GREAT OIL STRIKE IN FAR NORTH ON MACKENZIE RIVER

President Stillman of Imperial Oil Company Says Discovery Near Fort Norman Is 'Important and Scientifically of Much Value,' But Emphasizes Difficulties to Be Faced—Geologist Says Biggest Oil Field in World Has Been Opened Up.

There is every indication that an important strike of petroleum has been made by the Imperial Oil Company of Canada in the Mackenzie river district of the Canadian Northwest at Fort Norman, not very far from the Arctic circle.

The following important announcement in regard to the strike was handed to The World last night by C. P. Stillman, president of the Imperial Oil Company, from its head office, at the corner of Church and Court streets:

"With reference to our well on the Mackenzie river, the drilling machinery was moved in 1919 and erected in the fall. The drilling crew remained in camp there all winter, for the purpose of beginning work early in the spring, and drilling operations have proceeded all this season.

"On Aug. 25, at a depth of 783 feet, oil was encountered which flowed out of the 6-inch pipe for 30 minutes. Any estimate as to the amount of oil this well would produce is only a guess, as there was no tankage available, and an accurate test could not be made.

An important strike. "We consider this an important strike and scientifically of much value. From a commercial point of view, however, it is not of immediate value, as it will probably be years before it can be made available in quantities for the use of the Canadian market, on account of its remoteness from any refinery outlet. The well is situated 45 miles below Fort Norman, 900 miles from the nearest calling point of a river boat, 1200 miles from the nearest railway, and 1800 miles north of Edmonton, the nearest city on the present route. The only means of access to the location at the present time is down the northern river, which will only float boats of four to five foot draught, and several days' necessitate the unloading and trans- porting of the cargoes overland and"

The Union Station Costs a Lot. Business men and citizens of Toronto, all the people of Ontario whose letters go or will go thru the new Union Station, are losing money every day because of the delay in mail matter by non-use of the new Union Station. The present station costs the business men of Ontario thousands of dollars a day by the non-use of the most up-to-date postal layout in America, now all inside the new postoffice section of the new Union Station. Nobody seems to know why the continued delay in settling the question of track levels, Montreal is a great gain-der by the hold-up.

NEAR BEER IS TOO STRONG, SAYS SPENCE

O. T. A. Committee Laughs at Statement of Temperance Advocate—License Commissioner Dingman Warmly Scored for "Insulting" Treatment of Medical Profession.

Declaring that the so-called temperance beer now being sold contains a great deal too much alcohol and that he would not legislate to prevent the sale of liquor, Ben Spence appeared before the committee investigating the O.T.A. yesterday and gave his ideas as to how the measure could be improved. At times he had rather a rough passage of it. Another feature of the sitting was the sharp examination of License Commissioner Dingman, whose attitude towards the medical profession of the province was described as arbitrary, uncalled for, and autocratic. The information was also disclosed that the province was making a million dollars a year profit from the sale of liquor, despite the fact that the number of prescriptions issued was falling off. It was also freely admitted that confiscated liquor was being supplied to the doctors of the province, presumably to be used for medical purposes.

Calls it an Insult. "Gratuitous insult" was the way Dr. Godfrey described a letter written by Commissioner Dingman to a doctor admonishing him for giving out only

STRIKE OF CONVICTS IS STILL SERIOUS AT KINGSTON JAIL

Many Prisoners Persist in Unruly Tactics—Guards on 24-Hour Duty, THREATEN OFFICIALS

Kingston, Ont., Oct. 19.—(Special).—The trouble with the convicts at the Portsmouth penitentiary, which started on Saturday when they refused to work, has not yet been settled. Only a few of the prisoners were taken out to work today. The remainder, locked in their cells, continued to yell. "Down with the warden," "Murder," "We want blood," are some of the calls they have been given credit with.

The howls of the prisoners of the convicts is a long series of grievances against the administration for imposing upon them what is regarded as a severe course of discipline. It is said that keen resentment has been aroused over the frequency with which they are called upon to submit to searches of their persons and cells. Upon the strike being reported, Warden Ponsford ordered the prison closed, and all prisoners were marched to their cells and locked up. They were no sooner at sleep. The howls of the prisoners commenced. It lasted all Saturday night, and the noise was so great that the residents of Portsmouth were unable to sleep. SANDWICH COSTS 6 CENTS, BUT IS SOLD FOR 30 CENTS

Boston, Oct. 19.—The federal grand jury was ordered in special session on October 27 by U.S. attorney Daniel Gallagher today to decide whether present high prices for food at hotels and restaurants involve criminal profiteering. As an exhibit for its consideration, he indicated, the grand jury would be shown a ham sandwich which cost six cents to make and was sold for 30 cents.

STRONGLY OPPOSE A DEEP WATERWAY IN ST. LAWRENCE

New York State Voices Objections to Spending Millions in Another Country.

CALL PROJECT UNSOUND

New York, Oct. 19.—Criticism of the proposed deep sea waterway from the Great Lakes thru the St. Lawrence River as impractical, unsound and injurious to the barge canal of New York state today at a hearing before the International Joint Commission.

Tomorrow, eastern proponents of the project will place their views before the commission, which was appointed by the governments of Canada and the United States to investigate the feasibility of the plan.

Among the arguments of today were several references to the expenditure of great sums by the United States to improve waterways in another country, and several times opponents of the project pictured the plight of the investment in case of war between Great Britain and the United States.

One speaker declared he could not see why the United States "should start another Panama canal in a foreign country."

These remarks brought a reply from the United States chairman of the International Commission, former Senator Obadiah Gardner of Maine, at the session closed.

Several times today I have noted references, some deliberately erroneous, that this project is an attempt on the part of Canada to inveigle the United States into a canal project. (Continued on Page 4, Column 2)

LIMIT ATTENDANCE AT THE FUNERAL

A Dramatic Scene in Cork When Hunger Striker's Body Was Removed.

Fermy, Ireland, Oct. 19.—The funeral party bringing the body of Michael Fitzgerald to Fermy, his late home town, arrived here late this afternoon. The coffin was escorted by a large crowd to the church from which the burial will take place tomorrow.

The priest of the parish church has been notified by the military that the number of persons attending the funeral must be limited.

A dramatic scene was enacted in the church at Wick just before the removal of Fitzgerald's body. The religious mass was being celebrated when an army officer with drawn revolver, accompanied by four soldiers with rifles, forced a way thru the throng in the entrance, marched up to the altar rail and presented the official priest with a typewritten order, stating that the number of persons in the funeral procession must be limited to 100, none of whom would be allowed to march in military formation.

ATTRIBUTES HYDRO SUCCESS TO KEEPING FREE FROM POLITICS

Sir Adam Beck Also Hits at Waste Caused by Using Heaters.

ADDRESS AT Y. M. C. A.

"I am a great believer in Canada. I am a great believer in the young men of Canada."

With these words Sir Adam Beck opened a stirring address to the members of the young men's section of Central Y.M.C.A. on the occasion of their weekly supper last night. The selfish man, he said, was of no use in public life. In drawing a distinction between government ownership and public ownership, Sir Adam stated that the success of the Hydro-Electric scheme was mainly due to the fact that it had been kept free from political influence and to the efforts of the magnificent staff, numbering six hundred alone, in the main offices, and totaling in all between six and seven thousand employees.

"If every Hydro user in the province would cut off one or two lights the commission would save between 25 and 50 thousand horse power," he said.

Touching on the question of heaters the speaker pointed out that these were wasteful and inefficient to a large degree and an extensive use of extra power during the six months of the year they were in use.

Alluding to the Chipawa development scheme, Sir Adam said that the work necessary in cutting thru solid rock was in excess of the Panama canal. "We have every hope," he stated, "that in spite of the critics' opinions to the contrary, that we shall have a sufficient load available to the city when it takes over control of the Toronto Street Railway. This will mean tremendous speeding provided no further unforeseen delays occur."

On the conclusion of the address, Wilfred Grah, president of the young men's section, thanked the speaker most heartily for his inspiring and helpful address, and J. W. Hopkins, executive secretary of the central branch, extended the thanks of the association and committee of management.

POLAND BEGS POWERS TO LET HER KEEP VILNA

London, Oct. 19.—The Times learns that the Polish government, replying to the Anglo-French communication, expresses surprise that Great Britain and France should consider it their duty to enforce possession of Vilna by Lithuania. This decision, it is pointed out, would give rise to further conflicts and uprisings in the Polish army.

Poland estimates too highly the loyalty of the powers, it is declared, and imagine that advantage will be taken of her difficulties to advocate the renunciation of Vilna. The Warsaw government urgently appeals to the allies not to place difficulties in the way of reconstruction of Poland.

GREAT SUGAR CONFLICT ON AT OTTAWA TODAY

Public Feeling Is So Aroused, Particularly in West, That Rescinding of Board of Commerce's Order Is Regarded as Practically Certain.

Ottawa, Oct. 19.—(Special).—Official Ottawa is thinking and talking of nothing but sugar. The sugar refiners and their counsel are arriving for the hearing before the cabinet tomorrow, including the wholesalers and retail grocers, the consumers, the National Dairy Association and various municipalities and boards of trade.

It is taken for granted, however, that the order of the board of commerce placing a virtual embargo on the importation of sugar will be rescinded. The popular indignation, amounting to fury, against the board and its embargo is too great for any government to withstand. In the west the feeling is especially bitter; it is said that Premier Meighen has been notified that his western tour might as well be abandoned unless the sugar embargo is absolutely and completely cancelled. However, the premier is starting on his tour to the coast on Friday, and little doubt can exist as to how the case tomorrow will be decided.

A Public Hearing. The government is not without sympathy for the refiners and allied interests, whose case was presented to the public thru the press today, and is ready to apply not only the tariff but the anti-dumping clause in their behalf, but even then sugar could be imported from the United States and sold in Ottawa or Toronto at 16¢ a pound. The hearing tomorrow will, of course, be a public hearing. Premier Meighen said today that the government courted the widest publicity.

Ottawa, Oct. 19.—(By Canadian Press).—The sugar situation is to be thoroughly threshed out at tomorrow's hearing before the cabinet. There will be practically full attendance of members of the government, and several other interests besides the refiners are expected to be present. One of these which, it is stated, will prove interesting, is that of the candy makers. (Continued on Page 2, Column 7)

PROSPECTS NOW BRIGHTER FOR AMICABLE SETTLEMENT OF BRITISH MINERS' STRIKE

Meeting of Labor Leaders Leads to Belief That Negotiations Will Be Resumed—Order Maintained in All Sections—Only One Man Reported Out of Over Million—More Workmen Rendered Idle in Industries.

London, Oct. 19.—There were no new developments today in the coal strike which began last Saturday. In all the coal regions where the men have laid down their tools order was maintained by the strikers.

One feature of the situation tonight which bore possibilities of a widening of the strike was the prospect of the 25,000 London commercial road transport men ceasing work. The men on Saturday night passed a resolution declaring themselves as fully supporting the miners. A conference was to have been held today to take final action on this resolution, but the meeting was adjourned until tomorrow. Meantime, orders have been issued to branches of the union throughout the country to have their strike organizations prepared. Should the transport workers in all parts of the country walk out, it is estimated that 150,000 men would be involved.

The parliamentary debate on the coal strike tonight, altho it disappointed hopes of an immediate settlement of the dispute, nevertheless, owing to its extreme moderation and the conciliatory tone of the premier's speech, has left much brighter prospects that a settlement ere long will be found.

The premier especially emphasized that no question of amount proper would prevent the government from honestly, fearlessly and sincerely examining any project promising a settlement, the number of men unemployed directly because of the coal strike. The number, however, is growing daily.

Hopes of Mediation. While public interest was mainly centered in the commonsense debate this afternoon when the results, including the suggestion of William Bruce, that the two shillings demanded by the miners should be granted, pending the creation of a permanent wage board, and the matter reviewed by the end of the year, the Labor members of parliament held an important conference in the committee room of the house. Mr. Bruce and other members identified with the mining industry attended, and there is a general belief tonight that negotiations will speedily be resumed.

By an agreement between the board of trade and the Jockey Club, all horse racing is to be suspended for the duration of the coal strike. Sailings Suspended. Announcement was made this evening of the suspension of the sailings of nearly all the passenger steamers between England and Ireland. Examination is to be made in the cases of vessels carrying the mails. The railroads also are beginning to restrict their passenger services.

It is reported tonight that in the Middleborough iron district nearly 80,000 workmen have been rendered idle in the iron and dependent industries as a result of the coal strike.

Aside from the engineering and pump men, who are keeping the coal mines in good condition, only one man of the 1,100,000 miners was working to-day. This man appeared as usual at the pit mouth, and entered the mine and worked alone without any prospects of the fruits of his labor being brought up to the surface.

Owing to the rapidly fluctuating situation no government department is attempting to furnish statistics of

DEMAND INVESTIGATION OF ALLEGED OUTRAGES

Dublin, Oct. 19.—The Irish Dominion League today passed unanimously a resolution which was forwarded to Mr. Lloyd George and the party leaders in parliament, demanding the immediate appointment of a judicial commission of inquiry into the methods of the executive and government, civil and military, that allegations may be submitted for verification.

The resolution states that the charges include numerous atrocious and indiscriminate outrages on persons and property of citizens in large areas; murder, incendiarism and physical torture by flogging and also general terrorism.

BISHOPS CONDEMN IRISH GOVERNMENT

Catholic Prelates of Ireland Sign Resolution Against Oppressive Measures.

Dublin, Oct. 19.—The Irish Catholic bishops met today at Maynooth with Cardinal Logue presiding over them, and the entire hierarchy signed a strong resolution denouncing "terrorism, partiality and failure as characteristics of the present Irish government."

The bishops recall in the resolution that "when the country was crimeless," the bishops warned the government against oppressive measures. They declare "it is not a question of hasty reprisals but of indiscriminate hate of savages, deliberately wreaked on the whole countryside, without any proof of complicity in crime, by those ostensibly employed to protect lives and property."

The resolution declares that the press is gagged, the public meeting is interdicted, and that inquiries are suppressed. It also says there has been brutal treatment of clergymen and that the preventing of Archbishop Mannix of Australia from visiting Ireland was "one of the most unwisestep and tyrannical oppression could take."

The bishops demand a full inquiry into the situation and urge the right of Ireland to choose its own government.

LABOR TO DEPLORE IRISH REPRISALS

London, Oct. 19.—Arthur Henderson, the labor leader, will present in the house of commons tomorrow a motion of the Labor party regretting "the state of lawlessness in Ireland, and the lack of discipline of armed forces, which resulted in the death of innocent citizens and the destruction of property."

The motion will express the opinion that an immediate investigation should immediately be instituted into the causes, nature and extent of the reprisals.

OUTRAGES REPORTED BY BLACK AND TANS IN MANY SECTIONS

Man Said to Have Been Called to His Door and Shot Dead.

FARMER'S SONS KILLED

Dublin, Oct. 19.—A report from Ballygar, County Galway, says that a party of "black and tan police" searched the district Monday night in connection with the murder of a member of the constabulary. He reported to have called a man named Patrick Boyle to his door, where he was shot dead by masked men.

At Bansha, County Tipperary, two sons of a farmer named Dwyer, alleged to have been associated with the Sinn Fein and volunteer movement, last night were taken from their house to the farm yard and shot. The shooting is said to have been done by a party of uniformed men, who later discharged a volley of shots into the bedroom of the house.

The populace of Drogheda was thrown into a state of excitement at three o'clock this morning by repeated volleys from rifles fired by "black and tans" who arrived in military motors. During the shooting one civilian was wounded and a number of windows were broken. Several raids were made by the invaders, and eight men were arrested.

COMMONS DISCUSSES COAL STRIKE CRISIS

Miners' Representative Suggests Temporary Granting of Demands—Lloyd George Points Out That It Would Involve Another Strike at End of Year—Government Anxious to Find Suitable Scheme.

London, Oct. 19.—The house of commons tonight discussed the coal strike with great moderation and an absence of vindictiveness, but the government at a nearer prospect of a settlement Mr. Lloyd George explained his unemployment scheme as he outlined it yesterday to a deputational which visited him, but added little to his previous statement except that the scheme would embrace the building of new arterial roads around London.

The premier contributed nothing to the coal discussion, which was largely confined to the Labor members. The latter emphasized the urgency of arriving at a settlement before the dispute grew to grave proportions.

Sir Robert Home, president of the board of trade, repeated the government was open to every form of suggestion by which a peaceful solution of this great question could be obtained. He appealed to the house to keep all bitterness out of the debate, saying the problem was to be solved not by denunciation but by goodwill and common sense.

He reviewed the attempts at a settlement with the miners, and drew a

CHARGE OF MURDER DENIED BY LARSEN

Jury Likely to Return Verdict in Shooting Case This Afternoon.

Brampton, Ont., Oct. 19.—The fate of Frank Larsen, on trial here before Chief Justice R. M. Meredith on the charge of having murdered his brother-in-law, James Davidson, on March 3rd last at Cookville, will probably be decided tomorrow. Practically all the evidence in the case was taken today, and at the resumption of court at 9:30 o'clock in the morning, counsel for both sides will sum up. Larsen has pleaded not guilty. The case is expected to be in the hands of the jury in the early afternoon.

Joseph Larsen, a brother of the accused, testified to having brought whiskey to the Larsen home in Cookville on the morning of March 3, to a party of four, consisting of Frank Larsen, Davidson, himself, and his father, Nelson Larsen. Two drinks each of rye, taken straight, put the party in a hilarious state. Frank Larsen and Davidson, Joseph testified, talked about shooting. They laughed and made plans for a hunting trip that afternoon.

Requiescat statement. Crown Counsel McKown reminded the witness that he had signed a statement made to Provincial Inspector Miller, which said there had been some argument between Frank Larsen and Davidson before the shooting. J. Larsen today denied the truth of that statement. "I signed the statement," he said, "but I was misled. There are some mistakes."

Dr. A. H. McFadden stated he had received a professional call to Nelson Larsen's house about three o'clock in the afternoon, on March 3. There, he stated, he found a man dead from gunshot wounds, and that the man had been dead about two hours.

Constable William Copeland testified that Frank Larsen had threatened to kill him when he arrested the defendant, Cleveland Harris, who was near Copeland at the time of the arrest, said that Frank Larsen had complained to him, saying: "You never see a Protestant and a Catholic marry but in trouble." It was reported the Larsens were Roman Catholics and the Davidsons Protestant.

Mrs. James Davidson, widow of the man killed, testified that so far as she knew, her late husband and the prisoner, her brother, had always been the best of friends and never quarrelled.

YORK RANGERS' PLANS FOR REORGANIZATION

Col. Hunter presided at a reorganization meeting of officers of the York Rangers, when committee chairmen were appointed as follows: Band, Lt.-Col. Brown; rifle, Major Sprinks; archives, Major Bennett. A special committee will design a new regimental badge.

RENFREW GOES OVER IN NAVY LEAGUE DRIVE

The town of Renfrew is the first to go over the top in the campaign of the Navy League of Canada to raise $750,000 this week. The town was asked for $500, but the committee voluntarily raised this amount three times to $1,500. A telegram was received at the Ontario headquarters stating that the whole amount had been taken up and granted out of the patriotic funds. Reports will commence today, but to date approximately $25,000 has been subscribed from various quarters.

That's the spirit that we know will produce good service. We count on your friendly co-operation.

LOOK FOR REDUCTION IN PRICE OF MILK

The reduction of the price of feed may likely have an effect on the price of milk. Bran a month ago sold for $52 per ton, and is now selling for $49 a ton, while shorts dropped from $31 to $45.

CHARGED WITH THEFT OF RAILWAY TICKETS

In the sessions yesterday before Judge Coatsworth, four men were charged with a series of thefts of C.P.R. railway tickets, for the Toronto and Hamilton trip. The first, Sigmund Shiffman, a Hamilton dry goods merchant, is alleged to have misused 405 tickets. There are four charges against him.

PARKS MAINTENANCE FOR MILL RATE BASIS

Council will be asked by the parks committee to put parks maintenance on a mill rate basis, instead of calling for estimates and making advances piecemeal, as in the past.

CONSTABLE EXONERATED

Cleared on a charge of keeping a common betting house, P.C. Ira Penock, suspended while the case was pending, returned to duty within a few minutes of the time of his discharge in the police court yesterday. The case excited unusual interest because, with the exception of Arthur Richardson, a young liquor detective, the evidence against the constable was given by Constables Grosz and Pickering and Inspector Mackie.

WHEAT CONTROL DECISION BEFORE MEIGHEN LEAVES

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 19.—(By Canadian Press)—There has not yet been any decision by the cabinet in the matter of wheat control, according to one of the cabinet ministers, who stated tonight that the question was not brought before the cabinet council at its meeting today. It is expected that there will be a decision on wheat control before the departure of Premier Meighen for the west.

PROSPECT BETTER IN COAL STRIKE

All rumors of intervention by other unions and the government between the miners and the coal operators are untrue at the present, and the labor spokesman declared no union, nor any combination of unions, is likely to interfere without an invitation from the miners, which they say will not be given at present.

The first untoward incident directly connected with the coal strike occurred at Tonypandy, in the night of Oct. 18, when some young colliers collected and started to sing the "Red Flag," causing the police to intervene. Some stone-throwing occurred, but the crowd dispersed upon appeals by the police, although later windows in police stations were smashed.

The incident, while a small one, has been taken by many as indices of the temper of the miners in this section, which observers of conditions report is a hotbed of extremists, who are determined to fight to a finish.

Pointed Statements at Child-Welfare Conference—High Prices Affect Faces.

Ottawa, Oct. 19.—At this afternoon's session of the Dominion conference on child welfare being held here, E. S. MacPhail, chief of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, demography division, gave figures showing that wages and prices had a deal to do with infant mortality in congested laboring centres. He stated that figures obtained showed that where wages were low infant mortality was highest.

When asked yesterday whether the Ontario Milk and Cream Producers' Association would take any action as a result of this, E. H. Stonehouse, president, replied, "The office of the association is dealing with the situation. A meeting of the executive will be held to consider the whole question."

President Howard Kelly of the Grand Trunk Railway inspected the new union station during his visit to Toronto, but would not express an opinion as to when the building would be opened for traffic.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH

"Accidental death" was the verdict given last night by a coroner's jury in the case of Arthur Burn, killed in an elevator shaft in O'Keefe's brewery.

The lad had apparently lifted the semi-automatic gates and had stepped on the cross-bar in the shaft to pull the cable to start the freight elevator up to the floor he was on, when he was hit by the descending cage while waiting. He was first caught by Joseph Casey, electrician, with the weights resting on his shoulders.

PICTURE MAY BE SHOWN

Hon. Peter Smith, provincial treasurer, has lifted the ban on the picture, "Open Your Eyes," which was prohibited by Premier Drury during his absence did not approve the picture, but his colleague, on the other hand, sees nothing objectionable in it, and as he is the final arbiter, the film will be allowed.

Quarrelled With the Doctor, MacSwiney is Exhausted

London, Oct. 19.—A bulletin issued at 9 o'clock this evening by the Irish Self-Determination League, concerning the condition of Lord Mayor MacSwiney, says:

"Lord Mayor MacSwiney passed a restless day. The doctor again summoned and urged him strongly to take lime juice against the scurvy. This led to an altercation which exhausted the patient and left him charged in the police court yesterday. The case excited unusual interest because, with the exception of Arthur Richardson, a young liquor detective, the evidence against the constable was given by Constables Grosz and Pickering and Inspector Mackie."

At a given signal each shift took up the yell when the other left off. One man possessed a loud whistle that could be heard a mile away.

This morning the prisoners were given no breakfast nor dinner, and this attempt to starve them into submission only made the noise worse, and it continued through the day.

The warden and officials were absolutely helpless to deal with the situation. As soon as the guards approached the riotous cell wings their presence was known and there was not a sound, and as it was necessary to catch an offender in the act in order to meet out punishment by confinement in the dungeons, the efforts of the guards were fruitless. It is said that the guards are secretly checking over the whole affair.

Florida Long Flies. Kingston, Ont. 19.—(By Can. ITALIAN ANARCHISTS PLANNING ATTACK

Milan, Italy, Oct. 19.—Police have gathered evidence demonstrating that the anarchists have been planning a series of terrorist attacks on different public places here. About one hundred and eighty anarchists have been arrested.

Quebec, Oct. 19.—(By Canadian Press)—It was announced here yesterday that a second delegation of Mennonites from the province of Manitoba will visit the next week on their way to visit the international settlement. It is expected that after this inspection the government will be officially notified regarding the decision of the Mennonites relative to settling in this province.

(Continued From Page 1). could be distinctly heard in the city. Sunday there was scarcely any let up. The men went to chapel in the morning and were served their meals, but they were no sooner back in their cells than the racket began all over again.

Immates Receive Signals. Every effort was made to catch individuals in the act, in order to make an example of them. The day guards were called back to duty, and all frisks were stopped. At a given signal each shift took up the yell when the other left off. One man possessed a loud whistle that could be heard a mile away.

This morning the prisoners were given no breakfast nor dinner, and this attempt to starve them into submission only made the noise worse, and it continued through the day.

The warden and officials were absolutely helpless to deal with the situation. As soon as the guards approached the riotous cell wings their presence was known and there was not a sound, and as it was necessary to catch an offender in the act in order to meet out punishment by confinement in the dungeons, the efforts of the guards were fruitless. It is said that the guards are secretly checking over the whole affair.

Florida Long Flies. Kingston, Ont. 19.—(By Can. Press.)—The whole situation in the penitentiary may be realized by several simple statements, and one that reads: "The guards and keepers are now of 24-hour duty and work no matter what is done, that in the deadly pair of scissors was flourished by a convict, and the mob made threats against certain officials if they appeared."

ACCUSED OF INCONSISTENCY

Montreal, Oct. 19.—A determined effort is to be made by the federal government to have the sugar difficulty finally settled at the meeting which takes place in Ottawa tomorrow, according to a letter received by D. S. Kerr, C.A., of Kerr, Arthur Meighen, and signed by Premier Meighen. This letter is in reply to a communication sent by Mr. Kerr to the premier on Friday last, in which the latter was charged with inconsistency in certain of their statements. Mr. Kerr particularly alleged that the statement of referees being overclouded with sugar as a result of the embargo on export is not consistent with statements made by referees at various board of commerce hearings earlier in the year, when he maintained referees opposed the removal of the embargo, and suggested that its removal would leave them short of sugar to meet the demand for home consumption.

Good Advice to a Dyspeptic

Give the Stomach Help to Digest Food and to Offset the Tendency to Acidity. Use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

The wholesale advice to starve your way to stomach health is mighty poor judgment. Only the most robust constitution can stand such a strain. If you cannot eat, if what you eat sour, if your indigestions follow certain foods that cause heartburn, sour stomach, or gasiness try Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. And if there is a feeling as if your stomach had turned into concrete, these tablets help digest the food and thus bring relief. Many physicians write "Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets as directed" on a prescription blank when patients are distressed with frequent attacks of indigestion. They furnish the alkaline effect to offset acidity of the stomach and also permeate the food to aid intestinal digestion of starchy foods. Get a 60-cent box at any drug store, eat what you enjoy, take a tablet or two after meals and thus avoid the distress due to indigestion or dyspepsia.

GIVE WELCOME TO CATHOLIC VISITOR

Apostolic Delegate Arrives for Archbishop's Silver Jubilee Celebrations.

Eccelesastical ceremonies in connection with the silver jubilee of His Grace Archbishop McNeil, were inaugurated last night when official reception was given His Excellency Most Rev. Pietro de Maria, D.D., the apostolic delegate, and an address read on behalf of priests and people by the archbishop. In coming to Toronto to take part in the celebrations of the jubilee, his excellency made his first visit to the city, giving the event double significance, a fact recognized by the great concourse of citizens that filled the cathedral to take part in the welcome to him and to receive his benediction.

Never did St. Michael's wear a more festive appearance than last night, when hung with decorations of yellow and white—the papal colors—with pennants bearing the armorial bearings of the archdiocese, and the beautiful pyrotechnic displays, tapers, flowers and colored lights—the whole formed a suggestive setting for the impressive and solemn ceremonies and services of the jubilee. A procession of ecclesiastics, some two hundred in number, emerged from the sanctuary and preceded by Processional Cross and acolytes proceeded down the wide aisle to the main entrance where the delegate was formally received by the archbishop. Returning to the sanctuary, the delegate was led to the throne, canopied in crimson velvet and gold, and here he received the obeisance of the bishops and priests who in turn knelt to take his hand and the ring.

On behalf of priests and laity and in his own name, Archbishop McNeil assured his excellency of his obedience and devotion of all in the Holy See, as represented by his excellency.

In replying, his excellency, who spoke in English, tho with a pronounced accent, brought a message from His Holiness and referred to the great work of the archbishop in the diocese where he had ministered as chief pastor.—St. George's, Newfoundland, Vancouver and Toronto. In closing his excellency presented the archbishop with an autographed letter from the Pope.

During the benediction of the blessed sacrament the sanctuary presented an impressive picture, the crimson and gold vestments of the officiating prelate and priests being rich in the extreme. His excellency gave the benediction, assisted by Very Rev. Dean Hand of Toronto and Very Rev. Dean Morris of St. Catharines. The music was sung by a large choir from St. Augustine's Seminary. The cadets from De La Salle formed a guard of honor to his excellency and to the archbishop during the processions. A solemn pontifical mass was sung at ten-thirty this morning in the cathedral, when his grace the archbishop will be the celebrant.

TO GET FACTS IN TIMBER INQUIRY

searching for the truth of the fact," said the justice.

"I personally am not satisfied with the present state of affairs," said Mr. Justice Riddell, in discussing the relationship of the privy council to Canadian jurisprudence. "I am not satisfied because it makes a distinction between the King's subjects in the British Isles and the King's subjects in other dominions."

"The main question is: Is the system working? If it is, until we get something better for God's sake hold on to what we have!"

League of Nations. Coming to the status of the league of nations, Justice Riddell said: "What I am anxious about is that league of nations which has existed for 100 years—highest and broadest sense of these terms, Ex-Controller McCarthy presided, and among the speakers of the evening were the premier; Ben Spoor, M.P. for Bishop Auckland, Durham; William Ward, president of the brotherhood; Thomas Howell, world commissioner for the brotherhood; Rev. Tom Sykes, general secretary; Rev. Dr. Williams, and last, but by no means least, Dr. Lily Heber of Christchurch, New Zealand. The speakers of the evening were Rev. Canon Plumtree, Hon. W. E. Rancey, attorney-general for Ontario; the commissioner, Richard of the Salvation Army, Rev. Canon Cayley and many other distinguished divines and laymen of Europe and Toronto.

Premier Drury emphasized the work of the brotherhood as purging the world generally of those elements in society and politics which aimed to create practical fights and unnecessary disturbances for no other purpose than to express undesirable angles of bigotry and intolerance in all fields of endeavor.

In his address, William Ward, president of the brotherhood, stated that members of the hierarchy of brotherhood, mentioning Premiers Lloyd George, Venetian, Jan Smuts, Sir Robert Borden and many others.

STRONGLY OPPOSE DEEP WATERWAY

United States into building a waterway for Canada," he said.

Public Service Commissioner Lewis Nixon asserted, "It would seem the benefits of this project are entirely assumed. Taking cognizance of the strong support it has in fifteen western states, he thought 'many cities are dreaming of being ocean ports,' naming Duluth and Chicago as two of them. He predicted at least twenty locks would have to be built on the lakes, and pointed to the slow time that the boats would make compared to a trip to an Atlantic port. He also continued the argument of other speakers that the route would be closed half of each year because of ice, fogs and other hazards.

Says Route is Dangerous.
This line of opposition was supported by a sea captain, M. N. Proctor, who, in view of his many difficulties in piloting vessels thru the St. Lawrence and the Great Lakes. He described the river as "one of the worst places in the world to navigate," and characterized the project as "impractical." Others spoke of it as "Utopian."

The higher insurance placed on cargoes thru the route was discussed by C. Elder, marine underwriter.

New York commercial and steamship organizations are against the project, not because they are "selfish," but because they do not desire western states to saddle upon the people of New York state twenty-five per cent of the cost of the proposition, severally speakers said. They pointed out that New York State taxpayers turn into the national treasury $150 per capita, while those in the fifteen western states represented by the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater Association, furnish $50 per capita of the federal income.

Much of the cargoes which would be furnished ships in the proposed route could more easily come thru the barge canal, on which New York state had spent almost $150,000,000, and the expedition of this movement would more strongly be assured soon with the expenditure of $100,000,000 in improving New York's harbor and dock facilities, it was asserted in a paper by Charles H. Chadwick, commissioner of the New York board of water supply, which was read at the hearing.

After Mr. George's speech, a cabinet council was held to consider the situation. "Hence it was late when Premier Lloyd George rose to reply, he began by complimenting the house on the moderation and absence of the bitterness with which the question has been discussed. He then referred to Mr. Brace's suggestion, which he complained was in many respects obscure. He said if a settlement was to be attained it must be on something more definite, which would not merely postpone the dispute to the future and sow the seeds of future trouble, not only in the mining but in every other industry.

Reviewing the history of the dispute, the premier reiterated the desire of the government to listen to all arguments. He contended that any settlement should include some inducement to increase the output and lengthily criticized Mr. Brace's suggestion, arguing that if at the end of the year it was found that the output had not been increased and an attempt was made to withdraw the increase in wages, there would be a serious dispute.

The government was not entitled to keep the country in suspense all that time. The government sincerely desired to find an issue to the dispute, and was prepared to examine any scheme giving an increased output for increased remuneration.

At the conclusion of the premier's speech, discussion between Mr. Lloyd George and the labor leaders on William Adamson's proposal that the government summon a meeting of the miners executive and coal owners.

Arthur Henderson, who was chairman of the labor party in the commons for several years, thought the premier had made a more favorable moment for the question than parties together again. Mr. Lloyd George replied that he wanted to consult his colleagues and did not desire another premature conference.

BROTHERHOOD WORK IS OUTLINED

Would Commit All Races and Creeds to Idea of True Democracy.

Perhaps the keynote of last night's addresses at the banquet held at the King Edward Hotel in honor of the guests of the Toronto district of the World Brotherhood Federation, the British, Norwegian, Chinese and American delegates to the recent congress at Washington was the work of the brotherhood as an assayer of the principles of Jesus out of the gross of bigotry, religious, economic and social, which swept the world from end to end. To this factor both Premier Drury and William Ward, president of the brotherhood, paid special attention, pointing out that the aim of the great organization was the commitment of all races, all creeds, all phases of society to the ideal of tolerance, peace and brotherhood.

Ex-Controller McCarthy presided, and among the speakers of the evening were the premier; Ben Spoor, M.P. for Bishop Auckland, Durham; William Ward, president of the brotherhood; Thomas Howell, world commissioner for the brotherhood; Rev. Tom Sykes, general secretary; Rev. Dr. Williams, and last, but by no means least, Dr. Lily Heber of Christchurch, New Zealand. The speakers of the evening were Rev. Canon Plumtree, Hon. W. E. Rancey, attorney-general for Ontario; the commissioner, Richard of the Salvation Army, Rev. Canon Cayley and many other distinguished divines and laymen of Europe and Toronto.

gloomy picture of the results if the strike were to be continued, the factories throughout the country were closing, he said.

Under these conditions, would be gradually strangled, he pointed out. He called attention to the depression of the British credit abroad as a result only of the threatened strike, which amounted in the case of imports from the United States since July, he said, to nearly $250,000,000.

Other Strikes Would Follow.
It had been suggested, continued the speaker, that because the country was in this horrible trouble the miners should be given something. That, he said, might settle the strike, but if it did so others would have to be settled every three months, when once the impression got abroad that it was only necessary to threaten a strike in order to get something.

Another government action with responsibility would only give way, he declared, when it was assured that the demarcation of the coal fields was being done less would be falling in its duty.

William Brace, labor member for the Aberdeenshire district of the South Wales Miners' Federation, suggested that the two shillings the miners demanded should be granted temporarily, pending the creation of a permanent wages board, and the whole matter reviewed by the end of the year. He asserted there was evidence that the miners had purposefully restricted the output and declared that if it was to be a fight to a finish every man must be withdrawn from the mines, regardless of the damage and loss involved.

James Henry Thomas of the Railwaymen's Federation, supporting Mr. Brace's suggestion, said it was no secret that 17 days ago a special meeting of the railway delegates decided by only one vote not to strike forthwith, after he had made the utmost efforts in favor of peace. He begged the house not to purpose the danger, but to remember that the same people were meeting tomorrow, and that the spirit of the workers was such that even if they felt a mistake had been made there existed a very real comradeship which drew them together.

Lloyd George's Reply.
After Mr. George's speech, a cabinet council was held to consider the situation. "Hence it was late when Premier Lloyd George rose to reply, he began by complimenting the house on the moderation and absence of the bitterness with which the question has been discussed. He then referred to Mr. Brace's suggestion, which he complained was in many respects obscure. He said if a settlement was to be attained it must be on something more definite, which would not merely postpone the dispute to the future and sow the seeds of future trouble, not only in the mining but in every other industry.

Reviewing the history of the dispute, the premier reiterated the desire of the government to listen to all arguments. He contended that any settlement should include some inducement to increase the output and lengthily criticized Mr. Brace's suggestion, arguing that if at the end of the year it was found that the output had not been increased and an attempt was made to withdraw the increase in wages, there would be a serious dispute.

The government was not entitled to keep the country in suspense all that time. The government sincerely desired to find an issue to the dispute, and was prepared to examine any scheme giving an increased output for increased remuneration.

At the conclusion of the premier's speech, discussion between Mr. Lloyd George and the labor leaders on William Adamson's proposal that the government summon a meeting of the miners executive and coal owners.

Arthur Henderson, who was chairman of the labor party in the commons for several years, thought the premier had made a more favorable moment for the question than parties together again. Mr. Lloyd George replied that he wanted to consult his colleagues and did not desire another premature conference.

The Truth About Sugar

THE Sugar Industry of Canada is confronted with a serious situation and has appealed to the Government to come to its assistance.

Ignorance of the circumstances leading up to this situation has led many people to enter objections to the measures of relief that have been proposed.

The purpose of this statement is to put the plain facts before the people of Canada, in the belief that at heart they want to play fair and are willing to accord a square deal to everyone.

The present upheaval in the world's sugar trade has been brought about by enforced liquidation of some large stocks of raw and refined sugars held by American and Cuban interests. Its effect in Cuba, where some of the native banks have been forced to suspend payments and where the Government has put into effect a sixty-day moratorium, are of common knowledge.

A feature of the disturbance has been the dumping upon the American market of a quantity of so-called "distressed" sugar, in amount relatively unimportant to the whole supply, but sufficient, nevertheless, temporarily, to disorganize the trade.

Part of this "distressed" sugar, forced into the market under conditions of practical bankruptcy, has found its way into Canada, where it has, temporarily, upset trading conditions and made it impossible for Canadian Refineries to market their product except at a ruinous loss.

It is pertinent to observe that the low prices quoted for this "distressed" sugar now being dumped in Canada, by no means reflect the true market price in the United States. Only a day or two ago the newspapers announced that the American Sugar Refineries Company, the largest sugar refiners in the States, and who control some 40 per cent. of the production of that country, are selling sugar on the basis of 22½ cents a pound, equivalent to 25 cents in Canada, at the present rate of exchange, several cents a pound higher than that contemplated for Canada in the order made by the Board of Commerce, and since set aside.

At the present time the plants of four of the largest Canadian Refineries are closed; thousands of men are out of employment; millions of capital are temporarily inactive and unproductive.

The refineries have bought or are committed to buy raw sugars to the value of over $60,000,000. Their sales in Canada, due to the conditions before stated, are at a standstill. It follows that the financing of the raw sugar already under contract, should these conditions continue indefinitely, will be an impossible task for the refineries with all their resources. The burden will devolve upon the banks if a critical situation comparable to a panic is to be avoided.

The question naturally arises, why have the Canadian Sugar Refineries allowed this situation to develop and what justification have they for appealing for public support of their industry in this crisis?

The Refineries disclaim responsibility for the situation.

They maintain that if they had been left to shape their own course the situation, so far as they are concerned, would not have developed.

They frankly admit that had control of their business not been taken out of their hands by agents of the Government, they would now have no shadow of excuse for appealing for protection.

What are the facts?

For over a year the Board of Commerce, created by the Government, exercised absolute control over the prices at which sugar could be sold in Canada, and fixed the price, from time to time, on a basis contrary to all established commercial usages.

At the same time the Trade Commission, another agency of the Government, refused permission to the refiners to export sugar, which they might have done and thereby reduced their liabilities very materially without injury to the domestic market.

The refiners do not believe, when the situation is fully and fairly analyzed, that their request involves any serious hardship upon the Canadian public. On the contrary, taking into account the benefits the public have already enjoyed in having been enabled to purchase sugar in Canada for months at a time at a price materially lower than the price prevailing in the world's market, amounting, at times, to 10 cents or more a pound; having regard for the national interests involved in keeping the sugar industry actively operating and preventing the loss occasioned by unemployable labor and unproductive capital; considering, furthermore, the strong advisability of keeping trade within the national boundaries instead of sending it abroad where a Canadian dollar is regarded as being worth only 90 cents or less; and having regard, above all, for the very grave necessity of maintaining Canada's industrial, financial and commercial equilibrium in these trying days of world-wide readjustment, the Sugar Refineries of Canada believe that both the Government and the people will admit the justice and fairness of their position and will afford them the temporary consideration necessary to meet the situation.

Government control went farther and even prevented the resale abroad of raw sugars not necessarily needed in Canada.

Government control caused the refineries to lay in additional stocks of raw sugars after the price had advanced and when it was economically less desirable to buy.

Throughout all these transactions, the refineries vigorously protested against the invasion of their rights and frequently gave warning as to what the ultimate result would be. They were met by assurances that their rights would be fully protected.

In meeting their objections the Board of Commerce promised that the refiners would be protected in a falling market to the same extent that they had been deprived, by the Board, of their opportunity to take advantage of a rising market.

The Board of Commerce, in a ruling dated June 11, 1920, laid down this principle:—

"The Board will not recognize prices based on replacement values on a rising market. It will be its duty in good time, as it hopes, to as carefully protect the trader on a falling market by permitting him to average his cost down as it must now carefully protect the consumer in compelling the trader to average his costs up."

The present appeal of the refiners to the Government and to the Board of Commerce is merely a request for a fulfilment of the pledge thus given.

In the same judgment, as illustrating the powers of the Board, it says:—

"The Board will prohibit all refiners from selling to other than wholesalers. It will prohibit wholesalers from buying from other than refiners. It will prohibit speculators from buying or selling at all."

In other words, the Board assumed full power to control the price as well as the conditions under which sugar was marketed in Canada.

The ruling recently made by the Board and suspended by the Government, pending a further hearing, was in strict conformity with the principles the Board had laid down and is in no sense an innovation.

Sugar control and restrictions on exports were finally lifted July 1st, 1920, but with the order revoking the restrictions a letter was issued from the Department of Trade and Commerce which practically once more tied the hands of the refineries so that they were not free even then to sell their products in the world's markets, where the price was still some six cents a pound higher than the prevailing market price in Canada.

Had they been left entirely free, even at this late date, to adjust their trade to the new conditions, Canadian refiners could have sold their products abroad at a price that would have protected them against the slump which has since ensued, and enabled them to meet later conditions without serious loss. Again, they were prevented from doing so.

The actual cost of Government control to the Sugar Refineries of Canada, irrespective of the losses which now confront them in the disposal of their present stocks, is conservatively estimated at from twenty to twenty-five million dollars.

The refiners have facts and figures to prove that their losses, if compelled to sell in competition with "distressed" sugar dumped into Canada from the States, will run into many additional millions.

The sugar refineries are in a different position from any other class of manufacturers in Canada, whose products have not been under Government control, and who have not been denied the right to a free market.

CANNOT INTERRUPT CHOIR REHEARSALS

Minor Pleasures of Mendelssohn Singers Give Way to Major Enjoyment.

BY J. E. MIDDLETON
From now until April it will be useless to invite any member of the Mendelssohn Choir anywhere on a Tuesday evening. Acceptance will be prevented by a previous engagement. The chorus rehearses on Tuesdays, and nothing else matters. Prima donnas may come to Massey Hall, pianists may play bridge parties and dinner dances may be arranged, but these minor pleasures are neglected for the major pleasure of singing the noblest music under competent direction.

What do you do at a rehearsal? "What is it like?" Such questions from the green outsider may always be expected. Usually the hardened chorister, realizing the difficulty of making the outsider understand, merely smiles and answers: "We sing." Occasionally a persistent outsider says: "Aren't you all good musicians? Well, then, why does it take you six months to learn the notes?"

Of course, the answer is: "It doesn't." Learning the notes is a simple process. That done, it is necessary to correct the voice, to produce, to make sure of the exact intonation, to learn to pronounce the words musically; that is, with instantaneous consonants and with perfectly-built vowel tones. It is necessary to appreciate the phrasing and the "elocution" of the poem, to learn the intention of the composer as to expression, and to follow the conductor's beat as intently as a fencer follows an ant across the floor. All this takes time and gives the chorister much enjoyment.

Mr. Fricker, the conductor, is a well-spring of energy. He is a stickler for discipline, but he has the faculty of enforcing it without bluster. Indeed, he is never so cheerful as when fashioning some neat bit of happy satire for the correction of a late-comer. Sometimes, in one of the sections, a D flat may be sung instead of a D natural. Then, with eyebrows raised, the conductor will probably remark, in tones of sweetness and light: "Ah, a difference of opinion."

Miss Goodman, the accompanist at the pipe organ, is thoroughly competent, and her work is of great assistance to the chorus, but when some difficult "fill" appears in the score it is not uncommon for her to sit down at the grand piano beside her to analyze chords and trace themes.

Mr. Fricker is an enthusiast, and enthusiasm is always contagious. For that reason the singers find it coming all too soon. For that reason, the Tuesday evening rehearsal is for them always "a previous engagement."

TRANS-CANADA FLIGHT PLEASES AIR BOARD

Ottawa, Oct. 19.—(By Canadian Press)—Officials of the air board in Ottawa are more than satisfied with the showing made by Canadian aviators in the recent trans-Canada flight from Halifax to Vancouver. Hon. G. C. Ballantyne, acting chairman of the air board, said today: "The trans-Canada flight has served a very useful purpose and if its completion had not been delayed in the mountains by adverse weather conditions would have been strikingly successful."

He said the actual flying time between Halifax and Vancouver, total distance of 3,410 miles, over Canadian territory through, was only 45 hours and 20 minutes.

OFFERS ADVICE TO CANADIAN PAPERS

Visiting Journalist Learns Much During Short Stay in the Dominion.

In contrast to the large gatherings a lecture before the Canadian Club members usually draws, there was a very sparse attendance at the King Edward yesterday to listen to Harry Whitehorn, who, in his address, described himself as a free lance journalist, connected with The Westminster Gazette of London, England, and took for his subject "The Spirit of the British Press."

Mr. Whitehorn's address may be of some educational value, but it is doubtful if it will alter the make-up, the headlines or the general conducting of the Canadian daily press. The contentment of the lecturer, that journalists were bound to write their reports to order or lose their jobs is fantastic. So far as Toronto papers are concerned, it is nonsense. A reporter reports, and that ends the matter so far as he is concerned.

Mr. Whitehorn must have come across some peculiar types of newspaper men, since he honored Canada by his presence, for he declared that in Canada there was a deliberate suppression of the real news, and the magnifying of some subsidiary item for some petty purpose that marks down the time-serving journalist. In saying that, Mr. Whitehorn must have been thinking of the Fleet street "lend-me-half-a-dollar brigade"—the type does not exist in Toronto.

Thru his whole address, Mr. Whitehorn took Sir Harold Spender as his master and guide, and he could not have selected any better type of journalist, but it is very doubtful if Sir Harold would have endorsed many of the lecturer's opinions on the spirit of the press.

Mr. Whitehorn might in his lecture have dealt with some of the troubles of a reporter. It is not an infrequent occurrence for a speaker who has been indiscreet in some remarks, to deny, when he sees them in cold print, that he ever made them, and complains to the editor of the paper that he was not correctly reported. Mr. Whitehorn, in his lengthy journalistic experience, must have suffered from this type of speaker, and it would have been a kindly act of brotherhood to have included such speakers in his address, and held them up to the light of day.

Canada's Great New Oil Field.

We believe from the statement in today's World, made by Mr. Stillman of the Imperial Oil Company of Toronto, that the explorers of the company have made a successful strike for oil on the Mackenzie River near Fort Norman, in our own Northwest Territories, and that it is only the first strike into a great new field of petroleum in Canada.

If the field proves to be extensive—and all the signs that suggested boring near Fort Norman occur in many other directions in the Mackenzie district—Canada may be about to get great stores of oil on the list of her most valuable resources.

It will be a source of wealth to those who develop the wells, and we hope it may be an enormous source of revenue to the Dominion.

The Mackenzie district is in the Northwest Territories, not in any organized province, and therefore absolutely owned and controlled by the federal authorities. Nor will any franchises or leases be granted or allowed to be granted except on a royalty basis on the output, and that the people of Canada are allowed to buy the output at a fair price.

Never again must so valuable a deposit of an essential staple be allowed to pass into private ownership. Premier McPherson has a full knowledge of the situation, and has been preparing for such a public policy as above indicated.

But let all the world rush in to locate and work these oil fields, but only on the nation's terms. No alienation of the property like what has happened in many other oil fields in the rest of the world.

The news of this discovery will attract widespread interest in the United States, where a further and sure supply of petroleum is the first requirement of the day. Two-thirds of the annual total output of petroleum of the entire world is consumed in the United States, and as their total home supply is about eight, and likely from now on to be steadily exhausted, the government and people of the States, are, like the British, but with less ability, bent on getting a hand in the control of the oil reserves of other countries, notably Mexico. But even here England is ahead of her, as she is in many other fields.

Let Canada be first and last in her own fields from now on. But we will treat our neighbors fair with our oil, as they have been handsome to us with their stores of coal.

The British Strike Affects All Business Adversely.

To some of us the strike of the British miners is but a passing incident in the industrial after-the-war disturbance. It is, however, of vital importance to Canada and every other country in the world trading with Britain. The British markets are the great centre for the grains and raw materials of the world, sent there either for consumption or for manufacture. The dislocation brought about in Britain by the strike, especially if prolonged, means that international trade will be seriously interfered with, and in this connection is involved the exchange rate between London and New York on this continent. Since the announcement of the strike ten cents, the pound being down yesterday to near $3.40. This is the lowest price since early in the year, the actual low made since the international arrangement for the stabilizing of exchange was taken off being $3.19.

This fall in exchange means that to get the British market commodities in Canada and the United States have to meet this drop; and on the Winnipeg and Chicago exchanges yesterday grain futures declined materially. The fall in the rate of sterling exchange also has its influence on securities which are marketed either in Canada or in the United States. These securities are necessarily lowered as the price in London is lowered by the drop in the exchange. Consequently there has been a decline in such stocks as C.P.R., Brazilian, and many of the American securities which have been held for years in England as investments. The whole matter goes to show how closely related in the matter of finance and business is every section of the world, and that disturbances of any moment at any one point are quickly reflected in every section of the civilized world.

Remark in Passing.

As the price of women's skirts is growing lower the skirts themselves seem to be getting higher.

GREAT OIL STRIKE IN THE FAR NORTH

reloading on barges again. This precludes bringing oil up the river in any quantities until more adequate transportation facilities are provided.

Pipe Line Costly.

The modern scientific method of transporting oil from remote oil fields to the nearest railroad points is by pipe line. It would be necessary to demonstrate by actual drilling and production that there was a sufficient quantity of oil to justify the laying of a pipe line, which, in itself, would probably cost $50,000,000.

Extremes Cold, Handicap.

"There is another important element which militates very much against the commercializing of any oil found in this territory, that is, the extreme cold, which makes the rivers navigable for only three or four months of the year. The strike holds this Arctic region almost entirely inaccessible, and it will require great study before any means can be devised of getting the oil to the coast from other centres of production."

"Biggest in World."

The Canadian Press yesterday carried the following despatch from Edmonton: "A program of big oil development in the north country is likely to be started as the result of information sent from the Edmonton office of the Imperial Oil Company, confirming the news that a real strike had been made at Fort Norman in the latter part of August.

T. A. Link, geologist, in charge of the experimental work in the far north this summer, has reached the city, bringing with him the first inside official news of the big strike made by the drillers at Fort Norman in the latter part of August.

The biggest oil field in the world is what has now been opened in the north according to Mr. Link's story. It stretches all the way from Fort Norman to the Arctic coast, and the explorer, Stefansson, was camped on the far end of the same oil vein when he was on Victoria Island. The present experimentation has absolutely proven the existence of an enormous body of oil-bearing rock in the Mackenzie River territory, compared to which Mexico and Peru are like miniature oases.

The oil is said to be of a high grade, with a particularly high content of gasoline. The strike was made at a depth of about 500 feet in the same hole from which the seepage oil, reported earlier in the summer, was taken some sixty to seventy feet. The well is forty miles north of Fort Norman, and 200 yards from the river bank.

Other Finds Likely.

It will be seen in connection with these various statements, and especially that of Mr. Stillman, that the strike has all the indications of a very big deposit of petroleum in a distant portion of the Dominion, but one which is likely to be made accessible in a very short time by a pipe line or railway perhaps, or by an ocean port on the Arctic as the circumstances may suggest. There is also very fair reason for the opinion that if there is a great big deposit at Fort Norman many other finds will be made in the Mackenzie district, and explorers and quite a number of boring outfits will, no doubt, start for this new field at the opening of the next season's navigation.

The World was told yesterday that the Imperial Oil Company or its associate, the Standard Oil Company, would be quite willing to build a pipe line or even a railway from Peace River to Fort Norman where the great oil basin is located. This line could be built in a short time, or it could be partly built and the navigation of certain rivers linked therewith, making a line between Edmonton and Fort Norman.

Toronto Syndicate Active.

It is also known that a syndicate of Toronto men have had several prospecting parties out during the past summer, more or less on the trail of the Imperial Oil Co.'s operations, and that encouraging reports have been received by this syndicate from these men. A Toronto man identified with this syndicate yesterday that their explorers had already reported indications of oil seen at many points on the Mackenzie River territory. Another man connected with the Imperial Oil Company said they would be only too glad to hear from anyone confirmation of the story of the immense size of the oil pools in the Fort Norman district.

THE HOUSE 'ROUND THE CORNER

By GORDON HOLMES

The older man told the journalist that Lady Hutton was giving a special prize for honey at the next agricultural show; that had had been a bumper crop in the district; and that mangel wurzel was distinctly falling out of favor, items of an interest to Nuttonby readers that far transcended the clash of empires in the Balkans. Banks was going, when the son said quietly:

"By the way, you might like to mention that a Mr. Robert Armathwaite, a relative of the former occupants, has rented the Grange, Elm Dale, probably for a period of twelve months."

"A relative of the Garths, Jim—I didn't know that!" exclaimed his father.

"It's right enough. Meg Garth herself told me."

"Meg Garth! Is she here?"

"She's at the Grange. Tom Bland told me she was there, so after calling about those cattle at Bellerby today, I drove on to Elm Dale and saw her."

"Well, of all the surprising things! Then, Mr. Armathwaite must have known about the house when he came in yesterday?"

"Yesterday! While the three men were gazing at each other in the Walkers' office, Armathwaite and Marguerite Ogilvie were escorting Percy Whittaker down the moor road, and even why James Walker, junior, little guessed what a whirlwind had entrapped the new tenant of the Grange since, as the older Walker had put it, "he came in yesterday."

"No, I'm jiggered if he did," cried the younger man viciously. "Armthwaite had never heard the name of the place before we mentioned it. I'll swear that in any court of law in the land."

"And I'd bear you out," agreed his father. "Not that I can see any reason why it should come into court. He paid up promptly, and we have nothing to bother about until the next quarter is due."

"I'm not so sure of that," was the well-calculated answer.

"What are you driving at, Jim?"

"This. He's no more Meg Garth's cousin than I am. There's some queer game being played, and I'm a Dutchman if there isn't a row about it. I tell you, Meg Garth is there, alone, and when I met her, she calmly informed me that her father was alive. She nearly jumped down my throat because I said he wasn't, and that fellow, Armthwaite took her part. The Jacksons, too, mother and daughter, are mixed up in it somehow. 'There is a vast difference between enjoying abounding health and being "not very well." Many people do not realize that good health depends largely upon their diet. They eat the wrong foods, drink the wrong beverages, and wonder why they are always "not very well." Milk is the most beneficial drink in the world. It is easily digested and helps to digest other foods. It contains in balanced proportion all the elements which promote growth—vitamines, protein, carbohydrate and mineral. Farmers' Dairy Milk is pure and fresh and rich. It comes from Ontario's finest farms, and in the wonder dairy of the continent it is pasteurized by the best equipment science has devised.'

Atlanta, Georgia, Oct. 19.—Peter Manning, the world record-holder for three heats in his division, had things all his own way in the 2 1/4 class trotting contest, which was the feature event on the Grand Circuit card at Lake Wood today, winning first money in the $2,600 stake race in straight heats, piloted by Stokes.

WAR NOT WANTED, SAYS J. HEYDLER

It Will Be the Others That Will Start Any Trouble.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—If the action of eleven major league baseball club owners last night in going on record as favoring abrogation of the national agreement, which governs professional leagues, results in a baseball war, the responsibility will rest with the five American league clubs which have not yet signed their intention of taking part in the proposed reorganization of control of the National League said tonight in a statement.

The eight National League clubs and the three American League clubs—New York, Chicago and Boston—did not declare war when they advocated control, not financially interested in the game, that were making a declaration, of principle in order to save the game. Mr. Heydler said.

Probability of a baseball war is freely discussed by baseball men here today, many of them called to testify before the grand jury investigating the baseball scandal. While President B. B. Johnston of the American League refused to be interviewed, friends of his declared an agreement that they will stick together and form a 12-club league if the President Johnson do not join them in the reorganization plans. An ultimatum was issued giving the five clubs until November 11 to make known their decision.

WAR NOT WANTED, SAYS J. HEYDLER

It Will Be the Others That Will Start Any Trouble.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—If the action of eleven major league baseball club owners last night in going on record as favoring abrogation of the national agreement, which governs professional leagues, results in a baseball war, the responsibility will rest with the five American league clubs which have not yet signed their intention of taking part in the proposed reorganization of control of the National League said tonight in a statement.

The eight National League clubs and the three American League clubs—New York, Chicago and Boston—did not declare war when they advocated control, not financially interested in the game, that were making a declaration, of principle in order to save the game. Mr. Heydler said.

Probability of a baseball war is freely discussed by baseball men here today, many of them called to testify before the grand jury investigating the baseball scandal. While President B. B. Johnston of the American League refused to be interviewed, friends of his declared an agreement that they will stick together and form a 12-club league if the President Johnson do not join them in the reorganization plans. An ultimatum was issued giving the five clubs until November 11 to make known their decision.

YANKEES SET ON HAVING THE TITLE

Raise Fund to Send Pros Across.

New York, Oct. 19.—(By Gas. Press.)—If professional golfers representing the United States fail to make a good showing in the next British open golf championship, it will be the fault of The Golf Illustrated. This publication, thru its editor, J. A. Plummer, has made an appeal to the Professional Golfers' Association to raise by popular subscription enough money to send from twelve to twenty "pros" abroad in 1921. It is reasoned that there is little chance for a golfer from the United States to win the British open title when by one or two make the attempt, whereas, if a dozen or so were to attempt the task, the chances of victory would be much greater.

The eleven owners who attended yesterday's conference, however, have signed an agreement that they will stick together and form a 12-club league if the President Johnson do not join them in the reorganization plans. An ultimatum was issued giving the five clubs until November 11 to make known their decision.

OPPOSE APPROPRIATION FOR COMMERCE SCHOOL

Mayor Against Spending Money on Adjuncts—Will Ask Tenders for Live Stock Arena—Representative of City to Attend Sugar Inquiry at Ottawa—Draft Bill on Fair Rents—Oppose City Police Taken From Duties.

Opposition to the appropriation of $250,000 for the enlargement of the High School of Commerce on Shaw street was voiced by Mayor Church at the meeting of the board of control yesterday and the approval voted by the board a week ago, of both this appropriation and another of $200,000 for the east end technical school is likely to be modified on Friday when the school board's requisitions will be before the controllers.

Mayor Church said yesterday that he had learned of the intention of the trustees to devote about 65 per cent of the additional space to gymnasiums, dining and rest rooms, and the city, he claimed, had no money to spend on that sort of thing at present. At any rate, Mr. Pearce, manager of the school board, would be invited to appear on Friday before the board and explain why the mayor said that so far as he was concerned the appropriation for the new technical school would go through.

The board decided to call at once for tenders for the construction of the live stock arena on the Exhibition grounds, the tenders to be in by Nov. 16th. Plans and specifications have been prepared by City Architect Price and the cost of the building is estimated at anywhere from one million to one and a half millions. The original plan called for a million-dollar building, of which sum the city undertook to contribute $600,000, and the balance was to be raised by the live stock association and the Dominion government.

Financing necessary that the promoters would probably have to do some financing and raise extra money after the tenders are received before the contract could be let.

A large deputation from the Exhibition board and the live stock arena were on hand to urge early action by the board of control and also to inspect the plans. Mayor Church thought that 7,000 seating capacity would be too small, but President R. Fleming of the Exhibition board said that was as large as the Chicago arena, and the Chicago live stock building was seldom filled. The plans in that respect were satisfactory to the board. After the directors of the Exhibition had gone over the plans, they suggested only minor changes, chiefly pertaining to stairways and lavatories off the dining-room to be raised by the live stock association and the Dominion government.

The board of control appointed Controller Maguire to go to Ottawa as a representative of the city and attend the sugar inquiry. The demand of the refiners that they should be protected by the government against the Controller Maguire thought absurd.

Controller Gibbons pointed out that when sugar was going up the refiners explained it on the ground of shortage, and now they admit that they have $60,000,000 worth of sugar on hand. He did not believe there had been any shortage at any time in the last two years.

Mayor Church said the city had been asked by Mr. Corley, who has been engaged by the provincial government to suppress the illicit liquor traffic, to supply several of its best men to aid the provincial forces. The city, said the mayor, now has only 750 men, the same number as before the war, and with the eight-hour law in force, there were only 350 men on duty at one time. Controller Maguire dismissed the question by saying, "Let them hire Ben Spence."

The controller also thought it was peculiar that the government should be sending its raiding squad from Windsor to Toronto in race week at Windsor. It looked as though there had been a desire to give the bootleggers a free hand while the races were on.

The suggestion of P. W. Ellis, chairman of the Transportation Commission, that a piece of the township north of the Upper Canada College should be annexed by the city in order to control a possible route of a car line extension was referred to the civic officials for a report.

It was reported that the city had decided to grade the boulevard in front of city property on Avenue road, north of St. Clair, to conform to the rest of the street.

MUST BUILD ALL RADIALS PLANNED

Freight Revenues Would Decrease Otherwise, Gaby Informs Commission.

That freight revenues would decrease if the total of 325 miles of Hydro radials were not constructed, as proposed by the Hydro, and that to the extent of 20 per cent, was the opinion vouchsafed by Chief Engineer Gaby of the Hydro-Electric Commission, continuing his evidence before the investigating commission on Hydro radials at Osgoode Hall yesterday.

The witness stated that Toronto would be called upon to contribute $4,442,196 towards the construction and equipment of the Toronto and Port Credit Hydro radial line. The latest estimates for this work, he said, worked out at $5,109,578, but that figure might be enlarged upon, and the total cost of the canal was $10,000,000, depending upon conditions.

Mr. Gaby said that this line would open up comparatively new ground, and no comparison could be made as to possible results, as there were no existing Canadian electric lines with which to compare. He estimated that to operate the radial line, which would be in operation by 1925, that from 15,000 to 20,000 horsepower would be required. As to cost of power, he said that paying $9 per horsepower power could be developed for 10 per horsepower to sell at Niagara at $12.

Questioned as to the Chippawa canal scheme, Mr. Gaby said that the estimate for the canal was $10,000,000, the cost in March of this year it was $45,000,000. He did not think that the ultimate cost would be 25 per cent in excess of the present estimates, in regard to the Toronto radial line, Mr. Gaby stated that the cost would be appraised as follows: Toronto, $4,442,196; Mimico, $11,200,000; New Toronto, $1,000,000; Port Credit, $52, making the total of $16,700,000. Double-tracking as far as Mimico would make the estimated cost of construction, and as far as Long Branch $6,882,984.

Probable Freight Earnings. Answering Mr. Hellmuth as to probable freight earnings, Mr. Gaby said that the estimate for 1925 was $1,200,000, and that for 1930 it was $1,800,000. He did not know of any electric railway in the States which would furnish a basis for comparison.

Asked what the total amount in Canada under the present treaty with the United States, in regard to the Chippawa canal, Mr. Gaby said: "Between 550,000 and 600,000 will be available to the commission from Chippawa, Ontario Power, and under the contract with the Niagara Power Co."

He admitted that the Chippawa development could only produce 450,000 h.p. He further stated that the developments at the Falls were the Canadian Niagara with 100,000 h.p., 50,000 h.p. each came to the commission; the Toronto, with 125,000 h.p., and a minor quantity from railway interests.

When he arrived at Court street yesterday he was immediately recognized by Detective Waterhouse as a man who had escaped from the jail about two weeks ago. He was serving a term of one year for theft. Mara told the police that since gaining his freedom he had spent a holiday in Buffalo and had just returned to the city several days ago.

Continuing, Mr. Gaby said that the commission had made a redistribution of population figures, and that freight rates had been increased to cover under-estimates made in respect to the urban population of Ottawa, Bowmanville and Whitby. Witness made further explanations as to the estimated revenue increase in regard to the Toronto-Eastern figures, which, he said, were prepared on a basis of population of 1925, while the Toronto-St. Catharines line was based on the population in 1916. Mr. Gaby stated that the Hydro Commission had prepared the Mr. report, using the figures then available, but now in reporting to the investigating commission they had revised them. He said increased revenues had been provided for, and that the original estimates were too low, no material change in traffic being expected.

The enquiry will be resumed this morning at 10.30.

CHARGES TEACHER TALKING POLITICS

Mayor Seeks to Discipline Kimberley School Head for Alleged Criticism.

Mayor Church suggested at the meeting of the board of control yesterday that W. R. Beattie, manual training teacher at Kimberley Public School, should be disciplined for criticizing the board of control and the mayor in his classroom, but Controller Gibbons said he was for free speech.

During the action from the board, the mayor later handed the following statement to the press:

"I do not know W. R. Beattie, the manual training teacher at Kimberley Public School. I have never on any occasion attacked the teachers, but I have always supported better conditions of labor and better pay for them. I have made complaints to Chief Inspector Cowley about the remarks made by this teacher to his class, where he has been continually talking politics, instead of attending to his duties as a teacher. His remarks are a lot of impertinence, and he does the cause of the teachers more harm than good. If he would mind his own business and attend to his teaching, it would be better for the school and himself. He is only a recent arrival in the city, and knew nothing at all about what he was talking about."

"Such teachers as he is will lead to an agitation to have the question submitted to the people to disfranchise all city officials—90 per cent of whom are the owners of the city, and are getting nearly three times the amount he was paid out in the country, and he is spending all his time talking about the city and its affairs, instead of teaching. It is high time he was taught his place."

When he arrived at Court street yesterday he was immediately recognized by Detective Waterhouse as a man who had escaped from the jail about two weeks ago. He was serving a term of one year for theft. Mara told the police that since gaining his freedom he had spent a holiday in Buffalo and had just returned to the city several days ago.

Continuing, Mr. Gaby said that the commission had made a redistribution of population figures, and that freight rates had been increased to cover under-estimates made in respect to the urban population of Ottawa, Bowmanville and Whitby. # EXPECTS GRADUAL PRICE REDUCTION

Toronto Delegate to Convention Thinks Top Notch Has Been Reached.

Coal, paper and building material prices may be expected to hold to their top notch positions for some time, according to one returned Toronto delegate who attended the recent three-day convention of the National Association of Producing Agents in Chicago.

The convention was attended by about 3,000 delegates, representing all parts of the United States and most of eastern Canada.

Toronto had forty representatives in attendance, and the aggregation was declared a sensation of the convention as they took along with them Piper Reid, of the Toronto police force, who led the forty delegates in their lock-step march to each session of the gathering to the tune of the wistful bagpipes. He was dressed in full Scottish regalia.

"The consensus of opinion," said the Toronto delegate, "was that prices generally had reached their climax and that from now on a more or less steady decline might be expected, except in the case of coal, paper and building supplies."

"The coal situation is acute. While production is good and ample coal is being mined, transportation conditions in such shape that coal is not being moved in sufficient quantities to supply the demand. The paper and building material demands are still very much greater than the world supply."

The Canada representatives of the Purchasing Agents' Association of the Toronto delegate, "was that prices generally had reached their climax and that from now on a more or less steady decline might be expected, except in the case of coal, paper and building supplies."

REMOVE RESIDENTIAL RESTRICTIONS FOR BANK

Will Erect Building at Corner of Bloor and Avenue Road—Objections to Apartment House—Knitting Factory Is Also Opposed—Woma n Delegate Would "Burn Them Out"—Lively Time at Property Committee.

The property committee was stormed by deputations at their meeting yesterday, and the arguments became so heated at times that Chairman Plewman had a busy time maintaining order.

Application was made on behalf of the Home Bank of Canada for removal of the residential restrictions on the northwest corner of Bloor street and Avenue road, where it is proposed to erect a banking building. The application will be recommended to council, with the condition that the bank will undertake any time within nine months to give to the city the land necessary for the widening of Bloor street, the rounding of the corner or both.

A deputation objected to the building of an apartment house at No. 1 Foxbar road. The property commissioner had reported recommending the amendment of the residential by-law to permit the conversion of the house at No. 1 Foxbar road into an apartment. A former recommendation by the committee favoring the permit had been sent back by council.

On motion of Controller Maguire, the committee recommended that its former recommendation be rescinded. Oppose Knitting Factory. A deputation from Shaw street appeared to object to the location of a knitting factory in the rear of 339 Shaw street. The property commissioner polled the board and found three in favor and twenty-one against permitting the factory to locate there.

"I would like to see them start. I would burn them out," declared one lady member of the deputation. The factory permit will not be issued. The property committee again appeared.

RELATES GROWTH ADAMS' BUSINESS

Furniture Firm Gives Reception to Rotarians and Ladies.

The new Adams furniture store on Yonge street was the scene of a festive party last night when Robert S. Corryell, president of the company, gave a reception and entertainment to some five hundred members of the Rotary Club and their ladies.

During the evening Mr. Corryell took advantage of the opportunity to give a brief illustration of the growth of the Adams firm in Toronto. The firm was founded by C. Adams at 15 Adelaide street, in 1881. Business became so brisk that in 1883 a removal was necessary to larger premises at 247 Yonge street. The new premises quickly became too small for the rapidly expanding business, and Adams did business from this store but so great was the turnover that an alternative had to be opened up in 1901, the store on City Hall square.

Still the business increased and out of it came in the new premises, and another change of address became necessary. The Adams' Company, through a series of constant changes, bought a large tract of land on Yonge street and built their present magnificent store, a furniture store said to be second to none on the American continent. There must Mr. Corryell said the business was still making marvelous strides. In fact, counts it was found Adams had a charge account in every sixth house in Toronto—a wonderful record, which goes to show that fair trading with the public pays.

In addition to dancing, the "musical" being provided by an excellent band—an illustrated lecture on Atlantic City was given by Allen Cuthbert and much more.

Refreshments were served during the evening at separate tables and the delighted guests departed for their homes.

The long looked for demonstration of his cancer serum was made yesterday by Dr. P. J. Glover before a special committee appointed by the Academy of Medicine. This no official announcement has been made as to the results arrived at by the audience of scientific men who listened, the effects of the serum have been presented clinically, and many of the patients expressed themselves as much benefited and as having faith in results.

Dr. Glover and other physicians had little to say, yet sufficient has been learned to indicate that the discovery of the serum promises fine results. The committee was composed of H. B. Anderson, Dr. J. J. MacKenzie, Dr. W. H. Harris and Dr. J. H. McPhedran.

Among the 260 men of Centennial Methodist Church who served in the army, 24 were killed. Of these, 13 were members of the Young Men's Bible Class, now taught by Mr. E. Wilans.

A memorial tablet in honor of the 13 was unveiled by Mr. Wilans after a most impressive service. The chief speaker was Rev. J. R. Patterson, pastor of the church, who at the outset of his address, reminding the principles of sacrifice and safety first, dealt all the more eloquently and pointed when the audience remembered that the name of Mr. Patterson's eldest son was on the tablet.

Mr. Patterson, present pastor, also spoke, and the service closed with the sounding of "The Last Post." The names of the men honored here follow: N. Johnston, E. Cooper, N. Frizzell, J. D. Hunter, N. Jeffers, H. Drew, S. E. McConnell, L. McPaton, H. H. Meek, D. Naylor, E. H. Patton, C. P. Patterson, and W. Reed.

THE APPPELLATE DIVISION. The appellate division yesterday granted the appeal of Dr. H. A. Galoway, dentist, from the decision of Judge Ward, who allowed Robert Warren $180 damages for what was alleged to be poor dental work.

The appellate division sets aside the decision, holding that the dentist had done everything in his power, and that the patient had insisted on the work being done contrary to the doctor's advice.

NO. 11.

There is no politics mixed up with the C.N.R. in any shape or form, and we have had no interference from any minister of the crown at any time," said R. C. Vaughan, assistant to the president of the C.N.R., when the allegations of Wm. Varley, general organizer of the American Federation of Labor, that men had been hired in New Brunswick for election purposes, were brought to his attention. "There is absolutely nothing in it," observed Mr. Vaughan.

"When Mr. Hanna took over the position of president," Mr. Vaughan added, "he called all the executive heads, from the vice-presidents to the general superintendents, and told them they were not to allow politics to enter into the operation of the road in any way and they were so advised. He called all the heads of their respective departments and to see that their orders were carried out. Premier Meighen and other cabinet ministers have told us they supported the policy of Mr. Hanna."
