Mr. Dow's Condition.

John Stewart Dow, station agent at Florenceville, who has been ill of la grippe and brain fever for three weeks is, we are sorry to report, lying very low. Very unfavorable symptoms have shown themselves and the chances for his recovery are slight.

His brother, Bert Dow of the express baggage car, and his sister Miss Laura Dow of St. Stephen, are with him, also a trained nurse. He is under treatment of Drs. Ross and Hagerman of Florenceville, Dr. Upham of Caribou, and Drs. Kilburn and Boone of Presque Isle.

"Jack" has many friends all along this line of railway, as at different times he has been employed as relief agent at every station. All hope that his disease will soon exhibit marked changes for the better.

Lord Herschell Dead.

Lord Herschell, one of the joint high commissioners from England, died at Washington on Wednesday. His death was the result of a fall on the icy pavement some time ago. Lord Herschell was one of the most famous of English noblemen. He was a K. G. C. B., D. J. L., L. L. D., captain of Dean Castle and chancellor of London University.

He also was an arbitrator in several international affairs.

Last summer he visited St. John, where much public attention was paid him.

Lumber Prospects.

The prospect at present in the spruce lumber market is better than for several seasons. American firms are getting many orders from Cuba and South America. It is said Maine lumbermen will be able to sell their entire cut in New York at $14 to $16 per thousand.

When the American market is up the English market responds, therefore, local lumbermen can look for at least one more prosperous season.

Labrador Lost.

Despatches received last evening by S. Schofield & Co, the St. John agents of the Dominion line, announced the loss on the west coast of Scotland of the mail steamer Labrador, which sailed from St. John Feb. 19 for Liverpool. The ship went ashore at 7 o'clock Wednesday morning on Skerryvore Rock, which is about twelve miles southwest of Tiree Island. The crew and passengers were saved, but the vessel, according to the latest advices, will be a total loss.

Lost Mail Bag.

At Upper Brighton the "mail-jack" failed to operate properly and the bag fell beneath the wheels of the train. It was carried along to Peel, having caught on some of the iron work of the car.

A Rotary Snow Plow.

The C. P. R. people are experimenting on this division with the rotary style of snow plow. This is a ponderous piece of mechanism, and excited a good deal of curiosity as it passed over the road on Wednesday morning.

The revolving knife-disc that faces the drift is driven at a high rate of speed by a powerful engine. It literally is capable of eating its way through a funnel 200 feet or more away from the track.

On Wednesday the plow was preceded by a machine that works the reverse of a wing plow, inasmuch as its "wings" are calculated to gather the snow from the side drifts and cuts and leaves it in a "windrow" in the centre of the track. The plow coming behind then throws the snow far away from the track.

Two locomotives were required to push the plow along. The trip made this week was simply to test the machine and to ascertain if it could be run along the track without striking any obstruction along the side, as it cuts a wider "swath" than other plows. At Peel the platform was torn up to some extent.

Services To-morrow.

Preaching service in the F. Baptist church at 10.45 by the pastor, Rev. J. B. Daggett. Service in the Methodist church at 7 p. m. Rev. D. Marr of Woodstock will preach in exchange with Rev. D. B. Easley.

Injured in the Woods.

A man named Ryan of Newburg, was seriously injured while working in the woods for Ed McCollom on the Tobique. In some way two logs rolled over him, so the report goes, and jammed his head badly.

Produce Prices.

Oats have gone somewhat lower, and merchants are offering 31 cents per bushel. They are in pretty good demand, Hay is being shipped. The price paid is $4.75. Butter is quoted at 15 cents a pound, eggs at 15 cents a dozen.

The Local House.

Although the date is not definitely fixed, there is some reason to expect the House of Assembly to meet March 23. A short session is anticipated.

Mr. Kipling.

Rudyard Kipling, whose illness is regretted by the whole world, is now reported better, and every hope is entertained for his recovery.

Keith & Plummer are now nicely settled in their handsome new store which is the finest in town. Having better facilities for showing goods, and much more room they will doubtless be better able than ever to serve the public.

The White Man's Burden.

Rudyard Kipling's latest poem that has been telegraphed over the world is given below. The reader will at once recognize the subject as that of the disposal by Uncle Sam of the Filipinos.

THE WHITE MAN'S BURDEN.

BY RUDYARD KIPLING.

Take up the White Man's burden—
Send forth the best ye breed—
Go bind your sons to exile
To serve your captives' need;
To wait, in heavy harness,
On fluttered folk and wild—
Your new-caught sullen peoples,
Half devil and half child.

Take up the White Man's burden—
In patience to abide,
To veil the threat of terror
And check the show of pride;
By open speech and simple,
An hundred times made plain,
To seek another's profit
And work another's gain.

Take up the White Man's burden—
The savage wars of peace—
Fill full the mouth of Famine,
And bid the sickness cease;
And when our goal is nearest
(The end for others sought)
Watch sloth and heathen folly
Bring all your hope to naught.

Take up the White Man's burden—
No iron rule of kings;
But toil of serf and sweeper—
The tale of common things,
The ports ye shall not enter,
The roads ye shall not tread,
Go, make them with your living
And mark them with your dead.

Take up the White Man's burden—
And reap his old reward—
The blame of those ye better
The hate of those ye guard—
The cry of hosts ye humor
(Ah, slowly!) toward the light:
"Why brought ye us from bondage,
Our loved Egyptian night?"

Take up the White Man's burden—
Ye dare not stoop to less—
Nor call too loud on Freedom
To cloke your weariness.
By all ye will or whisper,
By all ye leave or do,
The silent sullen peoples
Shall weigh your God and you.

Take up the White Man's burden—
Have done with childish days—
The lightly-proffered laurel,
The easy ungrudging praise.
Comes now, to search your manhood
Through all the thankless years,
Cold, edged with dear-bought wisdom
The judgment of your peers.

The following "Address to the United States" by a jingo stripling, parodizing the above, appeared in London "Truth." It is entitled

THE BROWN MAN'S BURDEN.

Pile on the brown man's burden
To gratify your greed;
Go clear away the niggers'
Who progress would impede;
Be very stern, for truly
'Tis useless to be mild
With new-caught, sullen peoples,
Half devil and half child.

Pile on the brown man's burden;
And if ye rouse his hate,
Meet his old-fashioned reasons
With maxims up to date,
With shells and dum-dum bullets
A hundred times make plain
The brown man's loss must ever
Imply the white man's gain.

Pile on the brown man's burden,
Compel him to be free;
Let all your manifestoes
Reek with philanthropy.
And if with heathen folly
He dares your will dispute,
Then in the name of freedom
Don't hesitate to shoot.

Pile on the brown man's burden,
And if his cry be sore,
That surely need not irk you—
Ye've driven slaves before,
Seize on his ports and pastures,
The fields his people tread;
Go make from them your living,
And mark them with his dead.

Pile on the brown man's burden,
Nor do not deem it hard
If you should earn the rancor
Of those ye yearn to guard.
The screaming of your eagle
Will drown the victim's sob—
Go on through fire and slaughter,
There's dollars in the job.

Pile on the brown man's burden,
And through the world proclaim
That ye are freedom's agents—
There's no more paying game!
And should your own past history
Straight in your teeth be thrown,
Retort that independence
Is good for whites alone.

Pile on the brown man's burden,
With equity have done;
Weak, antiquated scruples
Their squeamish course have run,
And though 'tis freedom's banner
Your waving in the van,
Reserve for home consumption
The sacred rights of man.

And if by chance ye falter,
Or lag along the course,
If, as the blood flows freely,
Ye feel some slight remorse,
Hie ye to Rudyard Kipling,
Imperialism's prop,
And bid him, for your comfort,
Turn on his jingo stop.

The Boston Post gives the following welcome to Kipling!

We've read a heap of writin' in our time—
And some of it was good and most was rot—

Some pickin's fr'm the livin' chaps is prime;
But Ruddy's is the first o' the lot.
We never gets no sleepin' draught from him—

He ain't no limpkin sluggard with his pen—
He can juggle English so 'at his own mother wouldn't know it,
And our feelin's inside out and in again.

So here's to you Rudyard Kipling, and we thanks you for the past,
Though you ain't no Billy Shaksphere, yet you're gainin' on him fast.
We've hard times and fightin' ever since you went away—
And you comes back with prosperity—do bring your trunk and stay.

The jungle and the forest are his homes;
He's a brother to the tiger and the tar,
He can jungle every lingo where he roams;
He can read your heart and tell you what you are

He has boxed the writers' compass—troopers kings,
Engines, heathens, all are specialties o' his—

He can graphically paint any giddy thing that aunt,
And he wipes the earth with everything that is.

Then here's to you, Rudyard Kipling as you enters of our land;
We takes our hat off to you and we give you the glad hand,
Our spare rooms swept and waitin, and you
ain't no stranger guest,
For of all the lyn' literary crew, we loves you best.

—Francis James MacBeath.

The day after the big storm a Boston paper appeared with the following.

THE MAN'S WHITE BURDEN.

Take up the man's white burden,
Or microbes it will breed;
Go arm your sons with shovels,
And let them earn their feed;
White steeds in heavy harness
Are lashed to cart or sleigh,
To take up the street's white burden
And cart the stuff away.

Take up the town's white burden—
Ye need not soap for less
Than two big silver cartwheels
To cloak your weariness.
And when your job's most finished
The drifts will fall anew,
And sullen half "friz" people
Shall "cuss" the storm and you.

Miss Josephine Kipling, the eldest child of Rudyard Kipling, who was whipped for telling a fib and went to bed sobbing rebelliously: "I think it's real mean, so there! My pa writes great big whoppers, and everybody thinks they're lovely, while I just told a tiny little story and gets whipped and sent to bed!"

Eight Hours in a Snow Drift.

The Fort Fairfield Leader says: Mr. Richard Phillips had a terrible experience on the night of Monday the 13th inst. While driving through Caswell on his way to Limestone, his horse got off the road, at a point about six and one half miles from the latter place. The snow storm raged so violently at the time that Phillips could not see a pace in front of him and he recognized the impossibility of finding the road. He unhitched the horse and strapped the blankets and robes on him losing one of his mittens in the operation. After providing for his steed he began to think of his own welfare. Scooping a hole in the snow, he laid down and the drift soon covered him over. In this cool rest house he put in the night from 10.30 p. m., to 7.30 a. m. The daylight penetrated his coverlet, (which he says was very transparent), for some time before he awoke, but he finally made a break, and came forth with his clothing frozen to his body. He found shelter in the home of Mr. Fraser, a short distance from the scene of his difficulty, and here he was cared for until able to resume his journey. One hand being minus a mitten was quite badly frost bitten, and both ankles were slightly frozen, otherwise he has not suffered from an experience that, fortunately, falls to but few men. The horse was all right and remained near the pung.

Vigorous Old Age.

Calais Times: In 1861, thirty-eight years ago, Patrick Myers, of this city, wished to volunteer in the Union army, but was rejected on account of his advanced years. He was presumed to have passed the limit of efficiency as a soldier. But that the recruiting officers were at fault in their judgment is evidenced by the fact that in all the years that have intervened from the outbreak of the civil war to the present Mr. Myers has been performing constant manual labor, putting in more days of useful and arduous work, at good wages, than the average young man would care or would be competent to perform. He was the first man to appear on the streets Tuesday morning after the great storm, and he shovelled snow from daylight to dark, though he is now 102 years old. His one hundred and third birthday will occur on the 22nd of February, an American holiday. Mr. Myers has resided in this city ever since he came from Ireland, nearly half a century ago. He has acquired a good property, and five years ago revisited his native land. Three years ago he went on a trip to the Pacific coast to visit relatives, although at that time he had nearly attained the century mark.

Gray Eyed Women

Gray eyes belong to all heroines in up to date fiction, and all heroines of modern short stories and novels are made to suit the prevailing taste. Moreover the gray eyed maid seems to have been the ideal of all the great novelist, among them Charlotte Bronte, George Eliot, Wilkie Collins and Charles Reade. Emerson has described gray eyes as "wells that a man might fall into," and nearly all the English poets, including Shakespeare, have had orbs of this color.

Curious Chickens.

The Galesburg Evening Mail tells this without a smile: A man not far from Deer Creek has been trying the experiment of mixing a little sawdust with the usual meal. He was so pleased with the experiment that he determined to give up the feeding of his hens cornmeal and feed them sawdust instead. Shortly after he sat a hen with 15 eggs. Last week she came off with 13 curious looking chicks. Twelve of them had wooden legs, and the other was a woodpecker.

THE NEW RIVER SERVICE.

The Star Line Steamship Co. is going about the matter of improving the up-river service in dead earnest. They say that while the Aberdeen draws but 20 inches, the state of the river channel between Woodstock and Fredericton permitted her making last year only 20 trips. The Company has plans for a new boat, to cost $8000, which will draw only 12 inches of water when loaded, and will therefore be able to run the whole season. They agree to put this boat on next summer if the Legislature will increase their subsidy by a small amount, and guarantee the same for five years. The matter is being talked up by the Fredericton board of trade, and will be placed before the same in Woodstock. The people in the upriver villages should take the case in hand and give all the encouragement possible.

The London Times is of the opinion that the International Commission will after all come out all right. It thinks whereas such a spirit of amity exists between the United States and Canada that it will not be difficult finally, to make an amicable treaty.

Rudyard Kipling.

Rudyard Kipling was born in Bombay in Christmas week, 1865. His father, Lockwood Kipling was then professor of art in the Lahore Institute. He has led a life of unusual activity, having been a reporter, a war correspondent, traveller, hunter and literary man. His first book of verses, entitled "Departmental Ditties," appeared in 1886.

He had contributed stories to the journals of India before that. Many of these were afterwards collected under the title of "Plain Talk from the Hills." Then came "Soldiers Three," "The Gadstys," "Under the Deodars" and "The Phantom Rickshaw." When, in 1890, then only twenty four years old, Mr. Kipling went to England, he found himself famous. During the past ten years Mr. Kipling has steadily risen in the world of letters, until at the present time he stands at the top. He is, in the opinion of most readers of English language, without a peer as a writer of prose and verse. His latest poems, the "Recessional," "The Truce of the Bear" and "The White Man's Burden" have made a deep impression.

He was recognized as the actual poet laureate of England and America, if he did not bear the title.

"Barrack Room Ballads" and "The Seven Seas" were collections of poems, many of them on soldiers' life in India. Among the best known stories are the "Jungle Books," perhaps the best known novel is "The Light that Failed."

His last book, "The Day's Work," has had a large sale.

Kipling is original and forceful. His energy is tremendous.

Mrs. Kipling was a Miss Balestier, a sister of C. W. Balestier, the novelist, who died eight years ago in Dresden. Balestier and Kipling spent much time in the little home of Mrs. Kipling at Brattleboro, Vermont.

Kitchen Kinks.

Kitchen utensils should be as simple of construction as possible and no more purchased than are necessary. A multiplicity of utensils is both annoying and confusing. There should be no stint of towels, soap and water, but as soon as a towel or cleaning cloth begins to fray throw it away, as the lint carried into the pipes makes great trouble for the plumbers. A wire dishcloth and wooden skewers are indispensable. All kitchen utensils should be washed and wiped as carefully as china. Any utensil in which frying has been done should be wiped out with soft paper before washing.

The kitchen sink requires unremitting attention, as it is beyond the plumber's art to prevent its stoppage if the house-keeper does not look after it. The liquid grease poured through it solidifies and clings to the pipes. To prevent this, wash the sink thoroughly after each meal, and pour hot water through the pipes to scald them out. A solution of washing soda, allowing a half pint of soda to six quarts of boiling water, should be kept on hand for cleaning the pipes. Warm the pipes first by pouring boiling water through them and follow it by two quarts of the soda solution. If this is systematically used, the six quarts a week will keep a small house in good condition. In special emergencies, where the sink becomes stopped with grease, use larger quantities of the soda and then flush thoroughly. In case of sickness, when disinfection becomes necessary, dissolve four tablespoonfuls of carbolic acid in a pint of water and pour through the pipes, waiting a few minutes before flushing.—Miss Parloa.

Making a Hall Seat.
Directions have been noticed from time to time in various public prints of a way to remodel an old bureau into a hall seat. A woman who has really made the attempt finds it entirely successful. In a secondhand shop the bureau was first picked up. It had a swell front, which was specially desirable. It was a very old mahogany affair, with claw feet, and an attempt to modernize it had been made by putting on a marble top and having some of the claw drop handles of recent year to the drawers. Notwithstanding the apparent evidences of recent make, the appearance of the piece was easily discernible to the customer. It was bought at a low price made still lower by the giving up to the dealer of the two upper drawers and marble slab and the looking glass which surmounted it.

This denuded frame, with its single bottom drawer, standing on its precious claw feet, was sent to a modest cabinet maker's. A seat was fixed over the drawer, the upper framework all taken off, the back of thin pine braced and the top evened off for the high back and sides of the coming seat. The whole was then slightly padded with hair and covered—seat, sides and back—with dark green imitation leather, finished at the edges with a leather binding put on closely with brass nails. The claw feet were polished, as well as the sides and drawer front, and some antique brass handles replaced the common gilt ones.

The result, as has been stated, is a unique and most serviceable and thoroughly handsome hall seat, the big drawer doing excellent work as a repository for overshoes. This particular one stands appropriately beneath the wheel of an old spinning wheel, which was taken from its setting, provided with brass hooks, and suspended by a brass chain, passing around its groove, as a harrack.—New York Post.

THE GAOL MATTER.

Although the action of the council on the "gaol question" has been reported in this and other county papers, it is deemed advisable at this stage to give a brief resume of said action.

Those who spoke in favor of removing the gaol to Woodstock were: Saunders, Henderson, Fleming, Purinton, Tompkins, H. E. Gallagher, Gilmore, Mooers, Gibson. It is also understood that councillors C. E. Gallagher and G. W. White are in favor of building a new gaol at Woodstock. Those who would prefer that the old building be repaired and made decent, and who stated so, were: Connolly, Richardson, Phillips, Shaw, Bell, Cheney, Caldwell, Cronkhite, Kearney.

The discussions occupied the best part of three sessions.

Several attempts were made to change the motion carried at the August special meeting, to build a new gaol in Woodstock. The trouble in getting the question before the meeting was in objections being raised on technical points. There was a resolution, finally, which in effect, was that the council does not proceed any further with the gaol until consent is given by a majority vote of the ratepayers.

Coun. Saunders moved in amendment that the whole matter lay over until June session, and no work whatever should be done until then. This motion was carried.

Somebody at the Council asked Mr. Saunders if his amendment meant that the matter would not be pressed in the courts, whereupon he (Saunders) said "We are doing nothing in the courts. The question of dropping the matter rests with the opposing party."

Two Royal Widows.

Queen Victoria, the happy, and Eugenie, the unhappy, are the two great royal friends of Europe.

he empress of India and the empress of France would seem to have little in common but they are entirely happy when together, and their royal friendship is the talk of Europe.

Victoria was always plain, but powerful and well balanced; Eugenie was always beautiful and was frivolous. Sorrow, however, seems to have cemented their temperaments.

When Eugenie suffered the great loss of her life in the death of her son 20 years ago, she found a sympathetic friend in Queen Victoria, who had known what it was to lose those dearest to her.

That tie was the one which bound these two women together, and it formed the basis of the great friendship which has since existed between them. Separated by a lapse of years, for there is a wide difference in their ages, they have yet a great deal in common, for both are masculine women, strong in thought and active in mind. They are women who have little thought for dress but all the thought in the world for the affairs of the world.

Every year the ex-empress pays a long visit to Queen Victoria, and the two talk together for hours until the ladies in waiting to the queen suggest to the ex-empress that her majesty is tired. Forcibly separated, they part, only to renew their conversation next day. It is a familiar sight to see these two women, one supernaturally young and the other prematurely old, sitting on one of the benches at Balmoral or driving together in the queen's pony phaeton, always deep in thought.

PAINS IN THE BACK.

Are Usually the Result of Imperfect Working of the Kidneys—These can Only be Restored to Their Normal Condition by a Fair Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Mr. Albert Mintie, of Woodstock, Ont., now engaged in the insurance business, is well known in that city and surrounding country. Some three years ago Mr. Mintie was living at South River, Parry Sound District, and while there was attacked with severe pains in the back. At first he paid but little attention to them, thinking that the trouble would pass away, but as it did not he consulted a local physician, and was told that his kidneys were affected. Medicine was prescribed but beyond a trifling alleviation of the pain it had no effect. In addition to the pain in the back Mr. Mintie was troubled with headaches and a feeling of lassitude. He was forced to quit work, and while in this condition, weak and despondent, he decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. He purchased a half dozen boxes and was not disappointed with the result. Before they were all used Mr. Mintie was feeling almost as well as ever he had done. The pain in his back had almost disappeared, and the headaches were gone, and he felt greatly improved in strength. Two more boxes completed the cure, and he returned to work hale and hearty as ever. Mr. Mintie asserts that his return to health is due entirely to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and he still occasionally uses a box if he feels in any way "out of sorts."

The kidneys, like other organs of the body are dependent upon rich, red blood and strong nerves for healthy action, and it is because Dr. Williams' Pink Pills supply these conditions that they cure kidney troubles, as well as other ills which have their origin in watery blood, or a shattered nervous system. Sold by all dealers or sent postpaid at 50c. a box or six boxes for $2.50 by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. If you value your health do not take a substitute.

Thirteen Mistakes.

- To yield to immaterial trifles.
- To look for perfection in own actions.
- To endeavor to mould all dispositions alike.
- To look for judgement and experience in youth.
- To measure the enjoyment of others by our own.
- To believe only what our finite minds can grasp.
- To expect to be able to understand everything.
- Not to make allowance for the infirmities of others.
- To consider everything impossible that we cannot perform.
- To worry ourselves and others with what cannot be remedied.
- Not to alleviate all that needs alleviation, as far as lies in our power.
- It is a great mistake to set up your own standard or right and wrong and judge people accordingly.
