William Boyd appeared before Judge Houston at the police station yesterday morning to answer to the charge of appropriating $2,000 belonging to Russell B. Herriman. Herriman didn't put in an appearance and Crown Attorney Smith asked for a remand. The Crown Attorney said that Herriman apparently changed his mind since laying the charge and didn't want to come. He will be subpoenaed and if that doesn't bring Herriman, an officer will be sent for him. The Crown Attorney is bound that Herriman shall come. The case was adjourned till next Monday, Boyd furnishing $2,000 bail. Herriman is in Owen Sound.

A WARM FAREWELL.

ADVIATION TO MR. CHAMBERLAIN AT BIRMINGHAM.

THE OBJECT OF HIS TRIP TO SOUTH AFRICA.

A MISSION OF PEACE AND CONCILIATION.

London, Nov. 18.—Colonial Secretary Chamberlain received a great ovation at Birmingham, where a farewell banquet on the occasion of his departure for South Africa was held in his honor. Members of all parties joined in the demonstration. Referring to his trip, Mr. Chamberlain said it was to be a matter of business, and not a mere parade. He could not expect that all the bitterness in South Africa would die out, but he could say this for the Government, that they would relieve all suffering. He was bound on a new venture, and there was a possibility of failure. The Government's desire was to make South Africa one united nation, united in heart as well as in name. Greater differences, he said, had been healed, and he mentioned Canada as an instance. High Commissioner Lord Balfour still retained the confidence of the Government. Mr. Chamberlain said he hoped to see the representative of every political section in South Africa. He could then learn more in three days than in a month's study of despatches in the blue-books. He believed that he would be met half way and that he would learn the friendship of the King's new Boer subjects. He took a very optimistic view regarding the future of South Africa. On the conclusion of Mr. Chamberlain's speech a torchlight procession and a fireworks display were held. The streets were packed with thousands of people, who at one point broke through the barrier erected to keep the crowd back. This incident created some excitement and resulted in slight injuries to a few persons. There was no mystery about Mr. Chamberlain's reception at the Town Hall, Birmingham. It was a straight forward British tribute of respect and affection from friends and neighbors and was free from partisanship, the local leaders of both parties uniting in it. The Secretary of the Colonies and Mrs. Chamberlain were received by the Lord Mayor and the Lady Mayoress, after the great company of guests were seated at the banquet hall, precisely as the King and Queen were conducted in state to their seats at the London Guildhall. There were guards of honor and military and civil parades all the way from High-bury.

The champion of the middle class of Britain was singled out for honors almost royal, and yet the undertone of the proceedings was homely and democratic. No British statesman ever had a heartier send-off from friends at home. All roads in Birmingham led last evening to the Town Hall. The interior presented a brilliant scene, every seat on the floor was occupied, and the galleries were packed some time before the Colonial Secretary arrived. The appearance of Mr. and Mrs. Chamberlain was the signal for a great outburst of cheering, which lasted for some minutes. The Colonial Secretary was evidently touched by the extraordinary enthusiasm of the gathering, and it was in a voice full of emotion that he responded to the toast to his health. He paid a tender and affectionate tribute to his wife, whose name had been mentioned in the toast. She had, he said, sustained him by her courage, cheered him by her sympathy, and he had found in her his best and truest counselor.

A GOOD START

The first work was turned out by the Chaplin Wheel Works on Friday and Saturday. The tender and saw and planer were set in motion, and a little work was done. A slight accident, however, occurred to the engine and work was stopped. As soon, however, as the engine is repaired, the work will go on. Several new men have arrived at the factory and it is beginning to present quite a busy appearance. A number of the drying rooms are in operation and the wood is being dried. Be slower in choosing than in changing a friend.

MORE NEW INDUSTRIES FOR THE MAPLE CITY

Ex-Ald. McKeough and Ald. McCoig put City in Communication With Them—Ald. Waddell Finally Passes His Circus By Law—Busy Meeting of City Council.

A new roof will be put on the market buildings.

Nearly every motion was well discussed, but always passed.

The city still has 48 cords of that chestnut rail wood on its hands.

The tenders of Richard Stevens for the wads street sewer at $188 was accepted.

The city buys two cords of wood for $2 from W. M. Drader, for the fire Department.

The Lake Erie railroad will be asked to put Head street in repair along where their track runs.

The tenders for the William street pavement over the creek, was referred to the Board of Works.

The sprinkling season is over and the check of Contractor John Bowers for $100 was ordered returned.

The board of health by-law in regard to keeping cows, pigs, and poultry was referred to the finance committee.

An effort will be made to get the $15,000 which the Privy Council ordered the Lake Erie to pay in lieu of car shops.

Ald. Waddell succeeded in getting his circus by-law passed, and is congratulated by Mayor Sulman and Ald. Cowan.

W. E. McKeough puts the Industrial committee in the way of securing a large manufacturing concern for this city.

An effort will be made to collect the amount paid out by the city for groceries for those who had smallpox in their families.

Ald. McCoig is going to get an implement factory for this city. All they ask is a free site and a cash bonus. Amount not stated.

S. B. Arnold notified the city that he would collect damages for the injuries to his bicycle sustained by reason of the ruts at the corner of Selkirk street and Victoria avenue.

C. R. Atkinson drew attention to the fact that no provision had been made for getting rid of the water from the buildings in the laying of the granite walk on the e. s. of Fifth street, and the city would be liable for all damages to pedestrians.

Ald. Cowan says he is opposed to the fixing of the assessment on the factory of John Piggott and Sons, because it is illegal. He then advocates fixing the assessment of a new factory at $5,000. The chairman of the industrial committee refused to reduce the assessment of John Piggott and Sons' factory from $10,000 to $5,000 and then advocated fixing the assessment of the plant of the new industry at $5,000, acknowledging that the factory would be worth $15,000.

All the members of the City council attended at the regular meeting last night except Ald. Fleming, who is out of the city.

The account of Daniel Jordan, for $33 for bricks, was ordered paid.

Ald. Cowan asked what the Board of works were paying for bricks.

Ald. Mounteer replied 75c a load delivered.

Ald. Cowan wanted to know if that wasn't a big price.

Mayor Sulman replied that it was low enough.

The account of J. D. McNab for $13.75 was referred to Finance.

The account of the Chatham Electrical Co., $313.95, was referred to the Property committee.

Ald. McCoig suggested that this account be looked into. The city was having large accounts from this company, while they had a man to tend to this part of the electric lighting.

The account of Park Bros. for the fire whistle, amounting to $48.55 was referred with power.

Ald. McCoig thought that the whistle had been paid for.

Ald. Taylor replied that the whistle had not yet been paid for.

W. M. Drader's account for two cords of wood for the fire hall, was referred to the Property committee.

Geo. A. Taylor asked remuneration for tending to the lights at the corner of Duke and King streets for two years—referred to the Property committee.

The industry that is seeking to locate here wrote asking the city to put their offer in a more definite shape. Received.

Ald. Waddell read a communication from the manufacturers of steam air registers and furnaces, asking whether the city would give them to locate here. It is an industry of considerable magnitude, and they would employ nothing but skilled mechanics.

Ald. Waddell said that through the agency of ex-Ald. McKeough, he had heard of this firm, and had written them. They were going to locate somewhere in the Dominion and Chatham stood a good chance of getting the concern. The communication was referred to the industrial committee and the city clerk was instructed to write the company acknowledging receipt of their letter.

C. R. Atkinson drew attention to the fact that the by-law had been ignored in the laying of the granite walk on the e. s. of Fifth street, and no provision had been made for the water from the eaves, troughs of his two buildings, and that the city would be liable for all damages to pedestrians incurred thereby. Referred to the Board of Works.

S. B. Arnold wrote that he would hold their liable for damages by reason of his breaking his wheel, which accident happened from the bad state of the roads at the corner of Selkirk street and Victoria avenue. Referred to Finance.

The Board of Health wrote enclosing a mass of papers, asking the city to put in a sanitary condition or else a new building be erected. The Board of health also sent a copy of a by-law which they asked the city to pass. The document provided that poultry should not be kept within 50 ft. of a dwelling house, street or alley, that a cow should not be kept within 100 ft. of a house, street or alley, and that live hogs should not be weighed on the market scales. The by-law was laid over.

Ald. McCoig called the attention of the Board of Works to the water on Pine street and on Centre street.

He also asked if Park street could be put in fit condition for rags. The business men of that street were losing trade.

Ald. Cowan called the attention of the Board of works to the condition of the sidewalk on the west side of Foster street.

Ald. Cowan said that there were complaints about the bad state of St. Clair street pavement.

Ald. Mounteer—it was scraped today.

Ald. Waddell asked the Finance committee how the collections were coming in from those who had got aid during the small-pox outbreak. The Mayor promised that an effort would be made to collect the accounts.

FINANCE.

Ald. McCoig, chairman of the Finance committee, reported that by reference to the account of Lewis & Richards, $37.37, be paid.

That the check of Park Bros. for $195 for use of fire engine be accepted. The report was adopted.

Ald. Cowan, chairman of the Industrial committee, reported that by reference to the request of John Piggott & Sons that their assessment be reduced from $10,000 to a fixed assessment of $5,000 and free water, that the industrial committee had considered the request; they recommended that in view of the fact that the firm intended to enlarge their premises, that the assessment be not increased when the assessment is made. That the request for a free water be not granted. The report was adopted.

AFTER PIGGOTT AND GRAY.

Ald. Cowan said that while he made the report as chairman of the Finance committee he was not in favor of it. The assessment of John Piggott & Sons was $10,000 and Ald. Cowan would oppose any reduction. If any reduction were made it would be done illegally. Recent legislation had been enacted in regard to such matters as these, and if reduction were made the council would be personally responsible. Ald. Cowan added that the Gray & Sons' factory was worth $150,000. Their assessment had been $30,000, but was raised to $100,000. This was illegal and the council had no right to grant it.

Andrew Thomson read the report of Mayor Sulman, chairman of the city wood yard committee, stating that the wood yard had been relieved and the need of the civic wood yard was no longer felt. The city had at hand at present 48 cords of 16

GOING TO DETROIT

The many friends of William D. Tristram will learn with regret that he is soon to leave Chatham and go to Detroit, where he will in future reside. He was also a member of the Owl Club, whose preserve lies at the mouth of the river, Dover Township. Mr. Tristram was born in the Old Country but resided in Detroit for a number of years before coming to Chatham. He has purchased the business of his old partner, M. J. Bernard, 4162 Jefferson avenue, and with Mrs. Tristram will shortly move to the City of the Straits.

GOOD PROSPECTS FOR A CONFERENCE IN IRELAND.

Overwhelming Majority of Landlords Seem to Favor Such a Convention—Arrangements Being Made.

London, Nov. 18.—A poll of the Irish landlords, which was undertaken by a committee of gentlemen interested in the Irish question, on the proposal to call a conference of landlords and tenants, with a view to the sale of the land to the latter, has resulted in a vote of 1,128 to 378 in favor of holding the conference, for which arrangements will be immediately proceeded with. A circular announcing the result of the poll has been sent to 4,000 Irish land-owners, who possess 500 acres and upwards.

MANY GIRLS ESCAPE.

Six Industrial Refuge Inmates Get Away—Some Picked Locks.

Toronto, Nov. 18.—Since November 5 no less than six girls have escaped from the Industrial refuge in connection with the Mercer Reformatory. On that date Maud Long, who was serving an indefinite term for vagrancy, climbed a twelve-foot fence and escaped. She had only been in the refuge a few days. On Wednesday last three more girls made a secret good-bye to the institution, after breaking a window at the back on the ground floor. They were Gertrude Long, Lillie Gray and Nellie Woodcock. This occurred at 10 o'clock. Some attendants heard the breaking glass and heard someone saying "Hurry up, girls," but did not suspect an attempt at escape.

On Monday night Eric Liscomb and Mary Madigan, both serving indefinite terms for vagrancy, left the institution after tea. They were in the basement and are supposed to have picked the locks. The police have been asked to assist in recapturing the girls.

SAME LIST AS LAST MAY.

WHO MAY VOTE ON REFERENDUM ON DECEMBER 4.

Act Provides For Use of the Lists Used in Provincial Elections—The Question to be Answered.

Toronto, Nov. 18.—As there is doubt in some quarters as to who will be entitled to vote on the referendum on the liquor bill on December 4, it may be stated that the same voters' lists will be used that were used in the Provincial general election in May last. The clause in the act covering this point is as follows:—

"The persons entitled to vote upon the said question shall be all persons whose names shall appear on the voters lists used or which would have been used had a poll been held at the next general election of members to serve in the Legislative Assembly, held after the passing of this act, as entitled to vote and who were entitled to vote at the said election, and who shall have been from the date of the said general election and until the date of voting on the said question residents of and domiciled in the Province of Ontario, and whose names are duly entered in the poll books to be used for the purpose of the voting under this act."

"Are you in favor of bringing into force the liquor act, 1902?"

TUESDAY NOVEMBER 18.

THE RALEIGH OIL STRIKE.

Whatever be the legal technicalities governing the claims of the Canada Land Company in connection with the big oil strike in Raleigh township, it seems to the Planet that the farmers, who own the land upon which operations are proceeding, suffer a severe injustice.

These good yeomen, who have built up their homesteads and cultivated and improved their lands should be allowed the major share of the benefits accruing from the liberal deposits of oil which have recently been located.

It seems to the Planet that the Raleigh township residents would do well to organize and in amicable co-operation have the titles and legal technicalities thoroughly sifted by a competent legal expert.

It appears that the deeds in question from the Canada Land Company at least, such as were issued subsequent to the Raleigh oil boom of 1895—reserved certain rights in this connection with the rights of ingress and egress. This would seem to be an easement, which would now be outlawed and its effect on the whole should be investigated.

Again, it may be that in the original Crown grants these privileges were reserved—and, if so, the government should step in and protect the farmers.

In any event it should become the duty of parliament to see that the farmers of Kent County are fairly dealt with and reimbursed for the necessary losses and disadvantages which they are experiencing.

A STRANGE ACTION.

An application by a member of The Planet staff, on behalf of this journal, to License Inspector T. C. Macnabb, secretary of the local Board of License Commissioners, for access to the record of the local distribution of the license funds, met with a curt refusal.

Whether Mr. Macnabb is desirous of concealing from the public something discreditable in the work of this governmental department or in his own performance—or non-performance—of his public and official duties, or whether he merely seized the opportunity to give vent to a childish spirit of spitefulness which he apparently nurses towards The Planet, this great home journal does not know.

If the former be the case, it is due to the public that a careful and thorough investigation be inaugurated, and to this end the attention of the Government should be directed to the matter. It is a regrettable fact that in probably no other city in the Province are the liquor laws more flagrantly and openly violated, and the duties of the license inspector more diligently neglected than in Chatham. In view of this deplorable condition of affairs Mr. Macnabb's anxiety to conceal all official proceedings is unpleasantly suggestive.

Wonderful Cures by Dodd's Kidney Pills is Causing Much Talk.

Dame Joseph Millette, of St. Rosaire, Tells of Her Pains and How Easily She Got Rid of Them.

St. Rosaire, D'Arthabasca, Que., Nov. 17.—(Special).—Among the people of this neighborhood there has been much talk of late of the numerous cures resulting from the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Such diseases as Rheumatism, Backache, Heart Disease and even Catarrh have yielded readily to this wonderful remedy, and people are fast learning how important it is that the Kidneys should be kept in shape to perform their duty of removing impurities from the blood.

One of those who speak out often and earnestly of the good Dodd's Kidney Pills have done is the good Dame Joseph Millette. She suffered from Kidney Complaint and Catarrh and is now completely cured. It is not to be wondered at that she speaks as follows: "I suffered much from malady of the Kidneys. It settled in the loins and gave me great pain and discomfort. I took two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and am perfectly well. Dodd's Kidney Pills are a great remedy for me. I give Dodd's Kidney Pills my certificate from a big heart."

Many others, once suffering but now in good health, unite with Dame Joseph Millette in singing the praises of Dodd's Kidney Pills. They have proved conclusively that no disease arising from diseased Kidneys can stand before them.

Not every minister has discovered that the shortest sermon may have the longest reach.

Facts About "The Roast Beef of Old England"—English Breeders Turning Attention to Dairy Farming.

"The Roast Beef of Old England" is mostly derived from the carcasses of foreign cattle, and the tendency of home-killed beef to decrease is growing. Many English breeders now devote more attention to dairy farming than to cattle-breeding. It is becoming a serious question whether we are to have any beef at all, except at prohibitive prices. The consumer is at present paying nearly 20 per cent. more for his beef than last year, and in the opinion of trade experts prices will go still higher during the coming winter. A number of small shops, however, our representative has ascertained, have been financially crippled by a shrinkage of business resulting from the inability of the poorer classes to purchase at the present rates. The wholesale trader inevitably suffers in his turn from the failure of retailers to meet their business engagements. In view of this serious position of affairs, which threatens one of the most important sources of the people's food, there is a growing demand that the embargo shall be removed from the importation of Canadian and Argentine cattle. For nearly two years our ports have been closed to Argentine cattle, as a preventive against the introduction of the foot-and-mouth disease. But the Argentine is stated to be now free from the disease, and a departmental official of the Board of Agriculture admitted to our representative that an offer of the Argentine Government to defray the cost of the expert examination of its herds in order to demonstrate their immunity from disease had been "heard of" at the Board of Agriculture.

Mr. Hanbury (the president of the board), however, saw no necessity for accepting it. The Minister's claim to be acting in the interests of the English farmers' certainly suggests that his action is dictated more by the desire of protecting competition than by the fear of a disease which is as far as he has any reason to believe, extinct in the country on which his embargo is laid. But the interests of the whole people are of more importance than the interests of the farmers, and the selfish indignation which it has raised, is as futile, as it is unjust, for it has not encouraged the British farmer to engage more extensively in cattle-breeding—London Chronicle.

Forbes' Story of the Commune. News-gathering, not fighting, is the trade of the war correspondent. But it is news at any price, and a fine unpremeditated heroism often goes with the gathering of it.

One morning after the siege of Paris, when the city was believed in London to be still in the hands of the Commune, Sir John Robinson, manager of The Daily News of London, reached his office to find the late Archibald Forbes lying on the floor ashen, his head on a post-officer's doorway, while the printers were hard at work on his manuscript, the story of "Paris in Flames," a most vivid description of the last days of the Commune.

Forbes had telegraphed from Dover announcing his "killing," and Sir John Robinson, at the recent unveiling, in St. Paul's Cathedral of a memorial to the famous war correspondent, said that the country heard of those terrible days for the first time. "London was ablaze with excitement. Bouverie Street was impassable and through the newsboys' shrieking for copies, and in Parliament Mr. Gladstone's question that afternoon and could only say he hoped the story was exaggerated. "When Forbes' wakened from his slumber amid all this turmoil, what a spectacle he was! His face was as black as ink, his eyes were red and inflamed, his clothes matted with clay and dust, he was a dreadful picture. He had been compelled to assist the Communists in defending a triangular space upon which three detachments of the Versaille's troops were firing, and had actually taught the citizens how to build a barricade."

By aid of dummy despatches, addressed to Lord Selborne and the Queen, Forbes escaped from this threatening triangle and wrote all the way to London, being the solitary passenger on the mail boat across the Channel.

Education and Leadership. A few weeks ago Lord Selborne illuminated one of his speeches by saying that leaders were born and not made, and that character counted for more than intellect at every point in the Navy. This is perfectly true, nevertheless promotion is based on the assumption that the reverse is the case. It is undeniable that French and German officers possess more general knowledge than the British officer, and a sounder knowledge of their profession. It is, however, he who leaves them far behind as a leader of men. It was character that made England what she is, and it is by character that her position will be maintained. The man who lacks the true quality of leadership is the man who despises knowledge, not the man who possesses it. We shall have a noble conception of life again when we pay homage to both. A few years ago we paid homage to neither; hence the diplomatic and military humiliations in South Africa—Broad Arrow.

Where Shots Strike. Of every 110 shots which strike some soldier, forty-three will lodge in the legs, thirty-three shots will lodge in the arms, twenty-two strike between neck and waist, and eleven shots some part of the soldier's head.

WORLD OF SPORT

FOOTBALL

The Windsor and Essex teams played at Windsor on Saturday, with the result that Windsor won easily by four goals to nil.

This makes Windsor the winner of the Western Division of the league and, if Chatham succeeds in defeating Darrell in the next game the old time opponents, Windsor and Chatham, will have to fight the battle for supremacy.

Windsor has drafted into the team a number of veteran players who showed up strongly in Saturdays game with Essex. The Windsor team on Saturday last will altogether likely be the one that Darrell or Chatham will have to go up against in the finals.

The Windsor team on Saturday was Goal-Lox, Backs—Striker and Mienk, Half Backs—Kidd, Thornburn and Brian, R. Wing—Gall, Carmichael, C. M. L. Lyons, L. Wing—Edmonds, McAlpin.

A full practice of the local club is called for Thursday evening in uniform. Every player should turn out to this practice.

CURLING

Ridgetown, Nov. 17.—At a meeting held last week, the Ridgetown curling and Hockey Association was organized for the purpose of purchasing and controlling the rink. Officers were appointed as follows: President, W. B. Graham; Vice-President, A. White; Secretary-Treasurer, R. B. Hunter; other directors, Dr. D. Marr, W. A. F. Campbell, J. G. Montgomery and Dr. Gray.

The result was thrilling for the young pencil pusher at least. He couldn't get rid of the odor, but hastened home, and by devious ways he sought his boarding house. His friends all deserted him; they couldn't stand it. Even his landlord wanted to turn him out. She finally consented to get him a spare suit to wear until he could get a new one. He was then changed his clothes out in the barn. He hung his odiferous wearing apparel out on a line in the yard for ventilating purposes only, but the neighbors object and threaten to test the burning qualities of the banker's best suit.

The victim says that everybody he met must have thought that he was Samson or Sampson, for as he passed they would look after him and say "My, what a strong young man. The moral of this tale is "Don't go skunk hunting in your Sunday clothes."

SAD EXPERIENCE

Sunday several bank clerks from the city banks went rabbit hunting out in Harwich just beyond the city limits. The dogs started a rabbit and the boys were chasing it when suddenly a skunk was started. The meeting was quite unexpected and one of the figure makers in one of the city banks has reason to regret the meeting between himself and the skunk. The result was thrilling for the young pencil pusher at least. He couldn't get rid of the odor, but hastened home, and by devious ways he sought his boarding house. His friends all deserted him; they couldn't stand it. Even his landlord wanted to turn him out. She finally consented to get him a spare suit to wear until he could get a new one. He was then changed his clothes out in the barn. He hung his odiferous wearing apparel out on a line in the yard for ventilating purposes only, but the neighbors object and threaten to test the burning qualities of the banker's best suit.

The victim says that everybody he met must have thought that he was Samson or Sampson, for as he passed they would look after him and say "My, what a strong young man. The moral of this tale is "Don't go skunk hunting in your Sunday clothes."

MEETS WITH SUCCESS

Tom Carter, an old Chatham boy, is spending a couple of days with his Chatham friends. Mr. Carter is an ex-C. B. C. student, and was a young popular young man when he was here. It will be remembered that before he left Chatham he met with a serious accident in Hadley's mill, as the result of which he lost three of the fingers of his left hand. This accident was the turning point of Mr. Carter's career. He was forced to give up his trade, cabinet making, and has turned his attention to photography. For the last few years he has been attending college in Effingham, Ill., but has now graduated and is on his way to his former home in Clinton, where he will commence in business. A sample of his work, an enlarged photo of a little girl, finished with blue tint, is on exhibition in McCall's window. It is a very creditable piece of work.

TENDERS

Build or separate tenders will be received at the office of the undersigned until Wednesday, Nov. 26th, for the various trades required for the erection and completion of a brick church on the Baldon Road, about 4 1/2 miles from Chatham. Lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted. JAMES W. CARSWELL, Architect.

The object of the Hudson's Bay Company in securing an extra-Provincial license is to enable them to sell certain lands which they hold in the Province of Ontario. This is a somewhat formal proceeding, and adds but little to the many powers given them by Charles, the merry monarch, in 1670.

BUNYAN'S CHAPEL

Place Where He Preached to Be Destroyed—An Interesting Building in Slum District of Southwark.

Among the historic London buildings now marked out for destruction is a consequence of their ramshackle condition or the fact that their sites are coveted, there are few more interesting than a dingy, dilapidated little double house hidden away in a narrow street in the centre of the slum district of Southwark.

The place differs little in appearance from the other dingy, dilapidated little houses around it, except in having an old-fashioned street lamp overhanging one of its two doors, but it differs from them in its history through having been the chapel where John Bunyan, author of "Pilgrim's Progress," preached.

That is, one-half of the building is given up to Bunyan's old chapel. The other is the place where the preacher and his followers hid when either the representatives of the crown or the representatives of the church were engaged in hunting them.

To visit this historic little structure involves a long ride on an omnibus from the East End of London and a good deal of poking about in search of Great Suffolk street—which isn't great in any sense—where the former chapel stands. It is locked with a padlock, the key of which is in the keeping of an old woman who lives in the little shanty opposite.

Long after John Bunyan's time his chapel was turned into a poor mission room, and the walls are now covered with religious texts and faded pictures of Bible scenes. It is all grimy and dingy now, and the floor is covered with litter.

In the centre stands the old baptistery, where once the converts were immersed, and a sort of gallery stretches all round. It is quite evidently in the last stages of decay, and will not give the "house-breakers" much trouble, but it is rather interesting to stand inside and think how often the author of "The Holy War" and "The Life of Mr. Badman" must have looked on these same walls two and a quarter centuries ago.

Bunyan's connection with the Great Suffolk street chapel began when, after his 12 years' imprisonment for expounding the doctrines of another than the established church, the writer became a licensed preacher. He had been released under the "Declaration of Indulgence," and for a time was un molested, except for the animosity of the anti-Baptists, who frequently descended upon their chapel in force.

At such times the supporters of the new faith, headed by their Bunyan himself, used to scuttle into the adjoining house and wait until the coast was clear.

Three years after the issuance of "declaration of indulgence," however, it was revoked, and the licenses of all Nonconformist ministers recalled. Bunyan was one of the undaunted preachers who went on holding meetings, and on March 4, 1672, a warrant signed by 13 magistrates and sealed by 10 of them, was issued for his arrest.

He was taken, tried under the Conventicle Act, and sent to prison for six months. It was during this imprisonment, and not, as is generally said, during his previous one of 12 years, that Bunyan wrote the first part of the "Pilgrim's Progress."

The work, when it first appeared, was much shorter than it became afterward, when Bunyan had time to receive the worldly wisdom, the second meeting with the Evangelist, the talk with Charity at the Palace Beautiful, and the story of Diffidence, the wife of Giant Despair.

POWERS OF THE BANNER. By L. ROWLAND HALL.

The president of the Merchants and Citizens' bank sat in his office with his face buried in his hands. "Have we reached the end?" he said.

"No," replied the cashier; "not yet. We are still safe, but if something is not done we shall go to the wall before 12 tomorrow. There was a long line-up at the windows when we closed.

"Well, I suppose we must meet the inevitable," said the president gloomily. "We have exhausted every possible resource. In three days' time we could get all the aid we need, but in three days the credit of the bank will be gone forever."

For twelve years enmity had existed between Arthur Rollins and Percy W. Powers, proprietor and editor in chief of the Banner. When Rollins was

"ARE YOU A REPORTER WITH A SCOOP?" HE ADDED HUMOROUSLY. nominated for mayor, the Banner had bitterly opposed his election.

Percy Powers thought of it all as he sat at his desk in the editorial rooms of the Banner. Before him lay a proof sheet sent up by the night editor.

"O. K. Run without change. Above are facts and legitimate news matter. We are not responsible for bank's condition. A few minutes later the copy was in the forms of the Morning Banner."

"Can you tell me where I can find Mr. Powers, the editor?" she asked. "Who sent you here, and what on earth do you want with the editor, child?"

"You are you a reporter with a scoop?" he added humorously. "What's a scoop?" she queried.

"Powers did not answer, but took from her a crumpled note, over which he bent wonderingly. No name was signed. He needed none.

"Half the first edition is off the presses now," said the night editor. "Are we going to lose that much time and paper, sir?"

"Then good night," said Powers. "Tell your mother you saw the editor and that he did this"—he bent his head and kissed her.

WHERE UNCLE TOM LIVES

Tomtown, a Newly Established Settlement on the Blanche River, in the Temiskaming District—Tomtown's Founder Is Now Crowded.

Settlement has recently proceeded very actively along the Blanche River, says the correspondent of the Globe at Lakehead. This is a considerable stream, which, commencing at the head of Lake Temiskaming, extends in a northerly direction some forty miles.

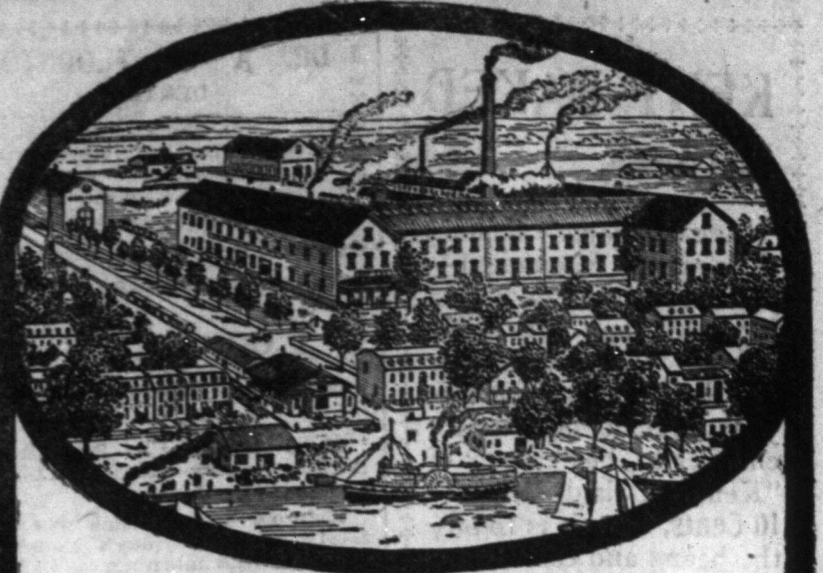

An old man, possibly 65 years of age, a venerable figure, with a long white beard, kindly face and benevolent eyes, stands on the bank and greets the steamer as it ties up at Tomtown. That is Uncle Tom, and he welcomes the visitor to his domain, for, though living so long alone, he is exceedingly sociable, and an evening with Uncle Tom in his cabin, talking by the light of a candle or lantern, is not to be forgotten.

Uncle Tom at present lives in the midst of a little colony that is growing up around Tomtown. It is expected to be a considerable centre after a time, and when the road now building west meets the road running north from New Liskeard, communication between these two points will be more easily kept up in winter.

The Equator Defined. A school inspector was recently examining a class in geography. He had previously given them a short lesson, in the course of which he had told them all about the earth's axis, and the Poles at the ends thereof, and that the equator was an imaginary line running around the earth.

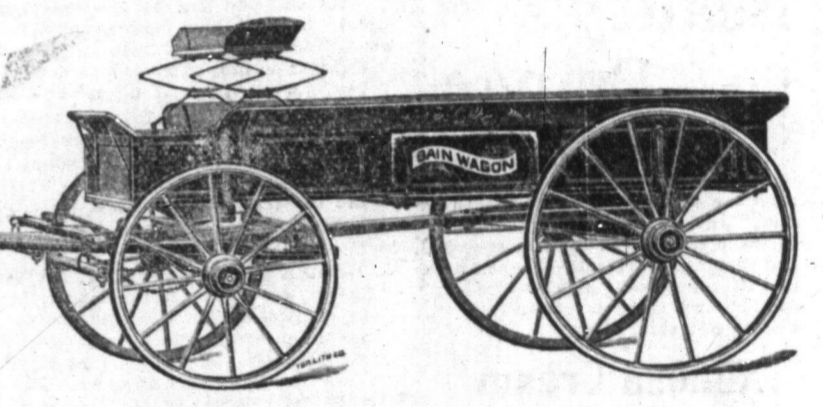

"Now, boys, what is the equator?" There was a pause, and the inspector smiled triumphantly, when a fierce-looking boy growled out the answer: "The 'quator,' he said 'is a megalergic lion running round the earth.'"

BRAIN AND INTELLECT.

The Exact Seat in the Forebrain of the Highest Intellect.

The exact seat in the brain of the highest intellectual faculties has formed a moot point in science since the functions of the organ of mind began to be investigated with accuracy. The general consensus of opinion localizes what we term "mind" in the prefrontal lobes of the brain, but by another school of thinkers the hinder lobes have been credited with performing our highest cerebral duties. The balance of evidence, I should say, is decidedly in favor of the former view, and recent researches of our own school of thinkers in question some 295 cases of brain injury and disease were examined. In all save two it was noted that interference of extensive nature with the prefrontal region resulted in serious disturbance of the mental faculties. Less severe injury produced less marked effects. These facts parallel the researches of other investigators, and they are further substantiated by what is observed in cases of idiocy connected with a want of development of the frontal lobes of the brain.

As to the relative importance of the two lobes or halves of the cerebrum, or chief brain mass, most of us know that each half governs the opposite side of the body, and that, as we are right-handed, so we may be called left-brained. The superiority in functional importance of our left brain is not questioned, and it is therefore interesting to find Dr. Phelps insisting from the results of his investigations, that our left brain lobe is really the intellectual brain. The right half, it is added, is capable of sustaining severe injury without marked mental effects supervening, and cases are quoted in support of this fact. Indeed, such cases have frequently puzzled physiologists, seeing that the disturbance of the intellect has in no sense been commensurate with the injury to the brain. On the notion of the greater importance of our left brain and on the theory that severe injuries which do not produce outward mental breakdown really involve the right lobe, the puzzling constitution of the brain may be explained in part at least. But at least we have been assured concerning the brain's ways and work. Injuries of the left half do not always produce serious effects as regards the mental life, while we have had some physiologists insisting that we have really two intellects, and that while the left lobe is the Jekyll of the intellect the right, on occasion at least, is apt to play the part of Hyde. A fascinating theory this, but one which, unless supported by not likely to append its imprimatur. London Chronicle.

Rebuilt by Sir Christopher Wren. Work has been commenced in connection with the demolition of the old church of St. Giles, Botolph Claydon, near the Monument, London, which has been closed for over eleven years. The church, which was one of those rebuilt by Sir Christopher Wren after the great fire, is only thirty-four feet long, thirty-six feet wide, and thirty-six feet high, flat-roofed, and with a steeple at the northwest corner eighty-four feet high. The parish is in accordance with the church, for its area is only five hundred yards by two hundred yards. The parishioners, in 1896 numbered thirty-four. The first rector after the rebuilding was the famous Dr. Sherlock, who raised the ferment against the non-jurors so graphically described by Macaulay, and who in 1691 became Dean of St. Paul's under "Titmouse's" primacy. The only tablet of any historical interest in the church is that to the famous Alderman William Beckford, which is thus inscribed: "Sacred to the memory of that real patriot, the Rt. Hon. William Beckford, twice Lord Mayor of London, whose incessant spirited efforts to serve his country hastened his dissolution on the 21st of June, 1770, in the time of his Majesty George the Third, of his age 61. With the demolition of the church will doubtless cease a series of payments connected with it that have furnished a rare text for the student of the history of the city of London. The church was closed in 1891 as unsafe, yet payments have been annually made since—to the rector £408, parish clerk £40, sexton £45, beadle £30, organist £10, and other expenses £100. The church, with age long since, and £60 to a curate. There were other payments, but why and what for is a city mystery.

The British as Shipbuilders. Great Britain, says a writer in "Britain at Work," builds in a year about double the tonnage produced by the rest of the world. One British shipbuilder, the Harland and Wolff, including warships of the United States, and almost equals the production of both Germany and France.

The shipbuilders in the face even of opposition. The value of the shipping launched in Great Britain in 1901 was £27,000,000, and the number of men employed in shipyards and engine-shops is, off and on, about 130,000, and nearly a score of trades go to make the muster.

From Messina to England. A considerable trade in live quails takes place yearly from Messina to the United Kingdom. The birds are caught in the neighborhood of Messina. They are kept from three to four days in cages before being shipped, and are fed on hemp seed and ground corn, and are watered freely every day. It is estimated that from 90,000 to 100,000 are caught annually.

CASE OF WALTER HERBERT

ATTORNEY-GENERAL SAYS LAW MUST TAKE ITS COURSE.

The Crown's Chief Witness in the Sifton Trial Must Take the Consequences of His Confessions, Though Mercy May be Extended.

Toronto, Nov. 18.—I do not see that we can do anything but let the law take its course," said Hon. J. M. Gibson, Attorney-General, when asked respecting the fate of Walter Herbert, the chief witness against Gerald Sifton, on the charge of murdering his father, Joseph Sifton, in Middlesex County. "He has confessed himself to be guilty of murder. It does not seem to me that any other course is open than to bring him up for sentence at the next Assizes at London. In fact, he will remain in jail and come up, as a matter of routine, to be dealt with by the presiding Judge. After he has been sentenced it will be for the Ottawa authorities to exercise clemency if they see fit."

Mr. Gibson was asked if prosecution for perjury would not be more consistent with the jury's action in finding Sifton not guilty, than to sentence him for murder. The Attorney-General shrugged his shoulders and remarked simply that the Minister of Justice might have some difficulty in deciding just what to do under the circumstances.

GOLDWIN SMITH'S BRAIN.

HE HAS AGREED TO LEAVE IT TO CORNELL UNIVERSITY.

He Will Abide by a Joking Conversation—Prof. Wilder of Cornell Making a Collection.

Toronto, Nov. 18.—Mr. Goldwin Smith has, as the result of a joking conversation, agreed that after death his brain shall be sent to Prof. Wilder of Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y. In explaining how this agreement was made, Mr. Smith said: "I know Prof. Wilder very well, and he has been making a special study of brains and collecting them for my museum. He asked me for mine one day and I remarked laughingly, 'You shall have it, I think it is the only request I will be able to make to you.' I treated the matter as a joke, but Prof. Wilder was in earnest. I am now in my 80th year, so that the legacy may soon fall."

When Mr. Goldwin Smith first came to America in the later sixties he was appointed professor of history in Cornell University, and he ever since maintained the most sympathetic relations with that institution.

METHODIST MISSIONS.

Nearly $12,000 Raised in Toronto Last Night—Mr. Sifton Speaks.

Toronto, Nov. 18.—"Speak up to the people that they go forward," the motto displayed above the platform at the Metropolitan Church last night, appeared almost unnecessary. It was apparent that they will press forward towards the goal of the $50,000 emergency fund for Methodist home missions, authorized by the General Conference at Winnipeg. Last night's rally was but moderately attended, but the weather preventing many from being present, yet $11,800 was subscribed, as Dr. Sutherland said, only $700 less than the fourth of what is asked from the whole of Canada. The emergency fund has yet to come before the individual Methodist churches in Toronto, so that this does not by any means represent Toronto's contribution to the fund.

Hon. Clifford Sifton, Minister of the Interior, delivered an address of some length, which was marked by a rational optimism in regard to the future of the west that deeply impressed his hearers. The result of the donations was announced at the conclusion of Mr. Sifton's speech. It was $11,800, and included one donation of $5,000, said to be from the Hart A. Massey estate; five of $1,000 each; one of $500, one of $200, one of $100, five of $50, the others being for smaller amounts.

FOOLED THE OFFICER.

Clever Escape of a Prisoner on a Flying Train.

Utica, N. Y., Nov. 18.—Paul Zowalski, a prisoner who was arrested in Cleveland, Ohio, and was in charge of an Albany officer, who was taking him to Albany to answer a charge of grand larceny, escaped from the southwestern special just west of this city at an early hour yesterday. The train was about five miles from the city and was running 50 miles an hour. Zowalski was permitted to enter the ante-room, but a minute or two later the officer looked for him and discovered that the door was locked and that his prisoner had escaped out the window. A few minutes afterwards the train stopped at this station. The Albany officer and others went back after Zowalski, expecting to find him dead or injured, but no trace of him was found, though the search was kept up till after daylight. It has since been discovered that Zowalski climbed to the top of the coach and rode to this city. He remained on the roof till just before the train started and then dropped off and escaped in the dark. He was seen by a messenger boy a few minutes later warming himself beside one of the switch engines and it is supposed that he left before daylight on a freight. How he clambered from the window to the top of the coach is the wonder of all railroad men here.

A GOOD SAMARITAN.

Being Helped Himself Wishes to Help Others.

The papers were never so filled with advertisements of remedies that will leave every known disease, as they are to-day; these are invariably accompanied by letters from people, testifying in the strongest terms to the virtue and merit of the particular preparation advertised; but because so much is claimed for the medicine, it has come to the point where most people regard such testimonials as pure "fakes" and made up out of whole cloth.

We are glad however to vouch for the reliability of the following from Mr. Wm. Liechtenwalter, proprietor of the largest printing house in Canton, Ohio, regarding the Pyramid Pile Cure, which nothing is claimed except that it will cure any and every form of Piles.

"For several months past I have received so many inquiries from sufferers asking if my testimonial is authentic, that I am inclined to send in a bill to you for postage and stationery. Two years since I was laid up with piles, and my rectum is as clear and clean as any man who never had piles, although I suffered with protruding, bleeding and internal piles for twenty-seven years. I will not attempt to detail the agony I suffered, being too happy to say I believe I am cured, after two years of evidence that no man will sometimes not cure another; whether it was the Pyramid Pile Cure that cured me, I cannot say, but I have been free from piles for two years after treatment. I leave sufferers to draw their own conclusions.

I will answer any communication that a sufferer may ask, and will refer to any business house, bank or manufacturer of Canton, Ohio, concerning my identity, among whom I have lived for forty-eight years. The Pyramid Pile Cure is sold by druggists for fifty cents a package, or will be mailed to any address by Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., upon receipt of price.

WOOD PULP CONTROVERSY

U.S. GOVERNMENT NOT MOVING IN THE MATTER.

No Tariff Retaliation For the Present at Any Rate—Congress Only Has the Power.

Washington, Nov. 18.—The rumor referred to in Toronto despatches of yesterday to the effect that a proposition is afoot to levy a duty of $4 per thousand upon Canadian lumber must have found its origin in some threats of private American paper mill owners, he contends. It is stated positively here that the Washington Government has given the subject no consideration so far. This Government does not propose to enter Canada without a better understanding than it now has of the issues involved in this wood pulp controversy. Moreover, it is the official view that executive power in itself is insufficient to increase tariff rates upon Canadian products, and that legislation in the direction must come from Congress.

A NATIONAL CRIME.

THE PREVALENCE OF DRUNKENNESS IN ENGLAND.

Spirit Clubs Formed Among Factory Girls, to Which They Are Forced to Contribute.

London, Nov. 18.—The Star says:—The Bishop of London made a startling statement at the Women's Union Conference of the Church of England Temperance Society, held at the Church House, Westminster. Quoting from a letter which he had received and the authenticity of which he guaranteed, he said that there were many "spirit clubs" amongst the factory girls of London. The girls are almost intimidated if they do not contribute their quota to the general fund. The result is that Boxing Day, or more frequently Christmas Eve, becomes a drunken orgy.

Sir Thomas Barlow, one of the King's physicians, added his testimony, and said that although it was quite true that the coarser form of drunkenness had decreased amongst the educated class drinking was still a national crime. And secret drinking amongst women was a national sin. The woman who secretly drinks said Sir Thomas, becomes nervous, subject to strange fears, is afraid to cross the street, is afraid of a strange building in case she cannot get out again, has a feeble circulation, is hipped at the extremities and breaks out frequently into sudden cold sweats. Paralysis of the lower limbs is another symptom. "The matter," added Bishop Ingram, "is tremendously bound up in the question of the housing of the working classes."

CONTRACTS FOR U. S. FIRMS.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 17.—A United States firm was to-day awarded a million dollar contract to construct a system of telephone conduits in this city. The contract provides for the laying of twenty miles of underground tubes in 1903. The City of St. Petersburg is preparing to install a model telephone system. A Chicago firm has secured the contract for the switchboard.

THE DEATH OF HENTY.

POPULAR WRITER OF BOYS' STORIES PASSES AWAY.

Was on Board His Yacht at Weymouth—Had Written Many Stories of Adventure.

London, Nov. 18.—Mr. Geo. A. Henty, the well-known correspondent and author, died yesterday on board his yacht at Weymouth.

George A. Henty was born in 1832 and educated at Westminster School and Cambridge, leaving the university for the Crimea without taking a degree. He was in the Purveyors' Department, and on being invalided home was raised to the rank of Purveyor. He was in charge of several districts. After some years spent in mining operations in Italy he became special correspondent of The Standard, and was through the Austro-Italian, Franco-German and Turco-Serbian wars, the Ashanti and Abyssinian expeditions, and was with Garibaldi in the Tyrol. He wrote several novels, but latterly had been chiefly known as the author of books for boys, of which he wrote more than seventy.

MUST PAY THE DUTY.

STEAMER HECLA WAS REPAIRED AT KINGSTON, ONT.

Assessment on Cost of Repairs Must be Paid—United States Dockyard Too Small.

New York, Nov. 18.—A decision affirming the action of the collector at Ogdensburg, N.Y., in assessing duty for repairs made on the steamer Hecla at Kingston was announced yesterday by the Board of Classification of the United States General Appraisers. The collector assessed a duty of 50 per cent. ad valorem on the cost of the repairs, and the George Hill Coal Company protested, pleading that there was no United States dockyard on the lake big enough for the Hecla.

WHAT WILL FOLLOW?

WAR ON MILITIAMEN EXCITES SCHEMEDIADY.

Many Union Men in That City Now Belong to the National Guard.

Schemedady, Nov. 18.—The dismissal of a union workman by his employers because he belonged to the National Guard, which action was taken in accordance with recent resolutions passed by the Trades Assembly, has caused intense excitement here. As a matter of fact, most of the Schemedady militiamen are union men, and they are in a serious quandary. They figure that they will show the white feather if they leave the guard, yet if they do not leave it they will be expelled from the unions, and consequently be unable to earn a living. They fear for their families in case they seek to do their duty as citizens and continue in the guard, they say. Section 1 of the military code of the State of New York provides that all able-bodied males between the ages of eighteen and forty-five are amenable to military duty, and the Schemedady militiamen are wondering if the unions will carry on the fight, even if some of its members are not actually in the guard, but only help to form a part of the reserve, as do all other citizens of the State the ages of which lie between the years given.

THE KING OF PORTUGAL.

IS NOW THE GUEST OF HONOR AT WINDSOR CASTLE.

Emperor William is Enjoying Good Shooting in the North—To Meet Lord Rosebery.

London, Nov. 18.—The King of Portugal arrived at Windsor last night from France to pay a visit to the King and Queen of England. King Edward, who had come directly from Sandringham met him at the station. The two monarchs embraced one another most cordially and then drove to the castle. A great banquet was given at Windsor Castle in honor of the royal guest. As the present is the first occasion on which King Edward has visited the Town of Windsor since his illness the inhabitants of the royal borough gave him an elaborate reception.

The other ruler at present in Britain, the German Emperor, had good shooting to-day on the estate of the Earl of Londale, whose guest he has been at Lower Castle since Saturday. The Emperor will take luncheon with Lord Rosebery at the latter's seat at Dalmeny, Scotland, next Friday on his way back to Germany.

FAREWELL TO CHICAGO.

General Booth Addresses Three Large Meetings.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—General William Booth made what he termed his "spiritual farewell" to the Chicago members of the Salvation Army last night, after addressing three large meetings during the day. He will speak to the general public to-night at the Auditorium on "The Past, Present and Future of the Salvation Army."

Freight officials of the two large railways predict that the congestion of traffic will grow worse as the Ontario crop begins to move.
