GERMAN U-BOAT SINKS ANOTHER SPANISH STEAMER

SUPPORTED UNION GOVT., NOW FLAYS IT FOR INACTION IN NOT "GETTING" PROFITEERS

Ottawa Citizen, in Editorial on "Overtaxing the Consumer," Calls Attention to the Unchecked Tendency to Boost Prices On All Living Commodities.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, Aug. 29.—The Ottawa Citizen which at the last election gave undivided support to Union Government today devotes a column of editorial entitled "Over Taxing the Consumer," strongly blaming the Government for inaction in the matter, and calls upon the Premier to "protect democracy at home from the unpatriotic profiteer."

The Citizen refers to the uncalled for and unwarranted increase in the prices of matches as an instance of this unchecked tendency to boost prices at the expense of the already much overburdened workingman and consumer. Fifteen cents is now charged, it says, for a box formerly costing five.

"This is a straight instance of holding up the consumer," says the Citizen, "but no official action has been taken, although the facts are easily ascertainable."

Government's Inaction.

Continuing, the editorial says: "The Government's inaction in this case is discouraging, and is not calculated to increase the country's confidence in the Administration's attitude in general in regard to unwarranted increases in the price of necessitites. The people appear to have to resource in face of what seem to be unwarranted advances in the cost of articles of everyday requirement. Some weeks ago—over a month—the announcement was made that Britain had all the bacon she needed for immediate and future requirements, and that there was no longer necessity for the Canadian people to pinch themselves in the use o this commodity. Such an announcement would be expected to cause a decease in the price of bacon products to the home consumer particularly as the very large increase in the price of bacon, lard, pork and allied products was originally charged to the war and the demands of Britain and the Allies. But there has been no reduction in the price of bacon products; the cost of allsuch commodities to the Canadian consumer remains at the very high altitude attained during the last year or so. We are of opinion that such a condition calls for explanation.

"The announcement was made on Saturday that the British Columbia

CANADIANS EAGER FOR THE FRAY SWEPT HUNS ASIDE LIKE CHAFF BEFORE WIND

Currie's Troops Were Quietly Trained Behind the Lines For the Big Offensive—Waited Impatiently To Get a Crack at the Germans.

New York, Aug. 29.—How the Canadians were quietly training for the recent offensive at Amiens and Arras, while the Germans were attacking was told by J. H. Woods, editor of the Calgary Herald, chairman of the party of Canadian newspapermen who returned home yesterday after a tour of Great Britain to inspect the British war factories, the grand fleet and the front.

"As proof of the confidence of the Canadians," Mr. Woods said, "they were rehearsing their crack troops back of the lines, while the enemy was still advancing. From the beginning of June until early in July the Canadian generals were training their fat regiments at the rear for the counter-attacks. Famous fighting units were taken from the front, while the Huns were still attacking. By the middle of July these soldiers had been trained to the top notch in the latest war tatics, and were held back like hounds in a leash, grumbling and wondering why the word to go for the enemy did not come. When Gen. Currie gave the order, the Canadians went for the Huns with a dash and fighting spirit that swept the enemy aside like chaff before the wind."

FRENCH ACE BRINGS DOWN 32 GERMANS WITH ONE MACHINE

Lieut. Rene Fonck Has Destroyed Fifty Foe Planes This Year.

With the French Army in France, Aug. 29.—Lieut. Rene Fonck, the leading French ace, has brought down since January 1 fifty of the more than three score German aircraft he has destroyed. Of the fifty enemy machines vanquished this year, thirty-two have fallen before him in the same airplane, which is a Spad-Hispano biplane with two machine guns. This constitutes a record for one machine. Between July 16 and July 22 he felled 11 machines, 9 of which have already been officially accounted for. On July 16, while stationed in the Somme, he was ordered to report to the Champagne front. He left for Paris that day at 10 o'clock. He lunched there and set back for the Somme, arriving there shortly before 5 o'clock. At 5 p.m. he had become the conqueror of two Boche machines. He left that evening for his new assignment. The following day in the Champagne he felled a German yer[illegible] chine and on the next, two. On July [illegible] he brought down three; on July 21 [illegible] and on July 22, one.

ALLIED OFFENSIVE UNPRECEDENTED IN WORLD'S HISTORY

Cologne Gazette Sees Reasons For Germans Being Alarmed.

Amsterdam, Aug. 29.—The giant battle in the west daily is growing wider and more terrible, says the Cologne Gazette, as through the British attack north of the Somme the battle has assumed an unprecedented extent. It declares that even the enormously long fronts in the Russo-Japanese war and the great offensives of the present war recede into the background when compared with the present Allied offensive.

The newspaper utters a warning that in the calm sectors of the long western front strong enemy forces continually are ready for an immediate attack wherever prospects become favorable. Therefore, German divisions must always be held in readiness for a battle on these sectors also.

He was brought to the North Bay Hospital this morning, and the police are still pursuing the defaulters.

C. P. R. AWARD REFERRED TO RY. WAR BOARD

Strike of Operators Averted For a Time at Least.

CONFERENCE TODAY

Arbitration Award Decision to Date From the First of May.

Ottawa, Aug. 29.—After a conference between a sub-committee of the Cabinet and representatives of the Canadian Pacific Railway and its telegraph operators, it was decided to refer the matter of the acceptance of the award of the board of arbitration appointed by the labor department to the labor committee of the railway war board. Thus for the time being at least a strike has been averted.

Incidentally it was agreed that the award should date from May 1, when the old schedules expired, instead of from August 1, as stipulated in the award.

GERMAN U-BOAT SINKS SPANISH STEAMER CRUSA

Expected That Relations Between Spain and Germany May Reach Crisis.

Paris, Aug. 29.—The Spanish steamer Crusa has been sunk by a German submarine, it is reported here. Newspapers consider that this event will bring to a crisis the relations between Spain and Germany.

Available maritime records fail to show a Spanish ship by the name of Crusa.

The sunken vessel may be the Bilbou steamship Carasa. This ship was built in 1911, was 284 feet in length, and measured 2,099 gross tons.

ENEMY RETREAT BECOMING DISORGANIZED AS ALLIES CONTINUE PURSUIT OF FOE

Effort of Germans to Check French Pressure Has Proven Successful Only in Few Places—The Huns Must Make Greater Sacrifices Yet to Save von Hutier's Army.

With the French Armies in the Field, Aug. 29.—The rapidly succeeding military events not only confirm that the Germans have lost all control of their operations in the regions of the Somme, Avre and Oise rivers, but they indicate that the enemy's own retreat is getting out of hand.

The effort to stem the French pursuit by fighting rearguard actions with machine-gun sections, leaving a section at intervals of about 400 yards, was only locally successful. On ground especially favorable for that sort of resistance such as the terrain around Roye, it gained some time for the enemy, enabling him to move a great many guns and a considerable part of his material behind the Canal du Nord and north of Noyon.

Foe's Strength Dwindled.

But once this system of fighting was mastered the strength of the German rearguard dwindled to almost nothing. The Germans, hustled violently by the French advance guard, were obliged to risk an engagement with important forces or to quicken their retreat.

The Germans adopted the latter alternative, and since yesterday morning they have been making all possible haste on the road leading to St. Quentin, La Fere and the Hindenburg line.

The strong position of Quesnoy Wood, just west of the Canal du Nord, from where the Germans tried, by means of the heavy fire of all calibres of artillery, to check the French troops advancing on both sides of the Roye-Noyon road, was captured this morning.

Pressure from Gen. Humbert's third army from the west and from Gen. Mangin's men, who crossed the River Oise from the south and took Morlancourt this morning, while other French troops were entering Noyon, adds to the difficulties of the enemy. The increased danger from those directions will oblige the Germans to make further sacrifices in order to save Gen. von Hutier's army from disaster.

The Somme line having been rendered difficult for the Germans by the rapidity of the Entente Allied pursuit, there is now a question with the French troops ready to cross the Somme at the enemy's heels, where he will be able to make a further stand.

ALLIES HAVE WON BACK MORE THAN TWO-THIRDS OF GROUND LOST TO ENEMY SINCE MARCH

Brilliant Generalship and Skillful Monoeuvring of the Allied Troops Have Accomplished Wonders in the Last Few Weeks.

Paris, Aug. 29.—The Allies now have won back more than two-thirds of the ground lost since the beginning of the German offensive in March. It was wrung from them by an overwhelming effort of force and they have regained it by the brilliant generalship of their leaders and the skillful manoeuvring of their troops. The working out of Marshal Foch's strategy, according to opinion here, shows that every movement in each section of the long battle line has been carefully thought out, in its relation to the whole. Thus the British advance toward Peronne on August 26 had its immediate effect on the sections farther south, and for a second time General von Hutier was in danger of being caught in a trap if he hung on another instant. As a result, he was obliged to abandon Roye and Nesle and retire behind the Somme with the French close at his heels. Immediate interest in the battle is in the operations on the wings. General Mangin is fighting hard on the right in the region of Juvigny and Chavigny. The terrain is difficult there because Juvigny is level with Laffaux and the Chemin-des-Dames. Also the German 7th army still clings to the line of the Vesle.

On the left the British east of Arras have overrun the powerful defences which have encircled Arras, and are getting dangerously near the formidable positions prepared several years ago to protect Douai and Cambrai. These towns are important railroad centres and vital to the German position, so that a fierce struggle may be looked for before the Allies reach them.

CENTRAL AMERICA COUNTRIES HAVE AVERTED CLASH

Washington, Aug. 29.—Nicaragua and Honduras have averted their threatened armed clash over a long-standing boundary dispute by agreeing at the request of the United States, to withdraw all troops from their borders and submit the controversy to the United States through their ministers at Washington.

URGES DRASTIC MEANS TO HOLD POPULATIONS IN RURAL SECTIONS

Ottawa Consulting Engineer Points Out Serious Provincial Conditions.

QUEBEC HAS LOST MILLION

Noulan Cachon Delivers Important Address at Ontario Municipal Convention.

Toronto, Aug. 28.—Warning that Ontario and Quebec are losing their rural populations, and some drastic measures must be taken by these provinces, was given this morning by Noulan Cachon, consulting engineer of Ottawa, in addressing the Ontario municipal convention, this morning.

Mr. Cachon said:

"Ontario has been losing rural population for years, Quebec has lost a million or so of its people to the New England States—why? Because life was apparently more profitable or more attractive elsewhere—yet severe economic losses for Canada.

"We have to compete for people the same as in any other barter. We must provide attractive alternatives to "free homes" in the wilderness if we would not lose much that we might get and wish to retain what we have."

Dealing with the radial situation in Hamilton, Mr. Cachon said:

"At the last session of the Dominion Parliament, Senator Lynch-Staunton enedavored, on behalf of the city of Hamilton, to introduce an amendment to the railway act enabling the board to deal equitably with such cases—but it was "gassed."

"The discussion was not long, can be found fully in Hansard of April 19—full of interest to municipalities.

"It is apparently up to the city of Hamilton to call a conference of railways with the city to work out a solution, but power will have to be obtained to force compliance with a solution—more power to the railway commission.

"The Ontario Association of Municipalities should endeavor to obtain the necessary amendment to the railway act."

ARTIFICIAL LIMBS FOR SOLDIERS MUST BE GOVT. STAMPED

Order-in-Council Passed To Protect Men in Need of Appliances.

Ottawa, Aug. 29.—In order to protect returned soldiers, who are amputation cases, from the competitive attention of the representatives of private manufacturers of artificial limbs it has been found necessary by the Government to pass an order-in-council enforcing strict regulations in the matter of the supply of artificial limbs to such returned men as require them. It has been found necessary to attach a strict penalty to any misrepresentations or false statements made in connection with appliances manufactured and issued by the Government. The order-in-council in question enacts that every artificial limb and appliance manufactured or issued by the departments of soldiers civil re-establishment shall be stamped with the words "issued by the Government of Canada." The penalty for forgery of this mark is punishable by a fine of from $50 to $200 or four months imprisonment.

PREPARED FOR CONGRESS.

Washington, Aug. 29.—Minor differences between Senate and House conferees on the man power bill were cleared away today and the measure, with the Senate work or fight amendment eliminated, was prepared for final congressional action.

Mangin's Army Crossed the Oise and Took Morlancourt — British Occupy the Towns of Ginchy, Belloy, Ashevillers, Herbecourt and Feuilleres.

AT THE GATES OF HAM.

Paris, Aug. 29.—French troops are at the gates of Ham, according to dispatches from the front. The Germans lost three complete munition trains at Breuil, five miles west of Ham, in their precipitate retreat.

With the French Armies in the Field, Aug. 29.—(By the Associated Press).—Noyon was occupied this morning by the troops of Gen. Humbert.

Gen. Mangin's men crossed the Oise River and took Morlancourt.

The French first army took Quesnoy Wood, just to the west of the Canal du Nord. The wood was a strongly-fortified position and from it the Germans endeavored to check the French pursuit.

The fall of Noyon comes as a heavy blow to the Germans, who were thought during the early days of the Picardy offensive to be planning to hold Noyon as the southern pivot of their line, which runs northward along the old battlefront of 1916.

Noyon is situated on the right bank of the Oise River at the confluence of that stream and the little River Voise. To the south and east there are large areas of flat lowlands along the Oise, while to the north is a winding valley. To the southwest is Mount Renaud and the Passigny Massif, which dominates the whole region. To the northeast a range of high hills juts out into the valley.

One railroad runs through Noyon. It comes up the Valley from Compiegne and, turning east at Noyon, leads to Chauny and La Fere. A canal leads off to the north and terminates at Nesle. Two small railroad lines run north and east, the former to Nesle and the latter to Ham.

Noyon is a great highway centre. One road runs to Roye, to the northwest; one to Ham, to the northeast; one goes up the Oise Valley and another leads down into Carlepont Forest, to the southeast. Another goes down the Oise to Compiegne.

Noyon is a very ancient town, being known to the Romans. Charlemagne was crowned king of the Franks at Noyon in 786, and Hugh Capet was elected king there in 987. It was the birthplace of John Calvin, who was born July 10, 1509.

BRITISH CAPTURE FOUR TOWNS WITHIN FIVE MILES OF PERONNE

With the British Forces in France, Aug. 29.—Noon.—Ginchy, a town about two miles northwest of Combles, is reported to have been captured by Field Marshal Haig's forces this morning.

British troops also captured Belloy, Ashevillers, Herbecourt and Feuilleres. All these towns are within five miles of Peronne.

Launching new local attacks and following up the advantage gained yesterday, the British today moved forward along a large part of their battlefront.

The French having reached the backwaters of the Somme, the British just north of them have made long strides, and themselves this morning were only about three miles from the river at Brie, with the enemy being rapidly forced out of the triangle formed by the right angles of the river and the advancing British line, which strikes it in the north just west of Ham.

GERMAN COUNTER-ATTACKS FAIL.

London, Aug. 29.—German counter-attacks east and southeast of Vis-en-Artois, east of Boiry and in the vicinity of Gavrelle, villages to the east of Arras, have been repulsed, according to the official statement issued at the war office today.

South of the Somme, British forces are keeping up their pressure against the enemy and are advancing eastward. Since August 21 the British have taken 26,000 prisoners and 100 guns.

TEUTON SURPRISE ATTACKS IN LORRAINE SECTOR REPULSED

Paris, Aug. 29.—Violent artillery engagements along the Somme front are reported in the official statement issued at the war office today.

The text of the statement reads:

"There were violent bombardments during the night along the Somme front.

"German forces made many surprise attacks in the Lorraine sector without obtaining any results. The French, for their part, made two incursions into the enemy lines in the Champagne and took fifteen prisoners.

"The night was calm on the rest of the front."

DOMINION POLICE IN CITY WIRE MONTREAL TO RELEASE NICOLET

Young Artist Likely Will Be Free Today.

Frank Nicolet, the former London artist and the leader in the Victory Loan poster competition, according to the last word to reach his friends here from Montreal, still in the toils. However, there are strong hopes that he will be released today, if such action has not already been taken. The matter was brought to the attention of the London Dominion police, who held a copy of Nicolet's exemption papers. They were prevailed upon, in the interests of justice, to wire the Dominion police at Montreal to release him. No word has yet been received as to what action followed the receipt of this wire.

Mr. Nicolet's friends were informed here that the form which Mr. Nicolet carried and a copy of which was sent from here was sufficient to meet the requirements of the law here. They presume that there was some technicality sufficient to warrant the Dominion police of Montreal holding the young artist.

GOOD MEN WANTED IN TANK BATTALION

Fifty Invited To Join Unit at Front.

Fifty men, of Category A2, and of good education, are required immediately for service with the Tank Battalion in France, according to information given out at military headquarters here today. Men of university training are preferred, and they should apply to the local mobilization centre, or to any medical officer in this military district to be taken on the strength.

This branch of the service is an exceptionally interesting one, the Canadian Tank Battalion, a restricted unit, now doing very good work in France. This unit calls for clean-cut chaps of the more intelligent type, and recruits for this draft will receive all consideration upon application for enlistment to the proper authorities.

CAR SERVICE ORDER VIOLATED; NO ACTION FROM COMMITTEE

Recommends That Matter Be Laid Over.

TO VOTE ON GAS MIXTURE

Lieut.-Col. Brown Wants a Name for Hospital—Aldermen Will Seek It.

The city will not demand that the street railway company restore its service in accordance with the order and direction prepared by Engineer Brazier and approved by the council, if the decision of the finance committee yesterday succeeds in running the gauntlet fo the council.

The committee had before it the report of Mr. Brazier on a check he had made of the service. He reported that the order and direction was not being complied with. He found that the interval between cars on certain lines averaged two and three minutes more than that ordered, while in some cases the interval was five and six minutes greater. He also found that cars were running as fast as 22 and 24 miles an hour.

He recommended that the council give the company ten days notice to comply with the order.

Anticipated Such a Move.

Manager C. B. King anticipated such a move, and was present. He asked that the order as anticipated be held in abeyance for a little while. He said the reduction in service was the only way they saw out of their financial dilemma, and this was only made at hours when the service was light. At 4 o'clock the cars are restored daily, and extra trippers put on, he stated. He asked that the matter be laid over until the end of October, so that they may get a line on what the traffic is going to be.

No One Opposed.

Not a member of the committee seemed opposed, and it was decided to leave the matter over. This recommendation will go to the council.

The committee went over the list of claims of the Salvation Army Rescue Home for per diem allowances for a number of patients cared for there. Quite a number of them were rejected, as the committee was not satisfied that the persons in question were residents of the city—that is, that they had lived in London one year prior to going to the home.

Laid Over Two Clauses.

The committee laid over two of the clauses of the agreement which the Firemen's Union asked to have adopted. All the others are already in force. The two clauses held up deal with promotion. One is that seniority with efficiency shall control appointments. The other is that the chief, assistant chief and captains shall determine the efficiency of all slated for promotion.

Controller Merryfield said that the chief claimed that the matter of appointment rests in his hands, and that seniority is not the rule.

Wanted Vote on Gas.

Ald. Wilson wanted to make sure that the electors would have a vote on the request of the gas company for permission to mix natural gas with their artificial supply. He made a motion that the suggestion of the city solicitor be adopted.

The garage owners' petition for a Sunday closing bylaw was declared to be insufficiently signed, and was ordered filed.

Ald. Manness and City Market Clerk C. Maker were instructed to rearrange the scale of prices for market gardeners' stalls.

The city was asked by Lieut.-Col. W. J. Brown of headquarters to suggest a name for the new military hospital on the Odell site. A committee composed of Controller Little and Aldermen Harley and Wilson will deal with the matter.

LONDON CHURCHMEN TO ATTEND GENERAL SYNOD AT TORONTO

Will Urge Plan for Beneficiary Pensions.

The relation of the church to the war and reconstruction after the war, along with the revision of the prayer book, will be the two outstanding questions before the general synod of the Church of England in Canada, which holds its eighth triennial session in Toronto next month, convening in the parish hall of St. James' Cathedral on September 11th. In the list of clerical and lay delegates representing the Diocese of Huron, the names appear of several London men prominent in the church. The complete list is as follows: Rev. W. J. Doherty, B.A, secretary-treasurer of the diocese; Rev. Precentor Tucker, M.A., D.C.L.; Rev. A. Carlisle, B.A., All Saints, Windsor; Rev. Canon Sage, M.A., D.D.; Rev. Principal C. C. Waller, M.A., D.D., of Huron College; Rev. J. B. Fotheringham, M.A., of Grace Church, Brantford; Ven. Archdeacon Richardson, M.A., D.C.L.; Rev. Canon W. Craig, B.D.; A. H. Backus of Aylmer; E. G. Henderson, of Windsor; W. H. Cockshutt, M.P., of Brantford; Chas. Jenkins of Petrolea; R. E. Davis of London; Matthew Wilson, K.C., D.C.L., of Chatham; John Ransford, of Clinton; Judge Ermatinger, of St. Thomas.

Days for Reports.

Whole days, it is stated, will be devoted to the major reports on Sunday school work, on social service, and on the report of the missionary society of the Church of England in Canada. About $175,000 are raised annually for foreign missions, in addition to the diocesan missions, which do not appear in the report. Included in the "foreign missions" are missions in the Arctic circle in Canada, etc

Owing to the death during the past year of Rev. Canon Powell of Toronto, prolocutor of the lower house, the deputy prolocutor, Rev. Dr. Tucker of St. Paul's Cathedral, will preside until the new prolocutor is appointed.

In connection with the revision of the prayer book, it is probable that final judgment will be passed upon it during the session of synod. Several memorials from synods re minor changes will be considered, and it is probable a strong effort will be made by those of high church tendencies to obtain authority to use prayers for the dead.

Beneficiary Pensions.

Among the memorials by which the Diocese of Huron is represented in the convening circular, is one with regard to beneficiary funds. It is to this effect: "The Synod of the Diocese of Huron respectfully petitions the general synod of the Church of England in Canada, to devise and inaugurate immediately a plan for providing general beneficiary pensions (including superannuation and widows and orphans), for all the clergy and missionaries of the Church of England in Canada."

A proposed "Church Congress" was postponed indefinitely in 1914, owing to conditions which then existed. Its date is still uncertain.

The Bishop of Toronto will report that the same conditions exist now as at the time of the last general synod, and the committee retained to deal with the matter, therefore, has no report to present to the session of the synod, and deems it expedient to defer the matter indefinitely.

CITY REPRESENTATIVES OF B. M. E. CHURCH OFF TO ANNUAL CONFERENCE

Rev. S. R. Drake, general superintendent of the B. M. E. Church, and Rev. H. F. Logan of the local church, Grey street, are leaving today to attend the annual conference of that church to be held at Harrow on Friday, August 30. Delegates and ministers from all parts of Canada will be present. C. Brown and F. Fountain are the lay delegates who will represent the London church at this conference.

The general conference of the church will be held in Windsor from September 4 to 9, inclusive.

GARAGE OWNERS MAY AGREE NOT TO WORK AT CARS ON SUNDAY

All May Sell Gas and Oil, However.

Serious objection is not expected from the garage men of the city to the attitude of the finance committee in rejecting their petition for a Sunday closing bylaw on the ground that the petition was insufficiently signed.

The garage men will reach an agreement among themselves as to what they will do, and according to Sam Rowed of the Ontario Garage, this will likely be that they will all sell oil and gas, but undertake no work whatever.

The finance committee, in holding that the petition was not sufficiently signed, although City Clerk Baker declared that it was, held that all hardware stores, electric shops, etc., should have been considered.

Ald. Sam Manness held that these places did not keep open on Sundays.

Controller Little said they could if they wanted to.

"I don't think they can," said Ald. Manness. "I think the regular repair garages are the only ones that can keep open."

Controller Merryfield said that the places in question sold supplies. The motion to file the petition carried.

Mr. Rowed declared that he had a petition in his possession that would knock the other out, but he had not presented it. He considered that it would be a hardship to cut off the supply of gas and oil. He said that already the majority of the garages were closed in so far as work is concerned. They had been trying to get away from doing work for some time. Today in most garages a man can purchase oil or gas, but if he wants a tire changed he must do it himself, although the garages allow him to use their equipment. Mr. Rowed said that most of the garages kept a man at work on Sunday to care for boarders, and he could also sell gas and oil. He expects that the garage men will hold a meeting at an early date and will reach an agreement among themselves to do no work on Sundays.

LOCAL UNIONS WANT SOLDIERS PAID WHILE LEARNING ANY TRADE

Delegates to Congress Will Protest Government Rules.

At a meeting of the Boot and Shoe Workers' Union held here last night two delegates were elected to attend the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress in Quebec on September 16, and were instructed to protest against the Government system of vocational training of returned soldiers in so far as it compels these men, if they take the course, to work for manufacturers without pay while learning. The local union members expressed approbation of giving the soldiers every opportunity to enter any trade, but they insist that payment be made by employers at the prevailing rates for work done and the unions will look after any losses caused by bad workmanship.

The unions will welcome returned men to membership without the usual initiation fee, and without the payment of any dues during apprenticeship.

MANY DEFAULTERS CAME IN UNDER AMNESTY

According to information given out at military headquarters here on Wednesday, 66 deserters and defaulters reported for duty in this military district under the recent amnesty issued at Ottawa. All such offenders who gave themselves up before August 24 escaped punishment, and were dealt with as recruits, their past performances being forgotten by the military authorities.

PTE. E. MORRIS SUFFERS FROM SHELL GAS

Pte. Edwin Bruce Morris of this city is suffering from gas, and was admitted to No. 2 Australian General Hospital on August 22, according to last night's list. His next of kin is given as Edwin Morris, 241 Ridout street.

MILITARY NOTES

ADMITS DESERTION.

The court-martial of Pte. William Ritchie, a deserter from the 168th Battalion, has been dispensed with by order of the officer commanding this military district. The offender, having signed a confession of desertion, is ordered to suffer the same forfeitures as if he had been convicted by a district court-martial.

STANDING COURT-MARTIAL.

A standing general court-martial has been ordered for this military district by Major-Gen. E. C. Ashton, acting adjutant-general, which will assemble at such places and on such dates as may be named by the president, Lieut.-Col. H. L. Milligan, D. S. O., officer commanding Canadian Garrison Regiment, for the purpose of trying such persons as may be brought before them. The members of the court are as follows: Major George F. Stanbury, Major Chas. O. Fairbank, Major James G. Wood and Capt. Donald E. Douglas.

Waiting members who will substitute in case of the inability of members to act are as follows: Lieut.-Col. William G. Coles, Lieut.-Col. Reginald W. Bishop, and Capt. Charles F. Stevenson. Major George N. Weekes will act as judge advocate, and Capt. David G. McIntosh will act as prosecutor.

The court being a standing one will become accustomed to dealing with cases where soldiers break regulations, thus meting out justice to all concerned with the least possible loss of time. The court has the power to inflict the death penalty upon all persons found guilty, although the sentence must first be confirmed at Ottawa before promulgation.

MOTHERS APPRECIATE CHILD WELFARE CLINIC HELD HERE EACH WEEK

Appreciation of the value of the child welfare clinic conducted in London each week under the auspices of the Child Welfare Association is by no means confined to parents in the city. Tuesday morning, a mother arrived bright and early at the clinic at Victoria Hospital, having brought her little one with her for examination from a town some sixty miles from London. Her interest had been aroused in the propaganda in connection with the exhibit of last winter, and she had heard from friends of the thoroughness of the examination given the children both during the clinic of welfare week and subsequently. She was not satisfied with the progress her child was making so brought it to the specialists, who weekly give their time each Tuesday morning in the interests of the conservation of child life. It was found the babe was suffering from malnutrition owing to the inability of the mother to find the proper food for it.

She will bring it all the way back again and consider the journey well worth while to have it weighed and examined to measure the improvement in its condition on the new diet prescribed.

Appreciative Grandmother.

A week ago, a grandmother from Grand Rapids took her little grandchild down to the clinic to have it weighed and to get some advice concerning it. She told of her gratification at finding a child welfare clinic in the city during her visit here, telling of the benefits of the work along this line in her own city.

Tuesday morning this week, she was back again with the child, before the clinic opened. She was leaving at 11 o'clock to go home and wanted to have the little one weighed and seen by the doctor before she started.

Nurse Assists.

Since taking up her work in the city, Miss Friend, the public health nurse, has been assisting at the clinic. It is expected the new child welfare nurse, Miss Bertha Smith, will be there next week. Concerning a "well baby clinic," for which there is both need and demand, Miss Friend stated today that for the immediate future, with sufficient help, it will be possible to weigh the babies and otherwise conduct the well-baby clinic at the same time the sick-child clinic is in progress on Tuesday mornings. When the work has increased to the extent where more time is demanded, two clinics a week will be held, the present clinic as usual, and a well-baby clinic in addition. The latter clinic will be conducted along somewhat similar lines to the clinic of child welfare week. In other cities where child welfare work is established, many mothers bring their little ones regularly every week to have them weighed and score cards are kept up to date in order to see that the fortunate children are having all possible done to keep them up to a high standard of physical efficiency.

OBSTRUCTION REMOVED FROM DANGEROUS SPOT

Old Building Disappears From Ridout and York Streets.

The demolishing of the old brick structure at the corner of York and Ridout streets on the order of Building Inspector Piper, because he considered it was dangerous to pedestrians, has been completed. The narrowness of the corner, the close proximity of the building to the walk and the road, the sharp turn of the car tracks and the presence of a large telegraph pole, which obstructed the view down the hill until the road was reached, added to the dangers.

An application has now been made to the city for permission to erect a large sign on this property. However, the Motor Club has been active, and the sign will be carried back 20 feet from each corner, leaving an unobstructed view. The Motor Club will decorate the intervening plot of ground.

LONDON FIRMS HAVE SUFFERED LOSSES IN SUBMARINE WARFARE

One Had $7,000 Worth of Goods Sunk.

OTHERS ESCAPE LIGHTLY

Trade With Britain in Many Lines Has Been Decreased.

Submarine activities are responsible for heavy losses to London wholesale merchants. Either directly or indirectly every large firm has, at some time, suffered from the deep sea menace.

Of about a dozen merchants interviewed by The Advertiser, R. C. Struthers & Co. report the most frequent and valuable losses. The sinking of the Lake Michigan, the Medora and Carthaginian meant destruction of consignments to the value of approximately $7,000 for this one firm alone. The last loss occurred about two months ago.

Robinson, Little & Co., and McMahen & Grainger have been more fortunate. The latter suffered early in the war when the Hesperian went down, but regular weekly shipments from England have come through safely since. The former have the same good luck to report, their last loss being involved with the Medora.

Mills Were Losers.

The management of the Middlesex Mills states that through the sinking of consignments booked to the manufacturers from whom it buys, its work was held up to a large extent during the month of June and caused a great shortage of certain materials till goods could be replaced. Naturally, the output was considerably less for some time. In June alone three ships were reported sunk which had on board materials for this local factory. In some cases ships with documents went down and the goods came safely through.

Dickison, Nicholson & Co., John Marshall & Co., and Wright Sons & Co., all report that their losses have been nil, owing largely to the fact that they have imported little from Europe during the last few years. They have had to resort to heavier dealing in Canadian and American trade. The first-named firm recently received a shipment of velvet safely.

Grocers Escape.

Wholesale grocers, according to advice from Masuret & Co. and Edward Adams & Co., have practically cut off their trade with Great Britain, owing to the difficulty of obtaining the goods they need. Increased trade locally and with the United States has been the result.

All merchants state that instead of taking raw material to the factories of Great Britain, ships are now carrying food and munitions. This fact, together with enormously increased freight rates and war insurance, because of the submarine risk, accounts for a vast diminution in overseas trade for London merchants.

STEAMER BIANCA BROUGHT TO PORT

Newfoundland Schooner Is Picked Up Adrift in the Atlantic.

A Canadian Atlantic Port, Aug. 29.—The Newfoundland three-masted schooner Bianca, before reported captured and sunk by a German submarine off this coast, was towed into this port this morning. The Bianca, which was abandoned by her crew by order of the U-boat commander, was picked up adrift three days ago by a Boston fishing schooner, fitted with an auxiliary engine. This vessel took the Bianca in tow and arrived in the harbor last night. The Bianca has been somewhat damaged. The Germans evidently set off a bomb in her hold, as a portion of the deck is raised and the vessel is leaking considerably, but the ship's frame held together and her cargo of tobacco kept her afloat.

The Bianca was bound from Bahia for this port. Her crew landed safely on this coast two days ago.

MEN RETURNING HERE TO RESIDE COMPELLED TO REGISTER AT ONCE

Given Only Ten Days Under New Regulation Issued at Ottawa.

Deputy Registrar H. F. Beresford has received a copy of an order-in-council which changes the status of men not having been ordinarily resident in Canada, and who returned to Canada to reside. Formerly these men automatically fell into class two, but by this order-in-council they are to register within ten days after their return to Canada, and if coming within the provisions of any class affected by the proclamation, they then come under that proclamation. The regulation reads:

"Any man who becomes resident in Canada after a proclamation has been issued calling out the class under the military service act, 1917, to which he would have belonged if he had been in Canada at the date of such proclamation shall, within ten days after his becoming resident as aforesaid, report to the registrar or deputy registrar for the province or the part of the province in which he is resident, and shall be placed on active service as provided by the said act, or by the regulations thereunder, and shall, until so placed on active service be deemed to be on leave of absence without pay."

RUSH OF SMALL PERMITS

Building Inspector Piper experienced a rush this morning for small building permits which sent the month's total up to $7, or just ten more than the total for August, 1917. R. Blair, 467 Princess; B. Summers, 693 King street; R. Williams, 117 Tecumseh avenue, and S. Perone, 136 Mill street, all took out permits for garages. Mrs. Chaplin, 322 Askin street; H. Dale, 71 Duchess, and C. and T. Lewis, 355 Central, took out small permits for repairs and remodeling houses. The value of the permits to date are $51,940.

WOMEN TRAPPED.

Toronto, Aug. 29.—Foreign importers of liquor are indefatigable in their efforts to get liquor into Toronto, but two women with unpronounceable names, were neatly trapped, when a policeman masquerading as an expressman delivered a big consignment of alcohol at their houses. They were each fined $200 and costs in the police court today.

WATER PRESSURE IS LOW AT NOON; ONLY 24 POUNDS TODAY

This Lasts Short Time Each Day.

MERCHANTS ARE ANXIOUS

Ask What Would Happen If Fire Should Break Out.

"We tried to run our elevator. It would not work. We inquired as to water pressure and found that it was 32 pounds. This was in the middle of the day," stated a large wholesaler to The Advertiser at noon today.

Seemingly this is not a rare occurrence.

On Wednesday noon the gauge in the hydro office showed that only 22 pounds was registered. However, this may have been caused by the opening of some hydrant. It remained at the point but a short time. At noon today it again went down to 24 pounds, but at 12:30 was up to 60 pounds. Yesterday afternoon the pressure went as high as 80 pounds.

"We should certainly maintain a higher pressure than 32 pounds," stated the wholesaler in discussing the matter. "The firemen could hardly battle against a fire with the pressure at that point."

TURNING OFF HYDRO COSTS BUSINESSMEN HEAVILY THIS WEEK

Small Plants Not Turning a Wheel.

"I have lost more money through hydro being off during the last couple of days than I have saved since hydro started to provide us with cheap power."

The above statement was made to The Advertiser today by a well-known and strong supporter of hydro.

The businessman in question runs a small shop by which he makes his living. He is dependent on power. He uses the regular lighting current (when it is on). He has not turned a wheel since Monday and will not do so today.

He is only one of dozens of places of business which operate on a small scale who have been closed down entirely since the break occurred at Niagara Falls.

The industries of the city are not suffering any more than they have all year. They are forced to suspend operations for one hour daily, and are still doing so.

This suspension of the factories does not cut the city's load down sufficiently during the time taken to repair the break at the Falls, and only during the meal hours and at night is the lighting current turned on.

Local hydro officials have no advices as to the nature of the break at the Falls, but state that it must be much worse than they first thought.

LETTER-CARRIERS EXPECTED TO TAKE GOVT. INCREASES

Posties Will Decide Question at Hamilton Convention.

Ottawa, Aug. 29.—It is confidently expected here that the lettercarriers will, at their convention in Hamilton next week, accept as satisfactory, the decision of the Government respecting increased compensation. A bonus of $100 per year was granted and paid in 1917 and $250 more granted from April 1, 1918, or an increase of $350 per year to all over the rates in effect a year and a half ago. The view in Government circles is that this increase will be recognized by the public as generously meeting the postal employees' needs by reason of increased cost of living.

The fact that the civil service commission is conducting an extensive inquiry with a view to readjusting rates for all the outside civil service, and that their recommendations will be presented to Parliament at the next session strengthens the expectation here that the relief granted will be regarded as being at least temporarily satisfactory.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

FUNERAL OF GEORGE MACBETH.

The body of George Macbeth, who died in Toronto recently, arrived in this city today about 1:30 o'clock via the Grand Trunk. The funeral took place directly from the station to Woodland Cemetery, where interment was made at 2 o'clock, in the family plot. The services at the grave, which were attended by many friends and relatives of Mr. Macbeth, were very impressive and were conducted by Rev. Archdeacon J. B. Richardson, pastor of St. Luke's Church, Broughdale. The pallbearers were six Toronto men, friends of Mr. Macbeth.

FIRE PREVENTION METHODS SUBJECT OF CHIEF'S SESSION

Compulsory Inspection of All Insurance Risks Is Advocated.

Toronto, Aug. 29.—Fire prevention and inspection was the subject dealt with this morning by the Dominion Fire Chiefs in session at the exhibition grounds. A full attendance was noted and the subject dealt with in detail from various angles by various members who had prepared papers on the subject on which an open discussion took place.

In a well prepared paper Chief Ten Eyck of Hamilton dealt with the subject from a general standpoint. He had many suggestions which would, in his opinion, reduce fire waste. He advocated compulsory inspection of risks by insurance companies before accepting business, and that insurance companies pay their agents salaries instead of commission, and that a risk be insured for but two-thirds of its value. He also thought it would be beneficial that all companies carrying insurance be obliged to notify insurance companies when their stocks were reduced. Restrictions regarding smoking around garages, legislation regarding the thawing of frozen pipes, electric wiring and steam fitting were other subjects he dealt with.

Chief Smart of Calgary dealt with the subject of prevention from a standpoint of co-operation with the business public, summing up in six pertinent suggestions.

RHINE CITIES ASK BETTER PROTECTION AGAINST AIR RAIDS

Demand Prompt Legislation to Deal With Aerial Attacks.

Amsterdam, Aug. 29.—The chief cities and towns of the Rhine district have formed a permanent committee to deal with the increasing menace of allied air raids, says the Cologne Gazette. The cities of Cologne, Frankfort, Mayence, Stuttgart and Mannheim have representatives on the committee, and the commander of the home aerial defence is also a member.

The committee was formed at a meeting in Frankfort on Monday at which all the municipalities concerned and the officials connected with the air defence discussed the situation fully. They demanded prompt legislation giving the legal right of full compensation from aerial attacks.

"WALKED AWAY"

Soldier Who Escaped From Burwash Returns to Niagara Camp.

Niagara Camp, Aug. 29.—Pte. Edward Smith, aged 22, is a soldier with an unenviable record. He enlisted in the 1st Battalion, 2nd Central Ontario Regiment, but was convicted in Hamilton on January 4 of bigamy and sentenced to the prison at Burwash for 23 months. He escaped from Burwash on July 10 and yesterday he voluntarily showed up in camp here. On being questioned, Smith said he "walked away" Burwash. He will probably be handed over to the civil authorities to be dealt with.

BOLSHEVIKI DENY THAT DIPLOMATS WERE IN CUSTODY

Moscow Dispatch Stated That Representatives Had Been Liberated.

POOLE AWAITING WORD

Conflicting Stories Have Been Sent Out From Soviet Capital.

Amsterdam, Aug. 29.—While a Moscow dispatch to the Rhenish Westphalian Gazette of Essen states that the Entente diplomatic representatives there have been liberated, latest advices from the Bolsheviki capital, under date of August 26, deny that the American and British diplomats there were ever arrested. The dispatch to the Rhenish Westphalian Gazette, however, says that members of the allied military mission at Moscow are still in custody.

De Witt C. Poole Jun., the acting American consul-general at Moscow, the dispatch adds, is at liberty, and is awaiting a safe conduct from the German Government and the conclusion of an arrangement between Russia and the Entente Governments for a reciprocal return of diplomatic and consular officers before departing.

A Russian wireless message says that War Minister Trotzky denies an alleged American report that the Soviets intend to arm German and Austro-Hungarian prisoners to fight the Czecho-Slovaks. Trotzky adds that in the Soviet army the only former war prisoners are those who have become Russian citizens.

The central executive committee of the Soviets according to the Pravda, has decreed the abolition in towns of more than 10,000 inhabitants of all private and real property, the value of which exceeds a scale to be fixed by the local Soviets. Mortgages of more than 10,000 rubles are annulled and the former landlords are placed on the same level as their tenants. The decree does not apply to industrial properties.

It was reported from London that Robert Lockhart, acting British consul-general at Moscow, six members of his staff and several French diplomatic agents had been arrested in Moscow by the Bolsheviki. There have been no reports of interference with American diplomatic or consular representatives.

Although there have been unconfirmed reports of a Bolsheviki declaration of war against the United States, apparently the American representatives have not been molested.

C. N. R. OPERATING EXPENSES INCREASE

Toronto, Aug. 29.—Operating expenses of the Canadian Northern Railway System for the month of July show an increase of $522,700 over those of the same month of last year. The net earnings for the month were $276,760, which were a decrease of $628,200 from the figure set last year.

PRO-GERMAN INFLUENCES.

Buffalo, Aug. 29.—W. J. Connors, head of the Great Lakes Transit Corporation, said today that pro-German influences were back of a strike of freight handlers at the docks here. About 1,000 men are out. One vessel with 2,000 barrels of flour aboard, was compelled to make a return trip to upper lake ports without discharging her cargo. A meeting of the men has been called for tonight. Union officials said the trouble was due to a misunderstanding, and probably would be quickly settled.

NOYON CAPTURED BY FRENCH; FORCES OF GEN. HAIG NEARING TOWN OF PERONNE

FRENCH CAPTURE 40 VILLAGES IN ADVANCE SOUTH OF SOMME

PARIS, Aug. 28.—In a swift advance today, covering more than six miles at certain points, the French troops south of the Somme recaptured forty villages, the war office announces tonight.

The left bank of the Somme has been reached between Cisancourt and Nesle, as well as the west bank of the Canal du Nord between Nesle and Noyon over the greater part of its course.

The Germans retreated precipitately on a front of 18 2-3 miles.

American troops in the region of Juviny repulsed numerous German counter-attacks and broke up the enemy's attempt to cross the Vesle, south of Bazoches.

Today's early Paris statement said the French had captured thirty villages, Tuesday, including Chaulnes.

BRITISH CAPTURE CROISILLES.

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, Aug. 28.—(Reuter's Agency).—The British have carried Croisilles, Ablaincourt and Fay, and the French have captured Marchelpot.

CHARGE OF ANZACS AND CANUCKS.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—The Australians have reached the line of Fresnes-Herbecourt, according to Field Marshal Haig's report from British headquarters tonight, but have met with much opposition in their efforts to reach the crossings of the Somme River at Brie and Peronne.

The Canadians, after severe fighting, drove the enemy from several strongly-defended localities and trench systems and captured the villages of Boiry-Notre-Dame and Pelves.

CATIGNY SURROUNDED BY FRENCH WITH GERMANS FIGHTING HARD

With the French Army in France, Aug. 28.—Throughout the day the French troops pressed the enemy vigorously. They have reached the left bank of the Somme from Cizancourt to east of Nesle, a distance of about five miles. Several hundred prisoners were taken today.

From east of Nesle the fighting front follows the course of the Canal du Nord to Catigny, and then southward to Noyon. Catigny is surrounded on three sides, but houses transformed into blockhouses and bristling with machine guns are holding up the French for the moment. The enemy also is holding fast on the heights east of Catigny. There is very severe fighting at many places.

AMERICANS GAIN AT BAZOCHES BUT HUNS RETAKE FISMETTE

With the American Army on the Vesle, Aug. 29.—American and German troops were engaged in spirited actions today in the regions of Bazoches and Fismette. According to the latest report the fighting continues at both points. Tonight, as a result of he local actions, the Americans had made some gains at Bazoches, while the Germans had recaptured Fismette, on the north bank of the Vesle opposite Fismes. The fighting has been marked by much stubbornness.

Several days ago when the Americans advanced in the region of Bazoches, the Germans retired into a wooded stronghold, known as Haute Maison, just south of the Soissons-Rheims road. Small detachments were left in the cellars in Bazoches to harass the Americans. Tuesday the Americans approached Bazoches from the west and maintained their advance during the night. Today the Americans made progress toward the town from the east and south, a detachment taking the eastern outskirts this morning. Since then they have made further progress.

Fismette had been held by the Americans since August 8, despite German efforts to dislodge them at various times. To gain this bridgehead the Americans crossed the Vesle in fierce fighting. For three days and nights after the enemy had been driven from the village the Americans were without food or reinforcements, because of the constant enemy artillery and machine gun fire.

The Germans maintained their position on the high roads. The Americans erected temporary bridges across the river at night time.

GOMPERS TO AID IN FRAMING NEW POLICY FOR LABOR

Arrival of Noted U. S. Leader In England Regarded As Important.

London, Aug. 29.—The arrival in England of Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, is an event of considerable importance, the Morning Post says.

"The name of Gompers," it adds, "is one to conjure with in the United States. There is keen rivalry between different sections of our own labor organizations and between the French and British for the honor of, shall we say, bringing Gompers out. But it is certain that he and his colleagues will attend the trades union conference at Derby next week, at which the question of war aims will be raised. Up to this time all attempts to lay down a definite policy for the allied labor movements have failed because American labor was not included.

"No international Socialist movement exclusive or antagonistic to American organized labor can hope to prevail, and Mr. Gompers may be the destined instrument of not the least service America has rendered the allied cause. He arrives at a decidedly good moment for the peace-by-negotiation internationalists have, like the Germans, overreached themselves and are on the run."

SUPPORTED UNION

salmon pack for the present year had been bought up by the Canadian Government for the British authorities. This statement will undoubtedly be followed by an increase in the price of canned salmon to the Canadian consumer unless the administration has taken steps or will presently do so to stabilize the price of salmon packed by concerns outside British Columbia, but inside the limits of the Dominion. Imported canned salmon will also be increased in price to the Canadian consumer.

Long-Suffering Individual.

"The Canadian consumer is a long-suffering individual, but his tolerance of such conditions is surely not without limit. There would seem to be a very intimate connection between the growing number of strikes and threatened labor disturbances throughout the country, and the rapid and unchecked increase in the cost of living. In Winnipeg and throughout the West and in many points in the East labor is getting restless.

"We do not refer to labor engaged in munitions work or clerical help in concerns doing work for the Government. These workers have been looked after as is right and proper. But the conditions of the ordinary workman is serious. His wages have not kept pace with the abnormal rise in the cost of food, rent and clothing. It is likewise a commentary upon our social scheme of things that the payment of adequate wages to one class of workers—our munition employees in this instance—causes a reaction which injuriously affects all others not in receipt of similar wages. The workers who are today getting high wages are helping to put the price of food and clothing out of the reach of their less fortunate fellow workers by their ability and willingness to pay the increased prices demanded in nearly every line. "No Canadian who is observing the trend of sentiment in many parts of the Dominion can fail to be impressed with conviction that there is widespread unrest among the workers, and that the spirit may lead to consequences in the near future which would be the reverse of helpful to Canada's war effort. There is a possibility that the manifestations may be postponed until the troops come home, but the longer that event is delayed the more serious may be the social disorganization which appears to be inevitable unless steps are taken to protect the workers from exploitations at the hands of profiteers.

"With the return of the Premier action will surely be taken by the administration to equalize in so far as possible living conditions in this country. It will help us in our fight for democracy abroad if the Government will protect democracy at home from the unpatriotic profiteer."

CANUCKS ARE DRIVING INTO MAIN ARTERY OF THE HINDENBURG LINE

Attack of Troops Under General Currie Along the Arras-Cambrai Road Adds to Allied Successes — Thousands of Dead Germans Left in the Path of General Byng's Advance.

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, Aug. 28.—(Reuter's, Limited).—Hard fighting continued today. Canadian troops delivered another attack in the course of the morning on a fan-like front of about five miles evenly flanking the Arras-Cambrai road. This fighting is carrying the men right into the main artery of the Hindenburg line.

BRITISHERS SWEEP ALONG.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE, Aug. 28.—(By the Associated Press).—On both sides of the Scarpe River hard fighting continued today, the British launching fresh attacks and wresting from the desperately resisting enemy additional valuable stretches of ground, many more advantageous positions and numerous towns, including Croisilles.

In the centre of the wide battlefield on which three British armies—the first, third and fourth—are operating, there seems to be a slight pause.

South of the Somme, Fay and Ablaincourt were taken by the British without much difficulty, for the Germans, being hard-pressed south of these points by the French, were therefore ready to go with slight persuasion.

Since early this morning storm after storm has been sweeping across this sector, but despite the unfavorable weather the British in the north have driven deeply into the hurriedly-arranged German defences, smothering with their fire hordes of the Huns.

Reach Queant-Drocourt Switch.

These Huns had been thrown into the fighting in this section in an effort to keep the Allies from penetrating the famous Queant-Drocourt switch line which formed the northern continuation of the old Hindenburg line after the British last year beat the Germans back from Arras. This line has been approached in several places, and has been reached in at least one place in the neighborhood of the Sensee River.

The success of this drive here and the breaking through of the old German defence system may have far-reaching effects both in the north and south.

Huns Evacuate Hendecourt.

South of the Scarpe the Canadians finally captured all of Pelves, after brisk street fighting, and pushing eastward their advanced patrols entered Remy and Haucourt. The British are well east of Fontaine, and the main body of the Germans has retired from Hendecourt eastward.

Extremely heavy fighting is in progress from a point south of Lens southward across the Scarpe River to the Arras-Cambrai road, but the British are making progress everywhere, beating down the German resistance with steady blows.

At least two new German divisions have just been identified in this fighting and more may appear before long. But while they are opposed to the Allies and in most cases are battling hard, there have been some instances in which the enemy troops have shown themselves to be excessively nervous, which is as it should be, considering the pounding they have had and are still getting from the British cannon and the defeats they have suffered at the hands of the advancing infantry.

Germans Are Timid.

A large Boche force was brought up to counter-attack the British positions east of Monchy. Some of the companies at the last moment, according to prisoners' statements, refused to participate and the rest went on without them, the British withdrawing 400 yards.

Later the British reattacked, paying particular attention to the flanks, and drove the Germans out. Then a second time the enemy troops were called upon to counter-attack. This time, it is reported, the whole body refused, and only a few patrols were seen by the British.

All sorts of troops have been hurled into battle south of the Scarpe, as well as north of that river, but many formations have been finished off almost as soon as they appeared.

Carpeted With Field Grey.

The ground over which the advance was made today is covered with large numbers of German dead. Just south of the Scarpe one place was carpeted with bodies in field grey.

There was also very heavy fighting in the Croisilles region before and after that town was stormed and captured this forenoon. Fierce fighting has been reported from Croisilles Ridge and the beaten Germans are said to be fleeing from Bullecourt and the territory to the north and south. The capture of Croisilles eliminates a spot which had been holding up the British advance in this part of the battlefront. Stiff resistance has been offered during the counter-attack. The British swung around on the flanks, driving especially down from the north and following the old Hindenburg line, and the town became too hot for the enemy to hold.

Fodder For Cannon.

Sanguinary losses have been inflicted on the Germans in all the fighting in this general region. British guns placed back of Croisilles have had the retreating Germans at many places, particularly in neighborhood of Hendecourt, under direct fire. Gunners have had the unusual experience of seeing where every shot fired fell, and noting what damage each did. The enemy artillery, retiring from the rear of Hendecourt, offered a fine target, and shells were sent raining into the fleeing columns, cutting great gaps in them.

Vis-en-Artois, which was captured yesterday by the Canadians, was the scene of hard fighting. The town is completely leveled and many dead Germans are mixed up in the piles of debris.

The enemy has even resorted to blowing up great craters in the road south of the Somme, in his efforts to check the advance. One thirty-foot crater was blown in the road between Arras and Cambrai just outside of Vis-en-Artois.

Ready to Call "Kamerad."

North of here a group of prisoners said they had it all arranged among themselves to yell "Kamerad" as soon as the Canadians launched their attack against them. They carried out their plan.

Near Vis-en-Artois this morning, when an attack was launched, a host of Germans suddenly got up out of the ground and ran like so many rabbits, leaving only a few machine gunners behind them.

It is impossible as yet to obtain any accurate figures regarding prisoners. One corps is reported to have taken 2,000 since yesterday. But the armies do not have time to count their prisoners or booty while the fighting continues. The British are principally occupied with capturing more. And the counting can be done later.

ONTARIO MUNICIPAL ASSOCIATION MEETS FOR TWENTIETH TIME

Law Barring Councillors From Sitting on Civic Boards Condemned.

TORONTO, Aug. 28.—Hope for an early Allied victory, a suggestion that the law respecting council representation on boards be amended, the suggestion of legislation to enable municipalities to adopt business principles, advice to municipalities to have regard to strict economy during the war, to co-operate with the Government in fire prevention work, and to do all in their power to assist in food production, were features of the address of the president, H. Kent, city clerk of Hamilton, at the first session of the twentieth meeting of the Ontario Municipal Association, which opened in the council chamber at the city hall today.

President Kent drew attention to the clause in the municipal act passed by the Legislature under which members of a council are debarred from becoming members of any board or commission appointed by the council.

"It is needless to say," said Mr. Kent, "that this assumption had no previous knowledge of this legislation or it would have been strenuously opposed." Representation of this kind was desirable to keep such boards under control of the council which was responsible to the people, he said.

Women Delegates.

An interesting feature of the convention was the presence of two women delegates who took a keen interest in the proceedings. Miss Mary Grant, who has the distinction of being the only person in Ontario to hold the dual position of clerk and treasurer, was present from London Township, and in the debate on resolutions took part on several occasions, displaying a comprehensive grasp of municipal law. Miss Martha Dickenson, assistant clerk of the city of Windsor, occupied a seat alongside Miss Grant and followed the proceedings closely.

Pay-As-You-Go Policy.

D. A. Graham of Middlesex, at the open meeting this afternoon, brought in a resolution which was referred to the committee on resolutions, to the effect that in view of the general prosperity of the country, especially those centres where munitions were manufactured, the Government loan seemed unnecessary and a pay-as-you-go policy might be more fitting at the present time, especially as many of the men now at the front would be called upon to bear the burden of the loan.

A London delegate, in bringing up a resolution advocating an amendment to the assessment act to abolish exemptions of crown lands and church properties, said that a ballot had been taken on the matter in London and the vote favored the abolition of exemptions, 5,000 votes to 2,000.

WESTERN MILLS SOON TO RESUME GRINDING

FINED AT SARNIA.

GODERICH, Aug. 28.—Two Goderich residents took a motor trip to Sarnia a couple of days ago, and were having a fine time taking in the sights in the city when they were held up by an officer who asked for their papers. They were unable to produce them, hence paid a $2 fine and costs.

TOILING MINER IS RAISED TO RANK OF BRIGADIER-GENERAL

Godfrey Jones, Welshman, Has Remarkable Career.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—Godfrey Jones, a Welsh mine foreman, who enlisted early in the war as a private, and who yesterday was nominated to be a brigadier-general, was once considered by the mine officials with whom he was connected for years, as lacking the ability to lead men.

According to the Daily Mail, Jones, who is 36 years old, attended night school as a boy, and finally obtained his diploma. He was appointed foreman in a mine, but did not make good, and was reduced to the ranks of a digger. Given another chance he succeeded.

Shortly after the war broke out Jones joined the Cardiff "Pals" Battalion of the South Wales Borderers. He speedily was made corporal, and rapidly rose to the rank of sergeant-major. Later he received a commission. Jones went to France in the autumn of 1915, and soon afterwards was transferred to Saloniki, where he won the Distinguished Service Order and promotion to lieutenant-colonel. Three weeks ago he obtained leave to go home and marry a warship worker. The directors of the mining company with which he was formerly employed have decided to create a special position for him on his return to civil life.

MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR FRED P. BRANTON

DELAWARE, Aug. 28.—A public memorial service in memory of Fred P. Branton was held in the Methodist Church on Sunday afternoon and was largely attended. Rev. J. R. Peters, B.A., conducted the service and preached a most impressive sermon. Appropriate hymns were sung and the church was decorated with white flowers.

The township council meets on Tuesday morning next, September 3.

In Old Age

Health and comfort in old age depends largely on keeping the liver and kidneys in healthful action.

Pains and aches, stiffness of the joints, lumbago and rheumatism tell of poisons left in the blood by sluggishness of the liver and kidneys.

People in advanced years hold Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in high esteem because of the promptness and certainty with which they awaken the action of kidneys, liver and bowels.

CANADIAN CASUALTIES LIGHT AT BATTLE OF ARRAS ON WEDNESDAY

Gain Neuville Vitasse With Practiclaly No Loss.

HUNS' "PEP" DEPARTED

Successive Blows From Allied Forces Show in Enemy's Lost Morale.

WITH THE CANADIAN FORCE, Aug. 28.—Our casualties during the day of the battle of Arras were light, being less than the total number of our prisoners. This was specially so on our right, where the chief obstacle was overcome by a turning movement. Neuville Vitasse thus falling into our hands with practically no loss. On our left the valley of the Scarpe and the formidable position of Monchy-le-Preux took a heavier toll. Casualties on the opening day were light, precisely because the whole was a complete surprise. Captured German documents indicate that an attack in this sector might be anticipated, and we follow the usual warnings to commanders for vigilance and tenacity.

Enemy Has Lost "Pep."

But the enemy has lost his keenness by successive blows. His intelligence service, for the moment at least, seems to have broken down. It is likewise impossible to animate tired troops and thinned ranks with the spirit of die in the last ditch, while on the other hand, every veteran of the Canadian force is possessed with the idea of its invincibility and glows with pride when he sees the beloved force is honored by being employed as picked shock troops, and thus, as he goes over the top, he is certain beforehand of success, because he knows that the enemy cannot any longer put into the field units capable of resisting him. He pities even the stripling prisoners, untimely drawn from their gymnasiums. With sure feet he goes from victory to victory. All this makes for light casualties. Thereafter the enemy's resistance stiffens. He gathers his reserves and concentrates his artillery, though to do so he must expose himself on another part of crumbling front.

True Soldier Spirit.

Casualties among stretcher parties evacuating the wounded from our centre and right yesterday were disproportionately heavy, because the enemy was able to bring to bear a heavier fire over the captured ground from his artillery position north of the Scarpe. The Canadian ambulances carried on with complete disregard to their own losses. The true soldier spirit animates these alleged non-combatant services.

Taking the Army Service Corps. The modern army rights on petrol, which means thousands and thousands of lorries to bring up ammunition, rations and all the needs of the fighting line and to man each, a driver and a spare man to carry on if the driver becomes a casualty. It is not easy getting around a muddy battlefield. The too-conspicuous motor car is taboo, but the lorries are everywhere. The fare is nothing and the transfer privilege unlimited.

Lorry Driver Has Nerve.

Stealing rides on one particular lorry were several men going eagerly forward to fill gaps in the ranks. Suddenly a shell burst to the left and another to the right. The Tommies tumbled off the lorry. The driver looked behind at them trudging along in the mud.

"This here lorry is loaded with ammunition and when the shells begin to fall those blokes got off in a hurry," he explained a trifle bitterly. "Maybe that lot was married men and if their number was up they wanted the missus to get a bit more of them than a trouser button, which is about all they'd have to show if this old hooker went up."

Here is an incident illustrating the spirit of the Canadian forces. When they came into this debatable sector, instead of issuing orders for the evacuation of the civilian population, the Canadian force issued orders for the disposition of the civilian population in the territories about to be recaptured.

PINNED UNDER CAR, WOMAN IS DROWNED NEAR MOUNT FOREST

Mrs. G. Bender of Listowel Dies When Car Drops 100 Feet.

MOUNT FOREST, Aug. 28.—Mrs. G. Bender, of Listowel, is dead as a result of a peculiar motor accident on the town line between Arthur and Minto Townships tonight. The car, driven by Mrs. Peter Livingstone, of Listowel, backed down a steep embankment into a creek and pinned Mrs. Bender under it until she was drowned.

The two women were motoring to Mount Forest to visit friends, and when about three miles from this town encountered a steep grade. As they neared the top the car stalled. Mrs. Livingstone applied the brakes, but it was of no avail. The car had backed down the hill when Mrs. Livingstone turned the car into a fence, thinking it would stop it.

It crashed through the fence, went over an 100-foot embankment and falling into a creek, turned turtle. Mrs. Livingstone managed to crawl out from under the car, but Mrs. Bender was caught and was lying in a few feet of water.

James Irwin, a farmer who lives close by, saw the accident and ran to the assistance of the women, but when he got there Mrs. Bender was drowned. Mrs. Livingstone escaped with slight injuries.

Coroner Dr. Jarvis of Mount Forest was called and decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

Mrs. Bender is a widow, and was 22 years of age. Her husband died only about two months ago.

MEXICANS RESUME FIRING OVER LINE AT THE AMERICANS

Presentation of Official Regrets Looks Like a Farce.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—General Alias Calles, military governor of Sonora, arrived at Nogales this afternoon to present profound regrets of the Mexican Government for the clash Tuesday between Mexican and American troops in the border town. It was expected this incident would close the matter, but firing was resumed about 9:55 o'clock tonight. Between fifteen and twenty shots were fired from the Mexican side of the border.

A general alarm was sounded on the Arizona side of the international line and the mobilization of troops and civilians followed immediately. American forces here were increased this afternoon by the arrival of new units.

ACTING MINISTER OF MILITIA AND OTHERS IGNORE COURT CALL

Commandant at Valcartier Guilty of Contempt?

COL. MACHIN IS PRIMED

Ottawa Instructs Him Not To Disclose Numbers Drafted Under M. S. A.

QUEBEC, Aug. 28.—Col. Machin, director of military service, testified here today in the practice court in the pending proceedings in connection with the habeas corpus writs issued on behalf of a number of draftees. He stated that yesterday, just as he was leaving for Quebec, he received instructions from the minister of justice at Ottawa, to make no statement whatever as to the number of draftees obtained through the M. S. A.

He stated, however, that the 100,000 men authorized by the military service act have not so far been enlisted. He said that to date the number of draftees enlisted under the M. S. A. is 42,596. He was asked if the 100,000 would now be enlisted if the number of men on leave, absentees and deserters were taken in, and he said "No."

Justice Brouin, presiding, asked Col. Machin if the deserters were included in the number of men called under the act, and if they would have given the required 100,000 men. Co. Machin answered that he believed not.

When the court opened its sitting today, the non-appearance of the acting-minister of militia was officially recorded as was also that of Major Ashton, adjutant-general at Ottawa. Col. Rogers, commanding officer at Valcartier, who has been repeatedly summoned to court failed to appear to answer a writ. His case will come before the court Thursday, to establish whether or not he is guilty of contempt of court. The case is proceeding.

MERCHANTS SIGH; HALF-HOLIDAYS END

INGERSOLL, Aug. 28.—The weekly half-holiday season was brought to a close this afternoon. Among merchants and employees disappointment was general because inclement weather prevailed. Many had made arrangements for outings of more than usual interest and all plans were shattered by the rain.

Gratifying progress is being made with the formation of the citizen's band. Already twenty-seven musicians have been listed and plans are being made to begin practice at an early date. R. B. Jones, for several years cornet soloist with the Galt Kiltie band, has come here and will be leader of the band. In connection with the band movement the Galt Kiltie band will give a concert here on Wednesday evening, September 18.

FIRE DEVOURS GOODS WORTH $35,000 IN OWEN SOUND STORE

Damage to Building Is $2,500 —Cause Unknown.

OWEN SOUND, Aug. 28.—A disastrous fire occurred in the William T. Lee drygoods store here early this morning. The cause of the fire is entirely unknown. It broke out about 2 o'clock in the ready-to-wear department, and the store was in a mass of flames when the firemen arrived.

After three hours' work the fire was extinguished with the estimated damage of $35,000 to the stock and $2,500 to the building, partly covered by insurance. The store is one of the largest, carrying a stock valued at $67,000, and is situated in the main business section. Charles Lee, the vice-president of the firm, has been serving in France for a year and a half.

4,000 PRISONERS FOR CANADIANS IN TWO DAYS

WITH THE BRITISH FORCES IN FRANCE, Aug. 28.—British troops today completed the capture of Trones Wood, north of the River Somme.

Canadian troops in their advance astride the Scarpe yesterday captured more than 2,000 Germans. In the previous day they also captured 2,000.

What You Can Do For "Black Eyes" as First Aid and Cure

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG.
A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins University.)

DR. HIRSHBERG

A black eye is only one form of contusion or bruise. Contusions usually result from a blow by blunt instruments or by compression between two heavy objects. The discoloration of the skin which follows is caused by the number of tiny vessels underneath the skin, which break, but do not disrupt the skin. The scarlet fluid of the mechanism is released from these vessels and rushes to the larger tissues near the skin surface, causing the commonly known "black and blue."

The area which suffers from a contusion is, as a rule, swollen and tender. At first the discoloration is red, then blue or black, and finally yellow or green. The pain which accompanies a contusion is dull or aching, and usually is only temporary. If the blow is a heavy one and the contusion which results is severe, there may result a break in one of the large blood vessels, and an internal hemorrhage or collection of blood in the tissues, known as hematoma, may come about. In such instances the bruised area is liable to become infected through the skin, and unless proper precautions are taken an abscess may be the ultimate outcome.

Contusions about the eyes are commonly more severe and more painful than elsewhere on the bodily surface, partly because the blow is apt to be greater, and partly because the area about the eyes is very delicate.

The First Steps.

"Black eyes" seem to be more common than various other kinds of bruises, because that bodily area is very unprotected. Much care and presence of mind is required, for example, when things are sought in dark cellars or cupboards. Heavy suspended articles or shelves become a nuisance at times, especially when you are in a hurry to complete your search there.

As a result of a blow your eyes often show an alarming condition, and the actual pain, with the imagination of additional troubles, weakens your entire bodily mechanism for the time being. The shock which often accompanies such severe blows may at times prove to be a greater menace than the blow itself, because of the tax it lays upon the tiny nerve fibres throughout the mechanism.

The best treatment for a black eye is an antiseptic wash of the contused area as a precaution against possible infection. A gentle but thorough wash with soap and water should precede the application of an antiseptic solution. Which should contain a 7½-grain tablet of bichloride of mercury to a point of boiled water. If there are any cuts or breaks in the skin, keep them covered with a piece of clean gauze, immersed in the solution.

In order to relieve the pain in the local area and reduce the swelling, make applications of cold in the early stages of the bruise. These may take the form of cold cloths, an ice bag or an ice cap. If the contusion is very severe, however, and if it happens to be an old person who is the sufferer, do not make cold applications. In this instance warm applications will prove more beneficial, because of the small vitality left in the tissue.

Reducing the Inflammation.

A moderate amount of pressure should accompany either cold or warm applications. This will prevent a further escape of the scarlet fluid and will assist in the absorption into the general supply of that already present around the tissues in the regions of the skin surface.

The contused parts should, moreover, be elevated whenever possible. Elevation prevents the escape of more of the circulative fluid into the tissues, and is likely to prevent further damage to the contused area, and, moreover, additional pain produced by unnecessary bodily movements. If the extremities are affected, slings or splints in addition to the bandage to take the place of the elevation are effective.

If the inflammation has not entirely disappeared, the use of such astringent solutions as lead water and laudanum, aluminum acetate, diluted alcohol and diluted vinegar will be found useful.

When all inflammation has finally gone down, it is well gently to massage the areas in order that the effused scarlet stream may more rapidly become reabsorbed and the function of the area properly restored.

Answers to Health Questions

A. W.: Q.—I have had an operation for the turbinate of my nose, which didn't seem to help me any. What shall I do?

A.—You must have an examination made by a specialist. Irrigate the nose and throat with alkaline antiseptic solution.

B. B.: Q.—What can I use after shaving?

A.—Almost any toilet preparation at a drug store is good to use after shaving.

MRS. M. K.: Q.—My skin breaks out in white, dry pimples. What shall I do for them?

Sulphur loti	2½ drams
Balsam tolu	½ dram
Camphor	½ dram
Green soap	1 dram
Lanolin	½ ounce
Vaseline	½ ounce

MRS. J. F. M.: Q.—Please tell me what I can do for a goitre.

A.—There are various kinds of goitre; some require no treatment, but most of them require an operation, which is the only cure. They are seldom inherited, and their causes not known.

Dr. Hirshberg will answer questions for readers of this paper on medical, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. He cannot always undertake to prescribe or offer advice for individual cases. Where the subject is not of general interest letters will be answered personally, if a stamped and addressed envelope is inclosed. Address all inquiries to Dr. L. K. Hirshberg, in care of this office.

STOMACH TROUBLES ARE DUE TO ACIDITY

Tells Safe, Certain, Speedy Relief For Acid Indigestion.

So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, gas, sourness, stomachache and inability to retain food, are in probably nine cases out of ten simply evidence that excessive secretion of acid is taking place in the stomach, causing the formation of gas and acid indigestion.

Gas distends the stomach and causes that full, oppressive burning feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the excessive development or secretion of acid.

To stop or prevent this souring of the food contents of the stomach and to neutralize the acid, and make it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of bisurated magnesia, a good and effective corrector of acid stomach, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water after eating, or whenever gas, sourness or acidity is felt. This sweetens the stomach and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments, and is a perfectly harmless and inexpensive remedy to use.

An antacid, such as bisurated magnesia, which can be obtained from any druggist in either powder or tablet form, enables the stomach to do its work properly without the aid of artificial digestants. Magnesia comes in several forms, so be certain to ask for and take only Bisurated Magnesia, which is especially prepared for the above purpose.—Advt.

BEAUTIFUL HAIR, THICK, WAVY, FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Draw a moist cloth through hair and double its beauty at once.

Save your hair! Dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

Immediate?—Yes! Certain?—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after an application of Danderine. Also try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few week's use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

You can surely have pretty, charming, lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will spend a few cents for a bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed.

WHAT THE WAVES ARE SAYING :: By Juanita Hamel

The roar of the waves as they break on the shore—the soft wash of the spent waters as they sweep back to the sea—in these are the sounds of many voices which the ages have interpreted and ever will interpret according to the imaginings of each listener. But infinite as are the possibilities of understanding, when TWO are together—the two out of all the wide world—there can be but ONE thing the waves declare. And if one looks closely at the joyous romping crest of the wave which shouts the loudest, there will be seen "the voice of the waters"—the sweet singer of land and sea—as he whispers "I—love—YOU!" and the spray drops and the sands echo the wondrous refrain.

DIARY OF A FASHION MODEL

BY GRACE THORNCLIFFE.

She Learns the Ways Dotted Fabrics May Be Deftly Used To Camouflage the Figure.

Early in the spring many of the costumes showed the wonderful possibilities of the dotted fabric for camouflage work. With the aid of a few yards of dotted foulard, combined with plain fabrics, Madame was able to make the stout appear thin and the thin wax plump and round in appearance.

The dotted fabric is too useful a tool to eliminate, and so we are using dotted black and white velvets in developing the early fall models. Dotted fabrics, like flowered ones, usually give breadth to the figure as they emphasize the horizontal lines in contrast to vertical stripes, which emphasize the height.

If, therefore, Miss Altogether-Too-Slender wishes to appear rounder than nature made her, Madame simply gives her a frock completely made of the dotted fabric.

However, few normal women are altogether thin, and we find, as a rule, that the girl with slender shoulders has large hips or vice versa. The clever use of dotted fabrics in combination with plain materials makes it possible to pad out thin spots, and to flatten overly-plump features as easily as the camouflaeur works with paint and brush.

In the costume illustrated here, for example, the combination was used to give fullness and roundness to the bodice, and to flatten the line of the hips to fashionable proportions. This was done, as you see, by making the blouse, including the sleeves, of the dotted fabric, so that the bodice is quite full. The panel of dotted material in front is simply an insert, so that the hips are of the plain material and thereby apparently reduced in contrast. The flatness of hip which was so ardently desired for this costume is further emphasized by the long, pleated, pointed sash in the back.

This is an afternoon gown of black charmeuse. The bodice and sleeves are of black and white dotted velvet, cut low at the neck. This black and white velvet also is continued below the line of the belt, and is joined at the hipline by two small cords inserted in the black charmeuse.

The neck is finished with a black charmeuse tie that falls over the shoulders and ends with a fringe of black chenille. Very unusual is the collar, which can be worn either open or closed. It is of black charmeuse with a collar of fine white handkerchief linen. Worn open, it gives additional breadth to the neck and shoulders, and is more informal.

Depending from the line of the belt is a long sash. Although wide, it is folded in several flat pleats, and, therefore, flattens the line of the hips. Its length, extending to below the knees at the point gives a graceful, tall line to the figure.

An additional decorative touch is given to the skirt by the single pocket of black charmeuse. The pocket itself is inserted into the skirt, but it is outlined by narrow black cords and black charmeuse-covered buttons with loops to match.

This costume is unusual in design, is very distinctive, and can be worn at almost any function. Many of the present day frocks have to serve several purposes, as their wearers rush about busily from one work engagements to social functions without time for change to a frock that is distinctly made for the hour or occasion. This rather elaborate frock is suitable for work, street or formal afternoon wear, and so solves this problem also.

Afternoon Frock of Black Charmeuse With Waist of Dotted Velvet.

To-morrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

FRIDAY, AUGUST 30.

A day of sudden changes and probably journeys or removals is promised by the astrological testimonies. There will be unusual occurrences, unconventional in nature, possibly culminating in radical changes, which while eventually fortunate will be attended by small annoyances that may tend to ruffle the temper and lead to hasty words and actions. Particularly in the domestic circle should these be avoided. There should also be a certain precaution used in all dealings lest some duplicity arise which, however, will not be as dangerous as disheartening. Discretion should be exercised in all transactions, commercial, financial and otherwise.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of sudden change or travelling. They should avoid disputes. A child born on this day will be clever, original, inventive, unconventional and careless.

Illustration of the tremendous rise in the price of ships is found in the recent experience of a Swedish shipowner. He was offered a certain vessel for $105,000, it is said, and, on investigation, learned that it was the same craft that he had sold in March, 1914, for $7,200, approximately.

ADELE GARRISON'S NEW

REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

Why Did Lillian Keep Madge For Her Talk With Jack?

Lillian didn't have to wait long to administer the "tongue lashing" to Jack Bickett, which she had so vehemently promised in her loyal championship of Katherine.

On the morning of the second day after we had followed old Mrs. Morton to her last resting place, Lillian and I were sitting in the big, white and crimson living-room, the coolest room in the house, quietly knitting, Katherine hadn't yet come down, for Lillian, with imperious kindness, had commanded her to stay in bed and herself had carried a breakfast tray to her.

We both started perceptibly when the doorbell rang, sure proof that we were both nervous, for the peal of a bell was a common thing in the Underwood home. "By the pricking of my thumbs!" quoted Lillian, laying down her knitting expectantly, and then as we heard Betty's voice in the hall, evidently ushering in someone familiar with the house — for Betty was under orders to admit no one except a few intimates, unless Lillian were first summoned to the door—she stood up impatiently.

"My prophetic soul!" she murmured to me as we both heard and recognized Jack Bickett's deep tones. "I had a hunch that lad would come today."

I rose hastily, calculating my chances of getting out of the room before Jack should enter it. I had no desire to share in the scene Lillian was evidently bent upon staging.

But Lillian willed otherwise. As she passed me, she put me back in my chair with a dexterous turn of her arm.

To Anger Jack?

"Don't you dare go away," she whispered, and the next moment she was greeting Jack cordially enough at Betty's announcement.

"We've been trying to get hold of you for days," she said as they came down the room towards me. "When poor Mrs. Morton died we needed a man to see to things, and I tried to get hold of you, but you weren't at your apartment."

If the subject of Lillian's conversation had been other than what it was I would have laughed outright at the idea of her needing a man to attend to anything in the world. I think Jack had the same thought, for he offered no explanation or regret at being away, only replied in a shocked tone:

"Mrs. Morton dead? I am sorry, indeed, to hear it, deeply shocked!"

Lillian looked at him quizzically.

"It isn't necessary to do the conventional trick with me," she said, in her most irritating manner. "You know you're neither sorry nor shocked. You never saw Mrs. Morton, and her death only means to you a release for Katherine. But we're going to thrash that out, you and I."

If by her unusual rudeness Lillian meant to anger Jack and disturb his poise, she didn't succeed, at least as far as his outward appearance went. He bowed to her gravely.

What Detains Dicky?

"I'm at your service at any time," he said. Then he turned to me.

"How do you do, Margaret?" I thought I detected an unwonted tremor in my brother-cousin's voice, and when he bent and kissed me—something he rarely did—I realized that for some reason he was deeply moved beneath his calm exterior.

"Very well, indeed, thank you, Jack," I returned, looking at him anxiously. "And you?"

"Mighty fit," he answered laconically. "And how is old Dick? Katherine said he was at an aviation camp. How is he making it? Does he like flying?"

The old feeling of humiliation swept over me. I felt a savage distaste for the words of explanation I must utter. The feeling made my voice frigid.

"Katherine was mistaken," I said "Dicky isn't flying. He's making illustrations for a new aviation serial for one of the magazines."

"Oh!" Jack said lamely, evidently comprehending my embarrassment. There was something else in his tone, also, something which I saw reflected in Lillian's eyes, when I involuntarily glanced at her, without knowing why I did so.

The next instant Lillian had swept from her face an deyes every vestige of expression. But I couldn't forget what had surprised in her eyes. It was a look of troubled comprehension, and all at once I realized what I should have known before, that no magazine commission would keep Dicky so long. There must be some other—perhaps less creditable—reason for his absence than the one he had given me.

I had no time for thought upon the subject, however, for Jack's next words gave Lillian the opportunity she desired.

"Is Katherine in?" Jack asked. "I would like to see her if she is."

Practical Suggestions on Individual Ways to Help Win the War.

BY ALBERT BARRETT SAYRES.

Writing Your Soldier Relative.

As happens in all too many large families which are separated by distance, it sometimes occurs in the families from which our soldiers and sailors come, that they may not have heard from some of their relatives—previous to enlistment—for months or even years. But now that a brother or a cousin or a nephew is serving his country it certainly would be a heartening and happy thing for him to hear from every one of the family. Why not see to it that he does receive a letter or some remembrance frequently?

Of course the "home folks"—mother, father and the brothers and the sisters, in the home circle—write regularly. It is of those from whom he hasn't heard in a long time who might at some moment bring to him great cheer.

A good plan is for the entire family, those at home and those living apart, to arrange to write on different days. In this way there is certain to be much of interest that will be remembered by one that might have been forgotten by another, and every one thus demonstrates that the entire family is solidly behind its representative "over there."

Keeping Your Refrigerator "Right."

Your good health, the welfare of your family, economy in ice and postponing the cost of a new refrigerator demand that your refrigerator be kept in the very best condition. Particularly is this true during these months when everyone depends so much upon the refrigerator.

Are the wooden parts of your refrigerator in perfect condition, without gaping seams or leaks that annoy? If they aren't, perhaps you, yourself, can quickly and easily make the necessary repairs. If not, send for the repair man of the company from which you bought your refrigerator. He will in the long run save you money.

Saving on Ice.

If the zinc lining or the porcelain lining is broken or chipped it may be necessary to reline the refrigerator or to repair it with special cement. Be sure that the ice chamber doesn't leak, for it is not only a source of a waste of ice—by letting in the warm outside air—but is dangerous when the packing is continually saturated, and a fine place for the growing of germs.

Clean your refrigerator thoroughly at least every five days. Scrub out the ice chamber and scald all the shelves of ice chamber and food compartments. Scald the drain pipe with water and soda.

Keep the ice chamber well filled with ice—it is cheaper in the long run. And when you put food away see that it doesn't spill on the shelves, for ants and germs must be kept from the refrigerator, in which centres so much of the family welfare in these warm months.

Good Night Stories

GREY PARROT'S DECISION.

David sat watching his pet grey parrot preening his long, red tail.

"I wonder if he ever grows tired of that cage?" mused David.

"Open my door and I'll soon show you!" exclaimed Grey Parrot.

"What!" laughed a merry voice, and Happy Giggles, the Elfin from Makebelieve Land, hopped over the porch rail. "You really want to go to your old home?"

"Oh, please let him!" cried David. "And take us with him."

"All right!" laughed Happy Giggles. He blew on his magic feather and the cage door sprung open.

David and Happy Giggles climbed upon Grey Parrot's back and away they flew over mountains and seas until they came to a great dark forest.

Hundreds of Grey Parrots just like David's pet, crowded around them chatting wildly.

Grey Parrot tried to introduce David to his friends, but the wild birds couldn't understand his language and wanted to drive him away. Then Happy Giggles came to the rescue and straightened things out with his magic.

"He's one of you," laughed Happy Giggles merrily. "When he was very young he was taken to Canada, where he was taught the language of Man, instead of Birds, that's the reason you can't understand each other."

"What did you come back here for?" asked Chief Parrot. "Didn't you have a nice home?"

"Certainly!" exclaimed David. "I always feed him and give him water every day."

"And any time I saw something I happened to want I just called until David got it for me," laughed Grey Parrot.

"And you wasn't content!" exclaimed Chief Parrot. "Ungrateful bird, not to appreciate a home where you didn't have to hunt for your food or go to bed with an empty stomach, as we wild birds have to, sometimes!"

"Why, isn't there plenty to eat around here?" asked Grey Parrot.

"Surely there's plenty," replied Chief Parrot. "If the monkeys don't come along and chase you away."

"Well, Grey Parrot can't complain about the way he's treated and fed and protected," laughed Happy Giggles. "David is very good to him."

"Then, take my advice and return to your cage," said Chief Parrot. "It's far better than to run the risks we have to run every day."

"Guess you're right," laughed Grey Parrot. "I'd better go back."

So bidding his old friends good-bye, Grey Parrot flew back to his cage with Happy Giggles and David on his back.

"David!" called his mamma, "you've left the cage door open." David opened his eyes.

It had all been a lovely dream.

He looked up at Grey Parrot's cage, and sure enough the door was standing open, but—Gray Parrot was nodding in the sunshine and paying no attention to the open door.

"It's a wonder he didn't fly away," laughed mamma.

"He'll never fly away from me," laughed David, closing the cage door.

"Will you, Red Tail?"

"Not much!" screamed Grey Parrot, as he munched some berries David handed him. Mamma and David laughed, but David knew why.

A pamphlet has recently been issued to local authorities by the British National Salvage Council, offering many suggestions on the collection and utilization of waste and dormant materials. Among other things it states that organic refuse is needed for the extraction of glycerine and for feeding pigs. Grease traps to save the grease from dishwashing at hotels, etc., are suggested. All available bone material should be saved; at present only about half such available material is recovered. Fish waste should have the oil extracted and a meat food suitable for feeding animals and poultry made from the residue. At Liverpool a plant has been installed for this purpose, and the fats obtained find a ready sale at $389.32 per ton, while the meal is retailed at about $102.20 per ton.

Incidents in the Lives of World-Famous Women

By ELOISE FARRINGTON

Arria was the wife of Caecina Paetus, the Stoic, and even in that age of extreme high courage she was renowned for her heroism and self-control. Nothing daunted her spirit, and in spite of the greatest misfortunes she carried always a cheerful mien and encouraged all who came near her.

It happened that her husband fell ill, and while she was nursing him their only son fell prey to a similar attack. Both parents were devoted to this boy, and anguish over his son's malady protracted Paetus' illness, so that instead of recovering he grew worse.

Arria spent all her energy caring for her two dear ones, but in spite of all she could do the boy died. She alone made all the preparations for his funeral, and so well did she manage that she succeeded in concealing from her husband the fact that the boy had passed on. Each day he would inquire concerning his son. Dry-eyed and cheerful, Arria would report that the boy was getting on nicely; he had slept very well; he ate heartily, and would soon be altogether well again. When she could no longer control her grief she went to her own chamber and wept silently, but throughout the long ordeal of her husband's illness she supported his spirits by her cheerfulness and her sacrifice.

But the worst was yet to come. Soon after Paetus recovered he had the misfortune to offend the Emperor Claudius. In those days a certain refinement attended the punishment inflicted on political criminals. Instead of the emperor ordering the execution of the culprit by the common hangman, he was graciously allowed to kill himself. The custom persists in some of the oriental countries today.

When Paetus brought the news of the emperor's command to his wife it seemed that life could hold no more grief for her. Her son dead, her husband commanded to kill himself, she had indeed ample cause to forsake her lifelong fortitude and indulge herself in grief. But did this brave Stoic give way to cries and lamentations as even a highly courageous woman would be justified in doing under the circumstances?

Her philosophy was stronger than any pain or personal grief that could come to her. She did not even attempt to comfort her husband with words of gentleness, for that might have weakened his spirit. Paetus, indeed, was heartbroken. He knew that the command of the emperor was unchangeable, and yet he faltered.

Arria said nothing. She picked up a dagger calmly, plunged it into her breast. Then she drew it out again and offered the deadly weapon to her husband with the immortal comment: "Paetus, it does not pain."

Whereupon Paetus followed his wife's courageous example, and thus they both perished together.

For to the Stoic woman physical hurt was not pain. Reared in the rigid Stoic philosophy, bodily pain meant nothing. There was only one possible pain—the contempt of others for the cowardly act, the giving way before fear, the cry of anguish.

No More Grief For Her.

Writes About "Over-Protestations.

Copyright, 1918, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Winifred Black

A man who is really patriotic generally wears his patriotism as he wears his clothes, thinking little about them," said a wise man the other day, in a speech of fervent patriotism.

If made me think, Cleo, of your letter in which you asked me what I think of people who are always protesting that they are telling the truth, or that they are honest.

"My best friend, Kate," you write, "keeps saying all the time, 'It is the truth I am telling you,' and 'Believe me or not, I am telling you just what is true,' and it gets on my nerves."

I don't wonder, Cleo, that it gets on your nerves. That habit of speech gets on my nerves, too, and mainly, I believe, because people who are always declaring that they are speaking the truth are not, usually, so very honest. If they were, they wouldn't need to say so much about it.

In the world of affairs, the real world of work and achievement, the braggart is put in his own place with prompt dispatch. Girls and boys may as well learn that at the start. Of course, there are grown-ups who still preface everything they say with, "Believe me," and "I am telling the truth," but they are either of an inferior grade of intelligence or, what is quite likely, they are clever enough and honest, but have fallen into a habit of speech which is an injustice to their real standing.

Truth Needs No Advertising.

We all know how every catchy phrase is taken up, and how overworked certain words and phrases are.

Variety in speech is welcome. We all get tired of the common vocabulary, so tired that we take up some new expression and then proceed to use it until all the meaning is taken out of it.

Over-protestation is a signal. Look out for what comes after the emphatic declaration that "now you are going to hear the truth." What do you think of the person who finds it necessary to solemnly assure you, very often, that he has never stolen anything—that the family silver is perfectly safe in his presence? Why, you would at once lock up the spoons and put your jewelry in a safe while such a man was in your house.

There are some things which must, as the old phrase has it, "go without saying."

Truth, like honesty, has a stability—a reality, which needs no advertising.

"Good wine needs no bush," said the old proverb, showing that there were cheats and braggarts in the old times when the wise saws were in the making. The green bush, hung out at the tavern door, deceived no one who could judge the quality of the wine more than once.

Words, after all, do count, for or against the speaker. While they are only words—and actions really show, at last, the real individual—the spoken word shows much to whoever gives attention with an open mind.

Protestations Cause Doubt.

The egotist is often a good fellow, but if he is a braggart he will have a hard time making his new acquaintances believe it. All of his talk is slighted and his self-opinion laughed at.

The truth is not always easy to believe, even when told in a straightforward manner. But when our ears are assailed with vehement protestations that what we are to be told is the truth, and that the teller is especially truthful, we "ha'e our doubts," we of the world of experience.

SMASHING LUDENDORFF'S NOSE.

GEN. FOCH and his aides have shown the Ludendorff outfit the matter of creating salients is a game that two can play. Foch seems handy at the game. In fact, he seems to like to have his opponent possessed of a salient. Witness how long he has allowed the Germans to retain Bapaume. It has been said frequently in dispatches of late that the Allies could take Bapaume any time they really wanted it. The idea is, apparently, to leave the Germans with a salient, the nose of which makes a great target.

In a couple of days early this month the Allies punched the nose of the Amiens salient for over 10,000 prisoners, hundreds of guns and indefinite thousands of German casualties. With the nose smashed in, till it did not present so good a mark, they battered in the cheeks right and left, till they had projected another German nose for twisting, farther back on the map.

In doing this Foch has been thinking of a salient that he possesses—the Arras salient. The nose of this salient has been broad enough and hard enough to resist smashing; yet, in the process of sinking in the German right cheek Foch is projecting and broadening that nose. He has poked it into the "Hindenburg line." Thus he is ever improving a jumping off place for the moment when he decides to over-run the Douai plains, the great coal fields of France, and outflank Cambrai—the pulse and hub of the whole German system of communications in France.

Likewise the dint he has made in the German left cheek, between the Oise and Aisne and across the Ailette River, is now within a short distance of the southern bend of the German line of March 21.

And he has still left Ludendorff with a salient—a nose that will make another mark.

HON. A. G. McKAY.

IT IS ANNOUNCED that the Hon. A. G. McKay is to be minister of municipalities in the new Government of Alberta. Any announcement regarding the Hon. Mr. McKay will always be read with much interest in Ontario. His able services to this province as leader of the Opposition in the Ontario Legislature will not soon be forgotten. He would have been an outstanding member of the House of Commons had he chosen that house. We hope to see him there. He ranks as an orator with the late Sir Richard Cartwright who was described as "a perfect parliamentary speaker."

We assume that "minister of municipalities" will place in his especial care all legislation sought by any municipality. It could not be in better hands. He will be quite willing to make the laws of all the provinces uniform as far as may be.

There have been many laws passed by the western provinces, that it would be well to change, so as to make them conform to the laws of Ontario. Mr. A. G. McKay possesses the knowledge and ability required to make the laws as nearly perfect as possible, and unless he takes the place at Ottawa intended for him we hope he will long be a member of the Legislature of Alberta.

CANADA ON TO SIBERIA.

CANADIANS go to Siberia to show that the British people stand behind those Russians loyal to the Allied cause. The contingent will be small, but ready to withstand the rigors of climate or any other fate that may befall it in order that the shattered fragments of the old fighting Russian nation may be backed up with moral force and military power.

The officers and men of London and other military districts have shown an immediate desire to be members of this force. It is a new adventure for our men. Yet Canadians will not be found complaining that so cold a country is undesirable. Properly provided with warm clothing, they will go into the task as thousands have gone into our hinterlands. They will be equal to the situation.

Canada has a stake in the movement beyond the direct service of the expedition. Russian trade after the war will ride the waves of the Pacific to the western ports of Canada, and Canadian exports will fill cargo holds on the return journey. When peace has come we shall have established our trade routes because of our readiness to stand by when the need come for help.

THE NEW TECHNICAL SCHOOL.

WHY SPEND SO much money on technical education in London? The question is one which is bound to be asked in connection with the opening of the new Technical school, which will be ready to receive students next week. It is a question which has already been asked many times here. Ratepayers want to know, and they have a right to know, if value is being received for the amount which is being paid in taxes.

Almost before it was well under way in this city, technical, or "industrial" education, as it was then called, had outgrown its first quarters in the Alexandra School. The new Technical School is the answer to the demand of girls and boys, men and women, to learn to use their hands intelligently. It is the answer to the demands of scores of young people for guidance in choosing a vocation in life; the answer to the demand of men and women workers for opportunity to improve their technique and perfect themselves in knowledge of the manipulation of their tools. Time and materials at the present time have a value hitherto unknown in the history of civilization. The times demand that neither of these precious commodities shall be wasted or dissipated. The interests of patriotism and world welfare are served by accuracy in fashioning a garment, preparing a meal, mending broken furniture, replacing a door-knob, as well as by making surgical dressings, munitions and castings, and building motor ambulances. Expertness is required for the avocations as well as the vocations in life, hence the demand for technical training on the part of those who have no idea of using it, excepting in the non-professional class.

To meet the needs of a rapidly-increasing community in London and district, London's new Technical School throws open its doors next week, conscious that provision has been made for extension to cope with demands for technical education for years to come.

The objection has been made to technical education that it is not cultural; that it tends to develop along a certain line, and narrow the interests to a groove before a sufficiently broad knowledge of the things contained in books is acquired to supply a foundation on which to build up life work. Protest has been carried to the point of assertion that technical education has a tendency to develop "efficient machines" instead of intelligent men and women.

Associated with education along technical lines, as it will be presented in the new Technical School, is provision for a thorough high school course. Each floor of the three in the new building has two large classrooms for academic work, in which boys and girls will receive a thorough high school education along with training in woodworking, machine-shop activities, automobile making, printing, draughting, or the various phases of household science.

Nine-tenths of the self-supporting citizenship of London and of this country are earning their bread and the bread of others by the use of their hands. Technical education teaches to think in the terms of the use of the hands. The ability to master one's job bespeaks self-respect and points the way to higher effort.

The champion of "higher culture" who decries the education which trains to earn an honest living as low in aim overlooks the fact that money honestly earned by honest work, otherwise capable work, of whatever nature, has a reactionary effect upon character. Honest citizenship, developed through the ability to do honest work, is the reliable citizenship with which to build up a strong, self-reliant and just nation.

In connection with the hackneyed plea for technical education that talents differ and that all people are not adapted to assimilate the same kind of education, every honest educator knows that there are types of intellect to which appeal first must be made through the use of the hands. The only possibility of awakening desire for worthy achievement is through training mind, heart and hands together. With the ability to conquer difficulties, comes capacity for further achievement, and pride and joy in accomplishment which spell the difference between the artist and the toiler. The inventive instinct that sees possibilities of improvement upon the work in hand, or suggests further work of creation, is quickened, and the soul of the craftsman or craftswoman awakened.

A SIGN OF THE SEASON.

A NUMBER of Western Ontario correspondents of The Advertiser have pointed out that in their localities farmers have found it necessary to hold two threshings to get their crops into the barn. They first loaded the cut grain into their lofts, but when it came time to put the wheat in the mows there was not sufficient room, so it became necessary first to thresh the oats and barley and then to bring in the wheat.

No better sign of the richness of the harvest in Western Ontario has been noted and commented upon. While such cases may be exceptional, there has been an unusual report of the necessity for making room.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Heard of the kaiser being on the west front in the last five weeks? We missed it, too.

Baron Shaughnessy told the people of Toronto that he would like to visit their city oftener. And undoubtedly they believed him.

The imperial munitions board has spent $170,000,000 in Toronto. It is only natural that the Baron de Pork should be good to Hogtown.

Watching a three-ring circus is no strain on the eyesight compared with the optical alacrity required to observe doings on the west front.

Venture to say that the goose-step is not a popular dance on the west front at the present moment. The cops have raided the hall and everyone is "ducking" for the exits.

Mayor Somerville's statement, that the city sewage goes into the river in an unadulterated state, means that the city must make preparations immediately to erect a new sewage plant. The breaking of the Springbank dam will be a costly matter for the city. It was the lowering of the water by the break in the dam that brought to light this pollution of the river and menace to health.

"THE BLUE GODDESS."

By Louise Oliver.

Peggy lay awake all night listening to the rain. Oh, if it would only stop! She had planned so many things for the next day, the day Capt. Pearson was to be in town and had asked her if he could come to see her.

Come to see her! Peggy's heart had fluttered almost to suffocation when she read the few lines on the heavy white paper. Come to see her! She had closed her eyes and pressed the words to her heart in ecstasy. The tall serious officer she had met at the Marston, about whom all the girls had been completely mad, including herself!

Then Peggy had done some officering herself, as Peggy could. Her little hands, which took only a five-and-a-half glove, could make Phil and little Chuckie step around more lively in one minute than father and mother combined could do in a week, and a word from her pretty red lips meant more to Susan in the kitchen than a whole regiment of orders from higher up. Lola, her 12-year-old sister, adored her openly, as did Lola's girl friends, who met after school every day for Peggy to instruct in knitting.

The officering Peggy did, on receipt of Capt. Pearson's letter, consisted of disposing of the family for the day, beginning with Philip and Charles, and had gone on down the line until no one was left but her mother and father and herself. Capt. Pearson was to stay to dinner, and Susan was to achieve the most delectable meal Peggy's busy brain could plan.

In short, the program was to be as follows: Morning, house cleaned up, flowers arranged in bowls everywhere, best linen and silver hunted up, porches cleaned and everything in order.

Afternoon—The boys to go fishing after school and to Aunt Mary's for supper and to stay all night; Lola and the club to go to Mabel Brown's and Lola to stay for dinner and all night, as Mabel had so often coaxed.

Peggy planned to put on her new sport suit of army blue jersey and with her own little car sparkling clean was to take the captain for a ride out to Bowling Rocks to see the view, stop at the club and introduce him to a few friends, then bring him home to a quiet, delicious, candle-lit dinner for four. Peggy in her new pink dress; a whole delightful evening alone on the moonlit veranda (there was a moon, Peggy looked at the calendar a whole week ahead), and then—Peggy never tried to look past that.

But—"The best-laid plans of mice and men gang aft aglee."

It rained, and it rained and rained and rained. The flowers would be ruined, the tulips had been almost ready to drop anyway. The road to Bowling Rocks was impossible now, even with a whole day's sun, and the boys couldn't go fishing. Mother wouldn't let them when it was damp.

After a sleepless night Peggy was up at 6. To her surprise, her mother was stirring in the hall. Peggy opened her door. "What is it, mother?" she asked.

"It's Susan; she's sick. I've been up all night with her. I think she got overheated yesterday and then cooled off too quickly. I'll send for Dr. Boyce soon, now, but I think she'll be all right in a day or two."

"A day or two! But, mother, Capt. Pearson's coming to dinner and there's so much to be done today."

"I'm sorry, dear, but we can't help it. I'm almost too tired to get breakfast." Peggy's face changed instantly. "Don't you worry, momsy, dear. I'll get breakfast. You telephone for the doctor, then go and lie down. I'll get the kiddies off to school."

After that there was no rest for Peggy. The rain kept up and Susan got worse. The doctor came and stayed, and Peggy had to be everywhere at once—in the kitchen one minute, filling hot water bottles, the next, answering the telephone, making beds, washing dishes, getting lunch, and a hundred other things.

Lunch over, the boys had to be warned to come straight home from school, for it was the kind of day mother worried about them. And, as the Browns lived too far away, Lola was told to come home also.

Lola forgot about the company and at 4 o'clock the entire knitting club walked in. The boys had brought a few extra spirits along, too. Never was there such a houseful.

Peggy by this time had accepted the inevitable, changed to a blue linen dress with white collar and cuffs and apron, and decided to make the best of it.

She was out sweeping some extra large chunks of mud off the front steps when Capt. Pearson arrived.

Peggy did not run, nor hide the broom. She stood smiling down at him from the top of the steps—a blue goddess with the emblem of woman's sphere in her hand. The humor of the situation lent an added sparkle to her smile.

"I'm so glad to see you, captain," she said, holding out her unoccupied hand to this splendidly cparisoned man. "It's a dreadful day, isn't it? I have some small brothers who won't wipe their feet, and they in turn have a dozen or two friends who won't wipe theirs. But just come in and see what I have on my hands today—a combination day nursery and a hospital. I'm two kinds of nurse."

"Lucky people!" said the captain, warmly holding her hand.

"Also I'm not sure that you're going to get any dinner. If Susan sleeps, I can cook it. If not, I can't. Mother has developed neuralgia, so the family may have to eat crackers and cheese in the parlor."

"But I can't stay anyway," said the captain. "I just came to tell you I can't come—that is, not till Thursday. I'm on my way to New York on business and stopped over a few minutes between trains."

In fact, he did stay just long enough to meet the admiring friends of Lola and the boys. Then he had to go. "I'll be back on Thursday for all day, Miss Peggy, if it suits you," he said as he left.

Thursday it didn't rain. Susan was better and able to cook the delectable meal. The boys went to Aunt Mary's, Lola to Mabel Brown's. The road to Bowling Rock was good, the car perfect, and Peggy never prettier. More flowers had come out in the garden, and the house looked wonderfully sweet and attractive.

The moon was full now, and the veranda that night a fairyland of lacework shadows. Delicious scents came from the garden, and Peggy breathed a sigh of ecstasy. It had all worked out so satisfactory—just as she had planned.

"Peggy, dear, I love you," said the captain suddenly.

"Why—why, captain!" said Peggy, breathlessly.

"Yes, I do, and I may as well tell you now. Why wait? I've known it all along, but I'll confess if I hadn't seen you Monday I should probably have waited. I can hardly tell you why. It's because, perhaps, I've always had a horror of useless women. I wish you could know how adorable you looked that day in your blue dress. Most girls would have been worried to death. Peggy, dear little Peggy, tell me you care a little, won't you?"

"Y-yes, I do," said Peggy, happily. "I love you very much." But, womanlike, she knew it wasn't the blue dress and the broom at all that did it. It was the pink dress, and the shadows, and the garden scents, and the moon!

REPORTS GREATLY MAGNIFIED —WANT 10,000 HARVESTERS AT ONCE.

Reports previously published regarding the damage by frost to the crops in Saskatchewan were unduly pessimistic. Frequent showers and favorable weather have changed the outlook and it is apparent that the great Province of Saskatchewan will have a normal crop. This is evidenced by the demand for farm laborers, as not less than 10,000 are required there immediately for harvesting. Final excursions are by Canadian Northern regular Winnipeg train leaving Toronto 10 p.m., August 28 and 30. Harvesters from outside points to use connecting trains to Toronto. 7tu

Fact.

Man's greediness oft makes him blind
To his best interests, as you'll see;
And quality, you'll often find
Is sacrificed for quantity.

The Limit.

"Old Titewad doesn't appear to be very popular around here," said Smith.

"Popular?" replied Jones. "He's about as popular as an alarm clock that is ringing at 6 o'clock on a freezing morning."

Easy.

"To get seasick on land," said Pat

"Just go and eat an oyster that

Why Druggists Go Nutty.

"Have you any fulhub?"

"Yes, ma'am. Do you want the 26-cent fulhub or the 23-cent fulhub?"

"Why, what difference is there?"

"Well, Black's fulhub is 26 and the ordinary fulhub is 23."

"Why is Black's fulhub three cents more than the other kind?"

"Because it is a better grade."

"How is it a better grade?"

"Well, it is made by a patented process."

"Does that make it cost more?"

"Well, the canajin of panajin in Black's fulhub is guaranteed, and the canajin of panajin in the ordinary fulhub is not guaranteed."

"What is canajin of panajin made out of?"

"It is a coal tar product."

"But coal tar is sickening, isn't it?"

"Not in this form, madam."

"Then the canajin of panajin in the ordinary fulhub isn't really canajin of panajin at all?"

"Oh, yes, it is, but it is an inferior quality."

"But can't you get arrested for selling inferior drugs?"

"No, ma'am. We label what we sell, and make no misrepresentations."

"Then you think that Black's fulhub is better than the ordinary kind?"

"Oh, yes. Much better."

"Well, I don't think I care for any today. You can't let me have a three-cent stamp so I can get this $10 bill broken. I need change for car fare."

Cheer Up!

Say, boy, look cheerful all the while,
Don't hang crape on your chin;
You may not have a charming smile,
But you can wear a grin.

You Can Save Yourself a Lot of Trouble by Keeping It to Yourself

Luke McLuke Says

The meanest man we know of is feeding his wife's goldfish with cigarette papers instead of fish food while his wife is away. The poor fish do not know the difference, and the mean boob figures that he is saving money.

Another skunk is the man who is always "hearing" mean stories about other men and repeating them, and who can't remember where he "heard" any of the stories.

Some of the June brides are just learning that the things they married didn't even know that the lace the brides wore was Hand Made. And, furthermore, the brides are beginning to suspect that the things they married didn't give a hooraw in Halifax whether the lace was hand made or not.

A demand never sounds as unreasonable to the man who is making it as it does to the man on whom it is made.

Some folks are so slow that they never come to grief. It just naturally overtakes them.

Of course it is none of our business. But our opinion is that unless a boy's parents can settle enough coin on him so he won't have to work for a living they should never name him Algernon.

When a man tells you that he was driven to drink, the betting is that it didn't require the services of an expert driver like Pop Geers.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

A SOLDIER'S MOTHER WRITES.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

I saw a letter in The Advertiser from a lady who advised the calling up of all married men with less than three children. Perhaps she has some dear one with three children. I am a married woman, and have two sons overseas, one who will never come back. They both had two children, and it would make anyone's heart ache to hear their pleading for their father to come back. Another problem—realize how many mothers and families would be depending on the Government? There are thousands now, and to conscript married men would be terrible, as the married men can support their families and do something to help support others. There are lots of widowers without children and single men. There is misery enough in London and all over just now.

A SOLDIER'S MOTHER WHO KNOWS

THAT M. S. A. INCIDENT.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

I have just read with keen interest the letter in The Advertiser written by "The Father of a Soldier Who Has Made the Supreme Sacrifice," in which he claims that another of his boys had received a raw deal from the military police of his town, because he failed to recognize the awe and majesty surrounding the sacred precincts of the interior of the office of the assistant inspector of the C. S. C. M. P. C. (The Lord only knows what all those letters stand for, I don't.)

Personally, the matter is not of my affair, as all the parties concerned are total strangers to me. But it is a pleasure to mentally visualize the fearless spirit of the lad as he stood before his self-important captors. No doubt the spirit of his hero brother, who had died facing the Hun, hovered around him and sustained his spirit. It sure is a pity that his low category physically keeps him out of the firing line.

My knowledge of the M. S. A. would not fill a big book, but I understand that it gives the military police power to round up slackers.

The reply of the assistant inspector of military police is sure enlightening. He says, "It was found that he (the captive) was exempted from military duty under the M. S. A. on account of being in low category. Statements that he made previous to looking up his status were perfectly correct."

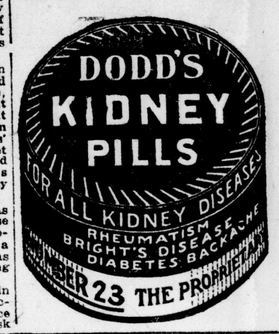

Still, for all that, the fearless men of the captive annoyed his captors, and he was asked, courteously (perhaps), how he would like to spend a night in the Carling street police cells. It seems that he replied a la William Tell, "whereupon" to quote his captors' words, "he was sent to Carling street station to be detained until proof could be produced, or for the magistrate's decision. Proof was produced that day and he was released."

Proof of what? Surely the lad was not charged with lese majeste because he refused to bow his spirit to his captors? "Proof" that he was not a slacker was found before he was threatened with a trip to Carling street.

It is hard to trace any courtesy in the "advice" of the assistant inspector to the lad's father, that he place his suggestion re an identification disk to be worn on the wrist, before the authorities at Ottawa. But let us be charitable. Perhaps he merely intends to convey the idea to the general public that he is so fully occupied "desiring to impress" the importance of his position in the C. S. C. M. P. C. on his captives, that he has no personal interest in affairs at Ottawa so long as his monthly pay check is issued promptly.

Nuxated Iron Should Be Prescribed By Every Physician

SAYS FORMER HEALTH COMMISSIONER WILLIAM R. KERR

Attributes his own great physical activity today at over 60 years of age largely to his personal use of Nuxated Iron.

It will increase the strength and endurance of delicate, nervous, rundown folks in two weeks' time, in many instances.

Investigation shows that the advice of Commissioner Kerr is being followed by many physicians and it is conservatively estimated that over three million people annually, in this country alone, are now taking Nuxated Iron as a tonic, strength and blood builder. Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital, says: "Commissioner Kerr is to be commended on handing out this statement on Nuxated Iron for public print. I have strongly emphasized the great necessity of physicians making blood examinations of their weak, anaemic, rundown patients. Thousands of persons go on year after year suffering from physical weakness and a highly nervous condition due to lack of sufficient iron in their red blood corpuscles, without ever realizing the real and true cause of their trouble. Without iron in your blood your food merely passes through the body, somewhat like corn through an old mill with rollers so wide apart that the mill can't grind. In my opinion, there is nothing better than organic iron — Nuxated Iron — for enriching the blood and helping to increase the strength and endurance of men and women who burn up too rapidly, their nervous energy in the strenuous strain of the great business competition of the day."

Dr. Ferdinand King, a New York physician and Medical Author, says: "There can be no sturdy iron men without iron. Pallor means anaemia. Anaemia means iron deficiency. The skin of anaemic men and women is pale—the flesh flabby. The muscles lack tone, the brain fags, and the memory fails and they often become weak, nervous, irritable, despondent and melancholy. When the iron goes from the blood of women, the roses go from their cheeks.

"I have used Nuxated Iron widely in my own practice in most severe, aggravated conditions with unfailing results. I have induced many other physicians to give it a trial, all of whom have given to me most surprising reports in regard to its great power as a health and strength builder."

Dr. A. J. Newman, late Police Surgeon, Jefferson Park Hospital, Chicago, in commenting on the value of Nuxated Iron said: "This remedy has proven, through my own tests of it, to excel any remedy I have ever used, for creating red blood, building up the nerves, strengthening the muscles and correcting digestive disorders. The manufacturers are to be congratulated in having given to the public a long-felt want, a true tonic, supplying iron in an easily-digested and assimilated form. A true health builder in every sense of the word."

It is surprising how many suffer from iron deficiency, and do not know it. If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained. Many an athlete and prizefighter has won the day simply because he knew the secret of great strength and endurance which comes from having plenty of iron in the blood, while many another has gone down to inglorious defeat simply for lack of iron.

Dr. Schuyler C. Jacques, formerly Visiting Surgeon of St. Elizabeth's Hospital, New York, was also asked what he thought of Nuxated Iron. In reply, Dr. Jacques said: "I have never before given out any medical information or advice for publication as I ordinarily do not believe in it. But in the case of Nuxated Iron I feel I would be remiss in my duty not to mention it. I have taken it myself and have given it to my patients with most surprising and satisfactory results. And those who wish quickly to increase their strength, power and endurance will find it a most remarkable and wonderfully effective remedy.

Manufacturers' Note.—Nuxated Iron, which has been used by Former Health Commissioner Kerr with such surprising results, and which is prescribed and recommended above by physicians, is not a secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products, it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed in this city by Standard Drug, Limited, and other good druggists.

TEDDY POSSUM ESCAPES.

The Jones Family were almost in tears when Farmer Jones took the seemingly dead body of Teddy Possum by the tail, and threw the limp body into a deep pool in the brook. And all the family were sure that Teddy was stone-dead.

And what do you suppose happened? Teddy Possum, all of a sudden, began to swim with lightning strokes down that swiftly flowing brook! And as quickly as the blink of an eye-lash, he swam around a curve, and was out of sight!

Teddy Possum quickly climbed out on the bank, and disappeared in the alder swamp. But the Jones Family stood spellbound on the banks of the brook; and they could not believe their eyes; and little William exclaimed: "Oh, Father, how did the little Possum fool us all, except you?"

He Jumped Into Water; and Then He Jumped Onto a Fence.

"Well, little William," said Farmer Jones, "I knew all the tricks of Teddy Possum, and his relatives. When they are 'Playing Possum,' the only way you can surely tell whether they are dead or alive, is to throw them into the water. That trick on the Possum never fails. If he is alive, he swims quickly for the shore. It has taken me a good many years, little William, to discover all the sly tricks of these wonderful little people of the Great Forest."

And suddenly Farmer Jones gave a shrill whistle, and the big dog, Ranger, came tearing across the fields; and the Farmer shouted, "Ranger, you catch that little chicken-thief in the alder-swamp!"

And, with a great bark, and big leaps, Ranger plunged across that brook after Teddy Possum. And little William trembled, as he thought of the death of Teddy Possum! Ranger could run much faster than Teddy Possum; and it certainly looked as if the end of Teddy's days had come.

But Teddy tried some of his tricks on Ranger, and he made lots of little criss-cross paths. And he jumped into water; and then he jumped onto a fence, and then he made lots of circles and criss-cross paths, like a cunning fox, just to fool Ranger, who was rushing about like mad and crying out with a terrible voice.

But Teddy Possum made Ranger lose his scent by wading in water again; and finally he found a big tree growing in the water and he climbed this tree, like a flash, and went to sleep in a big hole in a hollow limb. So, Teddy was safe, while big Ranger was hunting, howling, and wading in mud and water, most of the night, trying in vain to find that little lost Possum.

Tomorrow—Teddy Possum Puts on Airs.

BURGESSVILLE.—The Women's Institute will hold its meeting on Thursday afternoon, September 12, at the home of Mrs. W. H. Dennis. All the ladies are invited to attend this meeting.

DURHAM. — Almost $400 receipts were taken in at the big I. O. D. E. garden party in the skating rink on Monday, the premier and Mrs. Hearst attracting a large audience of about 1,000 people. Hon. Dr. Jamieson, M.P.P., was in the chair, and introduced Premier Hearst, Mrs. Hearst being presented with a beautiful bouquet of flowers by Miss Minnie Limin on behalf of the I. O. D. E. Sir William delivered a patriotic address, relating Canada's achievements on the field of battle, and our pride in what the British army and navy had accomplished. He had for five or six years been a Grey County resident, and was pleased to have the opportunity of for the first time meeting a Durham audience. A splendid musical program was also given, and a midway of sideshows did a flourishing business all evening, except during the program. The proceeds will be devoted to the Navy League, the campaign for which will be next week.

WABASH.—Through the agency of the East Kent Women's Institute Society a clinic was held in the Empire Hotel at Thamesville in order that children might have the minor operations performed that were shown to be necessary at the recent school medical inspection. Dr. Septimus Thompson of London performed the operations, and was assisted by Dr. Gillies of Ridgetown, and Drs. Fraser, Stewart and McIllwraith of Thamesville. Three graduate nurses, Mrs. Wallace and Mrs. Ferguson of Thamesville, and Miss Sherman of New York, were on duty in the operating-room, and three undergraduate nurses assisted.

There were thirteen patients all found by the specialist to be suffering from diseased adenoids and tonsils. All operations were successful, and patients doing well.

The department of agriculture made a grant of $30 towards the clinic. Fees for operations amounted to $105, and a donation of $10 by J. E. Richardson, whose son was operated on privately, brought the total receipts up to $145.

During the whole session of the clinic a helpful co-operating spirit was shown by every concerned person in the village, as well as a number of outsiders. The Chatham General Hospital kindly sterilized operating-room supplies and loaned a number of sterile gowns for the occasion.

UNIFORM LESSON FOR SUNDAY, Sept. 1, 1918.

ONE GOLDEN TEXT SUGGESTION. (By Rev. T. S. Linscott, D.D.)
Christian Giving. — Luke, 6:30-38; 21:1-4.

QUESTIONS FOR TODAY.

11. Verse 38.—Is liberal giving optional or obligatory for a Christian, and why?

12. Chap. 21:1.—What reward do the wicked rich get for liberal giving?

13. What proportion of his income should a rich Christian man give to religion and benevolence during his lifetime?

Golden Text—Remember the words of the Lord Jesus that he himself said: "It is more blessed to give than to receive.—Acts 20:35.

BLESSED TO RECEIVE, BUT MORE BLESSED TO GIVE.

Our Lord Jesus knew full well what great blessings we confer upon individuals or benevolent activities by the gift of our money, but he also knew that the reflex benefit upon the givers was very much more blessed than the direct benefit to the receivers. The best joys of life are not received by getting, but by giving. There is zest and satisfaction in doing a successful business and making money, which is by no means ignoble, but the rapture of the soul which comes from giving cannot be duplicated in any other way. Those who help a fellow-creature always get the greatest help themselves, no matter what blessed benefits may follow from their benefactions. This, perhaps, will not be believed by stingy people, but if they make the experiment they will find it to be true.

Dear Miss Grey,—I would be ever so much obliged if you could send me the stocking foot pattern I have read so much about. Thanking you in advance, MOTHER OF FOUR.

Ans.—I could not find your envelope within, and so am unable to comply. Sorry, for you will be most welcome to a pattern.

Lost, Strayed or Stolen.

Dear Miss Grey,—Here I am once more. I wrote a few weks ago to your corner, but I did not see my letter. I also asked you for a lonely's address, and sent an extra stamp for mailing the address, but I did not even get any word from you, so I thought I would try once more. I have been terribly busy, and help being so scarce it fell on me to help do the harvesting. I cut all the rye, wheat and oats, and also helped to draw it in. Do you think me worthy of the name "Farmerette," Miss Grey? Will you kindly send me a lonely soldier's address? If you have it I prefer one that's in the United States training. Of course, if you have not got one, kindly send me another. I will close, as I think I have taken too much space in your valuable column. I will sign myself COSMOS.

Ans.—Did you sign yourself Cosmos before? I recollect quite well receiving a letter from your postoffice, and in your writing, and was confident that I replied to your communication through the Mail-Box. But upon search through back issues I do not find it there. The letter has apparently been lost between my desk and the printing department. I am sorry. Before this sees print the name of a lonely will be in your hands.

Looking for Correspondents.

Dear Miss Grey,—This is the second time I have penned a line to your Mail-Box. I agree with Trilby's opinion regarding the conclusion of "Revelations of a Wife." Will you please send my name and address to Fourteen-Year-Old. Am inclosing an addressed envelope for two lonelies' addresses.

Also I would like the meanigs of the following names: Aleta, Milton, Lorne, Stella, Elva, Arthur, Jeanie, Jessie, Viola and Edith.

What do you think of my writing? I will sign my former pen name, HIGH SCHOOL GIRL.

Ans.—Your inclosure for Nobody's Girl has been forwarded. I haven't the address of Miss Fourteen-Year-Old, but maybe she will be sending it now. Some of the names you ask about are difficult to ascertain the meanings of. Lorne is evidently the same as Lorenzo, which (like Lawrence) means "crowned with laurel." Stella means "a star"; Elva is probably the same as Elvira, white; Arthur means high, noble one; Jean, gift of God; Jessie, wealth; Viola, a violet; Edith, happiness.

Children Are Appreciative.

Dear Miss Grey,—Am inclosing the words of "Where the Sunset Turns the Ocean's Blue to Gold." It is a lovely piece, and I hope Wee Boy's Mother gets them. And as for the books, she is welcome to keep them; I have lots more.

You are quite right, W. B. M., when you say I am not lonely. No, I never get the chance to be. My boys are not only company, but are useful too, and they are very thoughtful of mother. So I don't think I will ever have a chance to be lonely. I hope W. B. M. has good luck with her wee boy, and if I can help her or give her advice in any way I will gladly do so, for I am always ready to lend my aid and tell from my own experience how I manage and what to do. It might not help all, but it has helped some. If she cares to write me I will answer. I will give you my address, if you like, Miss Grey, and you can give it to her if she cares to write.

Young Mother also is entirely welcome to the books I sent. My boys are all well, and if you could see them once you would wonder how we ever get enough to fill them. They are all healthy and strong, and if anything goes wrong mother knows how to fix it. They have even brought other boys to me to fix a cut or a bruise.

Appreciative children are hard to find, but in my opinion, and from my own experience, I find that as you treat your children, so they will treat you. Perhaps it's my way. Some people tell me, "Oh, it's because you like children." Well, I can't help that, and they should like them too, and perhaps their children would be different. I am in my glory when there is a baby around or children—it makes no difference to me.

I will give you my address for any that care to write. I am as ever, M. O. S. B.

Ans.—It is lovely to hear of appreciative children, for so often does one see examples of the "ungrateful chee-ild" in this twentieth century of ours. And now, just between us, M. O. S. B., are you in favor of the old-fashioned spanking when one of the "six" is naughty, or how do you regulate discipline? Just for fun write and tell us, do.

Advertiser Patterns

For Afternoon or Calling.

2502—Here is a smart and pretty model, easy to develop, nice for soft batiste, crepe or foulard, and just as good for satin, gabardine, serge or linen. As here shown, white voile was combined with cluny insertion. The girdle is of pale blue satin. The tunic is finished separate from the skirt, and could be made of contrasting material. White serge with braiding or embroidery would be nice for this model.

The pattern is cut in 3 sizes, 16, 18 and 20 years. Size 18 will require 6¼ yards or 40-inch material. The skirt measures about 1⅞ yards at the foot.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps.

Please send above-mentioned pattern as per directions given below:

FOOD BOARD FLASHES FOR FEMININE FOLK

In Canada we scarcely realize how largely barley and rye figure among the contents of the world's bread basket. In Russia, in southeastern Europe and in parts of Asia barley and rye are the raw material of the bread of the masses. Take these crops together and they would fill more than two million freight cars, enough to girdle the earth at the equator.

In Japan barley is the food of the poor, and social distinction is drawn between the rice and barley-eating natives. It is interesting to note that the famous goose pie of the Merrie England of long ago was made from barley.

And to bring the story up to date, barley is one of the substitutes that bakers and housekeepers are asked by the Canada Food Board to use in bread-making.

THE SPORTSMAN'S VOICE

POSTPONEMENT OF TOURNEY.

Sporting Editor, London Advertiser:

The announcement in the press of the change in the plan for the Labor Day bowling tournament is a great disappointment to a large number of our city bowlers. The Labor Day tournament is the one event of the year that 75 per cent of our city bowlers look forward to as their opportunity to enjoy a day's good sport on an equal basis with every other bowler and an equal chance to share in the prize offerings. There are more than enough picked rink events pulled off during the year, and it does seem to me that the more expert bowlers should be satisfied with their numerous opportunities without wishing to deprive the rank and file of the one and only big open draw affair held during the year. The camouflage of postponing the date till September 18 will prove a failure, because that day is not a universal holiday like Labor Day, and large numbers will be deprived from participation on that account.

Scores of bowlers want to bowl on Labor Day, and I think it is up to one of our city clubs to provide entertainment on that day for the large percentage of the bowling fraternity who will not be invited to play on the picked rinks that will represent the contestants in next Monday's affair. It was a great mistake to change this annual city tournament.

A LOVER OF THE GAME.

SHOULD HAVE OPEN DRAW.

Sporting Editor, Advertiser.

Will not the arrangements made for the Labor Day bowling tournament preclude the possibility of any of the new and inexperienced bowlers taking part? The select rink idea is all right on some occasions, but on such an occasion as Labor Day it strikes me that there should be an open draw, so that the less experienced bowlers would be given an equal opportunity of enjoying the game with those who are considered experts, and who, under the present scheme, will monopolize the greens.

It may be said that all have an equal chance of entering rinks, which is no doubt true, but most of the younger element and those whom none of the so-called experts would think for a moment of asking to bowl on their rinks feel diffident, even if they could persuade their friends to join them, as they stand such small chance of winning even one game, and they dislike being made to look ridiculous. Nor is it fair, under the plus and minus system, to the better rinks, as should they enter and be drawn against crack rinks the professionals would secure such a plus score that it would be difficult to overcome even if they met rinks of their own calibre on all other occasions. The same thing will apply to any number of bowlers. Yours for the good of the sport,

A LAY MEMBER.

TORONTO TO PROTEST.

Toronto, Aug. 29.—The Toronto Club may protest the series played here with Binghamton on the ground that Shortstop O'Rourke was not a regularly signed player. It is alleged that he joined the team at Toronto and has been playing in the Steel League, only being pressed into service for the occasion. President Farrell will be asked to institute an investigation.

KUMAGAE WINS STRAIGHT SETS

Ranking Tennis Men Take Their Games in Singles Championship.

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., Aug. 28.—Ranking players advanced with little opposition here today in the second and third rounds of the 37th annual national singles championships of the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

The greatest interest of the gallery today was centered around the initial appearance of Ichiya Kumagae, the leading Japanese exponent of the court game. Kumagae's opponent was George W. Wightman of the Longwood Cricket Club, Boston, and the Oriental player won in straight sets at 6—3, 6—2, 6—2.

Lindley Murray, the Californian, entered for the Niagara Falls Club, moved into the third round without play, owing to the necessitated default of Lieut. H. G. M. Kelleher of Seattle, who received a telegram recalling him to service.

W. T. Tilden, Jr., of Philadelphia, selected by many to reach the final round through the lower half of the draw, easily disposed of Channing G. Burrows of Brooklyn at 6—1, 6—3, 6—3.

The Chicago entrants, Ralph H. Burdick and Walter T. Hayes, also won in straight sets. Hayes defeated E. H. Hendrickson of Amherst and the present New England intercollegiate champion at 6—1, 6—2, 6—2. Burdick eliminated A. H. Chapin, Jr., of Springfield, 6—3, 6—1, 6—1. The veteran, Beals C. Wright of Boston, but playing from New York, disposed of B. F. Drake of New Rochelle, with the loss of but two games in three sets.

Among the younger entrants, Vincent Richards and Frank T. Anderson, both of Greater New York, gave a remarkable exhibition of high-class tennis for so youthful a pair. Richards, who holds the doubles championship with Tilden, won at 6—1, 6—3, 6—2. But the score does not indicate either the closeness or the quality of the play.

NEW TROTTING MARK SET BY MISS BERTHA DILLON AT READVILLE

St. Frisco and Mabel Trask Beaten in Each of the Heats.

READVILLE, Aug. 28.—Miss Bertha Dillon was driven by Serrill to a world's trotting record for 4-year-old fillies of 2:02½ in the free-for-all trot at the Grand Circuit meeting at Readville track this afternoon. The Philadelphia filley, owned by A. B. Cox, beat the fast trotters, St. Frisco and Mabel Trask, in each of the heats, making the fastest time in the second mile. The record was formerly 2:04¼, held by Bertha McGuire, and made at Toledo on July 24 last.

The largest crowd seen at the track since the American trotting derby was held here in 1902, was on hand to honor the veteran driver "Pop" Geers, on Geers day. The veteran started in all four races, but failed to land a winner. He had the satisfaction, however, of driving St. Frisco when that horse pushed Miss Bertha Dillon to the new record.

Chilcoot, a Canadian trotter and a favorite, won the 2:10 trotting in straight heats, giving June Red, driven by Geers, her second beating this year. Chilcoot was winner in all three heats. This was the Massachusetts stake, and Chilcoot established a record for the event by going the second heat in 2:05½.

COMISKEY PARK SCENE OF FIRST THREE GAMES

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—The world's series in Chicago will be played at Comiskey Park, home of the Chicago American League Club. This was announced today by Secretary Craighead of the Chicago Nationals. Comiskey Park was the scene of the 1917 world's series between the Chicago Americans and the New York Nationals and has a seating capacity of 30,000, while that of the National League park does not exceed 16,000.

RIDGETOWN TOURNEY POSTPONED.

RIDGETOWN, Aug. 28.—The annual Ridgetown singles bowling championship of Western Ontario was today postponed until Friday, September 6, on account of rain.

WINS CHAMPIONSHIP BATTING HONORS

Tyrus Cobb, first baseman of the Detroit Tigers, who grabbed the swatting laurels of the American League for the tenth time. The Georgia Peach's average at present is such that no other player has a chance of capturing the hitting honors of the league. Cobb commenced playing this season under a disadvantage. His health was none too good, and six weeks after the commencement of play he was far down in the batting list. With a determination for which he is noted, the peerless one answered his critics by going on a tremendous batting spree. After asserting his supremacy in the American circuit for eight years in succession he was ousted from first place by Tris Speaker of Cleveland in 1916. He has been called the greatest ball player that ever lived. At a recent game Cobb announced his intention of joining the "Gas and Flame" division of the American army. He expects to be in France by October 1.

REORGANIZATION OF CANUCK LEAGUE LIKELY NEXT YEAR

Arrangements Under Way To Have League Comprising Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford a nd London.

Major league magnates in the United States are agreed that no attempt will be made to carry on next season unless Kaiser Bill's mad dreams have been crimped before that time, but Canada will not be without baseball, if recent plans materialize.

Arrangements are already under way to have a six-club league on this side of the border, with teams in Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford and London.

In Canadian League days the teams found the jump to Ottawa an expensive one, but with Montreal as the eastern end also, the jump would prove a most profitable. It is the belief that with the proper people behind it, Montreal will prove as good a baseball city as there is in Canada, but in the past the club there appeared to be in wrong hands. Ottawa is ready for baseball, and there is no doubt about the other cities mentioned.

Tom Nelson, the Brantford magnate, is of the opinion that there will be a Canadian league next year. He is ready to do his bit and will place a team in Brantford, and sees no reason why it should not be as popular in the Telephone City as it ever was, as Brantford has an even larger population now than it had in peace times.

J. J. McCaffery of the Toronto club says that such a league will be formed, providing, of course, the "work or fight" law in the United States makes it impossible for the new league to do business. With the big leagues and all the minors out of business across the border, there should be no trouble in securing players, even if the ranks of the veterans had to be invaded, as has been the case this year with major league clubs.

The action of the United States in breaking up major league baseball leagues for the duration of the war is taken by Sam E. Stevely, former president of the local Canadian League Club, as a sure indication that the plan, as outlined by McCaffery of Toronto, will meet with little success. Unless the conflict is over by next summer, Mr. Stevely sees little chance of a reorganization of the old Canadian circuit. Should a local club come into existence, however, the former president will not take an active part in its affairs. Mr. Stevely will interview President McCaffery of Toronto on the project some time this week, and from this interview he will know whether the plan is feasible or not.

All Baseball Gets Back to Pitching

Cubs and Red Sox Both Strong in This Respect.

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—It is a foregone conclusion that pitching will be the biggest factor in winning the world's championship. Both teams are remarkably strong in this respect. Yet it is well to remember that the Red Sox, in the American League, have beaten several teams that are more formidable than the Cubs' most dangerous rivals in the National League.

The Cubs have won their pennant without being extended. The Giants in their present state of helplessness, are outclassed by Cleveland and Washington, who have been close behind the Red Sox for the past two months. The White Sox are considered superior to the Pirates, who are trying to overhaul the Giants. Even the pitcherless Highlanders are rated higher in quality than any of the other National League teams, with the possible exception of the Cincinnati Reds. The conclusion must be drawn, therefore, that the Red Sox have experienced stronger opposition in the American League than the Cubs have met in the older circuit.

INDOOR BOWLING SOON

Indoor bowling will be revived in this city with the reopening of the National bowling alleys which were recently gutted by fire. The old alleys are being torn out and new alleys and equipment installed. A meeting of those interested in indoor bowling will be held shortly and the city league re-established. A schedule will be drawn up and games arranged throughout the fall and winter months. The opening of indoor bowling will probably take place about October 1.

WOODSTOCK RACE MEET POSTPONED BY SHOWERS

WOODSTOCK, Aug. 28.—The horse race meet which was to have been held this afternoon was postponed on account of rain. Twenty horses were at the track ready for the word, and these included some of the fastest horses in Western Ontario. However, the people will be given an opportunity of seeing them race on Monday next —Labor Day. The card consists of a 2:18 pace or trot, a 2:30 pace or trot, a free-for-all and a running race.

"MYSTERY NAG" WINS MT. CLEMENS FEATURE IN HANDY FASHION

Nettie H. Does 2:13 Pace in Fastest Time of Year.

MOUNT CLEMENS, Aug. 28.—Nettie H., the mare of mystery, won the 2:13 pace so easily today that claims that she is not telling her right name received more substantiation this afternoon than her previous wins at Dexter Park. Against one of the best fields of 2:13 pacers that have faced a starter anywhere, Nettie H. not only beat them but was taken back in 2:08½, the fastest heat on the track this year.*

Naturally she was protested, but reputable citizens insist she is regular, so it is up to the parent association to get to the bottom of the affair. On top of it all it is claimed that she was sold today to a Wisconsin man for $4,000, showing that somebody is willing to take the chance that she is straight.

RAIN POSTPONES RACES

BRUSSELS, Aug. 28.—Owing to the incessant downpour of rain here today Brussels races were postponed until Friday of this week. Never were the prospects better for a good race meeting, as the four events are well filled and the track is in excellent condition. Proceeds over expenses will be handed over to the Red Cross Society.

FIFTEEN TO ONE SHOT TAKES ADIRONDACK RACE AT SARATOGA

Routledge Is Winner in the Absence of Billy Kelly.

Saratoga, N. Y., Aug. 29.—Those who had looked forward to Billy Kelly starting in the Adirondack handicap yesterday were disappointed, and in the absence of the king of the juveniles the $1,000 event was captured in spread eagle fashion by Walter M. Jefford's Routledge, which started at odds of 15 to 1. In the absence of Billy Kelly, top weight of 128 pounds, was carried by Sweep On, which had Star Realm as a running mate. The entry was made favorite, while good support was accorded Hannibal and Lord Brighton, both stake winners, and Ute, which was added at the last minute by John Banford.

The result was another setback for the talent, as Daydue, which ran second, was quoted at 30 to 1, while Hannibal was the only one of the short-priced horses to get in the money.

Favorite Had No Chance.

Sweep On was slow in leaving the barrier, and with Routledge, Hannibal, Lord Brighton and Daydue winging out in front, the favorite never had a chance. Routledge had dropped back near the stretch turn when he was favored by the erratic behavior of Daydue, which carried Lord Brighton and Hannibal far out as they turned into the stretch. Ambrose seized the opportunity and shot Routledge up on the rail. With a clear path and no one to bother him, Routledge showed a great burst of speed and galloped home five lengths in front of Daydue, which was a neck in front of Hannibal. The last named ran a fine race, as he had patches of skin taken from his coat by falling after he had thrown an exerciser and ran away in the morning. The time of 1:12 is a new record for the stake.

Picking winners was as hard as ever, the only favorite to succeed being New Haven, which captured the steeplechase from Kingston Pier, which was indifferently ridden.

Sun Briar will make an attempt to lower Roamer's record for a mile today. The 3-year-old will carry 100 pounds, and will be ridden by Sands.

First race, maiden 2-year-olds, 5 furlongs—Vesper Hour, 109 (Keisay), 5 to 1, 2 to 1, even, won; Pluvida, 109 (Johnson), 8 to 1, 4 to 1, second; Precious Jewel, 109 (McAtee), 5 to 2, third. Time, 1:00 1-5. Ivry, Melancholic, Madrid, Sunningdale, Leap Frog, Dahinda also ran.

Second race, about 2 miles—New Haven, 135 (Crawford), 9 to 5, 3 to 5, out, won; Kingstown Pier, 150 (Scully), 3 to 5, out, second; Dramaturge, 142 (Williams), out, third. Time, 4:19 4-5. Texas Star also ran.

Third race, 3-year-olds and up, selling, purse $852.50, mile—Wiseman, 111 (Lyke), 13 to 5, 3 to 5, out, won; Smart Money, 116 (Robinson), 1 to 4, out, second; Kohinoor, 102 (Walls), 6 to 1, 7 to 5, 1 to 2, third. Time, 1:37 2-5. Dick Williams, Douglas S., Bowbells also ran.

Fourth race, the Adirondack Handicap, guaranteed cash value, $5,000, for 2-year-olds, 6 furlongs—Routledge, 111 (Ambrose), 15 to 1, 6 to 1, 3 to 1, won; Ray Due, 108 (Keogh), 30 to 1, 12 to 1, 6 to 1, second; Hannibal, 125 (Robinson), 5 to 1, 2 to 1, even, third. Time, 1:12. Sweep On, Star Realm, Lord Brighton, Stickling, The Trump, Hurricane, Cherubino, Tapageur, Delaware, *Ute also ran.

(*)—Added starter.

Fifth race, maidens, 3-year-olds and up, purse $852.50, mile—Tenons Bon, 115 (Robinson), 5 to 2, even, 2 to 5, won; Porte Drapeau, 115 (Loftus), 7 to 5, 1 to 2, 1 to 4, second; Wingold, 110 (Waldman), even, third. Time, 1:37 4-5. Alibi, Mancha, Bar One, Point-to-Point, Impetus also ran.

Sixth race, fillies, 3-year-olds, non-winners of $1,000 in 1918, purse $857.50, 6 furlongs—oyal Ensign, 108 (Lyke), 7 to 2, 7 to 5, 3 to 5, won; Lady Gertrude, 111 (Fairbrother), 2 to 1, 7 to 10, 1 to 4, second; L'Infirmiere, 115 (Robinson), 3 to 1, even, 2 to 5, third. Time, 1:11 2-5. Irene Daytoria, Belle Roberts, Cola, Miss Fauntleroy also ran.

THE FINAL EFFORT.

While "the push" out there continues
In the dirt and filth and wet,
And the enemy at last is forced to run,
There are men at home remaining, who have not quite realized yet
That they're needed to end what the Boche begun.

Though the battle wages fiercely and we've gained a mile or two,
That's no reason why the man who hasn't gone
Shouldn't offer up his body for the cause / that's right and true,
And give aid to bring about a peaceful dawn.

When the great adventure's over and the boys have ceased to roam;
When the conflict is a gruesome thing
that's past,
There'll be many regrets suffered by the men who stayed at home,
All because their courage faltered at the last.

For the time was never better, and the hour ne'er so ripe,
For a man to join the forces "over there";
To keep green the glorious memory of that brave, courageous type,
Of dead youngsters who accepted William's dare.

Was it not the final burden that broke down the camel's back?
Won't it be the final effort that will count?
And the men who join up lately; who have found their long lost track,
Are the ones who'll make the flag of freedom flaunt.

Now's the time to join the battle; follow in your comrade's lead;
Sign up gladly with the legions serving truth;
Though your sacrifice be greatest, you'll have sown freedom's seed,
And your sacrifice shall bring eternal youth.

Detroit papers assert that the Tigers are climbing. The pole in question must be of the greasy variety.

Archery was the first pastime in which the ancients excelled, say sport critics. Judging by the number of August marriages there is still a pretty fair archery expert hanging around this celebrated burg.

A couple of weeks ago Toronto papers were saying that the Leafs had virtually clinched the pennant. Never be too sure! The Bingoes may call a "break."

I've been in Greece and Minacaw;
I've seen the sights of Booselum,
But one thing that I never saw
Is a pug nose in Jerusalem.

A Hamilton man says he smells a fish in connection with the proposed welterweight championship bout here. Never knew Fred Fulton lived in the Ambitious City.

Somebody has asked why the Rochester team is called the Hustlers. Probably because they hustled Toronto out of first place yesterday.

SERGEANT GOT RUN, BUT RUINED PANTS BY WINNING SLIDE

Orderly Room Staff Trims the Officers, of Course.

An exciting game of baseball was played at Carling Heights Wednesday night between the officers of the Western Ontario Regiment and the orderly room staff of the same unit, the latter team proving victorious by the score of 16 to 15. This team has now won two straight games, which is regarded as a wonderful performance, and the officers have lost two straight games which has occasioned no surprise at Carling Heights.

Wednesday's game went ten innings, Sergt. Norman sliding over the plate in the tenth inning with the deciding run, and as a result his trousers, serge, were condemned by a clothing board today. Pay Sergt. Randal umpired the game, and being in C Category, the participants in the frightfulness allowed for his defective vision. Sergt. McFarlane in right field, caught every ball coming his way, but none came.

Major Forbes, armed with a kilt, gave a splendid exhibition of the latest dancing steps at first base, picking several flies (baseball flies), off the sky line. Lieut. Cavanaugh, for the losing team, endeavored to pitch, but he had nothing but a prayer to offer, and magnificent support to hold down the score. Lieut. O'Loane in centre field freely exercised the soldier's privilege, grousing at the umpire (he was a sergeant), to his heart's content.

A baseball league has been formed in connection with the 1st Battalion, Western Ontario Regiment, consisting of four teams, representing the orderly room staff, officers, sergeants and pay office. A schedule is being drawn up, the last game being ordered for September 18th. Some exciting contests are expected, as rivalry in this league is very keen, and it is rumored unofficially that several big league scouts will overlook the khaki stars, with a view to obtaining peanut vendors for the world's series.

TIGERS CANNOT FATHOM JONES

Red Sox Defeat Jungaleers Easily, With Sam Jones in the Box.

BOSTON, Aug. 28.—Sam Jones held Detroit to three hits today and Hooper's batting enabled Boston to win 3 to 0. Hooper opened the first inning by doubling and scored on Strunk's single. In the seventh Agnew singled and scored on Hooper's triple to left, Hooper continuing across the plate when Dauss fumbled the relay.

Score:										R.	H.	E.
Boston	1	0	0	0	0	0	2	0	x	3	8	1

MACKIES 1, INDIANS 0

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 28.—Philadelphia closed its home season today by defeating Cleveland 1 to 0. Speaker was today notified of his indefinite suspension as the result of his clash with Umpire Connolly yesterday. Cleveland out-hit the locals, but could not get more than one hit in any one inning. Three double-plays helped Watson materially.

Score:										R.	H.	E.
Philadelphia	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	x	1	5	0

Enzman and O'Neill; Watson and Perkins.

ST. LOUIS 4, NEW YORK 2

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Three bases on balls by Sanders in the third inning, each yielded a run and brought about the defeat of the Yankees in the final game of the season with the Browns. It was a sharp fielding game, Gedeon making the only error.

The score:										R.	H.	E.
St. Louis	0	0	3	0	0	0	1	0	—4	6	1
New York	0	0	0	0	1	0	1	0	0	—2	8	0

Davenport and Severold; Sanders, Keating and Hannah.

CUBS' SOUTHPAWS AGAINST RED SOX

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—Fred Mitchell, the Cubs' leader, declares he will use his lefthanders, Vaughn and Tyler, in four games, if necessary. He intends to start the ball rolling with Vaughn on September 4, and will pitch Tyler the following day. For the third game of the series the Cub's boxman will be either Hendryx or Douglas. Providing there is no postponement in Chicago, Vaughn will work in the first Boston game on September 9, after a rest of four days, while Tyler will come back on September 10, having enjoyed a similar lay-off.

Whether the Red Sox will send Babe Ruth, their lone southpaw, against Vaughn in the opener or not is a question for Barrow to answer. Yet Boston critics seem to think that if Ruth can take Vaughn's measure the pitching problem will be solved by pitting Mays against Tyler and either Jones or Bush against either Hendryx or Douglas. Mitchell evidently figures that his left-handers will bother the Red Sox who have experienced considerable trouble from leading American League southpaws this year.

RAIN PREVENTS TOURNEY.

PARIS, Aug. 28.—Owing to the heavy rainstorm, the annual tournament of the Paris Bowling Club, which was to have been held today, has been postponed to September 18.

HINDENBURG LINE ENTERED MILE DEEP ON 3-MILE FRONT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—Gen. March, U. S. chief of staff, in an interview this evening, said the Hindenberg line has been penetrated a mile deep on a three-mile front.

The general also said the number of prisoners taken by the Allies since July 1 has passed the 112,000 mark. In the same time the Allies have taken from the Germans 1,300 cannon of the field-gun calibre and larger.

PARIS, Aug. 28.—The retreat of the Germans, which has been organized by General von Boehn during the past fortnight, will probably be made in two stages, it is said here. The first halt is expected to be behind the Somme and Crozat Canal, and the second will bring the enemy to the line of March 21, from which he launched his great offensive.

BYNG'S ADVANCE IS SIGNIFICANT PHASE OF WAR SITUATION

He Is Developing a Real Menace to Cambrai and Douai, Loss of Either of Which Would Force Evacuation of France.

BY FRANK H. SIMONDS.

(Copyright, 1918, the Tribune Association, the New York Tribune.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Ludendorff's retirement in consequence of his defeat of August 8, has reached its last phase. Having hung on to the old lines of 1916, as long as possible to permit the withdrawal of guns, munitions and material and the complete renovation of the Hindenburg line, he is now executing a "hell-for-leather" flight to the place of safety.

We had exactly the same thing in the case of the second battle of the Marne when, following stubborn rearguard actions on the heights above the Ourcq for nearly a week, the Germans suddenly made a dach backward for the Vesle, and the Sunday papers of August 4 recited the list of villages reoccupied, just as the newspapers are giving a new list of the re-occupied towns.

Going Back Anyway.

In the case of the Marne retreat the great question was whether the Germans would decide to stand at the Vesle or the Aisne. Today the question is whether he will halt at the line Merlincourt-Peronne-Noyon, which is the line of the Tortille and Somme rivers and the Noyon Canal, or whether he will go straight back to the Hindenburg line. In any event he is going back to the Peronne-Noyon line, which will be his next resting place.

But while the spectacular advances of the British and French from Bapaume southward are attracting the attention of the public who follow the war by the headlines, it is actually true that the comparatively insignificant advance of Byng to the north along the Scarpe is of far greater importance.

Menace Cambrai and Douai.

Thus the capture of Monche-le-Preux, the Bois-des-Sarts and Vis-en-Artois, supplemented by further captures yesterday, carries a real threat to Cambrai and Doai, while the fall of Bapaume, Chaulnes and Roye are merely consequences of an earlier defeat, which will be liquidated when the Hindenburg line is reached. In a word, they are already discounted, while the new push has a present and a future meaning.

Allenby took Monachy-le-Preux in April, 1917, but he could not shake the Germans out of their hold on the park at the east side of the town, and as a consequence it had far less value to him than it would otherwise have had as an observation point. His offensive after the early April days—pushed only to help Nivelle's larger operation on the Aisne—was stopped exactly where the British are now making progress.

Valuable High Ground.

From Lens right down to the Sensee River, at Cherisy, the British are now at or beyond the line of 1917, and where they are beyond it they are on high ground of great value.

Now it is quite plain that any further advance will bring Byng's army squarely up to the last circumstance of that Wotan line, so much talked of in 1917, the Drocourt-Queant switch, running down from the never-broken section of the German line behind Lens to the main Hindenburg line east of Croisilles. This is the ultimate barrier to British advance to Douai and Cambrai, and Douai and Cambrai are the keys of all the region now occupied by the Germans in Northern France.

Let Us Pray.

If the British can reach either, then the Germans must make a tremendous retirement, both north and south. They will, indeed, have to go back to the Belgian frontier, and the deliverance of France will be substantially accomplished.

But north of Croisilles the old and new British fronts are not three miles apart. Therefore Byng can begin his assault upon the Wotan line almost from "scratch," as they say on the athletic field. And he has all the advantage of position, as well as of proximity. Without delay Byng can, if he chooses, push his attack right up against the last German lines covering Cambrai and Douai, with all their vital network of roads and railways. If these lines go, then all of the Hindenburg line to the south become worthless; it will be turned and the Germans will have to retire on a front all the way from Verdun to Lille.

MAGISTRATE WOULD CUT STREET PARKING PERMIT TO ONE HOUR

This To Apply Only To Principal Thoroughfares.

HAS OTHER PROPOSALS

Recommends Them to Council Committee, Which Requested His Help.

Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon has suggested two changes in the local traffic bylaws as a result of the reference to himself by a special committee of the city council of the matter of redrafting and improving the regulations controlling all vehicles.

First and most radical, Mr. Graydon believes it an absurd thing that motor cars should be permitted to park on the principal thoroughfares for periods of three hours. Three hours mean that any businessman can leave his car at the curb practically for the whole day and by this license, according to the magistrate, is the door opened to a veritable blocking of traffic on all the principal blocks of the city.

Suggests One Hour.

He would cut the time to one hour and has inserted a clause making such a provision in the draft of the new bylaws submitted to him. He first believed that 30 minutes would be a sufficient time.

The three-hour privilege would be discontinued only from Wellington to Talbot on Dundas street and from the Grand Trunk station to Fullarton on Richmond street.

It is unedrstood that Crown Attorney J. B. McKillop, who is president of the London Motor League, does not hold the same view as Mr. Graydon.

Second Proposal.

The second proposal of the police magistrate is that all motor cars should be compelled, when coming to a stop along the principal streets, to bring their front wheel in contact with the curb, thus insuring a close-in parking which would prevent cars from being kept from four to six feet from the curb. Many times the magistrate has seen cars ranged along the streets, so that it was impossible for anyone to get between them and a passing street car. He referred to a prominent legal man who usually brings his car to a halt almost at right angles to the street line.

Clear Market Lane.

The magistrate also believes that no car should be permitted to stand in the market lane for a period longer than necessary to load or discharge goods. An exception could be made, he believes, in the case of one merchant who requires to have his deliveries at his door for the great part of the day. On market days, however, it is practically impossible for a car to pass when two cars are parked opposite to one another along the lane.

Another regulation which is looked upon as important in many western cities is one which prohibits auto owners leaving their cars unattended with the motor running. It is contended that it is an easy thing for meddlesome boys to jump into a car with the motor running and do great damage and endanger life. With the motor shut off it is unlikely that they will interfere.

LONDON WOMEN WILL ATTEND TRIENNIAL TO BE HELD IN WINNIPEG

During the time the General Synod of the Church of England in Canada is in session in Toronto in September, the triennial of the Woman's Auxiliary to the M. S. C. C. of the Church of England in Canada will be in progress in Winnipeg. Mrs. G. B. Sage, president of the Huron Diocesan W. A., with Miss Jennie Moore and and Miss Gower of this city, conveners of committees, and four delegates representing the diocese, including Mrs. Warnock of Galt; Mrs. Ward, Mrs. Woodhouse and Miss Dorothy Turville, this city, leave Toronto for the west on the evening of September 18th, arriving there Wednesday evening, the 18th. From Thursday, 19th, to the following Tuesday, the general executive will be in session. During this time a general conference on missions will be held, the regular session of the W. A. beginning on Tuesday, September 24th and continuing until the 27th.

Business of much interest and importance will be taken up, Mrs. Sage stated today, and an interesting feature will be the presence of several returned missionaries to give first-hand information from the scenes of missionary activities of the church

ALD. F. E. HARLEY AGAIN ELECTED CHAIRMAN OF RECEPTION COMMITTEE

Booklet, Guide for Returned Men, Will Be Published Soon.

The annual meeting of the reception committee of the Soldiers' Aid Commission was held in the secretary's office Wednesday afternoon. After the regular routine business had been discussed and the minutes read, Ald. F. E. Harley was re-elected chairman of the committee. The members expressed their appreciation of the work done by Ald. Harley and spoke of his ability, stating they had full confidence in him and his satisfactory work, and were willing that the committee should proceed for another year under his management.

Progress on Booklet.

Excellent progress was reported on the new booklet that is being produced by the commission in the interests of the returned soldier. The booklet will be made to fit the soldier's pocket, and will be a direct guide to the men. It will be given to each returned man as he comes in, and he will be able to carry it about with him always. It will tell him of the work of the different societies about the city which are connected with the interests of the returned soldier and direct him to these different places.

Ready Soon.

The members were all enthusiastic over this idea, and it was reported that the I. O. D. E., G. W. V. A., pensions board, board of trade, and many other local organizations had taken pages in the booklet, and that it would be ready for distribution some time in the near future.

Plans for a recreation room at the Princess avenue barracks were also discussed, and as a room has been donated by the officers at the barracks all that remains to be done is to furnish it. This task was referred to the ladies of the society, who will endeavor to raise the money by means of a band concert or some similar affair.

NO WATER; NO RIVER

Little Walter Knew, Because He Had Been There.

The "just past two" son of a well-known minister of the vicinity of London visited at a lake beach early in the summer and never got done talking about the joys of "throwing tones in the water." His aunt took him out to a creek near his home town. But, alas and alack, like Old Mother Hubbard's cupboard, the creek bed was empty, water all dried up. Great was the disappointment of the small lad, who took it out in talking steadily for the next day or so on the one theme: "Creek all dried up. No water at all. Not throw any tones." Then he appeared to forget it for some weeks.

The other day the maid in the kitchen sang lustily as she went about her work: "Shall we gather at the river." Little Walter, playing with his blocks in the next room, caught the words. He called out reprovingly: "No, no, Carrie. Don't sing ribber. No ribber. Water all dried up."

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

THE LOCAL MARKET

The local market this morning was fairly large compared with that of other days and a considerable amount of produce was offered. Hay and oats were not offered in large quantities and oats remained firm, while the average price for hay was about $16. Eggs brought 45 cents a dozen, retail, and 40 and 42 cents, wholesale. A shipment of hogs was received Wednesday and brought from $18.50 to $19 per cwt. Green corn brought from 12½ to 15 cents per dozen, and some very good corn was offered. All the rest of the vegetables remained firm in price. The rain of yesterday affected greatly the picking of fruits, which resulted in these products being very scarce this morning. What fruit was offered remained firm in price.

WALL STREET.

New York, Aug. 29—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Shippings and oils led the steady but dull opening of today's stock market, Atlantic-Gulf soon gaining 1¼ points, and Texas Company half a point. United States Steel rose a small fraction with independent steels, but coppers were slightly irregular with rails, motors and specialties. There was a further inquiry for foreign issues on the good war news, but Liberty bonds were moderately reactionary.

Noon.—Stocks recorded little variation in the first hour, but reacted generally later. The decline was concurrent with reports from Washington which conveyed the inference that the next Liberty Loan offering has been fixed at $6,000,000,000, a figure in excess of Wall Street's estimates. United States Steel yielded a point with other leaders, and increased heaviness was shown by specialties, notably General Motors, which dropped another 5½ points.

1:30 p.m.—General Motors continued to slump during the noon hour, extending its loss to 10½ points, or 30 points thus far this week. The balance of the active list showed no material alteration from their setback of the morning.

Satisfaction In Shoes

We are talking now about satisfaction in shoe shopping because we believe everyone is interested now in getting value for every dollar they put away from themselves for anything.

If buying for yourself there are certain things about shoes which only good, reliable, experienced dealers will discuss with you. Buying shoes to sell to the consumer as a medium of turnover in trade, is a very different thing from buying reliable lines of footwear for a patronage which the dealer has enjoyed for years, and is most zealous about retaining. In the one case the dealer is not so much interested in the permanency of the patronage as in making a sale of something at a profit. The immediate profit in sight is more appreciated than the prospect of the return patronage.

We know what our trade wants and have been buying from us for years, and we buy and sell shoes which we know will give satisfaction.

MUST PROVIDE FOR DEPENDENTS OF MEN ON MERCHANT SHIPS

So Declares Rev. J. T. Conn in Stirring Appeal to I. O. D. E.

"A cross can be put on the grave of a soldier, his relatives may visit his grave, but for the sailor who is laid in a watery grave there is not even this consolation," said Dr. T. J. Conn, addressing the Daughters of the Empire in Cronyn Hall Wednesday afternoon on behalf of the Navy League of Canada.

No Claim on Government.

"Soldiers and sailors that belong to the imperial navy have a claim on the Government should they meet their death while serving their country, but the mercantile marines have no claim whatever upon the Government, and yet it has been these mercantile marines who have been helping to keep the high seas clear during the serious submarine menace, and it is these that lie, many thousands of them, in watery graves today. For these sailors' dependents, their wives and children, there have been no funds with which to provide for education or sustenance."

Object of Campaign.

This is the object of the Navy League campaign, to raise funds for these dependents, said Dr. Conn. "Over 176 vessels have been sunk with no trace of any of the crew and nothing to account for them in any way. They have left families, and these have to be provided for. There are some shelters which have already been provided by the citizens of London and other cities.

"This is not sufficient. Bigger demands have to be made upon the public. It is almost impossible for people of inland cities to understand the peril that these men have to face. Constantly stories of the sinking of these mercantile marines are published, yet for the sake of home and country the men continue to offer their service and many their lives. It would be a disgrace to the Union Jack if the dependents of these men could not be provided for, but with the hearty and liberal support of all Canadians, the Union Jack will never have cause to be disgraced," said Dr. Conn.

Buried Little Hatchets.

Mrs. Reynolds, who is also in the city from the Naval League headquarters, told how the women of Ottawa had buried all their "little hatchets," and how the Catholic workers with the Protestant, and the I.O.D.E. with other organizations, had fallen in and done everything possible to make the campaign a success.

Capt. Elliott, who has been touring all Western Ontario in the interests of the Navy League, said that every city and town, in some of which he had only spent a few hours, organizing the campaign, had thrown aside everything to give the naval campaign its whole support.

John Meredith gave the first donation of $100 to the Navy League fund. In the absence of Mrs. Niven, regent of the Municipal Chapter, I.O.D.E., Mrs. E. B. Smith, who presided, vouched for the loyal support of the I.O.D.E. to the Navy League campaign.

PREVIOUSLY GASSED, LONDON OFFICER IS NOW LISTED WOUNDED

Lieut. Francis H. Paull Again In Hospital.

Lieut. Francis Harold Paull of this city is again reported among the casualties. A message received by his mother, Mrs. Ada B. Paull, 615 Wellington street, states that a gunshot wound in the leg caused him to be taken to No. 8 General Hospital at Rouen, France, on August 11.

About a year ago Lieut. Paull was gassed, but recovered and returned to the line. A strange feature about the message reporting his being wounded is that only a week ago last Friday a cable was received from him in England, stating that he was on leave and feeling fine. It is thought that he was wounded soon after returning to France.

Lieut. Paull was a member of a special draft of officers that left the 142nd Battalion for service overseas.

MANY BRAVE WEATHER TO VISIT PORT STANLEY ON LAST HALF HOLIDAY

Despite the fact that it rained nearly all day Wednesday many people went to Port Stanley in the evening. This was due greatly to the fact that yesterday was the last Wednesday in August, making it the last half holiday of the year.

There were many people at the casino and anyone looking at the dance floor would have thought that instead of old Sol being behind the clouds as he had been all day he had been shining brightly. It was very cool and and the wind was blowing hard, but the light-footed ones did not notice this fact, overcoming it by keeping the windows down. The lake was lashed into fury by the wind, and its continual roar seemed to add gayety to the scene and dancing continued until the last car when many of the merry-makers were seen running to catch the car that had not arrived. They were frightened by the distant rolls of thunder coming from over the lake.

NOVEL COSTUMES IN CYCLE PARADE

In spite of the wet weather the costume parade held by the Friendship Cycling Club last night, was quite novel and amusing. The parade left A. Tanner's store, 655 Dundas street at 8 o'clock and continued down Dundas street to Richmond street and then back along Dundas street to the east end of the city.

John Bull led the parade and Uncle Sam followed closely behind. Miss Canada was also in line. The cyclists were dressed in many fancy and unique costumes. This is one of the first costume parades to be held in this city by a cycling club.

Arrangements are being made by the Friendship Club for another costume parade to be held Labor Day, Monday next.

LONDON DRUGGIST HEADS ASSOCIATION

W. T. Strong of this city was Tuesday elected president of the Ontario Druggists' Association. The retail druggists of this province are now meeting in Toronto, and this new association was organized for protective purposes in the event of still more severe restrictions being placed by the Government on the patent medicine trade, and also with a view of conserving trade interests in other respects. It is thought that one of the first moves of the new association will be to co-operate with other lines of trade.

The other officers elected are: A. H. Johnston, Collingwood, first vice-president: J. T. Hogg, Kingston, second vice-president, and F. A. Jacobs, Toronto, secretary-treasurer.

QUERIES ANSWERED

ONTARIO: Q.—Three or four years ago the town council bought two lots intending to use same for a dump. The neighbors and myself protested against it. The council then sold the lots to another party making an agreement with him to use the said lots for a dump.

There is a pond on part of these lots and also on part of mine this pond has never been known to go dry, and it was quite clean, and has been used as a watering place for cattle and horses for over fifty years. A part of this pond belongs to the town (being the end of a street). When the water was high in the spring it sank in the ground at the north end of the pond. Now, owing to the stuff dumped, the water cannot sink there, and is forced on my place, lying on it till into July spoiling it for gardening purposes. For twenty-five years previous to this dumping there never was a crop missed on this land. This spring the water was over four feet deep at my entrance, and remained flooded for about six weeks, this never happened before.

When spoken to over the telephone the medical health officer said nothing but clean ashes would be put in, but this summer they have dumped all kinds of stuff, dead chickens, dogs, cats and bloody paper from the butcher shops, decayed vegetables, etc. The owner of the lots raked this paper and other stuff together and burnt it, the smoke and smell from which compelled people in the neighborhood to keep their doors and windows closed to shut out the smell and smoke.

1. Had the town council power to buy these lots without the consent of the ratepayers?
Yes.
2. Had the mayor power to sell these lots privately without the consent of either the council or ratepayers?
No.
3. Can the council or board of health use any part of the pond as a dump without leave from me?
Yes.
4. Can the council compel me to sell my part of the pond or any part of my land to be used as a dump?
Yes.
5. Am I entitled to compensation for the loss of water (for use of my stock) and the flooding of my land?
Yes.
6. Has the council or board of health any right to create a public nuisance?
No.

ALL-MUSICAL EVENT WINS MANY ENCORES AT QUEEN'S PARK

Chautauqua's "Win-the-War" Program Highly Approved.

NOTED SOPRANO SINGS

Miss Bertha Farner Renders the "Jewel Song" With Artistic Effect.

The high standard of education and entertainment raised by the "win-the-war" Chautauqua in progress all this week at Queen's Park, on the opening days was well maintained on Wednesday in all musical programs presented both afternoon and evening. Notwithstanding the wet weather, ticket holders turned out in large numbers, though the London music lovers outside of these apparently were not aware of the merit of the artists appearing. Miss Bertha Farner, celebrated soprano of the San Carlo Grand Opera Company, with the Tschaikowsky quartet, composed of Leon Weltma, director; Frederick Blair, 'cellist; Henry Levine, pianist, and Edward Kowirski, second violin, constituted the talent of the evening.

Has Rare, Sweet Voice.

It was a pleasure to hear a voice of the sweetness, purity, warmth and freshness of that of Miss Farner, who possesses in addition to a winsome personality, dramatic appreciation and enthusiasm for and heart-interest in her work that render it most convincing. From her first appearance on the stage, she got across the footlights to her audience, winning approval that was eloquently expressed in repeated recalls. The "Jewel Song" (Faust), was captivatingly given, and linked with it a Tuscany folk song.

The beauty of the singer's voice and artistic appreciation impressed her audience in the "Elegie" (Massanet). It was her patriotic songs, however, that stirred the audience in the mood for such offerings following the war news of the day. Prolonged hand-clapping formed an interlude between each of the verses of "When the Boys Come Home." As an effective finale she gave the national songs of the United States, France and Britain, appearing first as Miss Columbia, wrapped in the Star Spangled Banner; next, by substituting the tri-colors of France, as the embodiment of the spirit of the gallant nation in the dignity and triumph of the "Marseillaise." The crescendo of cheers reached a climax when she returned to the stage after a brief interval, this time with the Union Jack, to utter tunefully the declaration that "Britons Never Shall Be Slaves."

Gave Services to France.

A pleasing interpolation was made by the prima donna on request of Dr. Plass, director of the Chautauqua in Ontario. Studying in Paris at the time of the outbreak of war, Miss Farner offered her services for war work in a town in which she had friends east of Paris. She had no training as a nurse, and was consequently only fitted for hard, menial service. There was scarcity of cots and of bandages for the wounded. All the linen in the place was torn up to be used, and so necessary was it to conserve the supply that it became her duty to wash the blood-stained bandages in the river, beating them out on the stones. She bitterly resented the non-entrance of her country in the war at the beginning.

Resting a while in Switzerland on her way home, she was approached one day by a German woman, who upbraided her for the sympathy shown by the Americans for the Allies, and declared there were enough Germans in America to punish and conquer the country.

Hunts Pro-Germans.

It was after her return to her own country that she realized the difficulties to be overcome before the United States could take its place. Referring to the eagerness now of the American soldiers to be in the fight and the backing they are receiving, she said: "And now I am devoting my time to hunting out pro-Germans. I had fifteen arrested when I was in Chicago recently. Take care!"

The members of the Tschaikowsky Quartet had troubles of their own both afternoon and evening, owing to the damp weather, which played tricks with the strings. An organization of thoroughly-trained musicians, each of marked talent, the playing of the quartet was characterized by technical sureness, good intonation, style and unanimity of idea in the interpretation. Particularly well done was the Rheinberger Quartet, which was played in a musicianly manner, and the Andante Cantabile (Tschaikowsky) was marked by the smoothness and colorfulness of the tone achieved.

The Pizzicatto Gavotte (Lemare) was given with a swing, rythm and crispness that were irresistible. Leon Weltman, the director of the quartet, who is also head of the Weltman Conservatory of Music in Boston, was heard in a group of three so which brought to attention more fully than in the quartet work his command of technique, the variety of his tone, and the extent to which he is endowed with artistic temperament.

Canary's Song Imitated.

With the "Gypsy Air" (Sarsate) and "Souvenir" (Drdla), he gave a lilting composition of his own, "The Canary in the Woods," realistically imitating the song of the canary. Following his return to the States, he is engaged to make records of this number for the Edison people. By request, Dvorak's "Humoreske" formed the encore.

QUALIFIED MEN IN MANY TRADES WANTED FOR SIBERIAN FORCE

Recruits are being selected to serve with the Signal Company and Field Company, Canadian Engineers, with the Siberian Expeditionary Force. The following trades are required for the engineers, military headquarters announces:

Recruits for signalers have not been asked for some time, and no doubt there are many men qualified for this work, who have been waiting a chance to get into some line where they would be useful. The following men are required:

Telegraphers, telephonists, telegraph, telephone and power linemen, instrument repairers, motorcyclists, teamsters and dispatch riders, telegraph and telephone switchboard men, telephone troublemen, wireless operators, and also a number of young men with good education to learn visual signaling.

PATRICIA

Enid Bennett in "The Vamp," at the Patricia Theatre Today, Friday and Saturday.

The "vamp" is the woman who lures the man. That is it in a nutshell. It is the abbreviation of "vampire." And vampire means something that, in common parlance, drains the very life blood of its victim. Further back, a vampire was and still is in some parts of the world a hideous creature from the tomb, who comes forth at night to devour defenceless creatures.

This evil spirit is supposed to inhabit the bodies of the departed, who in their lifetime were bitten by other vampires. They are of the great "undead." This superstition is analogous to the were-wolf or the loup-garou of mythical history. It is prevalent in Hungary and Germany and other European countries, among the lower classes.

Thomas H Ince presents
ENID BENNETT
in "The Vamp"
A Paramount Picture

In Miss Bennett's new picture, however, the term is used in a more or less satirical sense. A little girl in a musical show, assistant to the wardrobe mistress, wants to make a man she loves devotedly propose to her. So she borrows the gown of a friendly siren of the show and donning it proceeds to "vamp" her admirer till he finally makes the plunge. The rest of the story shows how she succeeds by this same ability to "vamp" in frustrating a German plot and saving a situation in the coal mining districts of Pennsylvania.

"The Vamp" will be shown at the Patricia Theatre today, Friday and Saturday.

BREAK IN HYDRO MACHINERY STILL CAUSING TIE-UP

The break in the machinery of one of the generators at Niagara Falls has been found to be more serious than was at first expected. The result is that London, with other places, again suffered yesterday from a reduction in power. Many housewives with their ironing from Monday's wash found it impossible to get their work done, while a number of small plants about the city were without power at many times.

The hydro plants have been generating to full capacity, so that when a break occurs there is no auxiliary to use instead, and the customers are cut down. The reduction the last two days has been 25 per cent.

CHARLES RAY
in "A Nine O'Clock Town"
A Paramount Picture

At the Majestic today, Friday and Saturday. In this capital photoplay, filled with laughs and thrills, Mr. Ray appears as the manager of a Little-town drygoods "emporium," into the management of which he is seeking to interject metropolitan ideas, and thereby causes a commotion. He employs a corset model and then the trouble begins. Just what happened after that it would be unfair to reveal in advance of the presentation of the picture.
