Contentment.

Thankful for God's bright sunshine, For the blue sky overhead, Thankful for those who love us,
For the kind word they said, Thankful for rest when weary, For song when the heart is glad,
Thankful for hope and courage, And the happiness I've had,
Thankful for all life's blessings, So many I never can tell—Thankful for God's mercies, A treasury I could not sell.

On the Wing.

MR. AND MRS. E. G. BISHOP HAVE BEEN INTERESTED IN THE SOME TRIP.

Laredo, Texas,
Nov. 10th, 1910.

DEAR FRIEND AND EDITOR.—If an account of my wanderings would be of sufficient interest to your readers to publish—well and good, if not to consign to waste paper basket.

We had a delightful trip and enjoyed every bit of it. It seems as if the Weather Bureau had outdone itself to provide good weather. In five weeks we had only two small showers.

The ride from Wolfville to Digby was pleasant but uneventful; the rail across the Bay to St. John delinquent.

We took our train on the C. P. R. at 8 p. m. for Auburn, Maine.

An all night's ride brought us to Waterville at 4.30 a. m. As we had to wait an hour for our train we took a stroll by sunrise. Waterville is a smart, clean town. It is the seat of Colby University (twelve or more brick and stone buildings enclosed in a fine park) has many beautiful residences and a good many factories.

Boarding our train we passed through some fine farming country and saw a good showing of fruit, a great many lakes and rivers and many lumber industries.

We reach Auburn at 7 p. m. This is one of the most towns I have seen.

With a population of over 15,000.

Across the river is Lewiston, the population 30,000. The river is not larger than the Caspian, but its energy is stored, and cotton, woolen and mills of all kinds are in operation. I made the acquaintance of the owner of a shovel handle factory who took me through the works. They employ 35,000 men and turn out 1,000 down handles each day. It was interesting to see a log of wood go in at one end of the mill and come out a finished product at the other. They ship their products even into Canada. These cities, Auburn and Lewiston, have a thirty lock which is attributed to prohibition. Both cities have fine Carnegie Libraries, fine public buildings and beautiful residences.

We spent a delightful week here, and then went to Boston via Portland. This was a pretty ride through large and thrifty looking towns. We passed through that famous watering place, Cottage City; through Lawrence with its hundreds of factories, through Haverhill and many other large cities.

At 4 p. m. we reach Boston and as we have plenty of time and daylight take an electric car for Brockton.

This is a delightful ride of 30 miles, passing through Mattapan, Franklin Park and the Blue Hills. A section of one of the bustling cities of the state with a population of 50,000. It manufactures more shoes than any other city in the United States. The great Brockton Fair was in progress that week. It is the largest and most successful Fair in the New England States and unlike our Provincial Fair never has a deficit. The great attraction this year was Graham

White the English Aviator. Tuesday

(Children's Day) all children were admitted free and I think all on earth must have been there, such a collicking, jolly, noisy, good natured lot of kids could not be duplicated. The exhibits were no better than our own, but on a larger scale. Like all Exhibitions, more attention is paid to horse racing, sports, etc. than to the practical and useful.

There is no lack of entertainment in the block contains a theatre and moving picture show. Every corner has a saloon yet I saw no drunkards. Everybody seems to live in hotels and restaurants. In conversation with a New Yorker he said that there was no home life in New York as there was in Boston. The marriage of the wealthy people live in hôtels and the poorer class eat in restaurants. With its elevated and surface cars, subways and tunnels New York is an easy city to get around in.

Probably the greatest amusement enterprise in the Hippodrome. This great theatre seats 7,000 people. Its stage is 100x200 ft. It has 800 electric lights, a great tank 14 ft. deep, arranged that the stage can be submerged making a lake for mimic warfare, juggling horses and aquatic shows. Beneath the horses are stables for horses, automobile shops, where many workmen are kept busy, and business where live the 1000 or more people seen on the stage. The production is run for one year and with a day the house is crowded.

No expense is spared to make it the greatest show on earth.

New York is certainly a city of skyscrapers and magnificent buildings.

One of the buildings that interest me immensely was the Pennsylvania

R. R. station. This is a magnificent structure occupying a whole block in the city. It is a fine building. Then there is Central Park with its Zoo, the Museum of Fine Arts and other attractions. The Riverside Drive along the banks of the Hudson is the finest in America. Here we see Grant's tomb of solid white marble, magnificent private residences and apartment houses. Farther out is Forest Park. The churches and palaces are worth seeing. If I had a million I would live in N. Y.

After spending a week here we are bound for New Orleans. This is a five days' sail. It was very calm and a good voyage was made. I was able to be at the table three times a day.

Monday morning at sunrise we sail up the great Mississippi River. The land is very low along the river.

Great banks are erected to keep out the water, reminding me of our dyke lands. On either side of the river are plantations of sugar-cane and corn.

The river is not wide but very deep so that the largest ships can float.

We arrived in New Orleans at 10.30 a. m. This city has a population of 300,000 and is a great shipping port, railroad and distributing centre. It contains some very fine buildings.

The residences are all built on brick piers and are of very low structure.

The city is below the river level and is a great deal of water. The streets are above ground in some places.

New Orleans contains some magnificent parks with flowers blooming everywhere. To me it seemed very warm but the Southerners called it cold. Here we found a great distinction made between white and colored people. In the street cars, railway stations, everywhere were signs—"For white people only." "Waiting room for colored people." The back seats of the street cars are reserved for colored patrons and no white person is allowed to sit there. Here we got our first show of mules and mgros.

We spent nearly two days in New Orleans then took our train for San Antonio, Texas. After a short ride, we again reached the Mississippi.
Here was rather a unique arrangement. Our train was broken into three parts, pushed on to a huge bridge and towed across the river where it was made up again; all done very quickly and without any hitch.

Louisiana, Louisiana Low the old river goes. I understand it all now.
Land for miles and miles level as a floor, swamps, then miles of corn and sugarcane and rice fields. "The old cabin home" we saw in reality. A great sugar plantation and sugar mill —the planter's fine house surrounded by acres of negro cabins, which sometimes showed distinction almost unbelievable. I noticed that every house—a matter how poor or small —had a water tank outside in which to catch rain water. Close beside would be pools with green scum over them. Surely mosquitoes and malaria must prevail.

We did not see a good looking town till we got to Houston, Texas, and as it was night I cannot say much about it. In the state—a great cotton center and a paradise for negroes.

Yes, we are in Texas—the great State of the Union—1000 by 800 miles.
Here are all kinds of climate, soil and people. We rode through miles of cotton fields, through small towns with their cotton mills and train loads of cotton, a country without trees or grass. At 8 a. m. we are in San Antonio, the pride of Texas. As we could not get a Laredo train till 9 p. m., we had a chance to see the city.
My first impressions were rather disappointing as the railway station is in a poor part of the city, but after seeing more of it I decided never again to judge hastily. San Antonio is a beautiful city with narrow but clean unadorned streets, fine buildings, twenty-one parks and a good sized river running through the centre. The state Fair

Attention is directed to the large ad. of Messrs. J. R. Webster & Co., which occupies a prominent place in THE ACADIAN this week. They are well prepared for Christmas shoppers and want the public to know it. They believe that there is no better medium through which to reach the people than THE ACADIAN, and in this they are not mistaken. Look out for their ad. from now until Christmas—and later on.

Superior quality throughout is a characteristic of our production. Not the smallest detail is overlooked.

Boston & Co. The young lady students of the College are now arranging to present Tennyson's 'Princess' in College Hall on Friday evening, Dec. 16th. The entertainments presented by the 'College Girls' during the past few years have been most enjoyable and cleverly given and the coming event promises to be fully up to the standard already attained. The 'Acadian' would be glad to hear from the young ladies' committee when they appear here in next month's 'Princess' in aid of the V. V. C.

I aim to be always a little better than the best. Not more cheap, but how good, genuine that look beautiful and are even better than they look. Boston & Co.

The Faculty Recital.

The annual recital given by the teachers of Acadia Seminary took place on Tuesday evening of this week in College Hall.

This is always one of the chief events of the College year. The attendance on Tuesday evening was good and the program presented was much enjoyed by the audience.

When all the numbers were so well given it would, perhaps, be unfair to particularize, but the violin solos of Miss Crafts were very much enjoyed and marked her as an artist in every sense of the word.

Avonport.

We are very sorry to hear of the serious illness of one of our old respected inhabitants, Mrs. P. Green. We hope she will soon be around again.

The horse shed is no longer a thing of the future days, but a reality. Splendid progress is being made with it, under the direction of Mr. Brown with an able band of helpers.

A very successful and happy surprise party was held at the home of Mrs. H. Garrison last Friday evening by the Hopeful Division, S. of T. The party drove to the sister's home and there spent a most enjoyable time in songs, recitations and jokes.

Boy Had Fits For 6 Years

Druggist advised DR. A.W. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD—Cure complete and lasting. Mrs. J. D. Palmer, 25 Park St., Amsterdam, N. Y., writes: 'When six years old my boy began to have fits. They came on in the night. He would make strange noises, stiffen out, froth times would twitch and sometimes turn purple. After the fit he could not talk.'

Pretty Home Wedding.

A quiet but pretty home wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Raluse, Waterville, on Wednesday afternoon, when their daughter, Miss Raluse, was united in marriage to Mr. Rupert E. Banks, of Wolfville. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. J. Rutledge, of Waterville, in the presence of relatives and friends.

The parlors were prettily decorated for the occasion with evergreen and white flowers under which the ceremony took place. The bride, attired in a handsome traveling costume of 'London smoke' broadcloth, with hat to match, looked very pretty. She was the recipient of a large number of pretty and useful presents. After congratulations and refreshments, were served Mr. and Mrs. Banks were driven to the station and took the express for home.

Mr. Banks, who fills the position of mechanical foreman for THE ACADIAN is a popular young man and has many friends in Wolfville, who will wish him and his bride every happiness.

Wedding Bells.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. MacLeod, on the morning of Wednesday, Nov. 23rd, when their daughter, Mabel Deau MacLeod, was united in marriage to Dr. Frederick A. Corbett.

The bride looked charming in a travelling suit of blue broadcloth, beaver hat and a handsome set of mink furs, the gift of her mother. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. E. MacLean, assisted by Rev. J. Donkin.

The wedding march was played by Miss Isabel Akeman and Guy d'Harville, because 'was sung by W. H. Belding, after which the wedding breakfast was served, about fifty guests being present.

Dr. and Mrs. Corbett left by the 3.30 train for an extended trip to American cities. After remaining in Montreal for the winter, they propose spending the spring and summer months in Europe.

The gifts received were many and handsome, showing the high esteem in which the young couple are held by a wide circle of friends, and included a cheque from the bride's father, a tea set of Limoges china, silver from the father and mother of the groom. The home decorations were crimson roses and ferns.

(The above from the Parishos Leader refers to a young lady well known in Wolfville. THE ACADIAN joins a host of other friends in best wishes to Dr. and Mrs. Corbett.)

OPPOSES RECIPROCITY

SIR G. W. ROSS THINKS CANADA SHOULD NOT BE TIED UP.

Former Premier of Ontario in Historic Address Before the Toronto Board of Trade Gives His Reasons for Maintaining the Present Tariff—Phenomenal Growth of Industries Would End.

In a speech eloquent, logical and comprehensive, Sir Geo. W. Ross discussed the question of reciprocity before a largely attended meeting of the Board of Trade in Toronto recently. "The negotiation of a reciprocity treaty with the United States," he said, "has been a somewhat familiar subject to Canadians for two generations. Ever since the repeal of the tariff of 1854, over forty years ago, it has been frequently discussed on both sides of the line."

After discussing the political effect on Canada of reciprocity, Sir George took up the economic problem. He said: "A poor bargain."

"But, assuming that bona fide proposals for reciprocity are to be submitted, let me mention a few considerations that require the most careful attention. (1) We must not forget that the mere exchange of tariff schedules may involve a great deal more than appears on the surface. For example, to abolish the duty on imports of both sides of the line looks fair, but to accept an offer of that kind per se would be to give away a poor bargain for Canada. I believe that the longer the American tariff of 25 cents a bushel on Canadian wheat is maintained the better for us. Canadian wheat has now a distinct place in the British market. If the market of the United States were freely opened it would be impossible to maintain its identity, as passing through American elevators, and Canada would be the loser to the extent of any reduction in price."

"A similar observation will apply to flour. Manitoba flour usually Red Rose Tea is so popular because "it's good tea" and because when you buy a package you have the comfortable feeling you're getting an article fully worth every cent you pay for it.

when the United States in 1866 hung out a flag of reciprocity and told us our only choice was starvation or annexation. It is said that the fabled words of Hercules, who had to choose between a lion's head and a lion's feet, were his choice when he was asked to choose between a lion's head and a lion's feet, and he chose the lion's feet, and he was victorious. It is said that the fabled words of Hercules, who had to choose between a lion's head and a lion's feet, were his choice when he was asked to choose between a lion's head and a lion's feet, and he chose the lion's feet, and he was victorious.

What British Capital is Doing. Then, again, the British market has always been our best market for our goods. It is said that the fabled words of Hercules, who had to choose between a lion's head and a lion's feet, were his choice when he was asked to choose between a lion's head and a lion's feet, and he chose the lion's feet, and he was victorious.

United States as a Market. "But suppose the markets of the United States were thrown open to us, would that not, generally enhance our prosperity? The United States lie along our border for 4,000 miles, with a population of ninety millions. If you have anything to sell, there is an unlimited market for us—why not let us enjoy it? This is a fascinating picture, but there is another side to it. The boundary is just as long for the Americans as for the Canadians, and a reciprocity treaty that opened one side of the line would also open the other. While our seven millions were getting into the American market with our merchandise the American thirty millions were getting into Canada, and the home market always the best, where not glutted with goods, would be rendered practically valueless. The fruit-grower would find American fruit in the market before his, and everywhere so abundant that his trade would be ruined. The flour merchant, the seed merchant, the dealer in produce, such as bacon, butter and cheese, would be similarly situated, and any occasional sale that he could make in the United States would be poor compensation for the losses incurred on account of the surplus of the home market by American goods."

Canadian Cheese Pre-empted. "In the same way Canadian cheese, after years of experiment and large expenditure of money has been driven American cheese out of the British market. How could this pre-emption be prevented if Canadian cheese, passed through the hands of American shippers over the border? We have, therefore, the American market, the first profit, if profit there be, but the ultimate effect upon an industry which yields us annually about $2,000,000. The advance of a few cents in price in exceptional conditions of the market should be sufficient to cause general effect on the large aspect of the question and the business interests of all the cheese factories of Canada."

"The question of our lumbering industry has also been raised. There is no doubt the admission of lumber into the American market free of duty would enhance the value of lumber, and probably the value of all standing timber in Canada. But the personal interest of the lumbermen are not to be alone considered. One of the greatest questions now before the people of Canada is how to conserve their forests. Mr. Clifford Burton, chairman of the Commission of Natural Resources, speaking before the Empire Club on the 20th inst., said: 'At the end of twenty years the United States would have no timber for sale in the ordinary way. In Canada the supply was large, but it is the supply in the United States ran out, the supply in Canada would last the United States for only seven years. The time would come, however, when the people of Canada would demand legislation to conserve their timber. This is the national view, and the only view which will do justice to Canadian interests. Can the view be maintained under a treaty?'

"In 1906, when the old treaty was repealed, we were poor in banking capital, in skilled labor, in agriculture and in manufactures. A treaty then would have afforded some relief. Today conditions are different—different because the repeal of the treaty removed every prop on which we had formerly leaned, and the true temper of the Anglo-Saxon spirit was roused to action. Our country in the world affords a better illustration of public spirit than Canada."

True Household Economy

MOTHERS, we owe it as a duty to our husbands and families to take good care of them. We all want, of course, to have our loved ones cheerful and comfortable. Our dominant part is to give them the very best that we can make or bake. But sometimes we are tempted to save a few pennies in food and think that in so doing we are economizing. But is it so? Is this the kind of economy that is wise and profitable? Is it doing our full duty to our loved ones?

Royal Household Flour

We wouldn't think of buying the lowest priced eggs in the market just for the sake of economy. We would fear that because they were cheap they would be good eggs to avoid. The low price would give us a suspicion of their freshness and quality. From every point of view Royal Household Flour is more economical than any other. It produces more loaves to the barrel. It is richest in food value. It is more uniform. It is best for Pastry as well as Bread and yields more baked product in either bread or pastry than any other flour.

ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR furnishes more nourishment, more real food value per pound and per penny than any other flour in the world. With his right leg cut off and his left arm taken off at the elbow and the back of his head crashed, John Patrick McMullen, of St. John, was found on the C. P. R. tracks about a quarter of a mile east of Fredericton Junction Tuesday. He died soon after. Drink.

The Soft Grey Moss. (By Lillian Josephine Brewer, in the "Proverbialist" Magazine.) Cried the Norway Pine to the jaunty Fir, 'Look! a moss-bud dropped on your long cast arm; Shake it off before it gets fastened there. 'Such a little thing cannot do much harm,' Said the Fir, and haughtily tossed his head. 'Oh, beware, beware,' begged the Pine 'for I Have seen harm enough from such tiny foes. Why, because of moss, I have seen trees die. 'Oh, don't part with me, 'Cried the moss-bud we, 'There is room for a million like me. So the Fir tre laughingly let him stay, And the Pine grew wrinkled, and warned in vain; Then came other moss-buds and found the Fir, 'I will bid them go when to me 'tis plain. They are harmful things,' said the willow tree. Five long years have passed, and the Fir is dead; For he could not shake from his arms the moss; It has come to pass as the Pine tree said. So a little sin Be it left within In the battle for soul-life will win. 'Not If It Was My Boy.' Some years ago the late Horace Mann, the eminent educator, delivered an address at the opening of some reformatory institutions for boys, during which he remarked that it only one boy was saved from ruin it would pay for all the cost and care and labor of establishing such an institution as that. After the exercises Mr. Mann was asked: 'Did you not color that a little when you said that all the expense and labor would be repaid if it only saved one boy?' 'Not if it were my boy,' was the solemn and convincing reply. 'Ah! there is a wonderful value about 'my boy'; other boys may be rude and rough; other boys may be reckless and wild; other boys may seem to require more pains and labor than they ever will repay; other boys may be left to drift unguided for to the ruin which is so near at hand; but 'my boy'—it was worth the toll of a lifetime and the lavish wealth of a world to save him from temporal and eternal ruin. We would go the world around to save him from peril, and would bless every hand that was unwearyingly given to his help and care. And yet every poor wanderer, outcast, homeless man is one whom some fond mother called 'my boy.' Every little woman, sunken in the depths of sin, was somebody's daughter in her days of childish innocence. To-day somebody's son is a hungry outcast, pressed to the very verge of crime and sin. To-day some body's daughter is a weary, helpless wanderer, driven by necessity in the paths that lead to death. Shall we shrink from labor, shall we hesitate at cost when the work before us is the salvation of a soul? Not if it is 'my boy'; not if we have the love of Him who gave His life to save the lost. 'Back to the Washtub.' In an Illinois town which had no sal prohibition two years, and which had just voted to return to license, a poor old woman went into one of the stores to buy the most thing, who had voted in favor of license, who she thought of the matter. She said she had been a washerwoman in Rockford for twenty-eight years, had saved the living for her family over the washtub with the hardest kind of labor until the last two years. She Obtinate Constipation, Paralysis of the Bowels and Stricture of the Bowels can never be cured by common purgatives, salts, senna, "liver pills" and oil have positively no action on the liver. They do not increase the secretion of Bile, which nature provides to move the bowels. They merely irritate the mucous lining the intestines. One may as well try to cure a headache by pounding one's head against a stone wall, as to try to cure Constipation with common purgatives. "Fruit-a-tives" is the only true liver stimulant. "Fruit-a-tives" is fruit juices and nerve tonics, and will always restore the liver to its proper condition and cure the most obstinate cases of Constipation. Blood-Poisoning from Cut Finger. SERIOUS CONDITION BELIEVED BY ZAM-BUK. Mr. Jas. Davey, of 786 Ellice Avenue, Winnipeg, says: "A few months since I was cured of a poisoned finger through the timely use of Zam-Buk. I cut a deep gash across the knuckle on the first finger of the right hand, in opening a lobster can one evening. I suffered at the time with the soreness and pain, but had no idea it would become a serious wound. However, in about two days I was greatly alarmed, as my whole hand and arm to the elbow became inflamed, and the finger was much discolored, showing signs of blood-poisoning. The pain was dreadful and I was forced to leave off my work and go home. "The wound on the knuckle had been poisoned through the dust and dirt about the furnaces and boilers. I then decided to start the Zam-Buk treatment, and having first bathed the cut, I applied the healing balm. It cooled the pain almost instantly, and by the next day there was a great improvement. In a week's time, through perseverance with Zam-Buk, a complete cure was brought about. "Scores of similar cases could be quoted, and the wisest precaution is to keep a box of Zam-Buk handy and apply it immediately a cut, burn, or bruise is sustained. "Zam-Buk will also be found a sure cure for cold sores, chapped hands, frost bite, ulcers, eczema, blood-poisoning, varicose sores, piles, scalp sores, ring-worm, inflamed patches, babies' eruptions and chapped places, cuts, burns, bruises and skin injuries generally. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, upon receipt of price. Refuse imitations and substitutes. "Maria," demanded Mr. Dorkins, "what has become of my pipe?" "The last time I saw your old pipe, John Henry," said Mrs. Dorkins, "it was moving in the direction of the alley." "Do you mean to tell me that you threw it?" "No, I never touched it. Heaven forbid! It seemed to be moving of its own accord." "Where was it?" "You seemed to be hanging on to it with all your might with your teeth."

Pale, Anaemic Girls. The languid, semi-invalid girl is so long popular. Firm flesh, rounded form and a healthy glow to the complexion are the result of using Dr. A. W. Chase's Food. Mrs. Goodwin and her daughter, Mrs. Goodwin, of Montreal, Que., writes: "My daughter's appetite was bad and she was thin and listless. Since using Dr. A. W. Chase's Food there is a marked change in her case, she is the greatest and healthiest in every way."

Cleaning brooms may be rarely thought necessary, but they require cleaning as much as anything else, and if washed occasionally will be found to last far longer than others. About once a week prepare a good batch of hot water and soap, and into it dip the broom; shake it until it is heavy dry, and hang it up, with bristles downward, until quite dry. Heredit. William had just returned from college, resplendent in peg-top trousers, silk hose, a fancy waistcoat, and a necktie that spoke for itself. He entered the library where his father was reading. The old gentleman looked up and surveyed his son. The longer he looked the more disgusted he became. "Son," he finally blurted out, "you look like a d— fool!" Later the old major who lived next door came in and greeted the boy heartily. "William," he said, with undignified admiration, "you look exactly like your father did 30 years ago when he came back from school."

FORTIFY YOUR SYSTEM Against Threat and Lung Trouble With Father Merrett's No. 10. In our variable climate, a neglected cold or sore throat is very apt to result in serious disease. If every cough had been treated in time, with Father Merrett's Lung Tonic, commonly called No. 10, many a person now under the sod would be alive and well. The learned, first physician, after much study and research, succeeded in discovering a Lung Tonic which not only gives prompt relief, but also strengthens the whole system so as to prevent future trouble. No. 10 is made from the healing roots, herbs and balms to be found in Nature's storehouse. It is a complete and safe, proper proportion, and contains no opium, morphia or other harmful drug. It has been used with complete success in thousands of cases, and has undoubtedly saved many useful lives. Even in cases of consumption it is proved very helpful, arresting the decline and assisting Nature to restore the wasted system. There are on the market many cheap imitations of this medicine, and yet were it in a short time cured by the Lung Tonic. The people also testify that No. 10 has so strengthened the system that they have more power of resistance, thus conserving their energy and health, and increasing the chances of life. In this way they have in due time built up a strong, vigorous constitution, capable of withstanding sudden changes in weather conditions, even in our tick climate. Do not allow a cough or cold to get serious, for although the Lung Tonic is helpful even then, it is well to take it in time, and avoid unnecessary suffering. Trial bottle 25c. Regular size 50c.
