SPAIN IS WILD WITH JOY OVER THE BIRTH OF AN HEIR TO THE THRONE.

A Prince Born Somewhat Unexpectedly This Morning—Elaborate Ceremonies Attending the Event—Everybody Glad the Infant is a Boy

MADRID, May 10.—Queen Victoria gave birth today to a son, who becomes heir to the throne of Spain. The birth of the royal babe has been awaited with eager interest throughout Spain. This was intended early this morning when the first word came from the palace that the accouchement of the Queen was imminent. The news spread like wild fire and crowds flocked to the great plaza fronting the Royal Palace. The happy event had taken the capital somewhat by surprise for only yesterday evening the Queen had taken the customary drive and in professed imitation of the title of Prince of Wales, given to the eldest son of England's king. The principally of the Asturias was formerly the mountain refuge of the aboriginal inhabitants of Spain who remained there unconquered alike by the Roman and Moor. In many respects the Asturias is regarded as the cradle of the Spanish monarchy, hence the pride taken in the title of Prince of Asturias. Queen Victoria, the mother of the royal infant, was married to King Alfonso at Madrid on May 31, 1907, and the court physicians had intimated that another two weeks would pass before confinement. It was learned from the palace authorities that the Queen had been taken with the first pains of childbirth during the night. Messengers were hastily despatched to the Prime Minister and other chief court dignitaries as the advent of an heir to the throne of Spain is an event of deepest political significance. Through the morning Ministers and High Functionaries arrived at the court of the palace. Meanwhile word reached the waiting throngs that the Queen was progressing well. The doctors pronounced her condition normal and satisfactory. King Alfonso remained at the Queen's bedside.

KING ALFONSO.

At 8 o'clock in the morning the King cancelled the meeting of the council of ministers which was to have considered current state events. By 10 o'clock the high functionaries of the state and capital with many ambassadors and ministers in their court costumes had reached the palace. At noon this assemblage of the nobility and power of Spain was grouped in the royal apartments set aside for official ceremonies, awaiting with feelings of profound emotion, the announcement of the birth of the heir.

The birth of the babe occurred at 12:45. The announcement was immediately conveyed to the waiting officials and crowds outside the palace who received the glad tidings with mingled feelings of enthusiasm and emotion. That the Queen had been blessed with a son, a male heir to the throne, was no less welcome than the happy event itself.

In no monarchical country in the world is the ceremonial observed at the birth of the first offspring of the King and Queen so rigidly as in Spain, and as in Spain, and on this occasion so significant for the Bourbon dynasty, when an heir to the throne was so anxiously awaited, nothing was omitted from the courtly etiquette.

From the moment when Queen Victoria was officially announced to be approaching the period of maternity, the most careful surveillance was exercised over her in order that the hopes of the country should not run any risk of being blighted.

Several months before her accouchement she, according to Spanish Royal custom, took up her residence in Madrid to await the auspicious moment. Thence, accompanied by the King, she has undertaken from time to time pilgrimages to various holy shrines to pray for safe deliverance just as the humblest Spanish woman would do.

For quite a month preceding the auspicious event members of the proud Spanish nobility have been in daily and nightly attendance at the palace as a precaution against the unwelcome surprise of a premature birth, while the members of the Royal family have taken up their residence either in the palace itself or near at hand in the capital.

When at length Dr. Glendinning, the young English doctor, who attended the Queen, announced that the birth was a matter of only a few hours, urgent messengers were dispatched to the Prime Minister, Senor Maura, and his colleagues of the cabinet, the military Governor of Madrid, the members of the diplomatic corps, the Grandees, the Knights of the principal orders of chivalry, leading military and civil authorities, and all the ladies and gentlemen attached to the court.

The son born today to King Alfonso and Queen Victoria, will, according to a decree of the Spanish government, bear the title of Prince of The Asturias, accused of greatest splendor followed by the horror of a bomb explosion, which killed a great number of people and narrowly missed the royal coach in which their majesties were returning from church. Considerable antipathy and publicity attended the birth of the royal child at Madrid: King Alfonso, April 3, signed a decree ordering the necessary preparations for the presentation of the child to the high officers of Spain, and the diplomatic officials accredited at Madrid immediately after the birth, the decree, after naming the various officials and others to be present at the birth, said:

"As soon as the accouchement is announced as imminent, all the persons designated by the King in the decree shall be notified to come to the palace in full uniform. Immediately after the child is born the mistress of the robes shall inform the prime minister, who shall then announce to the persons present, the sex of the child, at the same time informing the captain general of Madrid and the commander of the Royal Halberds, so that they may as promptly as possible give the orders for the proper signals and salutes.

In order that the inhabitants of our city may know whether the newly born child is a prince or princess, the Spanish royal standard shall be hoisted over the palace and a salute of 21 guns fired in case it should be a prince of the Asturias, and in the event of the birth of a princess, a salute of 15 guns fired and a white flag hoisted. Should the event occur during the night either a colored lantern or a white light shall be hoisted, as the case may be.

In no monarchical country in the world is the ceremonial observed at the birth of the first offspring of the King and Queen so rigidly as in Spain, and as in Spain, and on this occasion so significant for the Bourbon dynasty, when an heir to the throne was so anxiously awaited, nothing was omitted from the courtly etiquette.

HORRIBLE CRUELITIES PRACTICED BY SOLDIERS IN GUATEMALA.

Government is Punishing by Torture and Death Many Who are Suspected of Being Unfriendly—Students to Death by Poisonous Ants

NEW ORLEANS, Ala., May 10.—Despatches from Puerto Cortes, Honduras, yesterday say: Americans arriving here report that the Guatemalan government is committing unspeakable outrages. Even women and children are not being spared. A family of ten was massacred by soldiers here Guatemala City by order of the government. Jose Olivera, a wealthy planter, incurred the enmity of the government on account of his political activity. When the soldiers went to arrest him he showed fight and they shot him to death. Every member of his family was then slain. Abies Crearco, one of Cabrera's political opponents, near Livingston, was tied to a stake in the middle of a hill of poisonous ants, his clothing was stripped from his body and the soldiers danced around his writhing form as the insects stung him to death.

The refugees report that two Americans, C. L. Lullen, of Little Rock, Ark., and Marshall Stammers, of Cincinnati, Ohio, are in jail in Guatemala City, charged with alleged complicity in a conspiracy to assassinate President Cabrera.

NEW YORK, May 10.—The longshoremen's strike, so far as it concerns the trans-Atlantic lines, gives promise of lasting some time and being a fight to a finish. The strike against the coastwise lines is settled. The settlement was a partial victory for the men for its basis was a compromise. But the deep-water steamer companies take the ground more determinedly than ever that the strikers' demands are unreasonable and that there can be no settlement so long as the men persist in them.

Whatever the attitude of and contentment of the parties to the dispute the congestion of the freight is becoming enormous and the commerce of the port is being endangered. Instances of the crippling effect of the strike are becoming numerous. One steamer which got away yesterday carried insufficient coal in her bunkers. It is said, to carry her to Naples and she will have to run down to Philadelphia to have her bunkers filled. Another, a freighter, which plies between here and Mediterranean ports, had brought over tons of cases of Italian wine.

She sailed for Italy yesterday carrying that half of her cargo back again. The importers will be forced to wait until she returns before they can get their goods.

SAN ANTONIO, May 10.—A special to the Express from Orizaba, Mexico, says: The strike situation here has grown more acute. The number of strikers has been augmented and now reaches nearly 12,000 and the tendency to violence is more marked.

The official forces and those of the burates have also been increased. All hope of immediate arbitration has been abandoned and much apprehension is felt. The authorities have the situation well in hand.

DENVER, Colo., May 10.—Seventy-five general contractors, angered at the actions of the carpenters in quitting work because of the millmen's strike, after they had been granted a ten per cent. increase in wages on April 10, yesterday announced that they would begin employing non-union labor next Monday. This will result in Denver becoming an open town in the building trades, it is predicted.

NEW YORK, May 10.—The American actress Ellen Terry, who was on her way to England, on the steamer Minneapolis, asking her if it was true she had become the bride of Jas. Carey, the Indiana actor, who has been her leading man during the American tour. Yesterday after Mr. Carey himself had admitted that the union took place on March 22, last, the actress replied by wireless. Her answer consisted of only one word, "Yes," and she signed "Ellen Terry Carey." The actress was on board ship off Halifax, N. S., when she made the reply.

NEW YORK, May 10.—The American last night Jack O'Brien issued a statement in which he declared all the arrangements for Wednesday night's fight were tinged with crookedness. He alleges that Burns and Manager McCarry of the Pacific Athletic Club were parties to the unfair deal, that Nolan O'Brien's manager, knew of the propositions and forced a new agreement with Burns and McCarry and that on one occasion McCarry proposed that a coin be flipped to decide which man should pretend to be knocked out and that there was never any intention of offering a $20,000 purse.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., May 10.—Late last night Jack O'Brien issued a statement in which he declared all the arrangements for Wednesday night's fight were tinged with crookedness. He alleges that Burns and Manager McCarry of the Pacific Athletic Club were parties to the unfair deal, that Nolan O'Brien's manager, knew of the propositions and forced a new agreement with Burns and McCarry and that on one occasion McCarry proposed that a coin be flipped to decide which man should pretend to be knocked out and that there was never any intention of offering a $20,000 purse.

NEW YORK, May 10.—The International Golf Competition between the United States and Canada is to be attempted this season. Ten well known amateurs, chiefly from the Metropolitan and Philadelphia districts, have agreed to go across the border and participate in tournaments and team matches. A. W. Austin, president of the Lamton Golf Club of Toronto, suggested the advisability of getting up an American team. The plan is to first meet teams representing the Lamton Golf Club, the Toronto Golf Club, and the Hamilton Golf Club and the Hamilton Golf Club.

After that the American and Canadian players will take part in the annual open tournament of the Lamton Golf Club, which will be held either the last week in July or early in August. This tournament will last five days.

BANGOR AND AROOSTOOK
FREIGHT SHEDS BURNED

HOULTON, Me., May 9.—The Bangor and Aroostook R. R. passenger and freight depots at Monticello, 12 miles north of here, were burned tonight. Some large potato storehouses nearby were threatened, but a fire engine and crew sent from this city by special train prevented any damage to these structures. The total loss is about $2,000.

UNITED STATES RANGERS
FED CANADIAN CATTLE

MEDICINE HAT, May 10.—Losses to ranchers will not be nearly so heavy as was feared during the severe weather of the winter. This fact has been revealed by cattlemen who have had scouring the country preparatory to the round up. Hundreds of cattle drifted over into Montana before the storms and stockmen over there have most generously fed them for a long interval. One local rancher alone secured 80 head from cattlemen over the border.

ROME, May 10.—King Victor Emmanuel, who is deeply interested in numismatics, yesterday received in audience Signor Sallinas, director of the Museum at Palermo. SPORTING MATTERS
REMARKABLE STORY OF PROPOSED FAKE FIGHT BETWEEN BURNS AND O'BRIEN

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 9.—Late this afternoon Manager McCleary made a full statement of the fake fight arrangement. The statement of Tommy Burns regarding the method of getting Jack O'Brien into the ring last night is true in every particular. O'Brien approached Burns, and after he had gotten me in deeply on the expense, he suggested that Burns enter into a fake fight with him and allow him to beat Burns in the ring. O'Brien said that under no other circumstances would he enter the ring with Burns. Tommy consented to the fake. O'Brien was to get one cent and he and Burns were to divide the proceeds. Burns then came to me with the story, declaring that this was the only way by which O'Brien could be kept out of the ring and I agreed. This looked like the best thing to do, and I agreed, taking the 100 U. S. of the two fighters for $15,000 apiece in order to protect myself. It looked to me the only way to get O'Brien to fight and not wishing to disappoint the public I went up with the arrangements. O'Brien all this time, according to his statements, was placing all the money at his command on himself to win and the odds went down to 10 to 1. O'Brien had no intention that Burns was going to "double-cross" him until the referee entered the ring. "After I found that O'Brien had made this agreement with Burns, I was three of us met and agreed that Burns was to receive half of the purse and that O'Brien was to get thirty per cent of the gross receipts. This was fortunate for me, for the receipts fell very great on the event."

O'Brien was finally located in a room at the Angelus Hotel. He was suffering from injuries to his face and hands received in last night's fight and he declined to see any camera. Newspaper men were refused interviews. A note was sent him informing him that Burns had made public the present arrangement of last night's fight, and that Manager McCleary had admitted that the statements were correct. He still declined to make any statement. He also refused to respond to telephone calls. Later Nolan was seen at McCleary's. When informed that the story was out, he said he was glad of it and hoped all the facts would be printed. He himself knew nothing about it, he said, and had had no part in any fake arrangement.

ROLLER SKATING
ALWARD DEFEATS NIXON.
At the Queen's Rollway last night Alward defeated Nixon in a three mile roller race from opposite sides of the rink. The time was eleven minutes and ten seconds. Quite a large number of spectators were present to witness the race. In the twenty-fifth lap Nixon fell and lost half a lap before he recovered himself again. He tried hard to recover what he lost but it was no use. Alward held him until the end. It is now up to Alward to challenge Jacob Oliveau, the champion of the lower provinces.

GERMANY REFUSES TO SQUARE UP WITH CAPE COLONY
For Looking After Insurgents Who Crossed the Border During the Recent Native War.
CAPE TOWN, May 9.—A curious situation has arisen between Great Britain, the Cape and Germany over the closing of certain German ports to Cape goods.
During the operations a great number of the insurgents crossed the border and surrendered to the Cape police. They were housed and fed by the authorities and when the trouble was drawing to a close the Cape Government forwarded to Germany an account of holding the refugees under observation. The amount demanded was about $25,000.
Germany, however, repudiated all liability. The Cape Government thereupon communicated with the British foreign office. It is understood that the demands originally made by the Cape Government will be rigidly adhered to. The British Government has also been asked to settle the dispute between Germany and the Cape Government upon the question of Cape goods which Germany refuses to admit to the Cape. Punish have been raised which Germany regards as unfair. The Cape Government, however, remains obdurate.

THE PROPER FASHION IN MEN'S CLOTHING
The Frock Coat Has Almost Gone Out of Style—Shorter Coats This Year Than Usual.
LONDON, May 9.—The "Tailor and Cutter," the journal of fashions, notes the passing of the frock coat. Says that "During a recent stroll on Regent street, the comparative absence of frock coats was very noticeable, especially in the younger men."
The man who wishes to represent the "correct thing" should study the following table:

Very little change. Striped dress cashmeres, with raised side seams are "safe."

Tobacco brown, dark green, purple blue or grey with faint green purples are dark. Buttons of ivory, bone or dark. Buttons at intervals of an inch and a line at intervals of a half an inch.
Spring and racing coat—Fuller from the shoulder blades than ever. "Silk hat—Rather straight; crown-brim a little curled.

COUNTERFEITING OF RUSSIAN MONEY IS CARRIED ON Continental Police Find Difficulty in Securing Any Trace of the Criminals.
VIENNA, May 9.—For some days past the police authorities in Vienna, and forger case of a peculiar character. It seems that quantities of Russian three-ruble notes of the 1898 issue had been changed in large and small parcels by bankers, but on examination it turned out that the notes had been taken from circulation. The perforations cancelling the notes had however, been cleverly filled up by pieces from other notes, thin paper being gummied underneath so that at first glance the notes appeared to be perfect.
Evidently a large number of these notes had been stolen from the bank and cleverly doctored for circulation. In this respect the greater portion of them belong to the Russian provinces.

Pretended Duke of Otranto Has Been a Thief in all Countries,
Has Lived by His Wits, But is Now in a Rather Tight Corner.

BERLIN, May 9.—In the stirring chronicles of causes celebre few more remarkable stories are to be found than that just unfolded in the little Bavarian town of Kempten, during divorce proceedings against Georges Manolescu, self-styled Duke of Otranto and Prince of Lahovary, most captivating and irresistible of inventors, most audacious, unabashed and unblinking of frontiers, most enterprising and energetic of adventures, most successful of ruffians. His companion was felled senseless to the ground and Manolescu, putting his assailants to flight escorted the injured man back to the hotel. During the journey he took opportunity of relieving him of a pocket-book containing $7,500. Hastening to Monte Carlo disguised as the Duke of Otranto he there made the acquaintance of a wealthy Hungarian widow who purchased the fleeting semblance of his love for the sum of 200,000 francs which, however, he rapidly gambled away at the tables. An hotel thief at Nice brought him $5,000, but also eight months imprisonment.

On regaining his liberty he set out for Italy, in the same compartment he travelled the plaintiff in the divorce suit, then Countess Angelika Widing von Koenigsbruck, a member of one of the most distinguished families of the nobility of Saxony who was going south for the winter in the interest of her health. She was accompanied by her mother and both ladies were charmed by the exultant manners of this wealthy Roumanian estate owner as he represented himself. The three stayed at the same hotel, where a few days later Manolescu was then traveling with her. The Countess and she were accepted. The wedding was celebrated by the Archbishop of Genoa in person and Manolescu was crowned with the title of Duke of Otranto and the Duke of Roberto Beringhieri.

VIENNA, May 9.—The Austrian ministry of agriculture has built a special laboratory at Joachimsthal in Bohemia where the production of radium will be carried on by the state. The pitch-blende found in the state mines will be treated and it is expected that a large profit will be made. A local doctor has received permission from the ministry to use the water pumped from one of the mines for curative purposes, as it is found to be very rich in radium, and often very efficacious in cases of gout and rheumatism.

THE BEGINNING OF IT.
Lawyer—Were you present when the trouble began between the prisoner and his wife?
Witness—Yes, sir. It was two years ago.
Lawyer—What happened then?
Witness—I attended their wedding. I was in the apartment of a German nobleman. A man whom Manolescu procured to pawn the jewels was arrested, but the chief culprit succeeded in getting away in time. He was however betrayed by the many women who had participated in his double affection and was run to earth in Genoa. Put on trial in Berlin this accomplished international confidence man who spoke every language that was of use in his international business and was never at a loss for an expedient played the fool so successfully that the medical experts declared him insane and he was interned in the criminal asylum in the suburb of Hietzing. There he behaved himself so well that he won the confidence of his warden. Then one night he attacked this unsuspecting guardian and leaving him bound and gagged,

YORK GIRL PENS DEATH
MISSIVE IN HER BLOOD
Tells Mother in Letter Her Suffering Could be Borne No Longer.

YORK, Pa., May 8.—Because of impaired health, Miss Elsie Ilegant, 24 years old, a pretty brunette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ilegant of this city, committed suicide today by asphyxiation. In her room was found a pathetic letter, scrawled with the point of a pen dipped in her own blood. The blood with which she wrote had been drawn from beneath the finger nails and the writing was quite plain. The letter read:

"My Dearest Mother: Do not grieve for me, I cannot stand it any longer. You have been a good mother. Trust in God and Papa, do not worry. I trust I am so sorry I must do this, but no one knows what I have suffered. Mother dear and Papa, do not worry. I trust we will meet in a better world, where there will be no sorrow. Love to you and my friends, who have been so good to me."

The letter was unsigned, and toward the end the writing was only faintly discernible. The young woman ended her life at the home of George W. Bacon, an attorney, in this city, where she was visiting. The discovery of the tragedy was not made until noon today.

When the room was entered, the girl lay upon the bed, dead. The room was filled with gas, which poured from three jets, and the windows were tightly closed. Miss Ilegant formerly resided in Camden, and was formerly in a big Philadelphia department store. She had suffered from nervousness, and was visiting at the Bacon home in order to recuperate.

KILLS WIFE AND SELF
IN WEDDING-RING ROW
Telegraph Operator Also Wounds Child Because Woman Demanded Trinket.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Following a quarrel over a wedding ring, William O. Rice, 25 years old, a telegraph operator on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, today shot and instantly killed his wife, Lillian, shot his one-year-old baby, Earl, in the leg, and then committed suicide by shooting.

Rice, who worked nights, returned home early this morning, and finding his wife and baby asleep, woke them. A discussion ensued regarding Mrs. Rice's wedding ring. Rice had it and wouldn't return it to his wife. He grabbed a revolver and began shooting. Rice, his wife and child, resided in a house of Mrs. Rice's father and mother. Her relatives think the crime was actuated by jealousy, although they say there was no reason for it.

There have been two murders and four suicides in Washington within twenty-four hours.

LONDON MARKETS.
LONDON, May 10—Consols fell 7-16 this morning and yesterday evening's closing price but by lunch time they had recovered to 85-11-16. The depression was due partly to the troubles in India but equally to the prospective issue of the Transvaal loan of $25,000,000 guaranteed by the British Government, and other gilt-edged issues, including the Irish loan of $25,000,000, and the Cape Colony and Jamaica loans.

FROM EDITORIAL IN United States Trade Reports

We hear so much these days about the "Ground Floor" and yet very few realize how much has been accomplished in the building of fortunes by this Ground Floor idea, in fact almost every one of the great fortunes of today, originated from some lucky opportunity or far-seeing thought which enables some one to know where to place a few dollars which will quickly jump into hundreds.

When we learn of an opportunity which is beyond the ordinary we feel we are doing a service to our readers in pointing it out.

By far the best thing we have heard of for many months is the proposition of the Cove Hydro-Electric Co., whose offices are at 104 Tremont Bldg., Boston, Mass., and 128 Prince William St., St. John, N. B.

Our readers should look into this. The company is offering their stock and those who grasp the opportunity now will indeed be on the "Ground Floor."

BOSTON EXPRESS FOR ST. JOHN WRECKED NEAR WINN, ME.

While Travelling at the Rate of 35 Miles an Hour, Locomotive and Five Cars Were Derailed—Five Trainmen Severely Injured—Passengers Shaken Up, but None was Badly Hurt.

WINN, Me., May 9.—Five trainmen were severely injured, three passengers slightly hurt, and others slightly shaken up in the wreck of the day express bound from Boston to St. John, which was thrown from the tracks near Penobscot siding, two miles west of Winn station, at 2:15 p. m. today.

The train was the one which left Boston at 8 o'clock this morning, and was known as the Maine Central road No. 22.

No passenger required the services of a doctor. The locomotive and five of the seven cars were derailed. Two of the cars were badly damaged in the derailment and one of them, the mail car, was destroyed by fire.

Among the injured were Engineer Fred Little, his fireman, Mail Clerk Hinkley and Palmer and four passengers.

The train passed Lincoln station, 12 miles west of Winn, at 4:40 o'clock and had reached the point between Winn and Chamberlain stations when it struck what was apparently a spread rail. The train was running at the rate of about 35 miles an hour, and the engineer had no warning that the track was damaged. Suddenly the big engine swerved from the rails, and after plowing along the road bed for some distance went over a low embankment and turned over into the ditch. The postal and baggage cars followed the engine and were piled up close together on the track. Three cars in the middle of the train also left the rails, but were not as badly damaged as the two forward ones. The two rear cars, which most of the passengers were, were not derailed.

The wreckage of the two forward cars caught fire from the locomotive and was destroyed.

The engineer, fireman and postal clerks were severely injured and several of the passengers were cut and bruised, but all will recover.

The wreck occurred in an isolated section, and it was some time before physicians from Bangor and Winn reached the scene. A special train was dispatched from Bangor, over fifty miles west, and arrangements were made to have three most severely hurt taken to Bangor.

Traffic was blocked all the evening, but it was hoped to have the track cleared to permit the passage of the train which left St. John late this afternoon for Boston.

The point where the wreck occurred is about midway between Bangor and the New Brunswick border.

Roadmaster John Kelly, who was riding in the engine with the engineer, had a remarkable escape. All three men went over the embankment with the locomotive, but Kelly was not injured. He and the others were able to crawl out to open air through a small aperture in the cab. None of the three was burned, but the engineer and fireman were somewhat hurt. Kelly says that both the engine and tender landed bottom side up and that the boiler bored a deep hole in the ground.

Roadmaster Kelly says that the entire contents of the mail car were destroyed in the fire. In the passenger cars the contents were smashed to pulp, but personal baggage of the passengers was saved.

One of the derailed cars in the middle of the train was the Pullman car Katherine. Although the Pullman was next the baggage car, the sleepers escaped. The parlor car was another of those derailed, but the occupants were not injured beyond receiving a severe shaking-up.

Wrecking trains from Bangor and Mattawamkeag cleared the wreck late tonight. The passengers were transferred to a local train and taken to Bangor to await the arrival of the east-bound Pullman from Boston.

Roadmaster Kelly says that he does not see how a spread rail could have caused the wreck, as the track, he says, in the vicinity has been in excellent condition. He was unable to learn tonight the exact cause of the accident.

A special train was sent to the scene of the wreck from Vaneboro, and the passengers were placed on the train which arrived in the city shortly before five o'clock this morning.

Miss Eileen Clewom Shoots Herself at the Home of Her Mother

TEMPORARILY INSANE
Was Grand-Daughter of Late Senator Clewom—Found Dead in Bed Yesterday

OTTAWA, May 9.—Miss Eileen Clewom, aged 25 and grand daughter of the late Senator Clewom, one of the best known young ladies of the city, was found dead in bed at noon today with a revolver by her side and a bullet wound in her mouth. The tragedy occurred at the home of her mother, Mrs. Frances Clewom, Slater street.

Temporary insanity is given as the cause of her death by Dr. Kennedy who was in attendance on her. Arrangements had been made to take her to a sanitarium in St. Catherine's tomorrow. Miss Clewom had been in ill health for the past two years and had been quite ill for the past week. Her relatives believe she has been out of her mind for some time.

Covered by a sheet, she was summoned and decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

The funeral will take place tomorrow. On Thursday last Miss Clewom made an attempt to take her life by poison. Medical aid was promptly summoned and she was relieved. On that occasion she had written a note stating that she had decided to end her life. Today no note was found in her room.

Rev. Canon Kitson, who is a friend of the family, and was the first person called in after the discovery, stated tonight that there was no truth in the story that Miss Clewom was engaged to be married to a prominent politician and had been led to her rash act in consequence of the engagement being broken.

HE BLAMES CANADA

W.T. Stead's Pointed Remarks Concerning Her Action During the Late Boer War.

TALKED TO LAURIER
Noted English Journalist's Montreal Audience Did Not Agree With Him

MONTREAL, May 9.—S. W. T. Stead, the noted journalist, delivered a lecture here tonight under the auspices of the Canadian Club before a big audience. His subject was Canada's contribution to the Empire, and he prefaced his remarks by asking questions and interruptions, which were freely accepted by many of the audience who did not agree with many of Mr. Stead's remarks, especially when he blamed Canada for aiding Great Britain in the Boer war. Mr. Stead said also that Canada should maintain her connection with the Empire if it involved her in constant danger of war. He said that Sir Wilfrid Laurier had told him that in the event of Great Britain being involved in a war with Canada did not approve this country would have the right to remain neutral, an idea which Mr. Stead combated as it would, he claimed, be tantamount to a declaration of independence. Mr. Stead said that Canada's mission should be to act as umpire of English speaking peoples and he declared that no British cabinet would declare war with a foreign country if Canada was opposed to it. He concluded with a plea for the unity of all English speaking peoples.

Interesting Service in St. Paul's

The Ascension service at St. Paul's (Valley) church last night was of a highly interesting nature. An eloquent sermon appropriate to the occasion was preached by the rector, Rev. E. B. Hooper. The music, which was unusually fine, was under the direction of a number of R. K. Y. C. boys, who were assisted by members of St. Paul's singing choir, and led by Howard Holder. T. Percy Byrne officiated at the organ. The programme was as follows: Procession, Hail the Day That Sees Him Rise, In Him, I raise Ye the Lord, by Gounod; hymn, See the Conqueror; offertory anthem, Wayside Cross, recessional. For All the Saints.

There were twenty-five voices in the choir, which was exclusively male, and in the manner in which the anthems were rendered proved a revelation to the majority of the large audience present.

REV. W. J. KEIRSTEAD IS VISITING MONCTON

New Pastor of Tabernacle Church Here is En Route to St. John—Remembered by His Friends

MONCTON, May 9.—Rev. W. J. Keirstead, who has resigned the pastorate of the Baptist church at Oxford, N. S., to accept the pastorate of the Tabernacle Baptist church at St. John, is spending a few days in the city en route to his new home.

That Rev. Mr. Keirstead's work in Oxford was greatly appreciated, not only by his own, but by other congregations, was evidenced by the fact that before departing he was presented with addresses and purses from two churches in the town. He closed his pastorate on Saturday last, and on Monday evening a committee from the outside churches met in conjunction with the Oxford church to say a formal farewell, among the number being several prominent members of the Amherst Baptist church. On Tuesday evening the delegates again met, when Rev. Mr. Keirstead was presented with an address and a purse of about one hundred dollars. The young people's class afterwards gave a banquet.

On the Thursday evening previous the church at River Phillip presented Rev. Mr. Keirstead with an address and purse of $41.

Rev. Mr. Keirstead was in Oxford about eighteen months. During that time seventy-four persons were baptized and received into the membership of the church and about forty-five taken in otherwise. The church debt of $2,000 was lifted and provided for. The Young Men's Bible Class, which is now an important feature of the church was organized with a membership of fifty.

The steamer Empress made her first trip today from Summerside to Pt. du Chene. The Straits are now clear of ice and the boat will continue the regular schedule.

NORTH END BOY HAD CLOSE CALL

Fell Overboard from Boat at Indiantown

Walter Armstrong Rescued from Drowning by David Corkery, Who Showed Great Presence of Mind

Through the bravery and skill of David Corkery of Indiantown, Walter Armstrong, a boy aged about eleven years, was rescued from drowning yesterday afternoon. The boy, along with several companions, was playing round the wharves at Indiantown, near the Millford ferry. They jumped into some of the small boats in the slip and paddled about. Then they walked along the cap of the wharf. Suddenly Armstrong fell overboard. He disappeared at once. His companions ran for assistance, quickly alarming the neighborhood. A crowd soon collected, and, as usual, pondered over the various ways of saving the boy, though telephoning for help and searched for life preservers. In the meantime the lad was having a hard struggle.

Mr. Corkery ran towards the place and without waiting to divest himself of any of his clothes jumped into the icy waters. The boy had gone below the surface and Mr. Corkery experienced difficulty in grabbing him. At last after a few moments of suspense, he caught the drowning lad, dragged him to the surface and swam to the wharf with his semi-unconscious burden.

The boy was quite ill for some time and was later taken to his home on Victoria street. Several who saw Mr. Corkery's plucky rescue say that had it not been for his presence of mind and fearlessness the boy would certainly have been drowned.

PLAINTIFFS GOT DAMAGES FOR $100

Rank Conditions of Moncton Look-Up Taken into Consideration—Dr. Gaudet's Condition

DORCHESTER, May 9.—In the Westmorland circuit court today the trial of Abraham W. Reyes against Wm. Perry was finished, resulting in a verdict of $100 damages for the plaintiff. He had been arrested on the railway property, where he claimed to have gone for the purpose of serving a warrant. The defendant put him off the railway property and took him to the Moncton lock-up, but the railway authorities, when the plaintiff was brought before them, insisted, declined to prosecute.

The rank condition proved of the lock-up building had much to do with the award of damages. Owing to the plaintiff claiming privilege under the warrant, the question as to whether constables may serve civil papers in the railway shops and offices remains undecided. Messrs. Russell and Powell, K. C., appeared for the plaintiff; Fred Gaudet for the defendant. The chief justice returns to St. John by tomorrow afternoon, and T. S. D. Simmons was official reporter.

NOT QUITE A TEMPEST

A young gentleman with an unusual voice insisted upon singing at a social gathering.

"What does he call that?" inquired a disgusted guest.

"The Tempest," I think," answered another.

"Don't be alarmed," said an old sea captain present. "That's no tempest. It's only a squall and will soon be over."

ANTI-CHRISTIAN FEELING IS GROWING IN EGYPT

British Residents in Cairo are Beginning to Feel Uneasy Over Conditions.

CAIRO, May 9.—The so-called Nationalist movement in Cairo is breeding a spirit of unrest among the natives which is rapidly becoming a menace to British residents in Cairo.

The feeling of hatred against all Christians is growing every day. Even the domestic servants who were formerly submissive are now getting out of hand and on the slightest pretext behave insolently towards their employers.

Whenever trouble occurs in the street row between a European and a native the native policeman appears to invariably side with his countryman, no matter what may be the rights or the wrongs of the case.

Because the People Want a Priest of Their Own Instead of Borrowing From Elsewhere.

VIENNA, May 9.—The 700 inhabitants of the Ruthenian village, Neidelsdorf, near Ah-Sambok, Galicia, have formally notified the authorities that they have gone over in a body from the Greek to the Roman Catholic church. The reason given is that the latter church is ready to allot a priest to the village, while the authorities of the Greek church have persisted in treating Neidelsdorf as part of a larger parish. The inhabitants objected to being forced to walk to the next village to take part in devotional exercises.

BODY OF HENRY LAWSON, OF OAKLAND, FOUND
LYING IN A FIELD

BRISTOL, N. B., May 8.—The body of Henry Lawson, who left his home in Oakfield, in January last to go to Glassville, was found in Mr. Clair's field, South Gordonville, about 40 rods from the main road. The unfortunate man was last seen upon an old lumber road, leading towards Glassville, and it was some days before it was learned that he had not reached his destination. In the meantime heavy snow had fallen and it was impossible to make a thorough search, though Sheriff Foster and a party went over the ground.

The body was found by Carl Nye, and Dr. Curtis, a coroner, was notified, but he did not consider an inquest necessary. From the position of the body it was evident that he had died from exhaustion and cold. He had travelled about three miles through the woods, and the snow was deep, before he reached the open field, and it is thought he may have sat down to rest and was suddenly overcome, or was benumbed with the cold, and fell backwards and was soon covered by the drifting snow, and there he lay within about fifty rods of several dwelling houses from January to May. Lawson was about 31 or 32 years old, and leaves a wife, but no children.

The body was taken to Glassville for burial. His father was the first settler north of what is now known as Esdrasford.

MONTREAL MAN KILLED BY A STREET CAR

MONTREAL, May 9.—At 11:30 this morning Albert Blanche, a post office employee, was killed almost instantly by being run down by a St. Denis street car. He attempted to cross in front of the car at the corner of Beaubien and St. Denis streets, but was caught by the fender and legibly mangled. His skull was fractured, and before the ambulance reached the general hospital he had expired. Deceased was 22 years of age, and resided at 119 St. Lawrence boulevard.

BOARD OF WORKS

A special meeting of the Board of Works was called yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock to consider the granting of the tender for tar to be used in street work during the year. deB. Carrutte was present representing the Carrutte, Paterson Co., one of the firms tendering and H. Hooper was present on behalf of the Street Railway Co., whose tender was recommended at a previous meeting.

It was decided to divide the contract between these two companies. A lengthy discussion arose concerning the duties of Director Cushing the director holding that he should not be required to do any engineering work without an assistant engineer or an increase of pay.

A letter from the director to the Board to this effect was read by the chairman. The matter was settled by the Board, directing consulting engineer Peters to do the specified work under the orders of the director.

CITY WAIVED RIGHTS

There was a special meeting of the Treasury Board yesterday afternoon to consider the waiving of the city's rights in connection with the Grace property which extends from Dock street to Nelson street. The matter had been brought before the Common Council and was sent back to the board with power to act.

The Grace property has lately been sold, and the new purchasers found a defect in the title in that the owners by an old covenant with the city are required to maintain the street frontage on Nelson street. The right has never been exercised by the city, and the board decided to waive any rights the city might have under the old covenant.

FOR A MILLION
... OF MONEY

By Arthur W. Marchmont.

"I don't know who my father was, and never knew my mother either," said Selma, as she poured out a cup of tea and handed it to Olive. "All I know is that my father was a crook, and a real hard one. She was on the stage; and a beauty at that, I can tell you. But my mother, who was a crook, I didn't catch your name at the police station."

"My name is Olive Parmenter; and those two have done me a grievous wrong. Don't tell me anything if you'd rather not."

"It was the other's turn now to be excited. Uttering her favorite exclamation she nearly let her cap fall in astonishment."

"Sakes alive! You don't say! Why, you're the miss he came over to marry! If he knew we'd met, he wouldn't say a thing!" she cried. "Should think I would tell you. And after what you did for me today, too."

After some moments out came her story. She had been brought up by Mrs. Merridew as a drudge; put to do all the household work, with kicks, blows and abuse as her only payment; thrust into a thousand temptations, and at last when the rest were forced to leave the States, put into prison on a false charge of theft.

Olive's blood boiled as she listened to the recital.

"But I'm getting some of my own back," continued Selma. "I told you I was getting wise to their plans; and I'll tell you. He was the head of a bunch of crooks—thieves, you know—and well they should have had to skip. That was when he came over to find a wife. I don't know the whole of the game; but I'm not a fool. When I came out of prison I heard he had come over to this side, and one of the gang went to his side, and put up enough money to follow, and told me where to find some of the bunch. I followed them up all right, all right; and then bluffed them into taking care of me."

"Do you really mean that Gilbert Merridew is a thief?" cried Olive.

"You ask any police captain in Chicago. About as warm stuff as any crook. Why, the gang is operating here in London. There's a Madam's court at the head with him. She's a swell head, sure. Does the society play somewhere in London; spreads herself with a big splash; but a crook like the rest, sure. There's a big scheme on now about some papers in which someone in your Foreign Bureau, whatever it is called, is involved."

"The Foreign Office, do you mean?" cried Olive, eagerly. She was now intensely excited. "Do you know the name? Was it Pawlick?"

"I don't know; but I can find it all right. I should like to do it for you, because I'd like to see you again."

"The only soul in this big city of yours I'd care to, either."

For a moment Olive hesitated whether to tell the whole story of the Merridews' treatment of her to this strange girl; but decided to wait for a while, at all events, until a future meeting. "When can I see you again?" she asked. "You will do me a service I shall remember all my life if you get me the information about all this."

"Sure I will. Either meet me anywhere you like, or come here in two days' time, I'll have it all right, all right."

"Thank heaven we have met!" cried Olive, earnestly. "But you'll not say a word about me."

"That's a cinch, sure," was the reply, with a smile. "If they got wise to it, guess they'd be mad and just want to put the sea between us."

"Then you had better know how to write to me in case of need," said Olive, gravely, and she wrote down Mr. Casement's address and gave it to Selma.

The girl took the paper, read it over two or three times, and then lit a match and burnt it very deliberately. "Beckon it's safe," she said, laconically.

With a smile at her caution, Olive rose to leave. She was anxious to look away to think of all she had learned. Selma held her hand and looked wistfully into her eyes. "Guess you're about the only girl I ever thought I'd care to see," she said, nervously, and almost sadly. "But maybe you don't cotton to such tricks. Don't say if you don't mean it. I know you're white. I've sized you up."

"But I do," declared Olive and kissed her. Selma sighed. "I hope we shall meet again; but it would be just my luck not to."

Impulsively, Olive kissed her again. She was deeply touched by the weariness of her manner. "We shall be friends, Selma; you'll see," she said. "I just love to hear you say that; but shake of the head and another deep sigh, as the tears welled up in her eyes. "You're going just makes me feel awful. I'm sorry again, you bet. Don't forget me."

When Olive left the house, she hurried off at a quick pace, and calling the first hansom she met drove home; and on the drive her thoughts were busy with all the strange news she had learnt from Selma Hammond. And the girl was to the full as strange as the story she had told. Olive was, however, fully convinced of her sincerity.

"It is like a special intervention of Providence," she said to herself. "Just when she had been on the verge of despair, this wonderful confirming of her belief of Gilbert Merridew's rascality had come to urge her forward with redoubled energy."

Gideon Mawford! A Chicago crook; and a leader of crooks! She knew the meaning of the term well enough; and in a moment it was plain how he and his mother had been able to connect their plans against her at Sheffield so rapidly. They had been able to use some of the "buach," as Selma had termed them.

It was indeed a momentous discovery; and Olive was burning to tell Jack all the great news. She debated with her self whether she should not tell Inspector Robson when they were discussing that evening the incident in which he had rendered her such timely help in the afternoon. But she decided to tell Jack first; and afterwards, if necessary, to run down and discuss it with Mr. Casement.

She put one question to the inspector. Turning the conversation upon Chicago and the police methods there with criminals, she said: "I heard the other day of a regular gang of thieves there with a Madame Boncourt and a man named Gideon Mawford at their head. Did you ever hear of them, Mr. Robson?"

"I mustn't tell office secrets, Miss Parmenter, but we have their record at the Yard. Pinkerton's sent it to us," and he went on to describe the unofficial system of detective work, Pinkerton's, favored in the United States.

It was a sufficient confirmation of the truth of Selma's statement; and when Jack came on the following day, Olive told him all that had occurred.

But he was skeptical. "Of course, there are such gangs, Olive; but our system is so much better than that of the States, that they don't do much here. That girl must have been a bit hysterical after her narrow escape; and as for what she hints about the Foreign Office—" he shook his head with a confident smile. "Let 'em try."

"Do you believe it?" "I am sure Selma Hammond was sincere."

"Then it proves one thing. You mustn't attempt to fight such people single handed. And that means—" he ended with a glance and a smile. "I know what you mean, of course."

"All roads lead to Rome, dearie. You'd better marry me."

But she shook her head. "No, Jack. Not yet; if ever, I feel that I am going to find out everything; and when I've done it, we'll see about that. Not before."

"What adamant!" he laughed. "I shall never cease to pester you, and you'll have to yield in the end. So you may as well do it at once. Besides, have you thought of this? Supposing all this girl told you is true; supposing this Merridew is the confounded scoundrel she describes, and supposing again that you were to be successful in bringing him to book, I say supposing all this, and his a pretty big supposition—how would it disprove that marriage at Sheffield?"

"Of course I don't see that yet," agreed Olive, readily. "But it will come out of it, Jack. I am sure of that. I am that sure."

"That I love you?" he put in, taking her hand.

"Yes," she nodded brightly. "As sure as I am of that."

"Then if you are so dead sure, what's the need of our waiting?" "All roads lead to Rome, as you said, don't they? But I'm not so sure of it as to risk your future on it, my dear and most impatient Jack."

"Yes, I am impatient," he replied, speaking with unusual seriousness; and he'll tell you the reason. I can't bear the idea of your being alone here, and taking on this big, up-hill fight against these people. Your terrible excitement at Sheffield has, thoroughly frightened me. It shows to what fearful lengths these people are ready to go; and frankly, I am afraid, yes, horribly afraid, that they will go on scheming and plotting against you until they succeed. I can't sleep at night when the thoughts take hold of me. I wouldn't care so much if you were in some place of safety—say with Mr. Casement or Mr. Taunton, where you could be properly protected, and would have plenty of people about you, so that these brutes couldn't get at you. But here, alone, you seem to be at their mercy. Oh, Olive, do put that pride of yours away, and let us get married."

"All roads still leading—" "Don't joke about it, Olive. It makes me wretched," he declared, earnestly. "I won't jest, Jack. But what you ask is really impossible. I have put my hand to the work, and I won't ever give up. I am my father's child in that, at any rate. If I had to choose now between the risk of even such a death as that which threatened me on the railway and abandoning this work, I would not falter a moment. I declare to you, on my honor, I would rather die than give in."

She spoke with such intense earnestness that he was moved, and for a moment nothing more was said.

"But if you lay so much stress on my leaving here, I will see what I can do. Return to Mr. Casement's house in out of the question, because I can do nothing in such a place as Frampton; especially at a time when I have just made such a discovery. But if you like, we will go and see Mrs. Taunton; and if I find that I can get on the work while at her house, and she still wishes to have me, I'll go to her."

"I wish to heaven you would. I know she'll do everything in her power to help you. She has said so dozens of times to me. She did yesterday, indeed. She was at the Foreign Office. She was curious to see the place, and I showed her round."

"Then let us go and see her today," said Olive, promptly.

And with that they started, little dreaming of all that such a proposal must mean.

REV. J. A. MACDONALD SUNDAY, MAY 19TH, THE NEXT SPEAKER

Distinguished Editor of Toronto Globe Will be invited to Address Canadian Club

At a meeting of the executive of the Canadian Club yesterday afternoon twenty-five new members were added to the three hundred previously enrolled. As J. A. Macdonald, editor of the Toronto Globe, and one of the most brilliant speakers in Canada, is to address the Canadian Club of Halifax later part of this month, he will be asked to address the St. John club also. The secretary was instructed to correspond with Sir J. A. Swetsman, ex-governor of Jamaica, and ask him to address the club when he tours Canada this year.

As the members have got into the habit of postponing the purchase of their tickets for luncheons until the last moment, thus making it impossible for the caterer to give the best service, it has been decided to charge a little more for tickets purchased after the hour indicated on the cards of notice. There were present at the executive meeting Dr. T. D. Walker, Geo. A. Henderson, Dr. Melvin, J. N. Harvey and A. M. Belding. The list of new members elected is as follows: H. R. Macaulay, H. N. MONCTON LADY LOST POCKET BOOK

Picked from Her Pocket in Truro Store—Warrant Out for Arrest of Suspect

TRURO, N. S., May 9.—A warrant was issued this evening calling for the arrest of Frank Lynda, charged with picking the pocket of a Moncton lady who was engaged in making a purchase in an East Prince street shop. The lady was accompanied by another and a child. The proprietor was the only person in the shop when she was making the purchase. While at the counter a man came in and stood quite close to her and afterwards went out without buying anything or making any inquiries. The lady's pocket book had been opened after she entered the shop and replaced in her coat pocket. On going out she sought the pocket book to place in it some change, but it was gone. An immediate report was made to the storekeeper, who informed her the man who had come in and gone out was Lynda. The ladies then went to the street and on the opposite side in a lively stable doorway saw the man whom they recognized. Coming toward them at that moment was Chief of Police Gass. His services were at once demanded and the man was pointed out. Gass denouncing against arresting without an information being formally laid and a warrant issued, the suspect escaped for the time being. Later arrested tonight. The pocket book contained two five dollar bills and several coins.

CONFERENCE DROPS PREMIER DEAKIN'S ONE PER CENT. PROPOSAL

Was Opposed by Laurier, Botha and Ward—Proposal for Double Income Tax Also Defeated—Colonies Will Consider the Question of Re-Coinage—Premier Botha's Farewell.

LONDON, May 9.—The Canadian Associated Press is informed that at today's sitting of the conference the proposal brought forward by Premier Deakin of one per cent. duty on all foreign goods imported into the British Empire, fell through opposed by Laurier, Botha and Ward.

The naturalization question was discussed and the proposed new secretariat. The proposal for the double income tax was defeated. This was followed by a discussion of the question of re-coinage, the outcome of the discussion in which Laurier took part, being that the colonies were left to make their own if they thought fit, and this they promised to support. The question of publication of verbatim reports was discussed and there is reason to believe such will be published.

Premier Botha, who leaves Saturday, made a farewell address to conference. Lord Elgin suitably replied, and the government had a formal sitting Monday.

In the house of commons the premier stated that Laurier and Deakin expressed no desire to raise the question of home rule for Ireland at the conference.

"It was not the intention of the government to discuss the question there, but the government had no desire to slam the door in their faces." There

NATIVE OUTBREAK IN LAHORE, BRITISH INDIA, SEEMS IMMINENT; LAWYER ARRESTED

LAHORE, British India, May 9.—Everything seems to point to the imminence of a native outbreak here and the authorities are taking all the steps possible to suppress it by force of arms. The political unrest is hourly assuming graver proportions. Bands of strikers, armed with bludgeons, who have been enlisted by the leaders of the sedition are crowding into the city, and troops of all arms and bodies of police mounted and dismounted are being drafted into the city of Lahore from all parts of the province. The fortifications of Lahore have been subjected to a special inspection and the military lines were reinforced. The lieutenant governor of Punjab, Sir Denzil Ibbotson, is taking active measures to circumvent any possible outbreak. He has issued a proclamation prohibiting meetings of every kind and solemnly warning the public not to attend any assemblages under pain of severe punishment. In addition the lieutenant governor has ordered that he struck at the root of the revolutionary movement by causing the arrest this afternoon of a prominent lawyer, Lalpatral, who practiced in the chief court of the Punjab and who was the leader, financier and organizer of most of the seditious demonstrations and revolutionary riots in the Punjab. Immediately after the riot taken in custody, Lalpatral was deported to another province. His arrest caused a profound sensation among the Hindus, who hitherto had believed the authorities would not dare to take such drastic measures.

Another revolutionary leader, for whose arrest a warrant has been issued, received an intimation of the action taken by the authorities, escaped from Lahore and is now in hiding.

CHARGED WITH TRYING TO WRECK A TRAIN

Seventeen Year Old Lad Arrested by I. C. R. Detectives—Put Spikes on the Rails

HALIFAX, N. S., May 8.—Charged with the serious crime of attempted train wrecking, Maybourn Moore, a 17-year-old boy, was arrested by Detective Williams, chief of the Intercolony railway police, and Special Railway Officer Purcell of Halifax. On the afternoon of the 26th of April Moore and a draw bar were placed on the rails near Mount Unlace. A Dominion Atlantic accommodation came along at slow speed and the driver noticing the obstruction on the tracks slowed the train up on the brink of a steep embankment. Moore remained close to the train until the driver saw the articles on the rails just to see the train natter them out. Concealed by the railway police, and Special Railway Officer Purcell, Moore saw the train pass, but as one failed to come he left the scene and proceeded to Halifax. He obtained employment here the same night and the following morning a member of the household read from a paper of the attempt to wreck the train. Moore at once fled from the city, and since then has remained concealed.

A very serious accident was narrowly averted at Grand Falls, on Saturday last, two boats of Pond's drive which were lashed together and were being towed by a cable just above the railway bridge and drifted down on the piers, then working clear of the cable and the falls with their contents, consisting of stores, implements, etc. Mr. Pond's loss will be between three and five hundred dollars. The corporation of St. Pauls Parish, Hampton, went to Nauwigewauk Tuesday evening to discuss with the people the advisability of dividing the parish up. The proposition is to take Smithtown, French Village and Nauwigewauk off the Parish of Hampton and the upper end of Rothesay and unite them and give them a clergyman of their own. Under the present system it is a very hard task for one clergyman to supply six places for service. However, nothing of a definite character was done—Recorder.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Allison, Miss McIntyre and Mr. William S. Allison returned yesterday from a sojourn of several weeks in what is usually considered the balmy climate of Virginia, but Mr. William Allison, in conversation with the Star today, said that for alternate days, a short time ago, snow flurries occurred in this territory, a most remarkable weather condition. For a week there was real warm weather, but the cold air set in again and with a deterring effect upon matters agricultural and horticultural. Indeed, the month previous to Mr. Allison's visit Virginia was enjoying real fine, warm weather, so St. John people have hit the cause for complaint for the backwardness of this temperate climate.

Thursday of last week this division of the C. P. R. had quite a chapter of accidents. Early in the morning a special freight ran off just above Anlover station derailing eleven cars and badly damaging the track which was not got in condition for trains to pass until nearly five o'clock that afternoon when the down express came over arriving here nearly three hours late. The same morning the Tobique train got two cars off, about a mile below the Wapsky and had to transfer the passengers into a box car loaded with gypsum, bringing them to Perth, leaving the balance of the train behind. A wrecking train was sent up leaving here about four p. m.—Victoria County News.

G. T. P. CONSTRUCTION IN NEW BRUNSWICK HAS BEGUN

The First Sod Turned Without Any Ceremony at Edmonton—Contract Has Been Sub-Let—The Snow Still Delays the Moncton-Chipman Work—Change in the Engineering Office Staff

Work on the Grand Trunk Pacific in New Brunswick was commenced this week, the first operations having been begun on Division 5, which is between Edmonton and the Quebec boundary. This contract is held by Lyons and White, who have sublet it in various small sections. There is no snow to speak of on this division and it is expected that construction work will go ahead quite rapidly. The first sod was turned a few miles this side of Edmonton. There was no ceremony of any sort, no silver spade or speech making, but the Italian laborers simply settled down to work.

Engineer Longley, of the general staff, is in charge of the division, and has under him several gangs stationed on the various contracts. These engineers are for the present boarding in farm houses along the route, but cottages will be erected during the early summer for their accommodation.

It is announced that work has also been begun at two other places, one contract starting quite near Grand Falls and the other some distance farther west.

There has not as yet been anything done on Division No. 1, the Moncton-Chipman run, owing to the presence of considerable snow in the woods, but arrangements are being made for the beginning of the work, and it is expected to start in a few days.

Mr. W. P. Collins, who has held the position of accountant on the transcontinental engineering staff since September, 1904, has resigned and has accepted the position of accountant with Lyons and White, the contractors. He is succeeded in the St. John office by Mr. W. J. O'Brien, of Bathurst, who has not previously been connected with the survey.

The Star tomorrow will issue a colored supplement in addition to the regular paper. This is being done merely to ascertain if such a feature is desired by readers. If it is found that there is a demand, the supplement may be continued at a later date.

Samuel J. Holden, an American citizen temporarily residing in St. Stephen, at the Queen Hotel, appointed himself a special police officer of the city of Calais, Monday, and took in charge a Bangor man named Butler, whom he accused of having stolen several articles of no particular value from his room at the Queen, where Butler was also stopping. Butler was too much surprised to make any resistance and marched, meekly as a lamb to the slaughter, to the lockup, where he happened along. It is said that Mr. Butler told Holden that he picked up the articles thinking they were of no use to the owner and offered to return the same at once, but the dignity of Mr. Holden's American citizenship had been outraged and he burned for satisfaction. Acting upon the advice of a local attorney, who was informed of the irregularity of Mr. Butler's arrest, the latter was released by the constable who assisted in making the arrest, and he lost no time in getting out of the way. Mr. Holden declared that, as an American citizen, he had a perfect right to make the arrest, and was indignant because his intended victim had escaped—Courier.

EVERY DAY CLUB.

Members of the St. John Amateur Base Ball League got in a lot of practice on the Victoria grounds last evening, and members of the Every Day Club completed the work of clearing away the wreck of the old grand stand, part of which will be repaired without a roof and protected by a wire screen, so that it can be used to provide seats for patrons of the sports.

The members of the Every Day Club are to meet at the grounds again this evening and tomorrow evening; and at 8:30 tomorrow evening there will be a grand rally in the hall. On Friday evening of next week the young men of the club, with some outside talent, will present a dime entertainment with many amusing features.
