FEEDING FOR BEEF

The butcher said to-day that the oxen were growing very fast; in fact, he was astonished at the rapidity with which they had taken on flesh. They have not been over-fed, which is too often the case in feeding cattle. I am satisfied from experience that the best method of fattening cattle is to feed them on a mixture of one-quarter rye-meal, one-quarter linseed oil meal and two-quarters best wheat bran—with half-bushel each of turnips. At first they were only fed four quarters of a mess with a peck of turnips. This feed was gradually increased up to the present quantity. This mixture of light and heavier food is all that they will thoroughly digest and assimilate. There will be no further increase. They also get all the hay they will eat. They are kept in a warm box stable and are not fastened. Water is carried to them twice a day. I consider this to be the most economical and profitable system in feeding cattle for making beef.

CARDING STOCK

The old-fashioned card as a factor in making beef is seldom thought of. A daily carding is so gradually and comfortably that it is made imperative. It keeps the pores open, and the cattle from becoming uneasy and restless. A young colt which had never been handled, made so tame by its use, that it could be approached in the yard and haltered without its attempting to get away. Calves can be made docile in the same way by gently carding them, and after a few days they will crowd around anxious for their turn. By carding and brushing young heifers before calving, they are made so gentle that there will be no difficulty in milking them. A little time spent will save a great deal of vexatious effort in trying to break them in when they become cows.

HALTER-BREAKING

It is an easy task to teach a calf to lead, but almost an impossibility to make a cow follow the halter. They should be tied at first in the day-time while they can be watched for fear of accidents, and when they get used to this confinement, a measure of meal in one hand and the end of the halter in the other they will soon learn to follow. A cow that is always keeping on the farm should be well halter-broken. (The above are from Col. F. L. Curtis' "Jottings at Kirby Housestead," in Rural New Yorker for May 19.)

Rapid plant growth requires a fertilization of the soil that will furnish plant food as fast as the plants can take it up, or, in other words, when we desire to force a crop we must fill the soil with manure as well as furnish a continuous supply of material so thoroughly decomposed that the soil may be kept filled with atoms of plant food that have united with both air and water and thus formed molecules that are ready to be absorbed by the plant roots as fast and as long as needed.

The cutting away of the frogs of the foot of the horse in shoeing should never be permitted. Nature has placed them there for a useful purpose. They are elastic and give the animal a light, springy step. Besides, they aid the horse very materially in keeping his footing on icy roads. The frog should be permitted to remain intact, as it prevents many defects and diseases of the foot incident to use on hard roads.—American Farmer.

Harness should never be kept in stables which are not entirely free from manure. The ammonia thus produced is rapidly absorbed by the leather, and the result is said to be the same as if it were saturated with strong lye. It has the effect of rotting the leather and the harness thus exposed, and will consequently remain sound a comparatively brief time.—Ex.

Mr. Darling, of the Fifth avenue hotel, New York, has sold a bull calf out of his famous Jersey cow Barytas for $12,500.

Mt. Allison Anniversary.

Alumni Exercises.—Oration by J. V. Ellis, Esq., M. P. F. The lecturer commenced by some allusion to the pleasant visits he had as a visitor for a number of years in attending the terminal exercises at Mount Allison.

While the learning of the age must be free and unfettered, in order that we shall fulfil its highest functions, it is of the greatest importance that scientific knowledge should not be cultivated solely at the expense of the sentimental, the ideal, the religious in our nature, for in all of these scholars will find forces by which to influence other men. There is a just balance to maintain between them, so that human life may become more perfect. All that Science, physical or abstract, can tell us about Nature, we want to know, not merely for the practical use we may make of that knowledge, but that she may increase our courage, our hope, our faith, our love—so that she shall fulfil the highest meaning of the word "wisdom." Emerson hoped for a time when he could identify the law of gravitation with purity of heart.

Before this liberal faculty I feel that I can safely say that no honest man can follow the investigation of Darwin without feeling for him deep respect—my most profound admiration as a patient student. And he teaches us, too, by his candour and his modesty, qualities which even those who do not accept his conclusions will not deny him. At least one sound lesson can be learned from him, if not from others of his school; that the day has passed when with a sneer or jest, or a contemptuous sarcasm, his work can be swept away.

It is a man out of harmony with the Divine order, the knowledge of things is given to him that he may restore that harmony. He may have to repair, to renovate, to renew some structure which he has erected himself; but he is not thereby called upon to shatter and destroy the Temple of Divinity. It is not this conflict alone, great as it is, which will engage the sole attention of the student eager for the fray. He will find modern civilization in the throes of a great revolution. Not, so much, nation against nation, government against government, or ruler against ruler, but a war directed against almost every element of modern society assailed, and a determined effort making to re-construct government upon what, too, may be termed a purely scientific basis. In one of the great nations into which men are divided, a nation remarkable for its rapid growth, its wonderful power, its influence both in Europe and in Asia, large numbers of people, not merely the ignorant, but students, teachers, professors, scientific men, and even persons exercising political authority, are acting upon the principle that the existing order of things is so unfit for the needs of man, and upon the belief that any effort to reform it is so futile, that the only hope, therefore, is to destroy entirely the order, to reduce everything to chaos, and to build up a new Earth, and, perhaps, a new Heaven, not out of the ruins of the existing ones, but out of the material of these ruins, when it shall have resolved itself into its original elements.

The social revolution which seeks to employ tremendous forces, the forces of socialism, of communism, of Nihilism, is undoubtedly a fact. It has pressed into its service the conflict between science and religion, the conflict as to the origin and nature of things, and the conflict in the world of ideas. It attacks all existing institutions in the older civilization of Europe. That the wrongs of life are many goes for the saying. But because these wrongs are great and clamant, is it to yield up to despair? Must we cease to be Reformers and grow up Destructionists? If so, what is the use of schools? and why should we train young men to self-control, and ask them, to learn much from the experience of the ages? On the other hand, I believe that man must be either a Reformer or a Destructionist. If he stand in the way of Reform he furnishes material and ammunition to the latter.

Twenty years ago Carlyle said that the epoch is one of Anarchy.—Anarchy by a policeman—and that man is becoming more and more the son, not of Kosmos, but of Chaos. The scholar I think must be regarded as the true self-made man, let him be born rich or poor, provided he skilfully applies the influence which are put into his hands, and by constant use of them, keeps himself in active employment.—With the increase of education and the growth of intelligence among our people there will be less opportunity for the merely rich man to be a great man. Did I need one more illustration of the superiority of the Reformer I would mention a name referred here everywhere—the name of John Wesley. I lately listened with profound interest to an eloquent Catholic lecturer in St. John, who, dealing with the life and character of Cardinal Newman, referred in a passage of much brilliancy to Wesley as one of the powerful forces operating upon the dull materialism and selfish coldness of the Eighteenth Century, and evolving out of it through the National Church, and by the operations of his mind on the minds of Venn, Milner and Romaine, the Evangelical party—England in the meantime listening to a message which had been little heard in the land since that the lecturer spoke of as the great schism of the eighteenth century, but I refer to the subject to illustrate the idea of how potent were the influences of Wesley as a Reformer, who sought to give new life to the National Religion by the re-organization of Grace in the Established Church, and who desired to destroy evil and to elevate man.

RACKED BY IRREPRESSIBLE PAIN, restless by day, sleepless at night, refreshed in the morning, without appetite, and pestered by varying and perplexing symptoms, the dyspeptic takes indeed a gloomy view of human existence. For him the zest of life seems gone, heart-burn, oppression at the pit of the stomach, and the attendant annoyances of constipation and biliousness combine to render him utterly wretched. But there is, if he will take advantage of it, a reliable and safe remedy, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, which will convert the food received into nutriment, and thereby by increasing the action of the bowels, and by increasing the circulation. Experience has proved that this standard medicine is a thorough remedy for dyspepsia, neuralgia, sciatica, salt rheum, lumbago and all impurities of the blood. Price, $1.00. Sample Bottle, 10 cents. Ask for Dr. Williams' Vegetable Discovery and Hypocrite Cure. The wrapper bears a fac-simile of their signature. Sold by all medicine dealers.

COUGHING WITH CONSUMPTION.—Some people, troubled with coughs seem absolutely to cough with consumption, now encouraging it by a total neglect of medicine, and again attempting to stave it off by the use of opium. How much wiser to eradicate it at the very first, by using Northrop & Lyman's Emulsion of Liver Oil and Phosphorus, of time and money. This medicine cannot be strongly urged upon those consumptively inclined, in a climate so severe as this, as it is the own. The public generally as well as the medical fraternity, is acquainted with the value of this medicine, and its effects, namely, lime and soda hypophosphites, which the chief component, phosphorus, of an incomparable nutrient of the blood, and the best of all food. Northrop & Lyman build up a broken-down system and enables it to resist the invasions of pulmonary disease, such as influenza, colds, coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis, soreness, and weakness of the chest, are among the ailments which this medicine comes, and in scrofulous affections it has been used with great success as a remedy. Sold by all medicine dealers, 50 cents per bottle. Prepared only by NORTHROP & LYMAN, Toronto, Canada.

One of the most successful and benign combinations ever effected is that of the six medicinal oils of which Thomas' Ecodonic is composed. It is a powerful influence on the system, and its influence is not weak or evanescent, which is the case with a great many oils of doubtful efficacy, which have an alcoholic basis. It is an incomparable remedy for affections of the throat and lungs, remediating chronic hoarseness and feebleness of the voice, and is a superb remedy for that harassing and consuming disease, consumption, which is the result of a cold, or of a broken-down system, and which is the result of a cold, or of a broken-down system, and which is the result of a cold, or of a broken-down system.

On Thirty Days' Trial. The Volzke Bros. Co., Marshall, Mich., will send Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and Ecodonic Pills on trial for thirty days to men (young or old) who are afflicted with nervous debility, loss of vitality and kindred troubles, guaranteeing speedy and complete restoration of health and manly vigor. Address as above.—N.B.—No risk is incurred, as thirty days' trial is allowed.

Dr. J. B. Baughin, M. D., Hall, P. O., writes: "Dr. Thomas' Ecodonic Oil contains a large and increasing sale which it richly merits. I have always found it exceedingly helpful; I use it in all cases of rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, and dislocations. I made use of it myself to calm the pains of a broken leg with dislocation of the foot, and in two days I was entirely relieved of the pain."—Charles Beach, President of the Wisconsin Dairyman's Association, is authority for the statement that the cow had contributed $250,000,000 to the wealth of the nation within the past year, and that cattle raising had decreased over 10 per cent. in the past ten years.

Sunday in New York City.

A recent number of the New York Tribune contains an interesting article, showing how Sunday is passed in the great city of New York, with its population now numbering a million and a quarter of people. The church membership is given at nearly one-half the population, or 600,000 members, of which 500,000 are by estimate credited to the Roman Catholics, but of this there is no actual statement; there are 100,000 enrolled members among the Protestant churches. The Catholics have 190 churches, the Protestants, 310, total 500 churches. The Protestants have 365 Sunday schools, and 119,000 scholars attend. Catholic Sunday schools not given. As to Sunday amusements in summer, about 75,000 persons leave the city for excursions in the country and the sea above. The Germans, of whom there are about 250,000 in the city, visit the beer gardens in large numbers. Central Park receives 100,000 visitors on Sunday. Only one or two libraries are open on this day, at which the attendance is about 2,000. As for drunkenness and other crimes, there is a trifling let up on Sunday; the average number of daily arrests is 193; the average for Sunday is 182. Monday, 227. On Sunday evenings there are a few concert halls and beer song places open, visited, in the aggregate, by about ten thousand persons.

The Amireau Case. Last week an application was made to his Lordship Judge Rigby, of Nova Scotia, for writ of habeas corpus, to bring up and discharge the man Amireau now lying in jail in Digby awaiting his extradition to enable him to make application under the habeas corpus act, and yesterday was the fifth day from his commitment by Judge Rigby in Digby. Numerous technical grounds are taken against the regularity of the proceedings, but the chief ground for objection is that the charge, together with the suspicious character of much of the evidence given by Mr. Harrington, C. Q., has been retained for the prisoner. The judge granted an order nisi, which will be argued before the full bench of judges in July. Meanwhile the extradition of the prisoner is stayed.

Shooting at Shediac. —Thomas Morrison, a baggage master on the I. C. R., in company with Thomas McGinty, James Hannan, George Harvey, and James Deacon, started to walk from Shediac to Point de Chene on Tuesday evening, and on their way called at the house of one Sarah Smith (or as her name by marriage is Taylor). After some conversation the mounted three shots, one striking Morrison in the stomach, killing him almost instantly. His last words were "good bye boys, I'm shot." The next shot struck Harvey in the left arm, and the other one missed. Sarah Smith has an nervous reputation as a marksman, and she is now under arrest.

—Capt. H. J. Fritz, master of the "Low Wood", was presented by the Mayor of St. John, on Tuesday, on behalf of Her Majesty's Government, with a gold chronometer watch and chain, in recognition of his humanity in lying by the "Bend Or", until the rescue of the crew was accomplished. —Suffering Children. Many children are suffering from being troubled with Worms. McLean's Worm Syrup is as well as a pleasant remedy. At all drug stores.

Cumberland Items

FROM PARBROOK. —The crops are nearly all in. —Quite a thunder storm here Tuesday morning. —"Steamer 'Hiawatha'" came in the river on Monday and left on Tuesday about noon for Hansport with passengers. —There are seven schooners in, some loading with lumber for West Bay, others waiting for coal. One schooner is loading with gravel for Windsor. —R. Ryfkohe had a large quantity of flour, beef, pork, bacon and lard arrived last week, and expects a lot of butter from Montreal this week. —The Railway is looking up. Deal shippers feel in hopes of being able to ship at Parbroth this season. A real boom is expected. —The Mullen was fined $10.00 and costs last Saturday for striking St. Bonkron on the head with a stone. His next of inquiry is about to be broken up by the will of the people.

Albert County Items. FROM BLOIN. —Farmers are eagerly engaged in the work of the season, though somewhat hindered by the continued wet weather. —Other industries of this place are thriving and there seems to be no indication of the predicted "blue ruin." Mr. East's farm is opening a general country store, and is putting in a good variety of stock. —The E. B. Railway is again running regularly for freight, but without passenger accommodation as yet. Mr. Wood, M. P., has made many friends here by his promptness in securing a subsidy for the continuation of this road to Havelock. —Messrs. Steeves and Smith, who have a large contract on the Shore Railroad now under construction, have left for Halifax taking their men and implements with them. This will, no doubt, make a valuable "exodus" item for the Transcript. Of course they all return in the fall bringing their money in their carts. —Mr. Wallace has visited his friends in the parish in his own identity of being returned to Parliament. The county has already received some large grants of money, and it will hesitate before putting in an Opposition man, and throwing itself in hostility to a Government thus disposed to advance local interests.

FROM HOWELL CAVE. —During the last six or seven years the Cape could boast of only one store, now three are running on full time and all appear to be doing a fair trade. —The Cape is flourishing. Two vessels of about 100 tons each have been launched this spring and are now engaged in the coasting trade; another, to be launched in about two months, is intended for the New York trade. —The public spirit of our citizens is shown in the manner in which they have contributed towards the erection of a public hall. The building is under fair headway. Mr. James Ransom has the contract for framing, and Mr. Ira Steeves the contract for laying the foundation of the hall. These contracts are to be completed by 15th of June. The building committee consists of Messrs. Bradley, Tingley and Dowling, three of our most enterprising citizens. The hall will be erected on the public grounds near the Cape, and the contents are to be completed by 15th of June. The Cape will rejoice in the possession of a pier. This will be a very important acquisition and will supply a long-felt want. Its object is two-fold. A beacon light will be placed on its end, and the Cape will also be used as a ballast wharf. It is to be regretted that the erection of a ballast wharf has been so long delayed, as it is an indisputable fact that the waters of the Petitcodiac are becoming shoaler each year from the deposit of ballast thrown from vessels whose captains are indifferent as to the future of our noble river. —It is a pity that so fine a village as the Cape, situated as it is near the only safe harbour, in all weather, on the north-west coast of the Bay, and the head waters of the Petitcodiac; with its excellent facilities for ship-building, and its enterprising and energetic population, should be deprived of railway communication with the outside world. The Cape, in existing circumstances, cannot take that position among the villages of Albert which is justly its due. Politically speaking, it is the metropolis of Albert. Geographically speaking, no other village in our county can boast the same natural facilities of communication. A glimpse at the map will convince any unprejudiced mind of this. But unfortunately, in this respect, if we except the great road built by our ancestors with Governmental assistance years ago, Nature has been left severely alone. The wants of the place will ultimately be supplied. It is only a question of time. Obstacles are in the path of progress, but none so great that cannot be overcome by determination and perseverance. If this locality had what it justly merits, viz: railway connection with A. R. R. and a steam ferry to Dorchester, no mortal power, political or otherwise, could prevent the Cape from taking that position which Nature has fitted it to take, and which those who located the shiretown years ago knew it ultimately would take, that of the foremost village in our noble county of Albert.
