently commodious pleasure and recreative resort for the masses, where fresh air and health-giving amusement may be had at a minimum of cost and easy access from the more densely populated wards.

The Queen's Park, now little more than an ordinary square, is entirely inadequate for the requirements of our industrial people, hemmed in as it is by the University, Park road, and other thoroughfares. The massive buildings and other structures, bricks and mortar taking the place of wooded grove, the artificial usurping the natural beauty of the place, greatly curtail the usefulness as a public park. Our attention is, therefore, directed to High Park, with its 340 acres of upland and moor, fir-clad heights and shadowy glades, its cool streams and myriads of wild flowers just as nature created it, save here and there a winding path and the necessary carriage drives skirting the hills and leading through the ravines to the elevated portions, the paths and picnic grounds in view of the Humber Bay, catching glimpses of Mimico points in the distance. Add to this the charm of the western side bordering on the historic Grenadier water, comprising 50 acres of unequaled boating facilities, the home of the beautiful pond lily and many rare aquatic plants, the delight of the children in the holiday season and the hundreds of pleasure-seekers who visit the park throughout the summer months.

Strange to say the entrance to this attractive spot has lately been closed by management, although thrown open to the public by the owners, for strictly speaking this part of the grounds has not yet been added to the park proper.

Notwithstanding, however, the attractiveness of this extensive piece of property and in view of the fact that it cost the city little or nothing, it having been donated to the corporation by the late Mr. J. G. Howard, makes it the more surprising nothing of any importance has been done to make it accessible to the general public. It seems incredible that some of our aldermen or citizens themselves have not taken this matter up.

It is true an electric car route has been decided on via Dundas, College-streets and High Park-avenue, but this merely lands the people at the northern limit of the Park and is intersected by a wide ravine, which will require expensive bridging before the central part of the grounds can be reached, a serious barrier to this approach.

The only really practical and direct entrance is by Queen-street, almost in a straight line to Mr. Howard's original roadway recently widened and graded and leading by the shortest possible course to the Park heights and favorite picnic grounds.

The requirements of the citizens demand that some means of access be provided and at least one electric line carried direct to the centre of the park, and the one that offers the most efficient service will transfer privileges from all residential centres to undoubtedly the Queen-street route. The construction of Queen-street extension is simply one of grading, and the required few feet of private property is by no means a serious obstacle. It might be mentioned in this connection that the proposed lake drive would intercept Queen-street at this point and the old Howard gateway the principal approach to the park.

Should a commission of citizens be appointed to assist the aldermen in carrying out the suggested embellishment of the city, the park improvement and lake drive should be one of the first matters to engage their attention.

They could also take into consideration the projected marginal drive around the Grenadier water, similar to the beautiful Schuyler kill carriage way, Fairmount Park, Philadelphia.

Island Park Leases.
Editor World: I understand that a number of the leases of Island lots are about to expire soon. Whether soon or later, I wish to awaken the attention of the citizens at large to the advisability of not renewing the leases. Every lease as it falls in should be dropped, no new leases should be made. The whole Island should be a park. Every citizen should have the right to visit and enjoy the benefits of the Island without having to contest private rights or be annoyed with private interests. The park routes are no equivalent for the deprivation of the citizens to the park. A citizen should be at liberty to settle down at any point on the Island for his catering for the day and enjoy the advantages with his family. Two or three well-regulated homes for refreshments would be necessary. In a word, make the Island the park it should be for the benefit of all. It is doubtful if any other city on the continent would throw away such a public advantage.

Keep Cool,
THE DRUGGISTS' DEBATE.
They Too Are Down Upon Cutters and Intruders.

The Provincial Pharmaceutical Association held its final session yesterday, Mr.
William Murchison, the president, in the chair. "Local organization," by R. S.
Muir of Fort Elgin, was the first paper read,
and was a strong plea for such institutions as highly useful and beneficial to the trade.
A general discussion followed, many druggists giving examples from their personal experience and conferring on the best ways of meeting contingencies.

"Pharmacy Past, Present and Future," was read by Mr. Roberts of Parkhill, and was a history of the past and a consideration of the various encroachments by large drug stores.

The action of the council in relation to the amendments to the Pharmacy Act was sustained. The convention adjourned at 5 p. m.

James Cullen, Post's Island, N.F., writes:
"I have been watching the process of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil since the late season, and with much pleasure state that my anticipations of its success have been fully realized, it having cured me of bronchitis and soreness of nose; while not a few of my rheumatic neighbors (one old lady in particular) pronounce it to be the best article of its kind that has ever been brought before the public. Your medicine does not require any longer a sponsor, but if you wish me to act as such, I shall be only too happy to have my name connected with your prosperous child."

There will be a Y.M.C.A. camp meeting and conference held at Geneva Park, Orillia, commencing Thursday next, Aug. 15, and continuing until Monday, Aug. 18. A number of the prominent association workers in Toronto will be present, including Messrs.
J. J. Gairdner, R. B. Gordon, Theron Gibson, H. W. Frost, Rev. Dr. McTavish, Robert Kilgour and William McCulloch.

Rev. Dr. F. S. Benson, the consistent Baptist minister from Chicago, will open the Y.M.C.A. course here on Tuesday evening, Oct. 4.

This evening at 8 o'clock, at the young men's meeting, Mr. Charles Johnson of London, Eng., will deliver a short Gospel address, and to-morrow evening at 8.30 the Rev. William Johnston of Aberdeen, Scotland, will give an address to young men on the subject, "Message for Being a Christian."

"August Flower"

There is a gentleman at Malden-on-
the-Hudson, N. Y., named Captain A. G. Pareis, who has written us a letter in which it is evident that he has made up his mind concerning some things, and this is what he says:

"I have used your preparation called August Flower in my family for seven or eight years. It is constantly in my house, and we consider it the best remedy for Indigestion, and Constipation we Indigestion, have ever used or known. My wife is troubled with Dyspepsia, and at times suffers very much after eating.
The August Flower, however, relieves the difficulty. My wife frequently says to me when I am going to town, 'We are out Constipation of August Flower, and I think you had better get another bottle.' I am also troubled with Indigestion, and whenever I am, I take one or two tea-spoonfuls before eating, for a day or two, and all trouble is removed."

chure, describing the scenery along the Belt Line Railway.

NOT SO

We find that there is an impression abroad to the effect that no one can purchase from us unless a member of the Grange Society. NOT SO. We sell Butter, Eggs, Provisions, Groceries, etc., to city people without distinction. We deal with thousands of farmers all through the country. We sell to them and get produce from them to sell. Therefore, coming direct to us, the articles are fresher and prices lower than if they passed through two or three hands, as is usually the case. We want city people to know that they can buy all kinds of Provisions and Produce from us cheaper than they can elsewhere, and also that they can buy Groceries and Household Goods Retail at Wholesale Prices.

RHEUMATISM

It is a well-known fact that medical science has utterly failed to afford relief in rheumatic cases. We venture the assertion that although Electricity has only been in use as a remedial agent for a few years, it has cured more cases of Rheumatism than all other means combined. Some of our leading physicians, recognizing this fact, are availing themselves of this most potent of nature's forces.

NERVOUS DISEASE

Thousands of people suffer from a variety of nervous diseases, such as Essential Weakness, Impotency, Lost Manhood, etc., that the old modes of treatment fail to cure. There is a loss of nerve force or power that cannot be restored by any medical treatment, and any doctor who would try to accomplish this by any kind of drugs is practising a dangerous form of charlatanism. Properly treated, these diseases

CAN BE CURED

Electricity, as applied by the Owen Electric Belt and Suspensory, will most surely do so. It is the only known force or power that will supply what is lacking, namely, nerve force or power, imparts tone and vigor to the organs and arouses to healthy action the wild-nervous system. It will positively cure Nervous Prostration, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Kidney Disease, Lumbago and Lame Back and Dyspepsia.

Beware of imitations and the worthless cheap so-called Electric Belts advertised by some concerns and peddled through the country. They are electric in name only, worthless as a curative power and dear at any price.
Our trade mark is the portrait of Dr. Owen embossed in gold upon every Belt and appliance manufactured by us.

GRATEFUL-COMFORTING
EPPS'S COCOA
BREAKFAST.
"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has prepared his breakfast tablets with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many harmful doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle poisons are floating around us ready to attack whenever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well dressed with pure blood, and a properly nourished frame." - Good Service (Illustration).
Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in packets by grocers, labelled thus:
