PEOPLE'S MONEY DRAINED TO FINANCE SPECULATION

Continental interest has been shown in the following article, which appeared editorially in The New York World on Tuesday last, under the caption "Wall-Street - Worst of Gambling Places."

(New York World editorial.) Gov. Hughes in his message recom-mends the abolition of race-track gam-bling. He asks the legislature to make bookmaking at race-tracks a prison offence, like pool selling. His authority for this recommendation is section 9 of article 1 of the Constitution of the State of New York, which requires that "the legislature shall pass appropriate laws

The Order-Run Your Cars

The Ontario Railway and Municipal Board, Wednesday the 8th day of January, 1908,

James Leitch, Esq., K. C., chairman; A. B. Ingram, Esq., vice-chairman. In the matter of the Corporation of the Town of Toronto Junction, complainant, and the Toronto Railway Company, respondent:

Upon the application of the above-named complainant, complaining that the respondent has failed and is failing to do an act, matter or thing required to be done by a certain agreement entered into on the 6th day of October, 1899, by the respondent with the complainant, by which, in consideration, among other things, of a grant of the right to run cars over Dundas-street, in the Town of Toronto Junction, for a period of twentythree years, the respondent agreed and undertook, among other things, as

"The City Company" (meaning the respondent) "shall each day operate its regular Dundas-street service along Dundas- street, between have gone down in the blazing ruins the eastern limit of the town and the western limit of Keele-street; and cars operated on said street shall be those operated on the regular Dundasstreet service of the City Company to the westerly limit of Dundas-street, within the City of Toronto,' by neglecting and refusing to operate the said cars or any cars in pursuance of the said agreement, and has, in respect of the said agreement, violated or committed a breach thereof. Upon reading the complaint of the complainant in that behalf, and the reply of the respondent thereto, and upon hearing the evidence of Mr. G. S. Abrey adduced, and what was alleged by counsel for the complainant in presence of counsel for the respondent, and it appearing in the public interest that, until the final determination of the said complaint, the respondent's cars, by means of which the regular Dundas-street service of the respondent is operated, should recommence and thereafter continue to run from the westerly limit of the City of Toronto to the westerly limit of Keele-street, over Dundas-street, within the limits of the Town of Toronto Junction;

The Board doth order that the respondent do forthwith commence, and until the final determination of the said complaint, unless and until the board shall sooner otherwise order, do continue each day to operate its regular Dundas-street service along Dundas-street, between the eastern limit of the Town of Toronto Junction and the western limit of Keelestreet in the said town, using the Y at Keele-street for the purpose of turning its cars, and that the cars so to be operated on Dundas-street aforesaid and the said Y shall be those operated on the regular Dundas-street service of the respondent to the westerly limit of Dundas-street within the

And the Board doth fix and appoint Tuesday, the 28th day of January, 1908, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, at the chambers of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board, in the legislative buildings in the City of Toronto, for hearing the said complaint.

Best Fire Department in Universe Crippled by Lack of Water Pressure at Skyscra. per Blaze.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 .- Four men, three of them firemen, were killed and about $5,000,000 worth of property was destroyed by fire which ruined the 13-storey Parker building at Fourthavenue and 19th-street between midnight and daylight this morning. The firemen were missing when the roll was called and they are believed to

There it was seized by the imperifed men and the free end was made fast about a chimney. Down this rope, hand over hand, dropped the men to safety.

Three firemen were penned in the upper storeys and, driven out by the flames, clung for 20 minutes to a sign Ladders Burned Beneath Them.

Three firemen were caught in the sixth storey when a floor below them dropped, and were forced upward to the seventh, and then to the eightn storey of the blazing building. From below it seemed that rescue was impossible, until several firemen, selzing scaling ladders, began to swing ives up the face of the tottering wall. Climbing to a window ledge, the ladder, with its great hook, was drawn up and swung to a higher ledge, the men working heroically until their endangered comrades were reached. Down the smoking wall the men came slowly until they were near enough to the ground to drop into comrades' outstretched arms. So narrow was the escape, for rescuers as well as rescu-ed, that the ladders themselves were ourned where they hung when the firemen dropped from their rungs. But even the rescue of these men was not complete, for three who went up into the building failed to return. They disappeared in the mass of falling concrete and twisted steel beams. It is their bodies that sorrowing comrades were searching for among the smoking rules this morning. In addition to the missing, a score or more firemen were hurt, their injuries ranging from painful bruises to hurts which may prove fatal.

Couldn't Hit the Fire. OFFERING THOUSAND REWARD OLD COUNTRY SOCCERRESULTS For the Arrest of Colin Harbottle-

World-Wide Search.

Perhaps the trenuous efforts ever put forth by the Toronto police to locate any criminal are being exerted to locate Captain Colin C. Harbottle, absconding secretary of the Toronto Club. The police commissioners have raised the reward offered for information leading to his arrest from $250 to $1000, and circulars bearing a minute description of his personal appearance and habits are being sent broadcast by the local detective department.

BIG BOOM LAUNCHED FOR POSTAL SAVINGS BANKS

Officers See in Scheme Direct Remedy for Hoarding of Currency.

When the United States National Board of Trade metes in Washington in a few weeks, the Trades League will launch a boom for the establishment of postal savings banks in all the large cities of the country. Resolutions will be adopted urging congress to lose no time in giving the postoffice department the necessary authorization to have the banks started.

Officers of the league see in the scheme a direct remedy for the hoarding of currency that has always been a practice among foreigners who usually distrust banking institutions, and which has been growing largely among the working classes since the recent exposure of Wall-street's financial manipulations.

"As a general rule," said N. B. Kelly, "As a general rule," said N. B. Kelly, secretary of the Trades League, yesterday, "you will find that foreigners have a dread of banks because they read every little while of some suspension or failure. They hoard their money in secret places in their homes. money in secret places in their homes, and thus prevent it getting into cir-

"It has been the same way with a large number of working men and families of average means since the recent financial upheaval. This hoarding is undoubtedly hurting business generally, and if there is some way in which it could be stopped the step should be taken immediately.

According to Secretary Kelly, the postal banks would solve the problem pointed to the fact that persons who fear the stability of banks generally could easily be induced to deposit with the national government on the strength of its great credit. The funds so deposited, he said, could be turned over at the end of each business day to the government depositories, and thus be put into immedoate active cir-

The plan is to have the banks located in the postoffices of the large cities and in sections where there are large numbers of artisans and laborers at work, so as to encourage thrift. A re-solution to this effect will be introduced at the national board meeting by the league, and the representatives of trade bodies in all sections of the country have announced their intention of supporting the scheme.

BAD HOSE FIRE MENACE. Underwriters Find Nearly Half of It

Burst in Less Than a Year. New York Tribune: As a result of careful investigation extending over a long period, undertal stance of the New York Board of Fire Underwriters, the attention of Commissioner Lantry of the fire department has been called to the dangerous condition of most of the hose of the department. The facts presented to the missioner by the board show that an astounding amount of hose has burst, and that in the event of a great fire, such as those that devastated San Francisco and Baltimore, the safety of the city would be seriously men-The work of the investigation was tional Board of Fre Underwriters, which made a report to the committee on fire prevention of that body. This report was transmitted to Commissioner Lantry by Henry W. Eaton, chairman of the committee on water supply and fire department of the New York board. The information gathered by the experts who conducted the investigation has been carefully prepared in tabular form, and all sorts of details as to the quantity, quality, brand and age of the bursting hose are included in these tables. Cases of weakening with specific engine companies are cited in some instances, and it is shown in the report that in some cases between 35 and 49 per cent. of the hose of certain companies has burst at fires in a period of less than a year. It is also developed that hose has burst in many cases at a pressure considerably less than that which it is warranted to stand under the specifications.

Numerous specific recommendations as to the method of placing the hose upply of the department on a safe basis are made to the local committee by the national board as a result of the investigation, and the local board expected to urge the adoption of these recommendations at an early date. They include the adoption of new specifications, the immediate purchase of a considerable quantity new hose and the most careful testing of hose bought. Provision is also made

Jesus Christ, Who told us to pray to God to be delivered from evil, also by supernatural power.

These questions ought to be carefully considered and answered by the advocates of Christian Science, because, as it appears to me, if the body was not really sick or the mind so aberrant as to require supernatural power to cure, then the foundation of our belief in the miraculous power and Godhead of Christ receives a shock. On the other hand, if Christ, God, really did perform miracles in restoring enther body or mind by supernatural power, there is still this question to be answered, viz: Why, if God is the author only of what is good, did He ever allow men to suffer if God is the author only of what is good, did He ever allow men to suffer from sickness of the body or delusions of the mind?

AMUSING BUT USEFUL.

An amusing motor car breakdown competition was held at Clitchy, France, recently. The motors were manipulated beforehand, so as to cause breakdowns. Then the motorists started engines and on the breakdown occuring, were given twenty-five minutes to discover the cause.

The onlookers were greatly amused by the frantic efforts of the competitors o discover what was wrong within the specified time. The tricks played with the motors by the judges were discovered to the competitors. numerous, but many competitors were successful. It is suggested that such contests are an excellent method of training mechanicians.

The Player Piano

Will be a 1908 Favorite

There is the largest kind of assurance that the player-piano will become additionally popular as a family instrument during 1908. The sales were greatly increased within the year just closed-sufficient to indicate the further increase that is bound to take place this year.

And why not? Here is an instrument that will adorn any parlor that is not distinguishable in appearance from a fine upright piano, but an instrument that anyone in the home can play.

One does not need to possess a knowledge of music to be able to play our popular automatic in-

Force is that which tends to produce motion. When a gun is fired certain forces are developed which tend to produce motion in the bullet. The force of gravity tends to draw all things to the earth. When we are lifted to the certain forces are developed which tend to produce motion in the bullet. The force of gravity tends to draw all its store of energy has gone. The Insurance Law

Will Be Opposed by the I.O.F.

So Declares S. C. R. Stevenson.

The Attitude of the I.O. F. toward the pending Insurance Bill is indicated by the following statement given out last evening at I. O. F. headquarters by that the product of the two factors re-mains constant and equal to the amount of work to be done.

ower of a machine is the measure of the work which it is able to do in a given time. It is expressed as foot pounds per minute, or foot pounds per second.

If one motor could do 1000 foot pounds of work is a county of the count pounds of work in one second and another motor required two seconds o do the same amount of to do the same amount of work it is quite evident that the first-mentioned has twice the power of the second.

It requires a certain amount It requires a certain amount of work to raise one million gallons of water from the lake to the reservoir. A very small engine could pump this amount if it were given time enough, but if a million gallons must be raised every half-hour then engines of great power must be used.

great power must be used.

There is no time factor in work or There is no time factor in work or energy, but in power time is considered, as well as force and distance. Power is expressed as force multiplied by distance, divided by time, thus:

Force multiplied by distance, divided by time equals power.

Horse Power.

When the steam engine first came into use it was applied to doing work that had been previously done by horses. It had been found that a good horse could do work at the rate of 22,000 foot pounds per minute. Watt, to make sure of good measure, designed his engines so that they would do 50 per cent. more, or 33,000 foot pounds per minute for each rated horse-pow-This has been the standard horse power ever since.

A weight of 33,000 pounds raised one foot high or 330 pounds 100 ft. high, or 3300 lbs 10 ft. high in one minute requires one horse-power.

If we have an elevator and load weighing 6600 pounds raised 60 feet in 2 minutes we know that the number of foot pounds of work done per minute is 6600 multiplied by 60 and divided by 2 equals 198,000 foot pounds per min. And we find the horse-power by dividing the total number of foot pounds per minute by the number of foot pounds per minute in the horsepower, 33,000, i. e. 198,000 by 33,000, which gives 6 h. p.

All processes of manufacture, the production of light and heat, the driving of machinery and the running of means for transportation require power.

Costing anything, but as soon as it begins to produce work then something begins to be used up. When the clock was wound up the muscle of the man who wound it put into the weight 20-foot pounds of work or enconditions. The friction of ropes, pulleys and gearing would probably amount to two or three horse power at the top, its energy remained latent at full value. While six horse power The amount of work a horse power would do in ten hours if our machines were 100 per cent. efficient, is something

ABYSSINIA FOR ABYSSINIANS That Seems to Be the Idea of King Menelik

ROME, Jan. 11.-No further news has been received of the reported serious troubles in Italian Somaliland, which resulted in pitched battles between the Italian forces and the Abyssinians, and the raid on and the besieging of Lugh by the tribesmen.

A number of wild reports are in circulation, nowever. It is said that the despatch announcing the attack on the Italian forces did not come from any Italian official or officer, but from an agent of a company, who evidently escaped from Lugh before the siege began.

The situation in Italian Somaliland assumes international importance owing to the signing in London, Dec. 13, 1906, by Italy, Great Britain and France of an accord on Abyssinia, the three pow- peal). ers pledging themselves to co-operate for their respective interests. King Menelik never liked this agreement.

The Inevitable Rally

Regardless of Receiverships New York Stocks are Buoyant Local Investment Stocks Firmer.

World Office, Saturday Evening, Jan. 11. inevitable manipulated rally has transpired in the Wall Street market.

Those who well knew that such a recovery must eventuate feigned not to be able to anticipate a revival in prices less able to anticipate a revival in prices less than two weeks ago, yet these same market advisers are now convinced (?) that prices had been over-depressed and that the advance is nothing but a natural re-want of funds to protect them against the forces exerted to dislodge them.

With this week's operations prices are in many instances over ten points above the low figures of December and double that of the low quotations made during the October panic. It will, of course, be claimed by those now anxious to find buyers for securities that prices are still low and it will be unusual if this plea does not have its usual effect. The unitiated will be caught by this plausibility, while others more knowing will be ensnared by cupidity, believing that they can still scalp the market while it is in the throes of activity. Those who know Wall Street and its subtleties are convinced that there are only two periods in which to operate successfully—the one to buy when prices are temoralized, and the other to sell when the the stocks. Chicked the stocks are ady made its entrance into this interesting procedure, and if the tape is any guidance along this line, the same method of finance remodeling will probably take place in Southern Rallway. Erie, Rock Island and Missouri Pacific are in a delicate state of financial health. Mode of recuperation is not yet outlined. but it will be strange if it is favorable to holders of the shares of these concerns at or above present prices. There are several other companies whose shares are not conspicuous for their strength, the most notable example of which is Atchison. A bull market with so many lagmost notable example of which is Atchison. A bull market with so many laggards is an anomaly, but dissected the market's strength shows itself to be concentrated into three or four railroad stocks and about the same number of industrials.

with this week's return of cash from the interior, the reporting banks have been enabled to redeem the deficiency in the surplus reserves. With normal conditions once more restored, money rates will gradually seek a lower level, but it must not be interred from this that the greatest discrimination will not take place as to accommodations. New loans contemptated at London and Berlin will be required to be prepared for, and unless New York can show the best of reasons for retaining the gold procured during the panic weeks, a return flow of the yellow metal is quite in keeping with the action of the steriling exchange market. when they were thrown over two months ago.

The flippant Wall-street market has provided the incentive for forcing several of the local specialties ap a few points during the present week. The improvement in prices has certainly not been due to an outside demand, which remains as torpid as can well be conceived. The manipulation in the prices of the speculative stocks has been carried out without the local mercantile situation was said, however, that this has yet impressaid, however, that this has yet impressaid in however, that this has yet impressaid, however, that this has yet impressaid in however, that this has yet impressaid in however, that this has yet impressaid in the sentiment of holders. The market has not yet distributed its usual quotations.

The market has not yet distributed its usual once of gossip and thus far the crown of market has not yet distributed its usual quotations.

The market has not yet distributed its usual quotations are the following fluctuations on the New York Stocks.

Marshall, Spader & Co., King Edward the to-day:

Amel Copper 50 50% 49% 50%

Amer. Car & F. 30% 31% 33% 31% 33 31% and an eventual proposed to the new York Stocks and the local mercantile situation was a great success. Following the lower st to South America, and has lost $5,- 000,000 so far this week. Seventy-six roads for November,

Speyer & Co. will offer $5,000,000 refunding fours sold to them by Rock Island at .80 and interest.

Manipulation was chiefly responsible the advance is nothing but a natural rebound. The Wall Street magnates are entirely dependent upon the wide fluctuations that occur in the market for their success. By a strange coincidence very few outsiders buy stocks except when they have accumulated at shares which they have accumulated at a period when others are scared into letting their shares go or in many instances for want of funds to protect them against the forces exerted to dislodge them.

Manipulation was chiefly responsible for the reaction in the stock market beginning Friday afternoon. It may extend, but we doubt it, and believe that Standard Rails may safely be bought, especially on any weakness. The Union and S.P. statements of earnings are juggled for political effect, in our judgment, and both stocks ought to be bought on this recession. Smelting ought to be good for bull turns, if bought on recessions now. B.R.T. and Distillers are tipped for higher prices.

The exceeding weakness of certain stocks evidences the fact that the bullish manipulation has been the bullish manipulation has been the marketing of holdings which banking interests found it necessary to buy during the past three months. In most instances the trend, in our opinion, will now be toward considerably lower levels. Disappointment is expressed to the state of the star of the in which to operate successfully—the one to buy when prices are demoralized, and the other to sell when the market has a fit of buoyancy. The spasms come at sufficiently frequent intervals to accommodate the patient trader, and, therefore, the only successful dealer in this gambling arena.

ion, will now be toward considerably Twin City 87 lower levels. Disappointment is expressed in London because cheap pressed in London because cheap presed the many corporations will find it difficult to make satisfactory financial arrangements even with cheap money rates prevailing. The many of the rumors regarding Erie, Southern Railway and Missouri Pacific may at the Ottawa fore, the only successful deals and gambling arena.

If one must search for reasons for the higher range of prices to-day compared with those of ten days ago it would require considerable diligence. Except for a return to a more normal state in the money market there is nothing, absolutely nothing, that can be urged to account for the change. Call money rates are easier, so easy, in fact, when the market required this incentive, that wonderment seized those who had been under the impression that a tightness of funds the impression that a tightness of funds that feally existed. It was not so, however, with the really lendable capital, as no time money was procurable for less not time money was procurable for less than 6 per cent. and sums available at this figure were in homeopathic amounts. The reduction in the rate of the Bank of France of one half of one per cent. was received as a panacea to the market's received as a panacea t way and Missouri Pacific may at the Ottawa rumors regarding Erie, Southern Ran way and Missouri Pacific may at the moment be idle, it is apparent that unless earnings pick up very soon those roads will not be the only ones confronted by embarrassing difficulties. Most of the better rails may later on advance considerably, in case money becomes very cheap but with earnings showing up so poorly and no prospect of improvement soon, we think that before the market advances appreciably above yesterday's layels even these stocks will be purbaneous and the control Canada 100 control Canad The serious part of the New York market is the number of receiverships that are portended by the action of some of the stocks. Chicago Great Western has already made its entrance into this interesting procedure, and if the tape is teresting procedure, and if the same of the same of

FINANCIAL TOPICS.

DECLINE IN INTEREST RATES. of France this week and the sharp decline in loaning rates at New York, lead to the opinion that money rates are likely to seek a much lower level in the near future. Low rates of interest are favorable to all classes of commercial and financial enterprises, but do not necessarily imply that credit can be easily procurable. The decline in interest rates is being brought about by the conservative attitude of the financial institutions, and it is not reasonable to suppose that this conservatism will be immediately cast aside with the first accumulation of funds brought about by a forced compression of an inflated condition of credit. MAY DEFAULT ON

BOND INTEREST. One who should know whereof he speaks says that the Electrical Development Company will default on its next interest payment on its bonds, and that the company will consequently pass into the hands of a receiver. The decision of the people to go into the electrical business for themselves is given as a reason for this, and an attempt is being made to throw the onus for the probable defaulting on the public. Hard-headed, conservative financiers argue that if a company

WOMAN, BABY AND A NICKEL STOP 'PAY AS YOU ENTER PLAN' Pittsburg Street Car Conductor's Order for Fares Brings Unexpected Results to Company. One large woman, one large bundle, one little baby, and a nickel caused the abandonment by the Pittsburg Street Car Co. of the "pay as you enter" rule adopted, says a despatch.

The woman, Mrs. Mary Myers, attempted to board a car. She carried a big bundle under one arm and the baby under the other. The fare was stuck between her teeth: The conductor barred the entrance and ordered her to pay. Mrs. Myers said "Glug glug," and down went the nickel into her stomach. The swallower fell off the steps to the street and was taken into a neighboring drug store, while a physician was summoned to recover the lost money.

Another woman carrying a baby and a bundle, when asked for her fare, told the conductor he would have to hold the baby until she could get into her purse. The conductor obligingly did so, but talked rudely of his job. One conductor said that while atassaulted a dozen times and had resigned five times, but the company would not accept his resignation.

Government of Congo.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 11.—The, government has issued its reply to recommendations made by the Congo Commission. It declares that it does not desire any personal profit for the donations reserved under the treaty; these amount to $1,300,000 a year. Continuing, the reply sets forth various philanthropic methods in which the revenue of the Congo Independent State is to be expended. The reply makes it clear that concessionary companies will be amenable to the laws of the Congo.

In conclusion, the reply declares that if the treaty is not ratified King Leopold will resume his former status in the administration of the Congo Independent State.

Manager Joe Kelley is going to have a veteran team at Boston. The ages of the regular players will average higher than any other team in the league. Bowerman behind the bat, McGann, Ritchey, Brain and Dahlen in the infield, and Kelley, Beaumont and Brewne in the gardens, are all players of many years' experience on the big circuit. Some of the pitchers are comparatively young men, but all others on the team are real veterans. This club ought to play some great ball for a season or two, but it will go back rapidly. There is a vast amount of baseball brains in the combination, and it will be a great relief to the intelligent Boston fans to root for a team on the old South End. grounds that is not half composed of green and inexperienced youngsters. The Beantown infield will be up to every trick of the game, and the batting order will be strong in inside play. The team will lack something in speed, Beaumont and Browne being the only fast men in the line-up, but it will make up for this in other ways. Frank Bowerman is one of the best handlers of young pitchers in the country, and he will get the best results from the excellent twirling staff of the Beaneaters. The club ought to go along very well for a year or two. But Joe Kelley will have to be on the alert for young material with which to build up, as his veterans gradually fall by the wayside. R. Mason's Interesting Stories About Kitchener - Heroism Around Ladysmith.

You could not believe what a wonderful man Lord Kitchener is. When he is in command he seems to be everywhere, and you never know when you may be talking to him."

ber of the second reserve of the British army, an Englishman who came to Canada on his resources, made his own way and has no complaint against the country. He was visiting with Mr, John Nunn, chaplain of His Majesty's Army and Navy Veterans, and the friend of all soldiers, when he told the story of his service in the army. Mr. Mason enlisted with the 9th Fusiliers in 1893, and after several years of station duty in Ireland and abroad, saw his first fighting in Kitchener's expedition to Khartoum.

"That's a hard country for a campaign," said Mr. Mason. "The heat is awful and the marching has to be done at night, just before sunrise and just can't march without water, you know. The water in the Nile is bad and caused a lot of dystentery, too. Time and again I have seen the bodies of little babes floating down the river, thrown in there, I suppose, to save burying

"The biggest fight was four or five miles outside of Omdurman, on Sept. 2, 1898. We had formed in a big square the day before and the fighting began between 5 and 6 o'clock in the morning. It was a Friday, and, by the way, all the big battles in that country are fought on Friday. It seems to be a big feast day among the Dervishes.

"The night before the battle three men left the square on horsehole and men left the square on horseback and headed towards Omdurman. One man returned in about an hour. In another hour the second man came back, but the third man did not come until about 4 o'clock in the morning. They said that it was Kitchener himand that he had been right in mdurman disguised as a date man. The next day, when the regiment was all drawn up, a message came from the general telling the whole story and sayng that his orders would have to be obeyed. They say that he was on guard as a private when the colonel nappened to go around.

"One night a private went to one of the surgeon's tents and said that he was sick. The surgeon told the man that he had gone to bed and could not attend to him that night. Canadians Not Behind in Art of Manufacturing Automobiles That Will Travel With Any.

It is understood that the McLaughlir. Motor Car Co. of Oshawa, Ont., have leased the premises at 111 Kingstreet east, and will take possession on the 15th of the present month. It is the intention of this live company to overhaul the place and put in a full and complete line of McLaughlin-

0...... DEPENDS NOT ON WEATHER.

"Never before was the supremacy of the power wagon more forcibly illustrated than during the recent snow storm in this city," said E. Q. Cordner, manager of the automobile departmer, of the Studebaker branch in Chicago. "It was a sorry sight to see horses worn and tired, and shivering with the cold, vainly struggling to keep their feet, while, in direct contrast to this, the motor cars, even without chains on the tires, were experiencing no difficulty on the slippery streets. It is ander such conditions, as these that the electric truck and delivery wagon's superiority over the horse drawn vehicle is so self evident. A man who drives go out in unfavorable weather, chant who must deliver out, cannot be governed by weaconditions, and at such times he is compelled to admit the many advantages of motor delivery as compared with horse of real opportunity piloted 154 winners. Dugan is held to be Miller's most formidable competitor and probable successor in leadership. He is a boy of great promise and well equipped in those particulars in which Miller seems deficient, riding at long great distinction, and in his first year distances with marked judgment as well as being able to hurry away in Nicol rode skilfully in 1907, but fell off in percentage and found it dif-ficult to keep down to riding weight. Riding in but 481 races in 1907 against nost jockeys of the day, and, having been engaged to ride for the Keen stable, has a great opportunity before him in 1908. Mountain did some brilliant riding at intervals, but is Garner, W. Knapp and Lloyd all did well in 1907, and are excellent riders. Of the old-timers John Bullman showed that he retains his well-known skill by a percentage of twenty-three, but has gone out of fashion and did not have many mounts. Lightweights Delaby, D. McCarthy, Goldstein, C. Ross, G. Burns, R. Davis, Sumter and several other youngsters gave indications 7,975 of becoming the riding stars of a few years hence.

The Best Horses. In their highest class, the horses of 1907 were a glorious band. Especially great were the three-year-olds. Another outstanding feature of the year was the advent and career of the unbeaten two-year-old, Colin. There was no argument as to the two-year-old championship of the year. A number of exceedingly fleet two-year-olds were in action, but Colin was in a class by himself, truly a first-class race horse. Twelve times did he start this year. Nominations close on March 2, when the sire and dam of the expected colt champion must be named. "The old method of paying for each mare is cast aside and the mares a man owns. If he has a band of two dozen it is the same as if he had one. Then on November 2 there is a payment of $5 when the color, sex and breeding of the colt must be given. In their highest class, the horses of Julia Powel, Bar None, Spooner, Johnmained undiminished, but an unfortunate accident sent him into retirement at the beginning of that time of the year when he had always been at has best and almost cost his life.

Of the winning horses 205 won $5000 or more, their total winnings footing

Inferno. $6665, and $5900, were the only Canadian horses in the $5000 list. A Famous Owner Murdered. Cameron Cool of Pittston, Pa. famous owner and campaigner of fast horses, was attacked by thugs in his room last week and so severely injured that he died the next day, the mo-5,020 tive being robbery, the robbers securing about $250 in cash and a few valuable diamonds. The robbers and murders escaped without any apparent the riders on the flat in number of winning mounts, but fell short of his clue. Mr. Cool was quite an old man great record of riding 388 winners in and an invalid. Being a bachelor, he - had apartments all by himself. He was quite wealthy and campaigned them wherever started, his health permitting. In a will just filed he bequeathed his string of horses to his trainer and driver. The colored rider, J. Lee, was second to Miller by virtue of a period of striking success at New Orleans last winter and at Louisville and Latonia in the spring and early summer. Riding the winners of the entire card of six races at Latonia was one of his feats and a record. Later in the year he seemed to grow timid and fell off in horsemanship and success.

DON'T NEGLECT YOUR Zam-Buk Unequalled as a Skin Cure.

About 80 per cent of prevalent skin disease is due to neglect and the remaining 20 per cent. to some weakness or infection. The skin, in fact, rules the health. In proportion as the skin acts well or ill, we are well or sick, for every square inch of skin has no fewer than 2,800 pores through which all waste matter, which would be injurious to health if allowed to remain, s expelled from the body. The skin, because it has important work to do, and is so exposed to injury and disease, deserves far more attention than most people give it. Often the timely use of Zam-Buk, the well-known healing balm, will avert a nasty aftack of eczema, prevent festering, allay pain and inflammation and prevent other skin troubles which, if neglected, would nly upset the general health.

A sudden chill, dirt in a cold-crack, or sudden contact with disease-germs, are all

Intimidating to Bachelors

If Shakespeare were around just now he would change his wise saying: "Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown" to one after this fashion: "But poorly sleeps the man who is a father."

A Chicago judge, of most candid demeanor, has ruled without flinching that from now forth when the baby wakes up in the middle of the night and practises vocal scales the father must get up and walk the floor with it. Whatever the exigency happens to be, the daddie must meet it, even tho the babe wants nothing more than a mirror to see whether its first teeth are coming thru.

This austere judicial ruling has spread around with horrible swiftness and every father in the Windy City is fearful of becoming bald at an early age. No more can he remain snug and warm in his bed, dreaming of how much money he will pile up the next day. Nor can he fulfil the requirements of a good citizen by whispering to his wife that the babe is dissatisfied with life; he must jump out, defying the thermometer, soothe baby and withal maintain a poise and sweetness of temper which is remarkable, for the women of Chicago have law on their side.

Is it not fortunate that we have no such bench government here? Toronto has enough bachelors already.

Epoch in History of "Times."

With the passing of The London Times from the control of the Walter family, where it has been for three generations, into the hands of C. Arthur Pearson, one or two significant conditions present themselves.

Mr. Pearson, a newspaper magnate of England, has entirely distinct methods of conducting a newspaper from those which have prevailed in The Times office since its establishment. So long has this powerful old daily paper maintained its own unique position and policy that a change in its editorial style and business customs would be as bad for it as a severe attack of rheumatism for an aged man.

It had its origin and growth under conditions which gave it an individual place amongst great newspapers of the day. With its reputation. made years ago, and with the support of powerful interests and the confidence of governments, it has been able to resist the inroads of modern

The genius, however, of a remarkable man, has at last been successful in acquiring a financial grip on the sedate journal. The Englishspeaking world is naturally asking: Will The Times lose its character?

Two things are evident which may fairly be construed as answers. One is that Mr. Pearson will either have a marked influence on the paper or he will have none at all, and, if he has control, he will enthuse his personality slowly but surely into the paper. Second, Mr. Pearson has been one of the most emphatic leaders in the British Isles for Tariff Reform, and championed the fight for Chamberlain during the last general elections. He will scarcely allow such a medium as The Times to go along without being used to further his own views.

Cable despatches may state that the editorial policy of the paper will in no way be modified, but those who know Mr. Pearson will "hae their doots." Should he swing it into line with other publications he owns, it will be interesting to follow the paper's history from now on.

Change of Policy

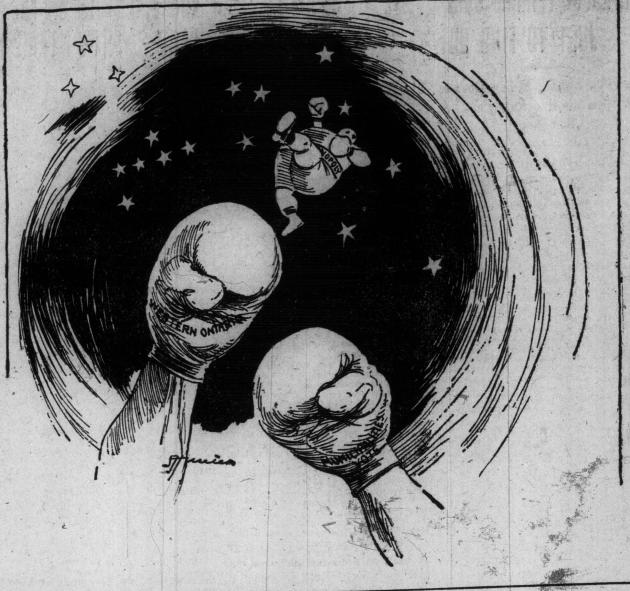

A San Francisco paper has announced that hereafter its writers will not be permitted to indulge in destructive criticism of persons or institutions. The aim of the paper, rather, is to build up, to encourage, to foster improvement in those making strenuous and honorable efforts to achieve mastery in some chosen line of endeavor.

This change of policy is the result, it is said, of a protest from managers of theatres and from the theatre-going public. They became displeased with the semi-clever attempts of critics to give humorous and

There is good reasoning behind this decision on the part of the paper. It is very easy to tear down, but requires ability and energy to construct. For newspaper writers to be constantly harping on the weakness of what they discuss is to place themselves in the position of publicly appointed benefactors and judges. There are quite as many people, not writers, who are able to judge as to whether things are good or bad as there are persons incapable of forming conclusions.

A man who constantly maintains himself as a destroyer is, to say the east, a pedant and egotist.

A KILLASWAT.

Doubtless this is a somewhat radical view of the subject, but the fact remains that the latest novels to be classed among the big sellers are those dealing with subjects forbidden in polite society, yet which are sought after and discussed quietly in the club and the drawing room.

Marie Corelli, in a letter to The Bookman, agrees with the above criticism, stating that in her opinion authors "like Zola and D'Aunurizio commit what may be called premeditated murderous outrage upon unprepared and innocent minds."

In the United States and Canada this tendency in likeness of reality, that is the acknowledged imperative. fiction is widely discussed at present in the reviews. Mrs. L. H. Harris, a well-known southern writer, contributes an article to The Independent maintaining that the only way two respects a novel idea, yet one which will probably both parties to blame—the writer and the reader.

Mrs. Harriss asserts that women are the chief of fenders of decency in letters, yet admits that were her plan adopted we might lose some writers entirely as "they would not be permitted to produce such diabolically interesting

They are finding that the business world is without sentiment and now that conditions are somewhat quiet, as a result of the financial stringency, they cannot find employment to suit them. Hence they ask favors here and there from their friends and relatives, in order to live.

It seems regrettable that bright young women should take such a wrong view of life; that rather than do a kind of work which is offering everywhere they will resort to practical begging. This kind of work is plain, ordinary, everyday housework. Their mothers did it before them, are doing it now. Their grandmothers did it, and great grandmothers before them. It is honest employment, entirely respectable and is generously remunerative. Scores of homes in this city are searching everywhere for domestic help. They cannot get it at any reasonable figure. Still the young women who want to live and keep their purity and womanhood ignore these opportunities. They would rather ask for small amounts of money, would rather go to every large store and factory in Toronto ask- employment which suits their aesthetic tastes.

Whether our system of education is wrong or whether our home life needs improving it is certain that some influences have misdirected the views of young women on this important matter.

In Canada housework is regarded by all of soher in telligent minds as honorable. The girl who has sufficient disregard for foppishness and high enough esteem for herself will undertake it and show to her friends and relafives that she is really sincere in trying to make a living.

It is hard, indeed, to pity those who seek charity because they are unable to secure just the kind of genteel

The courtesy of those who wish to accommodate fair passengers in this way is remarkable for this age. But If the dressmakers' measurements were exaggerated by will the kindness be appreciated? Will the temptation of having a brand new and stylish dress ready for wear on the arrival in port be sufficiently strong to induce fashionable women to make such great sacrifices?

In the death of Edward Hanlan Canada lost one of her greatest sportsmen and Toronto one of her most popular citizens. That thousands crowded the streets to watch the procession was an evidence that the prowess of men has lost none of its charm among

The Tavern In England

The following from the pen of H. Belloc, M.P., in The London Daily Express, may or may not represent the opinion of public men in Canada with regard to the use of intoxicants, but it has something to commend it. Most students of social conditions will agree that it is the excessive uses of alcohol which result so disastrously:

Among the great evils of society in modern England, not the greatest evil, but one of the great evils, is excess in the use of stimulants. Every form of stimulant, from a healthy one like red wine or good beer to the pestilent and poisonous drugs which we owe to modern science, is used in excess, and the excess affects every class of the community.

The cause of this social disease in general is anxiety, and coupled with anxiety that defect of the will which anxiety is able to produce. To remedy that root of the whole evil we must change the very nature of society: but meanwhile there are palliatives rather than remedies which we can apply without falling into any offensive fanaticism, and without interfering with the ordinary pleasures of our fellow-citizens; for the habit of taking drugs and nervous stimulants in excess (as soaking oneself with tea, for instance,) there is perhaps no remedy. You have to do with ingrained individual habit, mainly domestic, and one only to be cured by a reform of morals in general.

But with the excess of the use of the old-fashioned stimulants, the stimulants which have been ordinary and healthy foods of our ancestors from the earliest recorded times, it is different. With regard to these we inherit a formed public opinion and old customary laws of licensing and restraint, and, what is more, a good traditional knowledge of when they are good and when they are bad for a man, and in what quantities they are good and in what quantities bad for a man. And one of the most certain things with regard to their use is that they are most beneficent when they are taken in company and with food, and most harmful when they are taken alone and without food.

It is again certain that a perpetual consumption of them in small amounts is worse than occasional excess and far worse than regular consumption at one time during and after a meal-preferably the last meal of the day. That has been the universal experience of our race for thousands of years, and no modern fad or so-called "scientific" opinion will stand against experience of that sort.

To tell a man who has used wine and beer properly the whole of his life that they are harmful, and to try to mystify him into believing by using long and technical words, is rank charlatanism, and should be punished (but unfortunately it is not) by the hearty and expressed contempt of every honest man. People who talk in this fashion should be made fools of. It is the best cure, and if they are not yet treated in this fashion it is because our society still suffers from a moral evil far worse than drunkenness, and that is lack of courage.

Another thing which long experience and tradition have made certain in this matter is that it makes all the difference whether the fermented liquor consumed is made of the right materials and in right fashion or not; in other words, whether it is "pure."

Now, in this matter, the truth is again perfectly plain. Beer that is made out of hops and malt is healthy; and if substitutes of one kind or another are used, the concoction becomes more and more dangerous in proportion to the type of adulterant supplied. It need not contain an active poison to be a thing undermining the health, creating an artificial craving, and in general noxious and detestable.

Newspapers and Public Duty

It has been said by a man of eminence, Attorney-General Bonaparte of the United States, that a free press is a perpetual petition; it is, of should be, always telling a government what the people wish and hope for and think right.

This is a trite remark on the relation of the press to the public, but it does not comprehend the entire duty and privilege of one of the most powerful institutions of modern times.

A free press has another work far more important, but less faithfully performed—to tell the people themselves what they should wish, what they should hope for, what they should think right. A newspaper has by no means done its whole work when it reports to the government "the first thought of the ordinary citizen on all matters of current public interest." Otherwise it is little more than a weathervane showing the direction the wind of popular approbation or disapprobation is blowing at the hour of going to press. Not infrequently the highest function of a newspaper is utterly to reject this "first thought," oppose what seems to be public opinion and set itself uncompromisingly against the clamor that is inspired by public passion, not by public intelligence. A real newspaper must have fixed convictions, fixed principles of right and wrong, fixed standards of public duty, and adhere to them, no matter how opposed such convictions, principles and standards may be to party prejudice and the current opinion

A newspaper which does not seek to educate public opinion is no better than a billboard, and a newspaper which makes itself a professional demagog may work no less evil than one which is in secret alliance with predatory wealth.

It is much the easiest way for an editor to follow the mob, to court general favor, by never taking the initiative. The truth is not always popular. Indeed, it often arouses indignation. Frequently it pleases nobody, and rarely does it please everybody. But a newspaper that dare not tell the truth, lest it offend readers, is a newspaper in the trade sense

The papers that are ready to stand or fall by what they think right are the ones that may have to follow a lone furrow for a long time, but ultimately represent the best citizenship.

We boast with pride of a free press to-day, yet can a paper be free when shackled and bound by corporate interests; when prostituting its editorial columns to advance the financial schemes of a few men? There are too many papers in Canada to-day that shirk their moral responsibility and make a jest of the pretensions of "a free press." No press is free when afraid to tell its readers the try ambiased

1. The bears make such a wild uproar
A-sliding down the cellar-door
That Johnny tries in vain to stick
To work on his arithmetic

2. It does no good to scold and say, "Please go some other place and play."
They laugh and shout and carry on.
And think the joke is all on John.

8. It really was a great to-do;
He couldn't add up two and two.
No sympathy the Teddies feel;
They only play with greater zeal.

4. Said John, "Though I don't want to shirk,
Those scamps won't let me do my work.
I'll show 'em I can work a trick
Instead of my arithmetic."

5. So while the bears were hard at play
He came up through the cellar-way.
And every mischief-making cub
Was landed squarely in a tub.

6. Now Johnny makes the figures fly
While they are hanging out to dry.
And not a bear will dare to squeak
Till Johnny tells them they may speak.

Mme. Samaroff's success is due to a very happy and very rare combination of talent and personality. She gives to most unusual musical and planistic qualities a charm of appearance and manner as grateful as it is unusual But, in the end, it is her noble gifts as a pianist that have made her what she is. She will give a recital, under the auspices of the Women's Musical Club, in Conservatory Hall, on Jan 17.

> Attaining Gracefulness. By Hattie Williams.

"My dear young girl," said the stage manager, "you must move more lively and be more reposeful."

And being then a young girl with much to learn I made a mental note of the fact that that stage manager was extremely ignorant—for didn't repose mean sleep—slumber—rest? and yet he wanted me to be reposeful and to literally "etc. lively." terally "step lively."

That was some few years ago. Among the things I have learned since is the fact that repose and sleep are not synonymous—at least on the stage. Repose means ease and grace and selfcontrol, whether one is still or in mo-tion. It is self-poise. There are two places where one may find the near-est to real repose—with a capital R— in the highest circles of society and on the stage.

The first thing a girl learns on the stage is that she is made up of an apparently infinite number of parts and that she cannot move in the giare of the calciums without all of them obtruding. She imagines that every pair of eyes in the audience is turned upon her, that her feet, her hands, her elbows, her hair are all under inspec tion. It takes some time for her to learn that the audience is really interested in other people on the stage— that she is but a very small part of the the the prospect of a 45-year job of preaching in not one single year of which would their salary exceed $20?

Elder J. W. Cook, aged 69, whitehaired and feeble, has just written a book in which he described such a ministry.

During all those years Elder Cook endured such privations. He was the regular minister for a number of churches and kept his appointments.

"Once I was called to preach at a funeral twenty miles away," writes Elder Cook, "and I went thru the snow and mud, waiting for the friends of the deceased to come. After being detained three days, I had to leave just at night to get to New Boston the next day for another funeral.

"I bade them good-by, but not a word was said about the compensation for the long and bitter cold journey. I arrived home at midnight, chilled thru and thru, put my weary horse up and had barely got to sleep when my wife called me for breakfast.

"I was soon ready for the New Boston pilgrimage, By this time the ground was frozen and rough. I tried riding, and then got down and walked with the horse all the way to New Boston.

"There was quite a gathering, but I was in poor shape to preach. I did the

In the book, which concluded his life work and which is just from the press of a village printer, Elder Cook tells in the plain style of an uneducated but thoroly sincere man what "Forty-five Years a Minister" exacted of him. No explorer of the Arctic region, no traveler of the African jungles ever underwent greater privation. The explorer may have suffered for days, weeks, months, possibly some years. Elder Cook toiled like a galley slave four and a half decades for an annual wage that wouldn't have contented a self-respecting janitor or a capable office boy for a month. And he was glad to do it.

How did he live? He plowed; raised corn on a little patch. Here's the way he was sometimes rewarded:

GLIMPSE OF GREAT ACTOR.

In a late instalment of her excellent memories of the stage, Ellen Terry gives this interesting glimpse of Sir Henry Irving's character and methods:
Henry Irving's Shylock was generally conceded to be full of talent and reality, but some of his critics could not resist saying that this was not the Jew which Shakespeare drew. Now who is in a position to say what is the Jew that Shakespeare drew? I think Henry Irving knew as well as most! Nay, I am sure that in his age he was the only person able to decide.
Some said his Shylock was intellectual, and appealed more to the intellect of his audiences than to their emotions. Surely this is talking for the sake of talking. I recall so many things that touched people to the heart! For absolute pathos, achieved by absolute simplicity of means, I never saw anything in the theatre to compare with his Shylock's return home over the bridge to his deserted house after Jessica's flight.

A younger actor, producing "The Merchant of Venice" in recent years, asked Irving if he might borrow this bit of business. "By all means," said Henry. "With great pleasure."

"Then why didn't you do it?" enquired my daughter, bluntly when the actor was telling us how kind and ceurteous Henry had been in allowing him to use this stroke of invention.

"What do you mean?" asked the astonished actor.

My daughter told him that Henry

My daughter told him that Henry My daughter told him that Henry had dropped the curtain on a stage full of noise, and lights, and revelry. When it went up again the stage was empty, desolate, with no light but a pale moon, and all sounds of life at a great distance—and then over the brigde came the wearled figure of the Jew. This marked the passing of interpretations which commended itself to his imagination and his judgment. From a blind man came the most il-luminating criticism of his Shylock. The sensitive ear of the sightless hearer detected a fault in Henry Irving's method of delivering the opening lines of his part!

"I hear no sound of the usurer in that," the blind man said at the end of the performance. "It is said with the reflective air of a man to whom money means very little."

The justice of the criticism appealed strongly to Henry. He revised his reading not only of the first line, but of many other lines in which he saw now that he had not been enough of the moneylender.

Not that there are not plenty of arairic chickens in Manitoba yet, and if they keep as wise as those of this ast season, for instance, it will be a long, long day before they are all tilled off. The chickens were sure of that there are whole flocks of the chicken season of them that finished the open season of the middle and the whole outfit of automobile and the whole outfit of them, too.

There are places, tho, where the chickens have a hard time of it, and these places are beginning to wake up to the fact that if they wish to have any game at all left, they must have any game at all left, they must
