PARCEL POST A BOON TO UNITED ST

PARCEL POST A SUCCESS SYSTEM IS NEEDED HERE

reat Enthusiasm Thruout the United States-Thousands of Brick Sent Thru the Mail - Senator Bourne Father of Idea in the United States.

Uncle Sam is as happy as a big sunflower over the parcel post.

The parcel post system came into effect by law on Jan 1, 1913, and as soon as the bells commenced to ring the old year out and the new year in, people appeared at the postoffice and sub-stations in all the large cities of the United States with packages for transmission by mail. In the smaller cities and towns the postoffices were closed durmail. In the smaller cities and towns the postomees were closed during the greater part of the holiday, but even then the parcel post did a big business. Reports received by the postmaster general from all over the country, after the close of business on Thursday and Friday, justify his public, announcement that the system has proved an un-

PARCEL POST DINNER. The women of the country have been quick to seize the advantages of the new system. On Friday last Mrs. Julian Heath, national president of the House Wives' League, gave a "parcel post dinner" at her home on West Eighty-Eighth street, New York. The menu included:

chicken, eggs, celery, butter, sweet potatoes, Brussel's sprouts, onions and cabbage, all brought in by parcel post.

The newspapers are booming the new system. The New York American, The New York Press and others have been running big feature storcan The New York Press and others have been running big feature stories and practically all the newspapers of the country have declared editorially that the system has come to stay and has already approved itself to be a great success. The Philadelphia North American, perhaps the leading progressive paper in the country, is maintaining in its building a bureau of information for the assistance of those who may desire to use the parcel post. may desire to use the parc me of the articles dispatched on the first day may have seemed to be of the freak variety, but they served the useful purpose for which they were intended of advertising the system. One enthusiast sent one usand brick—a brick apiece to one thousand acquaintances and cus-ners. A New York merchant delivered one hundred umbrellas to customers in the city on New Year's day, paying five cents postage on each. The first shipment in New York was made in an uptown substation by a Miss Loeb, who sent a silver tea service by post to Govor Sulzer and the same was delivered at the executive mansion in Albany by noon the same day. A guest at the executive mansion in New Year's Day, received a dozen newly laid eggs, sent to him by mail.

To use the parcel post special stamps must be affixed and these are issued in denominations of from one cent to one dollar. For an idditional ten cents the government insures any article up to fifty collars. The rate of postage is five cents for the first pound, and one cent for each additional pound in the local zone; it increases with the distance, but is everywhere considerably lower than the express rate. The former was a flat rate of sixteen cents a pound which, by the way, is our rate in Canada.

ENATOR BOURNE THE FATHER. The parcel post was forced on the United States Government by a few determined men in congress and to a considerable extent by one man, Senator Bourne. President Taft was opposed to the reform, altho it had been recommended by Postmaster General Hitchcock An ordinary bill providing for a parcel post would probably never had gotten thru a congress and might have been vetoed by the president. gotten thru a congress and might have been vetoed by the president. The friends of parcel post therefore got busy in the house committee on postoffices and post roads and when the appropriation or supply bill for the postoffice department was reported to the house it contained a "rider" or provise to the effect that the domestic rate for parcels should never be greater than the international rate. They pointed out, that a man in Liverpool or Edinburgh could send a package to Philadelphia by post for twelve cents a pound while the rate age to Philadelphia by post for twelve cents a pound, while the rate from New York to Philadelphia was sixteen cents a pound. Moreover, the foreigner could send an eleven pound package to the United States, while the domestic user of the postoffice could not send a package weighing more than four pounds. In Canada today this absurd condition of affairs still exists. The postal appropriation bill as reported from the committee passed the house. When it got to the senate Mr. Bourne declared that the reduction from sixteen cents to twelve cents a pound would amount to nothing and insisted that a real parcel post system should be established. He was met with the objection that such a system had never been attempted over so vast a country as the United States and there was the usual appeal for investigation, examination, consideration and post-

Bourne said he thought he could work it out and drafted a bill delled upon the British statute, but substituting for the flat rate, a zone rate. The country is divided into eight zones, the last of which includes the Philippine Islands and Alaska. In the end Senator Bourne triumphed and his bill was ultimately tacked on to the postal appropriation bill. It was signed by President Tatt without comment and this ministration has loyally carried out the will of congress. A standing committee of six senators and six representatives are watching the workings of the new law and they may recommend changes at any time. These changes will come in the way

LONDON, Jan. 4.—Voices are beginning to make themselves heard riticizing the promotion of Prince Louis of Battenberg to the responsible PRES. TAFT WOULD position of British sea lord.

Nobody has anything to say against the prince personally. He is a peratic fellow, a navigator and naval tactician of the highest abil-V, and he is equally popular among the officers and men of the navy. His Be great irremediable fault is that he is a foreigner, and worse still a nan. Another BOOK BARGAIN for Readers of The Toronto World

Everybody's Cyclopedia Volumes

On page 5 will be found an announcement of another great bargain in books for World readers. It is "Everybody's Cyclopedia" in ave handsome volumes, bound in English cloth.

The price of the large Cyclopedia Sets is usually so high, from $50 to $100, that they are invariably sold on the instalment plan. The publishers of "Everybody's Cyclopedia" took advantage of these cts, and from a regision of all these various large and good cycloedias, they have compiled all that is good—all that is necessary and have merely eliminated or condensed that which would be of rest to a specialist or technical student. The World's price for this useful set of books will be an even ater surprise than the Dictionary or Bible offers recently made by he World. The price will be announced in tomorrow's (Monday's) aper, and the opening sale will take place next Friday, Jan. 10, and sturday, Jan. 11.

'AT PARTING OF THE WAYS,' SAID HON. S. FISHER

Ex-Minister of Agriculture Thinks Borden's Policy Is For Destruction of Responsible Government.

WHERE IS EMERGENCY?

German Scare Omnipresent and Every Breeze Revives It, Says Rodolphe

Lemieux.

GRANBY, Que. Jan. 4 .- "We are at he parting of the ways," the Hon. Sydney Fisher quoted, perhaps unconsciously, at a meeting of the electors of Shefford, held at Granby last night. "If," Mr. Fisher added, "the Tory idea of centralization is to win out, good-bye to responsible government in Canada." The opposition, Mr. Fisher said, might make it so hot for the government that they would have to appeal to the people. The general trend of his argument was that the emergency contribution of $35,000,000 under the Borden navy bill was unnecessary because an emergency did not exist.

Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux said the peo ple of Canada had been bamboozled on he naval question. There was no emrgency. It was easy to create a scare. England Very Nervous.

"There are people in England." Mr. Lemieux went on, "who cannot think of a breeze rustling the foliage of their trees in their home island without hinking that the Germans are coming. "No tribute should be paid to John Bull, but the sons of John Bull in Can-ada and in Australia should take on themselves the privilege of defending themselves the privilege of defending Great Britain in Canada, building a navy in Canada, manned and equipped tain as being in need of Canadian charity was a deliberate insult to the brav-est people in the world."

Taft, referring this afternoon to the dispute between the United States and Great Britain in the Panama Canal matter, said that he was in favor of submitting the question to The Hague Tribunal for arbitration. He was speaking at a luncheon in his honor at the Waldorf-Astoria, given by the International Peace Forum. This is the president's formal declaration on the question, since Great Britain filed her protest with the state department. "When the time comes there will be no doubt about what I will do about submitting this question to an impar-tial tribunal for decision," said the president. "I am will to arbi-trate with Great Britain as soon as we get down to the point at issue." "This is just the time when I am in favor of arbitration," Mr. Taft con-tinued. "It is the time when we are afraid we might not win that tests our faith in arbitration."

A DAY IN THE LIFE OF A BOY

SUPPER WITH DADDY

"Daddy, did you have Lawrence's Bread to eat when you were a little boy?" "No; when I was a boy we ate the bread that mother used to make. It had hard crusts and was heavy in the middle. It often gave us indigestion. We did not eat as much bread in a day then as we cat at one meal now since we buy from Lawrence's Bakery." "It never gives me indigestion," says Bouncer, "and I eat it five or six times a day; dry, buttered, toasted, and in milk. It's the best bread ever made in this world, I believe." "A great many ladies have said the same to me," said Bouncer's mother.

of reducing the number of zones and possibly in time by the establishment of the flat rate, but the parcel post has come to stay.

When are we to have it in Canada?

OTTAWA CITIZEN FAVORS IT.

The Ottawa Citizen, the Conservative paper which is after S.

James Whitney with a big stick and demanding tax reform, makes strong plea for the inauguration of the parcel post system in Canad

Envy is not to be condoned, but it was almost impossible not to feel a touch of it when one read in the Canadian papers yesterday that on New Year's eve, at the stroke of twelve that sounded the incoming on New Year's eve, at the stroke of twelve that sounded the incoming of a new year, every postoffice in the United States was thrown open to tender the people the convenience and profit of the parcel post. And while today the privilege is being taken advantage of everywhere in the Republic, Canada remains paying the same high charges on parcel carrying, the possessing exactly the same facilities that are being put to such excellent and advantageous use in the country to the south. And the worst of it is that Canada is practically the only country in the year of enlightenment, 1913, that has not had the wisdom to establish the parcel post. All the others have had sense enough to see the greatness of advantage to be derived, and enterprise enough to push the matter to a successful issue.

No country needs the parcel post more than Canada. There are thousands of Canadians who are far distant from shopping centres, and thousands of Canadians who are far distant from shopping centres, and thousands of Canadians who are far distant from shopping centres, and who have to put up with very poor accommodations in such matters, or else pay high charges that render the purchase beyond their means. Yet to these people a system of constant communication has already been established. The whole country has been networked by the postal department, with the rural territory reached by team or stage, which could just as well carry parcels as well. There would be no duplication, and only a moderate increase of help. To refuse to utilize the postal system for this valuable extension of service is to do a serious wrong to those to whom it would mean so much. Hence, at the beginning of this new year, it may be suggested to Premier Borden that one most valuable achievement to be catalogued among the aims of the year be the establishment of the parcel post in Canada.

JOURNAL ALSO POINTS WAY.

The Ottawa Journal of Friday says:
On New Year's Day Postmaster-General Hatchcock inaugurated the parcel post system in the United States. All over the country and in the colonial possessions this innovation is now in force, the very highest charge being twelve cents a pound, which is sufficient to secure the delivery of a parcel of spruce gum mailed in the backwoods of Maine in the most remote corner of the Philippines.

Canada has preceded the United States in several postal reforms, being the first country to adopt postcards on this side of the Atlantic and establishing postal banks which have not yet been introduced into the United States. As The Journal has pointed out, there is no reason why this country should lag behind in the working out of a progressive parcel post system.

To ensure the success of the plan, the United States Postmaster-General has already distributed for expenditure half of the appropriation of $7,500,000, set aside for the establishment of the system. Automobile delivery trucks have been purchased in the large cities and the postoffices considerably enlarged.

A very good use of Mr. Pelletier's million-dollar surplus, or a part of it at least, would be the establishment of a cheap parcel post with a general delivery system. The Journal was informed at the dead letter office that annually thousands of parcels remained uncalled for at the postoffices of the country at Christmastide, a condition which at the postoffices of the country at Christmastide, a condition which would be greatly alleviated by the introduction of the system now in use in all the great countries of the world.

Ambassadors' Conversat,

The ambassadors of Austria-Hungary, France, Germany, Itaiy and Russia, resumed their "conversations" at the British foreign effice at noon to-day, when they began sonsidering the questions involved in the crisis which has been reached in the peace negotiations.

The Tattitude of the Baikan ailies during today's session of the conference was foreshadowed by Dr. S. Daneff, the chief of the Bulgarian delegation, who stated;

"We expect that the Turks will be unable to give us accepable conditions, The negotiations will then be burglen off, We have an army which can sontinue the war."

Dp. Daneff added a phrase which pessibly indicates that a way out of the deadlock in a part of the foreign and to have met again this afternoon, was postponed until Monday, at the request of the Turks, who are waiting final instructions from the Ottoman Government at Constantinople.

There is no evidence today of a weakening of the deadlock in the conference over the question of the future of the fortress of Adrianople. The probable outcome of the expected interruption in the negotiations will be mediation by the European powers, Pressure Expected.

Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Contaught. The mothers of the Younger children were also kindly invited by the royal host and hostess. At the time mentioned on the cards, everyon had assembled and immediately afterwards a procession was formed, and as the A. D. C. in walting announced the name of each little guest, a graceful curtesy was made to their royal Highnesics and the Princess Patricia, as one by one they passed on. The scene was truly picturesque, and chieftains, lads and ladies of various centuries, cowboys, Puritain maidens, Spanish dancers, mushrooms, butterflies, jockeys, etc., all mingled in the most uter abandos of delight. It would be difficult to decide whih was the most attactive costume, each mother having a spared no pains to perfect her child's or children's presentation. A large number of little ones were present, who had come from out of town points especially for the event. Lady Alleh brought a meerry party from Montreal, including her own two little daughters, Miss Anna and Miss Organ, Miss C. Barker, Miss A. Gooderham, Miss E. Barkem, Miss A. Gooderham, Miss L. Ireland; Messars, Gwendolin, the Misses Elizabeth and Lola Caines and Miss Rita Mackenzie, all beautifully costumed as Spanish dancers; Miss Helen Ogilvie, daughter of Mrs. Bertie Ogilvie, of Montreal, and her little brother, Billy, were extremely attractive as a blue turquoise, and an Indian Chief, and Miss Marien Ogilvie, daughter of Mrs. Shirley Ogilvie, was very attractive as a Dutch maiden. Some others were. Lady Taschereau's three handsome boys as Taschereau's three handsome boys as a courtier of the seventeenth century, a toreador and a sailor; Mrs. D'Arcy Scott's four sons as Pierrols, and Miss Kathleen as Pierrolte; Little Miss Mary Bond of Toronto, who was very much admired as a Puritum maiden; Miss Hilda Ross, daughter of Market Mentales.

Mrs. Jack Ross of Montreal, as a court lady of the time of Charles I., and with her came her mother, Mrs. Ross, and Miss Ina Matthews of Toronto, who were guests at Govern-ment House for a day or two; Miss Lola and Master Britton Frances made exquisitely dainty court lady and cav-alier of the court of France in the 17th century, Master Gilbert Sladen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sladen, was an excellent representation of a Cheerokee Chief and his brother, Lawrence, was a page of the Royal house-hold; Miss Carol Jarvis of Toronto made a very fetching Mexican Maiden and her brother Reginald was a very effective clown; Mrs. Kingsmill brought her two sons, Masters Walter and George, who made splendid Me-phistos and her little baby, Diana, made a sweet Baby Stuart; Mrs.

There was never a better day in your life to make arrangements to take the Gatlin treatment than TODAY. It is the easy way, the sure way, the sensible way to stop drink FOREVER.

Weak Men "Swear Off" and Then "Break Over"

"Swearing off" will not cure the liquor habit. You know that—so does everyone. The mere fact that you do "swear off" shows that in your own mind you acknowledge that drink is bad for you, that it is keeping you down while you are mentally and physically endowed to go up. "Swearing off" only robs you of the last vestige of confidence relatives and friends have in you -they KNOW that you will "break over" again. The Gatlin treatment is the ONE way to stop drinking to stay stopped-the way you will have to stop if you ever stop.

The sooner the better-for you and your fortunes. You are growing older every day -and WEAKER in business ability.

Come to the Gatlin Institute. Take the Gatlin treatment. At the end of the third day, when leaving the institute, if you are not fully satisfied that you are cured and done with liquor, say so, and the fee charged will be refunded FORTHWITH. If you cannot come to the institute for three days, send for the Gatlin Home treatment.

Call or write, telephone or telegraph for books of particulars and other information.

TOO MUCH GIVING HURTS BUSINESS

After Christmas Paralysis of Trade Results From Prodigality of People Who Have Little.

Is Toronto suffering from too much Christmas? There has been practical paralysis in the business world since December 25. The usual thing, of course, only, perhaps, more so.

What then? Was there too much of the Christmas spirit about? Not that, perhaps; but people go crazy, absolutely crazy, at the Christmas season. They give beyond their means. They buy useless things for everybody of even speaking acquaintance, and many of them suffer the rest of the winter because of their ance, and many of them subset the rest of the winter because of their prodigality.

A prominent citizen made the observation to The Sunday World that the riot of giving and the debauchery of living at the Christmas holiday season are becoming so bad, that it would not be surprising if some strong agitation were started to reduce things to the old level. Many a servant girl or shop girl will, he sald, have to go without the necessary warm clothes and proper food during the remainder of the winter, to help pay for the Christmas gifts they were forced by custom to bestow upon their friends—and on top of the prodigality that characterized the Christmas season, comes the insane habit of gorging and feasting and amusement seeking during the remaining holidays. Business men, even in good circumstances, are forced to curtail necessary expenditures owing to the outlay of their families for presents and high living. The stores feel the effect of it, money is tight everywhere, and many a business man will have to go slowly the next few months to save himself from bankruptcy.

Only One Way To Stomach Health

Eat Three Meals a Day and Let Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Digest Them. The Stomach Soon Recovers After This Brief Rest.

The very worst thing you can do is to starve yourself to overcome stomach misery. Make your meals just as com-prehensive as possible. Use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets freely for awhile and all traces of stomach trouble will be gone. Dieting is a fallacy. The intensive farming and gardening of the present day forces such quick results that our dietary is lacking in the quantity of flesh-forming elements of former days. Thus we get a surplus of fruit acids that Nature had no chance to convert into grape sugar. So we need more pepsin than the system can supply, more diastase, more of the natural tonic and preservative properties

REPEAL FIGHT IN GALT TOWN

Anti-Local Optionists Confident of Victory, But the Chances Are Greatly Against Them.

GALT, Ont. Jan. 4 .- (Special.)-"Galt will recover its senses and vote to restore the old order of things," said H. K. Cockin, managing the local option repeal campaign. "Situated as it is within easy access of half a dozen license municipalities, I don't see how this town resonably can remain so conspicuously abnormal. I think the drys received the option act on a sort of a wave and the receding performance is now fairly on. So far as we can soberly foretell it, freedom and the good license act is what the Galt people will declare for on Monday. That's what our figures Asked what he had for the press this morning, James R. Cavers, secretary of the local option committee evidenced no hesitation in declaring that the anti-repealers had the other forces beaten sure. "They simply can't get a three-fifths vote, even on the most liberal allowance. Our lists are per-fectly dependable and they indicate that with ample concessions to the other side the situation is with us.

Let us get our vote out and we will score a decided and decisive win."
The truth about local option in Galt, according to non-partisan and well informed authority, is that three years ago the local optionists caught the trade napping. The vote to go dry was as much a surprise to them as it was with hotel men; having taken a stand and the experience of three years having yielded nothing of the calamitous nature predicted by partisans of license, the community is hardly going to reverse judgment. Moreover, resurrection of an invidious comparsion publicly instituted between Chatham and Galt by the gentleman conducting the repeal fight has had due effect.

Mr. Cockin urged in Chatham papers that the two towns were not at all in the same class. Chatham was bright the same class. Chatham was bright and up-to-date. Galt was dull and slow. "You will find a cow will submit to treatment that a spirited horse would resent," declared Mr. Cockin and the imputation that Galt is a "cow town" has hit the good people hard. If they are glad to rank as cows on the ligures issue they say they will the license issue, they say they will be shorthorns or rather, they will enten in the Pohed Angus class.

If The Sunday World correspondent were betting on the Galt campaign for the repeal of local option, he would place every dollar on the antis and another three years dry spell.

IS TORONTO REALLY SHORT OF

It has been said that Toronto is very short of good hotel accommodation, and that it is practically impossible to find a first-class family heptel, and that the few hotels that really have first-class roome ask exorobitant prices. That a man who wants first - class accommodation has only a choice of two or three of the largest hotels. Evidently the uptown hotels have even been unknown or not considered. Now, for instance, Hotel Waverley, situated at the corner of College street and Spading avenue. Rooms such as you would only expect at the very largest hotels in America may be secured at hotels in America may be secured at it per day and up, with not and cold running water, and $1.50 and up with private baths. This hotel also offers a low weekly rate to guests who make a lengthy stay. Levery room has either a private bath or running water and telephone. The entire house is beautifully decorated and furnished in mahogfully decorated and furnished in mahogany. It maintains a first-class restaurant and grill, and serves a club luncheon and dinner daily. Music is rendered by the Hotel Orchestra every evening from 6 to 8 o'clock. The patronage is very select, and some of Toronto's most infuential business men make flotel Waverley their permanent home. This hotel is within 10 minutes of the extreme downtown district, and is reached by five direct car lines. The is reached by five direct car lines. The Best Investment in Toronto is North Toronto Real Estate: We Have Lots on Yonge St. at $75.00 Per Foot and Up. * *

OU MUST REMEMBER, there is only one Yonge Street. You can buy this week land on Yonge Street at $75.00 a foot and up. We cannot predict how much you will get for this land in the Spring of 1913, 1914 or 1915, but we do know that you cannot find a safer, surer or better investment anywhere in Toronto, or in Canada, than is presented on Yonge Street, and on the good streets adjoining. Very large profits are assured for the simple reason that the demand is going to be very large. Yonge Street at $75 per foot is the biggest bargain in Canada. Think of it. Thirty-five minutes from the centre of the city on the main street you can buy land at $75 per foot.

The line over which time passes from year to year is, of course, an imaginary one, and yet in the stock exchanges there is a tendency at this season of the year to go cautiously as if treading a new preserve. Speculators are not certain what the new year will bring in industry, business and commerce, and therefore show an inclination to limit their commitments until more sure of their ground. In consequence the early part of the month of January is generally a period of apathetic trading, and resultant narrow price swings.

At the present time there is, possibly, more uncertainty than usual on account of clouded outlook in European diplomatic circles. A few days Balkans seemed almost assured; later developments, however, have been less propitious, and unless further concessions are made by the Ottoman Government, a resumption of hostilities seems likely. Such a contingency would in all probability be the occasion for another outbreak of liquidation in the European stock exchange, where the situation is anything but favorable. International bankers are still retreaching, and until the peace conference in London concludes its session, sentiment promises to waver according to the immediate outlook as evidenced by the negotiations.

The Money Stringency.

On this side of the water conditions are more favorable, but, nevertheless, the outlook continues to hinge more or less on the foreign situation. Any adverse developments in Europe will be reflected in Wall street and the canadian exchanges, and therefore Canadian exchanges, and therefore Canadian exchanges, and therefore brokers are following the course of the peace proposals with more than ordinary interest. Added to this influence is the money stringency, which, as yet, is a good time to sit tight and await a clearer vision of what is in store for the early future before taking on commitments, tho purchases for the customary spring rise will, in all probability, show profits, provided the buy-derived provided the buy-derived provided the property of the developments abroad before form-framing any decided opinion as to furture prospects. Across the border fears of tariff revision are more than likely to keep Wall street in a state of aprehension and unrest, and as long as this continues, there is little prospect for much improvement in their market. On the whole, then, it would seem that it is a good time to sit tight await a clearer vision of

FINANCIAL NEW YORK NECESSITY OF THE AGE KEEPS EYE ON VIENNA

Since Arising of Balkan Crisis, Austrian Capital Has Played Big Part in Stock Market.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—There has been a curious contrast between the news of one day and another regarding the situation in Vienna. Recently one or two of the leading papers pub lished alarmist reports regarding con-ditions there; yet on the following day a newspaper which is beginning to make a feature of dispatches from foreign correspondents well versed in financial affairs, asserted that an imfinancial affairs, asserted that an important influence on the Berlin bourse of late has been heavy buying of securities, particularly German industrials for Vienna account. Until the Balkan war broke out, New York paid no attention to affairs in the Austrian capital; and apparently it has not yet succeeded in obtaining a good line on the situation in that city.

If the action of the Cobalt list during the past week be any criterion, the mining market is in for a season of active trading and gradually advancing prices. This has been in prospect for some time now, for there has been nothing more clearly evident during the past six months than that the public were displaying an everwidening interest in the silver mining stocks, and that any broadening of the speculative movement would usher in a period of bullish sentiment. That so great an advance has already occurred is quite sufficient evidence of the possibilities of the future, and that there is no let-up in the demand speaks volumes for the extent to which the public have already entered the market.

among the cheaper stocks, and City of Cobalt, Chambers-Ferland, among the better-known shares, have been prominent of late, and there seems to be no limit to their possibilities.

Outlook for the Future.

The outlook for the future is decidedly favogable. The public are just now entering the speculative public interest, with the attendant confidence in the future outlook for the mines, the evident scarcity of stock in the market, the reduction of arena in force, and everything points to a still greater expansion in the trading movement as spring approaches. The demand which has carried prices up to so great an extent has also eliminated considerable of the weakly-held stock, so long a deterrent in the market and as the prothe weakly-held stock, so long a de-terrent in the market, and, as the pro-fit-taking on the bulges is being well absorbed, there is no likelihood of any material reaction in the near future. Nationalists Claim a Majority on the Register and if They Win Rioting May Result.

LONDON, Jan. 4.-The sudden death of the Duke of Abercorn renders necessary a by-election in Londondersy, owing to the succession of the Marquis of Hamilton to the title. The seat will be hotly contested, and in view of the present phase of the home rule question the election will be of quite exceptional interest and almost cerexceptional interest and almost certainly productive of lively scenes.

The constituency is a small one, the voters on the 1910 register numbering 5068, and the rival parties of Unionists and Nationalists are so evenly balanced that a three-figure majority is a rare occurrence. Lord Hamilton's Unionist majority was 1056. The religious and political opinions of every voter are well known, and the consequence is that the result of any election in Londonderry can be forecasted to a practical certainty a few days in to a practical certainty a few days in advance.

The Nationalists, who have not represented the city since 1899, now claim a majority on the register, while the Unionists are equally confident. Londonderry, owing to its historic asso-ciations, is like a mecca to Ulster, and should it be lost to the Unionists the police authorities will have the utmost difficulty in preventing an outbreak of riots all over the eastern part

The last instalment of letters in The last instalment of letters in the Toronto World Prize Letter Contest of Bernard Shaw's views, as expressed in his brilliant comedy, "Man and Superman," to be presented by Robert Loraine and his London company of the state pany at the Princess Theatre this week, is published today. The list of winners will be given Monday, and the awards will be mailed to them. Speaking Generally.

Speaking generally, "society" is undoubtedly a "sham"; pretending what it is not. This, however, is not so bad as it would seem, for the reason that son that most well-bred people know the truth about it, thus absolving themselves from too intimate contact. and the universe. Mr. Shaw has opened up to our view that we are now at the border land of the new "status" of man, and if we are able we can read more than mere words in the language of his

Mr. Shaw's texts have a two-fold meaning, and we cannot ignore them; and if we understand them we must agree that they indicate more than a surface view—a view that reflects the spiritual understanding of God, man and the universe, whereby we see perfect God and perfect man-perfect principle and perfect idea, as the all and only reality; thus relegating to the realm of the unreal and untrue all false conceptions of God, man and the universe of Mind.

Artopios, 2231/2 Yonge street.

Shaw Is Justified.

Mr. Shaw is certainly justified in claiming that there is much sham in society. Especialy is it so of the society of today. Society of yesterday did not have the vast differences of wealth that exist at the present time, therefore not the same chance for sham. There is always a certain amount of harmless sham which is necessary to social life; but the worst shams of all are where there is wealth and no breeding, and the social climber who lives beyond his means. In most cases girls do entice men into duce (much less entice) a man into marriage, and I further think that no real man would be the subject of such a trap. Man does not take that final step with his eyes closed, as a marriage rather than live single lives. What has a girl to look forward to except marriage? I believe that feminine charms were given to the fairer sex for a purpose; and for what better purpose could they be used than for a girl to exercise them on the man she loves. Yes, mothers are often Watery Eyes and all Eye Diseases-blind to the faults of the young men many have thrown away their glasses into whose hands they intrust the future lives of their daughters. is left to the minority of the thinking class for anything like a proper interpretation of his view point.

In all probability Mr. Shaw begins his text with the material view point, and leaves to our reflection the larger interpretation of his text.

To claim that he is not justified in all his claims is far from fair. Yet we are constrained to go farther and see where we are led to; and as we to yet we find that we must pay our toyld we find that we must pay our to those who can read the signs that is is wrong.

Stupendous Sale of Diamonds $50,000 Worth at Your Own Price Tisdall's Great Annual $1.00 a Day Reduction Sale

On Thursday, Jan. 2nd, we placed ON SALE our entire remaining Holiday Stock of Diamonds, which are displayed in our show window, and marked at our usual Factory Price, which saves you all middlemen's profits. EVERY DAY FOR THE BALANCE OF THE MONTH EACH DIAMOND WILL BE RE-DUCED $1.00 IN PRICE UNTIL SOLD. For example: On Thursday a Diamond that sold regularly for $10.00 was reduced to $9.00, and if not sold on Thursday, it was reduced to $8.00 on Friday, and $7.00 on Saturday, and so on, making a reduction on each ring or pin of $1.00 every day till it is sold.

Watch our window from day to day, pick out the ring you want, and wait until it is reduced to your own price, and if someone else does not pick it up at an earlier date, you will get it. We want to close out every Diamond left over from our Holiday Stock, and have taken this unusual method of doing it.

The public will get some rare bargains, as we buy direct from the Diamond Cutters in Amsterdam for spot cash, and mount all our goods in our own Factory on the premises. Therefore the original prices at which the Diamonds are marked are exceedingly low, and the reductions made from day to day will be just that much extra real money saved on your purchases. This sale will be conscientiously carried out till the end of the month, and every ring will be reduced $1.00 each day until sold, no matter what the loss may be.

Watch our window closely daily, and you will be ab'e to pick up some rare bargains, either for personal use or investment. Remember, we keep open evenings.

"The Traveling Salesman" is still on a wave of popularity. Its success is due to the author who put flesh and blood characters into the play. To see Shep Camp (the irresistible and rotund comedian), Chas. Ross, Lou Miller. Tom Wood and Arthur Carlton, as the five jovial drummers who indulge in a poker of game to cheer away a lonesome Christmas in a small middle-west village hotel, is worth the price of a dozen.

monopolizes the laugh market for the season, inasmuch as it is being designated by the press and public as the comedy success of the last five years. It will be interpreted here by a cast that includes none but artists of the first rank and should without question, duplicate the good opinion it obtained on their last visit among theatregoers of this city. The faithfulness in which Mr. Forbes, the author, has depicted certain incidents in the life of a drummer on the road, is worthy of commendation, sufficiently so to warrant the endorsement of the

Inspector of Public Libraries. books, about half of

An ordinary traveling lection of 40 to 60 which are devoted to the arts, science, literature and travel. 30 per cent. fiction and the remainder juvenile. Special "cases" are made up to meet the needs of the special applications receiveda case loaned to the Farmers' Olub at Inwood contained 35 books dealing with agriculture, dairying, fruit-growing, stock raising, the soil, fertilizers, weeds, and kindred subjects; a typical "technical case" such as would appeal to artisans and mechanics was one loaned to Galt Public Library, made up of 44 books on different phases of engineering, machinists' work, building, manufacturing, plumbing, iron and steel work, concrete and fine arts. To study clubs are sent collections of books on Canadian history, geography, travel, description, or special literary topics. These traveling libraries are of two kinds: (1) Fixed or Permanent and (2) Elastic or Openshelf, and contain from 40 to 60 volumes each. These are put up in stained pinewood boxes, with lid and lock, and divided lengthways by a shelf, and are almost exclusively, "fixed collections." All libraries are accompanied by classified lists. In addition to this, the department, upon application and by arrangement, supplies the undermentioned traveling libraries for special purposes: (a) Public libraries in industrial centres; technological collections, for the use of artizans

(b) Public libraries. Collections for children

(c) Public libraries. Collections for young men and women only. (d) Library boards. Library upon construc-

(e) Library boards. Library upon administration. (f) Library boards. Library upon cataloguing and classification. (g) Study clubs. Library upon Canadian history or special literary subjects and travel.

(h) Individuals. Special collections of books for reading course. Ordinary traveling libraries are also loaned free from charge to the following: (a) Small struggling libraries.

(b) Groups of taxpayers living in hamlets. (c) Rural communities. (d) Women's and farmers' institutes.

(e) Mining, mill and other industrial companies in New Ontario.

(f) Poor schools, not possessing a school library. (Loaned only under pressing needs.) It may add to our interest in this movement and show us more clearly its possibilities just to take a peep into some of these cases. Here are the contents of a case sent to a farmers' club:

1. Types and Breeds of Farm Animals. 2. Modern Horse Doctor. 3. Animal Castration. 4. Diseases of Animals, 5. Manual of Farm Animals. 6. Swine in America. 7. Cyclopedia of American Agriculture. 8. How to Keep Hens for Profit. 9. How to Keep Bees for Profit. 10. Dry-Farming. 11. Practical Farming. 12. Farm Garden Rule Book. 13. Successful Farming. 14. Beginnings in Agriculture, 15. Book of Wheat, 16. Farm Dairying. 17. Milk and its Products. 18. Business of Dairying. 19. Cheese-Making. 20. Shepherd's Manual. 21. Grape Growing. 22. Principles of Fruit Growing. 23. Spraying of Plants. 24. Nursery Book. 25. New Onion Culture. 26. The Soil. 27. Soil of the Farm. 28. Insects Injurious to Fruits. 29. Irrigation and Drainage. 30. Fertilizers. 31. Rural Hygiene. 32. The Story of Sugar. 33. Farm Weeds of Canada. 34. Canadian Annual Review. 35. Body at Work.

While a typical example of what the mechanics and artizans of the towns are reading with advantage to themselves may be shown by this list of a "technical" case:-

Useful Arts. r. Steam Boulers. 2. Steam Engines. 3. Manual of Steam Boilers. 4. Engines and Boilers. 5. Mechanical Engineer's .Pocket-Book. 6. Gas, Gasoline and Oil Engines. 7. Gas Engines and Producers. 8. Valve Gears and Indicators. 9. Farm Machinery and Farm Motors. 10. Modern Milling Machines. 11. Blast Furnace Calculations. 12. Highway Constructions. 13. Machine Design. 14. Woodworking Machinery. 15. Punches, Dies and Tools. 16. Dies. 17. Saw Filing. 18. Hand Saws. 19, Tools for Machinists. 20. Tool Making. 21. Hot-Air Heating, etc.

Building. '22. Estimating. 23. Modern Carpentry. 24. Carpenter and Builder. 25. Carpentry and Manufactures. 26. Leather Manufacture. 27. Boot Making. 28. Modern American Tanning. 29. Knitting. 30. Chemistry of Hat Manufacturing. 31. Manufacture of Paper.

Plumbing. 32. Plumbing. 33. Sanitary Plumbing. 34. Plumbing Catechism. 45. Kinks for Plumbers. Iron and Steel.

36. The Steel Worker. 37. Metal-Working. 38. Hardening and Tempering of Steel. 39. Constructional Iron and Steel Work. Concrete.

40. Hand Book for Cement and Concrete Users. 41. Concrete, Cements, etc. 42. Reinforced Concrete. 43. Reinforced Concrete. Fine Arts-Painting.

44. House Painting. Thus we see that technical education is being greatly encouraged thru the assistance of these traveling libraries. Mr. Nursey, the library inspector, takes a special interest in this phase of the work. Except in the larger towns and cities the expense of keeping up a good supply of modern and up-to-date works on the various technical subjects is beyond the means of the local library. The library can now overcome this deficiency by securing a loan for three months (renewable by arrangement) of a collection of the latest and best technical books on subjects as mentioned in the application.

Small circulating libraries strengthen their circulating power by the aid of these traveling cases. Villages and rural communities not possessing a regular free library are enabled to secure collections of good books, the work of women's institutes, farmers' clubs is encouraged and broadened, mining and lumber camps and other industrial companies are given the benefit of this real "people's university."

Indeed, no community of the province need lack good books; for any community, organization or club may, upon application by three representative residents, who become responsible for the safety of the books, secure for themselves the benefits of a regular library thru the means of these traveling cases.

The numerous letters received by the department from secretaries of women's institutes, from librarians, reading camps, and various communities, together with the frequent requests for books, go to show the popularity and success of this movement. It has even attracted the attention of continental Europe, the Belghan minister in London having communicated with the library department, thru the Canadian high commission, asking for information on the establishment and method of administration of these traveling

The only expense whatever in obtaining the loan of a traveling case of books is the cost of transportation from the offices of the department; when returning the case the borrower ships is charges collect.

Only one other Province of Canada has such a system, that is British Columbia. McGill University also conducts a travelling library system. The same plan is in operation in 29 states of the neighboring republic, in comparison with which Ontario stands ninth in the list,

As an indication of Ontario's progress we may take for example the record of three of the above states, situated in three opposite corners of the neighboring republic, viz., Alabama, Connecticut and Indiana, which, while representative of three great centres of industry, with an aggregate area of 91,984 square miles, only one third that of Ontario's 261,000 square miles, and with an easily reached joint population of 5,953,715-or nearly two and one half times as great as that of On'tario's 2,523,358—have only the same number of books in circulation thru their three travelling library systems, viz., 12,000 volumes, as we have in circulation today in this one province.

-Donald G. French.

HE best book in the world is of very little use unless it is getting itself read. The library that is only a storehouse for books, and whose energy is not concentrated on making itself a distributing centre, is not a factor of any importance in the culture of the community or the welfare of the nation. Getting books read—that is the idea which developed some ten years ago into the traveling library plan of the Ontario Department of Education.

The working principle of this plan is, "Send the books to the people." In a room of the education department offices you may see any day numerous strong, padlocked wooden boxes of books, some addressed and ready for shipment to remote corners of the province, others just returning from a journey. During last year, 243 of these traveling libraries, comprising 14,000 volumes, were loaned and circulated among public libraries, women's and farmers' institutes, study clubs, rural districts and isolated communities. In 1901, when the plan was first adopted. 8 cases (400 books) were sent out to the lumber camps of Northern Ontanio. Describing the progress of the work in a recent report, Mr. Nursey, who is in charge of the work, says:-

"The traveling library system in Ontario rivals Jonah's gourd in respect to rapid development. In 1901 only eight libraries were circulated; last year 243 cut loose from their moorings and bore the flag of instruction and entertainment into every corner of the province, a gain over the year previous of 74 libraries. Today we have nearly 14,000 books on the wing. We have gained in one year five points in the continental race. Last year we stood fourteen from the top; today we are only nine points from the height of our ambition, namely to head the list of the 29 states in the United States that have adopted the system. Today we lead 20 of them and are hot-foot after Wisconsin. The state of New York employs 17 assistants to administer 90,000 traveling library books, or one man for every 3000. We in Ontario have only one assistant for over 13,000 books; he also runs the crematory and binds and repairs the derelicts. The room where this work is carried on has been named by outsiders 'The Beehive.' The cowcatcher of the locomotive may be the advance guard of colonization, but it is the traveling library that is the civilizer that reconciles the pioneer to the isolation of the outposts."

EDTIORIAL

A Greater Toronto

New Year's Day of 1913 will be marked by red letters in the annals of Toronto. It was in fact the first great demonstration that the village ideas held and assiduously fostered by the relics of a vanished past are no longer to direct the course and retard the progress of a city destined to become one of the fore-most on the continent. By their overwhelming approval of all the bylaws submitted the citizens came into their own and broke the ground for a new departure which in another decade will yield unparalleled results. The prospect that is opening before the youth of Toronto may well make those who have passed the meridian of life not a little envious. But they have seen the dawn of the greater city and it should be their ambi-tion to strengthen the determination to make Toronto second to no other city in all that makes for the social welfare of the people. Toronto needs men of wide vision and progressive sentiment, who build for tomorrow as well as today, who keep abreast of the general movement towards better living. Good living needs a good environment and the provision of that environment is one of the big problems to be considered and

About fifty per cent. of the voters exercised their franchise rights, but the proportion would be much greater were the total limited to those who might reasonably be expected to go to the polls. It was pointed out at one of the public meetings held by the associated women's societies that many of the women voters are aged and infirm and that therefore too much stress should not be laid on the number who abstain. But even with this allowance there are too many citizens who decline their personal responsibility for the character of the city's government. Nevertheless Toronto compares favorably with other cities for it is matter of complaint in all English speaking countries, that undernormal circumstances, municipal elections fail to rouse an active public interest. Yet the administration of a city is a matter of interests. intimate importance to every one of its inhabitants and its na-ure immediately dependent on themselves. There should be many more public meetings and far too little use is made of this valuable factor. The three meetings convened by the women's societies were welcome for that reason and regret will be felt if the precedent thus set is not followed in future years.

By close on four to one the electors declared themselves in favor of tax reform and the result shows a strong consensus of opinion that industry and enterprize should not be penalized by increased assessment. It is absurd to compel a householder to pay more taxes whenever he improves his home or-its surroundings. The practice is a direct invitation to cease improving property and an encouragement to ugliness and discomfort. The endeavor ought to be contrariwise to penalize those who do not or will not engage in desirable improvement. Wherever improvements have been partially or wholly exempted from assessment the consequences have been highly favorable. That is the universal testimony borne by the cities and towns that have tried the system. Not one has gone back and those that started with an exemption of twenty-five per cent. went on to fifty, to seventy-five and some even to complete exemption. No valid reason has ever been offered why Ontario municipalities should not have the power enjoyed in the western provinces of the Dominion and Toronto clearly would make the experiment were the citizens given the opportunity.

Mayor Hocken well deserves the honor conferred upon him. He has rendered good and faithful service to the city for many vears and his elevation to the mayoralty is his meet reward. He has a splendid opportunity ready at his hand, ample experience, courage and enthusiasm. Much depends on the mayor. He should be the driving force behind the council, in sympathy with a real progressive policy and resolute in defence of public rights. Toronto fortunately has in part escaped from the toils that were being woven round the city by the franchise-holding corporations. The danger that once threatened no longer looms. Thanks to the great work of the provincial minister of power, Niagara white coal comes freely over a public transmission line to be distributed by an undertaking run by the citizens themselves. No finer boon was ever conferred and its installation opens the door to many other lines of public enterprize. Within the next decade the present franchises will be redeemed and the whole public services of the city left free for development for the general interest of the community. Toronto will take its place with the great municipalities of the Motherland.

Altho the city is committed to large expenditures the only question is whether the objects to be obtained are for the public benefit. As to that no doubt exists and the undertakings will carry themselves thru the improvement in the general well-being that will be effected. German cities have no such dread of increasing their debt as afflicts some tomorrow people in Toronto. Once satisfied that a particular project is for the public good, that is enough for the German citizen who takes laudable pride in securing that his city shall be all that is best and have all that is desirable. When the great Manchester Ship Canal almost came to grief the citizens of that city boldly stepped into the breach and pledged their credit for $25,000,000 to complete its construction. Almost stagnant as that city then was the canal, even if it did not yield a profit, has more than paid itself in the remarkable expansion of Manchester as a shipping port. Enterprize, well directed and conducted on sound principles never fails to justify itself by the best of all tests-that

Tax Reform

Tax reform is a question which has now gotten beyond even Sir James Whitney. The vote in its favor on New Year's Day has shown that public opinion has been aroused to the point of demanding a change to conditions of taxation which have proven successful in those sections of the country in which they have been given a fair trial.

And so, premier willing or unwilling, Ontario will have tax reform. Foronto's parliamentary representatives did not oppose the will of their electors. In the Ottawa representation the count stands five to one in favor. There is a majority of the same kind also in the house from London, Hamilton and the other larger cities of the province. When public opinion is once aroused to the necessity of any certain reform leaders show wisdom in becoming, for the nonce, followers, but in the van, of progress. For it is, after all, public opinion which creates leaders. These latter may, once in power, come to believe that they have been appointed by virtue of their great superiority or by divine right, but the lopping off of the head of King Charles has had its parallel in every generation of history since. It is surely better to swallow a little than to have no throat left to swallow with.

Toronto's Forward Policy

By their vote on New Year's day the citizens people and on the whole there can be little complaint of the choice made. The absence of any serious contest for the mayoralty rather militated against a keen fight, but there was a warm contest for the board of control, and the bylaws were of so important a nature as to compel the attendance of the voting class at the poll.

The Sunday World is pleased that strong support was given to all the bylaws for the expenditure of money for civic improvements. We have been in the past dawdling along, not getting any "forrarder" but dropping a good deal of money into patches and repairs. Now we propose to make a jump forward, to spend a large sum of money on the best system of water that has been so far devised for this community; to link the neglected northeast end of the city with the section west of the Don ravine; to provide for storm overflow sewers; for good roads; and for the disposal of our garbage; and on top of all this the ratepayers supported money grants to the Hospital for Sick Children and the National Sanitarium Association. The total amount involved is over $13,-000,000 which will be spent within the next tenyears. Toronto has adopted the forward policy and we believe the mayor and council are strong enough to bring it to a successful conclusion.

Toronto will have 700,000 people or more in ten years and the burden of the expense will fall lightly on the present population.

In the ten years there will be an expenditure on improvements in contemplation now close to $50,000,000. On the improvement of the harbor the federal and civic authorities will spend $19,000,000. The railways and city will spend $10,000,000 on the separation of the grades along the water front and the new union station. Millions will be spent in grade separation and new stations in the north end. These are the big expenditures in sight.

We have entered upon a campaign for a million people and the only way to get a million people is to provide facilities for them. The program before the city council is a big one, but they have the mandate of the people to go ahead. When they get the present improvements under way there will be new schemes for still further betterments and we feel assured that the people will back up the civic rulers in a generous and far-seeing policy to make Toronto not only the largest but the most favored city in every way in the Dominion of Canada.

Jeffersonian

Governor William Sulzer of New York created a stir by insisting upon Jeffersonian simplicity at his inauguration on New Year's day. There was no civic parade or military display, no firing of salutes and the governor made his way on foot from the executive mansion to the capital.

According to tradition Thomas Jefferson came to the capital at Washington on horse back, to be inaugurated, hitched the horse to a nearby tree before taking the oath of office and then remounting, road home again unattended. At any rate he did away with much of the semi-regal pomp of the earlier presidents. People, however, love display under whatever form of government they may live and the etiquet of the White House is more cumbersome

PAIR SKATING

By George A. Meagher, Champlen Figure Skater of the World.

The "Pair" Skaters.

In beauty of movement can with ther

"Pair," or "hand-in-hand" skating onsists in the execution of single povements by two persons. It is unmestionably the most fascinating of atl styles, the in acquiring proficiency such time and practice are required. still the result, when it is attained, nore than repays the labor.

"Pair skating," it may be said, is at the present very much increasing in opularity. Nearly all the movements that can be performed singly, can also be performed in "pair skating," tho of this fact comparatively few (even good skaters) are aware. Hence it is that the more difficult figures are seldom attempted in this manner.

The popular and generally accepted method of "pair skating" has been to executa "ransoms," "waltz steps," "brackets," "rocking turns," and a small selection of figures of "3" and "8's," and then their repertoire is exhausted; but, I may say, that it is possible to add not a few, but hundreds of other beautiful creations to these somewhat simple movements.

Cross Roll (with circle, pair skating). Joining hands, one skater begins backward on the ordinary "cross roll," while the partner goes forward; on the third stroke the one going back-wards makes a complete circle back-wards, and the one going forward fol-lows with a complete circle forward. Thus they execute a perfect circle on every third stroke, first on the right

Joining right hands only, two skaters stand with right sides facing, and in position for executing the "eight." Each starts off until a perfect circle has been completed, when the right hands become disengaged. Each skater then makes a circle independently on left foot. The marks left upon the ice do not constitute a perfect "eight," as there are three circles instead of skaters to join hands. The genuine "8" may be skated in pairs, without joining hands, who simply pass and repass each other in the centre of the he "Mercury" is probably known to skaters in general than any double movement, excluding the "figure 8." Two experts can make this movement to the eye of the spectator look both difficult and pretty. Two persons join hands, one starts backward, the other forward. The one goforward begins with the "cross forward," left foot, the partner starting on the "cross roll backward," right foot. The one going forward crosses the right foot over the left, describing a curse on the outside edge of the right, the partner doing likewise on the left foot. At the finish of each curve both skaters turn as in the ordinary "ransom" step; the one going forward changes to backward,

Two persons join hands, one doing the backward "locomotive step," while the partner does the forward. A great clatter of feet may be heard when this is skated in a lively manner, but it requires two fairly good skaters to keep in perfect time.

Those few churches battling upon the firing line of poverty and sin and disease are wrote to The World Good Fellow for the names of little ones. The good fellows played their per right nobly, and added much to the sum total of the Christmas cheer. More, they have added to the cheer of many for many months to come. In some cases I found that good fellows had lifted whole families out of extreme want and suffering. And very many of the good fellows themselves have profited. They have been given a new aspect of life and brought to a realization that giving should be just as much a part of it as eating or drinking or sleeping. I am very fond of the maxim that we grow only as we serve others. And I am hoping that many of the good fellows will keep it up thruout the year, so that, by next Christmas, their good fellows into the game. Automobile Repairs

The automobile itself and the business of selling automobiles has reached the stage that both are for all practical purposes standardized. The automobile is a thoroly reliable product, and any improvement that will be made on the gasoline car of the future will be along the line of refinement, with possibly a movement in the direction of lowering the cost to the consumer. The business of selling the finished car is now thoroly understood, and better and business-like methods have been

There is one feature of the automobile business, however, which needs the immediate attention of the manufacturer, the dealer, the user, and all those interested in the welfare of the industry. We refer to the making of repairs. Under present conditions when a man puts his machine into the average garage for repairs he is giving up for an indefinite period something which has become an essential to him. Usually his first question to the garage man is "When will the job be done?" The garage man promises the car on a certain date. Nine times out of ten, however, the work is not finished on this date, and often a week longer than the period requested is taken up. This is a condition of affairs which does not obtain so strongly in any other business. Why it should exist in connection with motor cars is something of a mystery. The man who repairs a piece of factory machinery, or who undertakes any other sort of work, knows that the job must be finished on the date specified. The automobile repair man, on the other hand, seems to think that it is his privilege to keep the customer's car for a much longer time than the date mentioned at first. This is largely owing to the fact that the repair shops of most automobile concerns are badly organized. Men are taken from one job and put on another in the most unsystematic way. The foreman of the repair shop is usually a good mechanic, but he has no knowledge of business organization or of system in handling his work.

The machine shops in Toronto which cut gears, straighten shafts and do other work of this character are even worse than the garages themselves. A job which would take four or five hours actual labor is never returned to the customer under three days or a week. This is owing to the same lack of organization that obtains in the garages. If garage and repair men want to make their businesses successful they must keep their word to their customers in the matter of finishing work when it is promised. The prices charged for automobile repairs are a good deal higher than they should be, and in consideration of this fact the men who undertake the repair jobs should at least see that the customer gets his car when it is promised him.

In a good many other cities automobile owners have been driven to organize co-operative repair shops. The chief reason for this has been the slackness and lack of organization shown by the garage men in handling their work.

Toronto repair men and machinists must reform along these lines or they will find that motorists will discover some means of getting their work done in a more satisfactory and efficient new types of bodies were introduced at the Importers' Salon, which was opened at the Aster Hotel last Thursday. These are a four seated limousine of the enclosed drive type, which is becoming very popular abroad, and a two-passenger landaulet which is readily converted into a runabout by folding down the sides and top. The former is entirely enclosed, and there is no division between the front and rear seats. Many of these bodies are fitted with four arm chairs for seats and are just the thing when the owner does his own driving.

Some of the new two passenger landaulets have a third seat for the types of three seated runabouts.

The motometer is one of the season's novelities, and designers and builders of cars recognize the value of the device, and state that they are only toglad to have customers use them, for the instrument will save many a motor from being ruined. The device is a sensitive, watch-like instrument attached to the radiator cap like an ornament by merely boring a hole, and it indicates accurately the heat of the motor at all times. From the seat the driver or passengers in the car can motice at once when the symptoms of such things as a leaky radiator, low water supply, a pump out of order, broken fan-belt, faulty lubrication, and other things which produce overheating develop. Heretofore, it has been impossible to ascertain the temperature of the motor and cooling system, except by stopping the car and placing one's hand on the radiator. At best, this is but a crude manner of finding out the true condition of the motor.

By means of a highly magnified column of red indicating fluid, visible from the seat while driving sither might or day, the motometer keeps the driver aware of the exact condition of the whole length of the running board, in stance, and less than half and me advantage on the seat with features, the tool box, for instance, running beneath and the whole length of the running board, in stance, and less than half an mile apart. driver aware of the exact condition of his cooling system, and one advantage in using such an instrument is not only that it is interesting to watch, but gives the driver a feeling of segives the driver a feeling of security. When Robert Loraine, who comes t the Princess Theatre this week with his London company in Bernard Snaw's most brilliant comedy, left us five years ago, he left merely in the capacity of actor, a good one, and successful, but one who had devoted himself exclusively to his profession, with all energies bent towards strengthening his position in it. He had one great popular triumph in the role of Tanner in "Man and Superman," he had become an established star, and the thanks of theatredom were due him for making known to it the most brilliant of the Shawian plays. He returned to his native England in this position, grateful to the country that had given him his early opportunities and theatrical training. He was now in a position to give free play to his personal versatility and almost superhuman energy. He returned to us many times more famous than when he left, for he is renowned now not only as an actor but also as a manager and producer, as an inventor, motorist, and, above all things else, as an aviator.

that Robert Loraine, the actor, had just landed in a biplane on a golf links on the downs. "Mr. Jones" and Mr. Loraine, it developed, were one and the same.

This flight was the first of those in which Mr. Loraine distinguished himself, but it was neither the most sen-sational nor the most important. In September of the same year Mr. Loraine left Holyhead in his machine and headed for Ireland, ninety-one miles away. His goal was apparently won, two hours later, when his machine plunged into the sea, two hundred yards away. He swam the remaining distance, shouting to a pilot to rescue his aeroplane, which was little damagwere filled with anxiety by the sight of a biplane struggling up the channel Locke's "The Man From the Sea," at a biplane struggling up the channel bocke's "The Man From the Sea, about a mile south of the lighthouse. GABY DESLYS AND HARRY PILCER, IN "THE WHIRL OF SOCIETY," AT THE ALEXANDRA THEATRE

"Social Maids" at Gayety Theatre

Jennie Austin and Wilbur Dobbs in High - Class Burlesque.

"Social Maids," the attraction at the Gayety Theatre during the new week, differs materially from the general run of burlesques. Its advantage over the usualtype is noticeable at the very rise of the first curtain. The settings and costuming disclose the character of a high-priced production, while the book itself gives every indication that the routine style of burlesque has been abandoned in this particular case.

"The Boys from Home," a two-act musical extravaganza serves as the vehicle for the drolleries and eccentricities of the comedians. The book is constructed with special reference to the unique style of entertaining, which George Star, the star comedian, will introduce. It is none of the slap-stick comedy that Stone is to serve, but clean cut hilarity, free from any suggestiveness and vulgar-ity. He will show his worth not only as a comedian of highest rank, but he will introduce himself in the two-act farcietta as a clever dancer, powerful basso singer and excellent planist as

That dainty comedienne, Miss Jen-nie Austin, will take care of the principal soubret part. During the ac-tion of the comedy she will find opportunities to introduce herself in eleven stunningly pretty gowns, each one a masterpiece of the French cos-tumers art.

Wilbur Dobbs, a German comedian of the Sam Bernard type, portrays the person of a wealthy soap manufactur-er. He is, indeed, a most prolific artist, fully capable to keep the auditor in excellent humor, whenever he is on the scene. Jimmy Connors, as a Venezuelan general and an American naval officer, Billy Baker as a tramp companion of Stone, Josie Kline In a grotesque character role, Etta Pil-lard and May Williams as delightful chansonettes, help to make up the roster of the noteworthy principals.

The musical part of the show has received special attention. The majority of the melodies are original and the staging of the various ensembles is disclosing the artistic taste of the producer. Twenty-four good-looking young women and a double male quartet form the chorus.

ure. Disappointed with the outcome of his struggle for success he is about to end his cares and worries for all time. In this condition he is discovered by a newspaper man, who proves an optimistic friend. The newspaper worker induces him to put his pride in his pocket and to return to his birthplace and take up his fight for a position in earnest. The boy accepts the advice and accompanied by his new friend, returns to his home town, works hard and gains the respect of JENNIE AUSTIN, WITH THE SOCIAL MAIDS, AT THE GAYETY THIS duction of Edgar Selwyn's comedy in four acts, "The Country Boy," will be the attraction at the Grand Opera A Grand Offering House next week. The play is an unusual one in many respects and from first to last is thoroly entertaining. It is said to be somewhat out of the ordinary from the fact that it shows that success is not necessarily to be found in the city. Mr. Selwyn's hero, a country boy, goes to New York to gain the name and fame that he,

With the return of Robert Loraine to America under the management of the Liebler Company, accompanied by the coterie of notable actors who assisted im in his recent revival of "Man and Superman," theatregoers are given an opportunity of seeing George Bernard Shaws smartest comedy presented under conditions that are as nearly perpect as anything mundane can be. Mr. Loraine's engagement in this epochmarking play is at the Princess Theatre all this week.

Since leaving New York seven years agreed and managed this enterprise of richestral concerts in Brussels. He organized and managed this enterprise entirely by himself, without any guarantee funds, and the concerts were so successful, financially as well as a stristically, that at the end of the season it was found that they had paid all expenses, and this, as all who know anything about the financial side of orchestral concerts will see, is a most remarkable showing.

Once or twice they have ventured forth on long walks thru the English country, whils cycling trips have been frequently taken by them.

Hospitable almost to a fault, the seaside home is generaly in the season filled with guests—a veritable Mecca for musicians and celeorities. The Hampstead home is of quite a different sort, much larger and more imposing, and with grounds that form a park of wonderful natural beauty. It is not difficult to understand how Madame Butt earned the money that has elevated her from rags to riches when it is known that within a period of twelve years the average annual receipts have been $6,000 at her London Crystal Palace concerts, held always on Good Friday afternoons. At the Queen's Hall on Good Friday nights the average receipts for the twelve years have been $2,550. And at Albert Hall, the scene of the triumph that made her famous, this remarkable woman has earned almost $50,000 in twelve concerts. A recent South African tour of twenty-eight Rumford were married in 1900 mer Financial District Has Been Delinately Located on

The real estate movement of 1912, great tho it was, is to be far surpassed by the activity of 1913. Building construction is going to break all records. In downtown structures alone a third of 1912's total is already in sight.

Besides being notable for many large transactions, the year just passed decided many things.

The financial district has been finally located on King street, the present bounds are Victoria and Bay streets, but this year should see them spread east to Church street-the concentration in one building of the C. N. R. Transcontinental Railway business, the private power and traction business of the province will do that-and naturally west to York street. It has been definitely determined that the retail district is to move up Yonge street. A good start has been made, this year will see this movement well underway.

Thoughtful real estate men have successfully checked any tendency toward reckless subdivision that rich prosperity and unusual city expansion might have developed. Instead we have land men leaning now to the policy of improving their offerings before marketing.

A decided trend eastward was a marked feature of last year's activity. For a while it displayed itself only in house building. Now we see commercial houses and factories taking up the comparatively cheap land of the east part of the central district. This movement will grow to great proportions, as relative values are recognized and following will come a better appreciation of the eastern section of the downtown district.

It does not seem possible that values can stand still. They must advance just as the city advances in population and the country in wealth. The past year's increases were very great, due largely to a sudden influx of interest in downtown property and the hurry of financial and other big institutions to secure sites in recognized centres. From the heart of the town, at King and Yonge, where two of the corners turned over at big figures during the year, another improved with a sixteen storey building and the fouth property enlarged for the building of a great banking house, from King and Yonge the realty activity and the price advances have radiated. Downtown land and residences and vacant building property have all gone up. Where a hundred have made marvelous profits, thousands and thousands of small house-owners and little lot holders have registered what to them are handsome gains, and all of which will be used to further swell investments.

And while the city is extending its transit and improve ment services and private capital is engaged in greater building operations two other things are greatly needed. The allied property interests of the city should form themselves into a real estate association; and, the present patched building regulations should be replaced by an entirely new and modern

Benjamin Staff, an American playwright, while writing a play in London, is suddenly seized with a desire to go home. While booking his passage to New York he makes the acquaintance of Mr. William Howard Iff, a diminutive person of rather mysterious manner, who is bargaining for the same cabin accommodation as himself, and they agree to travel together. As they are leaving the bocking office, a motor-cab, with an unusually large and ornate bandbox on its roof approaches; but the occupant of the cab a very beautiful young woman, on perceiving the two men immediately orders the driver to move on. Iff, who has observed this peculiar happening, awaits the return-of the cab, while Staff, who has noticed nothing unusual, returns to his apartments. Later, while preparing for the journey a large and brightly-colored bandbox is delivered to him, much to his surprise and disgust. On learning from the millinery establishment that the bandbox has been sent to him by a young lady who promises to communicate with him later, he decides to take it with him. On board ship he tries to take possession of another bandbox exactly like his own but which he discovers belongs to Miss Eleanor Searle, a fellow passenger. He finded Mr lift already occupying their cabin and full of curiosity about the box, which Staff turns over to the steward for the balance of the trip. Staff beromes better acquainted with Miss Séarle and learns that she knews the senden of the bandbox but will not spoil the joke" by telling. His bewilderment is increased by the coming aboard at Roche's Point of his flancee Miss Alison Landis, a beautiful actress, for whom he is writing a play, and who is supposed to be in American. Meeting Arkrovd, a wealthy American, and a rival for the affections of Miss Landis has purchased in Paris the Cadogan Collar, a very valuable pearl necklace, and warns him of the presence on board of a very clever the finamed Ismay, whose description is identical with that of Mr. Iff, his mysterious cabin companion. "Why! Santa Claus Is Love!" * "Information From a Girl Who By Nell Brinkley

For the little maid who has just acquired the circlet for the pink third finger of her left hand Santa Claus is Love.

I heard a girl the other day, with the hot color in her cheeks, a conscious flutter of hands, and a lowering of blacklashes over the shimmer of her eyes, define that elusive, mystical chap, whom some of us never see or know after we're 'leven, "Why," said she, and laughed, "I know—San'ta Claus is LOVE!"

And the little maid, who had just acquired a ruby and diamond circlet on the pink third finger of her left hand, was right. For her the chap who always wears red velvet and white rabbit fur, even where there is no snow, is

Mothers who worry and sew and "skimp" and buy-and who are merry withal—know, when they remember why they are doing it, that Santa Claus is Love. Then, of course, there's an awful bunch of folks who buy the splendidest things for folks they don't care a rap about, and then haven't anything left to get Christmas for the folks they DO care about—they NEED to know that he is Love.

Maybe if you, little maid, had propped your blue eyes open long enough on Christmas Eve, and sneaked down the minute you heard scuffling in the black fireplace—you might have seen the little chap whom I herewith show to you in this picture.

MADAME BERNHARDT TELLS WHY SHE PLAYS IN "MUSIC HALLS"

(By Madame Sarah Bernhardt).

(Copyright, 1912, Rochambeau Newspaper Syndicate, Philadelphia.)
(All rights reserved.)

I receive many letters inquiring why I play in music halls and why I only play one act.

I am now going to reply once for all to these letters. During the thirty years that I have played in England and America I have performed before rich people; the seats being very dear. About ten years ago I received, for the first time, an address signed by fifty girls and young people telling me that the price of seats did not allow them to enjoy the French works that I gave and that youth beyond all had the best right of being initiated into the beauties of our national language.

Then, later on, I received letters from America and finally I was profoundly touched three years ago by an appeal from people with slender purses, who, having a love for the beautiful, desired to see if the French artists merited their celebrity. All those letters and all those addresses gave me the wish to satisfy the num-

I now began to ardently desire to play before the real people. I had conquered all the courts, the fashionable and rich public, all the capitals and the beautiful language of my naand the beautiful language of my native country had won new admirers. I resolved to conquer the masses. Having mentioned my wish at a gathering, I received a letter two days later from a prominent English manager and the proprietor of the Coliseum in London. He entered into my plans and I opened in London in the second act of L'Aiglan. It was an second act of L'Aiglon. It was an second act of L'Aiglon. It was an immense success. The Coliseum holds three thousand persons and for six weeks the theatre was crowded from top to bottom. I got into touch with that admirable public more directly than in all former years, and I experienced the greatest joys of an artist. I toured the English provinces with the same success and when an American manager proposed that I should do the same in America as I had done in England, I accepted with delight.

The performers who precede me or follow me later on are actors of talent. One may not introduce in my representations either acrobats (whom I admire very much personally) trained dogs or wild beasts. My representations, generally speaking, are more like representations organized for benefits in which popular artists of all kinds take part—singers, musicians, dancers and comedians.

I only play one act because it would be too great a tax on a public that did not understand our language to have to listen to four or five acts attentively.

I like better to feel the public is attentive during half an hour and I assure you that I am grateful to the dear great American people for the respect that they show for the serious works I offer them.

TURNING SEARCHLIGHT ON A CONTINENT STUDY OF SOUTH AMERICAN REPUBLICS

British Ambassador Bryce Writes an Illuminating Work on the People, Resources and Political Conditions of the Countries of the Southern Continent - Important Observations and Impressions.

What do we know about South America? Altho in its physical aspect it is so closely connected with us that geographers scarce seem to know whether to regard it as a separate contiment or to call it the southern half of a greater America, we really know very little about its people, their institutions, their aims, their occupations. We have little direct communication with them. Compare, for example, your knowledge of Europe, of Asia or even central government. A local revolu-of Africa with what you know about tion can make considerable headway subject combines very happily the systematic arrangement of the acadic writer with the familiar personal attitude of the modern journalist. His academic training leads him to introduce his subject with an outline showing the reader just what he may expect to find in the book. The chief points of interest which the South American countries have for Europeans and North Americans he outlines as follows: 1, the aspects of nature; 2, the inhabitants, the white part of whom are of Spanish origin, except the Brazil-fans, who come from Portugal; 3, the economic resources of the several countries; 4, the prospects for the depment of industry and commerce; 5. the relics of prehistoric civilization; 6, the native Indian population; 7, the conditions of political life in the several countries.

Individualizes the Countries. Beginning with the Republic of Panama, the writer carries us along with him in his journeys thru Peru. Bolivia. Chile, Argentina, Uruguay, and Brazil. He blends in an entertaining fashion descriptions of scenery, with information as to natural resources, characterfrom what he has seen. Little incidents of particular "human interest" are not lacking, and at the end of our journey South America is no longer massed in our minds as a bundle of firework republics, but appears to be made up of a number of independent countries, each individualized and d's-tinct. What Mr. Bryce has done for South America is chiefly to present clear-cut character sketches of its various countries. No longer must we imagine the South American as a type here is a picture which shows us the Chilean, the Argentino, the Urguayan, the Brazilian, just as the dramatist or novelist creates for us characters who live for us as markedly distinct indi-

Bare, uncorrelated facts are dry and for the most part valueless. The greatest merit of this book lies in its soimpressions and observations. But these are not hurnedly recorded first impressions. They are rather deductions, comparisons, and reflections ulting from the careful pondering facts by a man with a wide knowlge of peoples and governments, and f the history and literature of the past—a man whose wide experience and culture was such as to fit him for just such a task as this, the illuminating of facts and information with the searchlight of knowledge.

Explains Revolutions. In his discussion of the political conditions in South America and in his chapter entitled "Some Reflections and Forecasts," we get a thoro treatment of our question regarding those oft-recurring revolutions. In the first place we will have to realize that we are often mislead by names. The countries of South America are called "re-publics." In actual fact only two of them are real republics with a proper democratic constitution. The majority

"Spanish America belonged, in 1825, to an age which England and North America had long left behind. Most of the land was behind. Most of the land was wilder than England or Germany had been in the twelfth century, a thin population, no roads, settlements scattered here and there in forests or deserts. The peasantry were further back than those of western Europe in the fifteenth century, not merely rude and ignorant, but speaking native languages and soaked in primeval superstitions. The upper classes were further back than those of Europe in the seventeenth cen-Europe in the seventeenth cen-tury, for few of them had receiv-ed any sort of higher education and none of them had any per-sonal knowledge of free institutions or any experience in civil administrations. They tried to erect a superstructure of complicated political institutions when there was no solid foundation to build on. . . Such experiments were foredoomed to failure."

both America. You might almost call it the unknown continent. It is true that there are more books of travel being written lately on this part of the world, and that the student of history may acquaint himself, if he will, with the political changes which have occurred in the South American republics from time to time—the trouble is, however, that facts and statistics are not as illuminating as we sometimes think. They may not lie and at the same time they may be far from times think. They may not lie and at the same time they may be far from revealing the actual truth. We know that the South Americans are almost why, someone says, "Oh, it's their hot Southern blood." But that does not explain matters, for why should not their ancestral races in Europe be just as much given to revolution?

These things had been puzzling the mind of the Hon. James Bryce, British Ambassador, and his imagination had also been fired, as some of ours have been, by a single per fired, as some of ours have been, by a single per fired, as some of ours have been, by a single per fired, as some of ours have been, by a single per fired, as some of ours have been, by a single per fired, as some of ours have been of the Spanish yoke there had not also been fired, as some of ours have been, by a single per fired, as some of ours have been, by a single per fired, as some of ours have been of the spanish yoke there had not also been fired, as some of ours have been of the spanish yoke there had not also been fired, as some of ours have been, by a single per fired, as some of ours have been, and the single per fired, as some of ours have been, and after a few years had rolled the source being developed chiefly by foreigners. This advice is given by Dr. Hugo Ribbert of Bonn, Germany, author of a recent book on "Death from Old Age." Dr. Ribbert's conclusion is supported by popular empirical evidence, to the effect that the retirement of an elderly man from active business is apt to be followed by rapid "aging" or early death. The author arrives at it thru a painstaking study of cell-growth and tissue-build-He acknowledges, to start with that the abolition of death is as undesirable as it is impossible, since it would result in a static condition of mankind, and he then proceeds to inquire whether the ills of the flesh to which old age is heir may be ameliorated, and organic decay modified and retarded.

take a familiar for a vulgar style, and suppose that to write without affectation is to write at random. On the contrary, there is nothing that requires more precision, and, if I may so say, purity of expression, than the style of which I am speaking. It utterly rejects not only all unmeaning pomp, but all low, cant phrases, and loose, unconnected, slipshod allusions. It is not to take the first word that offers, but the best word in common use; it is not to throw words together in any combinations we please, but to follow and avail ourselves of the true | European Artists to Be Heard in idiom of the language. To write a genuine familiar or truly English style is to write as anyone would speak in common conversation who had a thoro command and choice of words, or who could discourse with ease, force and perspicuity, setting aside all pedantic and oratorical flourishes. It is easy to affect a pompous style, to use a word twice as big as the thing you want to express; it is not so easy to pitch upon the very word that exactly fits it. Out of eight or ten words equally common, equally intelligible, it is a matter of some nicety and

Program of Important Works.

Mr. Lugigi von Kunits, violinist, and Mr. Walther Kirschbaum, pianist, will give a joint recital at Forester's Hall on Jan. 9. The program as finally aron Jan. 9. The program as finally arranged will comprise the Brahms Sonata in D Minor, Op. 108, for violin and plano; Beethoven's "Waldstein" Sonata, for plano; Paganini Concerto, for violin. There will also be a plano group made up of the Schubert Impromptu, Op. 142, No. 3; Spanish Serenade, Hynals; Ninth Rhapsody, Liszt; for plano, Witch's Dance, and Carnival of Venice, both by Paganini. This recital promises to be one of the most important of the season. Both artists have been closely associated with all the celebrated musicians of Europe, and wherever ed musicians of Europe, and wherever ed musicians of Europe, and wherever they have appeared as concert soloists critics and people have been unanimous in acclaiming them inspired interpreters of the piano and violin literature. This concert is particularly interesting as the Brahms and Beethoven Sonatas and the Paganini Concerto are amongst the great masterpieces, and it is rarely that a program of such and it is rarely that a program of such importance is presented by local artists. All students of music and others who appreciate the very best in music should avail themselves of the opportunity afforded to hear this program interpreted by artists of the first rank terpreted by artists of the first rank.

Kreisler Dislikes "Potted" Versions

Great Violinist Says People Are too Restless to Listen to Complete Works.

Fritz Kreisler is quoted in Musical America as saying: "There has been a tendency among musicians to predict the doom of the concerto, chiefly because of its properties of display, which, it is stated by some, are not any longer a successful means of holding modern audiences." Mr. Kreisler repudiates this charge and gives as his own opinion the following: "One reason alone can I see for this and that is the fact that our concert-goers have the fact that our concert-goers have today grown so restless that they wish not to listen to long compositions. Striking Programs For National Chorus

Two Strong Bills For January Concert Presented by Dr. Albert Ham.

The strong position that has "been taken by the National Chorus of Toronto in the estimation of the musical public is evidenced in a striking fashion this year by the remarkable manner in which the subscription lists have been filled. The outlook at present is that but few seats will remain for the public sale, which opens at Massey Hall on Saturday morning next. This gratifying condition has no doubt been due to the high standard set by Dr. Albert Ham and the success that has attended his methods so near absolute perfection in choral Superb Novelties at in bringing so large a body of singers singing. BOXER NEEDS A GUIDING HAND

Nine-Tenths of the Mitt Artists Have Poor Business Heads and Must Have a Manager to Keep Right.

VERY FEW CLEVER ONES

Once in a While You Meet a Fighter Who Can Look After His Own Affairs Better Than Manager.

There are many types of fighters and managers of all sorts to match the varied temperaments. Some boxers do not indulge in the luxury of managerial dictation, but nine-tentha of them can't get along on their own accord and must have a guiding hand. It is a kind of an unwritten law that sooner or later steer themselves into defeat. Most of them need a bust-ness man for this reason. It will be seen by these figures that Tactics observed by managers; their exploits and ruses to help their fighter, would fill a book the size of a premier's message were they to be related in full; their methods are so different. Fighters, too, seem to be possessed of a mania for changing managers ever so often. Some have n every city.

But this is a recitation of the social relations between manager and boxer, rather than a discourse on the finanrather than a discourse on the finan-cial side. Many an interesting part-nership of manager and charge has been recorded in the stormy march from obscurity to the painted boards. An amiable brotherhood of man and man that took the hardness from the old game and polished the trials with bits of sentiment. Jimmy Dunn, the man who made

Johnny Kilbane featherweight champion, is regarded as a pal by Johnny. The business between them is not the only attachment. Jim and Johnny passed thru the crust-of-bread stage together. Each shared in the other's fortune. Mike Gibbons, the St. Paul middle-weight, and Eddie Reddy got along much the same as do Dunn and Kil-bane. They have been friends from They had promised the fans a manager by Christmas, but found boyhood and today are very much vrapped up in one another. By W. J. MacBeth.

"Big Chief" Has Never Finishmanagers—Johnny Evers, Joe Tinker and Evers have something to work with at the start, for they take the helm of first-division clubs. Miller Huggins, who succeeds Bresnahan, has a club that ranked sixth in a flight of eight. But Stallings takes hold of an bsolute ruck runner. He cannot possibly do worse than his predecessors, and any improvements in the final standing of his club will redound to his credit.

I would like to lay a little bet on George Stallings. He's just the kind.

Crusade On Against Doping.
The turf authorities in Austria and France are carrying on an unceasing but almost hopeless campaign against this world-wide practice of doping race horses. With amusing gravity European newspapers inveigh against Amicans for introducing over here the various surreptitious means of stimulating horses to exceed their usual speed and stamina. Very likely this charge is well founded, for American trorsemen and American turf methods are years ahead of the European. But the European critics invariably fail to admit that American horsemen are primarily good trainers of horses. They lead one to infer that any enterprising individual from Kentucky, Missouri or Texas can obtain charge of a racing stable in Europe merely by assuming a knowing look and discreetly exhibiting a box of "speed balls" or "hurry up" powders, or by hinting darkly at great skill with the hypodermic needle and some wonder-up by the inspector-general of the French governmental veterinary leges. But doping has become so generally practiced it cannot be stamped out merely by exposure and the sub-quent disqualification of the horse. There is the betting angle to be con sidered. The pari-mutuel is organized under government control by different racing associations. Its ready money business bets are settled at once, whereas the result of Prof. Kaufman's scientific tests of saliva cannot be made known until three or four days later. Therefore it is possible to win a large sum and get away with it in plenty of time before the illicit use of dope can be determined, after which the disqualification of the horse and the loss of an ordinary purse

Just a year ago the two Sams met for the first time in Sydney and McVey was awarded the decision after 20 hard rounds. probably will develop a winner. It isn't the star that makes a ball club pay, anyway. If the team is winning the fans will turn out, regardless of the personnel, and if it is losing they won't no matter what you have to offer in the way of brilliant individuals.

"Stars are a fine thing and help to draw, providing they have the proper setting, but they are altobether too expensive to be maintained at $15,-000 a year on a second division team. Probably Cobb and I will reach some satisfactory settlement before the season in April. If we do not the Tigers will have to get along the best they may without the great centre fielder," said Navin. "I feel the same way about Crawford and Dubuc. I have told each of these men exactly how much I will pay them and on my honor I will not raise this offer a cent. We are not running a philanthropic institution and must make our salaries agree with sound business ideas. "Before Dubuc left here last fall he named the sum that he wanted in his 1913 contract. I told him that it

DETROIT, Jan. 4.—This promises to be a hard winter for holdouts. President Navin of the Detroit club returned home yesterday from New York, and from the very emphatic manner in which he denied any intention of compromising with the Tigers who have jumped the reservation, it is apparent that there is going to be war to the knife.

The Tiger boss did not see Ty Cobb while in the east. "If Ty Cobb in-" it is king George's intention to discontinue the sport of horse racing.

Replying to the toast of "The Jockey Club," Sir John Thursby said he had Lord Derby's authority for stating that he had been the personal recipient of the King's assurance that he had no intention of in any way withdrawing from racing, and, indeed, meant to participate in it in the future as far as his many duties and engagements permitted him.
