JEKYLL AND HYDE CASE IN REAL LIFE.

Doctor and Wife Charged With Murder of Wife's First Husband.

Plotted Murder, It Is Said, While Apparently Living Respectably.

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 30.—A murder trial of widespread interest is scheduled to begin here to-day, when Dr. Thomas L. Rowland and his second wife, the widow of Charles R. Strange, a locomotive engineer, are to face the charge of having murdered Mr. Strange by poison, so that they might wed.

Effort will be made to prove that Dr. Rowland was a "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" in real life, and that to all appear on each side of the case. A special venire of 150 men has been drawn for service in the jury.

At the request of a great number of their patrons the new Armory management has decided to hold a fancy dress carnival on Thursday evening, Oct. 3rd, which it promises will eclipse anything ever held in Hamilton in the line of carnivals. Four prizes in gold will be given for the most handsome and comical costumes of both ladies and gentlemen.

Many improvements have been made in connection with the rink for the accommodation of their patrons. The floor is in perfect condition. The skates used are Winslow's web steel rolls, and are considered to be the finest skate made. Special attention is given to the instruction of beginners at the morning and afternoon sessions.

The conference at noon on Saturday between Mayor Stewart, Hon. John S. Hendrie and Chairman Van Allen, of the Hendrie and Chairman Van Allen, of the Beach Commission, over the roads at the filtering basins, did not result in a settlement of the difficulty. The Mayor took the stand that it was the city's property, that neither the Government nor Beach Commission had anything to say about it, and that the city was going to do as it pleased with it. The Mayor says the Government's wishes in the matter are being fully carried into effect when the city completes and transfers to the Government the roads at either end of the basins. The city will not for a minute, he declares, consider the question of compensating Mr. Fitch. The roads were completed to-day. They will be immediately conveyed to the Government. The assessment rolls for 1908 will not be completed by Oct. 1 as provided for by statute. This announcement was made to-day by the Assessment Commissioner, who gives as the reason the great increase this year in the work. The assessors and their clerks for several weeks have ben working until 10 o'clock at night, and even on Sundays, but have found it impossible to finish up within the prescribed time. It is said to be the first time in the city's history that the ers in this matter, however, have had an attack of cold feet since discovering that a majority of the Council would not support it.

A largely signed petition has been forwarded to the City Council by residents in the neighborhood of King William street and Sanford avenue, saying they understand the Eagle Spinning Company is making arrangements to operate noisy machinery at night, and asking the addermen to take some steps to stop it. "Will you?" said Sylvia, eagerly.

who had won Lord Lorrimore's love from her!

"Yes!" said Sylvia, innocently, and without a blush, which surprised Audrey. "He is everything that is kind and good, really a nobleman."

"Is—is he here in London?" asked Audrey, looking down.

Sylvia shook her head.

Sylvia shook her head.

"No, but he is coming soon. I wish he were here, and I tried hard to persuade him to come!"

"I daresay," murmured Audrey, managing a faint smile with difficulty.

"Yes," said Sylvia, quite calmly, and still without the blush which Audrey expected. "But he is engaged on a—I don't know quite what to call it," and her brows came down. "He has been traveling about for years on what he says is a wild-goose chase."

Audrey's face orimsoned.

Audrey's face crimsoned.

Addrey's face orimsoned,
"Oh, surely not now," she murmured,
"Yes, now," said Sylvia. "He is—I wonder whether he would mind my telling you!" and she looked at Audrey thoughtfully.

thoughtfully.

"I—I think not," said Audrey.

"No, I don't think so, especially as I do not know the name of the lady."

"Lady—what lady?" faltered Audrey.

"The lady who sent him on this wild-goose chase," replied Sylvia. "She asked him to go in search of a frieng she had lost, and Lord Lorrimore—that is his

And how sweet! I like her better the stage than on, and I quite forgot e I talked to her that she was an a singer."

"Promised to search for two years. He has been searching for longer than that, odd II—almost," said Lady Marlow.

"Yes! I am sure he will! Ah! I don't wonder at his loving you!"

Sylvia recoiled and opened her lovely

"Modeed!" he said, with a smile. "And you are going to call on her to-morrow. How romantic! I wish I could go with You."

Audrey's face fell and she looked down.

"But I am obliged to go down to Lynne to-morrow on business."

Audrey's face cleared.

"I shall not be away for more than one night," he added, tenderly, and in a lewer voice he whispered: "Ah, if I could feel that you would miss me one-tenth as much as I shall miss you, dearest!"
But though he had taken the news of Audrey's meeting with Sifnorina Stella with seeming indifference, he was disturbed by it; and his face grew anxious and brooding as he walked home.

"If there is no truth in the rumor of this girl's engagement to Lorrimore, Audrey will learn it to morrow, and then!

But she cannot draw back now! It is too late! Yes, I will go down to Lynne, and begin the preparations for its new mistress. The marriage must take place soon. There must be no delay."

CHAPTER XN.

Sylvia talked of nothing else that night but Audrey Hope. She even forgot lavarick, and she was too absorbed in her subject to notice that Mercy listened almost in silence, and that when she did make some response it was uttered in a tone even more subdued than usual.

With a punctuality unusual, Audrey appeared at 29 Bury street at 12 o'clock the next day.

There was no one in the room into which she was shown, but presently the door opened, and a slim, girlish figure in black sariss came forward

"No, no!" said Audrey, brathing hard. "I am only a little faint. The room is warm, I think, and —"

Sylvia flew to the window and opened it, and brought her a slass of water.

"No, no!" said Audrey, brathing hard. "I am only a little faint. The room is warm, I think, and —"

Sylvia flew to the window and opened it, and brought her a slass of water.

Women's Tailored Suits at Astonishingly Moderate Prices

Unless you have visited this department you have no idea how much lower our prices are than those prevalent elsewhere for equally fine styles and qualities. If you fail to test our values, you are so much the loser. Of what avail is it for us to claim so much, could it not be substantiated? So we urge you to look around, but not to buy until you have seen what we offer. Following figures are strong arguments, but to see for yourself is assurance doubly sure.

Trease, no: she said. I am occer now!"

Then the tears welled into her eyes, and she hung her head for a moment or two in silence.

"It is the heat," said Sylvia, in that delicious tone of sympathy which women sometimes—only sometimes—feel toward each other. "And you have walked, have you not? I am so sorry!"

And she gently took off Audrey's hat, and smoothed the beautiful hair from her forehead.

her forehead.

Audrey put her arm round Sylvia's neck and drew her face down and kissed her.

Sylvia blushed with pleasure, then, shyly, for she was not given to kissing, returned it.

"I came meaning to ask you to be my Hour Glass for Pulpits.

The twenty minute sermon is a purely modern invention, as is proved by the number of pulpit hour glasses that are still to be found in many old churches. In the register of St. Catharine's, Aldgate, the following entry, dated 1564, occurs: "Paid for an hour glass that hanged by the pulpit, where the preacher doth make a sermon, that he may know how the hour passeth away, one shilling."

A modern pulpit glass—probably the only one of its kind—is to be found in the Chapel Royal, Saxony. It is an 18-minute glass, and was placed in the chapel on its restoration in 1867.—From the Westminster Gazette

GRAPE INDUSTRY IN NIAGARA DISTRICT.

It Has Become of Great Importance During the Past Few Years.

Export Becoming Large---Manufacture of Wine Has Begun In Small Way.

Perhaps the most interesting of all the Niagara district's fruit industries is the grape culture. And to speak of its statistics is to enter upon a subject which needs a volume. Its history its restrictions. needs a volume. Its history, its past and prospective, its methods, its beautiful panorama, each by itself is worthy of study and exhaustive treatment. To form some idea of the Niagara's future wealth from grape culture, it is necessary to reflect on the extent of her rape-growing area. The annual grape yield of the peninsula is growing by eaps and bounds into the thousands of Nearly one-third of these are grown in Grantham Township, where their culture is steadily on the increase, many thousands of new vines having many thousands of new vines having been set out during the past few years. The Niagara district's statistics of grapes read more like fancy than like fact. The only way to get any concep-tion of them is to study them on the tion of them is to study them on the ground. By a visit to a great vineyard one is more enlightened than would be the case of looking over the tables of the agricultural departments. Driving from row to row down quarter-mile stretches of vineyard, he begins to realize what planting vines by fifties and hundreds of acres means. The profits of grape culture are slow to begin, but having once begun, mount up rapidly. Vineyards in Grantham Township in many instances are netting 8300 an acre annually, and as many as eight and nine tons of grapes have been taken off an acre in the vicinity of St. Catharines. The profits of grape culture are slow to begin, but having once begun, mount up rapidly. Vineyards in Grantham Township in many instances are netting $300 an acre annually, and as many as eight and nine tons of grapes have been taken off an acre in the vicinity of St. Catharines. Notwithstanding the increase in grape culture in the district, the price of grapes is perhaps twenty per cent. higher than it was two years ago. It is a quicker and probably more repaying industry than any other fruit grown. It is figured that a vineyard in its fourth year will produce two tons to the acre, in the seventh year five or six; therefore, the fourth year will show a profit, reckoning the cost of the cost of the fourth year will show a profit, reckoning the cost of the cost of the fand. The annual expense of cultivation, handling and picking is about thirty dollars. The rapid increase of this culture has been, indeed, marvellous. In 1885 there were only about two thousand vines in the whole peninsula. To-day the first of the profits that would increase the prices fully ten per cent.

Added to His Prayer

Added to His Prayer.

Old Dr. Ryland, clergyman and educator, was greatly beloved in the South, and his visits, were always enjoyed by his former pupils and parishioners. In his later years it was his custom to offer prayer whenever he made a ministerial call. On one occasion he called at a house where three of his former pupils were staying. These ladies were all past the thirtieth year mark, but in the eyes of the old gentleman they were still girls—which explained the petition he offered:

A part of the industry that is yet in its infancy is the wine making. A variety of still wines and one or two champagnes of still wines and one or two champagnes are made, not yet of very best grades, and a vast improvement will have to be made in this department before Canadian or Niagara wines can command a ready market in the United States and Great Britain, where the French and Californian makers hold the markets. A great industry from the grapes has still to be mooted.

mooted.

An estimate of the California grape crop some few years ago was 119,000 tons. The Niagara district is some distance behind that yet, but when it is taken into consideration that California has 30,000 square miles adapted to grapes, Niagara can yet feel proud of its infant industry.

Not many years ago, three at the most, the market for this fruit was confined almost wholly to the nearby cities of Ontario, and Montreal. With only fair facilities, and lots of hard knocks, grapes from the peninsula are

The great size of the Lusitania necessitates the adoption of some means by which the navigators on the bridge could communicate their orders to the crow's nest, the forecastle and the after most bridge without delay, and it was considered equally desirable that passengers should be able to speak with purser, stewards and the like without incurring the fatigue and delay of a journey which, in a ship of such vasts dimensions, might be very considerable. The system adopted to secure this communicability is that of the telephone, and so thoroughly has it been carried out that no hotel has a completer system of telephonic communication. The analogy between the stationary hotel and that possessed of the power of rapid locomotion is carried still further, for just as the guest can secure trunk connections and hold converse with those at a distance, so can the passenger on the Lusitania when that vessel is along-side the stage or wharf at its mooring. This is effected by linking the telephonic system of the ship with the central exchange, thus enabling the passenger from the privacy of his own cabin to talk with any one in the town.

GOOD OLD TIMES.

Odd Manners.

In the first place, the woods were full of men, runs "The Chronicles of a Queer Girl" in the Ladies' Home Journal. They were numerous as the sands of the sea, and life was interesting, to put it mildly. In my time there was no such thing as the paring off of one couple to "keep company" for years at a stretch, to the exclusion of other friends. A girl was free to accept the attention of any end all young men, and have a different escort to every dance, picnic or party of the season. Even an engaged girl was not expected to go only with her fiancee, but made things lively by entertaining and going about with other young men, and keeping the community upon the qui vive as to which would be her final choice. Odd Manners. Alexandria — Six hundred and six boxes cheese sold to-night at 12 3-8c.

vive as to which would be her final choice.

There was time for idling in those days—hours for fooling dull care, and baffling stern necessity. A pretty girl was likely to spy from her window an interesting group of pedestrians or a dashing horseman at almost any hour of the day. If she went downtown (she did not often, gentle reader, as girls do nowadays). It was strange, indeed, if there was not rivalry as to which of the young gallants should walk home with her. On Sunday the rear seats of the sanctuary were comfortably filled with young gentlemen of no special religious professions, and it was by no means the least interesting feature of the service passing out of the ciurch door and down the line, smiling and bestowing glances on them as they stood with raised hats, gravely saluting one pretty devotee after another as she came out with the Sabbath halo around her face.

There was a custom, now obsolete, no doubt for lack of numbers as well as spirit, of giving a pretty girl a "grand rush" on Sunday afternoons. As I look back now I can see a phalanx of hats and trousers, audacious faces and buttonhole bouquets moving along the vibolage street.

The Oldest Indian.

Newell Bear, the oldest Indian in the eastern part of the country, and probably the oldest man in New Engiand, is dead at his home in Westfield, Me., at the age of 108 years. By some he was credited with being two years older. It was in the days when men were hardly sure whether kindness or murder was hidden behind unresponsive red faces that Newell Bear first came to the residents of what is now known as Houlton. His early history was unknown, as he was never talkative, and few endeavored to draw him out of his customary silence regarding himself. But it is believed he came from the Indian colony at Lewey's Island. The earliest record of him, personally, is that as a friendly Indian he furnished the moose meat to Houlton's first garrison.

the waterworks and water supply of the city is not quite clear. It can hardly be explained on the theory that our contemporary hopes to improve the water quality by abandoning all efforts at filtration because of the discovery of colon bacilli in some samples from the basins. These bacilli are found also in daily tests made at Toronto, where direct pumping through a long intake is They are found in the lake water samples taken from near our bas-Many of the passengers on upper lake boats have contracted typhoid, and drinking the lake water is blamed therefor; and the sewage of some cities as well as the "wash" from a large area of territory, is added before it enters Lake Ontario. Our contemporary quotes the opinion from Dr. Walker's article in the "Americana" that "filtration is not trust worthy in the elimination of infectious [it should be effective] organisms." Manifestly that opinion requires to be read intelligently, else it appears absurd; because water can be filtered so that it is What the writer evidently means is that absolute purity is not, in his opinion, to be expected in all cases. In the article on "Filtration" in the same encyclopedia we are told that:

"Cities which must obtain their drinking water from rivers polluted by sewage from other towns and cities are now SUPPLIED WITH WATER OF VERY GOOD QUALITY BY FILTERING THE RIVER WATER THROUGH BEDS OF SAND some feet in thickness, and statistics, in such cases, have shown that the installation of such filtration plants IS OFTEN ATTENDED BY AN AL-MOST INCREDIBLE DECREASE IN THE DEATH RATE FROM TYPHOID FEVER AND OTHER ANALOGOUS

In its article on "Water Supply," sand filention is strongly advocated, and the opinion is expressed that if the real mer-its of the plain sand filter had been appreciated 60 years ago "filters would to day be as much a part of municipal waterworks (where the water is drawn from streams, lakes and ponds which receive sewage effluents) as the pumping machinery, storage and settling reservoirs, stand-pipes and the cast iron or other mains which convey the water to the consumer."

That the merits of filtration through sand beds are appreciated to-day, and that the adoption of that method purification is amply justified the tendency of experts proves. The Times has occasionally given statistics of the ex-perience of many United States and ther cities, showing that its adoption has been followed by a marked decline in the typhoid rate. Of course the efficiency of such a system is a matter of perfection in construction and care in fect, and our filters are not of sufficient capacity. We are taking in some of the contaminated water from the lake and cumping it without filtering it. This is fession. to be deprecated. But the remedy is not to be found in abandoning the system of filtration, because its capacity is insufficient, and spending a very large sum to enable us to draw all our supply from the lake, with whatever pollution that may have suffered. Rather should we move energetically to enlarge and imwhich is admirably situated to be made purify by filtration every gallon of water pumped. In so doing we shall obey the teaching of science and profit by the lessons of the world's experience.

The New York Herald advocates selling the Philippines to the Filipinos! Its estimates of the price that should be asked is about $400,000.000, the sum they are said to have cost Uncle Sam already, It says: "If patriotism has any virtue, the Filipinos would find consolation for the financial burden imposed upon them by the measures necessary-to arrange for payment of interest on this national debt and for its extinction-in the reflection that it represented the purchase price of their native land and of their national existence." What about all those fine sentiments we used to hear about United States sacrifices to free the Filipinos? Is it to be a sordid dollarsand-cents matter now?

FIGHT FLAMES IN FORESTS.

MILLION-DOLLAR BRIGADE MAIN-TAINED BY UNCLE SAM.

Use Fire. Not Water-Battle Carried on by One Man or Many as Case Requires.

The greatest fire-fighting brigade in the world is that maintained by the National Government, It extends the rough protection of its ventursome arm around all the store of timber wealth in the national forests from Mexico to Alaska. The quaintest fireman of them all is the grizzle cowboy ranger, whose equipment is a mustang pony and a pine bough, who may combat single-handed for a week in some lone solitude the creeping flames that seek to devour the forest primeval where the wealth of the ages is being stored for the generations that are to come.

The battle has been on for two months past, for this is the season when the dry twig crackles under foot and the absence of raim invites disaster. Here and there in the stretches of solitude a curling smoke has turned in the alarm to the vigilant fireman and the battle has been waged.

The national forests aggregating is round all the store of timber wealth to the vigilant fireman and the battle has been waged.

The national forests, aggregating in area more than 156,000,000 acres—enough for five States, the size of Pennsylvania, or ten like West Virginia, or forty-five like Connecticut—are not uniform in topography, or in climate, or in vegetation. Some portions are steep, rugged, almost inaccessible. Other parts are comparatively flat. The forests in one locality may consist of mature trees; with ity may consist of mature trees, with not much undergrowth. In others the undergrowth is dense. High mountains predominate in one region, valleys and ridges in others and tablelands in still others. Excessive drouths in one section may be rare, and in others dry weather is the rule.

may be rare, and in others dry weather is the rule.

In developing its plans for fighting fires the Forest Service considered all kinds and conditions of country. The forest ranger is the Government's fire scout, picket and skirmisher: The dry summer months are his busy time in national forests of the west, where pine needles strew the ground and the trash and litter become like tinder before the autumn rains set in.

There are in this service a total of 1,200 men, guards and rangers, at the height of the season. There are veteran rangers in the service, who are paid $1,400 a year, while the guards who, as beginners, throw a squaw hitch on a pack with difficulty, are paid but $720. The protection costs a round million a year, but the estimated timber eaved from destruction is placed at six times that figure. Then, further, the guard and the ranger have various fields of usefulness other than fighting the fires. They are the rulers of the small realm in which they are placed, and it is only through their consent that timber may be cut, live stock grazed or other benefit derived from the, reserve. The tolls for these privileges are collected and go far toward paying the whole expense.

Nearly everything depends on the ranger. He must be quick, constant, tireless. The most efficient work is not the subduing of great, Jings, but in preventing till to not one.

REGIMENTS AT CHURCH.

Thirteenth at the Cathedral; Highlanders at Erskine.

Impressive Sermons by Canon Abbott and S. B. Russell.

The Regiments United on the March Back to Armory.

Over eight hundred men, swinging briskly along to the martial music of bugle, pipe and regimental bands, all attired in dress uniform and looking their best, presented a fine appearance orning, as they marched to yesterday church on the occasion of the annual fall Sunday parade of the infantry corps of the Hamilton brigade. The Thirteenth attended divine service at Christ's Church Cathedral, while the Ninety-First went to Erskine. It was a chill, dreary day, with overcast sky and threatening rain, certainly not the of weather to be desired for a church parade, yet both regiments paraded strong and a big crowd of sightseers lined King and James streets. A little sunshine would have helped considera-sunshine would have helped considerably.

The Thirteenth went direct to the Cathedral from the Drill Hall, but after the service marched to the corner of King and James streets and returned with the Highlanders. Lieut. Colonel Hendrie, commanding the second brigade Field Artillery; Hon. Col. J. M. Gibson; Hon. Col. Moore, Major Tidswell, of the Fourth Field Battery, and Major William Hendrie, of the Forty-Eighth, marched with the Thirteenth. Hon. Col. Moodie, of the Ninety-First, was with the Highlanders.

At the Cathedral.

The Thirteenth men at the Cathedral heard a stirring and appropriate sermon delivered by Rev. Canon Abbott, with his characteristic vigor. His theme was "Personal Religion," and the text from St. Luke's gospel, "Jesus of Nazareth St. Luke's gospel, "Jesus of Nazareth passes by." It was a simple, earnest ex-position, presented with clear, convincing argument. Canon Abbott impressed on passes by." It was a simple, earnest exposition, presented with clear, convincing argument. Canon Abbott impressed on his hearers that when they stood before the white judgment seat of Christ the only question of moment and importance would be, "What does Christ think of me?" He asked them to isolate themselves, to forget the material successes and failures, to look up into the face of God while they considered the question. Man's conscience, that subtle force within that guarded always towards right-euosness and warned from evil, man's mind and his freewill, were points that the speaker touched upon as he emphasized that man was made for society. The man who cut himself off from that, who prayed by and for himself, was a self centred, narrow minded individual. There was something, he declared, that bound man to God and his fellowmen, and that something was religion. That a God existed every man must believe, whether he would or not. God was righteous, sympathetic, loving and true. Dealing with prayer, intercession, praise and communion, as issues of religion, Canon Abbott said he would defy any man not to pray whether he believed in religion or not. There was an instinct in man's soul that could not be satisfied by anything else than prayer, that instinct which made the heathen bow down by anything else than prayer, that in-stinct which made the heathen bow down and worship his idols and images Thrusting aside all theories, specula arusting aside all theories, specula-tions and doctrines, the speaker declared he believed communion essential to per-sonal religion. It took a man who was a man to overcome himself and have his body under subjection. sonal religion. It took a man who was a man to overcome himself and have his body under subjection. It was Jesus Christ who turned back the tide of human passion and gave man a strength he never had before to resist it. This religion was a religion for man, with nothing effeminate and nothing emotional. His parting advice was. "So live that when you die people will miss a soldier from the ranks of humanity; so live that when you pass to the great bethat when you pass to the great be from the ranks of humanity; so live that when you pass to the great be-yond you will be soldiers and privates in the ranks of Jesus Christ."

The Catholic members of the Thir-teenth marched to St. Mary's Cathedral in a body, in charge of Sergt. Major Hug-gins, and heard an eloquent discourse by Rev. Dr. McKay; of Philadelphia.

At Erskine Church.

At Erskine Church.

The Highlanders paraded 416 strong. Col. Logic was particularly pleased with the turnout, considering the coldness of the weather. The soldiers presented a natty appearance with their big bushies, and they marched with soldierly precision. Erskine Church was packed to its utmost. Rev. Mr. Russell preached a very cloquent sermon, taking as his text, 2nd Timothy iv.:verses 6 and 7: "For I am now ready to be offered, and

"For I am now ready to be offered, and the time of my departure is at hand. I have fought a good fight, I have finished myscourse, I have kept the faith."

In speaking of the life of Paul, Mr. Russell said that none had a better right, to speak the words of the text than Paul had at the end of his career, and it should be the ambition of swery. and it should be the ambition of every one to be able to say those words when death was closing this earthly life. Every man wants to have righteousness Every man wants to have righteousness when he passes away, and to do so he must fight the weaknesses of nature. He must choose between the law of God and the law of sin. The evil custom of the present in this country threaten to present in this country threater, present in this country the people, stroy the moral life of the people, destroy the moral life of the people. The only way it could be overcome would be to take Paul's motto: "I have fought the good fight." Paul fought the good fight during his life, and no matter what we might do, the world of to-day has to fight just the same. Those who are not prepared to fight in this strenuous world will go down to unhonered

In Jesus Christ the people of to-day have an example to follow, an inspiration to guide them through all trials. Some are apt to think that they can amp out their future to suit themselves, but they speedily arrive at the conclusion that God has plans for the future that we must not disregard. The great trouble is that there is too much skeptision in the world to make it enjoy. icisn, in the world to make it enjoyable. In secular affairs the same thing can be said. Faith is a great power. The majority of men go down because of their cowardice, and because they have not the courage of their convictions. They have not Jesus Christ with them to help them on their way. Good impulses are all right in their way, but they are not sufficient in themselves to hold a man up. Faith is the only thing nation from the skepticism that is fast making it into a modern Babylon. The only solution of the difficulty would be the hold of the difficulty would do so the people must have clean hands and pure hearts.

The choir, under the direction of Dr. C. L. M. Harris, rendered several appropriate selections during the service.

The parade state of the 91st was as follows: Hon. Col. Moodie, Lieut.-Col. Logic, Majors Bruce and Roberts, Captain Bell, Adjutant; Captain Chisholm, Paymaster; Captain Somerville, Quartermaster; Captain Drummond, Ghaplain; Staff Sergeants 9, A 38, B 33, C 34, D 35, E 29, F 29, G 32, buglers 39, pipers 15, brass band 48, bearers 13, signalers 8; total 416.

The Thirteenth's parade state: Lieut.-Col. Moore, Majors Mewburn and Ross, Captain Domville, Adjutant; Captain Lester, Paymaster; Colonel Griffin, Surgeon; Major Herring, Quartermaster; Rev. Canon Forneret, Chaplain; Staff Sergeants 10, buglers 45, band 48, bearers 15, signallers 9, A 35, B 48, C 36, D 29, E 32, F 26, G 30, and H 27, a total of 400.

PICKET WHO FOLLOWS MAN LIABLE TO PUNISHMENT.

Machinist Convicted by Sessions Jury for Intimidating Non-Union Man-Judge Lays Down the Law.

Toronto, Sept. 30.-Edward Medcalf was convicted by the jury in the general Sessions Court of having intimidated Eugene Guthrie, a non-union machinist employed by the Fairbanks-Morse Company.

Said Guthrie: "He followed me from the works along Bloor to Dufferin street, up Dufferin to Shanley street, across to Dovercourt road and down to Dundas street. He called me a scab and rat, and said if it was after dark he would kill me."

would kill me."

Medcalfe admitted he was a picket that day at the direction of his union, and that he followed Guthrie, but argued that as a picket he had that right. Counsel for the defence maintained to the gury that his client had a legal right to act as a picket, and endeavor to persuade non-union machinists to join the union men on strike.

"Has he got the right to stand in front of the man's place?" asked a juror.

Mr. Lee maintained that he had, and quoted from a judgment of Justice Meredith on the point.

"In this country every man has a right to follow his work without interference on the part of anybody," said Judge Winchester in charging the jury. "Unions are good things in themselves and very necessary in this age. Strikes are useful or not. Sometimes they do good and other times they don't, but we have not that to consider in this case. The question is whether Medcalf did persistently follow Guthrie. If he did so he was wrong. No man has the right to follow another from place to place for the purpose of getting that man to abstain from work. If this thing were allowed you can't understand how serious it would result. The opprobrious name of scab is something disgraceful to apply to any honest, workman. These things, if you believe they were done, show a motive. One of the jurors very properly asked if the picket had a right to watch the Fairbanks-Morse factory. They have no right to beset or watch any place, but they have the right to ask information of people going in and coming out and to attempt to persuade them to help in the strike.'

The jury were out 15 minutes.

He brought with him a number of cards bearing the excellent printed maxim, "Do it now," and hung these up in his office and about his store.

Within a fortnight of the advent of the cards the chief cashier departed with the sum of £2,000, three clerks and deputations from two departments waited on the proprietor with requests for increased salaries, and his best lady type-writer cloped with a very businesslike and good-looking slap walker.

London, Sept. 28.—According to The Medical Press and Circular, the "plain fact is that the prettiest girls are notoriously the stupidest." Therefore, argues the learned editor, the suggestion that there be examinations for girls before they become wives is staggering. "If," he remarks, "none but ugly girls could get married, whatever result their ability might have on the nature of their ability might have on the nature of their intants, it would not be long before they were no types of British beauty to lighten the burden of the drab world."

CRIME TO TALK OF SICKNESS

Says Christian Science Lecturer, Who Tells Large Audience

That Aim of Organization is to Restore, On Scientific Basis,

The Religi n Taught by Christ Nineteen Centuries Ago.

An audience that filled Bennett's Theatre yesterday afternoon heard an in-teresting address on Christian Science by Hon. Clarence A. Buskirk, of St. Louis, who for many years has been prominent in connection with the move ment begun nearly forty years ago by Mrs. Baker Eddy, the recognized head of the organization. Mr. Buskirk is an en-tertaining speaker with a simple, earnest style. He spoke for an hour and a half and was given an attentive hearing.

After defining the aims and objects of Christian Science Mr. Buskirk said it was not a new invention or a new reliwas not a new invention or a new religion, but sought to restore the religion taught by Jesus Christ nineteen hundred years ago, including the healing of the sick. It sought to restore it in the entirety of its power, to restore it on a scientific basis in place of the dogmas, ritualism, ceremonies and so on that had been accumulating during nineteen long centuries. The command to preach the gospel and heal the sick, argued the speaker, was as adaptible to the persent time as centuries ago. What the great truth stood for in the first century it stood for to-day. Jesus, he emphasized, speaker, was as adaptible to the persent tume as centuries ago. What the great truth stood for in the first century it stood for to-day. Jesus, he emphasized, not only taught the gospel, but sought to prove that it would meet all the demands of poor humanity. People to-day excused themselves from obeying this command and acknowledging Christ the great physician, who cures all ills as well as forgives iniquities, on the ground that the day of miracles had passed. A miracle was defined as a marvel or wouder, but nothing supernatural. This power of healing the sick had been practised in the first and second and part of the third century, and had become obsolete when Constantine, an ambitious ruler, who sought to rule by church government, reserved the power for himself and his clergy, taking it away from the masses. But all of God's laws and commands, His blessings, too, were for the laymen as well as the priests, the weak as well as the strong, the poor, as well as the irich. Many pagan rituals and beliefs, among them that God was the author of sin, sickness, suffering, death and other ills, that afflicted poor humanity, and were part of the truth of man's being, had become ingrafted in religion and nanded down the centuries. Christian Science drew a sharp line here. It denied that God was the author of these evils, and held that they were not to be ascribed as part of the truth of His being. Christian Science answered they were man made, and not God made. God was truth, and it was unthinkable to suggest he was the author of any falsehood. This was a false human beto suggest He was the author of any falsehood. This was a false human belief. The Bible taught God was love and Christian Science taught he was the great dynamic truth of the universe. the great dynamic truth of the universe. Many great men, he said, among them Martin Luther, John Knox and the Wesleys, had sought anxiously for the Christian way of healing the sick, something practical that could be used in the sick room, but failed because they discovered that sin, 'sickness, suffering and death were not a part of religion. And so it went on down the weary centuries until finally a woman discovered that the scientific Christian way of healing the sick could be restored to the world by recognizing God as love, truth and life, and that the evils were not creations of God nor part of man's being. Jesus never diagnosed disease, but used the same process for disease entires.

For unknown centuries this symbol has been used as a charm of good luck.

Historically it first appears on the Greek coins of year 315 B.C., but has been found among the relics of races of far remote

It is probably the oldest cross and the oldest emblem

To illustrate the universality of its use, it may be mentioned that it has been found on the Archaic pottery of the Ancient Thera, on the shields of the Ancient Britons, carved in the solid rocks on the mountains of India and ornamenting the prehistoric pottery of the Cliff Dwellers of America.

RALLY DAY IN THE CHURCHES.

erous Special Services for the Children Yesterday.

Rev. Egerton Ryerson Young, the the Noted Missionery, Here.

Pastor of Church at Celebrated Summer Resort Preaches.

Sunday School Rally services on an extensive scale were begun in First Methodist Church yesterday, the celebration extending over Monday afternoon and Tuesday evenings. Yesterday morning the children occupied the body of the church instead of the galleries, as heretolore, and the change resulted in perfect order and attention. Rev. Dr. To-vell, of Wesley Church, a former pastor of First, was the preacher, his address being especially to the children, and as he described it, a new one, never given before, so that those who were children when he was the pastor would not say he was giving them an old sermon. He took for his text a word of frequent occurrence in the Bible: "Beware," and, building an acrostic with it he impressed upon the children to beware of bad habits, of egotism, of wilfulness, of al-Sunday School Rally services on building an acrostic with it he impressed upon the children to beware of bad habits, of egotism, of wilfulness, of alcohol, of robbing God and of evil company, Under each of these heads Dr. Tovell gave the children something to carry away in their minds, and the close attention they gave showed they had taken in some good lessons.

In the afternoon the school again gathered in the church and the pastor, Rev. R. J. Treleaven, gave them an illustrated talk on "cups," dealing with the various sorts of cups mentioned in the Bible, such as the cup of joy, the cup of woe, the cup that bittel like a serpent, etc.

pent, etc.
In the evening Rev. Mr. Treleaven preached an exceptionally strong sermon on the text; "What manner of child shall this be." The singing of the day was excellent, including anthems morning and evening, a quartette by Misses Longhurst and Rowsome and Messrs. Robertson and Robinson, and a trio by Miss Longhurst and Messrs. Robertson and Robinson and Messrs.

Knox Rally Day.

Rally Day service in Knox Church Sunday School yesterday afternoon was very largely attended by the scholars. Mr. W. H. McLaren, the superintendent, presided, and the entire Sunday School were assembled. An address was given by Rev. Charles A. Webster, M. D., of Syria, who is in this country on a visit. He described in a very interesting manner, the life of the Orient, especially around Palestine and Syria. He gave many incidents he had seen in these places. Dr. Nelson, also said a few words regarding the success of the Sunday School. During the afternoon, Mr. Will Smith contributed a solo. It is the intention of the Sunday School officers to hold rally days every little while, as they are of the opinion that it will help materially toward the building up of the school.

The Superintendent, Will W. Main, occupied the chair, and the session was made bright and cheerful by the singing, which was of a special character. A choir under the leadership of Geo. Siddall led the school, and a mixed quartette sang a number of pieces very acceptably. Rev. Isaac Couch, M. A., B. D., pastor of Gore Street Methodist Church, gave an interesting address on the subject of Watchfulness, pointing out the great need of the young exercising care in the choice of companions. The church was well filled in the evening, when the pastor, Rev. H. B. Christie, preached a sermon especially to young women. The minds of his hearers were directed to the words of Ruth as found in the 16th and 17th verses of I. Ruth, and after pointing out the loolishness of going into the lands where Jehovah is not worshipped to find temporal blesshings, he drew some helpful lessons from the decision of Ruth, who chose the companionship of the children of God. Orphar, who turned back to the worship of strange gods. Often cases are found where the daugh. back to the worship of strange gods. Often cases are found where the daughrs of a godly mother, the one by king the path of virtue and honor ds the goal of peace and and honor inds the goal of peace and happiness, h of pleasure and unworthy compan-s, sinks in a morass of sin and wickedness.

Ruth chose the Christian dwelling place, and was led by a divine Proviof the Christ ancestor of the Christ. The reverend speaker strongly urged the young women present to choose the companionship of those whose aim was to make the most of life, and said that where one woman who had wilfully chosen evil companions got back to the paths of safety a thousand were lost in the ways of wicked-sand were lost in the ways of wickedness.

Mr. Christie gave a dramatic picture of the deathbed of the great Napoleon, who in the days of his strength made and unmade kings, and in the end died with no other earthly possession than a pair of military boots; also of Mrs. Judson, who, in the harbor of St. Helena, died after a life of usefulness and devotion to God, and whose last words testified to the love of Christ.

The singing was led by a choir of women, who sang a couple of anthems that gave great pleasure. Mrs. Cas. Kirkpatrick and Miss Myrtle Teeple each sang solos that were thoroughly enjoyed.

Rally at Zion.

Rally at Zion.

Yesterday was Rally Day at Zion Church, and at 3 o'clock the Sunday school was filled with 412 pupils.

After the invocation by the pastor, W. H. Strongman led in prayer. Rev. Dr. Tovel, pastor of Wesley Church, delivered an address to the children on Sunday school work, and the part they should take in it. Special music was rendered by Miss Simmons and Mr. John Simmons and Mr. John Simmons and Mr. John Combes. The annual distribution of prizes for church attendance then took place, and sixty or seventy children were given prizes of books. The Secretary's report showed, as stated, an attendance of 412 and a liberal collection.

The evening service in the church was devoted to a young people's rally, which drew a crowd that overflowed the church. Rev. Egerton Ryerson Young, samous as a missionary and lecturer, preached, taking as his text, "I love the Lord because He has heard my voice Longhurst and Messrs. Robertson and Robinson.

This afternoon from 4,30 to 5,30 the Juniors will have their annual tea; at 6,45 lower school will be served, after which there will be a programme, and on Tuesday evening at 7,30 the doors will open for the seniors' supper and entertainment.

Summer Resort Religion.

Summer Resort Religion.

Rev. John McMillan, B. D., minister of Westminster Presbyterian Church, Atlantie City, N. J., was the speaker at Knox Church last evening, and his remarks were of an interesting character, desling with the subject of summer religion in America's greatest summer resort, Atlantic City. There was a very large attendance of the members of the congregation, and the closest attention was given the speaker.

Mr McMillan, in the course of his remarks, said that the popular theory was that when one went to Atlantic City it meant that there would be a relaxation in religion, and that one is justified in taking a rest. This, he said, was one of the fallacies that the church with which he is connected has to overcome.

which he is connected has to overcome. He spoke of the gay life of the city, which was quite natural when taking into consideration that one is generally into consideration that one is generally on a vacation when visiting there. There was no doubt that the place would be a good deal gayer were it not for the influence of the church and the civic rule with which Atlantic City is conducted. Mr. McMillan told of the hard struggle he had in establishing a church in a place where everyone is on pleasure bent, but he had succeeded, and at present he has a very large and thriving congregation the year round. He stated that the visitors to this popular resort are not neglecting their religion as they did in the past, and that he looked for even greater results in the future.

The scholars of St. Paul's Sunday school assembled in the galleries of the church for the annual rally yesterday morning. Mr. Byron Smith, the superintendent, and his staff had charge and the service was hearty. The form outlined by the General Assembly was followed, the subject being: "The Lord's Work and Our Share in It." Rev. D. R. Drummond, the pastor, preached an impressive sermon. pressive sermon.

"I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say."

Movement for Missions.

Yesterday marked the beginning of a forward movement for missions in Barton Street Methodist Church. The preacher in the morning was the well known missionary and author, Rev. Egerton R. Young. "What the gospel has done for the women of our race," was the theme, and Mr. Young handled it only as one could who has seen much of heathen and pagan life. The pastor, Rev. H. G. Livingston, inaugurated a new method for contributing to the missionary funds. Instead of an offering once a year, which is the common method among the churches, this church hereafter will have the privilege of giving every week. The pastor says that the great object for which the church exists, viz., the extension of the Kingdom of Christ, should receive the strongest possible emphasis and that every church should strive to give as much for the evangelization of the world as a for local objects. All in this church who are disposed to give weekly will be provided with printed envelopes, bearing dates for every Sunday in the church var are disposed to give weekly will be provided with printed envelopes, bearing dates for every Sunday in the church are disposed to give weekly will be provided with printed envelopes, bearing dates for every Sunday in the church are disposed to give meekly will be provided my literature would be found always on hand in a cabinet at the church doors and would be distributed freely in the congregation from mouth to mouth. A large number in the church entered into the new arrangement as suggested by the pastor.

This aggressive church is also undertaking a new method of evangelistic service. It is through the home gospel meetand my supplications," from the 116th Psalm.

Mr. Young dealt briefly with the changes in this city since he was here forty years ago, and then went on to sav that he had travelled across the Atlantic fifteen times and had been to almost every country on the globe, but he had seen only one Canada. "We have the greatest country on earth," he said. "We are not poor in anything but thanksgiving."

Baron Pirquet's New Method of Using Koch's Tuberculin.

Koch's Tuberculin,

Vienna, Sept. 29. — Baron Pirquet, head of the Vienna Children's Hopsital here, whose report on his important discovery in regard to the diagnosis of tuberculosis attracted considerable attention at the Medical Congress here, has explained that his method is not meant to furnish a cure or a preventive, but to provide a diagnosis in the very earliest stages of the disease, especially in the case of children.

"Hitherto." he says, "Koch's tuberculin has been injected, and the usual effect upon a patient suffering from advanced tuberculosis has been a dangerously high temperature.

"My method of using Koch's tuberculin is not by injection, but by vaccination. I allow some drops of it to fall on a patient's skin, and a small portion to penetrate through a tiny scratch. When an individual is free from tuberculosis, there is no reaction; but if he is not free a tiny inflammation is set up at the vaccinated spot, by means of which the presence of tuberculosis is absolutely established. Any danger of infection through vaccination is excluded, as the tuberculin contains no danger of infection through vaccination is excluded, as the tuberculin contains no living bacilli.

New Publications.

A score or more of the brightest of American humorists tell in the October Bohemian the secrets of their craft in an article entitled "How a Joke is Made." The article sparkles with witty stories and humorous illustrations. Another article, entitled "Being a Model," will dispel many mistaken notions which the ordinary American has held regarding the artist's model. Miss Blanche Bates, whose work on the American stage is attracting much attention, contributes to the October issue an account of her life, entitled "My Yesterdays." The life entitled "My Yesterdays.' The leading humorous feature of the number is "The Autobiography of Cupid," edited by Edward Marshall. The short stories have the usual bright quality. They are "Back to Nature," "Doctor Pro Tem," "The Patent Adjustable," "The Heart of the Fox," a story of a Japaness secret-service women; "The Stowaway," a story of the sea, and a group of crisp "Ten-minute Stories." These attractive contents are reinforced by some very pretty verse and by a welcome amount of humor and satire.

The following are among the contents of the October Outing, the great out-door monthly: "The Country Fair," David Lansing; "The Yarus of a Traveller," Vance Thompson; "Odd Corners—A Story of Woodcock Covers," Maximilian Foster; "Tales of a Collector of Whiskers," Ralph D. SHETLAND ISLANDS

Should the Shetlands be handed back

Should the Shetlands be handed back to Norway? This was the question put to the Premier recently by Mr. Cathcart Wason, the Liberal member of Parliament for Orkney and Shetland. Mr. Wason, however, disclaimed any desire to break up the British Isle, says the London Telegraph. He admitted that he had phrased his question in such a manner to attract public attention.

It is not generally known that the Orkney and Shetland Islands were formerly the property of Norway, and were formally given up to that country. James III. of Scotland married Margaret the daughter of King Christian of Norway, in 1468, and when the marriage treaty was made it was agreed that her dowry should be sixty thousand florins. When the time to pay came King Christian found that his treasury was empty, and he gave the islands in pledge, agreeing to redeem them when he could raise the money. The debt has never been paid, and the islands have thus remained a Scottish possession.

paid, and the islands have thus remained a Scottish possession.

The people of the islands are almost pure Norse in blood, and until the end of the eighteenth century they spoke the Norse language. Many Norse words are still retained in their dialect, at it they have little in common with the Scots of the mainland, whom they regard as fortigners. Mr. Wason declares that the grievances of the Shetlanders are serious and distressing. "The herring fishery," he said, "the mainstay of the islanders, has already been ruined on one side, and is getting worse on the other side. All the whales are being destroyed, and it is the whales which drive the herring inshore."

In Konorah, the lightning calculator, who will be seen at the Savoy Theatre this week, beading a bill of exceptional merit, patrons will be offered one of "advanced vaudeville's" most unique novelties. The act is credited with being genuinely interesting from curtain to curtain. Konorah's specialty is juggling figures, although she demonstrates mental telepathy, too. Blindfolded and with her back to the audience the dainty little lady rattles off the answers to all kinds of arithmetic problems. None are too intricate for her. Additions that total up to the trillions and mulitiplications that would keep the average person busy several minutes figuring out with pencil and paper are handled by Konorah with amazing rapidity. Four blackwoards are passed out among the audience by her manager, Max Berol, and Konorah juggles the figures about as fast as it is, possible to jot them down. Aside from the mystery attached to how it is done there is sufficient cemedy attached to the act to add considerably to its attractiveness. The five Bogannys and La Esmeralda are two high clease Everageneasts invested for siderably to its attractiveness. The five Begannys and La Esmeralda are two high class European acts, imported for the Klaw-Erlanger houses. The former is a clever aerobatic act, in which some entirely new and clever work is said to be introduced, while La Esmeralda, the Spanish favorite, is credited with being one of the most artistic dancers now before the footlights. Howard Brothers, probably the greatest banjo team on the stage, will be another novelty sure to please. They do some truly remarkable work, including the juggling of six banjos, at the same time keeping perfect tune to the orchestral accompaniment. Mand Lambert, the dainty soprano, who has met with such unusual success since turning to vaudeville, may be relied upon as in exceptionally pleasing attraction. She was the prima donna for several seasons in many of Klaw & Erlanger's big musical productions, and for two seasons with "Floradora" ond "When Johnny Comes Marching Home." She siderably to its attractiveness. The five Bogannys and La Esmeralda are two high class European acts, imported for seasons with "Floradora" ond "When Johnny Comes Marching Home." She sings her own lyrics and the act should-suit all tastes, for Miss Lambert varies suit all tastes, for Miss Lambert varies her numbers from ballads to popular songe. Billy Clifford, the monologue artist, booked for this week, was prevented from reaching here in time, but will be seen later. Clinton and Jerome, it a laughing hit, "Back to Louisville," replace him. At the Bennett Theatre

At the Bennett Theatre.

There is not a prettier bunch of children on the stage than those who will make their initial bow to a Hamilton audience this afternoon at Bennett's Theatre in the big comedy, "School Boys and Girls." These children, who are under the management of Gus Edwards, the celebrated song writer and originator of children's vaudeville sketches, have been gathered from all parts of the United States, and under the careful tuition of Mr. Edwards and his staff have been excellent singers, dancers and humorists. Their act has been received with enthusiasm wherever is has been produced, and it is now acknowledged to be one of the finest children's sketches on the stage. It was in order to keep up the high standard of acts at Bennett's that Manager Driscoll made special arrangements to have the Edwards children play here this week, and there is every reason to believe that his effort to give the people of this city strictly high-class vaudeville will be Appreciated, and that large audiences will be assured of one of the times of their lives in the production of "School Boys and Girls,"

BE CHARITABLE.

Fine Sermon In St. Patrick's by Rev Father Coffee.

In St. Patrick's Church last evening Rev. Father Coffee, S. J., of Guelph, preached a sermon in aid of the Ladies' Benevolent Society of the parish. Inespeaker's subject was "Christian Charity." He said there were there great powers at present that were making wonderful changes in the world: Science, liberty and Christian charity. The world has changed greatly in the past thirty-five or forty years. One would hardly recognize the world of that period as the world of to-day—and this was largely due to the progress of science. The political field of to-day also differs from that of a few decades ago. This is due to the change of ideas—people have of liberty. But Christian charity is responsible for most of the changes. To-day in all parts of Canada and the civilized world will be found men and women who devote their whole lives to aid and succor poor suffering humanity. The orphans are cared for; feeble old men and women are looked after, and many a despondent person is rescued and a life saved by one act of Christian charity. Some people, however, loved money more than God, and would barter their souls for a small material gain. One of the worst vices man has to overcome is greed for money. All should strive to be charitable and aid one another as far as possible. He urged the congregation to do all they could to aid the lodies who devoted their time and other as far as possible. He urged the congregation to do all they could to aid the ladies who devoted their time and labors to the poor, as the coming winter would be a hard one and the demands on the society great.

The church was well filled, and after the sermon the officers of the society took up a collection.

PRETTY BOOK.

Oak Hall's Latest Issue Practical and Interesting.

A very pretty style book has just been issued by Oak Hall that is a credit to the firm. The fine cuts are in keeping with the fine clothes they are intended to illustrate and give a good idea of the value of Sovereign Brand Clothing. The fall and winter styles are set forth and fully explained. The sensible sack suit, the double breaster, the dark grey cheviot for the elderly geneleman and the frock suit and dinner coat get special attention. Then there is the fall and winter overcoats that have made Oak Hall famous, the stylish trouser and the children's wear. The Sanford Company, proprietors, supply nine branch stores and sell to over 2,000 retail stores in Canada. Every man ought to have a copy of this booklet which will be cheerfully given on application at Oak Hall, the great clothing store, on James street.

BEAUTIES ARRIVE.

SHIPLOAD OF GIRLS FROM ACROSS THE ATLANTIC.

Coming Now to Canada and United States With a Rush-The Baltic's Arrival-All Looking for Husbands

New York, Sept. 28 .- The shipload of unmarried girls who, according to the Canadian Associated Press a few days ago, had set sail for Canada, arrived in port here yesterday by the steame Baltic.

They do not appear to have any or ganized plans and as nearly as can be ascertained no organized systematic ef-fort was made to bring them out, though considerable literature was recently dis-tributed throughout Europe saying that American and Canadian girls were too aristocratic and don't want to marry anybody who is not a Pittsburg millionaire. Most of the girls seem suddenly to have taken the notion into their heads to come to America as a result of these reports, although some are girls who have already been working in this country and visiting the old country, and, happening to return, laughingly joined the crowd.

On account of the rush, only 500 of the girls landed at the immigration bureau yesterday. Others land to-day. The girls are about equally divided betweer blondes and brunettes. Many are really beauties. They had gay times coming over. aristocratic and don't want to

With befitting ceremony and solemnity the foundation stone of what promises to be in architecture and outley one of the most magnificent cathedrals in the world was laid at noon.

It was a notable occasion, made more so by the presence of the President of the United States and the Bishop of London.

The attendance numbered from twenty to thirty thousand people, far over-taxing the capacity of the amphitheatre. Among the prelates who took part in the exercises were Rt. Reu-A. F. John McPherson Killed at Regina by Fall From Tower.

Regina, Sask., Sept. 29.—About 1 o'clock yesterday while Mr. John Mc-Pherson and Mr. Stewart were polishing the brick top of the tower of the new City Hall, a rope on one side of the scaffold gave way. Mr. McPherson was precipitated 60 feet on the stone steps, and died from his injuries. Mr. Stewart clung to a rope and was rescued. Mr. McPherson was unmarried and had only recently arrived in the city. His sister resides here.

"My father continues to improve, although his progress is not all we could wish for. He cannot yet walk without assistance."

It was reported a year ago that Mr. Chamberlain's condition was such as to preclude his ever returning to active political life, but the prediction was combatted by the family with astounding pertinacity, the object clearly being to secure Austen Chamberlain's political position so that he might succeed his father as leader of the tariff reform party before the truth became generally appreciated.

FAMOUS POISONER.

CHRISTIANA EDMUNDS DEAD IN

Distributed Chocolates Doctored With Strychnine to Children About Brighton Thirty-five Years Ago-Con-victed of Murder, But Had Sentence

London, Sept. 29.—By the death of woman from senile decay in the Broador Lunatic Asylum this week one of the most extraordinary crimes in judi the most extraordinary crimes in judicial annals was recalled. Christiana Edmunds, a well-educated woman in easy circumstances, lived with her mother at Brighton. She formed the acquaintance, as a patient, of a local medican man and his wife.

After a period, during which the Edmunds woman's friendship for the doctor's wife died under circumstances suggesting that she had been poisoned by eating sweetmeats. About a month passed, during which suspicion grew that Miss Edmunds had poisoned the woman out of jealousy.

passed, during which suspicion grew that Miss Edmunds had poisoned the woman out of jealousy.

Thereupon, with systematic cunning, she entered upon a scheme of distributing poisoned chocolates to divert suspicion from herself. She sent a bay she met in the street to buy chocolate creams at certain confectioners'. These she doctored with strychnine and then returned them to the shop to be exchanged for another kind.

The unsuspecting confectioner made the change and resold the poisoned chocolates to another customer named Barker, one of whose children died within a few hours atter eating them.

At the inquest Christina Edmunds told an artful story of having been ill herself as the result of eating sweets bought at the shop referred to.

The verdict of the Coroner's jury was "accidental death," exonerating the confectioner, who was a man of the highest probity.

For nearly a year afterward Miss Edmunds distributed little bags of poisoned chocolates, giving them to children in the streets. Six or seven children were made dangerously ill, but survived. The woman was finally convicted of the murder of the Barker boy and condemned to death. Her sentence, however, was commuted and she was sent to Broadmoor Asylum thirty-five years ago.

has suffered throughout. September from the exaggerated clemency of the weather, is now receiving reports of a vast cyclone, chiefly affecting Western Europe. Atlantic steamship passengers bring-accounts of much worse experiences than, those met with by the Lusitania's passengers. Lisbon was overswept by wind, rain and thunder last Tuesday. The tornado traveled southward, striking Malaga and even extended to Casa Blanca, on the Moorish coast, where the French camp was wrecked Thursday.

The main body of the cyclone meanwhile went further east and slightly north and burst over the south of France, Friday morning unheralded by storm signs. There the centre of the disturbance seems to have halted and the downpour continued to-day. The damage to the vintage in the Department of Herault is now enormous. The valleys are flooded and whole towns are under water. Some of the invers have risen twelve feet, and where they have receded human bodies have been found in the branches of trees. President Fallieres is visiting the stricken districts. Rain and thunder continue incessantly.

On the plain of Plorensac, near Montpellier, where President Fallieres arrived to-night, over 2,000 vintagers, men, women, and children, were gathering grapes, when panting gendarmes rushed upon them crying: "Run for your lives!" All dashed for high ground, and in less than ten minutes a swirling mass of water swept across the plain. Thirty women and twenty men took refuge in one small farm house, where they remained for thirty-six hours without food. Military engineers in pontoons and boats are thought in the district rescuing pecple who have been imprisoned for days. The River Herault, which has flooded the entire plain of Agde, is still rising. Toulon has also suffered, and communication is broken. There have been many deaths, but the precise number cannot be ascertained yet. There were torrential rains in Lisbon on the occasion of the return of the Crown Prince from his African tour. Nevertheless the Queen ran out from a pavilion and embra

At the theatres, where rehearsals were proceeding, the artists fell on their

of them were in such a condition that the performance had to be canceled.
The damage at Malaga is placed at $4,000,000. Parties of immigrants, who were waiting to embark, have disappeared, and there is no trace of them.

MOTORMAN KILLED.

Hugh Hayes, of Ottawa, Ran His Car Into One Ahead.

Ottawa, Sept. 29.—Hugh Hayes, York treet. Ottawa, lost his life on Saturday street. Ottawa, lost his life on Saturday night by a rear-end collision between two Britannia street cars. Hayes was a motorman on one of the cars and was not of long experience. By some inadvertence he failed to stop his car in time, and it crashed into the car ahead, which was filled with passengers, but which fortunately was little damaged. Hayes car was badly smashed and Hayes himself was so seriously injured that he died in the hospital at noon to-day. Luckily there was no one on the car but himself and the conductor.

Snow at Quebec.

Quebec, Sept. 28.—At Chamberd, on the line of the Quebec & Lake St. John s Railway, there was quite a fall of snow yesterday, fully half an inch coming down. The train conveying Earl Grey, Premier Gouin and party, who are on a visit to the Lake St. John country, passed through Chamberd yesterday morning just as the snow was falling.

VERY SIMPLE TEST

TO FIND OUT IF THE KIDNEYS ARE INACTIVE, AND A RECIPE.

A well-known authority states that there are more cases of kidney trouble here now than ever before, while recent reports show that more people succumb each year to some form of kidney disease reports show that more people succumb each year to some form of kidney disease than any other cause.

When there is sickness, examine the urine. Rheumatism is only a symptom of kidney trouble. It is nothing more or less than excessive uric acid in the blood, which the sluggish, inactive kidneys have failed to sirt out, ieaving it to decompose and settle about the joints and muscles, causing intense suffering; frequently resulting in deformity: often reaching the heart, when death ensues.

Pains across the back, frequent, painful and suppressed urination and other symptoms of weak bladder are not the only signs of kidney trouble; many cases of stomach disease, headache, pain in the heart, inactive liver, etc., are but symptoms the cause of which can be traced to feeble, clogged kidneys.

The physicians for the insurance companies always carefully examine and report on the condition of the urine. It is a certain sign of sickness or heart in the human body.

A test of the urine should be made by every man and woman at least once each year. A simple fest is to void a small quantity of urine in a bottle or glass and let it stand over night; next morning, if there is a reddish brick-dust sediment, or white, fleecy substance present, either consult some reputable physician or take a good vegetable treatment. The following prescription is recommended highly in these cases, and if desirable the sufferer can mix it at home. Any good prescription pharmacy has the sufferer can mix it at home. good prescription pharmacy has the ingredients, which are harmless and inexpensive: Compound Kargon, one ounce; Fluid Extract Dandelion, oneounce; Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsapa-rilla, three ounces. Shake well and use in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime. Where any of the symptoms enumerated above are present, good results are sure to follow immediately the use of this simple pre-scription.

Captain Hull was 28 years of age when he met death at Lundy's Lane. He was a son of General William Hull, who surrendered Detroit to General Brock, and was present on that occasion.

STOLEN GRAPES KILLED HIM

A New England Youth's Tragic Vineyard Raid.

Boston, Sept. 28 .- James F. Toomey, aged seventeen years, of Revere, accompanied by half a dozen other youths, went grape-stealing in that town last night. They were all together in one yard, when two men came out of a house and chased the boys. The crowd separated. This morning Toomey was found dead in a field. Dr. George Stedman assistant medical examiner, this man, assistant medical examiner, this afternoon examined the body of Toomey. The examined the body of Toomey. The examination showed that the boy was strangled to death by grapes. There were grapes in his mouth, and it is supposed he fell and choked to death.

PARASOLS WITH TONGUES

The Newest Fad in Paris' Fashionable World.

World.

Paris, Sept. 29.—The newest fad in the Parish fashionable world is to have umbrellas and sunshades with sculptured heads of all sorts of animals for a handle. With the aid of an ingenious little piece of mechanism these animals can be made to put out their tongues. Have you a rabbit's head or the head of a monkey or a swan for a handle? While talking to a friend you press it carelessly and the animal pokes out a little red tongue, to the great astonishment of the friend, who is not used to such tricks from umbrella handles.

Escaped Prisoner Recaptured. Brockville, Sept. 28.—Wm. P. Turner escaped from the jail yard here on July 22 last while engaged langing out the clothes. His whereabouts were unknown until to-day, when he returned and fell into the hands of the police.

MUDLARKS' DAY AT THE H.J. C.

Track Was a Sea of Mud on Saturday Afternoon.

Four Favorites Were in Front at the Finish-Results of Races on Other

Notwithstanding the disagreeable wester on Saturday afternoon there was an immense crowd at the Hamilton Jackey Club track. About 25 books weighed in but they did not handle a great deal in but they did not handle a great deal in but they did not handle a great deal in but they did not handle a great deal in but they did not handle a great deal in but they did not handle a great deal in but they did not handle a great deal in but they did not handle a great deal more money was handled by the books in the last three reach that a great deal more money was handled by the books in the last three reach that a great deal more money was handled by the books in the last three reaches than in the previous four, showing that the Toronto talent back their fancies. Saturday was the best day of the meeting for the talent, as four first choices won. Three of these were odds favorred—Banyah, Col. Jack and Botanis. The longest price winner was the good old mander, De Resike, who closed at 7 to 1. The track was a see of mud and this caused a great many scratches, although these were fair sized fields in all but there were fair sized fields in all but there were fair sized fields in all but the of the races.

There were only three starters in the handicap at 1 1-4 miles for three year olds and up. Prytania, who won his maiden race at the Quebec meeting a few weeks ago, and was claimed the other day out of a selling race here, was mistakenly figured by some players to have a chance to win with his light impost of 65 pounds, and olckey Goldstein raced him head and head with Col. Jack went on two mass he pleased. Prytania stopped shy J. Murphy, passed him and beat, hand the best. Nichol sent Railot to the front and a file first power of the second race as if the other day out of a selling race here, was mistakenly figured by some players to have a chance to win with his light in a dozen lengths for second money.

The repealance were to be the second race as if the other and the second race as if the other and the second race as if

A CLOSE FIT.

Toronto Defeated by Columbus in Sunday Game.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 30.—Dame For tune butted into the game between Toronto and Columbus at several erucial stages yesterday. The Eastern League champions did not get any the better of thampions du not get any the better of the fickle goddess' vacillations. She in-dulged both teams on a number of occa-sions, but wound up by taking pity on Bill Clymer's American Association pen-nant winners and gave them the game nant winners and gave them the game by 6 to 5.

A lowering sky and a Scotch mist promised anything but well for the game, and the attendance was held down to 1,536. Georgie Upp, the pet of the Columbus bleacherites, made his long-deferred appearance against the Leafs. George looked just like the rest of Clymer's flingers, and was driven to the barn in the fifth inning.

Fred Mitchell started for Toronto and was somewhat unsteadier than usual. To aggravate his troubles Umpire Owens, who worked at the plate, gave him a couple of raw decisions on balls and strikes just when they did the most damage. McGinley finished the game, pitching half an inning after Kelley had chased Mitchell, and but one hit was made off his delivery. The game was called when seven and one-half innings had been played, darkness preventing the completion of the contest. Score:

Dr. Bauer was called in and he said the grappler would not be able to walk-for two or three days or to wrestle for two or three weeks. A telegram was contracted to the contract of the country o three days or to wrestle for two or three weeks. A telegram was sent at once to Bartl's manager, E. C. Finley, and it caught him just as the pair were leaving to take the train. In a letter to the secretary of the Globe. A. C., received this morning, Finley said he would not claim the forfeit if the club was satisfied that the unknown was really hurt. He asked, however, that his forfeit be held for a match as soon as he is able to go on the mat. This arrangement was entirely satisfactory to the Unknown, who desired the forfeit to remain up.
