MISCELLANEOUS. STORY OF AN INTREPID CHAMBERMAID.

Galignain's Messenger, a paper, tells the following curious story — Annette, a young chambermaid of Marne, had kept the rooms of two wealthy Bachelors for several years. She wanted to get married, but her lover was so poor that she durst not venture. These bachelors were brothers; and one days they had call some property which they day they had sold some property which they owned jointly, and the money, amounting to 100'000 francs, was paid in bills of the Bank of France, too late to take it to Paris that of France, too late to take it to Paris that afternoon. At midnight a great noise was heard in the house. Annette ran and rapped at her master's door, saying, that robbers were at work below. "You have a gun," says she, "take it and shoot the villains!" Both the bachelors were much frightened. One began to harricade the door, while the other removed a tile from the hearth to secrete the bank bills—"Fools, "said the riel." "they will murder us all—give me girl, "they will murder us all—give me the gun!" She seized a double barrelled gun which laid upon the shelf and started down the stairs, the two frightened men watching her movements without saying a word. Presently bang went the gnn and a groan was heard—bang went the second barrel, and now a screech of pain resounded barrel, and now a screech of pain resounded through the house. Anniette soon came tripping up stairs and asked for powder and ball to reload. The astonished bachelors gave her the requisite charges, but soon steps were heard retreating from the house. All three then went cautiously down stairs when lo! a pool of blood showed that one robber at least had paid the penaty of his seek attempt. In the morning it was plain to rash attempt. In the morning it was plain to be seen that the body of the unhappy victim had been dragged by his companions to the river. Blood marked the whole distance, and the police were instantly on the alert for the arrest of the living thieves, and the discovery of the body of the dead one. All covery of the body of the dead one. All was vain, however, but the intrepidity of the poor girl was discussed far and near. The grateful bachelors, knowing that Annette wanted to marry, prepared to give her a dower. "Ah, Monsieurs," replied she, "how can I leave you? you may again be attacked by robbers,, "But we will not, attacked by robbers,, "But we will not, neverthelass, stand between you and happiness; here are thirty thousand francs: you saved our lives and richly deserve the money. If you choose to live in this house with your husband, we shall repair the lower part for that purpose, and you can then be paid for keeping our rooms neatly as at present."

Annette did not hesitate to accept the dower Annette did not nesstate to accept the dower and the house. It was many years before the real facts relative to this midnight attack of robbers came to light. The rich bachelors were then both dead, and had willed Annette another thirty thousand francs the robbers, it appears, were not of plural number, but only Annette's lover alone. The blood was from a lamb that had been killed for the occasion. Indeed, the whole was but a ruse by the two lovers to open the hearts and the purses of the rich achelors.

MARRIED AND SINGLE.—We extract the MARKIED AND SINGLE.—We extract the subjoined from a speech delivered by Mr. Alexander Frizell, in reply to the toast of "The Ladies," at the recent banquet of the Armagh Quarter Sessions Grand Jury, Ireland. Mr. Frizell, after some introductory remarks. said: "I remember reading tory remarks, said: "I remember reading an anecdote which I cannot forbear mentioning, it so beautifully illustrates the force than tight lacing the waist. Conrad besieged Hensburg, the women of the city found it was impossible the place could hold out. They, therefore unanimously petitioned the Emperor to allow much as mously petitioned the Emperor to allow them to leave the city with only as much as each could carry with her. The Emperor, believing that the burden of each would necessarily be light conceded to their request. A flag of truce was hoisted, and silence prevailed, when one of the city gates flew open. The women marched out. rank and file—and what do you think they were carrying? Peace be to their ashes, and honor to their memory! Every one of them had her husband on her back. (Cheers.) The Emperor was so stricken by their conjugal fidelity that he restored the wives back to their husbands, and the the wives back to their husbands, and the city to all its former privileges. Now, Mr. Chairman and gentlemen, I ask you, could all the bachelora in the wide world this day produce an action comparable to that? Oh! that I had the reasoning power of Socrates that I might induce these young men whom I are around me to consult their own happiness, by renouncing what is falsely called single bleasedness. (Great cheering.) Socrates, once, on delivering a lecture to the Athenians, on love and matrimony, pressed home his subject so powerfully and convincingly on the hearts of his audience, by showing them the comforts and advantages the married man possessed over the bachelor, that at the conclusion of his speech, the young men rose up in a body and the young men rose up in a body and solemnly declared that they would marry on the first available opportunity. Of course, ladics will not be the first to declare their love. No! they would rather let conceallove. No! they would rather let conceal-ment, 'like a worm in the bud' feed on their damask cheek.' They are like the golden nuggets in auriferious regions—they will no come to you unsought. But, do you seek the inestimable treasure of a wife, and you will be rewarded by a bliss, the ade-quate description of which would alike defy the pen of poet or the pencil of artist." (Great cheering.)

INDIVIDUAL RESPONSIBILITY.—Dr. Way-

INDIVIDUAL RESPONSIBILITY.—IP: Way-land, speaking of the Christians who where dispersed by the fierce persecutions of the Church at Jerusalem, says:

"This little band accomplished more for the conversion of the world than all the Christians in the present a state of the same of th the conversion of the world than all the Christians in the present age united have done. Does any one ask why? "Because every individual," says he, "felt that the conversion of the world was a work for which he himself, and not an abstraction called the Church, was responsible. Instead of relying on man for aid, every one looked directly up to God to forward the work. God was thus exalted. His power was confessed, and very contain a tenwas confessed, and very soon, in a tew years, the standard of the cross was carried to every part of the then known world.

SUSPENDERS-THEIR BENEFITS.

It is the prevailing fashion, especially in cities, for men to dispense with suspenders, and support their pantaloons, by having them made to button tightly around the person, above the hips.

person, above the hips.

It is our settled conviction, that this practice is decidedly detrimental to health. Much has been justly said against tight lacing, as applied to females; and of suspending heavy skirts to the hips, by fastening them tightly around the waist or loins, where there are no ribs or other bony framewall to excite the compressive name.

work to resist the compressive power.

We admit that half a dozen skirts weighing many pounds are worse for the consti-tution of the wearer than the drawers and pantaloons as worn by the men, but worse only because the quantity is greater, and the pressure necessary to sustain them is more. The principle is the same. Fe-males should suspend their skirts mainly by

The hips of boys and men are constitutionally narrower than these of the female; and therefore the clothing thus worn requires to be tighter, to prevent slipping down.

Around the waist and hips, the very place where freedom of action and expansion should of all the other parts of the trunk, be enjoyed, there is tightness, compression, and a destructive lack of freedom. We plant ourselves on this point, and claim that our position cannot be disturbed, viz.: the animal economy, from head to foot, should never be dressed in such a manner as in the least degree to cramp the freedom of any action of the body or limbs. Let this be the rule with all, and one-half of our doctors might be spared to cultivate the

The above is from the "New York Phrenological Journal," and contains no small amount of sound sense and solid truth. A case within our own knowledge, of infla-mation of the bowels, which resulted int he death of a young man, 23 years of age, was caused, we believe, by the too tight belting

EVIL COMPANIONS .- Parents cannot be EVIL COMPANIONS.—Parents cannot be two careful in selecting society for their children, and young men cannot be too choice in their associates. The adage has lost nothing by age which says "a man is known by the company he keeps." To young men especially, it is of infinite im-portance that they be furnished with comyoung men especially, it is of infinite importance that they be furnished with companions possessing generous hearts and honorable virtuous sentiments. Says the distinguished Robert Hall, in his "Works," recently published by Harper & Brothers: "Society is the atmosphere of souls; and we necessarily imbibe from it something which is either infectious or salubrious.

we necessarily imbibe from it something which is either infectious or salubrious. The society of various persons is enjoyed beyond their company, while vice carries a sting in solitude. The society of the company you keep is both the indication of your character and the former of it. In company, when the pores of the mind are opened, there requires more guard than usual, because the mind is then passive. Either vicious company will please you or it will not; if it does not please you, the end of going will be defeated. In such society you will feel your reverence for the dictates of conscience wear off, and that name at which angels bow and devils tremble you will hear condemned and abused. The Bible will supply materials for unmeaning jests, and impous buffonery; the consequence of this will be a practical deviation from virtue; the principle will become sapped, and the fences of conscience broken down; and when debauchery has corrupted the character a total inversion will take place they will giers in the character a total inversion will take place they will giers in the character a total inversion will take

Course arross—Idiots often suffer less from physical pain than beings of a higher organization. A boy, now at Highgate, was once found by his mother with a species of buckle thrust through his tongue, He had made this experiment merely to amuse himself, and testified no inconvenience whatever—was vain of the ornament, but not otherwise moved by it. Idiots are found, below the averaga sensitiveness of the electric battery; and yet, so remarkable are the contradictions in their nature, they are invariably affected by thunder sind lightning. The mere approach of a thunder storm is observed to disorder the stomachs of a whole idiot asylum. They generally like music—bright colours almost always—and are remarkably susceptible to the influence of sunlight. Such things as they do, they do, as an established rule, they do, they do, as an established rule, best on a bright day, and worst on a dark one. In respect of mental pain, as of physical, they have their compensation. Separation from friends does not affect them much, grief and sorrow hold but slight dominion over them, and the contemplation of death does not distress them. They are fond of attending prayers in a body. What feath does not distress them. They are fond of attending prayers in a body. What dim religious impressions they connect with public worship, it is impossible to say, but the struggling soul would seem to have some instinctive aspirations towards its Maker.—[Dickens' "Household Words."

FRUITS OF HALF A CENTURY .- Fifty years ago steamboats were unknown; now there are 3,000 affoat on American waters alone. In 1800 there was not a Railway in the world; now there are 10,000 miles in the United States alone, and about 22,000 in America and England. Half a century America and England. Hall a century ago, it took some weeks to convey news from Washington to New Orleans; now not as many seconds as it then did weeks. Fifty years ago, the most rapid printing press was worked by hand power; now, steam prints 20,000 papers an hour on a

THE MALAY BOY AND THE TIGER .-Not long ago, a Malay boy was sent by his parents, who live in the island of Singapore, to herd some water buffaloes. As he was driving the herd home by the bornard and advantage of the state of the s ders of the jungle, a tiger made a sudden spring, and seizing the lad by the thighs, was dragging him off. Two old bull-buf-faloes, hearing the shrieks of their little herdman, turned round, and directly ran to his help. The tiger, gored by their horns, was obliged to drop his prey to de-fend himself. While one buffalo fought, and successfully drove the tiger away, the other kept guard over the wounded boy. Later in the evening, when the anxious father, alarmed, came out with his servants to seek his child, he found that the whole herd, with the exception of the two old bufnerd, with the exception of the two old buffaloes, had spread themselves out to feed; but that they were still there, one standing over the bleeding body of their little friend, while the other kept watch on the edge of the jungle for the return of the tiger.—

INVENTIONS .- Some one thus sums up a few of the advantages of modern inventions:

"One boy, with a Fourdrinier machine, will make more paper in a twelvementh, than all Egypt could have made in a hundred years during the reign of the Ptolemies.
One girl, with a power-press, will strike off books faster than a millon scribes could copy them before the invention of printing.—One man, with a foundry, will turn out more utensils than Tubal Cain could have forged, had he worked directly to this time .-- A tific American on Tuesday evening. We have Boston papers of Saturday, from which we gless the intelligence following:

"We hears," asys the Bousten Telegraph of the 16th cit.," that much excitement has been created on the western frontier by a report that the Mexicans were giopoling to study comb of the frontier pate.

"The west bank of the Rio Grande is literally lined with troops, and it was supposed not less than 15,000. Bezican, troops are now stationed in the towns of the Sierra Madre."

A correspondent of the Matagorda Tribune adds the following as a posteript to a letter, dated San Antonia, August 35:

"I have just learned a piece of war rumor that may be interesting to your readers. Instructions have been received here by the Quartermaster to make immediate preparation for the reception and accommodation of 10,000 United States troops—some say 20,000. This movement has been induced by the warlike attitude of Mexico. Santa Anna is rapidly recruiting his forces, and it is pretty well accertained, upon good authority, has already a large army in process of organization. We have every reason to believe that the demonstrations are not pacific. Rumor is rife here that he makes the immediate invasion of Texas as a matter of no soncesiment. In reference to this, however, the Tribune makes the following placeable abservations:

"There remairs no question of the fact that he has already raised a large army, and put them in motion for his northern frontiers, but thus he is preparing for an invasion of the United States. In rather to doubtful a suggestion for our credity, Santa Anna is accorded too much discormant by those who know his not pay such that he is preparing for an invasion of the United States. The Northern States are memouring dissifications, and he is determined to teach them obedience. Camargo, Montrely, Matamoras, and other towns adjacent to the lower Rio Grande, are bristling with his bayonets, while higher up, negs the Prasidio read, a heavy army of 30,000 med is said to be on the march. Our own Government, being apprised of these movements, began to prepare for an emergency All the troops from the available Indian outpouts in the yieinity have been ordered to rendezeous to San Autonio immediately. Several companies had strived states before we lifet.—Some twenty companies from the different military stations in the Atlantic States have also been ordered to San Antonia, and it is generally believed that there would be between 6000 and 8000 troops quartered in that city in the course of a few weeks." CHINA.

Some of the books issued by the Chinese insurgents, who have embraced Christian doctrines, prove the remarkable correctness of many of their views, though anhappily there is much error mixed with the treth. In the Digest of their books made by the Rev Dr. Mrdhurst, are the following prayer, Doxology, and version of the Commandments:—

"1, A. B., kneeling down with a true heart, repent of my sina, and pray the Heavenly Father, the Great God of His abundant merer, to furgive my former sins of ignorance, in repeatedly breaking the Divine commands, earnestly beseeching Him also to grant mr repentance and memess of life, that my soul may go to Heaven, while I from henceforth truly forsake my former ways, abandoning idolatry and all corrupt practices, in obedience to God's commands. I also pray that God would give me His Holy Spirit to change my wicked heaft, deliver me from all temptation, and grant me His favor and protection, best-wing upon me food and raiment, and exemption from calamity, peace in this world and glory in the next, through the merits of our Saviour and Etder Brother Jesus, who redeemed us from sin. I also pray that God's will may be done on earth as it is done in Heaven. Amen."

On Sundays the following Doxology is to be said or sang:—

"We praise Thee, O God, our Heavenly Fa-THE KOZSTA AFFAIR.

Some excitament is likely to grow out of the demand made by Austria on the United States for veparation in the case of Kosta, the Hungarian refuges, who was seized by the Austrian authorities at Smyrna, and subsequently demanded by Com. Ingham, on the ground that he was an American citizen. The demand of Austria receives the manction of England and France, and has already been made public. To this demand, Mr. Marcy, the United States' Secretary, has replied in a letter of no ordinary ability, stoutly maintaining the right of his Country to protest Kosta, and justifying the course pursued by Com. Ingham. The result of this affair will no doubt cause considerable sensation on both sides of the Atlantic; and from the facts already glicited, we think that the American Commodore performed a meritorious act in releasing the unfortunate Hungarias from the crust persecutions of his enemies.

The following is the substance of Secretary Marcy's letter, which has been telegraphed to the Boston journals.—

Koestis is claimed as an American citizen unlawfully seized by the Austrians. In reply to the descent of Austria the United States was not seen the secretary was a support to the descent of Austria the United States was not an extensive the United States was not an extensive the United States was not a support of the secretary was not an austrial state was not a support of the secretary was not a support of the support of the support of the support of Austria the United States was not a support of the support of the Koestis is claimed as an American citizen unlawfully seized by the Austrians. In reply to the demand of Austria that the United States govern ment shall direct Koests to be delivered to that government, that it shall disavow the conduct of the American agents in the Smyrna affair, and sender satisfaction for that outrage, Mr. Marcy carers into an analysis of the doctrine of allegiance, and contends that the conflicting laws on that subjet are of a municipal character, and have no controlling operation beyond the territorial limits of the country exacting them; that neither of the parties to the question in dispute has the right to appeal to its own municipal laws to settle the matter in dispute, which occurred in the jurisdiction of a third independent power; that neither the Austrian decress or American laws can properly be invoked in this case, but the international law furnished the rules for a correct decision, and by the light from this source shed upon the transaction at Smyrna are its features to be discorreced. Knestx being beyond the jurisdiction

The above is followed by a verse of a hymn

"The true doctrine is different from the occ-trine of the word;
"It saves men's souls and affords the enjoy-ment of endless blue;
"The wise receive it at once with joyful exultation;
"And the foolish, when awakened, understand be invoked in this case, but the international law furnished the rules for a correct decision, and by the light from this source shed upon the transaction at Schyras are jit true features to be discerned. Kodzti being beyond the jurisdiction of Austria, her laws were entirely inoperative, unless the sultan of Turkey has consented by treaty stipulations to give them vigor within his dominions.

"To give his life for the redemption of all our transgressions.
"When men know this and repent of their sins, they may go to Heaven."

Then follow the Ten Commandments:—

1. "Worship the great God.

2. "Do not worship degraved spirits.

3. "Do not take God's name in vain: His name is Jehovah.

4. "On the seventh day is the Sabbath, when you must praise God for His goodness." (Their Sabbath occurs on the same day as our Sunday.)

5. "Honour father and mother.

6. "Do cot kill or injure paople.

7. "Do not commit adultery or practice any uncleanness." (Under this command opium or foreign tobarco is forbidden.)

8. "Do not steal.

9. "Do not lie.

10. "Do not overt."

less the suitan of Turkey has consented by treaty etipulations to give them vigor within his dominions.

Mr. Marcy, after defining the law of actions, beating on the subject of allegiance, contents that to surrender political offenders like Kozza is not a dety; but on the contrary would be a dishonorable subserviency to a foreign power, and an set meriting the reprobation of maskind. He then refers the Austrian minister to the refusal of Turkey, in 1849 to surrender the Hungarian refugees on the demand of Austria and Russia, a refusal which the civilized world justified and commended, and which those two powers eventually acquiesed in, without imputing to Tutkey a breach of her duty or a violation of their rights. Koszta was one of these refuges, and his case was then fully discussed, not only by the parties, but throughout Europe, and decided against the right of Austria to require any extradition, either under the law of nations or by existing treaty atpulations; the justice of this decision was admitted by the rulers, statesmen, and people of every country, and the Sultan commended for the framess and humanity of his courses. FRANCE. PRANCE.

By order of the Prefect of Police, a strange ordinance relative to servants of both sexes has been placarded in all parts of Paris. It declares that all servants, male or female, who are now in service at Paris, or who instead taking service thete, must, within the delay of three months—that is from the present time to November Iss—provide themselves with a livret, or book, for their masters to mark down their opinions of their honesty, conduct, time of service, &c., under pain of subjecting themselves to an imprisonment of not more than three months, or not less than a week. This livret, which is to contain their names, age, birth place, and description, will be delivered, on personal application, at the Prefecture of Police. It is interdicted to all masters to receive into their service any servant who is not provided with such livret. THE SAILOR AND THE ACTRESS, "When I was a poor girl," said the Duchess of St. Albans," working very hard for my thirty shillings a week, I went down to Liverpool during the Holidays, where I was always kindly received. was to perform in a new piece, something like those pretty little affecting dramas they get up now at our minor theatres; and in my character I represented a poor, friendless or phan girl, reduced to the most wretched poverty. A heartless trades say debt, and insists on putting her in pri-son, unless some one will go bail for her.

The girl replies, "Then I have no hope; I have not a friend in the world.' What, will no one ball you, to save you, from going to prison? asks the stern creditor. I have told you I have not a friend on earth, was my reply. But just unitary in the upper gallery springing over the railing, letting litinself down from one tier to mother, until he bounded clear over the rough the railing litinself down from one tier to mother, until he bounded clear over the rough the railing litinself down from one tier to mother, until he bounded clear over the rough the railing litinself beside me in a moment. Yes, you shall have one friend, at least, my proof young women, said he, with the greatest expression in his honest, and and 18 in America—in the course of which he have to enter the rough to any amount. And as for you, turning to the frightened actor, you lubber, it will be worse for you when I come athwart your bows.'—Every creature in the house rose, the uppear was indescribable; peals of laughter, screams of terror, cheers from his tawny, messmatel in the gallery, prapaas I was uttering these words, I saw a sai-
