LOST $10,000.000

Belief That Leiter Was Badly Treated by Associates.

Chicago, Ill., June 21. - It is the prevalent opinion among members of the Chicago board of trade that when Joseph Leiter's losses are figured up they will amount to nearly, if not quite, $10,000,000. It is generally believed in grain circles that Leiter has been used badly by several persons who were connected with him in his deal. Armour did not know that Leiter was embarrassed until Monday afternoon. Up to noon Monday, it is said, dyspepsia and other diseases due to impure blood are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Joseph Leiter had had $6,000,000 of his correcting itself in order to explain the joke, it remarks that persistent riding tends to make not only the right leg, but also the left "longer than it really ought to be." A contemporary retorts, "What if it does?" Whether having the legs actually stretched makes any material difference is a subject for physiologists, but many bicycle riders, if not a great majority of ill, can testify to the fact that there is an apparent elongation of the legs in consequence of riding. A common remark of dealers when a man buys a wheel on which his foot just reaches the pedal is, "Oh, well, after you ride a little your leg will stretch, you know, is not the buncombe that it sounds like. for a man finds that after riding a little he does reach the pedals properly, and the man who starts with the ow, easy reach, usually finds it advantageous after a while to raise the saddle. A rider of several years' experience, chatting in this line, says: "When I began to ride I could not possibly use a 24-inch frame, even with a direct post and the saddle down as far as it would go. I got a frame 231/2 inches high, and with the saddle plumb upon the frame could just manage to work it. I wished for months that I had got a shorter frame and could sit lower, and then it ceased to bother me. I forgot it. Last year I got a 24-inch frame, the one I am riding now. So far as I can tell the saddle sits higher from the frame than on the first wheel I had in 1894, but I am plenty long enough. It may be there was some mismeasurements in the frame or a difference in the saddle itself. But I have been taking some careful observations, and I do not think there was. I think that my legs reach further than at first."

A physician gives it as an off-hand opinion that the limbering up of the tendons and muscles of the legs might account for the phenomenon to a slight extent, and that a man who never rode before might be able to reach half an inch or an inch further. Whatever the explanation or the de-nial of the fact, there is abundant testimony to show that wheeling makes the legs grow longer.

London Rectory Surplus - The comnittee on the application of St.George's, West London, for a greater number of shares, reported that, on the grounds stated, no change could be made, but it was understood that the matter could be brought up again at next meeting on the ground of altered conditions. Synod Expense-The committee reported that no reduction was possible in the amount of expense. The report was referred back to the committee to devise some other method of balancing the account. Income and Expenditure-The committee reported about $16,000 subscribed, and of which about $10,000 had en paid in; and it was hoped that this would be increased when the canvass had been completed. It was re-commended that Rev. F. E. Roy, of Wallaceburg, be appointed for one year, to continue the canvass on a salary of $700, and traveling expenses, and that a diocesan envelope be supplied for use in making all diocesan collections, and that the amount lected be sent forthwith to the secretary-treasurer. Interesting Letters to His Parents-Now on Duty in Cuban Waters.

Mr. Thomas Howlett, son of Mr John Howlett, Delaware, is in service on the United States battleship Oregon, which is doing some hot work at Guantanamo, Cuba. During the Oregon's great trip of 18,900 miles, from San Francisco to Key West, Florida, Mr. Howlett wrote seven letters to his parents, posting them in the cities at which the warship touched en route. The first is dated March 4, and was south of San Francisco. The Oregon had covered the distance in sixteen days. Mr. Howlett did not think much of the country all the way down-it looked barren and mountainous. Callao, he wrote, was a lively place of 90,000 population, eight miles from Lima, the capital. The sun rose at 6 a.m. and set at 6 p.m.; the average temperature was 87 degrees. The sailors of the Oregon had then no inkling of the impending war, and expected to return to San Francisco as soon as they reached Valparaiso.

The second letter was written from Callao, April 3, and announced that the Oregon would run around Cape Horn, and probably go to New York. "The steamer is on a trial trip," wrote Mr. Howlett. He did not mention the Cuban trouble.

Letter No. 3, was penned at Sandy Point, Chili, on April 15. It was the most southern town in the world, he wrote, it was 2,600 miles from Callao; the trip was made in ten days. Mr. Howlett related with pleasure the ship's call at the Island of Juan Fernandez. He said he had little hoped to see the habitation of Robinson Crusoe, and was delighted with the experience. It was snowing part of the day, though not very cold. The Straits of Magellan were very grand. The mountains on both sides were covered with snow-apparently perpetual. They expected to reach Rio de Janeiro, 3,400 miles distant, on May 6, and to touch American soil on May 31. Mr. Howlett saw several Patagonian savages, from

Mr. Howlett wrote his fifth letter on May 9, from Bahai, Brazil, a city of They were then bound for the Isle of Barbadoes, West Indies. Pine apples, cocoanuts and tropical fruits were to be had in plenty.

On May 24, Mr. Howlett wrote at sea, just opposite Pt. Nassau, in the Bahamas. In three weeks, he said, he had passed from summer to winter and from winter to summer. He had greatly appreciated his trip. He understood that the Oregon would eventually go to Europe, and visit leading cities, but he intended to first go home and see his relatives.

The final letter is written from Key West, May 26, and the Oregon was then waiting orders to go to Cuba.

Mr. Howlett is about 35 years of age, and has been on the Oregon about two years, being associated with the medical service. His many friends n this locality hope he will complete his present experience in safety.

Your ancestors kept themselves healthy by their habitual use of home-made syrups and herb teas. If you have taken repeated colds, and your throat is relaxed, tone it up by the use of that grand, old-fashioned remedy, Shiloh's Cough and Consumption Cure, the essence of the herbs, gums and barks of your great-grandmother's time. Steady Expansion of Business-The General Outlook Is Decidedly Satisfactory.

Toronto, June 20 .- Bradstreet's weeky review of trade in Canada says: Montreal business reports this week are unanimous in their references to the steady expansion of trade in many tive considering the lateness of the season for any activity in that line, and the autumn business is developing very satisfactory conditions. The glowing reports of the crops from all centers is having a good effect on the country trade, who are anxious to be well prepared for an increased demand, and are placing liberal orders. The prices of all goods, including woolens and tweeds, both domestic and foreign, are very firm, and in many lines orders could not be repeated at prices paid on the opening of the season. There is a good demand for hardware and building material at good prices. Rope has again been advanced this week, being %c to 1%c higher. There is more activity in dairy produce and large exports are expected for this There has been a falling off in the demand for grains for export, and owing to the drop in the markets those who have cargoes affoat and nearly due are anxious as to their disposition at profitable prices. Raw Sore From Finger to Palm. Physicians and Medicines No Avail. Cured by Cuticura. When my little boy was two years of age, dry spots commenced to appear on different parts of his body. Last winter it seemed to go to his hands, and I was obliged to keep his first three fingers done up all the time, as it was a raw sore, beginning to extend down toward the palm of the hand. We consulted three different physicians, each a certain length of time, to see a benefit of their medicines. I think now, after using CUTICURA, that some of the salves that I used did more injury than good. A gentleman (who sat next to me in church) asked me the matter with my boy's hand. I took off one of the cloths and showed him, he told me he had been in a hospital in Boston, where for all skin diseases they used CUTICURA REMEDIES. I immediately purchased CUTICURA SOAP, CUTICURA (ointment) and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, put aside what I had been using, and began with them. Well! they cured that hand. I was afraid that this winter it would break out again, but no, it is all cured, and I have not had to have a cloth on it this winter. Mrs. DIAMOND, Jan. 29. 98. 161 Bronson Ave., Rochester, N. Y.

Rockland. Cleveland, Ohio, June 21.-At th pressmen's convention yesterday the committee on credentials reported 87 delegates present and ten to come. Re ports were read by First Vice-President W. Williams, of Toronto, Canada Second Vice-President Frank Pampush, of Chicago, and James Gelson, of New York. These showed that there were 98 pressmen's unions and 48 assistant unions in the organization. The receipts of the last year were $23,000 and the expenditure $11,000. The in crease in the membership was 2,800, making a total of 9,000. James W. Connor, of Philadelphia, the chairman of committee on shorter work-day, reported in favor of a nine hour day This report was made a special order business for Wednesday morning. union are competing with the pressmer in this matter. LUMBER WORKERS' STRIKE. Ottawa, June 21.—Six hundred men employed at W. C. Edwards & Co.'s lumber mills, Rockland, are idle as esult of a strike which began there or Friday. The men have asked for shorter hours, more pay and payment fortnightly. The men have been working eleven hours a day, but paid for one hour extra. They have been receiving their wages monthly. Mr. Ed wards informed them that on accounof the depressed condition of the lumber market he could not grant their requests. All is reported quiet at Rockland, although Mr. Edwards, on the one hand, is said to be determined no to give in, while his men, on the other hand, are equally determined to hold

GREWSOME FIND

The Dismembered Eody of a Man in a Trunk Taken From the Canal at Buffalo.

Buffalo, N. Y., June 21.-A trunk containing the dismembered body of a man was found floating in the Blackwell Canal. The man's head had been cut off, both legs had been severed at the knees, and both arms and hands were erribly mangled, but were attached to he body by the tendons and muscles n his breast were a number of stab ounds. The man was apparently an Italian, about 30 years of age, and veighed about 175 pounds. His features vere regular. His eyes were blue and his mustache and hair were black. The bieces of clothing found on the body howed that before dismemberment the man had been dressed in a brown and black checked suit. Inside the trunk there was found a 22-calibre Smith & Wesson revolver, with every chamber loaded. There was also a three-quarter inch carpenter's saw, which had evidently been used to cut the bones. The trunk is a cheap affair, covered with brown baper. Mole St. Nicholas, Hayti, Tuesday, June 21.-When the fleet of 37 trans ports swept up the southern coast and slowed up within sight of the doome city of Santiago de Cuba, the anxious ly awaited soldiers were greeted with ringing cheers which faintly re-echoed to the transports from the decks of the blockading warships far inshore They were answered by the troops most heartily and in kind. The weeks of anxious waiting on one side and of impatient chafing on the other were over and the army and navy had at last joined forces, and all felt that the final blow at Santiago was at hand. It was 10 o'clock on MONDAY MORNING

when the lookout on board the armored cruiser Brooklyn reported seeing the smoke of several steamers away to the southeast and a moment or so later he announced that a dozen transports were in sight. Then signals were exchanged from ship to ship, gladden of CORSETS AND HEALTH WAISTS, ing the hearts of the weary block aders. Then the United States aux iliary cruiser Gloucester dashed away to meet and welcome the troops. In about half an hour later a grim forest of masts had sprung up apparently from the sea, and A MOST IMPRESSIVE SCENE was presented as the armada swept the shores where the great struggle is to take place. The transports were ranged in three shifting lines, with the battleship Indiana on the extreme right and the other men-of-war on the outskirts of the fleet. In this order the transports and their escorts steamed slowly in toward the hills where Morro's red walls gleamed in the sunlight. It was intended to take the entire rumors here today that the cortes may fleet to the lines of Rear Admiral suspend its sessions during the coming Sampson's fleet of warships, but an orweek, when Senor Puigcerver, the min- | der from the admiral stopped the adister of finance, will resign, in which vance of the ships about 15 miles to the southeast, and, escorted by the gasta will be compelled to submit to Gloucester, Gen. Farewell Social and Presentation to Granton, June 21 .- On Friday evening. June 17, the three leagues of the Birr circuit held a farewell social at the parsonage. The Rev. Mr. Garbutt has proved himself a faithful and interested worker among the young people. During the first year of his work in this field he encouraged the three leagues to hold a circuit convention, which has since been an annual thanksgiving event, and has proved most helpful and interesting to all concerned. Mr. Garbutt believes in keeping abreast of the times, and as soon as the books of the Epworth League reading course were in circulation three years ago, he was instrumental in organizing a reading circle, which has been conducted with such success that for two years the Birr circuit circle have headed the list, winning the $10 prize for 1897, and just now completing their examination for 1898 Accordingly the Epworth Leaguers of the circuit gather on Friday when a very enjoyable time was spent. #### JOHN LAW IN NEW YORK

To the Editor of The Advertiser: Pleasant Valley, N. J., June 20, 1898. Because you may not have time to take in New York, the Greater New York not being fenced in yet, believing it possible to see the city, I have de-termined to bring some of it away for the weal or woe of your readers. Having sailed or steamed around from Jersey by the Pennsylvania Railway steam ferry annex and landed in Brooklyn, handy to the Brooklyn bridge, and crossed this great engineering effort to City Hall Park, leaving the war excitement for another letter, I walked down Broadway. Then I paid my respects to the dead Capt. Law-rence, who has been the educator of the age to the extent of not siving up the ship, and whose remains lie in Trinity graveyard. Then I find myself in the Battery Park, once more, which is enjoyed by many, for it is a good Friday. It is cooler than many places and if your seat is under a tree and where "Keep off the grass" is not enforced, you can loaf or loiter or reason. Friday is best of days, for the Marine Fire Boat Company practice at 11 o'clock, and not on other days, and at 8 o'clock in the evenings there is music by a brass band, even if the war is on. You will notice that all meet here on the level and part on square, for around the band stand is a large space flagged not with stars and stripes which are very abundant in the city and out of the city until overdone perhaps (the boot lace men on Broadway sell them for 10 cents as nose rags). The artificial stone or flags is better than the gravel of Victoria Park. It is seated with movable seats which the attachees are trying to place circular, to the annoyance of liberty-loving Italian citizens, children, mothers, fathers and daughters and newsboys who are resting VISITS LONDON from the war cries. In military prisons an offender is some times sentenced to carry cannon balls from one place to another and pile them up all day long. That is all. Perhaps it does not seem very terrible but it soon wears his life out. It is practically a death sentence, and he knows it; he would rather be shot. Many a sick man feels the same way about the burden of disease that he is lugging back and forth from day to day. He would as soon be down with a mortal disease. It will come to that sooner or later. A man's life can be dragged out by dyspepsia and liver complaint. The experience of Mr. J. T. Cardwell, of Fall Creek Depot, Pittsylvania Co., Va., shows how Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery saves people from consumption by waking up their nutritive organism and giving it power to supply pure, healthy blood, which drives out blood poisons and dead tissues and builds up sound, wholesome flesh and musele.

Seven years ago I contracted a severe cold, which baffled the skill of one of the best physicians in my State. It ran on and I continually grew worse until I concluded to write to

The answer to my inquiry advised me to use
'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pellets' for

Meeting at Somerset Hall-Officers

A meeting was held in Somerset Hall yesterday afternoon for the purpose of organizing for the plebiscite campaign of the townships of East Middlesex. Mr. E. Hunt, of Westminster, occupied the chair. Among the delegates present were John Arwade, Byron; W. S. Baker, Littlewood; E. Ellwood, G. Foster, F. Foster and Miss Foster and J. Cassidy, Byron; Mr. Smith, North street; Wm. Shore, Miss Scott, John Mann and Samuel Wilson, White Oak; Joseph Howlett, Delaware.

Mr. Peake, Toronto, was present, and stated that the first important step was the distribution of temperance literature. A number of delegates thought the date of meeting should have been Saturday as they have to come in to market that day and could easily attend.

A nominating committee was appointed consisting of Mesrs. William Shore, Jos. Howlett, Geo. Foster, sen., Wesley Smith and Mr. Hutchinson, to name officers and suggest a programme for the meeting. LONDON'S FRUIT TRADE | would get but little fruit, and what we

Mr. Smith Combats the Position Taken should then be obliged to get our by the Retail Grocers' Association. To the Editor of The Advertiser: At the recent meeting of the Retail

Grocers' Association some of the arguments used against the idea of establishing a fruit market were, to say the least, a little far-fetched. Apparently the grocers are trying to persuade themselves that if we had no fruit trade all hands would be better off; but, I take it, our market was not intended to be run solely in the interests of the Retail Grocers' Association, but in the interest of the general public, and it is the wishes and desires of our citizens, and not those of some halfdozen grocers that should be paramount with the council. At the meeting above referred to a statement was made that if the bazar was converted into a fruit market it would again be used for huckstering. This seems to me rather an unfortunate remark. A year ago the bazar was a prosperous business place, paying the city some $1,500 yearly in rentals; now it is nothing but a large stable, used by the grocers to put their horses in when they are down town. This might suit them, but it is not an improvement to the market or the pocket of the tax-

It was also said that "the feeling of the growers (or did they mean gro-cers?) was that the market was for the producer to dispose of his products to the citizens, and that no commission business be allowed." Very considerate of the grower, very. But the con-cluding paragraph of this statement— "no commission business to be allowed" -gives it away. The other portion is merely an attempt to throw dust in the eyes of the council.

The local grower has certainly some objections to the handling of fruit by a commission house; but what objections our citizens have to this is a different matter. If we had to depend upon the local grower for our supply of native fruits, the majority of us pharmacy.

did get we should pay pretty dearly for. If this idea was carried out we berries and wine grapes on the market from the grower, and as for our peaches, plums, table grapes, etc., we must either go without or purchase them from the grocer. This state of affairs, however desirable from their point of view, does not look quite so roseate to the purchaser, who would not be content to go back to the old days and pay $1 to $1 25 for a basket of peaches. The fruit business is a distinct and rapidly growing one, and can be no more considered a side line of a grocery than can the drygoods and boot and shoe trades. If we were to force the commission dealer off our markets, we should deal a death-blow to the fruit trade, and be obliged to pay twice the price for fruit that we do now. The commission man is the agent of the grower, and it is through this class of dealers that our citizens and the farmers in our neighborhood now enjoy a plentiful supply of one of the most healthful gifts. Restrict this trade and you commit one of the greatest errors our council could be guilty of, and one that will not soon be forgotten by the electors. As I stated in my letter to The Advertiser of the 13th, it is encouragement and not restriction this trade wants and deserves, and I would say to our council, Do not be swayed too much by a few dealers to whose interest it might be to ruin the fruit trade, and to adopt in connection with this trade some of the ideas to be found in other wide-awake and up-todate cities. Respectfully,

ARTHUR SMITH. London, June 18, 1898.
