NO. 63.

MR. HAGGART'S SCHEME NICELY SHOWN UP BY THE MINISTER OF RAILWAYS.

Tried to Get Government in Disagreeable Position by Asking Something Impossible to Grant—House Divided, and a Big Majority Was Recorded for the Administration.

Ottawa, April 22.—(Special)—The greeter put in the way it was; but they knew well that nothing was done at the public accounts committee to prevent any inquiry. On the contrary, he (Blair) had offered Mr. Haggart, notwithstanding that the motion was not a proper one, that if he would indicate in any way what he wanted the accounts would at once be brought down. If he would even have given the branch which he desired to look into, he (Blair) offered to aid him in every possible way; but Mr. Haggart declined to do either the one thing or the other, but instead now offered a resolution which his knows well could not be accepted and which he did not desire should be accepted.

CASUALTY REPORTS TELL OF FIGHTING SUNDAY LAST IN SOUTH AFRICA.

Son of Late Lord Mayor of London Among the Killed—Neutrality Laws Reported Technically Violated—Further Arrangements for the Fourth Contingent.

London, April 22.—A casualty list made public tonight shows that the fighting in South Africa has not ceased. Last Sunday two British officers were killed near the Orange River Colony. One was Captain Thomas Fowler, only son of the late lord mayor of London. Four men were killed and three officers and 14 men wounded in an engagement in the eastern part of the Transvaal last Sunday.

General Smith's Court Martial. Manila, April 24.—The court martial appointed to try General Jacob H. Smith, on the charge of conduct prejudicial to good order and discipline, will assemble tomorrow.

ISAAC OULTON, NORTH END HERMIT, DONE TO DEATH.

Found Dead Face Downward on His Bed Horribly Mutilated; Fire Appears While Coroner Is Being Called and Body Is Partly Consumed.

CIRCUMSTANCES POINT TO FOUL PLAY.

Crowds Gather at Scene Attracted by Fire Alarm—Body of Victim Removed to Undertaker's—Thomas Gillespie, His Son, and Thomas Marshall, Held as Witnesses.

Isaac G. Oulton, the Douglas avenue hermit, was found dead in bed at his home about 9 o'clock Wednesday night, under circumstances extremely foul. The indications point to foul play. For two bad wounds, evidently self-inflicted, were found on his left temple and over the left eye, while a little later his house was found afire and the body was partially burned.

People Surged In. Dr. Roberts and Gillespie entered the house with the firemen. In a few minutes an exciting, jostling crowd had gathered and the smoke into the dark, evil-smelling, smoke-wreathed hall was general.

Where the Body Lay. Along this passage about 40 feet was a door to the right, which led into a small, wretched apartment, when the smoke had finally drifted out, was found to be heaped with portions of bed iron, scraps of furniture, clothes, and mangle.

Body and House Searched. It was turned over and then was seen a spectacle which horrified even the most staid nerves, and stout-hearted men among the firemen and crowd generally.

The Place Cleared. Conscious now that the old man evidently met a violent end orders were given by the fire authorities to clear the hall way in order to have the body brought out. The stretcher was brought to the door way and the old man's body, in the grasp of the firemen, was conveyed out, and laid on the stretcher.

Took Supper to Him. Fearing the old man was ailing Mr. Gillespie had a meal for him put up. This he carried over to Oulton's house and sought to gain admission.

Door Locked; Private Signals Used. The door was locked. There had been a system of signals arranged between Gillespie and Oulton such as so many knocks on the door and these were all prearranged, but unavailing. Thus was about 7:45 o'clock. Finding an entrance impossible, Mr. Gillespie returned home, and, procuring his son, Thos. Gillespie, Jr., and Willie Marshall, went back to the house.

The Body Found. "This time they had brought a key. They all proceeded inside and discovered the body of Oulton lying face down on the bed with both legs hanging over the edge. Gillespie lifted one leg and placed it on a chair. He saw at once that the figure on the bed was a corpse. He and the boys then went outside and looked the door. Gillespie then proceeded to Dr. Robert's office, notifying him that Oulton was dead. This was five minutes to ten o'clock. The boys had gone home.

Coroner Acts. Dr. Roberts, as soon as he was informed of the death, informed Gillespie that it would be necessary for him to remain in the office until the police arrived, when all would proceed over to the house.

CHARLTON'S MOTION PRESSED IN HOUSE OF COMMONS AND DEFEATED.

Mover of Resolution on Peace With Boers Was Advised to Withdraw—Supports What He Moves—Bourassa and the Premier Also Heard.

Ottawa, April 22.—(Special)—The minister of the interior introduced a bill to-day giving representation to the Yukon in the House of Commons. He said the bill will give one member to the Yukon district. John Charlton in moving his resolution re South Africa, made an able speech from his standpoint, although it was evident the house was not with him. He said he asked Mr. Bourassa to second the resolution because he considered him a representative Frenchman. In agreeing to do so, Mr. Bourassa would tell the house that he also was in favor of the policy of British supremacy in South Africa. Mr. Charlton explained that it was not offered as a want of confidence motion and it had no political significance as far as parties were concerned. It dealt simply with the character of the settlement that it was hoped might be obtained with the belligerents in South Africa for establishing in that country unquestioned and unimpairing British authority. It might be said it was an impertinence to offer such a resolution. (Several members—hear, hear.) Mr. Charlton said it was offered with the prayerful hope that it might be conducive to securing a settlement. As for the right to move, when Canada was called upon to pour out men and millions—and the graves of Canadians were in South Africa to testify to her sons having to maintain British supremacy—he had no doubt. As to any adverse criticism for offering the resolution, that was of no concern to him. He had decided in his own mind it was the proper course to pursue and, having done that, he did not care what his fellow citizens thought of it. His own course, from the beginning, was not to part with one foot of South African territory. He had no Boer sentiments. It could not ever be said that Canada was loyal to the empire. What distinction, he asked, was to be made between a belligerent in one part of South Africa and the other? Today Britain was facing the reconstruction of South Africa. Much would depend on that magnanimity, mercy and generosity which was to be extended to the conquered foe. The Afrikaner would be the hope of South Africa. He held that every belligerent should be treated on the same principle. He spoke of the noble qualities of the Boer who was worth while making into a loyal citizen. He gave a number of examples in British and American history of what a policy of magnanimity and mercy had done. The measure of blood was full, the measure of misery was full, and no one in Canada wanted more. What was looked for was a South African commonwealth similar to that in Canada and Australia. He submitted his resolution. Mr. Bourassa said that while seconding the resolution he did not agree with all that was in it, nor with all the remarks of the speaker. He, however, never refused to meet an opponent half way. In the first place he would say he was in favor of British supremacy in South Africa. He noticed some of the members sneered at the statement of Mr. Charlton that we had a right to express our opinion seeing we had contributed men and money to the war. That was a subject position he did not agree with. There was a great change in public opinion towards the Boers since the speech of Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, who proposed now to restock the Boer farms, while some time ago it was said that these same farms were to be used for the maintenance of the concentration camps. The resolution was not to dictate to the British people, but to strengthen the hands of Britain. If he were a Boer he would prefer to trust his case to Britain than to that of the col-

STORIES OF HORRIBLE CRUELTY OF AMERICAN SOLDIERS IN PHILIPPINES.

Water Cure Administered to Wring from Natives Information of Hidden Insurgent Arms—A Priest Dies from Effects of the Torture.

Lynn, Mass., April 22.—Two Lynn men, formerly members of Company D, 26th regiment U. S. V., stationed in the Philippines, have written Senator Lodge a full statement of instances where the application of the water cure came under their observation. They are Private William Labelle and Albert W. Bertrand. Labelle says he saw several instances of the water cure. While at Anilo, he saw three natives, two young men and a man about 50 years old, were taken by Company D men into a Catholic church at Anilo, their hands tied, and a squad of men applied the water cure. It is understood the three natives understood where insurgent arms were concealed and the cure was given to have them disclose the whereabouts of the arms. One of the natives, he says, refused to tell, and after he had been given the water cure, he was blindfolded and one of the soldiers fired his gun near the man's head. The same instant another member hit the native with a stone and he was told he had been shot. The native then told where they could find the guns. Labelle gives the names of the officers and privates who participated. He says that in the summer of 1900, Company D captured three natives and gave them the water cure. The water was muddy and was forced into their mouths with a funnel. After the man had been filled with water blood came from his eyes and ears. Labelle says a sergeant had charge of the cure squad. Labelle says that after the old man had been given the water cure at Anilo he was jumped upon by a soldier and the water spurted from his mouth. Bertrand has furnished Senator Lodge with particulars of the disappearance and killing of Father Augustine, a Roman Catholic priest, at Bolu. He says it was reported that Father Augustine knew where insurgent gold was buried and the men were anxious to have him tell. He says men from Company D captured him in December, 1900, and sent him in a uniform of the U. S. artillery. He was then taken to Benate and kept in a cell. He refused to tell where the gold was buried and on the night of December 9 was given the water cure. Bertrand says the priest was tied on the ground and then given the cure. The men then proceeded to get nearly all the water out of him, but he did not revive. They became frightened and a surgeon was sent for. His services proved unsuccessful, however, and Bertrand says the priest died on the morning of December 10. Some of the men were sworn to secrecy and the body was buried. Bertrand says a non-commissioned officer was seen with the priest's watch and chain, and when a commissioned officer learned this they were turned over to him. Bertrand gives the names of the men taking part and refers to several officers.

STABBING NEAR GRAND FALLS.

Hans Petersen Chided Fellow Countryman With Being a Tramp, and Had Dirk Driven Into His Neck—Condition Critical—Assailant Takes to Woods.

Grand Falls, N. B., April 24.—(Special)—A man named Hans Peter Petersen, of the Danish Settlement, east of here, was stabbed by another Dane named Anderson last evening. It appears that Petersen and a companion met Anderson near the Red school house, so called, in the settlement. Anderson is a tramp and Petersen, having accused him of being the same and having also told him that it would be better for him to be at work than running around doing nothing, Anderson threw himself upon Petersen and stabbed him in the throat with a dirk or two-edged knife, which penetrated the wind pipe. Mrs. Wade and Rouleau were called to visit Petersen and have just returned. They report that although the hemorrhage has ceased, the victim of the assault is yet in a critical condition. Immediate after the stabbing took place Anderson fled to the woods and there are several parties searching for him, but it is feared that he has escaped to the American side of the line.

MRS. GILLESPIE'S STORY. Never Had Any Money from Rent—The Stranger Who Wanted to Rent a Room—Her Husband Called on the Way to the Coroner's. In the humble Elm street home of the Gillespie's yesterday there was expressed only a wondering surprise, indeed, perhaps the faintest sign of concern, regarding the rigors of a course, which would prevent a poor man, with a family to support, from going about his daily avocation that he might be on hand to give evidence when wanted. "For, of course, they could get my man any minute they wanted him," said Mrs. Gillespie, with an appealing look at a visitor who happened along shortly after the family dinner. The house occupied by the Gillespie's has

A RECORD OF PROGRESS.

OLD TIMES.

It is, in truth, going back to old times to talk about the beginning of The Frost & Wood Company.

A very small variety of Implements and those of the simplest kind were sufficient to meet the Farmer's requirements in those days. But he wanted a good Plow—that was the first consideration.

So Frost & Wood began making Plows. That was away back in the first half of last century. They not only made Plows but they made good Plows. As a natural consequence Frost & Wood Plows became popular, and business grew.

Along in the fifties Mowing Machines were introduced, and Frost & Wood were among the first to make Mowing Machines in Canada. Horse Hay Rakes and Reapers followed, with a lot of smaller Implements in between, and then came that triumph of inventive genius—the Sheaf Binding Harvester.

Agriculture became a science and Frost & Wood were ever ready with the improved appliances, which were as much the cause as the consequence of agricultural development. One after another the manufacture of each new machine was taken up, improvements were constantly added, until the very name "Frost & Wood" has come to represent all that is latest and best in the Farm Implement line.

Frost & Wood were the first among Canadian Implement manufacturers to open up business in the Maritime Provinces. They were doing business here over thirty years ago and have been at it ever since.

SIX YEARS AGO

Frost & Wood assumed direct control of their trade in this province by establishing the St. John Branch, others having been previously opened at Toronto, London, Winnipeg, Montreal, Quebec and Truro, N. S. This move brought the manufacturer into direct relation with the farmer.

The New Branch was placed under the management of Mr. W. F. Eurditt, and business grew apace.

The growth was not confined to New Brunswick either. There was a general expansion throughout the Dominion and an unthought demand for Frost & Wood Implements from abroad.

The manufacturing capacity was taxed to its utmost, enlarged facilities provided, and these in turn found to be inadequate to supply the demand for Frost & Wood Implements.

THEN ANOTHER MOVE

was made. A joint stock company formed and Frost & Wood became the Frost & Wood Company, Limited, with capital doubled and manufacturing capacity proportionately increased.

The acquisition last year of the factory and business of the Coulthard-Scott Co., of Oshawa, was merely an incident of the general development. This rounded out the Company's list of productions by the addition of a first class line of Drills, Seeders, Wheeled Cultivators, etc.

THE LATEST MOVE

Is that by which the St. John Branch acquires increased accommodation for The Frost & Wood Company's rapidly expanding trade in the Provinces of New Brunswick and P. E. Island, which are under the management of this branch.

The new home of the St. John Branch is located on the north side of King Square, Nos. 51-55, St. John, N. B., next door to the Park Hotel. This warehouse has been especially adapted to the Company's requirements, affording greatly improved facilities for the conduct of its business here.

The main building is fifty feet square, four stories high, and basement, with an ell seventeen feet wide and fifty-three feet long, in the rear.

The upper stories and basement of the main building will be used for storage, access being had thereto through a rear entrance by means of electric power elevator.

A commodious suite of offices is fitted up in the ground floor of the ell, while upon the floors above it are the Extra Parts Department and Work-shop.

The ground floor of the main building constitutes a large, well lighted show-room about 48 feet square, where a full line of samples will be kept on view, and where visitors will be welcome whether a purchase is intended or not.

OLD CHESTS FOUND. What Police Found in Searching Through Miser's Home. Thursday afternoon a couple of chests found in Oulton's house were removed to North End police station. One was examined by Detective Killen and eight documents and nomination hand bills...

CASTORIA For Infants and Children. The other chest is as yet undisturbed. The papers in the former trunk bear dates along in the seventies and eighties. Receipts are many. Summons to the court plentiful, bonds and deeds occasionally, also, a note on an insurance policy. A small photo of a woman was discovered. It shows a woman about 50 years of age, not exactly comely, but with a good face. The dress is that of half a century ago. This photo was shown Thos. Gillespie, who affirmed that it was not a likeness of Oulton's last wife, but that it might possibly be the photograph of the first wife. The picture was replaced.

"How was the Literary Society last night, Ike?" asked William Dickey upon the morning following the discussion of the theme, "Resolved: That Man's inhumanity to Man is less bitter than Woman's inhumanity to Woman."

"No, I reckon not. This yere fellow was a foreigner an' didn't bear to yere runnin' office. Off from the map these many moons I take it. Miss Lillie Begad was readin' about his last night. Plenty eccentric an' peculiar—had as a man plannin' his position as he thought that the world needs plain speakin' up, an' sets out to twist the links out on creation. Wal, this yere fellow Jerry Simpson gits his lance—"
