DEATH CAME UNAWARE

Sir William Vernon Harcourt Found Dead in Bed.

Cheerful One Moment, Silent the Next—Called At Nuneham Park, Oxford, England, On Saturday Morning, the Servant Later Found "Historical" Had Passed to the Beyond—Large Figure in British Liberalism.

London, Oct. 3.—Sir William Vernon Harcourt died very suddenly Saturday morning, at Nuneham Park, near Oxford, the country seat which he recently inherited from his nephew. Only his wife, a daughter of the late John Lubbock, the historian, and former American minister to Great Britain, was with him. When Sir William went to bed Friday night, he seemed to be fairly well, though he had been suffering from a slight chill. Saturday morning when he was called he replied cheerily: "In a short time." Later a servant entered the room and found Sir William lying dead on his bed. His son, Lewis Vernon Harcourt, member of Parliament for the Rosendale Division of Lancashire, was hastily summoned from London. Among all classes in the United Kingdom, regardless of party, the unexpected news caused a sensation and genuine regret. The announcement in March last of his intention of retiring had prepared the public for Sir William's eventual disappearance from the active arena of political strife, but there had been no indication that his constitution had been impaired by nearly 40 years of fierce Parliamentary strife. The physicians say Sir William died of heart failure during sleep. The fact that the heart was weak had been known to the physicians and the family for some time.

Funeral On Thursday.

The remains of the late Sir Vernon Harcourt will be buried at Nuneham on Thursday.

King Edward has telegraphed as follows from Balmoral to the widow of the statesman: "Allow me to express my deepest sympathy in the sad loss you have sustained. I have lost an old and valued friend in your dear husband. (Signed.) Edward."

Melville W. Fuller, Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court, sent the following from Washington: "Deep sorrow and sympathy."

As late as last Friday Sir William wrote a long letter to his son and various copies showing an unabated interest in public affairs.

Something of a Great Man.

The Right Hon. Sir William George Granville Venables Vernon-Harcourt was the second son of the late Rev. W. Vernon-Harcourt of Nuneham Park, Oxford, and Matilda Mary, daughter of the late Colonel W. Gooch, and was born on Oct. 14, 1827. Educated at Trinity College, Cambridge, he graduated with first-class honors in the classical tripos, and was called to the Bar of the Inner Temple in 1854. He became Q.C. in 1866, and three years later was appointed Whewell professor of international law at Cambridge.

It was during these early years that he largely contributed to various journals, and wrote remarkable series of letters to the Times, over the signature of "Historicus," which were published in book form in 1863. In 1868 he entered Parliament, sitting as member for Oxford till the general election of 1880, when he was defeated by Mr. Hall. A seat was found for him through the voluntary resignation of Samuel Plimsoll, the well-known advocate of seamen, who had been returned for Derby. Sir William represented that constituency till 1895, when he again sustained defeat. West Monmouthshire came to the rescue, and that seat he retained for the remainder of his life.

Official Recognition.

Sir William's outstanding ability rapidly gained him official recognition. He was appointed solicitor-general and knighted in 1873, but his tenure of the post was not of long duration, it coming to a close in the following year by the defeat of the Liberal ministry under Gladstone. That great statesman then retired from the leadership, which passed to the Marquis of Hartington. However, the public worship regulation bill brought the sulking Achilles from his tent and he strenuously opposed it in Parliament. Sir William Harcourt supported the bill, and there were some sharp passages-at-arms between the grand old man and his somewhat bumptious solicitor-general. It was in one of these general combats that Gladstone referred to Sir William Harcourt as not yet having sown all his Parliamentary wild oats and ironically remarked that when the debates were over he would possibly have acquired some knowledge of ecclesiastical law.

Although Sir William Harcourt had not been a very ardent supporter of Mr. Gladstone, he became Home Secretary in the Liberal Government of 1880, and during his regime passed various acts of importance to British interests. That was the time, too, of the dynamite outrages, in regard to which he took a firm stand, his Explosives Act having been passed in the shortest time on record. As champion of law and order, he had some stiff struggles with the Parnellites, and his somewhat bitter humor did not tend to soften the rancor of Irish controversy. During these years, however, he established his right to be ranked among the ablest and most effective of the Liberal leaders.

Loyal to Gladstone.

In 1886 he became Chancellor of the Exchequer, a post he again held in 1892-'95, acting throughout as Mr. Gladstone's loyal and devoted lieutenant. But although a keen party fighter, of a somewhat swash-buckler type, he failed to impress his hearers or the country with the idea that his course was actuated by any mere conviction. Indeed, he introduced the position in his earlier days, and, like that inscrutable statesman, he possessed in no small degree the gift of phrase-making. He it was who coined the phrase, "stewing in Parnellite juice," a simile often quoted against him in the home rule controversy.

When Gladstone adopted home rule, Sir William Harcourt followed him, but his action was thought to be dictated more by party expediency than on principle. In 1894 he introduced and carried his memorable budget, equalizing the death rates on real and personal property—a measure that has since proved of incalculable benefit to the country's revenue. Mr. Gladstone finally retired in the same year, and was succeeded by Lord Rosebery, who was credited as having been the great statesman's choice. This is now known to have been an erroneous impression, as Mr. Gladstone was prepared to name Lord Spencer, had his counsel been asked. Lord Rosebery's position was not a happy one. He and Sir William Harcourt differed on the main lines of the party's policy, and the latter became more and more deeply imbued with the idea of those who opposed Liberal Imperialism. The differences were again and again pitched up, but the crisis came at last, and Sir William's local veto bill was one of the main causes of his own defeat at Derby and of the party rout.

Sir William Harcourt's interest in Parliamentary affairs was not on the wane, and in 1898, at the retirement of the Liberal party, during 1899 and 1900, he offered strenuous resistance to the financial proposals of the Unionist Government, and to their Transvaal policy, and severely criticized the conduct of the war. Between 1898 and 1900 he contributed many letters to the Times against the Ritualistic party in the Church of England, but their influence was much discredited by his attitude toward disestablishment.

Keen Debater.

As a Parliamentary man, Sir William Harcourt had few superiors. He was a keen and powerful debater, and the possessor of a vein of broad and caustic humor, which he drew from with admirable readiness, and worked to the full. To the last, his speeches were listened to with interest, although not infrequently they smelt of the lamp. It was his inveterate habit to write these out in able practice to write these out in full, a fact which, on one occasion, drew a somewhat weak gibe from Mr. Chamberlain, who remarked that "we don't all find time to write out our speeches."

Sir William was an intimate terms with many of the most distinguished ornaments of the Victorian age. He was a wit and a raconteur, and many of his bon mots found their way into publicity. He is said on one occasion to have rather disturbed the serenity of Lord Tennyson, who had been descending on the morning, by the murmuring of something about "the ear of a pipe of half-awakened birds." Sir William was twice married—first to Theresa, daughter of T. H. Lister, and second, to Elizabeth, daughter of J. L. Motley, historian, and widow of J. P. Ives. He leaves a son, Lewis Vernon Harcourt, also in Parliament, with whom his relations were of an unusually tender and affectionate character. The Imperial Parliament will feel the loss of this distinguished member, who has done much to maintain its dignity and best traditions, and with him one of its most striking figures has passed away forever.

AUSTRALIA RE PREFERENCE.

John Burns, Labor M.P., Not Thanked For His Suggestion.

London, Oct. 3.—Ex-Premier Watson of Australia, replying to messages sent by John Burns, M.P., and Richard Bell, M.P., asking the Australian workmen to oppose Mr. Chamberlain's proposals, says it is desirable to preserve the mother-tongue of the colonies and the motherland by means of reciprocal trade relations. Mr. Watson admits the wisdom of leaving the ultimate decision to the British people.

Hon. Alfred Deakin, ex-Federal Premier, commenting on the messages, says Mr. Burns repeats the fables of importers instead of paying attention to the views of Australian supporters of a preference. It was never intended that the mother country should give something for nothing.

Mr. Hutchison, a labor member of the Federal Parliament, speaking in the Trades Hall, Melbourne, supported preferential trade provided it did not injure Australian manufacturers.

Punch seems to be very charitable. What? Nonsense! Why, he says he always remembers the poor. Well, it's merely a matter of memory!

KUROPATKIN TO ATTACK

General Engagement to Take Place Near Tie Pass.

Naval Battle At Port Arthur Reported—Russians Grow Desperate Through the Loss of Water Supply—Japs Continue to Hold Position About Port Arthur, But Both Sides Suffered Severely—Baltic Fleet Off Again.

London, Oct. 3.—Kuropatkin may have decided to take the offensive and to march south from Mukden to attack Oyama, instead of retreating to Tieling to fight a defensive battle. This is the veiled intimation coming from St. Petersburg last night. In St. Petersburg it is admitted that an important movement by Kuropatkin's forces is in progress, but the War Office maintains an attitude of the strictest reserve.

It is believed that a general engagement will take place near Tie Pass, and that General Kuropatkin is holding Mukden and positions along the Hun River to check the Japanese advance temporarily. Snow has fallen in the mountains east of Mukden and there has been frost in the valleys.

Where Russ Forces Are.

The correspondent of The Times, who has just returned from the front, telegraphing from Tokio, says the Russians have two divisions on the Hun River, four divisions at Mukden, and that the remainder of the army is concentrated at Tie Pass, which they are fortifying. The three Japanese armies, the correspondent adds, occupy a front extending for twenty miles north of Liaoyang in their original order.

Sally in the Last Extremity.

London, Oct. 3.—In connection with rumors of another projected sortie of the Port Arthur squadron, a Shanghai despatch reports that a Russian warship was expected to arrive at Woosung last night. Russians there having chartered a tender to meet her.

According to a Japanese correspondent in The Morning Post, such a sally would only be attempted in the last extremity, and only when the surrender of the garrison could no longer be postponed. Because the waterworks are in the hands of the besiegers and the shore water condensing apparatus has been ruined by the Japanese shell fire, the correspondent adds, the garrison is dependent upon the condensers of the fleet for fresh water.

Battle At Port Arthur.

Shanghai despatches to The Standard and The Daily Telegraph are to the effect that a naval battle has been fought off Port Arthur. Neither of these reports have been confirmed, the correspondents say.

The Chronicle's Liaoning correspondent says there was a truce Saturday at Port Arthur to bury the dead. Russian and Japanese officers, he says, exchanged greetings after which the bombardment was recommenced with its old vigor.

There is little difference in the relative positions of the opposing forces. The Standard's correspondent with the Japanese army says that progress is making with the field railway from Antung, which will eventually join with the line at Liaoyang. Its completion, he says, will double the Japanese lines of communication.

Signs of Jap Weakness.

The Daily Telegraph's Japanese correspondent at Simunin, telegraphing Oct. 2, comments on the indecision displayed in the Japanese plans. He says their present scheme around Mukden has been abandoned, and that they are awaiting reinforcements from the fall of Port Arthur. These are signs of weakness. The Japanese, the correspondent adds, are pressing for the expulsion of all British and other correspondents.

Russians Grow Desperate.

Tokio, Oct. 3.—The Russians are desperately endeavoring to retake their lost positions, including Fort Kuropatkin, in the hope of restoring the water supply of Port Arthur. They have repeatedly assaulted the Japanese, after shelling from neighboring forts and batteries. The Japanese continue to hold the positions. Both sides are said to have suffered severely.

The newly mounted heavy Japanese guns command the entire harbor. The position of the remnant of the Russian Port Arthur fleet is precarious.

Advices from Manchuria are to the effect that the Japanese and Russian outposts and scouts continue in close contact south, southeast and east of Mukden. Skirmishes are occurring daily and aggressive general action is expected soon.

It is rumored that a Japanese gunboat struck a mine and sank south of the Liaotung peninsula. A portion of the crew reached an island and were rescued. The name of the gunboat is unknown. The Navy Department does not deny the report, but says the department lacks confirmation of it.

Fights of Sept. 28 and 29.

Chee Foo, Oct. 3.—Severe fighting, the Russians being the aggressors, occurred on Sept. 28 and 29, on the west shore of Liaotung promontory, near Pigeon Bay, according to a report brought by Chinese who left Port Arthur on Sept. 30. The Russians already apparently are attempting to capture the heavy guns which the Japanese have mounted in that

MONDAY, OCTOBER 3.

THAT MARKET BUILDING

To-night the City Council meets and the aldermen should not adjourn until something definite and something substantial has been done relative to the filthy ransackable sieve that now masquerades as a market building.

There is not an alderman at the board who would permit a storehouse, a woodshed or an outhouse in connection with his premises to remain in the wretched and unclean condition which characterizes our market. Yet here much of our food supply is bought and sold. It appears strange to The Planet that the health authorities have not, long ere this, condemned the whole institution.

The place is a disgrace to a civilized community—it should be the handwriting on the wall to every negligent alderman.

Hundreds of dollars have been already wasted in tinkering with this wretched building. Isn't it about time something substantial, something definite, something permanent was done?

Our Council must take action—and they should take it to-night.

TROUBLE FOR OUR FRIENDS, THE ENEMY.

It seems that our friends, the Liberals, of West Kent, are having troubles of their own. Jealousies and dissensions have arisen and are being bitterly waged. The trouble seems to have arisen from the zeal and anxiety displayed by Mr. Stephens to "feather his own nest" and those of his social friends whenever opportunity afforded, neglecting altogether the proper standard of fitness for service or the general consideration of party work done.

An article appears in a Detroit paper yesterday signed by the late editor of the local "Liberal" organ, who conducted the last campaign for the party and was presumably in the inner councils of Mr. Stephens and his friends. The comments of this man are just given for what they are worth.

Speaking of the situation the writer says—

Then, too, the conservatives present a more united front than for many years past, but unfortunate differences have tended to disintegrate the liberals. One of our appointments made under Mr. Stephens' auspices have tended to decrease his popularity with party leaders here—have, in fact, quite alienated a number of the more influential members. This is especially true of the elevation of George B. Douglas, a personal friend of Mr. Stephens, to the bench in another county, while a stranger was imported to fill a vacant judicial position here.

With these troubles of course, The Planet has fortunately nothing to do—it knows nothing as to their authenticity, but it may be pointed out, that, when the time comes for Mr. Clements to make appointments, the people of Kent have his assurance that they will be made upon merit and not upon such false grounds as social caste, family influence, church affiliation or even ability to present an amiable appearance at evening card parties.

Merit must tell in all such public appointments.

THE GLOBE'S ROORBACK.

It is always a difficult matter to keep tab upon and nail effectually the many roorbacks which unfortunately are made to do service in a political campaign. In its anxiety to detract from the humiliating position in which Mr. Fisher and Dr. Borden found themselves by the Dundonald disclosures, the Toronto Globe has so far forgotten itself as to inaugurate a campaign of malicious slander against the stalwart Scottish hero of Ladysmith, who is not now in this country to defend himself—a campaign which the more thoughtless little organites throughout the country are taking up with reckless abandon.

The latest attack is founded on what is alleged to be a fac-simile of Lord Dundonald's suggestions. This is apparently an extract of three lines carefully chiseled out of the whole in an effort to create a false and inaccurate impression of the great General's views.

We do not think this style of campaigning will make votes. It will alienate honest men. It is surely too small for the great Globe of the Alexander McKenzie, George Brown and J. S. Willson days.

Lord Dundonald has proved himself one of our Empire's heroes. The people of all British countries honor and esteem him for himself and for what he has done. If the Globe and its journalistic minions desire to combat his position relative to the exposures of political intrigue in the conduct of our militia, let them make out their case in a straightforward and honorable manner—and the people will pass on it.

Surely a man of the Dundonald stamp—a clean, fair fighter—should be met with other weapons than slander, misrepresentation and petty insult. The people of Canada—Liberals, as well as Conservatives—would like to see the Globe combat his position fairly and honorably, or else abandon all attempts to deal with what appears to be a very ugly blot on the Government's record.

A government-owned railway or a railway-owned government. Which?

Don't forget that market building when you are in session to-night, gentlemen of the City Council.

The people of West Kent would like to hear Mr. Stephens' opinion of the J. B. Jackson appointment and why he supported it.

There is a sort of grim humor connected with Sir Richard Cartwright's appointment to the senate. In former days, while in opposition, he frequently spoke in a sarcastic manner of the senate, and dubbed it the "Political graveyard for broken-down politicians." — Associated Press Despatch.

A FAIR SUGGESTION.

Instead of attacking the unsavory Sullivan we might suggest that he be put out of the way by providing him with an office worth $3,000 a year, in England, as was done with Preston of the Machine fame and Jackson, the hero of South Oxford.

HE IGNORED WARNING.

Ottawa Citizen.
Hon. J. M. Gibson, Attorney-General of Ontario, was publicly notified on October 24th that the steamer Minnie M. was proceeding to Michipicoten and Helen Mine with 20 or more persons from the American Soo to vote on the following Tuesday at the by-election, yet he made not the slightest effort to protest the sanctity of the ballot at these places and the persons voted in a body at both polls. Do the people of Ontario desire any more direct evidence of the complicity of the members of the Ross Government in "machine" corruption?

INTERESTING FACTS

For Nearly Every Man, Woman or Child.

A short time ago we published an article recommending to our readers the new discovery for the cure of Dyspepsia, called Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and the claims then made regarding the wonderful curative properties of the remedy have been abundantly sustained by the facts. People who were cautious about trying new remedies advertised in the papers and were finally induced to give Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets a trial were surprised and delighted at the results. In many cases a single package costing but 50 cents at any drug store made a complete cure and in every instance the most beneficial results were reported. From a hundred or more received we have space to publish only a few of the latest, but assure our readers we receive so many commendatory letters that we shall publish each week a fresh list of genuine, unsolicited testimonials and never publish the same one twice.

From James Yonnisler, La Crosse, Wis.: "Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are doing me more good than anything I ever tried and I was so pleased at results that I gave away several boxes to my friends who have also had the same benefits."

From Jacob Anthony, Portmurray, New Jersey: "I have taken Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets with the best results. I had Dyspepsia for six years and had taken a great deal of medicine, but the Tablets seem to take right a hold and I feel good. I am a farmer and lime burner and I heartily recommend to everyone who has any trouble with his stomach to use these Tablets."

From Mrs. M. K. West, Preston, Minn.: "I have received surprisingly good effects from using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I gave one-half of my last box to a friend who also suffered from indigestion and she had the same good results."

From Mrs. Agnes K. Ralston, Cadillac, Mich.: "I have been taking Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and I am very much better, and feel very grateful for the great benefit I have received in so short a time."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are a certain cure for all forms of indigestion. They are not claimed to be a cure-all, but are prepared for stomach troubles only, and physicians and druggists everywhere recommend them to all persons suffering from Nervous Dyspepsia, sour or acid stomach, heartburn, bloating or wind on stomach and similar disorders.

HISTORIC AND PICTURESQUE

Dr. McKeough Writes Very Charming of His Recent Visit to Lower Canada.

Researches into Which a "Hobby" Led Him—Tribute to Our Own "God's Country."

Dr. Geo. T. McKeough has just returned from a short trip through Quebec. Everyone enjoys the entertaining and descriptive writings of this accomplished litterateur and The Planet is fortunate in securing for its readers the story of his trip.

As requested, I have jotted down a few notes and impressions of my recent visit to the Province of Quebec. I have had an ideal doctor's holiday, just taking in enough clinics and operations to mollify one's conscience, as I do not believe in all work and no play. Montreal is equipped with at least two magnificent hospitals, the General and the Royal Victoria. The latter has recently had a half a million dollar addition to its previous magnificent proportions through the munificence of Lord Strathcona, and is now probably the finest and best appointed hospital in the world. The walls of the beautiful operating room are covered with white polished marble, the floors with white tile, the seats for the students and nurses of aluminum, so arranged that all can see clearly what is proceeding upon the glass operating table, and a Canadian surgeon who wishes to brush up need not go outside of his own country to witness as good and as conservative surgery as is performed anywhere.

When I was a student in London it was said of the London hospital that it was sustained by "beer and the Bible," meaning that it was indebted for its contributions for maintenance to the brewers and the churches. The Montreal General Hospital owes its existence and support largely to "tobacco and the Bible." Sir Wm. Macdonald, the tobacco king, being the most generous contributor to its funds. I was received most courteously by the staff of these two splendid institutions. Chatham is well known to the profession in Canada through the deep interest that Drs. Holmes and Bray have long asserted in their chosen work, and when one meets and informs a doctor elsewhere that he is from Chatham one is at once confronted by the questions: How is Holmes? How is Bray? Besides, in Montreal the last two Registrars of McGill College Medical Department have been Chatham boys, Dr. Roberts and Dr. Scane; the latter is also lecturer on therapeutics.

Contact and conversation with the bright minds and leaders in our profession is always a profitable pleasure. McGill College men are also famous for their hospitality, and a delightful luncheon, in which good cheer was liberally dispensed, given by the junior men of the University, who are so worthily following in the footsteps of their illustrious predecessors, to a few medical men visiting the city at the opening of the winter session, was not the least of the many pleasant functions I was privileged to attend.

Everybody should have a hobby. I have a partiality for the collection of old china in a humble way when the opportunity occurs—which, unfortunately, is rare—as the hunting grounds are becoming scarce. I do not mean searching for it in fashionable china shops where one requires to be a millionaire to obtain it, but pursuing and seeking for it at its original sources. No one who has not indulged in this charming pastime can have any conception of its fascination. Charles Lamb wrote in his "Essays of Elia," "I have an almost feminine partiality for old china. When I go to see any great house I inquire first for the china closet and next for the picture gallery." It involves country ranging and rummaging about in old farm homes, interesting chats with the occupants, delightful bargaining, cajoleries, flatteries, persuasions, open demands, elaborate explanations, infinite tact and sometimes one and all in vain. When you are successful, however, you obtain a thing of beauty, a souvenir to be cherished—and even if not you acquire a better insight into human nature, a stronger love of your native country, knowledge of her natural beauties, acquaintance with her old landmarks and historical localities, and familiarity with her history. For example, I secured a beautiful tea-set from an old French gentleman whose mother received it as a wedding gift in 1799 from Col. de Salaberry, she being a retainer in the household. In looking up my Canadian history I found that Col. de Salaberry was a member of the old French-Canadian noblesse who had won distinction fighting England's battles in foreign lands and who in 1813 commanded a French-Canadian regiment of voyageurs who defeated the Americans at the battle of Chateauguay. The victory of Chateauguay was a victory of the French-Canadian militia led by their own officers, and was perhaps the most glorious in the whole course of a war which brought much glory to our arms. The victory was specially honored in England, every soldier receiving a medal and De Salaberry was knighted. One should think of such events as this, whenever reference is made to French-Canadian disloyalty. This tea-set is valuable, not only intrinsically, but historically.

Again, in searching one lovely afternoon for a blue wedge-shaped platter that I had heard of, I found myself in the quaint, quiet, picturesque village of St. Eustache, which I discovered contained an historic church. In this ancient and interesting church, with its chiseled and beautiful minarets, in the year 1838, "a resolute few under Doctor Chemier threw themselves into it and made a mad but magnificent resistance against the loyal troops under Sir John Colborne, and not until the roof was blazing, and the flames falling in and many of their comrades slain, did these deluded heroes seek escape, and in attempting to escape nearly every man of them, including Dr. Chemier, was slain." A few years ago a monument was erected in Montreal by some of his compatriots.

The great charm of many European cities consist in their antique and historical monuments, for they speak to the visitor with an eloquence all their own. Canada has an heroic history and what monuments we possess should be preserved with patriotic veneration.

The more one sees of this Canada of ours the more proud one is of being a Canadian and those who wish to gratify their taste for the picturesque lands should spend a short time of their holiday life for an examination of those natural beauties which lie at the threshold of their homes.

A few days of my holidays was spent trout-fishing in the Laurentian hills, a region adapted as much as any place in the British Empire to the requirements of those who wish to obtain rest, recreation, sport as well as aesthetic pleasure. In the parish of St. Agathe, only sixty miles north of Montreal, are hills ranging from 1500 to 2500 feet above the sea and situated in the valleys, often on the summit of the hills, are picturesque little lakes filled with speckled beauties. In this parish alone there are nearly forty.

Standing upon one of the hill tops in the autumn of the year, one observes a scene of transcending beauty, peaceful valleys, limpid lakes and interminable hills, the slopes of which present a brilliancy impossible to describe. The saffron tints of the graceful Feathered birches, the vivid crimson of the maples, and, interspersed among them, stretching upwards, the dignified spire-shaped, deep-green spruce, make a panorama of amazing attractions. Truly Canada is God's country.

BAIKIE'S FINE EXHIBIT

A fine exhibit in the main building at the Peninsular Fair was the collection of photos from J. T. Baikie's studio. Among the pictures that drew my attention as being the best in the hall were one of Mr. Fred. Trudell, of the 2nd T's, and the other of Mr. E. R. Snook, our west end grocer. And in figure portraits he had some very artistic work, that of Miss Battisby being very fine. The detail in the drapery could not be excelled. The one of Miss Barr sitting by the sea shore was grand. Those of Mrs. Robert Gray and Mrs. Wright, each in full figure, were very fine indeed. The two 11x14 heads which were on ovals, being extra good, one of Miss Bragg and the other of Miss Purvis. Mr. Baikie did not show any large work in color this year, as he had to compete against the colored work of The Sprague and Hathaway Company, of West Somerville, Mass., who are noted the world over for their superior colored work.

SATCHEL OF THE SATELLITE

I wonder what has happened to Geo. Stephen's boarders.

No, I'm not going to blame the Hon. Sidney Sisher for last night's frost.

And this was the day upon which tenders for the new armories were to be asked for.

The visit of the Minister of Agriculture eclipsed the Jap-Russian war for the moment.

Ald. John Edmondson said "Let there be light," and Lineman Sam Moore struck another match.

Lest you forget, McKeough school concert will be the event of the season, at the Grand to-night.

Now, Mr. Grit Contractor, if your tender is not accepted, that will be a little tough but you needn't beel about it.

The Wabash Express was leaving the Detroit depot when an elderly man was noticed selling lanterns amongst the crowd of Canadian excursionists. "Whom do you sell those lanterns to," I asked him. "To the Chatham people, sire," he replied. "The only way they can hope to have light on their way from the station is to furnish it themselves."

Watch lost—On Thursday last, on Queen Street, between Indian Creek and St. Joseph's church, a ladies' hunting-case watch in a VonGutten box. A reward will be paid for its return to The Planet office.

Dickering With the Trust.

Toronto, Oct. 3.—Major Currie, president of the Northern Iron and Steel Co., was seen last night with reference to the report from New York that the United States Steel Co. had purchased a controlling interest in the Canadian Company. He said: "Any statement to the effect that the Collingwood Company has been purchased for control or otherwise by the United States Steel Co. is entirely prevarication. The control of the Northern Iron and Steel Co. has not been sold or transferred yet to anybody and will not be except on advantageous terms to the stockholders. A prominent official of one of the large American steel companies, after examining the plant at Collingwood, asked us to name a figure for the control. I am not at liberty to give his name at present, as negotiations are only in a preliminary stage."

Guelph, Oct. 3.—Almost famished and with nothing but an old coat to protect him from the cold, a young lad who gives the name of George Bradley, was found in the old stables at the rear of the power house Friday evening about 6 o'clock. For four days the poor fellow was without food, and his condition was serious. He was taken care of by city officials, and the Humane Society, and removed to the General Hospital, where every attention is being given him. Bradley is about 16 years of age and claims that his parents are dead. He says that he left Winnipeg some weeks ago for Brantford, where he had an uncle. The relief officer will assist him in making Brantford.

Sunday School Census

The hundred and sixty visitors will meet for a grand rally to-morrow night at 8 o'clock, in the school room of the First Presbyterian Church.

There will be a short song-service, the pairs of visitors will be introduced to each other, their territory will be defined and further instructions given and the record books, invitation cards and visitors' charts will be distributed. It is important that every worker be present, if at all possible. Additional volunteers to act as reserves will be welcomed.

Some results from the House-to-house canvases in other cities—

"The visitation found for me seventy-five families of our denomination of which I knew nothing."

"It far outdone my expectations. In my twenty-six years in this city I have never seen the community so stirred. It has been to me an assistant pastor, giving me ninety cards of families of our denomination I knew nothing of."

"Ohio's per cent. of population in the Sunday Schools is 22. In Jefferson county, however, it is 44, and they tell me that this difference has been brought about in three years by their annual house-to-house visitation. Five of their Sunday Schools had as a direct result of the visitation, an increase of 50 per cent."

COULDN'T EAT HOG'S FLESH.

Rabbi Hirsch, of Chicago, was riding in a crowded street car and rose to surrender his seat to a lady. Before she could take it, however, she plumped herself into it. "The rabbi looked at him in disgusted silence. 'What's the matter?' demanded the man. 'What ye glarin' at me for? Ye look as if ye'd like to eat me.' 'I am forbidden to eat you,' answered the rabbi. 'I am a Jew.'

A half-column or more of yesterday's Detroit News-Tribune is devoted to an alleged summary of local political matters. It is initiated by T. D. Niven, an individual who has twice lost an editorial position on both papers in this city — on this journal at least, because of the continued use of petty and untruthful personalities, an expulsion which has evidently not been forgotten. Fortunately it is not necessary in this constituency to pay any attention to the venting of this mannikin's spleen — especially when it is aimed at a deceased and revered citizen; and we only mention the matter that our Detroit contemporaries should have opportunity to guard itself against the annoyances which the indiscriminate publication of this penny-a-liner's irresponsible and contemptible personalities always entail.

WINNIEP'S STATUE TO QUEEN.

Unveiled By Premier Roblin On Saturday In Presence of Large Crowd.

Winnipeg, Oct. 3.—The unveiling of the statue of her late Majesty Queen Victoria was an impressive ceremony Saturday afternoon. The whole garrison of Winnipeg turned out and formed three sides of a square around the memorial in front of the main entrance to the Parliament Buildings, and seven companies of the public school cadets also took part in the function. A large crowd gathered to witness the ceremony.

Promptly at 4 p. m. Lieut.-Governor MacMillan, with Lady MacMillan and members of the Provincial Government, took their place on the platform. Sir Daniel made a short and fitting address, setting forth the great qualities of the Queen and the debt that the Empire as a whole and Canada in particular owed to her wisdom and sound judgment in more than one national crisis.

The formal ceremony was then performed by Premier Roblin, and was accompanied by a royal salute of 21 guns.

The statue itself is a worthy memorial. It represents Victoria seated on a throne and probably surpasses in merit any statue in Canada, being executed by the famous English sculptor, Mr. Frampton, R.A. It is 14 feet in height, and the pedestal is 20 feet high.

THE KING'S PRINTER.

Dr. S. E. Dawson Is Neither Dead Nor Moribund, and Does Not Yet Seek Rest From Labor.

The King's Printer at Ottawa, Dr. Samuel Edward Dawson, is in his 52nd year. He does not look it. Inquiry a few days ago as to the rumor that he had asked for superannuation and that it was about to be granted met a frank, unqualified and cheerful denial. His declaration on that occasion that he was "neither dead nor moribund" has already gone the rounds of the Canadian press. Dr. Dawson, though of slender build, has an eye and a complexion which any man of twenty years younger would envy. His physical powers have shown no signs of impairment. In and out of season he has since 1891 filled to the satisfaction of both Conservative and Liberal Governments the post he now holds. He has at his back a staff with a capable superintendent whose duty it is to order the purely technical requirements of the Printing Bureau. But the King's Printer has a larger task. He must play practically the part of a Deputy Minister on the one hand—and by the way he bears this title—but, on the other hand, the post of headship is an institution which calls for a combination of a large measure of technical knowledge, tact and firmness. Dr. Dawson has to handle the affairs of what is largely a department, but he is constantly within telephone range, so to say, of every other department in the public service.

And his recreation is his annual attendance on the sittings of the Royal Society of Canada, of which for literary merit he is a fellow, and presently honorary secretary. Samuel Edward Dawson was born in Halifax in 1853. He was son to Benjamin Dawson, who after coming to Montreal became a Protestant Episcopal clergyman. The present King's Printer had something to do with the forming of the Dominion Bank Note Company and was a member of the Protestant School Commission of Montreal. His affiliation with the historic Dawson book firm in Montreal seems to have given him his mind that literary bent which was rewarded in 1890 by his decoration by the University of Laval with the degree of Doctor of Literature. He was made Queen's Printer in 1891. In the same year he was delegate to the International Copyright Conference in Washington. In 1893 he was made fellow of the Royal Society of Canada of which he is now secretary.

Water and the Human Body.

Comparatively few people know what a large amount of water the human body consists of. A man weighing 200 pounds is made up of 120 pounds of water and 80 pounds of solids. The latter includes bone, muscle, etc. Even the fat of the body contains 15 per cent. of water, the liver is made up of 69 per cent. and the blood of 83. The skin contains 72 per cent., the brain 75 and the muscle 75.

It may be naturally supposed that a fluid so universally distributed throughout the body must constitute a very important article of its existence. Experiments have shown that on water alone life may be sustained as long as fifty-five days, whereas if dry food only were given death would ensue in a quarter of that time, and this in a most agonizing way. The terrible agony that shipwrecked mariners sometimes suffer in this way will induce them to drink sea water, and this adds a hundredfold to the uncontrollable thirst that induces delirium and death.

Women Make Poor Detectives.

The manager of a detective agency who had warned women not to reply to his advertisement said the other day:

"Outside of special lines in department store work women do not make good detectives. They look at facts as they want them to be, not as they are, and work on those lines. They jump at conclusions quickly and cling to them beyond all reason. They work for spectacular effect and not for landing the goods."

"A woman detective is sometimes successful in entrapping a man, but there must always be an element of personal passion or revenge in it. If this is the case you are not sure of her."

"With their own sex women sleuths are not good at all. Clever women criminals can always play on their credulity and vanity. Women detectives in fiction, except in the field of high diplomatic circles, are untrue to those we find in real life."—New York Press.

Rebuke the Duke.

When commanding the warship Galatea some years ago the Duke of Edinburgh called in plain clothes on an admiral, who rebuked him with the stiff greeting, "I should have been very happy to receive your Royal Highness on any other occasion, but unhappily at this moment I am expecting a visit from the captain of the Galatea." The Duke went back to his ship and put on his uniform.

LAKE OF PITCH.

Chief Wonder and Attraction of the Island of Trinidad—Natural Asphalt in State of Perfection.

Asphalt, in its natural form, is too brittle when cold and too sticky when warm to make a serviceable road, but when mixed with sand, gravel and tar, answers every requirement. In its natural state, it is found in many parts of the world, but in only one place to perfection, and that is the Island of Trinidad, one of Great Britain's numerous possessions in the West Indies.

Trinidad's great pitch lake, which is the chief wonder and attraction of the island, is situated in a low, sandy stretch of the southwest coast, near Cape Corbary. The surrounding country is low and malarial, in striking contrast to the high hills and rich woodlands to the coast further back.

The laborers are all negroes, even the coolies shrinking from the heat and low fevers of the place.

The lake itself is about a mile in diameter, hard at the edges and softening toward the middle. The surface is continually changing, apparently from subterranean action. Little oases of dry land, and even trees and shrubs, will disappear in a single night and fresh islands of soil be reared in other places.

The lake is in all probability merely an unusually large deposit of bitumen or soft coal, that has undergone its transformation from decaying vegetable matter in contact with water, and too near the surface for the earth pressure above to harden it thoroughly.

Hundreds of negroes the year round toil at the lake's edge, taking out large after cargo from the supply that seems never to diminish.

The asphalt crust is broken up with picks and crowbars, and is loaded on dump-carts, drawn by a single mule. The carts crunch through a long, sandy road down to the wharf at the water's edge, where the load is dumped and carried by which barrows on board of lighters, which in turn carry it out to ships, lying a half mile out in the shoal water.

The rough lumps of pickings are hoisted on board in baskets and piled in the hold, where they sink down into a compact mass, requiring a fresh filling the next day, and so on till the solid cargo is completed. When the vessel reaches its port of discharge the asphalt has to be broken up again before it can be removed from the hold.

Owing to the viscous quality of the native "pitch" it has, in the course of ages, filtered through the sand soil around the lakes, and of these great fields the asphalt is, if anything, better after its filtering process than the original deposit.

And now, said the old friend of the family, I suppose you are ready to climb the ladder of fame?

I'll have to, I guess, replied the college graduate, if there isn't any elevator.

DANGER IN EARLY RISING.

New York Medical Specialist Says It Conduces to Madness.

All the spiritual descendants of Sancho Panza, that finest eulogist of slumber, should bless the name of Dr. Selden Talcott of New York. Dr. Talcott is a specialist in mental diseases, and he declares that the habit of early rising conduces to madness. "The free and lazy savage," he says, "gets up when he feels ready and rarely or never becomes insane." Dr. Talcott's protest should be considered carefully by his fellow countrymen, who, even more than the British, pride themselves on their active habits. Recently, we believe, there has been founded in New York a society whose members pledge themselves not to take more than four hours' sleep in the twenty-four. It would be interesting to follow the health and life histories of those who keep this pledge, for we do not suppose that there is anything dangerous in early rising in itself, but only in the combination therewith of going to bed late.

On the whole, it is better to obey the old proverb and "go to bed with the lamb and get up with the lark." But it is a different thing when one combines the attempt to fulfill the latter part of the advice with a habit of going to bed with the nightingale. Yet the increasing strain of business compels early rising in those who would succeed, while if they want to combine pleasure with business they will find it impossible to get to bed before midnight or even then, for our amusements seem to begin and end later every year. The energetic people who go in for this fashion of life are apt to assure others, and themselves also, that they do not require much sleep, and undoubtedly it is possible with practice to do with much less than the normal amount of rest. It is important, however, to remember that such a habit cannot be indulged in without a corresponding sacrifice of health.—London Hospital.

Parisian Beauty of Today.

Frenchwomen are never beautiful now, says the ungallant M. Marcel Prevost. Lots of them are pretty; you never see a plain Parisienne; but the prettiness is of the toilet. Plainness is dissimulated by art. Those engaging looks are manipulated. The color comes and goes, and one's maid can fetch and carry it, as Lady Teasdale said of a contemporary. But M. Prevost is impartial between the sexes. Masculine beauty, he alleges, does not exist in France. Taine one day, talking to his class at the College de France about the renaissance types of manhood, exclaimed, "Ah, gentlemen, how ugly we are nowadays!" M. Prevost agrees with Taine. In any assemblage of Frenchmen, he declares, the apparition of a really handsome man would excite injurious gossip. He would have to go home and disfigure himself to retrieve his character. This is carrying the prejudice of plainness rather far.

California Elk Preserve.

The California elk is to be saved from extinction. Henry Miller, the cattle king, is arranging a preserve, immune from gun and dog and the civilized things which harry forest dwellers, where the elk may live in peace and even increase. The cattle king will be able to carry out his praiseworthy scheme because already he owns about all the California elk which lift their antlers today. He never bought them with money, but he went into their wild haunts and saved them from the destruction which was wiping their species out of existence. The elk which he now owns compose what is probably the only herd of American elk which it will be possible to save.

What the Czar Would Be.

Here is a confession from the czar of all the Russians: "I love traveling, but only when I can do it in my own way. I never travel otherwise than at night and spend my day visiting museums and quaint old streets, bazaars when I am in the east, antiquarian shops when I am in the north. I am more of an Asiatic than a European in my tastes, and I have not only a vast collection of Indian curios and quite an army of Buddhas, large and small, but also a library composed of books treating of Indian subjects alone and another of books dealing with Egyptian law. Were I not—well, what I am, I should be the greatest bookworm in the world."

Bennett Shuns the Kaiser.

One of the curious features of the Gordon Bennett automobile race was the absence of James Gordon Bennett, the donor of the cup. Mr. Bennett has never made any secret of the fact that he regards the kaiser as a dangerous man, whose political plans and policy must be opposed to the uttermost, and he has consistently exerted his influence in the press in this direction. It is understood that Mr. Bennett came to America for the express purpose of avoiding the necessity of going to Hamburg.

Even Boston Slips a Little.

If we are to believe the scientists, Boston is slowly sinking into the sea. The datum plane, to which all elevations are referred by the city engineering departments, shows that after a lapse of seventy-two years we are 70 of a foot nearer the sea than we were. In other words, the land of Boston and vicinity is sinking at the rate of about a foot per 100 years.

The secret of the excellent baking and roasting qualities of the Imperial Oxford oven is found in the diffusive flue—an improvement which no other range possesses.

This flue draws fresh air from the floor, superheats it and delivers it into the top of the oven through perforations which diffuse it evenly to front, sides and back. This gives a uniform heat throughout the oven, resulting in uniformly cooked food.

It is simple to prove the fuel economy of the heat-diffusing flue of the

THIS IS A TALE WITH A MORAL

Juliana Sandburg Suffered Six Years with Dyspepsia and was Cured by One Box of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

"For over six years I was troubled with Dyspepsia and Headache," says Juliana Sandburg, of 221 John street, North, Hamilton, Ont. "Nothing I ate would agree with me. 'I tried several remedies but could not get any relief. Then I was advised to use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and I bought one box. After taking part of it I found relief and by the time I had finished the box I was completely cured.'"

That was a case of long suffering quickly cured. Just think of suffering for six years with permanent relief within easy reach all the time. How many other Canadians are still complaining of Stomach Troubles? They too can find a lasting cure in Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

A small boy, aged five, had a step-mother who was young and nervous. She had never had experience with children, and the small boy's slightest ailment tortured her into a panic.

Croup threatened one day, and the doctor was sent for in wild haste. As the doctor entered the room the child raised his head from his pillow and croaked hoarsely in apology for the hasty summons:

"You must excuse her, doctor. This is the first time she's ever been a mother."—Lippincott's Magazine.

A Raiser of Pickles. "Anything I can do for you, madam?" asked the clerk in the seed store.

"Yes," answered the sweet thing, tapping the counter with a tapering finger. "I wish to ascertain if bottled pickle seeds will grow as well as those of the bulk variety."—Indianapolis Sun.

HE LEARNED A GREAT TRUTH.

It is said of John Wesley that he once said to Mistress Wesley: "Why do you tell that child the same thing over and over again?" "John Wesley, because once telling is not enough." It is for this same reason that you are told again and again that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy cures colds and grip; that it counteracts any tendency of these diseases to result in pneumonia, and that it is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by All Druggists.

Happy Exception.

The passenger who had been holding himself up by a strap sat down in a seat that had just been vacated. "There is plenty of room, madam," he said to the pudgy little matron sitting next. "Don't move."

To my surprise it removed all pain and soreness and the injured parts were soon healed." For sale by All Druggists.

DISTRICT DOINGS.

BLENHEIM

Oct. 2.—Word was received on Saturday from Inlay City, Mich., of the death of Mrs. Adams, mother of Mrs. J. F. Titus.

The annual thanksgiving services in connection with Trinity Church, took place yesterday. The church was tastefully decorated with grain, leaves and fruit. A large number were present at both services. The thank-offering was good. The Rector preached at both services. His discourses were excellent. The special music by the choir went off well in the morning. Duncan Fairman sang a solo "O Thy Throat Tears." In the evening Eric Kounsell sang "The Choir Celestial."

The Misses Kipp and Mr. Coatsworth, Chatham, visited at Mr. I. Shaver's, yesterday.

TILBURY

Oct. 3.—The funeral services of the late Rev. Robert Wilson will be conducted this afternoon in St. Andrew's Anglican church, the remains having arrived yesterday morning from Oklahoma.

A large number from here attended Comber Fair on Saturday. Frank Beno secured a prize for turn-outs and was only prevented from capturing the silver cup presented by the Crown Bank owing to the fact that he was debarred, the contest being limited to residents of Tilbury West and Tilbury North. Thos. Beattie secured the cup.

The Presbyterian supper on Saturday evening was largely attended and the excellent repast served was thoroughly enjoyed by all. The receipts were $35.

James Stuart's sale of lots on Saturday was most successful, every lot advertised but one being sold at good prices, which shows that the public has great confidence in the future of the village. A number of outside residents showed their confidence, Reeve Campbell and J. J. Waddell, of Tilbury East, being among the purchasers.

P. W. Steele, of Merlin, was in town Saturday.

STUMPED THE LAWYER.

Jim Webster was being tried for bribing a colored witness, Sam Johnson, to testify falsely.

You said the defendant offered you $50 to testify in his behalf?

Yes, sah.

Now, repeat what he said, using his exact words.

He said he would give me $50 if I—

He didn't speak in the third person, did he?

No, sah; he tuk good care dat dar was no third person 'round; dar was only two—us two.

I know that, but he spoke to you in the first person, didn't he?

I was the first person myself.

You don't understand me. When he was talking to you did he say: 'I will give you $50'?

No, sah; he didn't say nothin' 'bout 'you' payin' me $50. Your name wasn't mentioned, 'cepting he told me ef eber I got into a scrape you was the best lawyer in San Antonio to fool de judge and de jury—in fact, you was de best in town to cover up reskibly.

For a brief, breathless moment the trial was suspended.

MODISH COLORS.

The select colors this season are the vegetable colors. They are onion green, lettuce green and watercress green. Then in the reds one notes watermelon pink, which is a very red; beet red, radish red and carrot red.

In the yellows there is a very smart squash colored cloth, and there are flower yellows galore, buttercup, yellow rose, daffodil yellow and the yellow of the cowslips.

It is strange how many new tones one can find and how they can be recognized at a glance. The new burnt cream tone is quite different from the creamy tint, and there is the flesh color, which differs from both.

The woman who clings by preference to the old shades should be sure to select tones that hold their style, for there is nothing more noticeable than a gown that is made up in color or that is not popular now. Don't try to be a successful dresser in odd colors and mediocre fabrics. It can't be done.

Parrot and onion green are the latest in Dame Fashion's world to tin their eyes in the thick disk, and to be gowned in these, with trimmings of coral or tomato, is to be very smartly costumed indeed.

LARGEST FLOWER IN THE WORLD

The rafflesia is a strange plant. It grows in Sumatra and derives its name from Sir Stamford Raffles, Governor of Sumatra at one time, and his friend, Dr. Arnold, a naturalist. They were the first white men to discover the wonderful plant. It is said to be the largest and most magnificent flower in the world. It is composed of five roundish petals, each a foot across and of a brick red color, covered with numerous irregular yellowish white swellings. The petals surround a cup nearly a foot wide, the margin of white being the stamens.

This cup is filled with a fleshy disk, the upper surface of which is everywhere covered with projections like miniature cow's horns. The cup when free from its contents would hold about twelve pints of water. The flower weighs fifteen pounds. It is very thick, the petals being three-quarters of an inch in thickness. With its beauty one is led to expect sweetness, but its odor is that of tainted beef, and Dr. Arnold supposed that even the flies were deceived by the smell and were depositing their eggs in the thick disk, taking it for a piece of carrion.

Gentlemen,—I fell from the bridge leading from a platform to a loaded car while assisting my men in unloading a load of grain. The bridge went down as well as the load on my back and I struck on the ends of the sleepers, causing a serious injury to my leg. Only for its being very fleshy would have broken it. World's Largest Tortoise.

The Zoological Gardens in London have lately become the home of a tortoise imported from the Island of Mauritius which weighs 500 pounds and measures 4 feet 7 inches from head to tail. It was purchased from a family in Mauritius who vouched for having it in their possession for 150 years. Experts who have examined it think its age nearer 300 than 200 years and it seems to be no more than in its prime.

A tortoise still larger than this one was given to the Natural History Museum by the same person. It weighed 870 pounds when it died, and as it was known to be not much more than eighty years old it is to be supposed that its weight would have continued to increase with advancing years.

Speedy Justice.

An extraordinary story of how Sir Hiram S. Wilkinson, the British Chief Justice at Shanghai, dispensed summary justice is told in The North China Daily News. Sir Hiram was driving out when his carriage upset a ricksha containing a Mr. Frederick Penfold. Mr. Penfold was so outraged at the incident that he leapt into Sir Hiram's carriage and hit the driver on the back of the head. Sir Hiram promptly took Penfold in the carriage and drove straight to the British consulate, where he tried Mr. Penfold in the police court and fined him $1 and costs. The whole affair from start to finish did not occupy more than five minutes.

GOOD SERVICES

The seating capacity of the William St. Baptist Church was taxed to its utmost last night to accommodate the crowd that gathered to hear the sermon on "Does the Soul Sleep After Death, or Where Does it Go?" which was announced to be preached by the pastor of the church, Rev. J. W. Hoyt. The reverend gentleman took two texts of Scripture as the basis of his theme; the first in Acts vii, 59-60, and the second in Ecclesiastes xii, 7, and from these Scriptures he developed a scholarly sermon, treating the subject from the standpoint of reason, science and Scripture. The speaker said that one of the reasons for so much confusion over the sleeping of the soul was the lack of distinction between the Scriptural application of the terms soul and body. The soul is the personality, the ego, the real self, and the body is the tenement, the house, the temple, the dwelling place of the soul. Those who believed in soul sleeping say a great many difficult and puzzling questions to answer. For instance, a body is buried at sea, eaten by fish, and its particles are scattered. Just what portion of it the soul will remain with, or whether it will distribute itself among all the particles, is for them to answer. Or when a body is cremated and only a handful of ashes is left, will the soul sleep in the bed of ashes or will it rove through the air with particles that have gone up with the smoke? These are puzzling questions and reason asks an answer.

The symbol of sleep does not exhaust the definition of death. For the body, death is sleep; for the soul, death is a departure.

When Stephen fell asleep he cried, "Lord Jesus, receive my spirit." Death was just an occasion for the soul to return to God who gave it. Science tells us the soul is never inactive, unconscious or insensible, but is always alive and alert. Scripture confirms science in this. Luke xvi. tells us that the thinking, loving, worshipping part of man was alive and active, conscious of what it was enduring and conscious of its brothers. Hence, the preacher said, reason, science and Scripture are opposed to the doctrine of soul-sleeping.

MACAULAY CLUB

Inaugural Meeting of Maple City's Literary Organization—Officers Elected.

The Macaulay Club inaugurated the 28th year of its history most auspiciously at the annual meeting held in the Public Library auditorium on Saturday evening. There was a large attendance of members and an earnest spirit of enthusiasm was manifest, presaging another successful season of edification and usefulness. The past year was the most successful in the history of the Maple City's literary and debating association and the prospects are exceedingly bright for a continuance of this prosperity.

Among those present at the meeting were: President Harry Collins, occupied the chair, and Thomas Scullard, J. S. Lane, F. D. Laurie, J. W. Aitken, C. E. Beaton, H. J. Stevens, J. W. Young, J. J. Powes, W. Taylor, Edwin Bell, J. M. Pike, Chas. Jenkins, Dr. Geo. Mussion, H. W. Anderson and others.

The reports of officers for the past year were submitted and adopted. They were of a most satisfactory character and showed the Club to be in a better position than ever before in its long career.

The election of officers for the ensuing term was then proceeded with and resulted as follows:
President—H. W. Anderson.
Vice-President—H. J. Stevens.
Secretary-Treasurer—Dr. Geo. Mussion.

Fifteen names were placed in nomination for the Executive committee, the ballot resulting in the election of the following five gentlemen: H. Collins, J. S. Lane, F. D. Laurie, H. D. Smith and J. M. Pike.

A particularly pleasing feature of the meeting was the appointment of Mr. Scullard as Grand Historian. He has been a member of the Club continuously for over 20 years, and Dr. Mussion, in moving the appointment, spoke in words of earnest eulogy of his splendid and valued services.

Mr. Scullard, who was greeted with hearty rounds of applause, made an appropriate acknowledgment of the honor done him.

The president-elect then moved, seconded by J. M. Pike, a very cordial vote of thanks to the retiring president, Mr. Collins, to whose earnest and energetic efforts so much of the success of the Club was due. The resolution was greeted with round upon round of applause.

Mr. Collins spoke briefly in response and thanked the members for the hearty support always accorded him. He prophesied an even brighter future for the Club.

Before adjourning it was decided to hold the inaugural meeting of the Executive committee to-morrow (Tuesday) afternoon at the office of the secretary, Dr. Mussion, to make arrangements for the season's work.

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to express our sincere appreciation of the many kindnesses and the many little thoughtful acts done to us by our friends and neighbors during our bereavement, and especially do we thank Miss Abram and the staff of McKough school for their sympathy and kindnesses to us at the time of the loss of our little daughter.

(Sgd.) MR. AND MRS. JOHN WATT.

Mrs. Dearborn—I hear she has been mixed up in a dozen divorce scandals. Mrs. Wabash—She must be a graduate of one of those co-respondent schools.

IS GOVERNOR OF P.E.I.

Cabinet Appoints a Successor to Hon. P. A. McIntyre.

Another Member of the Ninth Parliament of Canada Goes to His Reward—Was Useful to His Party in Committee, Especially When Rivers and Harbors Were Up For Settlement—Scholarship and Political Record.

Ottawa, Oct. 3.—D. A. MacKinnon, who represented Queen's, P.E.I., in the last House, has been appointed Lieutenant-Governor of P.E.I., succeeding the Hon. P. A. McIntyre, whose term has just expired. The appointment was made on Saturday afternoon at the regular Cabinet meeting.

Mr. MacKinnon was never often heard in the House, but as a committee man he was valuable to his party. His intimate knowledge of P. E. I. stood him in good stead whenever the grants for harbors, etc., for the Maritime Provinces held the attention of the House. Personally, he is a most likeable man, though on first meeting he impresses one as dour.

Donald Alexander MacKinnon is the son of William MacKinnon and his wife Katherine Nicholson, both of Scottish descent, and was born at Uigg, Belfast, P.E.I., on Feb. 21, 1863. Educated at Uigg Grammar School and Prince of Wales College, Dalhousie, he took the degree of LL.B. at University Law School, Halifax, and was admitted to the practice of law in 1887, becoming a Q.C. in 1900.

Mr. MacKinnon was elected in 1893 to the Prince Edward Island Legislative Assembly and sat for Murray Harbor district, King's County, being re-elected in 1897. In 1899 he was appointed Attorney-General for the island. At the Dominion general election of 1900 he was returned for the constituency of Queen's East, P. E. I., but the election being declared void, a new election was held on March 20, 1901, when he was again returned by a majority of 394. The new Lieutenant-Governor is a Liberal in politics and a Presbyterian, and was married in 1892 to Adelaide Beatrice Louise Owen, of Georgetown, P.E.I.

Hon. W. S. Fielding and Hon. Mr. Emmerson left Ottawa for their respective provinces at noon Sunday. Sir Frederick Borden is en route for Kingston.

John Culbert, the late member for Brockville, was again nominated by the Conservative convention held on Saturday to contest the riding at the approaching general elections. James Kendry, the member for West Peterboro, in the Dominion House last session, has declined to run, and on Saturday that riding nominated Hugh Waddell of South Monaghan.

L. L. Gordon, the Conservative leader, returned to Toronto on Saturday and will remain until Wednesday. He speaks in Massey Hall on Tuesday night. He is very well pleased with the indications of his Ontario tour so far.

James Cosme, M.P.P., who is the Liberal Federal candidate for the Commons, said Saturday he desired to have his resignation accepted as a member.

INNOCENT, PLEADS GUILTY.

Extraordinary Case Came Before Judge Macbeth On Saturday.

London, Oct. 3.—An extraordinary case came before Judge Macbeth Saturday morning. James Keshago of the Caradoc Reserve, was brought in under commitment by Squire Lockwood, charged by Joseph French, an Indian living in Strathroy, with stealing a grey mare and buggy from his premises. Horse-stealing is a serious offence, and the punishment for it may run as high as six or seven years. Nevertheless, Keshago pleaded guilty and did not seem to trouble about the consequences.

His Honor said that the evidence taken by the Squire was not sufficient to convict. By degrees, for Keshago volunteered no information on his own account, a story very different from that of a thief was elicited. It appeared that French had bought the horse from the prisoner, and still owed him $8, on the deal. Keshago had grown impatient for his money, and last Saturday he went to French's house and said he was going to take the horse back. Finally a compromise was made between the two by which Keshago was to keep the horse until Monday. French evidently repented of his agreement, and then had his credit arrested.

The case will be continued on Wednesday morning. "If there is not more evidence than that against you, I will let you go," said the court.

Winnipeg, Oct. 3.—F. W. Watts, arrested at Moosejaw for robbery, may be charged with the murder of Alex. Taffen, whose body was found mangled in the railway yard of this town two weeks ago.

STRAW IS SCARCE

"What do you think of that for a three dollar and a half load of straw?" said John W. White to a Planet reporter pointing to a load of straw, which would weigh about half a ton, standing on King Street this afternoon.

"Talk about your high prices, that is paying it for straw—and at that I have bought the load and gave the farmer what he asked for it. I am glad to get straw this year at any price. Straw is very scarce."

Levi Martin, of Pain Court, had along at this point and added a few to what Mr. White had said.

"I never saw straw so scarce in this country," said he. "None of the farmers seem to have much to sell and many of them will have to buy from their neighbors before the winter is over."

"Mr. Bourassa, of Big Point, had a day and a half threshing this year, while last year he was threshing for six days. This is a fair sample of the way things are in Dover. There is not half a crop this year and on the low lands there was practically nothing at all."
