DIES ON WAY TO VISIT OLD HOME.

Sad Ending of Native of Point St. Peter on Board Lady Eileen.

AWAY FOR 30 YEARS.

Afflicted with Incurable Disease, Mrs O'Cullen Wanted to see old home again.

After pluckily fighting against death for hours in order that she might see, once again, the old home-stand she left thirty years ago, Mrs Mary O'Cullen, a native of Point St Peter but for years a resident of Quebec, succumbed on board the Interprovincial Steam Navigation Co's steamer, Lady Eileen, Thursday morning last.

Mrs O'Cullen had been afflicted with asthma for some time. The disease was aggravated by her excessive fat. She was only of medium height but weighed over three hundred pounds. The doctors informed her that her recovery was highly improbable. On receiving this distressing information she resolved to pay a last visit to the old home. She boarded the Maritime express at Levis and came to Campbellton. Here she took the steamer Lady Eileen for Point St Peter. She had suffered a good deal on the way to Campbellton and was still suffering when she boarded the steamer. Every comfort was provided for her by the officers, but on the trip down river she sank rapidly and died in her berth a short distance this side of Perce. When the boat reached Perce, Capt. Crossley sent word to the coroner at that place and had her relatives at St Peter notified by telephone. The remains were removed to a nearby house where they were viewed by the coroner who decided that an inquest was not necessary. Later in the day relatives of the deceased arrived by team and conveyed the remains to St. Peter where the interment took place. Deceased was a widow.

A meeting of the Town Council was held on Tuesday evening. Very little business was transacted except the passing of a few accounts. The mayor and Council, McLean, Andrew, Miller and Deberry, were present. Accounts were passed as follows: Board of Health: Fabien Doiron, worked at dumping ground $10.00; John Mair, ground rent for pest house, $10.00; Jas E Kelly, rent of dumping ground, 15.00; Philip Langlois, 1.00; Henry McIntyre, rent of dumping ground, 15.00; Finance Com.—W A Trueman, legal services 34.00; Intercolonial Ry, ground rent for the hose shed, .25; S W Dimock, rent of hall, 14.00. Water and Sewerage Com.—Intercolonial Ry, freight, 60.50; W H Marquis, & Co supplies, 1.50; Jas Robertson, Co., 185.29; J & D A Harquail, repairs, 1.00. The account of the Provincial Hospital was again before the Council, amounting to $1,627.85. This account has been repudiated time and time again, but still the quarterly account comes along, and the amount is steadily increasing. W A Trueman, the town solicitor, submitted his opinion as to the town's liability in the matter. In the discussion which followed, it was brought out that the government intended to send a commissioner here to investigate the matter, when satisfactory settlement could probably be arranged. The solicitor's statement and the accounts were ordered filed. R M Hope was appointed Auditor of School Accounts to fill the vacancy caused by the removal from town of R H Anderson.

JURY FAILS TO FIND BILLS IN THREE CRIMINAL CASES

Judge McLatchy Says There's Enough Evidence, but Jury Can't See it.

JUDGE COMMENTS ON VERDICT LEAKING OUT

Judge McLatchy of the Restigouche County Court discovered, Tuesday, at Dalhousie that grand juries and presiding justices do not always agree. It was when the jury found no bills in three criminal cases, the defendants in which the judge had stated, should be placed on trial.

The cases comprised the full docket of the July term of court and were:—The King vs James Fitzgerald, larceny; the King vs Fred McLean, larceny; the King vs Alexander Cook, shooting at patrol No 1, a vessel in the employ of Canada.

There were no witnesses examined in the Fitzgerald case and only a few in the two other cases. The King vs McLean was taken up first and two or three witnesses were examined after which Judge McLatchy declared there was sufficient evidence to place the defendant on trial. The jury retired and the court adjourned for dinner. On the resumption of the proceedings in the afternoon the foreman of the jury announced that no bill had been found in the case under consideration. It had leaked out at noon that no bill had been found and when the Judge heard the verdict he commented severely on the fact that the public had learned it before the court.

After being advised by Judge McLatchy that there was sufficient evidence to place both Fitzgerald and Cook on trial the jury retired and in less than an hour returned with the announcement that no bills had been found. The defendants in the three cases were discharged from custody.

The following composed the grand jury:—Wm. G. Mawhinney, Wm. Jamieson, Denis A. Arsenault, Wm. C. Arsenault, James E. Stewart, Robert Wright, Frederick LeCoff, Jas. Wallace, Wm. LeBlanc, George Dawson, John Doucet, Jas. D. Murray, Reginald Chaytor, Daniel L. McCurdie, Jas. McNeish, David Jameison, Sanford Flemming, Alex. McDonald, Samuel Hynes, Wm. Innis, Paul Doyle, Daniel McAlister, and Robt L. Duncan. Daniel McAlister was elected foreman of the jury.

CHARGES HIM WITH MURDER.

Widow of Peter Fontaine has Policeman Seely Arrested.

GALLOP ALSO SERVED.

They Give Bail and Hearing is set Down for Friday Morning.

Policeman George Seely, Dalhousie was arrested at that place on Friday last on a warrant issued at the instance of Mrs Peter Fontaine, Balmoral, charging Seely with the murder of her husband. Wm. Gallop, another officer, was arrested at the same time. He is charged by one Jalbert with felonious assault.

This is the outcome of the fracas at Balmoral a few weeks ago when Peter Fontaine was fatally shot while resisting arrest at the hands of Seely and Gallop. It will be recalled that the coroner's jury returned a verdict to the effect that Fontaine met death from a bullet discharged from a revolver in the hands of Policeman Seely but was unable to agree as to the criminality of the deed.

After their arrest Seely and Gallop were taken before Magistrate Windsor. They pleaded not guilty and were remanded until Friday with the understanding that a further adjournment may be made on that day if any of the lawyers in the case are not prepared to proceed with it.

Gallop and Seely gave bail for their appearance which has been fixed at $2,000 each. The bondsmen for Gallop are Thomas Murphy and James Wall each in $500, while Gallop is held for $1,000 himself. Seely's sureties are Messrs Geo. Mercer and Thos. Scott $500 each and himself for $1,000.

W. A. Mott is acting for the defence and R. A. Lawlor, K. C., Chatham on behalf of Mrs Fontaine

WAS STONE-DEAF BUT TOOK TRACK

Train came along and Narcisse LeBlanc was Run over

LIVED ONLY FEW HOURS

Coroner's Jury Exonerated Train Crew From all Blame in Matter

Narcisse LeBlanc, a resident of Bonaventure County was killed at Irishtown, that county, Saturday last, by being run over by a train of the A and L. S. R.

LeBlanc, who was 78 years of age and stone-deaf was walking along the track at the time. The driver saw him and blew the whistle, but LeBlanc evidently didn't hear. Then the throttle was reversed, brakes applied and everything possible done to stop the train, but all to no avail. The locomotive struck LeBlanc, knocked him down and passed over one leg before it was brought to a standstill.

The unfortunate man was immediately picked up and conveyed by special train to New Richmond where Dr Cyr was in waiting; but the victim's advanced age rendered it impossible to do anything for him, and he died shortly after his arrival at New Richmond. An inquest was held, Monday at

DISCUSSES TOWN'S SUPPLY OF WATER.

Secretary of Fire Underwriters says it will be one of the Best.

INTERVIEWS COUNCIL.

Winds up with High Tribute to work of Local Fire Fighters.

At the close of the Council meeting, Tuesday evening, Peter Clinch, Secretary of the Board of Fire Underwriters, St John, had an informal discussion of the water question with the Councilors present. Mr Clinch, said that there was some uneasiness among the Board of Underwriters in regard to the water supply here and he would like to know what the town intended doing. It was expected there would be a drouth this season and now was the time to store water. He had visited the reservoir and found four or five times more water going over the spillway during the day than was contained in the reservoir. He urged that immediate steps be taken to stop this waste or procure some other source of supply.

It was explained to Mr Clinch by Coun. Andrew, chairman of the Water and Sewerage Com, that the town had secured an option on Smith Lake, which would have a capacity of storing about 200 million gallons of water. The plan was to connect the lake with the present reservoir by a valve so that the supply in the reservoir would be always kept up, and in case of a fire all of Smith Lake would be valuable. After some further discussion, Mr Clinch said that he felt quite sure that this plan would be satisfactory to the Underwriters. In fact he said that Campbellton would have one of the finest water systems to be found anywhere, when this plan was carried out and an additional main laid to the reservoir, which he supposed would eventually follow.

Mr Clinch also referred to the Commercial Hotel fire and paid a high compliment to the efficiency of the fire brigade and water system when he said that he thought it was remarkable that the other buildings adjoining were saved, in fact, much better than they could have done in St John.

St Jules. Witnesses, among whom was T. J. Caldwell, a passenger, testified that every effort had been made to stop the train before it reached LeBlanc. The son and wife of deceased testified that he was stone-deaf and that they had warned him repeatedly not to walk on the track. The section foreman, Alex. Nellis, swore that he had cautioned LeBlanc many times against taking the track.

The jury returned a verdict exonerating the train crew from all blame, the crew having done all in their power to avert the accident.

PULPWOOD AND ITS PROBLEMS

ARTICLE No. 1.

(Staff Correspondence of the Toronto Globe)

Quebec, July 9.—Some four million of spruce logs were floated down the St. Maurice River in the province of Quebec this season, of which at the outside two and a half millions were for Canadian pulp and paper mills and the rest were or are being shipped, mostly from Three Rivers, to the pulp and paper mills of the United States. What is true of the particular district named is, true also of many spruce districts of the province of Quebec and to a lesser degree of the province of New Brunswick. In other words, Canada is furnishing to Wisconsin, New York and other States of the republic to the south the raw materials to be manufactured into goods which come into competition with the manufactures of this country in the markets of the world. What is Canada getting in return? Practically nothing. True, the land is left; there is also the stumps of the trees, a comparatively small amount is obtained for labor and transportation, and that is all; while around the American mills, whose hungry maws would have no food, or not enough to satisfy them, at any rate, were it not for the raw material furnished from the Canadian side, there are busy, thriving and expanding communities, the Americans are taking the pulpwood, while the sun shines so to speak, and without being unkindly it would at least seem as though their attitude while they are so doing is that of the man who smiles at his neighbor's easiness and occasionally puts his tongue in his cheek when the situation is made the subject of conversation.

AN AWAKENING COMING.

There are, however, signs of an awakening in Canada. A staff correspondent of The Globe who made a trip through the provinces of Quebec and New Brunswick with a view to looking into the question found that there is on all sides a disposition to take stock in a belief that something practical must be done if Canada's remaining forest areas are to continue to be a source of growing revenue to this country, and are not to be largely depleted for the benefit of a people who speak the same tongue but are, and particularly in the competitions of commerce, aliens.

Naturally, opinions differ as to what steps should be taken with this end in view. So also do the conditions which would be effected by any course not yet followed, and which might be adopted by the various Provinces, or by a general method put into force by the Federal Government. At the outset, however, it may be said that the inquiry revealed a general feeling that action by the Dominion Government was the only possible course that could be followed with fairness and with any hope of effectiveness.

PROVINCES WILL NOT TAKE ACTION. There is no prospect of either Quebec or New Brunswick following the example of the late Liberal administration of Ontario and prohibiting the export of unsawn lumber from Crown lands, or compelling the manufacture of pulp and paper of Canada from pulpwood cut on such lands. In Quebec there are several reasons for this. One is that the Government of the day is in honor bound by the action of the Parent Administration in fixing the provincial tariff or tax on pulpwood cut on Crown lands at a specified rate for ten years, which period expires in 1910. Other reason have to do with politics in that Province and it is not unfair to say that neither the government nor the private members of the Quebec Legislature are anxious to take the onus of any step that might and would undoubtedly be resented by the settler or farmer.

WHERE THE SHOE PINCHES

A great many of the latter class derive no inconsiderable revenue from pulpwood, and there exists a feeling among them that undoubtedly judiciously fostered by interested parties anything which would prevent the Americans buying pulpwood from them, either directly or through the jobbers, would result in a noticeable decrease of prices. Of the "settler or the farmer" something will be said in later articles. Then again there is the contention that any measure such as that in force in Ontario would be a most unfair discrimination against those who have leased lands from the Crown under the protection afforded by the Parent regulation referred to, and an unfair advantage to the settlers, farmers and other holders of private lands from whom Americans buy large quantities of pulpwood.

NEW BRUNSWICK'S ATTITUDE.

In New Brunswick the feeling of the government, as voiced by one of its members, is that the Dominion Government should enact an export duty or a regulation absolutely prohibiting the exportation of pulpwood. It is held there that it is no part of the duty of a provincial Government to pass prohibitory measures in dealing with the lands. The exportation of pulpwood is just beginning to assume large proportions in that province which does not even collect any special tax on wood out of the country, and the matter is being seriously discussed not only by Provincial users of pulpwood, but by others who would prefer to see the raw material manufactured in their own Province, with all that would mean in the shape of new industries, new communities and big wage bills.

To conditions in Ontario it is not intended to refer just now. One point of interest, however, is worth recording namely, that the Globe found general commendation for the action of the former administration of this province in enacting the legislation above referred to in respect to lumber and pulpwood. Even among those who are opposed to any step by the Dominion Government which would prevent the Americans from taking all the pulpwood they can get from this country to manufacture it in their own, praise of this action was not withheld. It was spoken of as a courageous and most fortunate step for the Province of Ontario.

Digby N. S. GENTLEMEN.—Last August my horse was badly cut in eleven places by a barbed wire fence. Three of the cuts (small ones) healed soon, but the others became foul and rotten, and though I tried many kinds of medicine they had no beneficial result. At last a doctor advised me to use MINARD'S LINIMENT and in four weeks time every sore was healed and the hair has grown over each one in fine condition. The Liniment is certainly wonderful in its working.

Farm Facts & Fancies

GROWING HEMP.

Hemp can be easily grown in all sections of this country, but the obstacles to its successful cultivation is the labor of preparing it for market. There is a wide field for inventive genius in devising appropriate machinery for specially treating hemp and other fibrous plants which demand more labor in some sections than can be profitably bestowed on them.

DAMAGE BY THE BORER.

When currants and gooseberries have been injured by the borer as soon as the leaves start the defoliation causes are easily discovered and should be cut out as far down as the pith is eaten out and burned at once. The eggs are laid about June 1, and as soon as hatched the young borer eats its way into the cane, there remaining until the following season.

SELECTING MELONS.

In selecting cantaloupes do not aim to secure a large size for family use. The best flavored and sweetest varieties are the small kinds, and they are also the earliest. Watermelons, however, should be large, as the larger the melon the less waste, while they are also fully equal in quality to the smaller kind.

CULTURE OF BUCKWHEAT.

We have found a light, loamy soil on the uplands very desirable and satisfactory for buckwheat, writes a correspondent of the Agriculturalist. I plow as soon as I can after the corn and other crops are in. I let the land lay until I am ready to sow some time about the first half of June. I have sown buckwheat after buckwheat on the same land for many years. The field I had in last year had been the same crop 12 years in succession. The yield varies from 17 to 20 bushels an acre. This I know is in sharp contrast with some yields reported from higher altitudes. I understand in the Allegheny mountain section their average yield is in the neighborhood of 40 bushels. I have also had crops run as high as 40 bushels and as low as five.

I do not use any sort of commercial fertilizer, as my experience with it has not given me satisfactory results. Some years ago I used the commercial fertilizer with this crop, but failed to see the difference in the rows side by side, where it was used and where it was not used. We aim to get the crop in from July 1 to 12, using one bushel seed an acre, putting it in with the drill. I prefer Japanese and Silver Hall mixed half and half.

This crop matures in this locality about the middle of September. I think the fair average yield for the whole section would be about 10 bushels an acre. We usually cut the crop with a self-binder, setting it up four bundles in a bunch and hauling it to the threshing in the field as soon as it is dry enough. Last year we threshed some buckwheat that had been cut only two days. The straw was rather wet but the grain was dry.

DR. FOWLER'S
WILD STRAWBERRY

It is nature's specific for Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Cramps, Colic, Pain in the Stomach, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, Sea Sickness, Summer Complaint, etc.
Rapid and reliable in its action.
Its effects are marvellous, and it is pleasant and harmless to take.
It has been a household remedy for sixty-two years.
Refuse substitutes. They are dangerous.

Mrs. Wm. Flewelling, Arthur, Ont., writes: "I find it much pleasure to recommend Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry as a grand cure for Summer Complaint. My little boy, one year old, was very bad with it, and a few doses cured him. I also used it on my other six children for cramps and still have half the bottle left. I cannot praise it too much."

Kidney Disease
And Its Danger.

Kidney disease comes on quietly—may have been in the system for years, before you suspected the real cause of your trouble. There may have been backaches, neuralgia, sciatica, rheumatism, etc. Perhaps you did not know these were symptoms of kidney disease, so the trouble kept on growing worse, until disturbances of the water appeared, or there was gravel or retention of urine, or some such sign of kidney trouble.
Doan's Kidney Pills should be taken at the first sign of anything wrong; they strengthen the kidneys and help them to filter the blood properly—help them to flush off, and carry away with the surplus water, all those impurities which the blood gathers up in its circuit of the body.
Mrs. Alfred LeBlanc, Black Cape, Que., writes: "I feel it my duty to say that Doan's Kidney Pills. I suffered dreadful pains across my back—so bad I could not sleep or bend. After having used two boxes I now feel most completely cured. I highly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills."

KEEP IT OUT FOR GOOD.

In order to eliminate one factor that always increases disturbances the Ontario government issued orders last week that no liquor should be carried into Cobalt, where there is a strike of 2,500 miners. Hotels in neighboring towns are also forbidden to sell liquor in packages.
This is a wise move. There will be enough trouble before the strike is settled, without any intoxicated irresponsible to fan the flames. The government's action is a plain confession that liquor-drinking tends to create and multiply disturbance. This granted, why not prohibit the importation and sale in all places and at all times? Nothing good can at any time result from the traffic; and much loss of life, health and property would be avoided were all governments to permanently outlaw the business.

THE DOCTOR AWAY FROM HOME WHEN MOST NEEDED

People are often very much disappointed to find that their family physician is away from their home when they must need his services. Diseases like cramp colic and cholera morbus require prompt treatment, and have in many instances proven fatal before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. The best way is to keep on hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy. No physician can prescribe a better medicine for these diseases. By having it in the house you escape much pain and suffering and all risk. Buy it now; it may save life. For sale by all Druggists.

WHY THE POOR ARE DISCONTENTED.

One can hardly credit the story that is told of child-labor and sweat-shop methods in some English cities, and yet the story is told by a factory inspector. He quotes from a review in a recent letter from London:—
"Miss Givrie, a lady inspector of factories, giving evidence touching the evils of home-work before a committee of the British House of Commons, said that the employment of children was very prevalent in the lace trade in Nottingham. It was quite a common thing at the dinner-hour to see children busy with lace work without having stopped to take off their jacket. The children were given something to eat on the way back to school. It was said that children started to work at four years of age, and she herself had seen children working at six years of age. Children twelve years old were found earning several shillings a week on their own account. In the Birmingham metal trade children were employed at home sorting out small articles. They could

IN PROSPEROUS NEW BRUNSWICK.

In a corner of one of the supervised playgrounds on Saturday a little girl was observed crying in a disconsolate way, and when approached by a sympathetic lady she said in answer to enquiry:—
"They say I'm too dirty to play with them in the sand pile."
The child's dress was certainly not clean but when she explained the reason there were tears very close to the eyes of the lady who listened:—
"Mamma was going to wash it last night, but she works in the factory and my father was so sick she had to wait on him."
The father ill, the mother working in the factory to support the home, and the little girl repulsed by playmates because her dress was not as clean as theirs. Here is a little story of heart interest, the pathos of which should not be lost upon men and women whose children are denied nothing that love and care and ample means should provide for them.
Some people have said there is no need of playgrounds, now that Rockwood Park is open with all its grand attractions. Of what value is Rockwood Park to this little girl and hundreds of others too small to go there and too poor to pay for the pleasures offered? If well-to-do citizens would visit the more congested districts in the town and look about them, taking note of the little children in the streets and gutters and back-yards or peering furtively out of alleys and doorways, they would never again question the desirability of an effort to introduce a little more sunshine in these young lives.

TAKE THE POSTMASTER'S WORD FOR IT

Mr. F. M. Hamilton, postmaster at Cherryville, Ind., keeps also a stock of general merchandise and patent medicines. He says: "Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is standard here in its line. It never fails to give satisfaction and we could hardly do without it." For sale by all Druggists.

CHILD'S PLAY.

Working men learn slowly. The Dutch dock-laborers struck in Rotterdam a few days ago because of the introduction of elevators in unloading grain ships. Only by an imposing display of military and naval force on the part of the government have the laborers been prevented from smashing the new machinery and wrecking the ships. Similar riots occurred all over England seventy or eighty years ago, when labor-saving machinery was being introduced on a large scale. Many machines were destroyed, but new machines were permanently installed just the same; and the workers had to accommodate themselves to the new conditions. So will the Dutchmen. The wheels of progress will not stop for them in Holland any more than for the agricultural and other workmen of England in the last century. Machinery is too evidently a blessing to humanity to be discarded at this late date. However, the fact remains that every machine introduced tends to lessen the remuneration and permanency of employment. But the fault is not with the machine, it is with the ownership of the machine. The machine always saves money for its owners. When the laborers wake up to the fact that their numerical majority makes it possible for them to use legislative means, to obtain possession of the machinery they operate, they will see how foolish was the custom of stopping work and smashing things to gain their ends. For a hundred years or more the great mass of laboring men have wasted more energy in useless strikes than they have expended to put them in complete control of every government in Europe and America.

Safest Medicine for Women's Complaints

Women certainly do neglect themselves. They work too hard—over-tax their strength—and then wonder why they suffer with diseases peculiar to their sex.
Most cases of female trouble start when the bowels become inactive—the kidneys strained—and the skin not cared for. Poisons, which should leave the system by these organs, are taken up by the blood and inflame the delicate female organs.

Fruit-a-tives

ON FRUIT LIVER TABLETS remove the CAUSE of these diseases. "Fruit-a-tives" sweeten the stomach—make the bowels move regularly every day—strengthen the kidneys—improve the action of the skin—and thus purify the blood.
"Fruit-a-tives" take away those distressing headaches, backaches and bearing-down pains, and make women well and strong. "Fruit-a-tives" are a pleasant, natural, and safe remedy. Sold by all druggists—or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Among the victims of the terrible electric storm of Tuesday the 9th inst., was the thirteen year old daughter of Jacob Trites, I. C. R. section man, at Painesec. Trites' daughter was standing in the door of her father's house when struck and instantly killed. The coroner's jury found her drowned, but none of the other occupants were injured beyond a slight shock. The child's death was undoubtedly due to standing in the draught in the doorway.

What is a Backache?

IT IS NATURE'S WARNING TO WOMEN
Diseases of Women's Organs Cured and Consequent Pain Stopped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
"It seems as though my back would break." Women utter these words over and over again, but continue to drag along and suffer with aches in the small of the back, pain low down in the side, "bearing-down" pains, nervousness and no ambition for any task.
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been for many years the one and only effective remedy in such cases. It cures female organs and kidney disorders and restores the female organs to a healthy condition.
Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
"I suffered a long time with female trouble, having intense pains in the back and abdomen and very sick headaches every month. I was tired and nervous all the time and life looked very dreary to me and I had no desire to live until I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and to get some relief. My recovery was slow but it was sure, and I never regretted the money spent for the Compound as it brought me back to good health.
It seems to be a medicine especially adapted to the life of our sex, and I am glad to say a good word for it."—Mrs. Albert Mann, 154 Gore Vale Ave., Toronto, Ont.
No other person can give such helpful advice to women who are sick as can Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham. Her address is Lynn, Mass., and her advice free.

A TAX WANTED.

We commend to the lumbermen and business men generally of this county, an article on another page of this issue, dealing with the pulpwood situation in Canada. The writer points out that the exportation of pulpwood from Quebec and New Brunswick to the United States is slowly draining the forest resources of these provinces without any substantial benefit being derived therefrom; and he reaches the sane conclusion that steps should be taken to prevent the depletion of our forests in this manner. He would prohibit the exportation of pulpwood altogether, or failing that, would impose such a task as would render the exportation prohibitive. We quite agree with him. The forests of the United States are rapidly becoming depleted. The American manufacturers of pulp and paper are looking to Canada more and more every day for their supply of raw material. Before long they will depend upon us almost entirely for their supply. It seems highly unfair, not to say silly that one of the greatest resources of this country should be utilized almost solely for the benefit of American manufacturers and American communities. If a prohibitive tax were placed on the exportation of pulpwood it would have a tendency, if indeed it would not compel, American manufacturers to build and operate pulp and paper mills on this side of the border. Let us have such a tax.

THE SUMMER GIRL.

(Written for publication July 1 but owing to certain peculiarities of the weather not published until today.)
Now doth the summer girl venture blithely from her winter wraps. Into the street and into the groves, into the sunlight and under the trees she trips daintily. Shyly she comes for she has watched the whimsies of the weather and thinks she must beware. But she comes. That is the great, cheering, thrilling fact—she comes. Here and there you see her. Sometimes she is revealed in the dashing simplicity of the shirt waist. Sometimes she is marked by daintiness of parasol and gayness of hat. Sometimes she is all lace and fluffiness. She of the lace and fluffiness is the summer girl full-grown. She is the supreme poem of summer. The pink that smiles through her peek-a-boo, the airiness about her that makes her seem of the ether itself, the delicacy that pervades her whole make-up—these transform her into a sonnet. Almost any girl who is prose at other seasons is verse in summer. In two more weeks the summer girl will not steal forth so shyly, for she will be in the height of her season. She will then rule in a kingdom all hers. Everywhere the stern masculine eye turns it will be delighted by the vision of her. What were mere flowers—mere daffodils and roses—then? Make way for the summer girl.

NOTE AND COMMENT

"How many of you are saving money?" asked John D. Rockefeller the other day of a group of reporters who gathered about him for an interview. The grand old man of the Standard Oil Company, as his conferees would like to call him, is evidently imbued with the idea that prodigality is a prevailing weakness among young men. Right you are, John D; it is! There is nothing parsimonious in the makeup of the average young man today, we can tell you. He labors in order that he may have pleasure, he earns money in order that he may spend it. We believe that young men should have plenty of relaxation, but we do not believe that they should spend their last dollar to obtain it—and let it be said that the less pleasure a man takes in early life the more he will be able to take in after years and vice versa.

The large development of camps for boys is a phase of summer life to be commended. The wise purpose of them all is to direct the irrepressible youthful activities in way to serve the physical and moral development of boys and to make them self-reliant and manly. The best of these camps have rules designed to serve the common interest that are made to be lived up to and not to be broken and so lessons of obedience and respect for the rights of others are enforced. Method of this sort is especially desirable, for the sooner boys are taught to obey orders the better for their future prospects. Of especial value are the Young Men's Christian Association camps where the charges are light, the oversight first class and the benefit widely diffused. The Maritime Boy's Camp is now being held at Big Cove Pictou County, N. S., and we are pleased to note that several Campbellton boys are in attendance. They will doubtless return in fit condition to resume school work.

A young girl of 19 residing at Altoona, Pa. was led astray by a minister of the gospel. The pair were discovered at midnight in a hotel room. The minister confessed his guilt and left the town. The girl went to Sunday school as usual the following Sunday. Her presence proved objectionable to members of the school and the trustees requested her to leave the audience room. She complied without a protest. What in the name of all that's good and godly are churches and Sunday schools for? Surely not to cast out lost souls, but to reclaim them. As Christ said:—"They that are well need not a physician but they that are sick." We are inclined to think that the Sunday school goes of Altoona committed as great a sin if not greater, in banishing this young girl from the church than that committed by the girl herself. Had they desired to do so, they could not have adopted a better method of bringing about her complete ruin. Cast out by the church she may seek admission to the brothel where she is sure of a welcome and perhaps—who knows—those who were loudest in their demands for her expulsion should be branded by the scarlet letter themselves. One thing certain, it is just such episodes in church life as this, which is rendering the task of the honest man in the pulpit all the more difficult and keeping the honest man outside the church away from its doors.

But from this time on, the lid's on precocity at our house, if I've got anything to say about it."

"The night of the glorious twelfth I met two of the boys, and some one suggested a quiet little game. It was to last just till 10 o'clock—no later—and I thought it would be a good chance to tell the wife I met a friend from Newcastle."

"Well, I was only about $4.35 to the bad when we quit a little before 2 o'clock, which wasn't such a poor showing considering some of the hands that were held."

"Of course there wasn't any reason for rousing my wife out of a good sleep when I got home, and I just took off my shoes downstairs, so's to get up to the room with just as wee a bit of noise as possible. I looked in and saw that my wife was asleep all right—poor girl, I felt mean for leaving her alone all evening, and our little Tommy was quiet enough in his little nest over in the far corner."

"But I was overlooking a pair of openers when I thought he was asleep too. I had just set down my shoes when I heard his little voice pipe out: 'Hee, I see you. You can't fool me.'"

"Of course, he thought I was coming in to play with him. But at the time I looked for him to speak up and ask me how much I went in the hole."

William Shortell, Halifax, a tramp umbrella mender, was on Saturday night killed by an I. C. R. train at Beresford, by a west-bound freight special in charge of Conductor Dickie. The body was fearfully mutilated. Shortell was with a companion, also an umbrella mender, the two lay down to sleep in the station house, according to the story which is told by Shortell's companion. The latter says he awoke after they had been lying there for some time, and found that Shortell had gone. On Sunday morning, the mutilated remains were found by the side of the track, the head and arms were severed from his body. It is supposed that Shortell was boarding Cond. Dickie's west bound special for the purpose of getting a ride, when he fell between the cars, and was ground to death beneath the wheels.

A man who said he was Arthur Hudson was arrested last evening by I. C. R. policeman Savoy, on a charge of trespassing. In court this morning, he was fined $1. and costs.

I. C. R. policeman Savoy rounded up a tramp last night. He placed him in the police station and this morning the hobo who said his name was Hiram Mousire, was given free board and room at Dalhousie for fifteen days. The charge against him was stealing a ride on a train.

While asleep in its cradle in the same room with its parents a Ramsay street baby had its nose frightfully bitten by a rat early Monday morning. On investigation found its nose covered with blood. The flesh was badly lacerated particularly about the bridge and it was some time before the flow of blood could be stopped. Later in the morning the baby was attended by a physician.

Dalhousie may shortly be the scene of extensive industrial operations. There is a strong probability that the firm of Edwards and McLean, owners of sixteen miles of timber limits in Bonaventure county may erect large mills in or near the town, in the near future. Senator Edwards, head of the firm, accompanied by several capitalists is now at Dalhousie looking over the ground and it is said is favorably impressed with it. The firm is desirous of manufacturing somewhere in close proximity to the I. C. R. Industries have been offered at Dalhousie and Bathurst. New Mills is also under consideration. The party is taking several days in looking over suitable sites both in Restigouche county and Bonaventure county. They are being shown every attention at Dalhousie by Mayor Montgomery and Town Solicitor Harquail.

The sports to have been held under the auspices of Heine Lodge, L. O. F. No 65 on the 12th, but which were postponed, came off on Dimock's field last evening and proved highly successful. Bakers Hotel, Gaspé, that delightful seaside resort is now filled with Americans and upper Canadian tourists. They are coming and going daily and all speak in the highest terms of the manner of which the hotel is conducted. Proprietor Baker comes in for many words of praise.

Mr L. T. Joudry, of Campbellton, has purchased a very stylish road mare from Mr F. A. Ward of this city. The price paid is said to be about $175.00. He also purchased a valuable draft horse from Mr David Crossman, of Dorchester, while in the city. Mr Joudry is an excellent judge of horseflesh.—Moncton Transcript.

When Mrs George Duncan came to Campbellton on the twelfth from her summer home in Tobique she discovered that her thirteen year old son William, who had been working in town was missing. She learned from Mrs John Moore at whose home the boy had boarded that he had not been seen for two or three days. On inquiry it was learned that the boy frequented the schooner Empress while she was in port. The Empress sailed for New York about the time the boy was first missed and it is supposed he ran away on her. An effort is being made to head him off at Canso at which port the vessel will call.

H. H. Hilyard, of the Dalhousie Lumber Co returned from a trip to Europe last week. Before proceeding to his home at St John he spent several days in Dalhousie, looking over the situation there. Several mills have been leased and a rotary mill is being installed on the old ground at Dalhousie, so that things are now going ahead nicely again. In speaking to a reporter for the St John Sun, Mr Hilyard said at the present time there was a general depression in the lumber business, but appeared very sanguine that the tone of the market would be much better in the fall. Along the North Shore Mr Hilyard said that lumber appeared to be being shipped as fast as it was ready. The mills he thought would have just about sufficient work to run out the season. The car shortage has effected the lumber interest along the North shore just as it has effected other industries recently, Mr Hilyard said he could not state as yet whether or not the mills at Dalhousie burned would be rebuilt.

Accompanied by their wives and lady friends, members of the Pittsburg Commandery of Knights Templars, the largest organization of its kind in the world reached here Sunday afternoon in a special train from Quebec. The party is on a sight seeing tour of Eastern Canada. They left home on July 7th, and after going to Saratoga visited Montreal. Then they came on to Quebec, where they spent Saturday. Then they came to Campbellton. They spent about an hour here after which their train pulled out for Moncton. While here they expressed themselves as charmed with the scenic beauties of the Restigouche. A number of colored musicians with the party, discoursed southern melodies at the station greatly to the delight of those who were fortunate enough to be on hand. John H. Niebaum is the Eminent Commander of Pittsburg Commandery. He is the junior of the chairman of the committee of ways and means and the man in charge of the arrangements of the trip. He and his assistant, Mr W. A. Early are the busy men of the party, but all the others are loud in their praises of the good work they have done and agree that the trip is proving most enjoyable.

Tickets for Miss Lena Duthes' concert are selling well. The Com. advise securing them early.

By HENRY SETON MERRIMAN
Author of "The Sowers," "Roderic's Career," "From One Generation to Another," Etc.

Copyright, 1894, by HARPER & BROTHERS

Thus it came about that the dawn found Jocelyn moving softly in the room, with Nestorius asleep in her arms. A pink light came creeping through the trees, presently turning to a golden yellow, and, behold, it was light! It was a little cooler, for the sea breeze had set in. The cool air from the surface of the water was rushing inland to supply the place of the heated atmosphere rising toward the sun. With the breeze came the increased murmur of the distant surf. The dull continuous sound seemed to live amid the summits of the trees far above the low built house. It rose and fell with a long drawn rhythmic swing. Already the sounds of life were mingling with it—the low of a cow, the crowing of the cocks, the hum of the noisier daylight insect life.

Jocelyn moved to the window, and her heart suddenly leaped to her throat. On the brown turf in front of the house were two men stretched side by side as if other hands had laid them there dead. One man was much bigger than the other. He was of exceptional stature. Jocelyn recognized them almost immediately—Guy Oswald and Joseph. They had arrived during the night and, not wishing to disturb the sleeping household, had lain them down in the front garden to sleep with a quiet conscience beneath the stars. The action was so startlingly characteristic, so suggestive of the primeval, simple man whom Oswald represented as one born out of time, that Jocelyn laughed suddenly.

While she was still at the window Marie rose and came to her side. Nestorius was still sleeping. Following the direction of her mistress's eyes, Marie saw the two men. Joseph was sleeping on his face, after the manner of Thomas Atkins all the world over. Guy Oswald lay on his side, with his head on his arm.

"That is so like Guy Oswald," said Marie, with her patient smile; "so like, so like. It could be no other man—do a thing like that."

Jocelyn gave Nestorius back to his mother, and the two women stood for a moment looking out at the sleepers. Little knowing what the advent of these two men brought with it for one of them. Then the Englishwoman went to change her dress, awaking her brother as she passed his room.

It was not long before Maurice Gordon had hospitably awakened the travelers and brought them in to change their torn and ragged clothes for something more presentable. It would appear that Nestorius was not particular. He did not mind dying on the kitchen table if need were. His mother deposited him on this table on a pillow, while she prepared the breakfast with that patient resignation which seemed to emanate from having tasted of the worst that the world has to give.

Joseph was ready the first, and he promptly repaired to the kitchen, where he set to work to help Marie with his customary energy.

It was Marie who first perceived a difference in Nestorius. His dusky little face was shining with a sudden, weakening perspiration, his limbs lay lifelessly, with a lack of their usual comfortable looking grace.

"Go!" she said quickly. "Fetch Miss Gordon!"

Jocelyn came, and Maurice and Guy Oswald; for they had been together in the dining room when Joseph delivered Marie's message.

Nestorius was wide awake now. When he saw Oswald his small face suddenly expanded into a brilliant grin. "Bad case!" he said.

It was rather startling, until Marie spoke. "He thinks you are Mr. Meredith," she said. "Mr. Meredith taught him to say 'bad case.'"

Nestorius looked from one to the other with gravely speculative eyes, which presently cleared.

"He is dying—yes!" said the mother, looking at Jocelyn.

Marie raised her shoulders with a pathetic gesture of resignation. "The sleeping sickness," she said, "what will you? There is no remedy. He always said he would die of that. He feared it."

In the greater sorrow she seemed to have forgotten her child, who was staring open eyed at the ceiling. The two others, the boy and girl, were playing on the doorstep with some unconsidered trifles from the dust heap, after the manner of children all the world over.

"He was not a good man," said Marie, turning to Jocelyn, as if she alone of all present would understand. "He was not a good husband, but"—she shrugged her shoulders with one of her patient, shadowy smiles—"it makes so little difference—yes?"

Jocelyn said nothing. None of them had ought to say to her, for each in that room could lay a separate sin at Victor Durvov's door. He was gone beyond reach of human justice to the higher court where the extenuating circumstance is fully understood. The generosity of that silence was infectious, and they told her nothing. Had they spoken she would perhaps have believed them, but then, as she herself said, it would have made so little difference. So Victor Durvov leaves these pages, and all we can do to remember the writing on the ground. Who among us dares to withhold the extenuating circumstance? Who is ready to leave this world without that clutch to lean upon? Give us a mixed blood—evil black with evil white—and what can the result be but evil? Given the climate of western Africa and the mental irritation thereof, added to a lack of education and the natural vice inherent in man, and you have—Victor Durvov.

Nestorius—the shameless—stretched out his little bare limbs and turned half over on his side. He looked from one face to the other with the grave wonder that was his. He had never been taken much notice of. His short walk in life had been very near the ground, where trifles look very large, and from whence those larger stumbling blocks which occupy our attention are quite invisible. He had been the third—the solitary third child who usually makes his own interest in life, and is left by or leaves the rest of his family.

It was not quite clear to him why he was the center of so much attention. His mind did not run to the comprehension of the fact that he was the wearer of borrowed plumes—the sable plumage of King Death.

He had always wanted to get on to the kitchen table. There was much there that interested him and supplied him with food for thought. He had risked his life on more than one occasion in attempts to scale that height with the assistance of a sauceman that turned over and poured culinary delicacies on his toes, or perhaps a sleeping cat that got up and walked away much annoyed. And now that he was at last at this dizzy height he was sorry to find that he had no food for thought.

He was rather too tired to convey his forefinger to his mouth, and was forced to work out mental problems without that aid to thought.

Presently his eyes fell on Guy Oswald's face, and again his own small features expanded into a smile.

"Bad case!" he said, and turning over, he nestled down into the pillow, and he had the answer to the many questions that puzzled his small brain.

As through an opera runs the rhythm of one dominant air, so through men's lives there rings a dominant note, soft in youth, strong in manhood and soft again in old age. But it is always there, and whether soft in the gentler periods or strong amid the noise and clang of the perihelion, it dominates the life and gives its tone to the whole life.

The dominant tone of Sir John Meredith's existence had been the high, clear note of battle. He had always found something or some one to fight from the very beginning, and now, in his old age, he was fighting still. His had never been the din and crash of warfare by sword and cannon, but the subtler, deeper combat of the pen. In his active days he had got through a vast amount of work; that unchronicled agent of the swift, rolling fleet, than by the Thames, and grim Sir John was content to have it so.

His face had never been public property; the comic papers had never used his personality as a peg upon which to hang their ever changing political principles. But he had always been "there," as he himself vaguely put it. That is to say, he had always been at the back—some of those invisible powers of the stage by whose command the scene is shifted, the lights are lowered for the tragedy, or the gay music plays on the buffoon. Sir John had no sympathy with a generation of men and women who would rather be laughed at and despised than unnoticed. He belonged to an age wherein it was held better to be a gentleman than the object of a cheap and evanescent notoriety, and he was at once the despair and the dread of newspaper interviewers, enterprising publishers and tuft hunters.

He was so little known out of his own select circle that the porters in Euston station asked each other in vain who the old swell waiting for the 4 o'clock "up" from Liverpool could be. The 4 o'clock was, moreover, not the first express which Sir John had met that day. His stately carriage and pair had pushed its way into the crowd of smaller and humbler vehicular fry earlier in the afternoon, and on that occasion also the old gentleman had indulged in a grave promenade upon the platform.

He was walking up and down there now, with his hand in the small of his back, where of late he had been aware of a constant aching pain. He was very upright, however, and supremely unconscious of the curiosity aroused by his presence in the mind of the station "canaille." His lips were rather more troublesome than usual, and his keen eyes twinkled with a suppressed excitement.

In former days there had been no one equal to him in certain diplomatic crises, where it was a question of brooding and subtly applying representative of some foreign state. No man could then rival him in the insolently aristocratic school of diplomacy which England has made her own. But in his most dangerous crisis he had never been restless, apprehensive, pessimistic, as he was at this moment. It was a very simple matter that had brought him here. It was merely the question of meeting a man as if by accident, and then afterward making that man do certain things required of him. Moreover, the man was only Guy Oswald, learned, if you will, in forest craft, but a mere child in the hands of so old a diplomatist as Sir John Meredith.

That which made Sir John so uneasy was the abiding knowledge that Jack's wedding day would dawn in twelve hours. The margin was much too small, through, however, no fault of Sir John's. The west African steamer had been delayed, unaccountably, two days. A third day lost in the Atlantic would have overthrown Sir John Meredith's plan. He had often cut things fine before, but somehow now—not that he was getting old, oh, no!—but somehow the suspense was too much, for his nerves. He soon became irritated and distrustful. Besides, the pain in his back wearied him and interfered with the clear sequence of his thoughts.

The owners of the west African steamer had telegraphed that the passengers had left for London in two separate trains. Guy Oswald was not in the first—there was no positive reason why he should be in the second. More depended upon his being in this second express than Sir John cared to contemplate.

The course of his peregrinations brought him into the vicinity of an inspector whose attitude betokened respect while his presence raised hope.

"Is there any reason to suppose that your train is coming?" he inquired of the official.

"Signaled now, my lord," replied the inspector, touching his cap.

"And what does that mean?" unconpromisingly ignorant of technical parlance.

"It will be in in one minute, my lord."

Sir John's hand was over his lips as he walked back to the carriage, casting as it were the commander's eye over the field.

"When the crowd is round the train you come and look for me," he said to the footman, who touched his cockaded hat in silence.

PAIN

Pain in the head—pain anywhere, has its cause. Pain in the head is blood pressure—nothing else usually. At least so says Dr. Shoop, and he proves it by his little pink tablet. That little pink tablet, Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets, coaxes blood pressure away from pain centers, its effect is to bring blood pressure down to normal, though safely, it surely equalizes the blood circulation.

If you have a headache, it's blood pressure. If it's painful periods with women, same cause. If you are sleepless, restless, nervous, it's blood pressure. That's why Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets are so effective. They coaxes blood pressure away from pain centers, its effect is to bring blood pressure down to normal, though safely, it surely equalizes the blood circulation.

WOMAN'S WORLD

Miss Frey, chosen as the most beautiful woman in America, is tall and of the blonde type of beauty. She has a wealth of golden hair and large deep blue eyes. She is nineteen years of age. She lives with her widowed mother in a quiet little street in Denver. In selecting her as the winner of the first prize in Colorado, the committee based its decision on the following six characteristics: Her perfect profile, her rose and cream complexion, her eyes, her hair, her perfect teeth, and her purity of expression.

The first requisite of a delicious summer salad is French dressing. Boiled dressings or mayonnaise are rather heavy to combine with fresh vegetables.

The real French dressing sounds like a complicated article, but it can be made in quantities, poured into a covered jar and kept on ice indefinitely. Its flavor is truly delicious and far above the insipid mixture of oil and vinegar which generally passes under the title of "French dressing."

In a deep china bowl place a level teaspoonful of Oriental curry powder, half a teaspoonful of French mustard, a light saucerful of English ground mustard, a light teaspoonful of cayenne pepper, one teaspoonful of parsley, fresh, finely chopped, washed and drained; half a teaspoonful of finely chopped, fresh chives; two medium shallots, peeled and chopped; one fourth of a small bean of garlic finely crushed; four teaspoonfuls of salt and one light teaspoonful of white pepper, the rind of a quarter of a lemon, finely chopped. Mix these ingredients together firmly with a silver or wooden fork, and then add a tablespoonful of olive oil that has been chilled, and mash until this mixture is a pulp. Add gradually four tablespoonfuls of good white wine vinegar, mix thoroughly again and add more vinegar and oil in the proportion of two-thirds oil to one-third vinegar until you have a quart in all. Press through a fine strainer into a stone or glass jar and set in a cool place until ready for use. Always shake the dressing thoroughly before pouring over a salad.

A delicious mixed salad consists of tomatoes, peeled and sliced thin, a few slices of onion and one cu-

DOCTORS USING PATENT MEDICINES

The Honest Physician is Anxious to Cure and Uses the Best Available Remedies.

The proposed legislation, through the Dominion Parliament for the regulation of the manufacture and sale of patent or proprietary medicines is of the utmost importance, and it is receiving a great deal of attention, not only by the proprietary medicine manufacturers, but also by the leading doctors and druggists. Every manufacturer of reliable and high class remedies welcomes the bill as a step in the right direction. The discussion has brought out the fact that the best physicians in Canada and on the continent approve of and prescribe Psychine in cases of the most difficult character. In a recent instance of very serious throat and lung trouble the patient had been using Psychine. Two leading United States specialists were consulted, in addition to two eminent Canadian physicians. Upon learning what the patient was using, a sample of Psychine was taken and analyzed, with the result that the physicians advised its continuance. They prescribed no other medicine but Psychine, with the result that the patient has fully recovered and is a splendid walking and talking advertisement for the wonderful curative power of a remedy that will "stand up" before the keenest professional criticism and analysis. As a builder up of the system and restorer of all wasted conditions, Psychine has no equal, and the best and most earnest physicians recognize this fact.

"At the age of 25 my lungs were in a terrible state. I had a grippe the year before. I settled on my lungs and I kept steadily growing worse till I got down so low I was in bed for six weeks. I had a consultation of doctors, and they said they could do nothing more for me. Then I started to use Psychine. I took the medicine for more than a year. It certainly did wonders for me. I am now as strong as I was before my sickness."

Mrs. H. B. ROPE, Morpeth, Ont. Psychine, pronounced Si-keen, is the greatest of tonics, building up the system, increasing the appetite, purifying the blood, aids digestion, and acts directly upon the throat and lungs, giving tone and vigor to the entire system. At all druggists, 50c. and $1.00. Dr. T. A. Sloan, Limited, 179 King Street West, Toronto.

CHIFFONADE SALAD.

This is an excellent way to use up vegetable left-overs. Have for your fourth portion a bed of crisp, white lettuce heart leaves. On one quarter of the salad dish arrange a mound of cold string beans on another quarter have tomatoes cut in small disks and onions chopped fine; on a third quarter arrange some asparagus tips and on the last cold beets with chopped whites of eggs and yolks pressed through a vegetable press. Pour French dressing over all, mix the veg. tables together before serving and be sure to have all ice cold.

It does not take very long to write a letter, and everyone knows the pleasure involved in getting one; but like all other good things, letter writing can be over done. Generally it is the girl just out of school who over does it, and later in life she counts it as one of the things she should have left undone.

When a girl goes away from home to visit a friend, she should, the next day without fail, write a nice little note to her mother, saying that she arrived safely, and then from time to time she should write short notes home in order that the family may know what she is doing and that she is well. If mother leads a busy life and does not answer these letters, that is no excuse for the girl who is visiting and has nothing to do all day except amuse herself. When she leaves the house of her friend she should, within a day or two, write a nice letter of thanks to the mother of the girl whom she has visited. To use a common phrase this should be your real "bread and butter" letter, and then later you can resume your regular correspondence with your girl friend. The girl who is always nice to her elders is the girl who is popular with both men and girls. It may not seem worth while at the time, but take my word for it—it pays in the long run.

The girl who spends the entire summer away from home at a hotel or boarding house or even the girl who only stays at such places for a week or two, often becomes very well acquainted with some young man. He makes love to her, more or less of the vacation brand, and she lets him. Sometimes he means this, but often it is words that mean nothing. After they separate, they start a correspondence. The girl writes how lonesome she is without him, or how she wishes he were back, and sometimes for a while he answers in the same vein. But take my word for it, the average man is not foolish enough to put down in black and white the things that women do. He is generally too wise. Think what you like, say what you will—but be very, very careful what you put down on a piece of paper, especially when you are sitting alone in your room with only a dim light for company and a lonely feeling in your heart. It is there to stay forever, evidence for or against you. Write to him if you will, chatty little letters, about where you have been and what the others are doing, but don't I pray of you, write love letters to the chance acquaintance that you met in the summer hotel. I do not mean to say that you do not miss him, but you need not tell him so until he has found out that he cannot live happily without you and has asked you to marry him.

Let your correspondence be wide and write often. The girl who writes a letter once a month, looks upon it as a bore, a task to be put off from day to day; but the girl who writes several letters a week, finds them a great source of comfort, a relief from drudgery and dullness. Cultivate the girls you met at school and who live away from your home town. Write letters to your men friends—the kind of letters that you can read to the family and see that he writes the same sort to you. Men, as a rule, are broader-minded than women, and correspondence with them has a good effect on the mind of the growing girl. Then, too, remember what I said about the elders. Don't forget your grandmother, the aunts and uncles away from home. Write to them once in a while and tell them the home news. The little things that happen every day to you might be an event in the lives of lonely old people, who have lived the best of their lives.

A girl's character can be read in her letters almost always, and hence it is wise to write a good one. Write your acceptances and regrets to invitations promptly. When writing invitations to guests to your own home, allow ample time for an answer. If you would only make it so, letter writing is one of the most pleasant occupations possible, and the more you write, the better you will like it, and so long as you are making others happy, you are doing good in this world so full of sorrow.

JUDGMENT IN FAVOR of "Baby's Own Soap" given by Judge Burbridge.

The Albert Soap Company recently brought an action against Drysalter Ltd., manufacturers of "Mothers Favorite Soap" for infringement of their trade-marks. This being a matter of general interest, we print below the finding of Judge Burbridge in this case, which forbids the sale of that soap in its present style.

Between Albert Soaps, Limited, plaintiffs, and Drysalter, Limited, defendants.

"The action is brought by the plaintiffs, who are manufacturers of soap, to restrain the defendants, who are in the same business, from infringing certain registered trade-marks that the plaintiffs own and use in connection with their business.

"The plaintiffs manufacture a soap known as 'Baby's Own Soap,' the defendants a soap known as 'Mothers Favorite Soap.'

"The plaintiffs ask for a declaration that the acts of the defendants in placing their soap on the market with the labels at present used and in the manner at present adopted, constitute an infringement of their trade marks, and for an injunction to restrain the defendants from continuing the use of such labels in the manner mentioned.

"There will be, in respect to the specific trade mark hereinbefore mentioned, judgment for the plaintiffs, with costs, and the injunction asked for will be granted."

Great specialists in Stomach catarrh

Though often they fail to give even temporary relief, Mr. W. Seymour of Huntsville, Ont., cured himself of Ferrozene. "My trouble," he says was chronic catarrh of the stomach. There was constant bad taste in my mouth, I was constive and usually nauseated before and after meals, I also had a knowing sensation in my stomach. Ferrozene gave me great relief, and I also use Catarrhine which is good for catarrh. Although it took a number of boxes of Ferrozene I got back my health and today I am quite well. For stomach catarrh, indigestion and kindred disorders nothing excels Ferrozene. In a thousand cases it has proved a wonderful success. Try it yourself, 50c per box at all dealers.

TOWN TOPICS

The Board of Health met in Dr. Murray's office, Monday evening. A number of accounts were passed. The matter of putting the dumping ground in better condition was discussed.

The laying of the corner stone of the new wing of the Hotel Dieu Hospital now under construction is taking place this afternoon. His Lordship Bishop Barry is presiding and the address is being given by Rev. Henry O'Leary, D. D. A large number of outside clergy are in attendance besides many citizens.

Fifty artillerymen, Yarmouth and Digby companies, in charge of Majors Denton and Seeley passed through here on the Maritime express, early Tuesday morning. Board for Camp Petewawa. Some twenty-five men under Lieut. Coole, of Picton were also on board, bound for the same camp.

Two young ladies of Campbellton distinguished themselves among their friends, Monday, by helping a cow from a distressing position on the outskirts of the town. They were walking along the road when they saw the animal caught on a fence, which she had tried to jump. Her hind feet were up in the air and she was perfectly helpless. The girls at once set to work in the effort to relieve the cow. Each one took vigorous hold of a foot and by bringing their combined strength into play had the satisfaction of setting the cow at liberty. It is said a young man of their acquaintance saw the whole affair from a distance. He had resolved to rescue the girls and should their efforts prove fruitless. As it was when the rescuing party had finished their task he came forth and gave them a rousing cheer by way of complimenting them for their nerve.

The adjourned hearing of the application of the Atlantic Quebec & Western Railway Company for approval of their route map locating their proposed line from Metapedia to the mouth of the Grand River, near St. Leonard's, on the St. John river, paralleling and running close to the International railway, and thence to Edmundston, came up Monday before Mr. J. Butler, deputy minister of railways. Hon. John Costigan, James Reid, M. P. for Restigouche; Premier Robinson and ex-premier Pugsley were present opposing the application, and Thomas Malcolm and Mr. Gibson, of Ottawa, also appeared in opposition. Mr. Murphy of Gouin, Lemieux, Murphy & Co., solicitors of Montreal, with Mr. Lemieux, general manager, and J. V. Nimmo, chief engineer of the Atlantic Quebec & Western Railway Company, supported the application. After hearing the arrangements and arguments, Mr. Butler decided against the application, so far as reaching the St. John river at St. Leonard's was concerned, and stated that the line must go by a direct route to Edmundston. As to the remainder of the route from Metapedia to the boundary of Victoria county, he took time to consider. Mr. Reid, M. P., remained over in Ottawa to join a party which was arranged for by Solicitor-General Bureau to meet Sir Wilfrid Laurier on his arrival, below Quebec, today.

Steamship Nile, Capt. Brown arrived in port on Friday. This is her second trip here this season. She is loading for the William Richards Company.

"The Funny Mr. Dooley," was the attraction at Dimock's Hall Thursday and Friday evenings. A large and disappointed audience was present on each occasion. The comedy as it was called, was a sad affair and its interpreters were, if anything worse. There was nothing to the whole performance, barring the orchestra, but stale jokes and cheap horse-play. The orchestra which the company carries, however, is "up to snuff." The overture "A Hunt in the Black Forest," was particularly well rendered, the piece being a descriptive one. But no more "Mr. Dooley," companies, please.

John Young, M. P., died of apoplexy at his home in Tracadie early Friday morning. Mr. Young was an energetic man of affairs, and had represented Gloucester in the Legislature for several years. He was born at Tracadie on May 1st, 1841, and was educated at the Grammar School, Chatham. In 1867 he was married to Miss Addie M. Hubbard, of Alberton, P. E. I. He was a member of the County Council for some time, and was Warden for two years. In 1886 he was elected to the local legislature, but retired at the end of his term. He offered again in 1899, was elected and has been in the house ever since. Mr. Young was a merchant in business and a Presbyterian in religion. In the Parliamentary Guide he is described as a Liberal. He was a supporter of the local government. The funeral took place from his residence to the Presbyterian burying ground at Tracadie at 3 o'clock on Sunday afternoon. Many people from Bathurst, Pokemouche, and Tabusintac were present. A special train bringing a large number of friends from Carleton Place arrived at 2 p. m. Rev. Mr. McKay, of Tabusintac, and Rev. G. R. McKean, of Stonehaven, officiated. The pall-bearers were T. M. Burns, M. P., J. Poirier, M. P., P. H. Melvin, William Archer, Hugh Cowan and Michael Sonier.

The glorious twelfth was a gala day for the Orangemen of Campbellton. Visitors began to come in on the evening before. Early in the morning the streets began to take on a holiday appearance. Three cars loaded with excursionists arrived at 10 a. m. from the north. A 12.30 thirteen cars from the south rolled into the station and about eight hundred people swarmed out upon the platform. An unusually large number of people came in on teams. Altogether there must have been 2,000 strangers in the town. The largest contingent came from the sister town of Newcastle, nine cars being loaded with the Orangemen and their friends. The Newcastle Brass Band, accompanied the order and presented a fine appearance in their natty uniforms. Orange was the predominating color. Wherever one went, it was in evidence. Members wore it in parade and pretty girls were bedecked with it from one end of the town to the other. The first event of the day was the laying of the corner stone of the new seven thousand dollar Orange Hall. Grand Master Fulton officiated at this ceremony and several hundred people witnessed it. At 1 p. m. the Orangemen lined up before the lodge room. The Newcastle Band headed the procession and was followed by the Orangemen of Newcastle and vicinity. Next came the Campbellton Band and Heine Lodge, No. 64. The Orangemen marched 200 strong and presented a fine appearance. The band played splendidly and evoked considerable praise from the crowds which lined the sidewalks. In the afternoon a programme was carried out on Duncan's field. John Devreau, deputy grand master for the county, acted as chairman and introduced the speakers. Mayor Murray made an address of welcome. He was followed by Grand Master Fulton, who spoke on the principles of the order, and urged the men to live up to them. Rev. Mr. Coleman, the Episcopal rector, then made a short address. Fully 2,000 people were on the grounds. The lot on which the new hall is being erected was a gift of R. L. Duncan.

Richard Yeo was charged at Chatham last week by Magistrate Connor with rape committed against the three year old daughter of E. Black. Yeo stated to the court that the girl was just staying with him, and he was then taken back to the cell. When Yeo was discovered Thursday a score of women surrounded him and had sticks or stones been handy he would have fared badly before the police arrived. One large woman did strike him two or three times with her hand. Indignation is forcibly expressed as to the heinousness of the crime, which is thought to be the worst in Chatham's history. The little girl is better, but her body is badly cut and bruised where the man's hands lacerated and pinched her flesh. Dr. Byrne made an examination and as a result Yeo was charged with criminal assault.
