a word, and it is quite evident that the policy of the company is to stand pat just as long as possible.

It is also officially announced that the proposed strike will not at present affect the men operating the road, altho no one can tell what the morrow may bring forth.

It is by all odds the greatest callout that has ever taken place on the C. P. R. or any other Canadian railway.

Altho a bluff game is being tried it is quite evident that the officials of the company are quite anxious to-night and are probably looking for something favorable to turn up to-

It appears, however, to be only too well decided as to the intentions of the men.

BRITISH SYMPATHY.

OTTAWA, Aug. 4.—(Special).

—His Excellency Earl Grey has received from Lord Crewe, colonial secretary, a message expressing his sympathy with Canada in the loss sustained by the forest fires in British Columbia. It is as follows:

"I have learned with very great regret of the disastrous fire in British Columbia and earnestly trust that the loss of life and property may not prove life and property may not prove to be as great as it is now fear-

"I will be glad to receive such information as your government has to hand."

Fire Sufferers' Need.

Toronto has not yet forgotten the disastrous fire that swept away a large district of the city, and is, therefore, all the better able to appreciate the terror that has came upon Fernie and the other towns in that part of British Columbia, from which has come the cry for help in the hour of need. Few of the people will have failed to read the tragical description of the loss of life and property that has so unfortunately accompanied the track of the flames that have turned scenes of busy industry into wastes of ruin and brought misery and anguish into many happy homes. If a touch of sorrow makes the whole world kin, much should that which has come to British Columbia awake the sympathy and invite the assistance of Canadians everywhere.

Money to relieve actual and pressing necessities is urgently required, and an appeal which cannot and will not be disregarded, is made on behalf of the sufferers. The local response has been instant and liberal and it has been generously seconded by the bordering cities of the United States. Ontario and Toronto are also invited to contribute their quota and the call will not be in vain, In this noble work every citizen who has it to spare should make it his ambition to be associated, and the city treasurer has consented to receive and remit all subscriptions forwarded in aid of the destitute and homeless. Let every reader of The World according to his capacity, send a contribution to R. T. Coady, at the city hall, and remember the old proverb, that he gives twice who gives

REDUCED GRAIN RATES. Trunk Line Officials to Hold an Important Meeting.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—The slow movement of grain shipments to Europe that has prevailed for some time, causing the withdrawal of many steamships from service this summer and the operation of others at a loss, may be relieved on Thursday when there will be a meeting in this city between the traffic managers' committee of the Trunk Line Association and men representing the ocean carriers, to discuss a possible reduction of railroad rates between here and Buffalo.

The object of the traffic conference is to recover for American ports the trans-Atlantic grain business, which Montmeal has been capturing so largely. The steamship men blame the diversion to the Canadian city to the high cost of railroad transportation from Buffalo to the coast cities.

Fassing of the Ingenue.

WOMAN

Has the ingenue gone? The question is asked by a writer in the Theatre Magazine. He says:

A wag observed the other day in the lobby in one of the New York theatres, "The ingenue will soon be extinct as the buffalo." Pressed for a reason for this pessimistic prophecy, he said that since the stage holds the mirror up to life it must eliminate the ingenue as American life has eliminated her. "Our girls burst from childhood into womangirls burst from childhood into womanhood," he went on. "There is no longer any intermediate ground of girlhood. The ingenue is being provided for only in French and Italian plays, because she exists only in France and Italy."

This opinion might have been derided as absurd, but now comes forward Miss Elizabeth Marbury, the dramatic authors' agent and playwright, who expresses a similar view. She says: "The drama of the sweet young girl, who is separated from her lover by the machinations of a wicked villain, has gone out of date with crinoline and slavery and other monuments of foolishness. The big drama is being born. That is the writing on the theatrical wall." Miss Marbury, who is the pioneer American play broker, and who represents most of the prominent dramatic authors of Europe, speaks with an authority that always commands attention.

If this be true, every theatregoer, especially the young girl portions of our audiences, will deplore the passing of the ingenue, that sweet caramel-chewing, unsophisticated young creature, who looks upon all the world with the wide opened and surprised eyes of a young fawn, and who awakens in the manly bosom of the leading juvenile, if not the clean-shaven hero of the play himself, a consuming and undying affection. One may, perhaps, get too much of this milk and water miss if she is allowed to remain too long on the stage, but a short scene or two in which the ingenuous face and sweet treble voice of innocent girlhood are the conspicuous features is always welcome.

The popularity with the playgoers of the young women who play the ingenue roles will seem to prove, therefore, that the character is not quite extinct in public interest.

Queen Victoria.

Sir Theodore Martin, K.C.B., K.C.V. O., has published a book entitled 'Queen Victoria as I Knew Her."

Probably it has been said before that of all the Victorians Queen Victoria was herself the most Victorian. She had most of the virtues and not a few of the limitations we suggest when we apply the words "early Victorian" to a woman. Especially was she Victorian in her view of the responsibilities and rights of women. One of the most interesting letters contained in Sir Theodore Martin's intitle monograph bears upon this point. The Queen, writes her majesty in the noisy days of 1870, "is most anxious to enlist everyone who can speak or write to join in checking this mad, wicked folly of Woman's Rights," with all its attendant horrors, on which her poor feeble sex is bent, forgetting overy sense of womanly feeling and propriety. Lady — ought to get a good whipping," "It's a subject," the letter goes on, "which makes the Queen so furlous that she cannot contain herself. Woman would become the most hated, heartless and disgusting of human beings were she contain has arrived in Toronto ten disgusting of human beings were she contain has arrived in Toronto ten disgusting of human beings were she contain has arrived in Toronto ten disgusting of human beings were she contain has arrived in Toronto ten disgusting of human beings were she contain has arrived in Toronto ten disgusting of human beings were she contain has arrived in Toronto ten disgusting of human beings were she contain has arrived in Toronto ten disgusting of human beings were she contain has arrived in Toronto ten disgusting of human beings were she contain has arrived in Toronto ten disgusting of human beings were she contain has arrived in Toronto ten disgusting of human beings were she contain has arrived in Toronto ten disgusting of human beings were she contain has arrived in Toronto ten disgusting of human beings were she contain has arrived in Toronto ten depart for England to-morrow vight has a pricest meeting is to be held at the hall queen street and Denison-avenue, the hall at the held at the hall Queen street and Denison-avenue, the held at the hall queen street and Denison-avenue, the held at the hall queen street and Denison-avenue, the held at the hall queen street and Denison-avenue, the held at the hall queen street and Denison-avenue, the held at the hall queen street and Denison-avenue, the held at the hall queen street and Denison-avenue, One of the most interesting letters disgusting of human beings were she allowed to unsex herself." Sir Theodore's account of the character and tastes of Queen Victoria is acter and tastes of Queen Victoria is naturally appreciative rather than critical. He admits, on the other hand, in regard to her etchings, that "the drawing is not remarkable, and that, as etchings, the difficulties of the art have not been overcome." He expresses a high opinion, however, of her artistic taste, and her straightforward, homely style of writing. "She could not bear it to be thought," he tells us, "that what she wrote was written for at luncheon and daughter, Miss Ethel, "that what she wrote was written for a tuncheon at the Queen's yesterday. "that what she wrote was written for style and effect." He quotes as one of her rarely expressed literary judgments her comment on "Middlemarch":

"After all, fine as it is, it is a disappoint of the property of the proper "After all, fine as it is, it is a disappointing book; all the people are failures." One of the most interesting passages in Sir Theodore's book, however, gives us a glimpse of the Queen, not as a stateswoman or a critic of the arts, but in her relations to Mr. Gladstone during his premiership in the sixtles. Mr. Gladstone had sent her, in January, 1868, a copy of his bill for Disestablishment of the Irish Church along with a letter explanatory of the measure.

must have been absent from Osborne at the time, otherwise the Queen would have turned to him for aid in clearing up any difficulty she found in mastering these documents. I was, therefore, surprised to receive a note from her Majesty, sending them to me requesting me to read and return them wits a precis of their contents, as she had read and recread Mr. Gladstone's very long letter, and found herself more and more lost in the clouds of his explanations the more she toiled thru them.

On the whole it must be said there is very little that is fresh in Sir Theodore's book. It is interesting, however, as giving an intimate and symbol.

Controllers Discussed Proposal Yesterday and Will Take Action Shortly.

The board of control had an inormal conference yesterday afternoon on the subject of W. G. Chace's offer to assume charge of the construction and operation of the city's new electrical distribution plant.

There is an increasing probability that Mr. Chace's terms will be accepted, especially as he has reduced his salary requirement from $5000 to $4000 a year. The city engineer, who was present at the meeting, is understood to strongly favor the appointment.

These are chiefly for illegal selling against license-holders, and against certain steamboats plying to and from Kingston. Inspector Clarke Wright, against Rev. Mr. Burke, the Methodist minister there. Mr. Burke has made ly to Mr. Wright, and the action is said to have arisen from this.

Rev. Mr. Burke declares he will deto the administration of the License Act in Kingston. Out of this and newspaper remarks the attention of the provincial inspectors and secret service men were drawn to the district. The reports current were found to be not without some foundation, and as a result the informations were laid.

26 Summoned.

KINGSTON, Aug. 4.—(Special.)—All but five of the 28 retail liquor men were to-day served with summonses for selling liquor on Saturday nights, making the biggest round-up in the city's history. Information was laid by Inspector Ayerst of the license department, Toronto, as a result of the work of two detectives here for some days past.

The majority of the defendants have but one charge against them, but one has three and another two. Not content with land business, the detectives went on the water and summonses have been issued against the management of the steamers America, Caspian and North King for selling without a license.

The cases against the hotelmen will be heard Thursday. D. M. McIntyre has been retained for the department and James Haverson is looking after the interests of the hotelmen.

The liquor men are full of fight and have been holding meetings to take steps for their defence.

our friends down Boston way who hit over .300 in Toronto last week are showing the effect of class in pitchers. Joe Kelley's average in the 52 games he has played is .233, and Jack Thoney's a little better, .250 for 29.

Thoney has been delivering the goods as a fielder in a manner that marks him among the leaders when it comes to making catches that rob batsmen of hits, writes Arthur McPherson in The Boston Journal. The fans on the local grounds have seen him work, and those on the road have come to expect him to display his wonderful ability. In this they have not been disappointed,

"Oh, yes! Thoney has been doing that kind of work repeatedly on the road!" replied McBreen.

It didn't get a rise out of Hughie, tho the whole field was wildly applauding the "Bullet."

During the last home series there was considerable grumbling about Thoney's bitting. He was weak, to be sure, but he has been doing some timely swatting at Cleveland and Detroit and his run-getting ability has not slumped.

Detroit Are Confident.

DETROIT, Aug. 4.—Work for the big Canadian regatta at St. Catharines has been completed by the Detroit Boat Club carsmen. The huskles are in prime concition, and they should make a creditable showing, the they will be opposed to some splendid crews. There will be no changes in the personnel of the senior four, and D. B. Duffield, Utley, Creig and Emmons, the same quartet that rowed at Burlington last month, will again be in the hoat. The junior eight has been working hard recently, and its time has been very satisfactory. R. D. Caig is likely to represent the club in the junior singles, while I. Craig and D. B. Duffield are to try their luck in the senior singles.

Indians' Shooting Tourney.

Says Heinrich, (the maltster):

THERE I learned my trade, - in Munich, where they make the fine Bavarian beers that are nearly as good as R-e-g-a-l Lager,—I used to think those old-fashioned German brewers were 'most too particular about the grade of the barley they bought.

"Ach! They were e-a-s-y,—compared to these R-e-g-a-l people.

"My old boss in the biggest Munich brewery would have had apoplexy if the farmers asked him as much for barley as R-e-g-a-l barley costs.

"But doesn't this high-priced R-e-g-a-l barley make a mellow, rich, fragrant malt, though? I don't wonder doctors say R-e-g-al Lager is food and drink in one. It's got all the flavour and zest of the finest Munich beers,without their usual heaviness.

"I choose the choicest Ontario barley for R-e-g-a-l Lager. That, and the choicest hops -they come from the Saaz Valley, in Bohemia, -and water that's far cleaner than any you drink: these make R-e-g-a-l Lager. It's a quality brew, matured ('lagered') so it can't make anybody bilious.

"You'll like your dinner better if you drink R-e-g-a-l with it. That's sure."

The Canadian Forestry Association, which has been doing excellent service in the discussion of Caradian forestry problems, is this summer making "a special effort to get the people to understand the tremendous significance of properly conserving our forest wealth." As a preliminary means to that end, the association has issued under the caption, "The Forests and the People" a pamphlet setting forth in brief the aims and objects of the association and pointedly indicating the gravity and increasing urgency of the situation. Altho the inception of a clear, well-considered and preprovident estimated that some 7,000 or 8,000 visitors were in the city.

That is to say, the most important function in social life, on the intellectual side, is inadequately sustained.

It is as true in education as in business that good pay increases efficiency. The ten-dollar-a-week clerk does no more than enough to earn his weekly pittance. So, too, the professor who is paid only $1000 a year for his services accomplishes no more than what will be judged a decent amount of teaching. Mr. Carnegie's "Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching" has good psychological warrant. A professor who receives a low salary has not only nothing to incite him to better work, but he is also worried about his domestic finances; and the result Premiers Rutherford and Scot in Alberta and Saskatchewan are both consulting and directing public opin-ion in regard to the demand of those provinces for rural telephones. Fewer restrictions need be placed upon municipal action since the telephone ness in the new provinces is less advanced. But both governments will vigorously engage in pushing on the long distance lines. In Saskatchewan rural municipalities will be supplied free with their poles, which is a most important and practical idea of giving special aid.

It is with some national pride then that the people of Eastern Canada can look upon the progress of this unique experiment in public ownership, here in the west. All manner of plans have been devised and tried, both in Canada and elsewhere, for proporting settlement upon the waste moting settlement upon the waste western lands. Public ownership may beethe golden key that will really admit the frontier settler to the enjoy-ment of reasonable social life. There is no doubt of the earnestness with which the present experiments are being undertaken, and if they succeed, there is no telling what things may follow. One thing is already in sight, and that is the railway problem, which will not wait long upon the success of the telephone. The people are deeply occupied with their interests in both respects.

Seeing Toronto.

Many people who come to see Toronto's annual fair come also to see the city itself. There are many who will not be able to spare the time to visit the city during fair time.

By these the "500,000 Population and Industrial Edition of The Toronto World" will be appreciated. This edition will take the city, with all its business activity, to them, in story and illustration. In it will be given to the reader pen pictures of Toronto's industrial, commercial and professional life, and bright, breezy descriptions of the city's beauty spots and points of interest will have their place.

This edition will be printed on fine book paper, and the half-ton illustrations will be of the very best.

If you cannot get to the exhibition, do not fail to procure a copy of this special number; and if you can, take a copy home with you as a reminder of your visit. You will know more about Toronto, after seeing it, if you read this Toronto edition.

The cleaners of the bear cages haul the water hose around from one cage to another, wearing out the hose and sprinkling the onlookers occasionally. A much better plan would be to have taps in front of the cages; one tap would do for every three cages. The expense would be very little and the results more satisfactory.

HITCHCOCK JOINS ISMAN.

Savage's Grand Opera Company Among Missing.

Raymond Hitchcock and Flora Zabelle have joined "The Merry-Go-Round" company, in spite of the objections of Henry W. Savage. The lank, urcanny comedian's transfer of his aliegiance from Mr. Savage to Felix Izman is said to be an outcome of his recent trial. Hitchcock spent a large sum of money in defending himself, and when he needed fine, nelal help Mr. Isman came to his assistance after other and closer friends had failed him. Whereupon he expressed his gratitude by declaring he would sign a centract with Isman for life if his services were needed, and the present engagement is the result.

Henry W. Savage's English grand opera company will be among the missing next season. The announcement that the organization would be disbanded has caused a widespread surprise, for it had come to be regarded as a permanent operatic institution. Mr. Savage declared that an inability to find a fitting successor to "Madame Butterfly" was the reason for his decision. He had intended to follow it with another work by Puccimi, an op-

The railway companies are doing everything possible in the way of carrying free anyone who wants to leave here but the great majority do not know where to go.

A Mother's Herofsm.

Among the many heroic cases revealed is that of Mrs. Henry Morris, wife of a miner, caught in the edge of brush with her five little children. Her husband had been caught in their burning home and perished. The woman carried and led her children, the youngest four years old, along a small stream into the interior, twelve miles, fighting for their lives every inch of the way. Frequently the whole family had to lie down in the stream to avoid suffocation. Their clothes were literally burnt from their bodies, their bodies being blistered, and they were nearly thirty hours without food.

The heroic mother fought her way thru a pall of smoke and fames, and finally reached the railway track, where she was picked up with her children by a relief train. The whole family had been listed as dead.

Serious Aspect of the Blaze—Relief fund Necessary.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 4.—Winnipeg awoke this morning to a sense of the staggering disaster which has swept the Crow's Nest Valley. Much Winnipeg capital is involved, especially in ocal mines and timber limits, while scores of folks are anxious regarding the fate of relations or friends in Fernie itself or in the outlying districts supposed to have been fire swept.

The board of control in session this morning decided on relief measures, and medical men are also getting their organization ready. The city has contributed $5000 to the relief funds.

Subscriptions have already begun to pour into local newspaper offices, and tens of thousands of dollars will be immediately available. One very sericus feature of the situation is the cutting off of the principal and most readily available source of coal supply for the Canadian prairie west, especially at a time when fuel stocks are depleted.

In the first place Mr. Prevost blamed Sir Lomer Gouin for having incited opposition to the ex-minister in the last election.

"I will make war," he said, "upon the prime minister so fiercely that within six months both Sir Lomer Gouin and Hon. Adelard Turgeon will have left political life."

The speaker declared that Mr. Bourassa would eclipse Chapleau and Mercier in brilliancy. Prevost claimed still to be a Liberal, but he would chase from public life and the party men who he claimed were unworthy to remain there, and to call themselves by the name of Liberal.

In a word he promises all sorts of sensations at the next session.

able companion. While by no means the best of story tellers himself, he had a keen appreciation of the humerous and ludicrous phases and incidents of life. I will not soon forget an evening I spent with him in company with Governor James Proctor Knott of Kentucky. The greatest story teller of the age was at his best, and the delight of the occasion was, as Cleveland declared, "beyond expression."

More than once I have been a guest in his home. During the campaign of 1892, when his associate upon the national ticket, I spent some days in conference with him at Gray Gables. The memory of that long ago visit yet lingers. He was the agreeable host—the gentleman; more than that, the tender, considerate husband, the kind, affectionate father. It has never been my good fortune to cross the threshold of a more delightful home.

I saw Mr. Cleveland last upon the occasion of his visit to Arbor Lodge, Nebraska, to deliver an address at the unveiling of the statue of the late Sterling Monton, former secretary of agriculture. The address was worthy of the occasion, and indeed a just and touching tribute to the memory of an excellent man and an able and efficient calline that man and an able and efficient calline tret minister. In my last conversation with Mr. Cleveland, upon the occasion mentioned, he spoke feelingly of our old associates, many of whom had passed away. I remember that the tears came to his eyes when the name of Colonel Lamont happened to be mentioned.

of Colonel Lamont nappened to be mentioned.

During our stay at Arbor Lodge, the beautiful Morton home, by invitation of the superintendent, Mr. Cleveland visited the state asylum for the blind at Nebraska City. In his brief address to the unfortunate inmates of the institution, Mr. Cleveland mentioned the fact that in his early life he had for a time been a teacher in an asylum the fact that in his early life he had for a time been a teacher in an asylum for the blind, and spoke of his profound interest in whatever concerned their welfare. I have heard him many times, but never when he appeared to better advantage or evinced such depth of feeling as upon this occasion. The passing of the last ex-president marks an epoch. He was, indeed, a striking figure in American history. Take him all in all, we may not see his like again. The "good citizenship"—an expression frequently upon his lips—to which he would have his countrymen aspire, was of the noblest, and no man had a clearer or loftler conception of the responsible and sacred character of public station.—Adial E. Stevenson in The Circle.

Dog Owners Meet To-Night.

The secretary writes: Intense feeling among dog men has been stirred up by reason of the proposed lead or keep your dog fenced in. It is questionable if the Ontario Kennel Club rooms will hold the gathering of dog men that will assemble therein to-night. The meeting will be called to order at 8 o'clock, and will, no doubt, be the largest dog meeting that has ever been held, thanks to the offices of Frank Slattery, who is and always has been the watchdog of dog legislation. Every dog man or lover of a good friend will be on hand to prevent the passage of Russian law, so far as the good is concerned.

After temporary irregularity some of the best informed houses appear to expect improvement to-day in Union Pacific, Reading, Missouri, Kansas & Texas, Amalgamated, Anaconda and Locomotive. St. Paul is being sold on rallies by professionals, with stop order protection. The same may be said of U. S. Steel. The big fire is causing selling of Canadian Pacific, but it may be bought on heavy activity, as the pool has not distributed. The old pools are working again in Chesapeake & Ohio working again in Chesapeake & Ohio and Ontario & Western. As before stated, we would not neglect fair re-

There was a great deal of the stock for sale above 108 and some of it came from inside sources, but the important offerings just over the market seem to have been withdrawn in the interest of the general bull compaign and would not be surprised to see this stock advance a good deal further. We doubt, however, whether the company, although a good deal further. We doubt, however, whether the company although the move in the preferred will help it.—

SUPPLY MAY BECOME EXHAUSTED.

World Office, Tuesday Evening, Aug. 4.

Public buying entered the Toronto market to-day much more so than has been the case for months. The holidays served to develop bullish enthusiasm and many who would not touch stocks at half the present prices came in and bought to-day, for fear the supply would become exhausted. It was a great day for the financiers, and they took full advantage of the outside demand. The tractions and electric issues practically formed the market, and a local pool in Twin City was formed to-day on the grounds that this issue is much more entitled to advance than many others. Twin earnings are expected to show good increases for several weeks now and this, it is thought, will help-the stock. The market continues one-sided and will be so until the outside buying power has been fully utilized. HERBERT H. BALL.

LONDON, Aug. 4.—(C.A.P. Cable).—
In the August number of The National Review W. T. R. Preston, Canadian Trade Commissioner to Japan, has a lenghty article on fair play to Japan.
"The sooner," says Preston, "we dismiss the idea that Japan may possibly be a hewer of wood and a drawer of water for the western nations, the better. There could be no greater illusion as to the actual situation. It should be frankly and fairly faced, It may startle some stay-at-homes to realize that the Japanese regard themselves as the equal of any western nation.

Charming Muskoka

It is conceded is best reached by the Grand Trunk, the pioneer line, and that the trip along Lake Simcoe's shore through Barrie, Orillia and Severn to Muskoka Wharf is a delightful one and never grows tiresome. The best steamers leave this commodious wharf, and every one knows that the Grand Trunk service from Toronto at 19.00 a.m. and 12.01 noon and 2.00 a.m. (sleeper open at 9.30 p.m.) cannot be equalled. Round trip from Toronto $4.55 to $6.35 to any point on lakes. Be sure your tickets read via Muskoka Wharf and enjoy delightful sail. Hotel Thief at Work.

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 4.—(Special.)—
A most daring theft took place at the Dominion House at noon to-day. While Miss J. Higgins was at dinner someone unlocked her door and became the possessor of a valuable pearl watch, two rings and her purse, containing some twenty dollars. This is the second theft in the house since the new year, the proprietor's sister being the first victim. She had two rings taken while at dinner in January. A reward is offered for any information that would lead to the discovery of the thief.

Change Has Come Over Farmers Who Have Adopted New Ideas -Better Business Methods.

In a letter from Tiverton an occasional correspondent of The World farmers. I suppose it may be attributfarmers. I suppose it may be attributed to the new methods introduced by the younger generation. In the days when I was a resident here every farmer felt it incumbent upon him to be out in the harvest field at 5 a.m., which meant the routing out of the heavy-eyed hired man at about 3.30 a.m. Starting in at 5 a.m. with all sail set the day's work went on with two short intermissions for food until long after sundown, after which all hands tmbled into bed, dead tired and dirty, with the full knowledge that the same weary grind would have to be resumed on the morrow. Such a thing as recreatior, or a holiday was a frivolity not to be entertained. As a result Jack was a dull boy indeed. Attending church services on the Sabbath and listering to long drawn out sermons, plentifully interlarded with the fires of hell, were about the only respite.

In the old days the farmer was too busy to think. Your farmer of the present goes out to the field at 7 a.m., and quits promptly at 6 p.m. except in cases of emergency. He sports a good driver and a nobby buggy, dresses well, lives well and has long since lifted the mortage off the homestead. The farmers of to-day seems to have neat, unpretenticus cottages along the lake shore, where their wives and families spend a few weeks each summer. The farmer of to-day seems to have acquired the knack of turning everything to the best advantage, and uses his head to save his feet and hands.

Within a short drive from Tivertor

Within a short drive from Tiverton quite a little sammer colony has sprung up literally in the night at a spot called Inverhuron, about 8 miles distant from Kincardine. There are a number of Toronto people holidaying at this point, which boasts one of the finest bathing beaches on Lake Huron.

Inverhuron is held to be the finest natural harbor on Lake Huron with the possible exception of Tobermory, and for some years there has been an agitation among lake mariners to have the Dominion government fit it out and maintain it as a harbor of refuge, as in the land-locked bay within a stone's throw from the shore is to be found 22 feet of water with good blue clay archorage.

strength later, which was in conserved with wheat and corn. There is every indication of a sensationally builish government report.

Provisions developed considerable steadiness on moderate selling of September deliveries, influenced by the declines in the grain market. The inventment demand was much below the recent volume, and shorts and smaller packers absorbed most of the offerings after prices had yielded rather sharply after prices had yielded rather sharply after prices had yielded rather sharply after prices. Wheat—There was a lull in the wheat pit to-day, and prices ruled within a centrange, final quotations showing it loss for the day. The large country acceptances and hedging sales by cash houses exerted a depressing influence, but the continuous stream of reiterated reports of damage in the northwest can disconstitutions with the ration of damage in the northwest account repoles, making a firm market thrusout. The big buyers of yesterday remained true their faith in the long side, and bought will selve the chief will not well as the cheap farm laborers' excursions, on which the rate to Winnipeg is only 310, with the return for $18.00 addition—al, are decidedly for men, and that serious, and we look for higher prices.

Corn—The market was forced to assimilate heavy offerings of corn during the early session. The Bartlett people were heavy buyers on the decline, bringing about a partial recovery.

Cots were inclined to weakness; conditions were prortes; should the limfavorable news keep up this market will sell very much higher.

District Between City and East Toronto Wants to Come In-Live News From County.

If anything were needed to confirm he wisdom of the action of the board of control in extending to the eastern fortion of York Township the benefits of annexation, it was abundantly sup-biled in the mass meeting held in Reid-venue Presoyterian Cnurch last

No such representative meeting has ever been hitherto held in the Ashdale, Reid and Coxwell-avenue districts, and that the gathering by a vote of 250 to 2 passed a resolution approving of the principle of annexation to the city is a fair index of the ceeling generally over the proposed.

The chair was occupied by Rev. D. Wallace Christy, pastor of the church, and that the big gathering manifested such intense interest (in spite of the weather) in all the arguments advanced by 20 or more speakers is an indica-tion of the feeling generally in the dealt with the matter of sewage, and police protection.

It was pointed out that the Reidavenue district and in fact all that portion east of Greenwood-avenue west of East Toronto and south of the Danforth-road was rapidly filling up, and demanded a more modern and comprehensive plan of building than could obtain under any township council, however progressive.

Simpson Rennie, the well-known expert judge on agriculture, returned to the city on Sunday evening from a trip thru Renfrew County and the Ottawa Valley, where he was engaged as government judge on field grain competitions.

Mr. Rennie reports the pea crop as a comparative failure, owing to the presence of the field louse which has attacked the vines, and in the case of late sown has completely ruined the crop. Generally speaking, Mr. Rennie reports the conditions in the east as rather disappointing. Late spring, and much wet followed by long dry period is given as the reason. To-day he goes to Waterdown, where he will judge on grain growing.

In view of the prevalence thruout the County of York of the "sow thistle" and the futile efforts of many of the farmers to rid their lands of the pest, the method of cultivation adopted by some of the most successful will be of general interest. The plan pursued by Mr. Rennie will be given in the county columns of The World within two or three days. The experience of others who have succeeded in erradicating this weed will be gladly published

THIRD DAY

HEN a woman looks over her house on sweeping day in mental review, how many things there are which rise in her mind's eye to worry her! The spare bedroom is old-fashioned and stiff-looking, the dining-room chairs are squeaky and scratched, the parlor needs a new and more modern suite, the hall furniture looks dingy and common. "Oh dear, but what's the use grumbling? I can't afford new furniture now," the little woman philosophizes on ordinary occasions.

Now, however, the case is different. This is an EXTRAORDINARY occasion. Everybody can afford to buy furniture now. In fact it is a mistaken economy NOT to buy now. The Furniture Sale commenced on Tuesday and you can buy furniture cheaper and better now than for years.

We instance two very remarkable examples on sale specially to-morrow. Hundreds of other opportunities when you come.

Navigator Unable to Make Landing Owing to Anchor Rope Not Dropping.

Capt. Beachey made his second successful flight in his airship yesterday afternoon. He left the island oval at 5 o'clock and passed swiftly over the bay in a northeasterly direction, making a wide sweep around St. James' Cathedral and then steering westerly for the city hall tower. Capt. Beachey swung around the tower and then headed for Hanlan's Point. The airship behaved splendidly and was all the time under the complete control of the nervy navigator. Arriving at the island Capt. Beacher pointed the nose of his ship directly for the centre of the lacrosse grounds. When within 50 feet of the ground he out his anchor rope and then threw out his anchor rope and then stopped the motor. The rope, however, became tangled and the attendants could not reach it, the result being that the ship began to soar again. Capt. Beachey saw that his gas bag was in danger of drifting against the grand stand and he let out sand enough to carry him over. Then he opened to carry him over. Then he opened the mouth of the balloon and released the mouth of the balloon and released a quanity of gas.

The airship settled down to within a few feet of the water in the lagoon and skimmed the surface. A motor boat set out in pursuit, but could not make headway and the balloon drifted into the tall grass near the western sandbar. Capt. Beachey directed his car into a telegraph line on the sandbar and he made fast there till help arrived. A line was attached and the machine towed agross the lagoon.
