COUNCIL MEETING

It was precisely five minutes after 3 o'clock this afternoon when the members of the Yukon council slowly filed in the council chamber and took their seats.

Three petitions were presented by Wood. One was for a road up Victoria gulch, a tributary of Bonanza, another was from the miners of Quartz creek asking that a road be built from A. Mack's discovery to that of Radford; also, a petition from Allan R. Cameron for the exclusive privilege of slaughtering animals for human consumption in Dawson.

The regular order of business was at once taken up beginning with the reading by the commissioner of a communication from the territorial secretary notifying the speaker officially of the issue of the election writs and the receipt by the secretary of the certificate of declaration of the election from the various returning officers of Joseph Andrew Clarke, Alfred Thompson, Max Landreville, John Pringle and Robert Lowe.

The minutes of the previous meeting were adopted on motion of Newlands, which was followed by the presentation of a number of petitions and communications by the different members. Newlands presented one from the residents of upper Bonanza asking for the establishment of a public school in that section; also, a petition signed by many of the merchants and freighters of the city asking for the repeal of the wide tire and what is commonly referred to as the 'single team' ordinance now in force; also, a petition numerously signed for a ferry across the Yukon river at Dawson and the establishment of a good road to the Fortymile and Sixtymile sections.

Dugas handed in petitions for a school on Last Chance, one for the construction of a road up Monte Cristo gulch and hill and Fox gulch and hills; also, one from the citizens of Dawson, and more particularly the Yukon Saw Mill Company and others that a ferry be established across the Yukon river from Dawson to West Dawson.

Pringle presented a petition signed by Louis Mazade and others asking that a school be established on Dominion at some point between 30 and 90 below lower discovery and also one at or near the vicinity of 244 below lower.

Dugas gave notice of his intention to introduce a bill on Monday respecting stenographers and the taking of evidence in the territorial courts. There being no orders of the day, Newlands moved to adjourn until Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Carried.

THURSDAY, MAY 7, 1903.

FIGHT WILL CONTINUE.

It is to be hoped that editor Beddoe will clear his skirts of the charges preferred against him in the affidavit of Mr. Tyrrel.

Mr. Beddoe himself is authority for the statement that he knows more of the peculiarities attached to concession grants than any other man in the district.

Mr. Beddoe has entered a general denial which for the honor of journalism we trust will prove correct.

Mr. Beddoe has entered a general denial which for the honor of journalism we trust will prove correct. No offense in the eyes of reputable newspaper men is more heinous than the one of which the editor of the News is accused.

If the News has offered to "sell out" the anti-concession fight for a consideration, then that paper is guilty of a foul betrayal of trust.

Through one process or another huge tracts of ground have been taken from the prospector and miner and given over to the keeping of concessionaires.

In none of these cases have the terms of the regulations been complied with and almost without exception the grants have been obtained by misrepresentation.

But whether that charge is sustained or not, is of little consequence compared with the importance of maintaining the gallant fight which the whole community has been engaged in waging.

Great causes never suffer in the long run from the development of weak spots among their advocates.

Notwithstanding the fact that sluicing on the creeks has scarcely begun in earnest, a single cleanup of nearly $50,000 is reported from one claim on upper Bonanza.

This cheerful intelligence should prove peculiarly interesting to those who have so lustily proclaimed the tidings that the old creeks are worked out.

Developments of the past few days serve to indicate that the ranks of labor in the territory are by no means unanimous in favoring the draft of the lien law as proposed by the local Trades and Labor Council.

As indicated by the report which appeared in the Nugget of last evening a number of influential members of the Trades and Labor Council had no hesitation in expressing their disapproval of the measure as it stands.

As sensible men, therefore, they prefer to keep within reasonable limits and secure something substantial for labor rather than risk total failure by pressing an ordinance which is beyond the power of the territorial council to enact.

Such views are in keeping with common sense and good judgment and had similar opinions prevailed among those who drew up the ordinance the Trades and Labor Council would be advocating a measure which the public and press might reasonably approve and which would have an excellent chance of becoming law.

If Editor Beddoe is innocent of the charge laid against him in the affidavit of Mr. Tyrrel, his proper course of procedure is to begin action for damages against the News for publishing the damaging document.

Concessions, and how to work them, would form an excellent topic for a News editorial just now.

Death in the Tornado

Hanceville, Ala., April 6.—A tornado passed over Hanceville, killing one and one-half miles north of here, at 2 o'clock this morning.

The destruction to property was heavy. The dead—Henry McCoy, and three children, C. C. Oden and three children, Jogh Griffin, wife and son. Fatally injured, two children of Henry McCoy, and two children of C. C. Oden.

The storm came from the southeast, and its roar was so terrific that it woke many people, some of whom fled in time to escape death in their falling houses.

MORE NEWS OF TANANA

Brought by Stampeders Returning Yesterday

Letters Written at Fairbank and Chena April 19th.—No Mention of Courts.

Thos. Chisholm was yesterday in receipt of another letter from Jack Marchbank, written at the new town of Chena, on the Tanana river, April 18th.

Marchbank insists that Chisholm take a trip to that country on the opening of navigation, to convince himself of its wonderful possibilities.

Following is another letter which was brought to Dawson by the same man who carried the letter to Chisholm: Fairbanks, Alaska, April 18.

Dear Sir,—As I wrote Dewey, things here do not look so good as they did from Dawson. However, I am only judging from what the people here say.

I moved into my house today and will start building another tomorrow. When that is done I may build in Grant city, which is just across the river from the upper end of town.

The pleasures that are sweetest to the taste are those we have never tasted. A good many more men would propose if they weren't afraid of being accepted.

After thirty years of married life I confess that I am ruthless, truthless and toothless. A man's first child makes him feel ten years younger; his fifth adds three generations to his age.

Definition from my new Matrimonial Dictionary: Optimist—A man who has been married two months. Pessimist—A man who has been married two years.

Collision at Calumet: Ottawa, April 5.—In a rear-end collision on the C. P. R. North Shore line at Calumet, half way between Montreal and Ottawa, this morning, Joseph Byrne, brakeman, residing in Hintonburg, was instantly killed and a locomotive and express car were derailed.

These Germans heard at Dunkirk of the French offer to send colonists to Stidia. Sixty-five families of them petitioned the French government to accept them as colonists in Algeria.

Accordingly, 865 Germans, of whom 325 were under 12 years of age, were embarked for North Africa. The news soon spread all over Germany, and it was not long before German peasants began to arrive at Dunkirk.

The first years of the colonists were filled with privation and suffering, largely because it took time to adapt themselves to the conditions of North Africa and partly because some of their early crops were a failure.

The mortality at first was very high. Many of the Germans became completely discouraged and at least a third of them returned to their homes. The pioneering stage, however, was over by the end of 1856.

The health conditions are very favorable. The death rate is a little higher than the lowest rates in the states of the German empire; this is due apparently to the fact that the infant mortality is somewhat excessive.

German Oasis In Algeria

It will surprise many to learn that for more than half a century a colony of Germans have lived in Algeria in a village which they built themselves with the help of the French government.

Their fortunes there have been varied by dark as well as sunny years. On the whole they have been prosperous, and there they are still living, a little island of Germans surrounded on all sides by French and Arabs.

It was fifty-nine years ago that the French in those early days of their occupation discovered a small source of water near the road between Oran and Mostaganem.

The French calculated that by economical use of the water it might be made to suffice for a population of 1,000 souls with 500 head of cattle and that there would be a surplus to irrigate sufficient land to feed the people and live stock.

The news was given out in France that there was a favorable opportunity for about 1000 immigrants in northwestern Algeria and that the government would pay their expenses out and contribute all that was necessary for their support until they were fairly settled in their new homes.

They were to be charged double the rate for passage to South America which they had expected to pay. In other respects also, they believed they had been grossly deceived.

Coming to Canada: Bijon, France, April 8.—A large establishment of the Dominicans here has been closed, and the members are leaving for Canada.

British Labor Unions Seek New Legislation Regarding Strikes.

London, April 9.—Premier Balfour's last speech in parliament before the Easter recess was an important pronouncement on foreign affairs.

He was very gloomy in regard to the Balkan situation, which, he said, never had been the cause of greater anxiety than was now the case.

Turning to the question of the Bagdad railway, the premier hinted at co-operation between Britain and Germany. Communications, he said, were going on with British capitalists on the subject.

Rumors that the German garrisons have been reinforced at several points near the frontier of Holland have not been confirmed.

The Dutch Socialists and labor agitators are the unconscious allies of the German propagandists who are clamoring for the annexation of the Baltic kingdom and the lower countries as integral portions of the empire.

The strikers are as well disciplined as the military forces, and have quit work without showing signs of a lawless spirit.

The British courts, by recent decisions, have made strikes almost impossible by exposing the labor unions to suits for damages for acts, for which the Dutch measure imposes heavy fines and imprisonment.

Copies of four new orders in council were posted in the gold commissioner's office this morning. Two of them are familiar to the residents of the Klondike.

COURT MATTERS

Arguments on Motion Heard in Chambers

Mr. Justice Dugas yesterday held chambers for the first time since his return, the list being unusually full of motions.

VERDICT NOT GUILTY

Alleged Perjurer is Discharged From Custody

In the perjury case against Chris Christiansen tried yesterday before Mr. Justice Craig and a jury the latter was out but fifteen minutes in their deliberations when a verdict of not guilty was returned and the accused was discharged.

WAS VERY INSIPID

Mass Meeting Last Night Tame Affair

Only Moses McGregor and J. G. Taylor Talked—Passage of Lien Law Advocated.

The mass meeting held last night in front of the Canadian Bank of Commerce was a very tame affair in that it lacked both in attendance and enthusiasm.
