Only a Beggar;
—BUT—
A Queen Among Women

CHAPTER VIII.

In time, most of the sick children and old women in the village got accustomed to seeing his lordship and Miss Bourne walking down the village, his lordship carrying a basket, or a book, and listening intently to the young lady at his side; and, presently, the children began to share their allegiance to the beautiful young lady from Rivermead, with his lordship from Shortledge; for, when Diana was out of the way, Dalesford, at first shyly and awkwardly, always produced a packet of sweets and other delectables from the yawning pockets of his loose shooting-jacket, and never failed to present them to the surrounding brats with awful threats of corporal punishment if they "told on him" to the lady who had gone up-stairs.

It was not all visiting the sick and needy with these two. There were picnics, boating expeditions, tennis, tea and dinner-parties, at which they were continually meeting; and each day Diana was growing accustomed to the society of this young nobleman, and insensibly forgetting his evil reputation. Indeed, a change was working in Dalesford—a remarkable change. Hitherto, he had found it impossible to remain in London, and its questionable amusements, from the theatrical supper-parties, the bacarat-tables, the feverish excitement of the race-meeting, for longer than a few days; but the days slipped by on tiptoe, and still found him at Shortledge, and found him content to be there. And, if he did run up to town, it was only for a few hours, for he was restless while he was there, and eager to get back to the simple delights at which he had once scoffed.

AFTER SUFFERING TWO LONG YEARS

Mrs. Aselin Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Minneapolis, Minn.—"After my little one was born I was sick with pains in my sides which the doctors said were caused by inflammation. I suffered a great deal every month and grew very thin. I was under the doctor's care for two long years without any benefit. Finally after repeated suggestions to try it we got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After taking the third bottle of the Compound I was able to do my housework and today I am strong and healthy again. I will answer letters if anyone wishes to know about my case."—Mrs. JOSEPH ASELIN, 628 Monroe St., N. E., Minneapolis, Minn.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and today holds the record of being the most successful remedy we know for woman's ills. If you need such a medicine why don't you try it?

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

of his for country life, for tennis and boating, and the rest of it, was noticed by both gentle and simple of the place; but, though some of the latter nodded, and smiled, and whispered to each other when Diana and he passed, Lady Selina had no suspicion of the cause of his long visit. As a matter of fact, she and all his kin had come to regard Dalesford as invulnerable; and it certainly would not have occurred to her as possible that he should fall in love, with matrimonial intent—with a person of so little consequence as Miss Bourne, charming though she might be.

But a sharper pair of eyes was coming on the scene!

CHAPTER IX.

The afternoon of the school treat arrived, and, not only Diana, but all her friends, including the servants at Rivermead, were in a state of wild excitement. If they had been going to a fete part of royalties they could not have thrown themselves into the affair with greater enthusiasm. The piles of buns and cakes, the pots of jam, the scores of dolls for the girls, and the balls and tops—they were "in" just then—for the boys, were discussed, counted, arranged in the methodical order insisted upon by the mistress of the feast, Diana, who superintended everything, and worked her willing slaves unmercifully.

The excitement extended to Shortledge, and was caught by even Lady Selina, who for days beforehand had driven to and from the village, with Tubby on her lap, yapping at everything and everybody, and adding to the confusion.

"The place is quite stirred up since Diana came," said Mabel, to whom it was "Diana" now. "She has awakened Sleepy Hollow. I declare, we're all changed; we've all been made to move ourselves. And some of us are improved. Vane, for instance—"

"You leave your elders alone, my sweet child," remarked Vane, who was seated on the balustrade of the terrace, smoking a cigarette.

"Vane is not half so slack—and, oh, think, Aunt Selina, how beastly lazy he used to be—"

"Beastly is not a word that should be used by a lady, Mabel," rebuked Lady Selina.

"Sorry, aunt; I caught it of that Selby boy. But it's true. And he's ever so much more polite and attentive—"

"The Selby boy?" asked Vane, innocently. "Yes, I've noticed his 'attentions.'"

"No; you. Nothing could make Bertie Selby polite. But I suppose you will draw the line at tea-fights, Vane? You'll go up to town, and come back when all the work's done, and say how fagged you are. So like a man!"

But, marvellous to relate, just after the proceedings had commenced, when the tables were laid, and the forms set, and the children were all agog with excitement, laughing, jumping, jostling, as children will do in their delighted moments, and Diana was going from one table to another, with plates of buns and cake in her hand, she heard a deep, but nobly resigned, voice at her elbow say:

"Anything I can do, Miss Bourne?"

The color rose to her face, and she hastened to excuse its presence by exclaiming, with simulated petulance:

"How you startled me! Good gracious, no! What did you imagine you could do? But it's very good of you to come and offer your services, all the same, Lord Dalesford!"

"Thank you," he responded, "Yes; I admit that I feel rather out of place at a school treat, and I can't think what induced me to come. Do you think it's softening of the brain?"

"It can't be that, Vane," interjected Mabel, who also bore her burden of plates. "You've got to have brains to soften, you know."

"Don't pay any attention to this young person's impertinence, Miss Bourne," he said; "but, now I'm here, take pity on me, and let me carry something."

"He'll drop it, if you do," Mabel asserted. "He always upsets the tea, if he attempts to carry a cup at home, and he'll be worse out here."

"Perhaps you'll be so kind as to see that the children get into their places without crowding, Lord Dalesford?" suggested Diana.

"Certainly," he said; but he stood with his hands thrust into his pockets, and his eyes fixed on Diana, as she moved swiftly, easily, and fro; her presence accompanied, as it seemed to him, by a halo of sunshine; and it was not until the bell rang that he woke up, helped by a push from Mabel, and began to marshal the children to their places. His way of doing it was scarcely regular, though it proved effective enough.

"Now, youngsters, no crowding!" he said, with that air of comradeship which children are so quick and so delighted to recognize. "Girls, sit opposite the cake; boys, opposite the bread and butter—else the girls will have no cake. Been a boy myself, and I know. Here, young man, you want a hand. Up with that!" as he helped one of the smallest urchins to his place.

Mr. Selby said grace, the feast began, and the ladies and gentlemen who were ministering to the wants of the children—who ate as if they had not seen food for weeks—were kept hard at it. Now, it was noticeable that Mabel and Bertie worked in double harness, and that, wherever Diana happened to be—and she seemed to be in several places at once—Dalesford was sure to be close to her elbow. He was not of much use at this part of the proceedings, and once, in lifting a kettle, he nearly succeeded in

its Virus Forever Destroyed

EVERY CASE IS CURABLE.

Good-bye to Rheumatism!
Your aching joints, your stiff, sore muscles, those sleepless nights and suffering days — good-bye forever — your day is gone.

Sufferer, cheer up, and read the good news below.

"A man met me a month ago, and said, 'don't stay crippled, quit complaining, limber up.' My answer was, 'I'm rheumatic, I can't do it.' He looked me over in a pitying sort of way, and told me to go to the nearest drug store for Nerviline and Ferruzone. The combination had cured him. I was convinced of his sincerity and followed his instructions. I rubbed on Nerviline three times every day—rubbed it right into my aching joints. The pain quickly lessened, and I became more limber and active. To draw the virus of the disease from my blood, I took two Ferruzone Tablets with every meal. I am well today, not an ache, not a pain and no sign of stiffness at all."

What Nerviline can do in a case like this it can do for you too. For nearly forty years Nerviline has been recommended for Rheumatism, Lumbago and Sciatica and Lame Back. It is the one remedy that never disappoints.

scalding himself and several other persons; but he appeared to be perfectly happy, and, wherever he went, the children looked up at him with a smile, for that easy-go-lucky way of his won all their hearts, especially the girls.

"You don't think any of them will explode?" he asked Diana, with mock anxiety. "I've got my eye on one or two cases that threaten to be fatal. That boy there, for instance, has eaten enough for a carter, and has drunk eight cups of tea."

Diana laughed. How happy she was! Happier than she had ever been at any other school treat; but, then, she assured herself, no other had ever been so successful as this!

"Oh, no; he's all right. Do, please, see that they have enough."

"Oh, all right," he responded. "But, mind, you take all the risks! It's your show, remember. Now, my little man, try another piece of cake. What, no? Oh, yes, you can. You stand up, and see. What! as bad even as that? And, now, what do you do with 'em?" he asked, going back to Diana's side. "Let 'em lie on the grass and recover?"

"Oh, dear no!" she replied, her eyes all alight with joy, her lips parted with what Dalesford thought an angelic smile. "They are going to play now."

Dalesford groaned. "You wouldn't be so cruel!"

"Yes. They are going to have skipping-ropes—"

"It sounds like sudden death—"

"And rounders and cricket. And—and—I'm afraid the tiny ones will want kiss-in-the-ring."

"Thank heaven that no one even with the grossest flattery could call me a tiny one!" he said. "What shall I do?"

"You can hold a skipping-rope. No, no! I didn't mean it, Lord Dalesford; I didn't, indeed," she broke off swiftly as he looked round for a rope.

"Oh, in for a penny, in for a pound," he said, with an air of resignation. "I ought to be thankful that I'm not expected to skip. What's that fool of a boy doing?"

That fool of a boy was Bertie, who was having his pocket handkerchief tied over his eyes, that he might be the first victim in blind man's buff, and who was "swung off" by mischievous Mabel with a heartiness that sent him literally spinning.

War News

Messages Received Previous to 9 A.M.

RUSSIAN VICTORY.
LONDON, Nov. 6. The Russian Commander-in-Chief has wired General Joffre that the Russian troops have gained a great victory in East Prussia to-day.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.
A despatch to Earl Kitchener from the Grand Duke Nicholas was received at the British Embassy here to-day. It is almost identical to that sent by the Grand Duke to General Joffre. The Grand Duke refers to the greatest victory since war began in Galicia. The Embassy statement, quoting the telegram from the Grand Duke, is as follows: Following our successes upon the Vistula, a complete victory has just been gained by our troops along the whole front in Galicia. Our strategical movements have thus been crowned by what is incontestably the greatest success gained on our side, since the beginning of the War. I am most confident of the most speedy and entire accomplishment of our common task.

AUSTRIANS IN FLIGHT.
PETROGRAD, Nov. 7. The Russians have recaptured the Galician town of Jaroslaw, and have taken 5,000 Austrian prisoners. Jaroslaw is 17 miles northwest of the Austrian fortress of Przemysl. The Austrian attempts to cut off the Russian attackers, the messages say, have finally been broken, and the Austrians are now in full retreat along the River San.

ON THE WESTERN FRONT.
PARIS, Nov. 7.—(Official.) To the north fighting continues to be severe. According to latest reports, our offensive was proceeding in the region south and east of Ypres. In the region of Arras, and from Arras to the Oise, several German attacks have been repulsed. In the region of Aisne we have retaken east of Vailly, the village of Soupre, which was lost the other day. In Argonne the enemy keeps attacking violently, but without results. On the heights of the Meuse to the east of Verdun, we have captured some trenches.

GREECE ANNEXES EPIRUS.
LONDON, Nov. 7. A despatch to the Central News from Saloniki says that Ozographos, former Governor of that seaport, has addressed a proclamation to the Epirotes, informing them of the annexation of Epirus by Greece.

TSING TAU SURRENDERS.
LONDON, Nov. 7. Tsing Tau, the German-Chinese stronghold, surrendered to the attacking Japanese and British forces to-day.

ANOTHER NAVAL BATTLE.
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6. Private advices to-day to prominent British agents here from their correspondents in Valparaiso, report that an engagement is taking place off Yancovers Peru, between British, German and Japanese warships. Press despatches telling of a previous German-British naval battle are confirmed in messages.

STORY OF NAVAL BATTLE—MONMOUTH 'PROBABLY SAFE.'
LONDON, Nov. 6. It is officially announced by the Admiralty, that the British cruiser Good Hope took fire during an engagement with Germans off the coast of Chile last Sunday, and foundered. The Admiralty statement says, it is believed that the British cruiser Monmouth which the Germans reported to have been sunk, was run ashore. The cruiser Canopus, it adds, was not present at the time of the fight. The Admiralty has received trustworthy information about the action on the Chilean coast. During Sunday, Nov. 1st, the Good Hope, Monmouth and Glasgow came up with the Scharnhorst, Gneisenau, Leipzig and Dresden. Both squadrons were steaming south in a strong wind, and considerable sea. The German squadron declined action until sunset, when the light gave it an important advantage. The action lasted an hour. Early in the action both the Good Hope and the Monmouth took fire, but fought until nearly dark, when a serious explosion occurred on the Good Hope, and she foundered. The Monmouth handed off at dark, making water badly, and appeared unable to steam away. She was accompanied by the Glasgow, which had meanwhile during the whole action fought the Leipzig and Dresden. On the enemy again approaching the wounded Monmouth, the Glasgow, which also was under fire from one of the armored cruisers, drew off. The enemy then attacked the Monmouth again, but with what result is not known. The Glasgow is not extensively damaged and has very few casualties. Neither the Ontranto nor the Canopus was engaged. Reports received by the Foreign Office from Valparaiso, state that a belligerent warship is ashore on the Chilean coast, and it is possible that it may be the Monmouth. Energetic measures are being taken on this assumption to rescue the survivors. The action appears to the Admiralty to have been most gallantly contested, but in the absence of the Canopus, the enemy's preponderance in force was considerable.

WEATHER HINDERS OPERATIONS.
LONDON, Nov. 7.—(Official.) The enemy's attack has decreased in vigor, and the process of pressing them back is making slow but sure and steady progress. The advance has been most marked to the south of Dixmude, and toward Ghelmeid, but the weather has been nasty, and has tended to hamper operations.

THE DEADLY MINE.
COPENHAGEN, via London, Nov. 7. A large German steamer was blown up south of the Danish Island of Rangel, and in the great belt, by a mine, said to have been placed there by the Germans. A number of the crew were lost. During the past fortnight two German trawlers and one German steamer have been destroyed in this region. There are now no Danish mines in the waters where the disasters occurred, as they were gathered up by a Danish steamer some time ago.

Two Citizens.

"Oh, yes, I'm feeling fine and dandy," says Jimpson, as he goes his way; "this good old world is sweet as candy, and it grows better every day." Exuberant, but never showy, he goes his joyous journey here, and, though his head is getting every year. And how the people like to greet him, this man who never learned to whine! They note his answers when they greet him, and put his maxims down in brine. "Alas, I'm feeling like the dickens," says Grigson, as he limps along; "my trouble multiplies and thickens and everything that is wrong. This life's a dark and turbid river, that flows between two starless nights; I have lumbago in my liver, I have bronchitis in my lights. My wishbone's long been out of order, the doctor says I'm going blind, and I'll be glad to cross the border, and leave this punk old world behind." He has a wall of gloom around him, an atmosphere that's grim and gray, and weary people cry, "Confound him! To meet him always spoils a day!" If you would have your neighbours love you, you must be cheerful, brave and sane, and swear the skies are blue above you, even though the clouds may bluff at rain.

At the City Hall.

The regular weekly session of the Civic Commission was held last night. The Chairman, Mr. W. G. Gosling, presided, and the following members were present:—Messrs. Harris, McNamara, Bradshaw, McGrath, Anderson, Morris and Withers.

A letter from the Colonial Secretary relative to the Council's recent transaction in debentures with the Government was read. The Council will attend to the matter as requested.

E. J. Horwood's tender for hay at $20.50 per long ton (2240 lbs.) and oats at $3.18 per sack of 4 bushels was accepted, with the understanding that if white oats were supplied instead of black, the Council expected an allowance of the difference in price.

I. G. Sullivan wrote complaining of the condition of the old railway track from the King's Bridge to the Rope-walk and submitted a report from Constable O'Neil on the matter. The Sanitary Committee will deal with the question.

J. P. Blackwood, solicitor for the trustees of Cochrane St. Church, acknowledged receipt of cheque, amount of arbitration award.

J. Rossley asked permission to erect a chimney in new theatre on Hutching's Street. The matter was referred to the Engineer.

C. J. Winsor asked that the Council build a bridge in front of his house on Cornwall Avenue. Mr. Winsor may do so at his own cost, and subject to the Engineer's approval.

The Public Health Officer reported that there was a stable on Knight St. which was a menace to the public health. In May last, permission was given the owner, J. R. Johnson, to erect a coach house, which was apparently converted into a stable. Notice will be given to have the building removed, or legal action will be taken.

D. A. Ryan repeated his offer of property on Queen Street for widening George Street. The acceptance of the offer would open the said street from Beck's Cove to Springdale Street, and payment for the property could be made in four and a half years.

On motion of Mr. Harris a committee was appointed to meet the Government and arrange for a loan to purchase. The opening of this street would be a great advantage, and Messrs. Harris, Morris and McNamara will interview the Government on the matter.

The Health Officer reported three cases of typhoid fever from McKay Street, which he thought was due to polluted water, obtained from the wells from which the residents of this locality get their supply. A fountain will be placed there and the use of the wells, which are very shallow, will be discontinued.

Obituary.

MR. A. ROBERTS.
Mr. Roberts, of Hamilton Avenue, whose death we announced yesterday, was a well known resident of St. John's West, and by his death a fine type of citizen is removed from our midst. Deceased had been ill for seven months and was a great sufferer. During his long illness he was tenderly cared for and everything possible was done to alleviate pain and restore him to his former health and strength, but the Divine Ruler willed otherwise and yesterday he quietly fell into his last long sleep. Mr. Roberts was born at Brigus, sixty years ago, but lived the greater part of his life in this city. He leaves a wife and five children, three daughters and two sons, Mrs. G. Haye, Mrs. Reg. Dowden, Miss Nellie, Jackson, grocer of Hamilton Avenue and Allen, employed at the R. N. Co.'s machine shops. The funeral takes place tomorrow afternoon at 2.30 from his late residence 240, Hamilton Avenue.

Grape-Nuts

This healthful, appetizing food is made of selected wheat and malted barley. It contains those vital mineral salts, so necessary to health, that are often lacking in the every-day diet.

The partial malting of the barley, with the long baking (about 20 hours), makes Grape-Nuts a food that digests easily and quickly.

BRITISH SMASH SUPREME EFFORT OF GERMANS.

LONDON To-day.
A Daily Mail correspondent in Northern France writing under date of Friday says: The big contest for Ypres which raged all last Sunday, culminated on Monday afternoon in a supreme effort. The Germans advanced all along the line cannonading the British positions, but the entrenched British soldiers had not been shaken. As the German infantry approached they met them with volley after volley of rifle fire. The Germans staggered forward falling by dozens under a withering hail of bullets. They held on bravely for 90 minutes, determined to win through, if at all possible. Then finding all attempts vain they withdrew under cover of darkness, leaving thousands of their wounded behind on the field. Railway communication with Lille has not been re-established. The Germans evacuated the city five days ago. Wells and cisterns were full of dead and there was not a drop of water fit to drink. Rigorous sanitation will proceed the granting of permission to the inhabitants to return to their homes.

CAPTURE OF TSING TAU.

TOKIO To-day.
The capture of Tsing Tau loses to Germany her last foot of possessions on the Asiatic mainland, as well as her last strategic position outside of the German Empire in Europe. For nearly three months the German garrison of 7,000 has held out against the land and sea attacks of the Japs and of certain British detachments of both White and Indian troops that found themselves in China, at the outbreak of the war. What the losses of the garrison have been are not known but official Japanese and British reports have indicated that Tsing Tau has been taken at a heavy cost of men on the part of the Allies.

KAISER IN FLANDERS.

Special to Evening Telegram:
LONDON To-day.

A correspondent to the Express on the Belgian front under date of Friday telegraphs the following: The Kaiser himself is close to the front in Flanders, making efforts to inspire his troops to gain Calais. A party of refugees saw the Kaiser in an auto yesterday. One of them said the Kaiser sat on the rear seat with the Duke of Wurtemberg, the front seat being occupied by Infantry men, while a pilot car filled with soldiers went in front. The Kaiser's extreme pallor and rigidity of features were very marked. He sat like a statue wrapped in a grey coat and listened to the report of a passing officer. At the end he saluted but without a smile and then nodded silently to the soldier chauffeur to go ahead quick.

The Pay of the Dependents.

As we pointed out yesterday, the pay to be allowed to the dependents of our soldiers has not reached the dependents since the Florizel left. The trouble is that the allotment papers, authorizing the payments, were not signed by the soldiers before they left, and they have not yet been received, although several mails have come here since the Florizel arrived in England. When it was found that these allotment papers did not arrive by the mail on Thursday, the Hon. P. T. McGrath, Secretary, Mr. J. S. Munn, Treasurer, and Mr. Montgomery, members of the Finance Committee of the Patriotic Association met immediately to see what could be done for the women and children who were looking for the money. They approached the Governor and requested him to cable about them. In reply, His Excellency was informed that the allotment papers were dispatched from the camp at Salisbury Plain on Tuesday last. Some time must therefore elapse before the papers will arrive here. The Committee then resolved to do something immediately, and they are now taking down the claims of dependents, and on the strength of these claims, pending the arrival of the papers, payments will begin to be made on Monday. The delay of a fortnight, after arrival in despatching the papers, seems much of a piece with the lack of arrangement for signing them before the Florizel left on the voyage over. It is not calculated to inspire confidence in the management of the Paymaster's department.

No Room for Doubt.

Our morning contemporary is sceptical about the statement that Captain Timewell receives a Captain's pay and $5.00 a day extra, despite the assertion, we decline to believe it. Such a thing would be too silly. There can be no conceivable reason for it, not even the shallowest reason of all,—expediency. If it is necessary to have a paid paymaster in the Old Country—and we doubt it—he should be either the adjutant of the regiment, at the regular rate of pay, or else an unadorned civilian. Captain Timewell, it appears, is not going to the Front. Then, why in the world could not one of our Volunteers, who were rejected on health grounds, have taken the position, if such was necessary? Why, indeed, should a cent of salary have been required?
We, like him, had our doubts, and we wrote not a word about the matter, as we wished to avoid embarrassing the Government in reference to the Patriotic movement, until we had obtained proof that was incontrovertible. The facts are, Captain Timewell received $2.75 a day as Paymaster up to the time he left. On the eve of his departure, the Governor-in-Council being so impressed with the importance of his office and the fact that Captain Timewell would not "mess" with the regiment, authorized the extra payment. As a matter of fact, the Government authorized more than we mentioned yesterday, for they authorized the payment of travelling expenses, which we did not mention. The Minute of Council authorizes payment to Captain Timewell of

(1) Captain's pay,
(2) Five Dollars a day extra,
(3) Travelling expenses which he may incur in connection with his work.
These three statements are founded on facts which we have verified.

Switzerland.

By GEORGE FITCH.

Author of "At Good Old Slwash."

Switzerland, which has stood successfully on the sidelines during 100 years of war, is a national roof garden 15,000 square miles in size and populated by 3,500,000 peoples, half of whom hang onto the country with one hand while they farm with the other. Switzerland is the world's oldest republic. It has governed itself without the aid of kings, dukes or other expensive ornaments for more than 600 years. In all this time it has remained prosperous and has only accumulated a debt of about $20,000,000.

However, Switzerland has not had to support a huge standing army during all these years. She has often been attacked, but by the time the enemy had climbed over the country for a few days it is usually too dizzy to fight with any success.

Switzerland consists mostly of mountains in a beautiful state of preservation and tastefully landscaped. It has the grandest scenery in Europe and makes it pay handsome dividends. Mountains and tourists are Switzerland's only great natural resources and she doesn't waste either. She makes the mountain streams run her factories and makes the tourists pay most of her living expenses. The present war has hit Switzerland harder than any other country because it has entirely cut off the supply of tourists. This is a great calamity. In good years, after a rich tourist has passed through a small Swiss village the visible supply of money is increased 200 per cent.

Switzerland was first heard of 1900 years ago, when the Romans defeated the original native-born Swiss. Later on Hannibal crossed the Alps to Rome, being the first tourist to visit the country. For many centuries the French and Germans and Austrians fought over the region and subdued it to suit themselves, but in 1307 three Swiss cantons tired of this foolishness and declared that independence. Eight years later they overhastily licked the Austrians and from that time have run their own affairs very successfully, except during Napoleon's career, when he reorganized the Republic and also walked all over it while trying to get at the enemy.

Switzerland has the Initiative and Referendum and government ownership of railroads. Neither has proven fatal to the inhabitants. It is composed of twenty-two cantons, ranging in size from an eight-sheet poster to 2,000 square miles, and divided from each other by 10,000 foot boundary walls, decorated with glaciers. Four languages are spoken in Switzerland, but those tourists who do not talk French, German, Italian or Latin can hold up an American dollar and make themselves very well understood.

Smothering Of Asthma Stops Quick-Thousands Cured By "Catarrhazone"

Count Ten—Then Relief Comes From Chronic Asthma.

Nothing yet discovered can compare with Catarrhazone in bad, ugly cases of Asthma.

Catarrhazone is the one remedy that can be sent quickly and direct to all parts of the breathing apparatus. The effect from Catarrhazone is a quick one—you feel better in no time. Keep up the good work, use Catarrhazone as directed and you get well.

If your case is curable, if anything on earth can rid you permanently of Asthma, it will be Catarrhazone. It contains that strangely soothing and powerful antiseptic found in the Blue

Gum Tree of Australia, and this is fortified by the other germ-killing properties which, when so scientifically combined, make Catarrhazone a veritable specific for Asthma, Catarrh and Bronchitis.

Even though many other remedies have failed—even though you are discouraged and blue—cheer up and try Catarrhazone to-day. What it repeatedly has done for others it will surely not fail to accomplish for you.

Catarrhazone is not expensive. One dollar will buy a complete outfit from any Druggist. The money will be well spent because your immediate improvement in health will surpass your fondest expectations. Don't wait—to-day is the time to use Catarrhazone.

McMurdo's Store News.

SATURDAY, Nov. 7, 1914. To some of our readers' Lazarie's Hair Restorer will need no introduction, and certainly its reputation is very extensive in Canada, while in Newfoundland it is well appreciated where it is known, as a restorer of the growth and color of the hair, as a dandruff remover, and a general hair dressing. Those who need anything of this kind may well try this successful remedy. Price 50c. a bottle.

Now, at the beginning of the cold weather it is well to know—and better to profit by the knowledge—that the regular use of McMurdo's Cream of Lilies will keep the face, lips and hands soft and smooth all winter and prevent spraying and chaffing. Cream of Lilies is not sticky or greasy, and is very agreeably perfumed. Price 25c. a pot.

ST. PIERRE BULLETIN.

PARIS, Nov. 6.—(Official.)

No notable change yesterday. On the entire front, action continues of the same character as previously between Dixmude and La Lys without any advance or retreat on any point;

heavy cannonading north of Arras and on that town without any result.

The German effort in Belgium and north of France is extending. Germans seem to be proceeding to some change in composition of their forces in this region, and are reinforcing their reserve corps with new elements, owing to their reserve having severely suffered lately. All points to the Germans trying a new offensive hoping to gain back some of the ground lost in late sanguinary defeats. Between Somme and Oise, and between Oise and Meuse several detailed actions have occurred in which we have strengthened our advance.

At Ancoche village, west of Roye,

a column of German carriages has been destroyed by the fire of our long range artillery. In the region of Nampel, north east of Eagle forest near Berry au Bac, we have retaken Saignell Village which the Germans had taken lately. A hard struggle is raging in Argonne where by bayonet charges our troops have repulsed the enemy. In Woivre new German attacks failed north east and east of Grand Courronne de Nancy.

In the region of Perroy and between Baccarat and Clamont our advance guards were attacked by several mixed detachments of the enemy, but the latter failed. In Russia a big Russian victory in Galicia is officially announced.

GERMANS MAKING NEW EFFORT.

LONDON, Nov. 6.

The French official announcement given out in Paris this afternoon says yesterday passed without any perceptible modification on the front. The fighting between Dixmude and the Lys continued without any marked advance or retirement. The text of the communication follows: There was no perceptible modification during the day of yesterday anywhere on the front. The fighting continued between Dixmude with the same characteristics as previously and without any marked advance or retirement at any point. There was violent cannonading to the North of Arras and also directed upon Arras without result for the enemy. The German effort in Belgium and in the North of France continues. The Germans seem to have undertaken changes in the composition of their forces which are operating in this region and are reinforcing their reserve corps with active troops with the idea of undertaking a new offensive movement or at least to mitigate the bloody checks which have been inflicted on them. Between the Somme and the Oise and between the Oise and the Meuse there have been minor actions. We have consolidated our advance on the village of Andrehy to the West of Roy. A column of German wagons has been destroyed by the fire of our artillery at long range in the region of Nampel. To the east of the forest of Aigue, near Berry au Bac, we have retaken the village of Saignell which had been captured by the Germans. There has been furious fighting on the Argonne where as a result of fighting with bayonets, our troops drove back the Germans. In the Woivre district, fresh attacks by the enemy have been repulsed.

Have You an Itchy Spot?

Somewhere on your body? If so, attend to it at once. In Eczema—and itchy spots, whether dry and scurfy, or moist and inclined to "weep," are generally eczematous—delays are foolish, allowing the disease to spread and affect more of the good skin. Your best chance for a cure is to use Zylex, which will give almost instant relief, and if used in the early stages of the trouble will almost certainly bring a cure, and in any event will greatly ameliorate the trouble. Ask your druggist about it.

A Thought for the Times

A DAY AT ADMIRAL'S COVE—CHAPTER XXVI.
I. C. MORRIS.

At Kinman's Cove we were shown a huge pile of iron consisting of some five thousand tons in all. This iron was taken from the steamer "Allano," which was wrecked some years ago at Seal Cove, a few miles south of Fermanagh. The iron was salvaged by Captain Larder and it is soon to be transhipped to its destination. Captain Larder's wrecking schooner "Angola" lies near this same spot, a derelict. Captain Larder and his father have done such good service along the southern shore, and the name is so well known that it is not necessary to make any detailed reference to them in such an article as this. Their daring deeds in salvaging and diving, during the last sixty or seventy years would fill out a large book. The iron to which we refer is not scrap iron, nor such as is usually taken from wreckage, but it is new iron from the furnace, and is in sheets and bars. It is piled on a sand bank, but some of it is under water, but can be taken on board a steamer directly from the spot, as the water is very deep close by.

The wind being so high at the time of our visit, although the day was clear, it gave us an opportunity of seeing what our fishermen endure in times of storm—especially our bank fishermen. Among other vessels at anchor in the Cove, one of the largest was the "Demmering," a banker of Belleoram. This vessel would be about seventy-five tons register. She had baited and was ready to sail for the banks, but the Captain seeing that a storm was brewing wisely decided to wait until it had passed as he had good anchorage where he was, and his crew would enjoy the rest of the Sabbath. But he was doomed to disappointment and instead of escaping a hard time he fell right into it.

At ten o'clock Sunday morning the wind began to freshen, and in a short time it increased to a gale—the people said it was the heaviest wind that had blown in that direction for many years. Very soon the "Demmering" began to drag her anchors, and to make matters worse one of her chains, or her cable, burst and in a little while she was in so close to the shore that her keel grounded. The crew at once got busy and by their toil and perseverance and endurance they saved further damage. But it occupied most of the day. At first they rowed to a distant rock which lay to windward and in which a strong ringbolt is fastened, to this they secured a line and by it saved their vessel from going completely ashore. The men were all clad in their oil clothes, and although it was in harbor the water was very rough, and many a "salt spray" dashed over them. The men of the place were watching anxiously and were ready to stand by and lend a helping hand should any further danger arise, but as the day wore and the gale subsided the danger passed off and everyone felt grateful that no serious loss or damage was sustained.

What impressed us was the hard rowing of the men in the dories. It being Sunday they had counted on having a rest, and perhaps on going ashore and visiting some of the houses which is customary under such conditions. But duty called, and like faithful men, and brave Britons, they maned their boats and battled with the elements and faced the danger and kept at it until victory crowned their toil and the good ship "Demmering" was safe. "Not much," we may say, but there was a lot in it that stands for British pluck, and daring deed; and it is upon the endurance of such men as these that our country has been colonized, and that the Empire has grown to what it is to-day.

In speaking of the readiness of the men of Admiral's Cove to render assistance to the fellows it reminds us that Mr. Walshe told us that on Thursday, the 17th of September, when the last gale was raging, twelve men of the place launched a large skiff and sailed across the entry of Fermanagh Harbour to Rumbley's Cove, which place was open to the ravages of the storm, and by their efforts saved the motor boats, and other valuable property of that Cove. To do such deeds as these means self-denial and perseverance, and it is mostly in times of danger that these traits of character are called into action, and it is only true men who really respond to the call.

This spirit of bravery has always been prominent among our people, and although their names are not always forwarded to the Humane Society, they are never backward in extending a helping hand to those in need. This spirit of brotherhood is greatly to be commended, and the more we have of it the better will life become. We may not all think alike, but we all desire to do good, and it is at such times as these of which we here write that the brotherly spirit of men is manifested. The whole world soon becomes one when some calamity takes place. "A touch that makes the world akin." The storm taught us many lessons, but of the lot, we think the best one was the lesson of self-sacrifice and brotherly aid, as displayed by the men of Admiral's Cove to their fellows in distress.

How to Knit the Soldier's Belt

Here are the directions for the hand-knitted woollen belts. They should be in three sizes, 31in. wide and 12in. long, 10in. wide and 12 1/2in. long, and 11in. wide and 13in. long. They should be joined by knitting on needles Nos. 16 and 10 (four needles of each) in four-ply fingering worsted in natural shades, the amount required being from two to three ounces.

The Knitted Belt.
As confusion may arise in the case of the belt knitting we give herewith fuller instructions than in the case of the socks, which every woman knows how to knit.
Size 1. of the belt should be worked with No. 16 needles cast on 234

Sympathy and Selfishness.

By RUTH CAMERON.

One of my neighbors was thrown from his automobile recently, landing heavily on his back. He spoke of his accident to a friend, adding that he feared he might have hurt his spine. A day or two later I met his wife and asked her how he was.

"Why!" she said, "I hadn't heard anything about it. You must have been mistaken." And I decided that I had been. But a day or two later I met the husband and asked him about it.

"The machine skidded and I shot overboard," he said, laughingly. "I was pretty well shaken up and I feared I might have hurt my spine—a friend of mine did just that way, although he walked around for three days after, thinking he had escaped serious injury. I would have told my wife, but although the pain worried me, it wasn't unbearable, and I knew that if I said a word to her, she'd fret continually. So I thought I'd just keep still, until I found out whether I was hurt or not."

That he he was being unselfish in a way that most of us are inclined to be selfish, apparently did not occur to him, although it did to me. For

I think the attitude we take in telling those who care for us of our pains and aches and injuries so that they cannot but fear the worst, is essentially selfish.

It is based on a very human craving for sympathy and solace. Our friends put us in the limelight, on the very center of the stage, and we bask in all the latent tenderness and fondness they have for us, but which usually lies submerged under the surface of every day affairs. While we hope for the best and enjoy all these manifestations of esteem, they fear the worst—and worry.

It is, of course, unrealizing, unthinking selfishness. To genuinely make light of our bodily troubles while doing what we can to alleviate them, is to deny ourselves what every human being craves for. But any other attitude is essentially selfish.

It is like that of the man who, receiving a severe blow in the chest, drove his poor wife almost distracted by suggesting broken ribs, punctured lungs, and other terrible catastrophes, until she made him go to see a doctor. He returns terribly disgruntled. "Will you recover all right?" asked his wife, fearfully.

"The confounded chump doesn't know his business," said the husband with a snort of disgust. "He says there's nothing but a little lameness and bruising."

Germans Say They Own the Only Efficient Secret Service.

Popular Belief is all Spies Supposedly Working for Russia Were in German's Service.—French Efforts were Despised.—British Idea Ludicrous.

(Special to Central News.) London, Oct. 29 (by mail).—A venturesome correspondent who succeeded in reaching Berlin a few days ago sends a story of life in the German metropolis, which casts interesting sidelights on the German point of view.

The narrative opens with an account of a friendship which the correspondent struck up with a couple of German officers.

"Sitting round a large corner table at the Cafe Furtenhof," continues the writer, "with huge glasses of beer in front of us and a good after-dinner cigar, the reference of the two officers melted away.

"Spies," said one of the two young fellows, "why should we worry about spies? All the men and women, especially the women, who were supposed to be spying for Russia in Germany and Austria were playing a double game. Russia was persuaded they were spying for her, and they were really spying for us. A few useless and fantastic reports sent to St. Petersburg (note the name) were good enough to put them in the confidence of generals and archbishops, and so they could get for us very important secrets.

"France never had a secret service worth talking about, and the few attempts at Britain in this direction were so clumsily done that it was really pathetic to see how the poor chaps got into trouble for sending home information and plans they could easily have copied from railway maps and tourist books.

"We are the only nation on earth knowing how to organize a secret service.

"You seem most proud of your spies," I remarked.

"Spy is a very ridiculous word," he rejoined. "Napoleon had spies; we have informants. They mix with all classes of society, they manage to get everywhere, from the royal palace to the country shop, from the barracks canteen to the Premier's house. Be certain that nine-tenths of those who have been arrested as our emissaries in France, Britain and Russia have nothing to do with it, and that most of the real ones are still doing their job and doing it well.

"We know everything that happens in Britain. We know the exact number and destination of troops sent from Britain to the continent; we know of every one who goes in or out of Britain and also of his business and his intentions.

"Oh, do you? I could not help exclaiming, as I burst out laughing. "Yes, we do," he went on, with unshakable firmness. "For instance, we know that Earl Kitchener is struggling to raise his army; that London is in darkness for fear of the Zeppelins; that the King and the royal family have left Buckingham Palace for a small private house—afraid of bomb dropping.

"It is really very childish of the British authorities to think that we shall send a lonely airship to drop a few bombs on London. They would not do much harm, and they would produce a panic, with the result that Kitchener would, perhaps, get on better with his recruiting. We know perfectly the British and their quiet nature. They are still asleep and it would be very foolish of us to wake them up."

GERMANY'S PEACE TERMS OFFERED TO FRANCE SPURNED.

London, Oct. 31.—The Morning Post this morning says it is informed that the report that Germany has made unofficial peace proposals to France is correct.

According to this report, France was to receive back Lorraine and a part of Alsace, and allow Germany to retain a portion of Belgium, which would give to her an approach to the Scheldt.

It is the general opinion here, however, that the alleged proposal was merely a German scheme designed to create friction among the Allies.

Officially the British Government says if such a treacherous proposal was made, France would spurn it.

"This is a war to the finish, and peace only will be made when France, England, Russia, Japan and Belgium unitedly agree to the terms," it is declared.

A Remarkable Tribute to Gin Pills FOR THE KIDNEYS

In February last, Mrs. J. P. J. Wedge of East Street, Summerside, P.E.I., wrote to a friend in Toronto and among other things said, "Gin Pills are the greatest of all Kidney remedies and a medicine which is at present doing me a world of good. They are worth their weight in gold to any sufferer". We asked permission, through a mutual friend, to publish the above extract and received the following testimonial to the great efficacy of Gin Pills.

Summerside, April 24th, 1914.
"Your letter of the 21st, to hand this evening, asking my permission to hand my letter to the National Drug & Chemical Co. You have my full permission to do so, and to them I give the liberty to publish and use my name if they wish, because Gin Pills have done for my husband and myself what no other remedy could do.
I have advised two other parties to use them; one being my Mother, who has been a great sufferer for upwards of 20 years and one box of Gin Pills cured her so as to enable her to sleep on her left side, something she could not do for many years.
The doctors told her they could not cure her but could relieve her by an operation for a Floating Kidney, but on account of her age they did not think it was advisable for her to undergo. Upon my advice, she tried Gin Pills which cured her and for which she is ever ready to speak in terms of praise."
MRS. J. P. J. WEDGE,

Remember, you can TRY Gin Pills BEFORE you buy them.
If the urine shows brick dust deposits or mucus—or is hot and scalding—if you have to urinate too frequently—if there is a burning in the bladder or pain in the back—get Gin Pills at once and cure yourself. Gin Pills are sold by all dealers at 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50 and every box carries with it our spot cash guarantee of satisfaction or money back. Sold in U.S. under the name "GINO" PILLS.

Good Programme.

No better arranged programme is given in the city than that presented at the Crescent Picture Palace last night. All the pictures shown are first class, the best productions of the best producers. "Elizabeth" is an I.M.P. story acted in a faultless manner by the great L. M. P. stars. "The Sea Urchin" is a good drama with beautiful scenes of sea and rocky coast line that especially appeals to our people. Marguerita Fisher and Bob Leonard are the principals in the great Rex drama "A Woman's Folly," a pathetic domestic story with a heart throb in every line, while the two comedies "Their Only Child" and "A Pawnee Romance" created plenty of fun and enjoyment. Mr. Frederick Knights song "Till the Sands of the Desert Grow Cold," brought down the house. Mr. Knights will sing tonight "Sit Down, You're Rocking the Boat" in addition to "The Sands of the Desert." Go to the Crescent to-night and put in an hour of genuine pleasure. On Monday the marvelous 3 reel feature "The Death Stone of India" will be shown.

NOVEMBER 7.

Full Moon—2nd
 Days Past—310 To Come—54
 LAST EXECUTION at Tyburn 1738.
 After this execution were carried out outside Newgate Prison. Disgraceful scenes generally accompanied these executions, people making the event a kind of holiday, and in 1868 an Act was passed prohibiting public executions.
 LI HUNG CHANG died 1901, aged 78. An astute and enlightened Chinese statesman, who by sheer ability rose from a humble position to be Chief Minister, and exercised almost supreme control for a number of years over the affairs of his native empire.

NOVEMBER 8.

Days Past—311 To Come—53
 22nd Sunday after Trinity.
 JOHN MILTON died 1674, aged 66, England's greatest epic poet. Milton's mind combined all the elements of power with every attribute of beauty and benignity. In his youth he was remarkable for his beauty. His eyes even in their darkness were clear, bright, and expressive, with no appearance of blindness. His later years were employed in the composition of Paradise Lost and Paradise Regained. A tomb was erected to his memory in Westminster Abbey in 1737.
 LORD LYTTON (Owen Meredith) born 1831. English poet and statesman, was the son of Lord Lytton, the famous novelist. His works were published mostly under the name of "Owen Meredith."
 LORD ROTHSCHILD born 1840. The family of Rothschild was founded in 1803 when they lent a great sum of money to the Danish Government and thus started the business of international financiers.

A VISION OF LOUVAIN.
 Above the blackened smoke that rolled from sacked Louvain's cathedral old, Three Spirits paused in evening's glow And viewed the holocaust below.

The first was Goethe. Cold, serene, He gazed upon the sorry scene. "How strange," he mused, "that men, incensed At living men, should rage against Such walls as these, where Flame has fed.— The works of better men, long dead!"

The second Spirit veiled his face. "Shall these be men of our own race?" He cried, "that come in ruthless bands To war on homes with firebrands?"

"Peace, Schiller, peace!—though such things be." Quoth Lessing, wisest of the three. "Speak no reproach of what they do, Or they will name thee 'Traitor' too; And then be sure these Devil's cooks In just revenge will burn thy books!"

Wedding Bells.

WALSH—DELANEY.
 A very quiet wedding took place at St. Patrick's Denery, Riverhead, on Sunday evening, November 1st., in which Miss Annie M. Walsh and Mr. Albert Delaney were united in bonds of Holy Matrimony.
 The bride wore a travelling costume of navy serge with hat to match. The bridesmaid was Miss N. E. Sexton, cousin of the bride, while the groom was supported by Mr. E. Power. After the ceremony the happy couple enlivened for Whitbourne their future home. They were the recipients of many useful and costly presents.

If Headachy, Dizzy, Bilious, "Cascarets."

Your Liver is full of Bile; Bowels Clogged, Stomach Sour, Tongue Coated, Breath Bad.

Get a 10-cent box now.
 You're bilious! You have a throbbing sensation in your head, a bad taste in your mouth, your eyes burn, your skin is yellow, with dark rings under your eyes; your lips are parched. No wonder you feel ugly, mean and ill-tempered. Your system is full of bile not properly passed off, and what you need is a cleaning up inside. Don't continue being a bilious nuisance to yourself and those who love you, and don't resort to harsh physics that irritate and injure. Remember that most disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels are cured by morning with gentle, thorough Cascarets—they work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your liver and bowels clean; stomach sweet, and your head clear for months. Children love to take Cascarets because they taste good and never gripe or sicken.

QUICK PASSAGE.—The schr. Antoinette arrived at Gibraltar from the Labrador in 16 days' passage.

Zam-Buk Cures Piles.

Read These Strong Proofs.

Mr. Henry Fougere, of Poulamond, N. S., writes: "I suffered terribly with Piles, and could not find anything to give me relief until I tried Zam-Buk. After using this balm I am completely cured. I consider Zam-Buk the finest salve on the market."

Mr. W. J. Donovan, of New Edinburgh, Ont., says: "For two years I suffered from bleeding piles; the pain was very intense. I tried numerous so-called cures, but without effect. At last I tried Zam-Buk, and am glad to say that perseverance with this ointment has resulted in absolute cure."

Mr. H. E. Hill, Shelvin, Man., writes: "I had suffered a great deal with Piles and had tried many remedies, but without effect. Having tried a sample of Zam-Buk, and being encouraged by the results, I persevered; it worked like magic, effecting a complete cure."

These are but a few of the many letters received from people who have ended their suffering by Zam-Buk. Hundreds have proved that nothing will end the dull gnawing pain like Zam-Buk. Its rich herbal essences quickly end the inflammation of the hemorrhoid veins and restores them to their normal condition.

Zam-Buk is best for piles, eczema, cuts, burns, bruises, ulcers, chapped hands, cold sores, rheumatism, sciatica, and all injuries and skin diseases.

Every home needs Zam-Buk; it is purely herbal, and can be used for baby or grandparent with the same gratifying results.

Refuse all substitutes; insist on having Zam-Buk; there is nothing "just as good." At all druggists and stores, or postpaid from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, on receipt of price, 50c. box, 3 boxes $1.25. For free trial box send your name and address, this advertisement, name of paper, and i. c. stamp.
