THE HEIR OF Lancewood

CHAPTER III.

Gerald Dorman never forgot the day of the baronet's return. It was intensely warm and bright—one of those days in June when the blue sky has no cloud, when no summer wind stirs the trees, even the birds seemed to find it too hot for singing, and had retired into the shadiest depths of the trees. The warm air was full of sweet odors, the rippling of the fountains made pleasant music—it was a day when nature seems awaiting some unwonted event, and the world seems to stand still in its golden haze.

The day had arrived, the travellers were to be at the Abbey about seven. Still Vivien had spoken no word.

Gerald went to her when the morning was over; he looked at the proud face—it was unnaturally calm and still.

"I am half frightened, Miss Neslie," he said, "to ask you what carriage should be sent to the station."

"Any you please," she replied, shortly. "I have no suggestion to make on the subject, and decline to discuss it."

With that answer he was compelled to be content, but it was to save her that he studied so hard to make all things pleasant and to carry out Sir Arthur's wishes—it was to save her that he went so carefully and anxiously through the house, trying to find out if everything was as its master would like it.

It was six o'clock before Gerald Dorman presented himself in the character of an invited guest in the drawing-room. He looked with some curiosity for Miss Neslie's entrance. How would she receive the coming interloper, the young wife who was in great measure to wrest her kingdom from her?

She came in soon afterward; and though he had seen her often in the brilliancy of evening toilet, he was startled. She looked older, more dignified, more stately; she looked far more like the wife of the master of the house than his daughter. It was such a strange toilet, too—all black, with gleaming diamonds throwing out the loveliest of lights—a dress of rich black lace; the perfect curves of her shoulders and arms were shown to perfection, the white neck looked the fairer for the contrast. A diamond star shone in the coils of silken hair; a diamond cross glittered on the white breast. She had evidently chosen a toilet that would add to her age and dignity; she had tried to look older instead of younger, and she had succeeded. The lovely Southern face had lost none of its color; not because it is Made in Canada, but because it is the equal of coffee made in any country.

the dainty rose-leaf flush was on her cheeks, the rich crimson on her lips. He had looked on many fair women, but none so fair as this daughter of the Neslies.

She did not speak when she entered the room; she looked at him with calm, graceful indifference—it was not often that she seemed to take any special interest in the young secretary. He rose with a grave, ceremonious bow; she took up a book and sat down by the open window.

"How proud she is!" he thought. "I am less to her than the ground beneath her feet, than the leaves on the trees—less than the faded flowers she throws away—yet I—Dear Heaven, I dare not think how I love her—I fare scarcely say it even to myself!" He watched her as she sat there; the white jewelled hands that turned the pages of her book so listlessly never trembled, the color never varied on her face, even when the sound of the carriage wheels was heard, and Gerald Dorman rose with an agitated face, saying—

"They are here, Miss Neslie."

"They are earlier than I expected," was the calm reply.

She did not lay her book down or make any sign of disturbing herself. Gerald trembled with excitement and agitation.

"Miss Neslie, are you going down in the hall? Sir Arthur will expect it, I—"

"Pray do not trouble yourself, Mr. Dorman; I am not going down into the hall. You can, of course, please yourself."

He went—more to save her than gratify himself—and he owned that it was a sight well worth seeing—the grand entrance hall, with its mosaic pavement, its great stands of flowers and orange-trees, the wealth of antiquities that decorated the walls, the long line of domestics, all standing to welcome the bride. He saw Sir Arthur, tall and stately, with a pleased, bright expression on his face, leading by the hand a lady whose features he could not see, for she wore a veil; but her figure was the very perfection of grace. Sir Arthur held her hand in his, and in a few well-chosen words introduced her to his dependents as their future Lady Neslie. Then, seeing Gerald, he held out his hand, with a frank, kindly smile.

"I am glad to see you, Mr. Dorman. We have had quite a royal reception, such a welcome home as we shall never forget. I have been quite touched by it. Where is Miss Neslie?"

There was a moment of blank silence—of silence inexpressibly painful—and every one felt it to be so. Where was she who had always hurried to meet him, who had been wont to fling her arms round his neck, regardless of who was present, and give him such a rapturous welcome home? Sir Arthur looked around, but the fair face of his daughter was not there. Gerald hastened to reply:

"Miss Neslie is in the drawing-room, Sir Arthur; she awaits you there."

He saw a sudden darkening of the baronet's face; but just then a sweet, lingering voice said:

"How charming, Arthur! Are all English mansions like this?"

The voice was sweet and clear, the accent pretty and piquant, after the fashion of French ladies who speak English well. It seemed to have a magical charm for Sir Arthur; his face cleared and his eyes brightened. "No, Valerie," he replied; "there are few houses, even in England, like this."

Then Lady Neslie spoke to Mrs. Spenser, the butler, and one or two of the servants. Sir Arthur turning to her, said:

"We will go to the drawing-room, Valerie—Miss Neslie is there. Come with us, Mr. Dorman."

It seemed to Gerald that the master of the Abbey was, after all, in no hurry to meet his child. He seemed to linger by the way, pointing out a rare picture or statue to his wife. Gerald began to suspect that the proud baronet felt some little trepidation at the thought of meeting his still prouder daughter. They passed through the magnificent suite of rooms, the stranger's sweet voice sounding like the cooling of a dove; yet, sweet as it was, Gerald feared that there was something insincere in the ring of it.

When they reached the drawing-room, Vivien was still sitting where he had left her; but when they entered she rose with a stately grace all her own. Sir Arthur released his wife's hand and went up to his daughter. She stood before him, tall, dark, dignified, with all the pride of her race flashing in her dark eyes.

"My dear Vivien," said Sir Arthur, "how well you are looking! Have you no word for me?"

She did not clasp her arms round his neck, after the old impulsive fashion, nor did she raise her beautiful face to kiss him; and Sir Arthur felt that it was the beginning of hostilities. She held out her hand to him.

"Welcome home, papa," she said, briefly.

"Thank you, Vivien. And now, my darling, I want you to welcome some one else—I want you to welcome my beloved wife."

If it had been to save her life, Vivien could not have smiled, could not have uttered a kindly word. She made a stiff, formal courtesy, and there was a moment of painful silence. Again Gerald saw the baronet's face darkening—again the soft, cooling voice seemed to break the spell. Sir Arthur's wife held out her hand to Sir Arthur's daughter.

"The greatest pleasure I had in coming to Lancewood was the hope that you would love me."

"You are very good," said Vivien, coldly.

"Good—nay," opposed the sweet voice, "I do not know that I am good. Ah, that is an English idiom! They are hard to understand. If wishing for love makes one good, then am I good."

A smile, almost of contempt, curled Vivien's lips as she saw her father looking with rapt devotion at his new wife.

"As though words meant anything!" thought Miss Neslie. "Here are sweet enough, but the very sound of her voice is false."

Sir Arthur turned to his daughter. "I venture to promise for you, Vivien, that you will soon love Lady Neslie—no one can help it. Valerie, you will like to go to your apartments. Perhaps, Vivien, you—"

"Has Lady Neslie a maid?" she asked, quickly.

"Yes," replied Sir Arthur.

"Then she had better go with her. I will speak to you, papa."

CHAPTER IV.

Lady Neslie left the drawing-room, and, with her maid and the house-keeper, soon found herself in the magnificent rooms appointed for her. She listened to Mrs. Spenser's explanations, and then courteously dismissed her.

"This is very good, Marie," she said to her maid, when they were alone. "I never thought to find Lancewood so grand. It is a palace; I have seen nothing like it."

"It is none too good for miladi," observed the girl; "and I wish you, miladi, years of happiness in it."

"I shall be happy enough," said the bride; "plenty of money always make one happy. Marie, find me the prettiest dress I have. This young lady, Sir Arthur's daughter, is stately and beautiful as a princess; I feel quite plain and insignificant by her side. Find me something very nice, that I may surpass her."

"She cannot be more beautiful than miladi," declared the girl, flatteringly. "Yes, she is. You do not understand. She has the face of a princess; she has the manner of a princess; she speaks like one. Find me my prettiest dress and my rarest jewels. She shall not surpass me."

"But, miladi, is it good taste—jewels and a costly dress for this dinner en famille? I think not. My late mistress, the Duchess of Fitzburgh, never made a very elaborate toilet for dinner with her own family."

"Of course you know best," said Lady Neslie, impatiently. "I wish there had never been a Duchess of Fitzburgh; she is always being quoted against me. Have your own way, Marie."

"No, miladi—your way, not mine. If your ladyship will trust to me, your toilet shall be such as Sir Arthur's daughter cannot help admiring."

There was a strange familiarity between "miladi" and her maid when they were together alone. When Lady Neslie was impatient, Marie gave her plenty of sound advice, always quoting, as a last resource, the Duchess of Fitzburgh. "Left to herself, Lady Neslie would have chosen some elaborate costume; she would have decked herself with costly jewels. Marie's good taste prevailed. The young wife wore a dress of plain white silk, trimmed with silver net, a few beautiful pearls round her throat. It was pretty and bride-like. Lady Neslie owned that nothing could be better."

"I shall have to dress well and use all my powers of pleasing," she said to herself; "for Miss Neslie does not like me, I am sure. I have won Sir Arthur—now I must try to win her."

If she had seen Vivien just then, she would have despaired of ever winning her. Mr. Dorman had, much to the baronet's discomfort, quitted the room. He had hoped to avoid all private conversation with his daughter, but her strong will prevailed—they were left alone. Then Vivien went up to him and clasped her arms round his neck.

"Welcome home, papa! I could not kiss you before, with that stranger here. Oh, papa, why have you brought her? Why have you married her? Was not I enough for you? Why did you bring her here—a girl—only a girl? Why did you marry her?"

Sir Arthur looked very uncomfortable. It was not the pleasantest position in the world. He tried to make the best of it. He threw his arm round her and drew her nearer to him.

"Do you mean that you want me to press your trousers?" she demanded, with all the sternness she could muster.

"Why, certainly, my dear," replied Sergeant Euchre, affably. "Am I asking too much?"

"Well, I should just about think so, Charles William. I'd have you to know that when you married me you didn't marry a flat-iron."

Charles William thought a lot. That same evening Mrs. Euchre chipped in with, "Oh, Charles, you might just button my dress up the back before you go out."

But Sergeant Euchre merely filled his pipe as he chuckled softly. "Not much, popsy-wopsy. You must remember that when you accepted me you did not marry a buttonhook."

And setting his cap at a rakish angle, he made for the sergeant's mess.

The sleeve has a straight cuff in the wrist length style, and in short length it is finished with a pretty shaped cuff. The Pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. It requires 3 1/2 yds. of 44 inch material for an 8 year size, without bolero it will require 1/2 yard less.

Messages Received Previous to 9 a.m.

OFFICIAL.

LONDON, July 15.
The Governor, Newfoundland:
The French Government report the Arras Cathedral bombarded. In the Argonne the French gained footing in German trenches at several points. The enemy had previously advanced somewhat here.
The Russian Government report an enemy advance north of Warsaw. The Russians retired on their second line without accepting conclusive battle. On the Lublin front the Russians captured nearly 23,000 prisoners during the week from the 4th to the 11th of July.

BONAR LAW.

RESUMES HIS DUTIES.

LONDON, July 15.
Sir Edward Grey, whose eyesight has been benefited sufficiently from his rest, has resumed his duties as Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs.

AMERICAN SPY ARRESTED.

LONDON, July 15.
The British police attach importance to the arrest at Gravesend last night of an American who, when arrested, was wearing the uniform of Princess Patricia's Canadian Regiment. When arraigned in court the prisoner, whose name has not been made public, said that he bought the uniform in Plymouth a fortnight ago from a soldier for 50 cents. He was remanded for further investigation.

BRITISH ASSIST SERBS.

LIVERPOOL, July 15.
That British troops are now in Serbia fighting with the Serbians against the Austro-Hungarians, was given official confirmation to-day by Crawford Price, British eye-witness with the Serbian forces. He said the British army authorities have now

Ever Ready Hot Water, Night and Day.

FOR THE NURSE.

"The bath ready for baby, when baby is ready for the bath" should be an adage of every housewife—who should also keep in mind that any trouble saved to the nurse makes for a well-ordered, contented household. Gas Water-Heaters, whether of the instantaneous or Circular type, offer the convenience of available hot water "upstairs, downstairs, and in my lady's chamber,"—without any labour at all—Independently of the state of the kitchen fire.

FOR THE BATHROOM.

An uncertain supply of hot water in the bathroom is a frequent cause of annoyance. Hot water can only be secured, usually, by getting the cook to act as stoker, but at what a cost! Think of the coal that is wasted—the fatigue of coal carrying—the stinking labour of grate cleaning—and the discomfort of a hot kitchen in warm weather! A Gas Water-Heater is economical, because it only heats the water actually required; and labour-saving, because there are no coals to carry, no fires to clean, no ashes or dirt to remove. The master of the house has hot shaving water and a hot bath whenever he wishes without delay or trouble.

HOT WATER FOR THE HOUSEHOLD.

When "Spring cleaning days" engross the busy housewife, the convenience of an unlimited supply of hot water on the upper floors is brought home to her with special force. But at all times—apart from convenience—a gas water-heater makes an irrefragable appeal to the housewife from the point of view of dealing with the domestic problem. Latter-day domestics are difficult to keep unless due consideration is shown by saving them unnecessary drudgery—and in the category of unnecessary drudgery may be included the toil of carrying hot water or coal upstairs, the cleaning of grates, and the removal of dirt and ashes. The gas water-heater renders such labour superfluous.—may 12, 11.

permitted him to make this announcement thus confirming what has been often rumored but never officially substantiated.

RECOMMENDATION NOT ACCEPTED.

LONDON, July 15.
A despatch from Cardiff to the Central News Agency says that the miners in conference by 180 to 113, have decided not to accept the recommendation of the Council to return to work.

GERMANY ADMITS NEBRASKAN WAS TORPEDOED.

WASHINGTON, July 15.
Germany, in an official memorandum transmitted to-day from Berlin by Ambassador Gerard, admits that the American steamer Nebraska was torpedoed by a submarine, expresses regret and readiness to make reparation, and assures the United States that the attack was not meant for the American flag, but is to be considered as an unfortunate accident. Secretary Lansing made public the German memorandum, which disposes of the question whether the Nebraska was struck by a mine or torpedo. The German memorandum closes the incident, it was said, except as to payment of damages.

TAKES OVER COAL SUPPLIES.

CARDIFF, July 15.
The British Admiralty has taken over all reserve supplies of coal.

LIMITING EXPORT OF COTTON.

LONDON, July 15.
The British Government hopes shortly to limit the export of cotton to neutral countries, to the precise amount of the actual need. The Marquis of Crewe, Lord President of the Council, and Leader in the Lords, made the announcement to this effect in the Upper House this afternoon.

DENIES THE RUMOR.

WASHINGTON, July 15.
A denial of the published reports that a German submarine used the American barque Normandy from which to sink the Russian steamer Lepus, was cabled to the State Department to-day by the United States Consul at Liverpool. The captain of the Normandy denied the report that his barque was stopped by a submarine, and allowed to proceed with some loss of her crew.

LOYAL FRENCH SOCIALISTS.

PARIS, July 15.
The National Congress of the Socialist Party of France, at which all the Socialist members of the Cabinet were present, to-day unanimously adopted extended resolutions renewing the unshaken confidence of the party in the cause of the Allies and of Republican France. The resolutions declared that the party sought with the remainder of the nation, and with the nations of the Allies, the liberation of the territory of heroic Belgium and of the invaded regions of France, as well as justice for Alsace and Lorraine.

WHITE STAR LINER BALTIC SAILS.

NEW YORK, July 15.
As protection against gunfire from submarines and shells, sand-filled bags were piled along the decks of the White Star Liner Baltic, which sailed to-day for Liverpool, with 314 passengers and a full cargo. Unusual precautions were taken by the ship's officials to protect the Baltic. Prior to sailing, in addition to the usual guards, a cordon of detectives was thrown around the entire pier. No one, other than known members of the crew and identified passengers, were allowed within twenty feet of the ship. As a further precaution, the space between the decks were screened with heavy canvas.

BIG STRIKE THREATENED.

GENEVA, July 15.
A report has reached Basel of a big strike threatened at the Krupp works at Essen in Germany. The movement is headed by the Union of Metallurgical Workmen and the Association of Mechanics. They demand higher wages because of the cost of living, and shorter hours because of the great strain under which they work. The workmen, according to these advices, are in an angry mood, and threaten destruction of the machinery unless their demands are granted, immediately, as they have been, put off for three months with promises. Several high officials have arrived at the Krupp works in an effort to straighten out matters and calm the workmen. Bertha Krupp is expected to visit the plant to use her great influence with the workers. According to news reaching Basel, she has warned the administration of the Krupp plant of the seriousness of the situation, and advised that the men's demand be granted. Meanwhile reports state that several regiments have been moved to the vicinity of the works, in the event of trouble resulting from the strike.

MEXICAN MATTERS.

WASHINGTON, July 15.
State Department advices to-day report that General Madero was slightly wounded in a battle at Paredon, in which Carranza's troops under General Trevino, are reported victorious. Reports from Eagle Pass say that the Villa troops are falling back on Monclova.

Awkward for Him.

Lord Kitchener tells a story of a sergeant of a company of British infantry quartered in a Dacot-infested district of Burma some years ago. "This man was a firm believer in destiny, and one evening, while he was getting ready to take a stroll outside the lines, he was seen to slip a revolver into his pocket. Another sergeant who persistently opposed the other's theory of everything being preordained and "fated," promptly tackled him. "Why are you taking that revolver with you?" he asked, jeeringly. "To shoot with," was the calm reply. "But if your time has come to die, you're always telling us nothing will save you," objected the other, "so what's the good of taking the revolver with you?" "Oh," replied the sergeant, wisely, "but look how awkward it would be if I met a Dacot whose last day had come, according to destiny, and I had nothing with which to shoot him."

Winter, senior partner in the legal firm of Winter & Winter, this city, and son of the late Sir James S. and Lady Winter. The ceremony was solemnized at 3 o'clock at St. Thomas's Church, and performed by Rev. Mr. Clayton, assisted by Rev. Dr. Jones, Rector of the Parish. The bride looked charming dressed in white satin with overskirt of pleated nylon and court train of Duchesse lace and shirred nylon. The bridesmaids were Misses Marion Winter and Frances Goodridge, cousins of the groom, who were attired in white, trimmed with pink and blue, with hats to match and wearing rhinestone shoe buckles, the gifts of the groom. Miss Sheelah Ayre was flower girl. Mr. Harry Winter, brother of the groom, acted as best man. The ushers were Messrs. Thomas and Duke Winter, cousins of the groom, E. H. Bowring and Chas. Ford. At the conclusion of the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Winter, after which the bridal party left by motor for Holyrood and from there will go to Placentia where the honeymoon will be spent. The Telegram unites in the congratulations extended.

Ten Strong Reasons

Why You should Buy Your Furniture from us.

- 1st—We produce our own lumber which goes into the Furniture and saves considerable in cost.
- 2nd—We have the Surface Oak finish for our Furniture, which is the only thing of its kind in the country.
- 3rd—We import our own Coverings for our Parlour Suites, thus saving two duties, as most of the imported Suites come from Canada and the United States, and they have to import their coverings from France or some of the European countries, and pay duty into Canada or the States. We avoid the second duty by getting the Covering ourselves and having the frames made here.
- 4th—We have our Springs made from the wire by the only Weaver in the country; also the Oxford or Copper Wire Spring by machines too.
- 5th—We have our Mattresses made by machinery in our own building, the only machine of its kind in the country. It can produce 50 against 10 by hand, thus saving considerable in cost.
- 6th—We are producing the Excelsior or Wood Fibre and cutting the cost in two, which will mean considerable saving in the making of Mattresses.
- 7th—We are also selling agents for the celebrated Ideal Beds and Springs and sell at factory price.
- 8th—We also have the COMBINATION LATH and SPRING BED, the only thing of its kind in the country.
- 9th—Having the factory in the same building, we can handle all sizes all repairing; in fact you can choose your own Coverings for Parlour Suites, Mattresses, etc., and have it made to order.
- 10th—Our motto (last but not least) is to sell at the lowest possible prices, and despite the serious advance in prices all round, we are, where possible, reducing the prices, WHICH SHOULD APPEAL TO EVERY HOUSEKEEPER when in need of Furniture and Furnishings, as we now by arrangement work from the "Tree to the Home," thus cutting out all middlemen's profits.

The Seizure of the Sayville Plant.

American newspapers just to hand, set forth in some details the reason why their Government has taken over the big wireless plant at Sayville. It appears that the Hague Conventions make it an unneutral act to permit the construction by belligerents of wireless stations on neutral territory after a declaration of war. This station is on neutral territory as it is in America, and America is at peace with all the belligerents. It is a station constructed by a belligerent, as it is held to be German owned and operated, and in part at least under the control of the German Government. The grounds for this decision are based on the advice of Mr. William C. Redfield, Secretary of Commerce, which were concurred in by Mr. Robert Lansing, Secretary of State, and a joint recommendation sent to President Wilson, who accepted it. The reasons for the recommendations are as follows:

1. The Company operating the station is the Atlantic Communication Company, of which Mr. H. A. Metz is President, and Dr. K. G. Franck is Secretary and Treasurer. The Company is owned by the Telefunken Company of Germany, which is in itself owned by Siemens and Halske Company and the Allgemeine Electricitatz Gesellschaft of Germany. These two last companies control all German electrical interests. Dr. Franck is the representative in New York of the Siemens Electrical Company.

2. The German interests own the entire stock of the Atlantic Communication Company, save a few shares sufficient for Mr. Herman A. Metz to qualify as president. The latter is the representative in the United States of German dyestuff interests.

3. All German stations are managed by German Government departments. Each station is duplex: the military side being controlled by the military authorities and the Commercial side by the German Imperial Post Office. The Sayville apparatus is made to communicate directly with German stations, so controlled.

4. Professor J. Zenneck is employed as a wireless electrician at Sayville. He is a captain of marines in the German army and has served in the trenches of Belgium during the present war. He was retained at Sayville to make experiments with a view to overcoming difficulties of static atmospheric conditions experienced in receiving messages from Germany at Sayville. His duties are defined in a written statement, dated June 17th, 1915, made by himself.

5. The formal application for a license was dated April 27th, 1915. Action on it was deferred pending the completion of the station, which is now substantially ready for operation. In a later application, dated June 17th, 1915, the license is applied for the operation of what it calls the new sending set of the Sayville station.

"It is an unquestioned fact that the station for which the license is now asked is in all its parts new since the war began; that the machinery has been manufactured in Germany and shipped hither, and the towers, aerials and other apparatus are new; that in short, what is now asked is not a license for the continuance of a station heretofore existing, but one for the operation of a station just coming into service.

Unneutral Act to Grant License.
"It is the opinion of this department that to grant a license for a new station erected since the war began with German apparatus, avowedly under German ownership and control, communicating avowedly with stations known to be under the control of the Imperial German Government, and having at least the semblance of acting in a measure under the instructions of the German Post Office Department, having a scientific assistant, if no more, an officer of the German marine corps and the representative in this country of prominent German manufacturing and scientific interests, would be an unneutral act. This department therefore purposes to decline to grant the licenses asked under existing conditions.

"It is noteworthy in this connection that the Marconi company, which connects with stations in Poldhu, in Cornwall, and Chiden, Ireland, is not undertaking to operate its transmitting stations and has asked no licenses for them, stating in this connection to this department that its European stations named, being under the control of the English government, it does not think it best to attempt communication with them. This department, however, deems it important for commercial reasons that opportunity be extended for the assured neutral use of the Sayville station for communication with Germany and Austria, which the Atlantic Communication Company say in their application of the 18th of June depends largely on the efficient operation of the Sayville station.

"It therefore respectfully suggests for consideration whether equity to all concerned would not best be secured by having the Navy Department of the United States operate the Sayville station, turning over the fiscal proceeds of such operation to its owners and securing them and the government of the United States, alike, against all question of improper use while providing for both the valuable service which this station is fitted to render."
On this recommendation, President Wilson acted and the German Sayville station was taken over by the American Navy, and the danger of the station being used as a means of directing German submarines on this side of the Atlantic will be largely obviated.

Only 20 Ships Sunk in 20,000 Sailings.

Liverpool Steamship Man Points Out Remarkable Record Despite Submarines.

London, July 16.—Nearly 20,000 vessels have entered or left the port of Liverpool since the German submarine blockade began. This, said Sir A. Norman Hill, Secretary of the Liverpool Steamship Owners' Association, speaking at Liverpool, showed that the Germans had failed in their attempt to blockade British ports.
On these 20,000 voyages the Germans had captured or destroyed only twenty-nine ships, he continued. What did that represent? Ships which had sailed in and out of Liverpool had completed safely 998 out of every 1,000 voyages upon which they started. "That was a magnificent record, he held, of perils faced and overcome.

The Tragedy's Lesson.

London Daily Mail.—It is not a tragedy that the richest nation in the world, nearly a year after this and many other warnings, should have allowed its men to be so terribly handicapped as our soldiers have been? The blunder is being remedied at last now that the war is nearly a year old. Every man and every woman in every ammunition factory should be warned that a few seconds saved in the making of shell cylinders and machine-gun parts mean a life, perhaps the life of a friend. Every high-explosive shell and every machine gun that can be purchased from any neutral willing to supply us should be bought at once.

THE CIRCUS.

By GEORGE FITCH.
Author of "At Good Old St. John's."

A circus consists of two weeks of excitement on the billboards and two hours of thrill on a hard pine seat. Circuses are enormous in extent, covering many acres with canvas and making one night stands with their two thousand employees as easily as a European army of a million men canters across the country. Magazine writers used to spend a good deal of time describing the marvels of organization which enabled a circus company to eat its meals regularly in a tent, but since last August this hasn't astonished the world as much as it did formerly.

The circus consists of a "main top" a menagerie and a side show. The "main top" contains three rings in which athletes display new and startling feats and clothes. This tent which is as large as a Belgian farm, also contains two platforms and a hippodrome track, to say nothing of 3 bands, 76 clowns and 987 peonut sellers.

The menagerie is a large collection of immigrant animals, most of them homesick. The menagerie is very educational and allows us to become intimately acquainted with the lion and the tiger without getting mixed up with them gastronomically.

The side show is a sort of vacuum cleaner which relieves the guest of any stray change which he may have overlooked.

About the time that the inhabitant of a small town is so tired of looking at the same old brick stores, tumble-down depot, swag backed elevator, bald-headed postmaster, underfed preacher and bare-bellied loafer that he is ready to jump into the cistern for a change, the circus comes along. It grows up like a Wall street rumor over night and shows him blue monkeys from Ceylon, ten-ton elephants from Africa, blonde bears from the north pole, interminable snakes from Borneo, beautiful bareback riders from Hungary, human flies from Japan, whirling dervishes from Egypt and bottle-nosed clowns from lands not yet discovered. And he shakes hands with the whole world for a day, and goes back to the dusty old main street satisfied to struggle on until better times and the interurban arrive.

The circus is not intellectual, but in some parts of the country it takes the place of a mountain feud as an excitement producer with marked success.

INDECENT EXPOSURE.—Last evening, Constable Tobin arrested a Holland seaman, who had been working for the Municipal Council, excavating on Duckworth Street, charged with indecently exposing himself before a little girl. He was arraigned before the magistrates to-day, convicted and fined $20 or 30 days imprisonment.

Fads and Fashions.

Striped linen lawn decorated with lingerie flouncings is excellent for afternoon frocks.
There is nothing better for the bathing suit than a combination of navy and white.
Any pretty summer frock may be freshened and changed by the use of different sashes.

Some of the simpler muslin frocks with muslin and lace aprons are very youthful and quaint.

The modern version of the dark wash dresses is a very frivolous affair of checked voile.

The frock of muslin, lace or taffeta is the proper costume for the luncheon or garden party.
A coat of taffeta or chiffon is an appropriate accompaniment to the summer dress of voile.

There is a faint Italian tendency in fashions—evidenced in full peasant sleeves and tighter bodices.
The suspender frock is a good style for little girls, and it provides opportunity for making over.

Even though the skirts may be flounced upon flounces, the waists are almost severe in their simplicity.
So sheer are some of the blouses that their wearers require under them not only brassieres but camisoles.

Black plect edging to white muslin frills for the neck is a pretty idea seen in many white lingerie dresses.
A little girl's dress made with simple straight waist and skirt formed of narrow ruffles, is very attractive.

A rather small sailor-shaped hat, with a rounded crown, is fashionably trimmed with a single rose right in the front.

The flesh-colored blouse of organdie with a Puritan collar of white, is charming, and summery worn with a white skirt.

Black-and-white has been slow about getting into embroidered linen candle shades, etc. for the house, but it is here at last.

The use of summer furs has increased, and now they are not only worn at all hours of the day but sweaters and evening wraps are trimmed with fur.

In Memoriam.

Death comes in all forms and often when least expected. That this is true is being particularly felt at St. Joseph's at the present time. On June 14th Stephen the eight year old son of Bernard and Mary Curtis was taken very ill, he having contracted a very heavy cold. A day or two afterwards his brother, Michael, also became ill. The doctor was summoned to attend the two children and pronounced Stephen to be suffering from inflammation of the lungs, and Michael, from croup. Everything possible was done to relieve the little sufferers, but after only three days illness Michael expired. Stephen lingered for eight days during which time he was constantly watched day and night, but on Monday, June 21st, at 4 a.m., he, too, was called away. Worn out with watching and attending to the wants of her children the poor heart-broken mother is prostrated with grief at their death, and to make it harder for her to bear, their father is absent in America.

Scarcely had the grave closed over the bodies of the two little children, whose death is chronicled above, when word was received that their cousin, Bernard Curtis, had been drowned while fishing out of Boston, Mass. The deceased had for the last five years formed one of the crew of the fishing schooner "Frances S. Grueby," Capt. Enos Nickerson. The accident happened on June 20th. Bernard was in his dory attending to his trawls, when the captain passed him in the schooner. About five minutes later he had disappeared. How and when Capt. Nickerson is unable to state, for no one saw him fall overboard. Assistance was sent from the vessel, but no trace of Bernard could be found. The characteristics which he possessed were such as had endeared him to all who knew him. Always ready to greet you with a pleasant word and smile, always kind, gentle and courteous in his dealings with others, it is no wonder that his loss is felt by everyone. He was above all a good Catholic, generous always to a great degree, he was especially so towards the church, and when help was needed to swell the church fund he could always be depended upon to give a generous contribution. The deceased was the youngest son of Annie and the late Bernard Curtis. He was 23 years of age and was unmarried. Besides his mother, he has two sisters residing in Newfoundland and two brothers in the U. S. A., one, John J., police officer in Gloucester, and Garrett, of East Boston; another sister, Mrs. James McPhail, resides in Gloucester. To these, and to his bereaved mother the sympathy of all is extended.

A SINCERE FRIEND,
 St. Joseph's, July 13th, 1915.

The kidneys and liver cleaned. Headaches, biliousness, and that heavy, tired feeling, will go. You will feel like a new person. Don't be fooled—get VIGOROL, and you will never regret it. Sold at all drug stores.

Cabinet Secrets.

Scores of secrets are born behind the portals of No. 10, Downing Street, Whitehall, and they are so well kept there is little chance of one of them leaking out to the public. Ministers are not only pledged to secrecy, but they are forbidden to take notes of the business transacted at a Cabinet meeting.

Occasionally it is found desirable to have a "secret" set up in type. The original manuscript of a "secret" is not handed over in its entirety to a compositor. It is cut up into numerous little pieces, which are distributed among a number of compositors, each of whom sets up his little piece.

When all the fragments have been put into type an official holding high rank in the Government personally collects the lines of metal and puts them together in their proper place. He then superintends the actual printing of the "secret." No one but himself is allowed to handle the printed copies as they come from the press. Spoilt copies he destroys, and when a sufficient number of copies have been taken off he has the type from which they have been printed melted down in his presence.

Some years back a spy endeavoured to secure a position in the Government printing department, imagining that if he had a job there he would be able to secure printed copies of the "secrets" which originated at Downing Street. When he discovered how important documents were printed he had no further desire for a post.

Take a teaspoonful of Stafford's Prescription "A" a few minutes before eating and enjoy your meals.—July 12, 1915

OUT OF HARM'S WAY.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

A neighbour of mine, the mother of four small children under six, and the employer of one helper, announced the other day that her husband had had a business promotion and wanted her to employ another maid.

"How splendid!" said the confidante, "I suppose you'll have a nursemaid to look after the children. That will give you so much more freedom."

"No," said the other woman slowly, "I don't believe I shall. That was my first thought, but I finally decided I'd have a second maid."

"For mercy's sake, why? I'd rather have the children taken off my hands."

No Constructive Training.

"Well, in a way, so would I. It would give me more freedom, but I don't think it's well for the children. No matter how good a girl is you can hardly expect her to give the children much constructive training. I decided I could leave the dish-washing and bed-making to someone else better than I could the training of my children."

What do you think of that decision, reader friend?

Myself, I think it is a very wise one.

If it is a task to tax the ingenuity and patience of mother love to give a group of small children a constructive training, how can one expect it of a paid nurse girl?

She Keeps Them Out of Harm's Way, I know a home in which there is what many mothers call an excellent nurse girl. She is careful and trustworthy about dressing, bathing and feeding the children and keeping them out of harm's way. That last phrase sums her up. She keeps them out of harm's way, but she doesn't put them in the way of good. She doesn't teach them anything; she doesn't attempt to helpfully answer the hundreds of questions a day which the child seeks to orientate himself in this strange new universe; she does not give them any intelligent, systematic discipline. In short, she does not give them any constructive training.

The children are nowhere near so well-bred or so intelligent as the children of another neighbor who does part of her housework and also takes most of the care of her brood herself.

Nothing Makes A Child So Dependent.

Moreover, nothing makes a child lazy and dependent so much as having someone who, he knows, is employed to take care of him, amuse him and wait upon him. I used to know a woman whose husband had a prosperous business and who kept a nursemaid for her two children. The maid waited on the children by inches, picked up their toys, dressed them, ran up and down stairs for them, and did all the things they should have been taught to do for themselves.

Hard times came, the nursemaid had to go, and the mother had to look after her children herself. You can imagine what a task she found it.

Four children properly trained and disciplined would have been less trouble than these two, dependent, over-spoiled, under-trained children.

No mother ought to be tied to her children all the time. It's hard for them and for her. On the other hand, no mother who wants to do the best

Germany's Worst Enemy.

Commodore Suetter's Great Career. When the time comes for the granting of the honors of this war, a name which will come very near the head of the list will be that of Commodore Murray Suetter, Director of the Air Department of the Admiralty; for to Commodore Suetter is due the splendid efficiency of the naval air fleet, to which the late Sub-Lieutenant Warneford, V.C., who destroyed a Zeppelin between Ghent and Brussels, belonged, and whose feat adds one more to achievements of the Royal Naval Air Service.

Five years ago the latter was a negligible quantity, machines were few and unreliable and experienced pilots difficult to get. Commodore Suetter, however, who has been described as "Germany's worst enemy," soon changed all that. One of the few men who really recognized the great value of aeroplanes and seaplanes in modern warfare, he set to work to build up an aerial fleet which to-day is second to none.

blined knowledge with daring and initiative.

That is why to-day the Royal Naval Air Service has increased from the smallest to the biggest specialized branch of the Navy. For it must be remembered that the air service includes not only seaplanes and airships, but armoured motor-cars, seaplane-carrying ships, balloon and kite sections, which are all under the direct control of Commodore Suetter, who is at present superintending operations in areas as far apart as London and German South-West Africa, the North Sea and Red Sea, Belgium and the Dardanelles.

A Modest Genius. Little is known of Commodore Suetter personally, for he is a man who hides behind his work, and is not often to be met outside his office in the naval workshops. That, however, he is a practical man first of all and a fine pilot is evident from the tributes paid to his skill and daring by members of the service. Indeed, it is said that one of the greatest ambitions of Commodore Suetter before the war was to fly across the Atlantic.

Before he became inspecting Captain of Aircraft in 1910 Commodore Suetter had gained a great reputation as an authority on submarines. In the early years of the present century he was one of our most promising submarine officers, and the book which he wrote on the problems of organizing that service in the light of his actual experience as commander of a submarine is still regarded as a standard work on the subject.—Tit Bits.

"Zeppelin Drill" in London Now.

Takes its Place Alongside of Fire Drill in Factories and Business Places. London, July 8.—"Zeppelin drill" has now taken its place alongside the familiar drill in London factories and business places. In a few cases respirators have been provided by employers, and weekly or fortnightly respirator parades accompany the Zeppelin drill.

For households, advertisers are furnishing neat placards with "Directions" for conduct in case of air raid. One such card bears the following brief instructions:

"Don't go into the street.
"Close all windows and doors on lower floors.
"Keep buckets of water and sand upstairs.
"Have respirators handy in bedrooms."

A housewife writes to a newspaper to describe the steps she has taken to protect her household: "Every night the bathtub upstairs is left half-filled with water. On every landing I have buckets of water and sand. In every bedroom there is a bowl of water ready for moistening the respirators, and all my family have been advised to keep their respirators under the pillow so as to be within easy reach."

A schoolmistress writes advising parents to accustom their small children to the use of the respirator: "It would startle a child considerably," she notes, "to be awakened in the middle of the night and have a respirator clapped over its mouth."

There is no unanimity of opinion even among the police authorities as to the proper mode of procedure for householders in case Zeppelin attack. In most places the police have advised people to go into their cellars, but the chief of police at Windsor is sure this is inadvisable. His code of directions which reads with a matter of fact common sense almost Yankee in its directness, is as follows:

Fishermen Caught on the Grounds

IN N. E. STORM.

The strong winds, heavy seas and ice have threatened much destruction to fishing property in and around the settlement of Pouch Cove of late as well as jeopardizing the lives of fishermen. Yesterday while the boats were on the grounds the elements raged in great fury. A northeaster came on suddenly, accompanied by a dangerous ground sea. Boats ran in all directions for shelter. Some going Torbay, Flatrock and Outer Cove and two boats succeeded in coasting on to St. John's. The occupants stayed at the Seamen's Institute and Police station all last night. The fishermen of Pouch Cove have been doing well with cod recently and it is unfortunate that they should meet with heavy loss to their gear on account of weather conditions. Their greatest dread is loose ice damaging their traps.

His code of directions which reads with a matter of fact common sense almost Yankee in its directness, is as follows:

"Do not congregate in one room or in the basement, as has been freely recommended. Some of the bombs recently used crashed through the room and floors to basement and then exploded. Again, if gas bombs are used, the cellar with doors and windows closed is not a haven of safety."

"In a few words: In the event of an air raid, put your trust in Providence; have something efficacious on the premises for coping with a fire in its earlier stages; clenish your teeth and do your best."

WELSH MINERS DISPUTE.

LONDON, To-day. Walter Runciman, President of the Board of Trade, yesterday telegraphed the conference of miners' delegates in session at Cardiff, that he was prepared to meet the delegates in London this evening. The presumption is that the purpose of the meeting is to resume negotiations looking to a settlement of the dispute. The arrangement of a meeting is taken as confirming the impression that prospects of early peace in the coal strike are brightening.

LEAVES FOR ARMY.

PHILADELPHIA, To-day. Vivian Nickells, the English coach of the University of Pennsylvania rowing crews to-day announced he had resigned in order to join the British army. Nickells said he will accept a commission either in the Third or Fourth Hussars. The Pennsylvania Rowing Committee asked Nickells to remain at least another year, but he waved aside all entreaties to stay. "My country needs her sons," said Nickells, "and I am going. I have remained here and read what little news we get and I can stand it no longer."

TURKISH TRENCHES CAPTURED.

LONDON, To-day. Two strong Turkish lines, defending the Dardanelles have been captured by Anglo-French forces on the Gallipoli Peninsula, according to an announcement given out this evening by the British official Press Bureau.

TENS OF THOUSAND CHINESE DROWNED.

HONG KONG, To-day. Tens of thousands of natives are estimated to have been drowned by floods in the Chinese Provinces of Kwangtung, Kwangsi and Kiangsi. The desolation and devastation of these districts are terrible, according to the latest reports reaching here. A fire swept an area of one mile, raging floods handicapping the work of rescue. Canton City was in darkness last night, water having inundated the machinery of the electric light plant. Missionaries who arrive here are seeking the assistance of the States' gunboat Callao to aid the work of rescue. The last report received here from Canton says communication was cut and said that the Christian hospital was in danger from fire.

CANTON ISOLATED.

Consul General Anderson, Hong Kong, reported to-day that Canton is isolated except for powerful steamers. Thousands have been drowned and tens of thousands are taking refuge in high places. Thousands of houses have been burned. The American mission property either has been damaged or destroyed. Foreigners are taking refuge in the British Consulate. At Fu Chow no foreigners have been lost so far as is known.

THE LONDON BUDGET—NEW GERMAN OFFENSIVE.

LONDON, To-day. With the exception of two small outcrops in the Rhendda district, employing about 800 men, all coal miners in South Wales, from which comes coal for the navy, were idle to-day. The miners despite the action of the Government in bringing the industry under the Munitions War Act, and the entreaties of responsible labor leaders and their own Executive Council, decided by a vote of 180 to 113 not to accept the recommendation to continue work day by day until an arrangement could be concluded. Delegates voting for the strike represented 88,950 men, and those against the strike 41,500. Thus, although opinion is divided, the extremists are in a large majority. The conference, however, agreed to meet the President of the Board of Trade, Walter Runciman, to-day and discuss the situation. All responsible labor leaders in the country opposed the strike. While it is hard to see how the Government can enforce the penalties of the Munitions Act, it is believed the men will be influenced by the fact that they are opposing an Act which was passed for the safety of the country. Asked in the Commons yesterday what steps if any had been taken to suppress the organs of the Independent Labor Party, Asquith replied the question of increasing the powers conferred by the Defense of the Realm Act had been considered.

attempts to outflank Warsaw, the Germans, probably under Field Marshal von Hindenburg, who is reported to have said a few days ago he will shortly astonish the world, have renewed the attack on the Polish capital from the north. They have not only captured a large number of prisoners at South Reino, according to a report issued by Berlin to-day, but occupied Prazsnyz, a fortified town, 50 miles north of Warsaw, which was driven from East Prussia last winter, but was retaken by the Russians in their counter-offensive. This claim is partly confirmed by the Russian official report issued yesterday, which stated the Russians faced strong German forces and withdrew to their second line of trenches. This move on the part of Germany has taken military circles completely by surprise. Generally it was supposed General Von Hindenburg, after being reinforced, continue the effort to reach the Lublin Chelm railway, thus forcing the evacuation of Warsaw, but as he is all their operations the Germans have done the unexpected and the new offensive will probably be a general extend from the Baltic around the East Prussian border to the Vistula, west of Warsaw, for all Russian troops in this section must be kept busy to prevent them from concentrating at a point where the Germans hope to break through.

In France, Argonne continues to be the scene of the hardest fighting, but in the operations here as elsewhere in the West, official accounts are as contradictory as usual. At any rate no great move has been undertaken. No change of line that would be recognized on the ordinary map has occurred. Confirmation was received to-night from General Sir Ian Hamilton of the success which for some days the Allies are reported to have achieved on the Gallipoli Peninsula. According to this report, two lines of Turkish trenches were captured, together with 400 prisoners. The Turks, on the other hand claim to have repulsed the Allies' attack. As anticipated, progress against the Turks is very slow, owing to the neutral strongly fortified position which they held, but British military authorities express satisfaction at the gain of an occasional line of trenches, relying on breaking the morale of the Turks and on the exhaustion of their supply of ammunition. Germany's eagerness to have Roumania allow the passage of ammunition through the country to Turkey is taken to mean the supply is running short.

WELSH MUNITIONS TRIBUNAL.

LONDON, To-day. An official announcement made this evening says the Minister of Munitions has appointed a Munitons Tribunal for Wales and Monmouthshire as follows: Chairman, Robert Wallace, King's Counsel; Assessors—Sir Griffith Thomas, representative of employers, and Councillor Griffiths, representative of the work people.

SOME RESUME TO-MORROW.

LONDON, To-day. Some of the miners of the West-end District of South Wales agreed to resume work to-morrow.

12.15 P. M.

GERMAN SPY SHOT.

LONDON, To-day. Another German spy has been put to death in England after having been condemned by court martial. He was Robert Rosenthal, arrested in London early in June. He confessed to officials of Scotland Yard that he had been sent to England by the German Admiralty to obtain information concerning British naval matters.

COPIING THE GHURKAS.

LONDON, To-day. The Mail's correspondent at the British headquarters in France says the French are arming their troops with a short knife for use in trench warfare, replacing the bayonet which when fixed in the rifle too long a weapon to give a man free play in narrow trenches.

"NIBBLING" JUSTIFYING ITSELF.

ZURICH, Switzerland, To-day. It is becoming clearer that Germany has called up her last reserves and that every available man is being sent to the fighting line. Germans up to forty years old, residing in Switzerland, have been called to the colors. The doctors refuse hardly any one. A German in Zurich who had lost four toes on one foot was declared fit for service. Such men are used to guard the lines of communication, which liberates more robust men for service at the front. Germany has every available man in uniform and can no longer make good the wastage. Everything now depends on the last desperate effort to burst through the allies' lines. That attempt is now being prepared and is expected to take place before the end of the month.

NO UNEMPLOYMENT.

LONDON, To-day. Unemployment having virtually disappeared throughout the United Kingdom, the Finance Secretary-Treasurer asked and was granted leave in the Commons to-day to withdraw a vote of $1,250,000 for works to be carried out in the relief of unemployed.

GERMAN SUBMARINE SUNK.

LONDON, To-day. The German submarine, U. 61, has been sunk in the Black Sea by Russian warships, according to information received from Varna, a Bulgarian port on the Black Sea, by the Athens correspondent Exchange Telegraph Company.

WELSH MINER'S STATEMENT.

LONDON, To-day. Representatives of the South Wales Coal Miners have prepared the following statement, assumed by men who have quit work: The members are no longer working under an agreement and have lost their minimum rate of wages. Owners have offered them a new agreement for the duration of the war, but the miners know the Admiralty will keep on hand an ample stock of coal as long as war lasts, and they fear that when the war is ended, the Admiralty will sell the surplus, thus bringing down the market price. Miners' wages vary with the selling price of coal, and if the price shows a tendency to fall, they may be bereft of the benefit of an agreement. The suggestion has been made that this fear on the part of miners may be overcome by offering an agreement whose terms would extend six months after hostilities with provision that three months notice must be given by either side, if a change is desired. This is one of the proposals which probably will be made to-day to Walter Runciman.

FORTIFYING POSITIONS.

VERONA, To-day. The Italians are strongly fortifying all positions captured from the Austrians. Trenches have been excavated and platforms constructed on which to mount heavy guns. Many places along the frontier have been transformed into entrenched camps, strongly garrisoned and with immense supplies of ammunition. A terrific storm continues in the mountain region. Violent winds, hail and snow are delaying military operations but the troops are engaged in fortifying dominant points.

1 P. M.

GERMAN REINFORCEMENTS.

LONDON, To-day. Reinforcements have been sent to the German troops in the Russian province of Courland and Kovno with the result that rigorous military operations have been resumed in that section. The Russians are offering a stubborn resistance and are holding strategic positions, according to an official statement issued yesterday.

EXPERTS DIFFER.

LONDON, To-day. Experts differ says the Times Petrograd correspondent, as to whether the new German move on the Narva River is preparatory to an advance on Warsaw from the North or merely a demonstration to guard their communications.

DRASTIC MEASURES TAKEN.

LONDON, To-day. The Government is taking drastic measure to put down disaffection in Ireland, says the Times this morning. They have just given orders to three members of the Sinn Fein in Belfast, County Clare and County Galway to leave Ireland before the end of the week.

WHAT THE AMERICANS WANT.

LONDON, To-day. It is understood here that the American representations to Great Britain for the release of neutral meat cargoes, will insist that Orders in Council of March and County Galway to leave Ireland before the end of the week.

2.15 P. M.

PRINCESS BECOMES NURSE.

LONDON, To-day. Princess Arthur of Connaught has entered St. Mary's Hospital to become a Red Cross nurse. It is understood that she plans to go to the front as nurse as soon as her training has been completed.

HUNS THREATEN ROUMANIA.

LONDON, To-day. A despatch from Rotterdam says, according to information from Berlin, matters pertaining to the Balkans are approaching a climax. The growing fear, especially as to the attitude of Roumania, is finding expression in covert threats as to what the Central Powers may do if that State does not allow the passage of arms and ammunition to the Turks. The continued refusal to permit munitions to pass is endangering the position of the Turkish army in the Dardanelles, and two important journals have declared the Allies success there would decide the whole war.

Archbishop Visits Knights of Columbus.

His Grace Archbishop Roche visited the K. of C. Hall last evening and was cordially received by the members of Terra Nova Council, who took advantage of the occasion to make a formal presentation of the Throne, donated by the Council to their distinguished Chaplain.

His Grace was met at the outdoor by the Territorial Deputy, Mr. C. O'N. Conroy and members of the Fourth Degree in full regalia who escorted their distinguished visitor to the Council Chamber. Upon entering the Chamber the special choir of the Council under Bro. Prof. C. Hutton, rendered the hymn "Ecce Sacerdos Magnus." A welcome was then extended to His Grace by the Grand Knight, Mr. P. J. Summege, who on behalf of the Knights of Terra Nova Council congratulated him on his appointment to the exalted office of Archbishop of St. John's. In making the formal presentation of the Throne to His Grace the Grand Knight wished the new Archbishop health and length of days to guide the destinies of the Roman Catholic Church in Newfoundland.

His Grace in reply referred to his past connection with Terra Nova Council as Chaplain, and to his interest in the Order. He also referred to the great good that such a body of Catholic laymen could do in the service of the Church. He thanked the Knights for their splendid gift, and referred to it as a work of art, mentioning that His Excellency, the Apostolic Delegate, who was a severe judge in such matters and sparingly of praise had spoken of the gift in highest terms. He then dealt with the emblematical character of the Throne, which is the symbol of Episcopal authority, and made a stirring appeal to the members to stand by the Throne, particularly when others criticised.

After the close of the meeting His Grace spent over an hour in the rooms exchanging greetings with the members.

Intercessory Services at St. Thomas's.

The first of a series of Intercessory Services to be held on Thursday mornings at St. Thomas's Church was conducted by the Rector, Rev. Edgar Jones yesterday at 10.30 o'clock. The service was largely attended and the address of the Rector was listened to with much attention.

The object in setting apart one day of the week, as a day of Intercession is a most laudable one, and the services should be attended by all who have the time at their disposal. At each service there will be a celebration of the Holy Communion, though all who attend are not expected to communicate, the principal object of the service being to offer up united prayer for the Empire and our sons who are now fighting for freedom and righteousness. Persons who have relatives and friends in the service of the Empire should try to be present and participate in the prayers that will be offered for the triumph of England's cause, as well as for the protection and support of our brave fighters on land and sea.

CUBS TO FACE SHMAROCKS.—The next League Baseball game will be played on Wednesday next, when the Cubs and Shmarocks will cross swords. Both teams won their last match so that interest in the contest will be keen.

Yesterday in the vicinity of Cape Spear, a small iceberg, drifting south, was sighted.

The Nfld. Quarterly.

We thank Mr. John J. Evans, for an advance copy of the Summer Number of the Newfoundland Quarterly, which contains much interesting reading matter and is profusely illustrated. The portraits of the sons of Newfoundland who are filling posts of honor in the service of the Empire will be welcomed, as will also an excellent portrait of Nurse Maisie Parsons, who is now nursing in a hospital amidst the din of battle in France. Some pages of the book are devoted to the consecration of His Grace Archbishop Roche, and many fine photographs of the distinguished clerics and of the citizens committee are given. The magazine contains many other fine illustrations and the reading matter is of a very high order. We congratulate the Proprietor Mr. J. J. Evans, and bespeak for the Quarterly, which will be issued tomorrow, a large and ready sale.

From Pt. Geo. Cowan.

Mr. Peter H. Cowan, of this city, is in receipt of a letter from his brother Private George Cowan, of the 13th Battalion Royal Highlanders. At the time of writing, June 24th, Pte. Cowan had been over two months in the trenches, during which time he had seen some hard fighting, but so far had escaped unscathed, though he had lost practically all his companions. In his letter he pays a high tribute to the memory of Pte. Jack Hollands, and to the bravery of Pte. Phil Jensen, reference to which is made elsewhere in this issue. Pte. Cowan is well and fit and his many friends will wish him a continuance of good luck.

A Splendid Souvenir.

Amongst the 64 passengers, who came on the s.s. Florizel, 27 are round-trippers. On arrival of the ship yesterday, pocket pamphlets, which were recently issued by Messrs. Ayre & Sons, Ltd., for 1915, were distributed to all the passengers on board. The pamphlet is an ideal Souvenir of Newfoundland and neat design and is well printed and nicely finished. It is strikingly attractive to the tourist, health-seeker, sportsmen, etc., containing as it does a choice selection of popular illustrations relating to the Island. Occupying a prominent place in the souvenir is the foreign visitor, is a portrait of Ayre & Sons employees who are now "On His Majesty's Service."

E. Z. MARK.
We ask him to invest in town the cash he has to spare; he turns such propositions down with cold and haughty stare. "Your dinky local enterprise," remarks this lofty gent, "looks pretty adding to my eyes—it won't pay six per cent. I won't unlock my treasure chest for local schemes, my friends; when I have money to invest, I want big dividends." And so he sends his cash away (with big results in view) for silver mines in far Cart-hay, oil wells in Timbuctoo. He buys a hundred cars of cloves, upon the Wall Street plan; he's buying Greenland orange groves, and earthquakes in Japan. Oh, anything that's far away, that's boomed by unknown sharks, looks bigger than a load of hay to all the E. Z. Marks. His once large pile is dwindling fast, 'twill soon have moseyed hence; and soon he'll view the dismal past, and wish he'd had some sense. Meanwhile our local ginseng mills are running day and night, and we are putting in our hills the doubloons, clean and bright.

Amusements.

BRITISH THEATRE.

Commencing to-day and remaining until Saturday night a galaxy of film stars will appear at the British. First and foremost being Miss Mary Fuller, one of the most popular actresses who ever appeared before any camera anywhere; she is closely followed by such well and favourably known performers as Ruth Roland, Clara Kimball Young, Charles Eldridge and Lloyd V. Hamilton, the great eccentric comedian who is claimed by many competent judges to be funnier than Charlie Chaplin. This powerful entertainment should not be missed by any devotee of the silent drama. On Saturday afternoon the usual "large show" for the "rising generation" will be given.

SIX PICTURES AT THE CRESCENT.

Six pictures comprise the Crescent's big show to-day. "Under False Colors" is a comedy drama with Norma Talmadge, when she is betrothed to a fortune, what she was is forgotten in what she is. G. M. Anderson is seen in one of his western dramas; "Broncho Billy Favourite." "The Peace Makers" is a Vitagraph melo-drama, it looks bad for Jack but circumstances and explanations alter cases, neither he nor Minnie is to blame, a diplomatic friend brings about a happy reconciliation. "The Beast" is a strong Kalem Drama featuring Alice Joyce. "They called it Baby" and "His Loving Spouse" are two rich comedies. Mrs. Hannaford sings a nice ballad and Mrs. Nurse the talented pianist plays an appropriate and classy musical programme. This big show costs no more, go to the Crescent to-day and see it.

A GREAT BILL AT "OURS."

Crowds attended the West End Theatre last night. The pictures are positively beautiful, such grand subjects and by all the best moving picture people; a complete change again to-night. The little singers have a dandy new song, dressed in costume. The song was encored at each performance last night. It is all about a young fellow who loves the ladies, and he informs us that the world can't twirl without the beautiful girls. Don't miss to-night's programme, because there are no better pictures anywhere than those shown at "Ours."

Bravery Indeed.

"Say, old fellow, you're married; I'll take your place in that front rank," were the words of Private Phil Jensen, of Harbor Breton, to a fellow soldier of the Canadian contingent during the terrible Battle of Ypres, at which Jensen was seriously wounded. The story is told by Private George Cowan, of the 13th Battalion, Royal Highlanders, in a letter to Mr. P. H. Cowan, Broker, this city. Pte. Cowan was informed of the brave act of Jensen by a soldier, who said that after replacing an older man in the firing line, the hero was wounded by shrapnel. On hearing the story, Pte. Cowan remarked that he was proud to know that Phil Jensen was a Newfoundlander, and added that his act was just such as might be expected of him. Together with Pte. Cowan will Newfoundlanders rejoice in the fact that this hero is a son of the soil, and a credit to the land which gave him birth.

League Football.

What promises to be one of the best contested games for the season, will be this evening's meeting between the Stars and B.I.S. A great deal depends on the outcome. The B.I.S. now have the most number of points to their credit, but if they lose with the Star will be put back on equal footing with three other teams. The probable players of both teams will be:

STAR.—Goal, Thompson; backs, Walsh, T. Duggan; halves, Kavanagh, Hart, Brien; forwards, Whalen, Bell, Caul, Morgan, Caul.
B.I.S.—Goal, Walsh; backs, Thomas, Kavanagh; halves, Duggan, Jackman, Kavanagh; forwards, Simms, Constantine, Jackman, Burke, Duffy.

TOBACCO HERE.—The 3. S. Tobacco arrived in port last night from Halifax, after a passage of two days and a half. She brought a small cargo and sails to-night for Liverpool.

YOUR BOYS AND GIRLS

Cleanliness is one of the foundation stones on which is reared the beautiful structure of baby's good health, and good temper. When it is neglected all sorts of weakness, discomforts and irritations creep in. Uncleanliness invites disease and furnishes a lodging place for germs. Moreover the baby who starts off in life being comfortable, forms cleanly habits which it never loses.
Preparations for keeping the baby clean start before he is born. In a drawer or basket covered from dust should be placed a number of old, soft clean towels, a thoroughly washed and dried piece of soft woolen blanket or outing flannel, a roll of sterilized gauze at least half a pound in quantity, and the same of sterilized absorbent cotton, a bottle of olive oil, or cotton seed or sweet oil, a small package of boric acid, some pure white soap or the best castile and a box of talcum powder.
LOCAL ARRIVES.—The local from Carbonear via Broad Cove arrived in the city at 7 p.m. to-day.

Letter From Private P. J. Jensen

Kingswood School, Bath, June 29, '15.

The Editor Evening Telegram.
Sir,—Will you please give space in your paper for a few remarks of mine to the boys from Terra Nova, 1st Newfoundland Regiment. I noticed some writer in referring to them says: "hold on till they get in the trenches." Well, I have no doubt about them when they get there they will be as good as any troops out there. The climate of dear old Terra Nova specially fits them for enduring cold, etc., which if we have another winter's campaign, will be one of its worst features, and as far as sticking it is concerned, well, I know them. I have no doubt that our brave boys will give a good account of themselves whenever they get out there, or wherever they are sent. Our men from Newfoundland who go down to the sea in ships face death so often and speak of it so lightly, these men certainly will not fear death or its horrors on the field of battle. The thought has often struck me while out there what splendid officers some of our banking skippers would make with a very little training. (Of course it is understood since last August a new method of warfare has sprung up, all books, etc., re military matters before this are practically useless, one could hardly imagine two great armies with a line of hundreds of miles digging themselves in, sticking themselves in, sticking there for months, this is practically speaking what has been done). I can imagine Capt. J. Lewis, Capt. John Matthews, of Patton & Forsyth, from Grand, both captains great friends of mine, and a lot more of our brave sea captains, leading on their men. Yes, and I am sure they would be followed, too. The Newfoundland Regiment has made a name for itself over here by its exceptional good behaviour, drill and manoeuvring and their officers, well, show me the Colonial Battalion that has officers to beat them. I know a lot of chaps from Terra Nova in various Canadian Regiments, they are all splendid soldiers. Corp. Jeffries (formerly teacher in Bishop Field's) and his brother, sons of Rev. Mr. Jeffries, formerly of Sandy Point. I have heard fellows from their regiment, 1st Montreal, speak in glowing terms of them both. In my own regiment, 5th Royal Highlanders, there are a lot of home boys: Bishop, from Western Bay; French, from Harbor Grace; and Cowan, brother of H. Cowan, Esq., all great chums of mine, and in the various engagements these boys have showed what Terra Nova boys can do. Then there is Lance Corporal Hollands, son of Rev. C. P. Hollands, Rector of Carbonear. I am sure every body from dear old Newfoundland feels proud of him. He died a hero. If I had been in Newfoundland when war started I certainly would have been with the boys. They are doing their bit just as much in camp in Scotland as out in the firing line, and I am sure when they do go out they will distinguish themselves. Please pardon this writing of mine as since being wounded my sight has been kind of paralyzed owing to being wounded very near my spine. Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for space. Wishing the boys of dear old Terra Nova (no place like it) every success. Yours respectfully, P. J. JENSEN.

Boy Scouts in Camp.

The Boy Scouts camping near the Trestle Bridge, Manuels, are having a jolly good outing. Visitors on Wednesday report the lads without exception, looking fit and happy. They are in charge of Mr. Gordon Christian, Scout Master, with his two assistants, Messrs. Holmes and Clouston. Wednesday afternoon they were entertained at "Palarett Villa" the summer residence of Messrs. Lawrence and Parkins, who with their wives and lady friends gave the boys a jolly good spread on the Lawn which was very much appreciated by the Scouts. Many visitors and guests from town were present and speak in very complimentary terms of the lads in charge for their very kind interest shown the lads and made their afternoon so enjoyable which will be remembered with pleasure for some time.—Com.

FIGURES DO LIE.
 Prices are only Relative

REGAL ENGINES are the highest priced engines, yet they are the cheapest.
 They are the highest priced engines because they cost more to build.
 They are the cheapest engines, because they will last twice as long as any other engine.
 They are also the cheapest engines because they save your time, and "Time is money."
 If you shut your eyes to this real bargain in engines, you will be the sorriest fisherman who ever signed an order.
 You will lose more money than you can afford to lose, and your oil bills will be twice as large.
 REGAL ENGINES use less oil, have more power, run with less trouble and give more genuine satisfaction than any other engine on the market.
 We are, in the near future, going to ask all cash for REGAL ENGINES, so buy one before we make this change, as we intend to make them the "Hall Mark" engines of Newfoundland.
 We ship REGAL ENGINES complete with full book of instructions, and when once installed in your boat, any child can run one.
 REGAL ENGINES are higher priced than other engines, but are the cheapest in the long run, because they run the longest.

Lessen Your Living Expenses!

"Be economical," is the cry in England, and this slogan has the same significance in Canada. We all must economize. There is more actual waste in our dress expenses than any other item. When a garment becomes soiled we throw it aside, when for a few cents it could be restored to original freshness and beauty by Dry Cleaning. A saving of at least 35 per cent. in the expense of dressing is possible by using the processes of Dry Cleaning and Dyeing.

Our agents will gladly give you full particulars.
