The prisoner's relatives were so has erical that they could not go to see him after his return to the cell. There the man's calm composure broke for the first time. Throughout the trial he had sat coolly and collectedly in the prisoner's box, never a tremor of nervousness betraving his vivid realization that he was on trial for his life. Even when his counsel, Mr. Meredith, graphically pictured to the jurors the horrors of the condemned cell, and the final dropping trapdoor, he made no move. But alone in his cell this morning, facing the realization that 15 of the best years of his life would be spent in prison, he lost the self-control that had held him up.

Special Merchandise Bulletin SATURDAY BUYERS

Notwithstanding the great Easter business in wearing apparel, our customers are not, by any means, all fully provided with spring clothing, and, in fact, the two weeks coming should be practically as busy as the two past weeks. The few warm days this week have already created stunning activity after the left-over March days, which crowded in front of Miss April during the first half of the month, forcing her to stand behind. What a difference the warm days make. Besides the great displays of summer merchandise which have been arriving during the past month, our Saturday bulletin this week offers price advantages on many new and seasonable lines which will prove most profitable to early morning buyers.

Negroes do Protest to Railways Against Discrimination.
[Canadlan Press.]

New York, April 17.-Dr. Booker T. Washington, principal of the Tuskegee Normal and Industrial Institute, has issued a call to the negro people of the United States, asking them to set aside United States, asking them to set aside Sunday, June 7, and Monday, June 8, as special days on which to protest to rail-roads against discrimination on account of color in the matter of providing passenger accommodations.

"By virtue of your office you are here to hear the evidence and pass judgment. You are not concerned with anything except the evidence. Nor are you to be affected by reports or prejudice. Yours is a stern duty. You are part of the walls of administration in the province as I am. It is your duty to country, Crown and the prisoner that you pass accurate and conscientious judgment in this matter. Personal feelings should not find a place in making the sentence. It is your duty as jurors to bring in a true verdict."

Scores Crown Lawyers. "One would almost imagine that my learned friends were looking at some moving picture show, and enjoying it, to see them smiling and laughing at the prisoner and the witnesses in the box," declared Edmund Meredith, opening his plea to the jury for the life of his client. "They seem to forget that the verdict you render may consign him to the scaffold.

"One and each of you have got to say for yourselves whether you consign this unfortunate man to the gallows or not. This man is made in the image of the Saviour, and yet, if you do as my worthy friends would wish, you will take his life away. To weigh the evidence carefully is the duty imposed on each of you, and I ask each one of you to acquit the prisoner en-

"See! This little woman, a mere child, comes all the way, 2,000 miles, in the interest of her husband. You cannot do otherwise than see that he bears a good character. Is there any reasonable doubt about it?

"The unfortunate occurrence that placed young Riley in the prisoner's dock took place in a hotel. There was no ill-will borne against the victim by the prisoner. There was no crimina motive. There was no such thing as robbery. It was an unfortunate thing that occurred there Curse of Liquor. "The real trouble in this case was the accursed liquor. There would have been no trouble at all were it not for the amount of liquor that the prisoner had been drinking. The law permits them to sell this poison, permits them to do away with a man's brains, and this very hotel must have been selling him liquor when he was in no state to be given it. God, knows the ramifications that liquor will take with a man, and God knows, when that liquor is doctored, what may happen. "The law says that if a man is so filled with liquor as to be incapable of intent, you cannot find him guilty of murder, for murder is killing with If you find so, and I cannot see on the evidence what other finding you can take, the utmost you can do is to find him guilty of manslaughter.

"We have here that this man was doing no unlawful act in this hotel. We have it from the witnesses for the crown, as well as those for the defence. When he is told to go, he walks quietly towards the door. Blackburn, we are told, took him by the shoulder. Why should he put his hand upon his shoulder unless he intended to do more. When he is put-ting him out in the dark, this man remembers what happened to him be-

"Then he went away, and came back, walking quietly up to the bar and ask, ing for liquor? What is done to him? Why, the very moment he enters, lawfully mind you, this hotel, he was struck and staggered with one blow. According to the evidence of all these witnesses the bartender knocked him down on the floor and struck him several times on the chest, and then threw him out. What do you think Crazed With Liquor. "My learned friend will say that the fatal shot did not go off for a liquor. There is not a single witness who saw him fire that pistol. You take and draw it out in the drunken condition the prisoner was in, and can you have any doubt that the man did not intend to shoot? There is the corroborated hallway scuffle, as the prisoner has told you that he was knocked down there and kleked in the head. I ask you in all fairness, could you, by any possible means, looking at that side of the case a'one, come to the conclusion that this man is guilty of murder. Guilty of No Crime. "This man is not guilty of any crime at all, and in all justice I ask you to free him from that dock today. If he was attacked he has a right, if he thinks his life is endangered, to defend himself. The witness has told you that Blackburn said 'I'll kill you.' Then this man le gally had a right to fire the pistol. he fired the pistol intentionally, which he swears he did not, then you should say he is not guilty. "Putting it one way, this man never fired the shot at all. If it went off, he was drunk when he pulled the pistol. You have no evidence how the pistol was fired, for you have the prisoner's solemn oath that he does not know how the pistol went off.

"It was suggested here in the opening of the case that the man went home and got the pistol, but we have shown beyond a shadow of a doubt that he had it all the time, and surely if he had in tended to use it, he would have done so while he was being brutally beaten. Was Defending Himself.

"Is the evidence of men who bum tround hotels unsatisfactory or good evidence? We proved that Riley was brutally attacked, struck, and knocked down. Liquor makes a man crazy. He may remember some things but not all. One of the crown witnesses stated that he looked like a man on a long spree. Is there a doubt but that this man was drunk? Why was he hanging around the notel? Because he was half-dazed after being kicked in the head. And after this the pistol goes off!

Scores Bitterly Bartender "Look at the class of witnesses you have to deal with. Here is Dublin Burrows—a bartender—trying to bet ten dollars that the prisoner would hang, and at the same time he is the chief witness for the crown. A man so lost to all decency is a man who is not worthy of being called as a witness. "Do not be carried away by my learned friend's talk. He is an able man. Remember your duty-to consider and weigh the evidence, and remember the prisoner's fate that hangs upon your de-

Society Really Prosecuting.
"There is only one source from which sympathy can come," said A. E. A. Creswicke, attorney for the crown, in opening his address to the jury. That is from the executive. We are living according to recognized laws, the laws of civilization. The crown prosecuting this case is a mere name. What does it stand for? It is society at large that is prosecuting the case. "You have a function to perform Unpleasant, it is true, yet, here. nevertheless, it is your duty to pass truly on the case. There can be no ighteous alternative.

"My duty is to endeavor to bring forth from the witnesses the statements that are true and have direct bearing on the solving of the case. It is for you sitting there in that box to say how much of it you believe, to weigh carefully what you have heard, and then to decide, as men, the right course to pursue. "It is then necessary that you pass judgment in this matter. Do you believe that you could live in a country if juries and judges were so far to forget themselves that other in-fluences, other matters, having no direct bearing on the case could interfere in giving judgment. is no place for sympathy to override your better judgment, gentlemen. In-stead, this is a time for level-headed consideration of a vital question.

Terrorizing of Meredith. "My learned friend has done his level best to make moral cowards of you. He is terrorizing you to try to create a feeling in your minds of undecision. But it is for you, and you alone to pass judgment.

"I have no grudge against the unfortunate man in the box. I bear him no ill feeling. But I am not going to shrink from my duty, for the mere purpose of coming to the conclusion that he was shielding him. When one man kills andefending himself from a brutal beating other it is murder unless the man who did the deed can satisfy you that it is something less than murder.

"Is there one single doubt in your minds that the prisoner with the revolver took a human life? There can be no doubt in your minds as to what happened. He was in the bar room. He had drink, a scuffle with Pearson. There is no doubt that the beer was either accidentally or purposely thrown over Blackburn. Blackburn saw Riley had taken too much and he was right in putting him out of the hotel. When the prisoner returned to apologize, nothing happened, except that Blackburn refused to listen. Now listen. When he gets out on the street at the other end of the block he suffers a lapse of memory.

No Innocent Young Mind. "When he came out of the hotel he said to Andrews: 'I'd like to shoot that Does that show the black perfectly clean in all his habits and I have too many friends. Undermorals? Does it not rather show the feeling he had in his mind against Blackburn? He remembers that Andrews got on the car. He also remembers that he did not accompany Andrews. Andrews the House how to do away with all swore that on that day they had had own statement. When he parted from Andrews he got a drink. Then he retraced his steps.

"Was he looking for trouble? He had already been at the Cecil Hotel. Why was he going back? When he entered, Blackburn -refused his apology slapped him. Morgan told you that Blackburn had leaned over and hit the man. In the end when they got up from the floor, Blackburn pushel Riley out of the door, into the hall. Something wonderful happens then. The prisoner says he was knocked down. He said that Blackburn had dragged him across he floor out to Clarence street.

Was Not Satisfied. "Even then the prisoner was not satisfied. It was supposed that he went home. He did go home. He remembers that now. He says he did not get the revolver. He must then either have got his revolver when he went home that night or between 6:30 and 7, or he had it earlier. When he returns he sees the other bartender. Blackburn comes in and notices him at the north end of the bar. He walks to where the prisoner was and tapped him on the shoulder. He tells him that he had enough of him. When they got to the door Blackburn opens it-and the prisoner shot a hole through him.

MONEY BY MAIL.

SHORT time ago the postoffice de-Apartment issued an order forbidding years for nervous trouble, suddenly found the transmission of money by unregistered mail, and to secure its enforcement postmasters were to send all letters that weeks burned the pasture, cut the hay they thought contained money to the dead crop down half, and badly damaged the letter office. After a couple of weeks' oats. trial the order has been rescinded. It was a foolish order, anyway. The Postmaster-General might have been excused for not knowing any better, but his subordinates could have told him that it was impracticable at best. A postmaster has and fed the chickens. It was usually always been forbidden to open any letter that passes through his office. The most he could do was to send a suscious letter to the department, but even then he did it at his own risk in the gan cutting hay to feed the cows. They most part we lived alone. event of there being nothing wrong about it. An order for him to send any letter he thought contained money to the dead letter branch would, of course, relieve him from any penalty in that case. But on the other hand, it gave him power to delay any letter he chose, and he could always plead that he "suspected" it. It would be impossible for him to be certain about it. Except in the case of silver, the presence of money in a letter cannot be positively determined by the letter of any country and interest to pay in the stock of the work, I learned that one is apt to forget important things.

The chickens did well. We sold $75 the county fair, and Mary test $75 we put in the bank—there were taxes to pay in March.

I walked.

"Blight. They always get that kind of black-green color when it strikes 'em. The strikes 'em. The strikes 'em. The strikes 'em. The chickens did well. We sold $75 the county fair, and Mary test $75 we put in the bank—there were taxes to pay in March.

I walked always feeling—well, you can guess how. Why hadn't I sprayed those of hav, which, with the stock thought pretty soberly of the year to the cultive fair the divorce was absolute to the relative for winter laying. The tife for winter laying. The tife fair type for our own use. So far we hadn't reall feel, though it may sometimes be guessed at. Under the orders of the department, with the best-disposed postmaster, important letters might be delayed, while those that should be stopped would pass unquestioned. It was time that order was rescinded.

The only reason for it was that the presence of money in a letter was a temptation to a clerk. But an honest clerk does not succumb to temptation, and it would be very difficult to prevent a dishonest one from stealing if he wanted to do so. Fortunately the great mass of postoffice officials are honest. The fact that millions of articles of mail matter - are every year passing through their hands with so little loss is proof not only of their ability but their integrity. So far as that class is conerned the prohibitory order was not necessary, and was only insulting.

It is doubtless very foolish for a peron to send even small sums of money through the mail unregistered, especially when a fee of one or two cents would purchase a postal note. But if people like to run the risk it is better to let them do so than to prohibit their doing what they have been accustomed to do in Canada, and what they do in all other Even at that, it's hardly necessary for civilized countries. If the Government wanted to do something to increase the safety of money passing through the mails it would be better to improve and cheapen the money order system. Originally this method of sending money was tied up in many bundles of red tape The competition of the express companies compelled some relaxation of the rules. But there is room for improvement yet. As a class, government officials do not care to accept suggestions from the outside, or imitate the practices of those not in the service. But in the matter referred to they might copy some of the methods of successful corporations with benefit to the public, even though it involved a little sacrifice of their own self-esteem, or of their time. up the work of transmitting money through its postal department it should do it thoroughly and cheaply, and give the public as good facilities as a corporation can give, or even better.

THE law may say that a man under I the influence of liquor is responsible for all his acts, but the public will not take that view of it. And few juries have ever said so, and few ever will. So when Tom Riley was acquitted of murder last night the jury told the world that liquor and not Tom Riley had killed George Blackburn. Aside from the liquor phase, it was black, brutal crime. But his counsel and the court and the jury stood recorded that liquor was a co-partner in this crime.

Perhaps the church needs writing crimes. And while there are such crimes up in these days of flerce competition. he Baltimore News advertisement:

> "The strongest man needs at times a stimulus. The right man in the pulpit comes with a message of inspiration and hope. He gives new tone to the listener. The church today is an institution of action. It not only preaches. it practices. The Crusaders fought for ancient tombs; the church today fights for life and happiness on the social plane. CLEAN-UP DAY

AND CLUB WOMEN

Can Women Not Take a Hand in Beautifying City? Asks "Nomad."

Can women play any part in the spring "Clean-up Day" of a city? Judging by New York, Minneapolis, Victoria and other cities where a clean-up day has been inaugurated, the answer is "yes." In Tifton, Mo., the members of the Twentieth Century Library Club have just completed Clean-up Week. The women conceived the idea and enlisted the sympathies of the mayor and council. Each member of the club was chairman of a committee whose duty was to see that the block in which she lived was given a thorough cle ning. As a result of Clean-up-Week, Tifton claims to be the cleanest and tidiest town in the southern states.

Last year the Housewives' League of New York occupied a prominent part in the spring cleaning of the metropolis. During the campaign the league issued 25,000 circulars quoting from the sanitary code laws regarding cleanliness in stores, and a marked improvement in conditions resulted. Johnnie and Tidiness.

Mothers and women teachers can accomplish much in influencing children in tidy habits while on the street. Instead of throwing away the empty candy bag. or the wrapper off his scribbling book, persuade Johnnie that it would be much reached. The sleeve is cut somewhat like the amiliar kimono, so that there is no semblance of fit under the arm. But this is blance of fit under the arm. But this is as the wearer may choose. In many cases the armhole of the sleeve extends to the belt, and when the arm is dropped the material falls into a little bunch below the belt-line. This has one advantage, though. In the present craze for chiffon, a blouse will not wear out under the arms, as it would were the sleeve tight-

PICKING A PITCHER TO DROP REISLING'S GREATEST PROBLEM

London Team Has Six Men All So Good It Is Hard to Decide---All Likely to Come to London Before Choice Is Made.

Marletta, Ohio. April 16.—Picking out also pitching staff will be the greatest problem Manager Reisling has to confend with in handing the London team this season. At the present time six men are trying out here for that department and they all look so good that it is a hard task to pick the best of them.

It isl fikely the London Club will carry four pitchers outside of Manager Reisling. "Doc" expects to take his regular turn in the box with the rest of them and his arm is in great condition right now. Heck is sure of his job as is also Beebe. There is so little choice between Hammond, Houseman and Riley that might now it is impossible to say who will be kept and who let go. It is likely that Manager Reisling will bring them all to London before making his final choice.

Heinie Steiger has vet to report and from the looks of things, Steiger will have to show something to hold his job. Ottawa was about the only club that hard to beat and he looks very good at the present time. Bobby Heck is teaching him the spitter and when he has mastered it, he is going to be a mighty valuable hurler.

Houseman Another Hynes.

In fact he looks like the best curve ball pitcher on the clobs all bramen and the remarks and curves. In fact he looks like the best curve ball pitcher on the clobs all her reformed and the remarks made of Manager Reismand and Carry and the look so dail of the kinks out of its likely one of them will be picked to pitch the opening game against Toronto. Both are in good shape now, but just doing enough work each day to keep their arms limbered up. Riley is about the only pitcher.

Riley's Arm Still Has Kinks.

Beeb and Heck are taking their time and the works seems to inspire confidence in his ability.

Of "Doo" Reisling, little need be said.

The old boy is there in about 47 different ways. He depends largely on the spit balt van de work and the ways he make it break as quickly or as nicely as "Doc" can.

between London and Marietta College, but it is almost certain that the teams will battle tomorrow. The London players held morning practice indoors but tossed the ball around on the grass outside the gym in the afternoon. During morning practice Reisling was injured in the eye, when one of the players made a jab at the basketball and instead connected with the London Club pilot's optic. The injury was not serious, but painful. The eye was considerable bloodshot afterward, but "Doc" says it does not impair his sight and is causing him no trouble. There were no other casualties.

CLEVELAND CLUB CRIPPLED; BIRMINGHAM AND STEEN OFF

Both Players Were Injured in the Opening Series With the Chicago White Sox.

Chicago, April 16 .- More hard luck struck the crippled Cleveland Americans today when the club physician ordered Manager Birmingham to stay out of the game for three weeks and sent Pitche

Birmingham wrenched the muscles o his right side in yesterday's game at the local park and examination today showed that the injury was more serious than was at first thought. Lelivelt will probably play in Birmingham's place.

Dr. Blair, club physician of the Chicaexpense, confident of their ability to eath a place on the team. Both appear to be likely men. The Red Sox training season will not open until

MAY OPEN SEASON DAY EARLY

As Result of Duke's Visit to Railway City-President Fitzgerald Has Been Communiated With.

[Special to The Advertiser.] St. Thomas, April 16. — Word was re-ceived today by Mayor Johnson, from Governor-General's private secretary, stating that the duke will reach Thomas at 3 o'clock and depart at o'clock on the 6th. The baseball off-5 o'clock on the 6th. The baseball offi-cials are endeavoring to get President Fitzgerald to consent to open the sea-son here one day ahead of the schedule, In the event of their succeeding in this, his highness will be asked to open the championship season by pitching the first ball. It is thought this would be an excellent way for thousands of citi-zens and outsiders to get a glimpse of the second son of the late Queen Vic-toria, as the streets will be so crowded with people trying to see the duke and Princess Patricia that thousands will be mable to see them, as they proceed from place to place. It would be fitting, in-deed, to have his excellency officiate at the ceremony of opening the season as King George witnessed a full game between the touring Glants and White Sox a few weeks ago, and President Wilson pitches the first ball at Washington in a ew days when the Senators open at

If his highness accepts the ball club's nvitation it will probably be the first ime in the history of the game that a of the blood has acted in this

STRATFORD LOOKING FOR A GOOD STRATFORD LOOKING FOR A GOOD OUTFIELDER.

Stratford, April 16. — Manager Abble Johnston, of the local W. O. B. L. outfit, is burning the grass from under his feet to place another champion team in the running this season. "All I have needed for some time was an outfielder who could also play behind the bat," he told The Advertiser reporter, "and in Bryce, of Detroit, and Sykes, of Toronto I think I have the men I want."

ST. LOUIS FEDS. BEATEN

St. Louis, Mo., April 16.—Indianapolis defeated St. Louis in the first game of the season, 7 to 3. The runs were scored in season, 7 to 3. The runs were scored in the first half of the game. A home run by Dolan in the third inning brought in Kauff and Scheer and gave the visitors a lead that the locals could not overcome. In the first inning Kommers of St. Louis drove the ball over the right field fence for a home run, brninging in Boucher

PROMINENT MEN BEHIND WOODSTOCK W. O. B. L. TEAM

The men behind the Wodstock base ball club have prevailed upon R. E. Butler, the prominent lumber merchant, to accept the presidency of the club. Mr. Butler knows the game from A o Z. and is very enthusiastic on the proposition.

The fans are congratulating the management on the excellent choice that has been made. Other prominent men who are identified with the club are P. S. Connolly, M. J. Brophy Allen Muir and many others of equal prominence.

Mr. Muir was the president of the club in 1905, and it was largely through his efforts that Woodstock won the champlonship of Western Ontario.

Bert Daniels, who played for the New Bert Daniels, who played for the New York Highlanders last year, was a mem-ber of the 1905 outfit and the fans hope that other stars of the same magnitude will be developed this year. will be developed this year.

With men of this calibre behind the team the fans can rest assured that Woodstock will be there or thereabouts when the pennant is awarded next fall.

Mr. Brophy told The Advertiser that Jimmle Bradley is sure to manage the team, and expressed confidence that he will have a team worthy to represent Woodstock this year.

GALT TENNIS CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS.

Galt, April 16. — The Yo Ho Tennis Club's annual meeting, held at the Y. M. C. A., was well attended and much enthusiasm was manifested. Reports were gratifying. Thought She Would Go Mad

In all cases of headache the treatment for with the cause removed the headache vanishes for all time. Headache powders just relieve for the time being, but what is necessary for a permanent cure is something that will go right to the seat of the trouble. For this purpose it is impossible to find a better remedy for headaches of all descriptions than Burdock Blood Bitters, acting as it does on every organ of the body to strengthen, purify and regulate the whole system. Mrs. Althea Bowmau, Hamilton, Ont., writes:-"I have suffered terribly with my head for weeks at a time till I thought I would go mad. A friend advised me to give Burdock Blood Bitters a trial, so I got a bottle and found relief. I have used four bottles in all and I am glad to say that I have had no more headaches since. I would advise all sufferers to give it a fair trial."

HE COMES UP SMILING, THE MYSTERIOUS CHARLES SHERMAN:

"I don't know of any way," returned You." said she.

Algernon, trying to recall one of the many ways he had devised when he and his mother had been wont to sit in forced gernon, hoping he was, in a small way, inactivity because his mother would not have her favorite horse abused. His spirits were slowly returning, and his first pleasure in the situation was mount-

"Ah, yes," said Algernon with sudden ravity, "but you are an exception."

"That's unfortunate," agreed Algernon.
"I don't suppose it would do any good to try and get her to a town where she unknown and fame and sell her there?"
"No. You see, she would balk."
"I see," said Algernon.

Zam - Buk Saved

NOTICE—HEADLEY & WEIR, PRO- When Blood-Poisoning Followed a Cut

Mr. Albert Brennan, butcher, of 141 Lindsay avenue, Toronto, has good cause to be thankful for Zam-Buk! While at work he cut the middle finger of the left hand. Some disease germs-of which the air is full-entered the wound, and next the excitement was over. day the finger was swollen and painfut.

He bathed it in hot water and applied ened, were you?" day the finger was swollen and painfut. some ordinary ointment, but the pain got worse and the swelling continued. Not only so, but the area of the inflammation give up his ordinary work and suffered acute pain. Finally he decided to enter St. Michael's Hospital, but just before doing so friend advised him to try Zam-Buk. Mr. Brennan acted on this advice, and soon proved Zam-Buk's great value. He says "It cured the pain almost as soon as applied, and within a day of first comnencing the Zam-Buk treatment I was back at work! Of course, I don't mean bedged that in that time the wound was healed, but the pain had gone and the danger from blood-poisoning was averted. After that, healing was only a matter of a short time. I have no hesitation in saying that Zam-Buk saved my finger, and I am very glade to let you state these simple facts

Zam-Buk is equally effective for piles, ulcers, abscesses, eruptions, ringworm, children's rashes, scalp sores, chapped hands, frostbite, and cold sores. Every housewife should keep a supply handy, and no mother should be without it in the home. Sold by druggists and stores, 50c box, or post free from Zam-Buk Company. ox, or post free from Zam-Buk Company. Toronto, upon receipt of price. Refuse substitutes.

Algernon smiled a slow, sweet smile of sudden inspiration, and reached for the reins. "Give them here and hold on," he ordered, puffing vigorously at his pipe. "What are you going to do?" she asked curiously and a bit anxiously. "I am going to get you home to lunch," said Algernon grimly.

She took his coat from his knees and instinctively put her arm around the pup, who was slumbering peacefully between them. Algernon puffed once, twice, thrice, then he leaned over and emptied the contents of his glowing pipe on the

For a moment Elizabeth was impassive, then with a sudden snort of pain and protest, she kicked up her old heels and started down the road with the started down the road with the speed of the once-famous Maud S. "Certainly," agreed Algernon. "A good meal and a good cigar are the two most formidable enemies the devil has."

"T'm terribly stupid, but I don't follow felds and bushes swept past. Now they came to a hill and below them in the sultry heat of noonday, lay the small village of North Brockton. Without a pause they tore down the hill, through the principal elm-bordered street, past the quiet white houses and the one store, where Algernon caught a fleeting glimpse the quiet white houses and the one store, where Algernon caught a fleeting glimpse of a horrified group of loungers and a startled storekeeper. With nice precision they grazed the wheel of a creaking oxcart, missed by a fraction of an inch the town pump, frightened children and chickens from their path, and whirled on toward a hill on the farther side of the village. Clattering, banging, bumping, they swept up the hill and over it.

At last, a good two miles farther on, Algernon brought the horse to a stop. The girl had not said a word, made any outery or even moved, but had simply outery or even moved, but had simply outcry or even moved, but had simply held on to the pup, her hat and Alger-

Her cheeks had flushed suddenly and her eyes were bright and determined.

"Probably thinks that I am carrying my freshness a bit too far," thought Algernon, miserably. He alighted and took his coat.

"I shall walk back," said he, "if you are sure you are not afraid of the horse."

The girl had grown suddenly nervous, and was too evidently eager to be rid of him. 'She protested, however, that he must let her take him back, and he as firmly refused. A girl, living alone as she was in a big house, with only ser-

After several weeks of waiting the board of control got down to business Thursday night and struck off $72,015.24 or approximately 2 1-3 mills from the possible tax rate, bringing the latter down to 27 mills. At least one, and probably more, sessions will be required to get the rate of 251/2 mills, the figure aimed at. > Call in Experts. The controllers got only part way brough the estimates, and decided to meet again next Tuesday night, when nembers of the board of education, hosital trust and other spending bodies will be invited to be on hand to explain why the estimates put in by them should not be chopped. The hospital estimates are approximately $10,000 more than last year, and it is hoped to cut them down to the extent of $4,000.

This reduction would indicate that no money is to be expended this year on the electrification project, but it is said that a certain amount of work is to be done, the Ontario Power Commission being trusted to financially back the L. and P. been authorized, but not yet sold, and there is apparently no desire to get rid of them at this time. "Our assessment department fell down on us last year," said the mayor, "and as consequence we haven't the money for anything extra. If we get a ten million

ESCAPES FROM DEATH UNDER CAR WHEELS

Police Sergt. Barnhill Thrown From Fast Train.

Taking a flying leap for the front platform of a caboose on Grand Trunk extra freight No. 488 at 5:30 o'clock last night to intercent two thugs who had threatened the life of the train conductor and whom the police were waiting to arrest, Sergeant John Barnhill of the police force narrowly escaped death under the wheels when he missed his hold and was thrown to the ground. He struck the swiftly moving caboose and was hurled aside, almost on the rails and under the car. He is confined to his home, but his condition is not thought to be serious.

Seen By Conductor. The two trespassers were first noticed by Conductor Jack Morresy of the extra as they passed through Kerwood. He attempted to put the men off when one of them became ugly, and it is alleged that he drew a revolver and threatened Morresy with the weapon. Unable to do anything with the men, a message was wired to police headquarters here, asking that a detachment of men meet the freight and take the thugs into custody. Accordingly Sergeant Barnhill and several patrolme went to the Grand Trunk station to await the arrival of the train. Jumped Moving Train.

CAPACITY AUDIENCE AT WELLINGTON STREET

Performance Draws Large Crowd-Mrs. Leslie Roze's Great Voice

A miscellaneous program of music as offered in Wellington Street Methodist Church last evening was perfectly per-formed. A capacity audience greeted it with ever-increasing enthusiasm.

Miss Leslie Roze, soloist of Dominion Methodist Church, Ottawa, and late of Queen's Concert Hall, London, England, was in superb voice. Her rendering of the solo numbers "Hear ye, Israel" (Flijah), "Angels Guard Thee" (Godam) and the "Vaiuka Song" (Vanstatzman) was given in a voice for which, with its potentiality, its suppleness and instantaneous attack, has few superiors. Mr. Magee's bass solos "Night of Night" you persisted in what you did. It is quite true that the evidence established that you did not resist at any time. But you had gotten out of the hotel once. There was no reason why you should have come back. There was no reason for drinking as I think you have done. There was no reason for the crime which you have comnitted.

Friends' Testimony.

"Your friends have come here and test!fied that you were of good character, and yet when you came to Canada there was reason why a respectable young man as you had been should be found associating with people you had no right to beople who would sell you liquor at one ime, and then beat you, or like this Dublin Burrows, who pretends to be your friend, and after you are apprehended wagers on your chance to be hanged. am saying this as a warning to the public

"Any punishment that I may upon you is not of a vindictive character, but as a protection for the public. If cases of this kind were to be treated lightly there would be no protection for the public. We must not allow men to go around, as you did, carrying such a hor rible instrument of death.

Protection to Public. "I do not want to add to your anguish as a young man. I have paid attention to the evidence submitted in your favor, and have listened to your counsel's plea, but have a duty to perform, not by way of punishment, but as protection to the

"I quite realize what a terrible effect this will have upon your friends, your young wife and your baby child, which must grow up without you. If you had been a criminal before; had you not the most exemplary life before, I would have imposed the extreme penalty under the jury's finding, life imprisonment. But having regard to everything, Thomas Riley, I n going to impose what many would think a severe sentence, but I do not believe so, under all the circumstances. I am going to sentence you to Kingston Penitentiary for fifteen years. With good conduct you can greatly shorten your term, and as you are still a young man, you can come out ready to live a new life if service to the community."

Jury Returns.

In a tensity of expectation the hundreds who had crowded the court room all day yesterday to hear the trial of Riley watched the first juror step into the court room at 9:32 last evening. Solemnly the twelve men filed into the room and took their seats. The accused ascended the steps into the prisoner's box. While his gray-haired mother and his child-wife awaited the announcement of the verdict. Deputy Sheriff Waterworth numbered the talesman as they stepped into the box. Mr. Justice Kelly took his seat upor the bench "Gentlemen of the jury, have you ar rived at a verdict?" he asked. "We have."

"What is your finding?" "We find the prisoner guilty of man slaughter."

Sigh of Relief.

From the huge assembled crowd arose a sigh of relief. There would be no question of the death penalty. The prisoner moved to the other side of the box, still cool and collected as he had been throughout the trial. During the pronouncement of the verdict he did not move a muscle. or show the slightest sign of nervousness beyond a barely perceptible blanching of his face. When the verdict had been given, Mrs. Riley, who had held up wonderfully throughout the trial, broke down and covered her face with her handkerchief.
"I hope that baby will grow up, and meet his father when he comes out," she said, broken-heartedly. "I hope they do not give my husband a long sentence."

Riley's mother fainted in her seat, when the court was almost cleared. She was unconscious for five minutes. In broken, incoherent sobs, crying hysterically, she masped out: "O, dear Lord, dear Lord," and broke down completely. The crowd surged about her, and the constables had to clear the court.

NO ELECTION THIS YEAR INTIMATES ASQUITH

But Unionists Persist in Expecting One in the Summer.

[Canadian Press.]

Montreal, April 17.-Premier Asquith told the House of Commons yesterday. says a London cable to the Daily Mail. that the Government hoped to pass the bill for the abolition of plural voting beintil 1915.

This declaration has, however, failed to disturb the conviction of the Unionists, adds the correspondent, that an election must come this summer, and they are preparing for that eventuality. It is probable that the third reading of the Irish home rule bill will be taken on either May 11 or 18, and the suggestion is made that in order to facilitate its passage one of the stages in the Comnons shall be eliminated.

WANT LICENSES CUT OFF

[Special to The Advertiser.] Goderich, April 16 .- A lively time is expected here on Friday at the annual meeting of the Centre Huron license commisioners. A big delegation of temperance workers from all over the county will be present and will ask that the commission refuse to extend the time of hotels in Centre Huron after May 1. The deputation will be a most influential one and is expected to have a great effect on the commissioners, especially after the action of the North Huron commissioners recently in cutting off all licenses on May 1.

[Canadian Press.] Toronto, April 17 .- On Tuesday next the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board will proceed with the investigation into the West Shore Railway. The board has asked William Proudfoot, K.C., to place certain witnesses in the box to clear up some points.

Among these will be Engineer Roberts, of the West Shore Railway, and William Baxter, who got possession of the box containing Mr. Moyes' papers.

MACKINNON-RANCE

[Special to The Advertiser.] Clinton, April 16.—Word was received here today of the wedding in Medicine Hat, Alberta, last evening of Miss Bessie Clara May Rance, A.T.C.M., daughter of C. C. Rance and Mrs. Rance, of Toronto, and J. G. Mackinnon, 1909 graduate of the School of Practical Science, Toronto, eldest son of Rev. N. D. Mackinnon and Mrs Mackinnon, of Caledonia, Ont.

The wedding took place in St. Barnabas Anglican Church, which was decorated with palms, and the ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Davis. The bride was married in her travelling suit of navy blue, with a dainty modish white and blue hat to match and wore a corsage bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley.

She was attended by Dr. Annabel Mac-Ewan, in gold crepe cloth, with hat to match, while the groom was supported Sam Short. The wedding march was played by George W. Stewart, and the church was well filled by friends from Medicine Hat, Edmonton, and the east. Mr. and Mrs. Mackinnon left at 8:30 clock for Edmonton, where they will spend a few days before leaving for Henningville, B. C., via the Yellow Head

TOAST TO POPE FIRST;

Lieutenant - Governor and Others Decline to Attend Winnipeg Banquet.

[Canadian Press.]

Winnipeg, Man., April 16.-Considerable discussion took place in religious, state and civic circles here today, when it became known that on the toast list of the big Catholic banquet, dated for tonight, the Pope was placed at the head, with His Majesty the King second. Because of this Sir D. C. Cameron, lieutenant-governor of Manitoba, and several prominent men, refused to attend. T. R. Deacon, mayor of Winnipeg, at first refused to be present, but the matter was compromised and the mayor was in attendance. The compromise agreed upon by the banquet committee on receipt of numerous protests was that the national anthem "God Save the King" should be sung at the opening of the banquet, the toast to the Pope to follow and the toast to the King entirely omitted.

This program was duly carried out. and in answering the toast to the Pope, His Grace, Archbishop Langevin stated that he would "render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and unto God the things that are God's."

Minister of Justice Declines. Hon. C. J. Doherty, minister of justice, was to have attended but his message of regret stated that "under ordinary circumstances he would have been most happy to attend." H. W. F. A. Turgeon, attorney-general of Saskatchewan, was present as was also Hon. Joseph Bernier, representing the Manitoba Government. Premier Roblin was invited, but an important engagement precluded his attendance. The alleged affront to His Majesty in placing the royal toast second on the list was first brought to the mayor's attention by A. J. Taylor, president of the Sons of England Society in Winnipeg, and his bonor notified the banquet committee that he could not officially attend. Sir Douglas Cameron also notifled the committee to the same effect. Interviewed; Sir Douglas said: "I am not going to the banquet. My reason is obvious. I have nothing to say." Hon, Joseph Bernler Satisfied

Bernier, provincial secretary, was thereupon announced as representing the provincial Government and to respond to the toast to "Our Province." Interviewed prior to the banquet Mr. Bernier said: 'I see "no reason why the toast list should be changed. The Pope has never asked Catholics to be disloyal to the King. This agitation about positions of honor is a poor example of British fair Archbishop's Address. His Grace, Archbishop Langevin, proposing the toast to His Holiness Pope Pius X., said that the papacy was the most sublime majesty in the world, for the Pope represented the founder of the church, the Lord Jesus Christ, and therefor called Head of Christendom. "We are not of the generation of man that declares it has no other king but Caesar." said his grace, "for we have a king whom we for did he not banish from his oath of accession the insulting words against our faith? Therefore as Catholics we give place to none in our loyalty to King

Another speaker, P. J. Healy, who took the place of Hon. Mr. Doherty, concluded his remarks by saying: "As Catholics throughout the length and breadth of our fair Dmoinion, and as Catholics, proud of our clergy, we yield to none in loyalty and devotion to our country and to his gracious majesty, the King."

HIGHEST COMPLIMENT SAYS CHARLES MELLEN

Will Feel Honored If Chosen to Head Great Railway Employees Federation.

[Canadian Press.]

New Haven, Conn., April 17 .-- Charles S. Mellen, former persident of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company, would, be highly hon-ored, he said today, if chosen to head the Federated Railway Employees as suggested i nBoston dispatches last night. The new organization, which will have a membership of 2,000,000 railway employees, will be formed at meeting of delegates in Boston on April 26. It will be known as the Fed. erated Council of Railroad Brother-

Commenting on the mention of his name in connection with the leadership of this federation, Mr. Mellen said: "I would regard it as the greatest compliment that was ever paid me. I would rather head that pasition than be president of the United States.

"If the great body of railroad union. labor men with whom I had been associated for years as railroad president should regard me as a worthy man to lead them as their chief executive in their federation. I should regard it.

NEW IMMIGRANT RECORD Over 1,600 British Reach Winnipeg in Weed.

Winnipeg, April 16.—The following are the immigration figures at Winnipeg for the week ending April 14: British, 1,615; Italians, 45; Russians, 255; Germans, 95; Norwegians, 70; Galacians, 376; Swiss, 65; Roumanians, 12. These figures constitute a record for one week's arrivals from all quarters this season.

The preponderance of the British over all other nationalities which has been pronounced since the opening of immigration is still very marked. The returns compared favorably with the same week last year.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Sault Ste. Marie, April 16.-Artesian Sault Ste. Marie, April 16.—Artesian wells, which promise to solve the problem of supplying the town of Steelton with pure water, have been discovered by an Italian named Augusto Biagini, in the western portion of the town. Two and a half-inch pipes are now supplying a gush of water estimated to measure 350 gallons a minute. The town's present consumption is 166 gallons a minute.

PHILHARMONIC ORCHESTRA FILLS MUSICAL VOID

and surely. Every druggist in America recommends and sells Putnam's Ex-There has unquestionably presented itself a void in the musical life of the city through the absence of symphony concerts. The Philharmonic Orchestra of Dundas Centre Methodist Church took the first step to bridge this void with a concert, presented last evening before 1,000 people in the Church Auditorium.

The assisting soloists were Miss Florence Eggleston, violinist, Signor Venuta, clarinist, and Mr. Harold Meek, baritone soloists. Miss Eggleton's numbers were delightfully played, her solo number "Scene De Ballet" (De Bercot), being most beau-tifully executed. Signer Venuta proved himself a magnificent performer or the clarinet, Harold Meek combines in his renditions rare richness of tone and eloquent phrasing. The Orchestra, although a comparatively young organization, gave an exceedingly good account of itself: Smoothness of tone, fine contrasting, and velvetness of technique, characteritic of it renditions. All the movements were well played.

The concert closed with a masterly performance of (Friedemann's) "Slavonic Rhapsodie.' The performance reflects credit on the Orchestra, its director and the soloists. It deserved fully the splendid ovation it received. The production was greeted with a

Nervous Trouble Followed By Locomotor Ataxia

Treatment From Doctors Proved of No Avail - Was Fully Restored by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

It has been said that "nervous people are the salt of the earth." You only have to look around you to prove this. You find the nervous, nigh-tensioned, active-brained men and women in the highest positions in the

The enormous expenditure of nervous energy made by such natures too frequently leads to nervous breaklown. Worry, excessive mental work and shock such as referred to in this etter are often the immediate cause of nervous collapse. Recovery is ofen slow and tedious, and doctors, as ell as the sufferers, lose patience. There can no longer by any doubt that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is the most effective of nerve restoratives.

There are many thousands of cures on record similar to the one described
