"There Were Many Things Which I Could Not Eat"

Mrs. H. Robert Wells, English Harbour, Trinity Bay, Nfld., writes:

"I was troubled with nervous dyspepsia—so much so that there were a great many things I could not eat at all on account of the distressing feeling afterwards. I used many different remedies, but they did me little good. Finally I tried Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills, and was surprised at the relief this combined treatment gave me in such a short time."

THE STORY OF A SPOILED BEAUTY.

CHAPTER XLIX.

For two or three days Lord Arleith saw nothing of the beautiful and mysterious girl with whom he had fallen so deeply in love. Angela had been most careful in her movements, and she no longer placed any reliance on Mrs. Bowen's declarations that his lordship had gone out and would not return until late. Such words were always inaccurate, for he always returned before the time appointed, and then Angela was sure to see him. She hardly knew herself how much she had grown to care for him.

At first it had been simply his likeness to her father that had drawn her heart to him; now she liked his pleasant manner, his kindness to herself, his thought for her. Her mind dwelt on him with pleasure; and since she had known him the pain and unhappiness from which she suffered had grown less. She had something else to think of besides her mother's misery and the cruel wickedness of the captain. How courteous he was to her, this handsome young earl, who had found her a stranger under his mother's roof.

What a charm lay in his kindly manner! Certainly, in Angela's opinion, there was hardly a finer, handsomer man in England; and he was as noble in mind as he was handsome in person. When Lord Arleith met Angela, he had at once lost his heart to her. The exquisite beauty of her face, the simple charming grace of her manner; the rapt spiritual expression of her features, the clear sweet music of her voice, charmed him and held him spell bound. Still the circumstances in which he had met her were so exceptional that he hardly knew how to proceed. Noblesse oblige—he could not make love to her while she was under the protection of his roof. Then he was greatly puzzled to know who she was, why she was there, what was the mystery that surrounded her—nothing, he felt sure, that in any way shadowed her fair soul. She was suffering from the faults and sins of others, not from her own—of that he felt fully convinced. Never, from the moment that he first saw there was a mystery about her, did one doubt of her occur to his mind. He thought it was quite possible that she had escaped from a very unhappy home, or from unkind and exacting relatives. He could not guess that it was the "red right hand" of murder raised against her, pursuing her daily with cruel device, that had driven her away.

They met one morning in the leafy glades of Brantome Woods. Angela had gone thither one day to see the beeches for which it was celebrated, and one in particular, called the Brantome Beech, supposed to be the largest of its kind in the county—a magnificent tree that stood alone in the center of a green plateau.

She had been much struck with the beauty of the Brantome Beech, and had resolved to sketch it; and on this morning she went away to the wood before the breakfast-bell had rung. She sat down on the trunk of a fallen tree that had been left there for a seat, and was soon hard at work. The strokes of her pencil were almost magical, and it was not long before the outlines of the Brantome Beech were on her sketching-board. She was thoroughly engrossed in her work; there was nothing to disturb her but the song of the birds and the hum of the bees.

All at once, without the warning of coming footsteps, a shadow fell over the grass and a voice startled her. "Good-morning, Miss Charles," said Lord Arleith. "I must apologize. I cannot pretend that this is an accidental meeting; it is not. I saw the gleam of your dress through the trees, and I—you will not be angry—I followed it. I have not seen you for some days, and I am anxious to know how you are."

Angela bowed very gravely. Her face flushed, her eyes fell before the delight she saw shining in his, and a sense of unutterable gladness seemed to fill her heart. "I am afraid," he continued, "that you must be very dull. You are almost as much alone in Brantome Hall as you would be in a desert."

What could she say to him? She could not tell him that she was only too grateful for the shelter afforded her. The next minute he was bending over her, looking at the sketch. "How perfectly you have caught the outlines of the beech!" he said. "What a capital sketch, Miss Charles! You are an artist."

"Not in execution—only in appreciation," she returned. "In both, I should say," he said. Then, after a pause, he asked: "May I speak quite frankly to you?" She looked up at him in wonder. What could he have to say to her? There was something in his face which made her own grow pale, something in his eyes which caused her own to droop. "Certainly, Lord Arleith," she replied. "Now that I have your permission, I hardly know how to avail myself of it," he continued. "I long to speak to you, yet I am afraid you should think that I presume—that I take advantage of your being under my roof, even though not my guest, to pry into your affairs; but I assure you it is not so. It is simple, genuine interest in you—an interest I cannot help, and which is greater even than my fear of displeasing you."

"He did not know—how much—of tenderness had crept into his voice, but she noticed it.

"Do not answer one of my questions unless it pleases you to do so," he went on. "Tell me—are you not very unhappy? Have you not some great trouble?"

The miseries of the past seemed to glide before her even as he spoke—her mother's unhappiness, her own danger, the murderous hand that had pursued her for so long—and she looked at him with quivering lips and tear-dimmed eyes.

"Yes," she replied. "I am in terrible trouble."

"I thought so," he said, gently. "And your trouble has been caused by others?"

"Yes," she answered. "I wonder," he said, slowly. "If you would trust me, if you would not let me be your friend, if you would allow me to help you?" She shook her head gravely.

"No help can be rendered me," she answered. "Miss Charles," he pleaded, earnestly. "forget that you have known me for so short a time. Try to think that I am an old and tried friend, and let me be of some assistance to you. Will you trust me with your secret, whatever it may be?"

"I cannot, Lord Arleith," she replied. "You are so kind and good that, if it concerned myself only, I would tell you at once; but to communicate all the facts would implicate others."

"Shall I ever know?" he asked. "I think not—I hope not," she replied, hastily. "Are you quite sure that, if you trusted me implicitly, I could do nothing to help you?" "I am quite sure," she answered. Yet, as she spoke, she felt what an intense relief it would have been to her to tell him her story and ask his advice. But how could she tell him of her mother's weak, infatuated love for the captain of the fatal will, or of the dread shadow which had hung over her and threatened her with a violent death? No, she could never tell that story. She must conceal her identity.

"I am sorry," she said, "that I cannot tell you my story. It is not possible."

"You cannot tell me your trouble, and you cannot accept my help?" "I cannot," she replied; "I would if I could."

And Lord Arleith never loved Angela better than when she raised her eyes to him so appealingly, seeking yet repelling sympathy. "Is there no way in which I can be of service to you?" he asked again. "No," she answered; and then a silence fell between them. He was the first to break it.

"Miss Charles," said Lord Arleith, suddenly, "do you think that I can be content with this, after having met you and grown interested in you? I could not endure that you should pass out of my life, and that I should lose sight of you forever."

Her heart beat faster at the words, her face flushed. They were the first of the kind that had ever been spoken to her, and without knowing it, she loved the man who uttered them. "No," he continued, "I could not bear it. I—you will forgive me, Miss Charles—I felt an unusual interest in you the first time I saw you."

Recommends Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound to Other Mothers

Hemford, N. B.—"I am the mother of four children and I was so weak after my last baby came that I could not do my work and suffered for months until a friend induced me to try Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound. Since taking the Vegetable Compound my weakness has left me and the pain in my back has gone. I tell all my friends who are troubled with female weakness to take Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound, for I think it is the best medicine ever sold. You may advertise my letter."—Mrs. GEORGE I. CHURCH, Hemford, N. B.

My First Child
Glen Allen, Alabama—"I have been greatly benefited by taking Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound for heart-drops, feelings and pains. I was troubled in this way for nearly four years following the birth of my first child, and at times could hardly stand on my feet. A neighbor recommended the Vegetable Compound to me after I had taken doctor's medicines without much benefit. It has relieved my pain and given me strength. I recommend it and give you permission to use my testimonial letter."—Mrs. IDA EYE, Glen Allen, Alabama.

Open Hall Notes.

It has been a very cold and stormy winter here, which keeps most of our men busy shovelling snow and getting firewood as a double supply is needed to keep out Jack Frost.

For almost two weeks King Frost has erected a bridge up in this light, which made it very convenient for the "dog cart men" (as we may term them) to get home some brushwood for the summer.

Two men of Summerville, namely Abbott and Matthews, left their homes yesterday morning on ice to go for a load of hay. On arriving they found the ice was breaking up and they retreated but found the rent was too wide for their horses to leap. On coming back again they found it very difficult to land their horses, and one of the men barely escaped being drowned.

The C.E.W.A. held a meeting the other night here, and decided to have a party or dance, which was to be in aid of the Lenten Self-Dental.

We are now on the eve of an election and are looking forward to a change as Open Hall is strong for Bennett and Better Times.

THE GARDEN CATALOGUE.

The garden catalogues are here wherein the perfect blooms appear.

There, free from weeds, the grasses grow, And flaming red the poppies blow.

The roses on the printed page Don't wither at an early age.

And on this photographic land Are grandiflora always grand.

These natural beauties regard And wish they'd grow in my back yard.

But 'mid their splendours wondrous fair I find no trace of children there.

No sign along the garden wall Where boys have scrambled for a ball.

No torn and tangled evidence Of youngsters climbing on the fence.

The lawns are always trim and neat And show no signs of youthful feet.

I've never seen a catalogue Picture a small boy and his dog.

I find it hard such flowers to grow, But truly I am glad it's so.

Fashions and Fads.

A sleeveless model in blouses has a gray background with Egyptian figures in blue embroidery.

Bands of shiny black satin are used on the sleeves, neckline and collar of a coat of dull black crepe.

Almond green and brown are not only a favored combination in millinery, but in costumes as well.

Cherry colored baggy weave homespun makes a well-tailored sports suit trimmed with white braid.

A smart little hat of brown Milan has a brown taffeta brim and a lace veil of the same shade as trimmings.

French models are being copied in fustian dresses. Straight line types are generally favored for this.

Several summer dress models use lace and embroideries with black and are most effective in this combination.

A blouse of white crepe is embroidered in black and red beads, and worn with a suit of black moire.

For sports wear there is nothing quite so smart as the gray blouse or jacket worn with the pleated crepe skirt.

SIDE TALKS.

By Ruth Cameron.

SOMETIMES THERE'S A REASON.

"You are too sensitive. You ought to try to get over it." That is what a man I know always says to his wife whenever she is grieved by anything that he without causing pain. Sensitiveness is merely a diseased condition of the ego and comes from loving ourselves and thinking of ourselves so much that we turn the most innocent acts into offense.

Splendid. Absolutely true. . . . But, like all inspired truth, it can be interpreted in several ways.

Even as I read that and agree with it, I can hear the husband I speak of quoting it to his wife and saying: "You see, that's what I have always told you. That's the way you act."

What's the "Slightest Touch?" And I don't agree with him. For there the question of interpretation comes in. Who is to say what constitutes "the slightest touch." He would say that one of his sneering remarks or ill-tempered bawlings out did. But she wouldn't, and neither would I.

Sensitiveness is emphatically a foolish form of self-indulgence. Anyone is foolish not to trample on it.

But, on the other hand, you can't justify or palliate anything you say or do by claiming that it was nothing in itself and that the other person was super-sensitive to mind it.

I think the super-sensitive woman is very tiresome, but I think the man who tries to keep his wife from resenting anything he says or does by shouting "super-sensitive" is worse than tiresome. He's a bully.

His Justification. And then if she makes any protest, says that her feelings are wounded, he says:

"You are too sensitive. You ought to try to get over it. Nobody likes people who are always having their feelings hurt."

I wonder if you ever met this man whose name is like him?

I don't think the type is very uncommon.

There has been quite a wave of condemnation of the super-sensitive sort of mind.

And it is entirely justified. Super-sensitiveness comes from selfishity and egotism.

There is an article in one of this month's magazines that I think everyone ought to read in which sensitiveness is taken up as one of the things that keep us apart.

A Sick Ego. "Another form of egotism is sensitiveness," says Dr. Frank Crane. "It is extremely difficult to live with a person when you are in constant fear of offending his toes. It is too much to ask of anyone to enjoy constant association with anyone so thin-skinned that he cannot be touched

Burin District for Bennett.

A STRAIGHT TALK FROM MARYSTOWN.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir.—Please allow me space in your esteemed paper to sound a note of warning to the people of this country, and particularly in the district of Burin against the possibility of being lulled into a sense of false security, or of being hypnotized by the alluring promises held out to them by the Government members. Let us always bear in mind that "eternal vigilance is the price of freedom," and that the present Government is prepared to ignore everyone and everything to gain their ends; and if ever there was a time in the history of our country when good and true men were needed to man the ship of state it is now. For nearly four years the men who for the majority of the people of this country elected to power have been sowing the wind, and they must now reap the inevitable whirlwind. Can the people forget the misery and silent poverty of the past three and a half years. No, we are not likely to forget, because it is engraven indelibly on our memory. Supporters of the Government will tell you that we are as well off as other countries, that stagnation of trade is almost universal. That is so to some extent, but every intelligent man knows that the conditions in this country were greatly augmented by the stupid blundering of amateur politicians. If they had adopted a policy of retrenchment on assuming office we would have been spared most of the privations and hardships that we have gone through; but instead of doing this the Ministers of State have been holding high carnival and having the time of their lives globe-trotting, picnicking, creating useless offices, spending enormous sums of money on pet theories and wildcat schemes. Take for instance, the appointment of a man to control the movements of a few small coastal boats and permitting him to parade under the high sounding title of Minister of Shipping; and again, what can be said of the noblest Roman of them all, the great Emancipator, that modern Moses, who was to free the fishermen of this country from the tyranny of the merchants and lead them into the promised land. What has he accomplished. He spent large sums of the people's money in initiating the fishermen into the mysteries of his wonderful process, which could turn the fish of this country into white napes. The Government has also succeeded in doing other wonderful things. They have helped in a large measure to destroy that sense of obedience and respect for lawfully constituted authority and the law of the land has been held up to ridicule. Take the enforcement of Prohibition. Why the very name of stinks in our nostrils. As for the doings of the Food Control Board, there is no need for comment. But now after a period of weary waiting we are to be given the chance to assert our manhood and make amends as far as possible for mistakes of the past. The sounds of the approaching avalanche can be plainly heard, the avalanche of just indignation, that will sweep the Squires-Coaker combination into oblivion. Whatever possible chance the Government candidates had in this district has been eliminated since the entrance into the arena of Mr. Geo. C. Harris of Grand Bank. It is not my intention to eulogize Mr. Harris or numerate his many excellent qualities for I'm sure that gentlemen would resent such a thing. Sufficient to say that he is undoubtedly the most popular man on the South West Coast and even the Government supporters are forced to admit that his election is an absolute certainty.

Thanking you in anticipation of space, I remain,

Yours truly, VOTER.

Marystown, March 15th.

SIGNS OF AGE.

I beheld the old men sitting on the benches, in the sun; and their raiment is ill-fitting, they are shabby, every one; all such vanities as pressing and dry-cleaning the y caschew, thereby feeling that they're relics, that they're through. I am old and near the finish of my journey through this vale; do I spend for tailor bills I diminish, do I spend for hats less and? No, I haven't the haberdashers' buying everything that's fine; and the duds and village mashers have no smoother duds than mine. Though I'm old, I'm still declaring that I am as good as new, though I am walking circumspectly, in my gorgeous garb bedight; and my pants are creased correctly, and my necktie is a sight. For a delegate confesses that he's dead upon his feet, when he crowdoses pride and dresses like a scarecrow in the wheat. So you see me clothed in splendors, with my silken shirts and hose, with my gold-bedecked suspenders, and a diamond on my nose.

He Had Been Sick for a Long Time.

JOHN BEREZOWECKI SAYS: "USE DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS."

Saskatchewan Man is now able to Work as well as Ever.

Rington First, Sask., April 12—(Special)—"I have been suffering for some time from pains in the back and rheumatism brought about by a cold," states Mr. Berezoweki, a resident of this place. "My head used to ache and I was always tired and nervous. I took two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and they did me a lot of good. I can now do my work as well as I ever could."

Mr. Berezoweki suffered from two of the various ills that accompany any Kidney trouble. That's why he got prompt and permanent relief from Dodd's Kidney Pills. They act directly on the kidneys, strengthening them and enabling them to do their full work of straining all the impurities out of the blood. Impurities in the blood are the seeds of disease. Dodd's Kidney Pills make good health by removing the seeds of disease. Sound kidneys mean pure blood. Pure blood means good health.

Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills do not make sound kidneys.

Only a Bayman.

The Mail insults the good old district of Placentia, when, by a faked telegraphic despatch, it represents Channel as angry because the Bennett candidate for Burgeo and La Pointe district was born and brought up in Placentia district. What's the matter with it? Cannot respectable and intelligent men grow there? Was not a native of Carbonear a candidate, on several occasions, for this same district? If Mr. Chambers is able and suitable, is he to be debarred from seeking election because the Mail despises Baymen!

The braided jacquette is combined with a pleated skirt for resort wear. Many of these jacquettes have collars which remind one of the regular Peter Pan collar and long, fairly wide sleeves.

After Baby Comes

"My, you are looking well."

"Yes, I am feeling fine, too."

"And how is baby?"

"He is just dandy and as good as can be."

"And what have you been doing to look so well?"

"Oh, I got run-down nursing baby and began to get discouraged I was feeling so miserable. I suppose it was my nervous condition that got baby restless, and then, of course, it worried me trying to look after him."

"I thought you looked so worn-out when I was in last time."

"Well, I was feeling so discouraged that I sent for mother to come and she was not here a day before she had me using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."

"I should have told you about it, for we always use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food when any of us get nervous or run-down."

"For the first few days I could not see that it was doing much good, but soon I found myself sleeping better and feeling less worried and irritable during the day. My appetite improved, and as I gained strength baby seemed to sleep better and be less trouble. He is just fine now and as good-natured as any baby ever was."

"How do you take the Nerve Food?"

"One pill after each meal and at bedtime. I will soon be able to discontinue using it, but want to be sure that my system is thoroughly built up before quitting."

"That is great. It gives me more confidence than ever in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and that is saying a good deal, for you know what it did for me when I had that nervous breakdown. Has your mother gone home?"

"Yes, and I tell you it was a lucky day for me when she came to the rescue with her help and good advice. Her experience with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food proved to be a blessing for me."

GRANDMOTHER, TOO,

uses and recommends Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. She looks back to the many times when Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has helped her to regain strength and vitality, and attributes her good health in advanced years to the use of this great restorative.

With this experience Grandmother feels it her duty to pass along the good word, especially to her sisters in advanced years, that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is their best friend.

TRINITY

James Pittman of Crewkerne, Somerset, England; and how he got to Trinity and Smith's Sound.

About the year 1845 Robert Slade & Co., of Trinity sold a vessel to a business firm in Liverpool, England, and one condition of the sale was, the delivery of the vessel in good condition at Slade's premises at Poole.

To Captain Hart was entrusted the responsibility of doing this. Two of the crew of seven, were Dougald White, second mate (father of Sergeant White, Catalina) and "Bill" Morris, cook. Every man was paid so much for the run from Trinity to Poole, and then to get back as best he could. The late Dougald White (to whose diary I am indebted for much of the information contained in this article) had £10 for his part of the contract.

The voyage was one of the longest and the stormiest of the many crossings that Captain Hart had made; but the vessel was delivered by him in good condition at Poole, and the crew were paid off there.

Whilst to the Captain and five of his crew the trip meant a leaving of their homes in Newfoundland, to Bill Morris, the cook, it was a home coming, for he belonged to Crewkerne in Somerset, only forty miles from Poole. Before returning to Newfoundland again, Bill decided to visit his parents at Crewkerne, and he invited Dougald White to go with him.

The old people were glad to see their son again, and for his sake they were very kind to his friend Dougald. After a day's rest at Bill's home, his father took Dougald out to see the sights of Crewkerne, and amongst the places they visited was a weaving-loom where they made hemp canvass, and in which Dougald became very much interested. Those who were employed there became interested in the visitors too, and every man was glad to explain to them the part of the work assigned to him. Dougald White was attracted by one of the weavers in particular, a young man whose clothing outfit consisted of one calico shirt, a pair of moleskin trousers, and a pair of hobnalled shoes. He told Dougald that his name was Jim Pittman, that he was nineteen years of age, that he had not been to school very often, and that he did not like weaving. He asked Dougald where he had come from, and when he found that he had come from Newfoundland, he became more deeply interested, and asked Dougald if he knew his uncle Joseph Pittman over there. Dougald reminded him that Newfoundland was a big country, and that possibly there were several men there by that name; but when Jim described his uncle as a "man with a glass eye," Dougald said, yes, I know him, and I live quite near to him in Trinity.

Jim having obtained permission to go off duty for the afternoon, took down a mohair coat from a peg, and together with Dougald and Morris went to a tavern for a drink of cider, and a quiet talk. They talked a good deal about Jim's uncle, and Jim asked Dougald if he might stow away in his vessel and go to Newfoundland.

Dougald reminded him that his vessel was sold, and that he himself would have to search for a vessel to get back in. Whilst Dougald remained in Crewkerne, Jim seized every opportunity to be in his company; and the one subject he talked about was, how to get to Newfoundland. After spending Christmas in Crewkerne, Dougald went back to Poole, and shipped for six months on a vessel leaving for St. John's, Newfoundland, via Cadiz, and arrived at St. John's with a load of salt the following June. Then he returned to Trinity and went fishing during the summer.

In October he went up to St. John's with skipper Stephen Crocker and his boy John, in his "gangs-board fishing skiff," and one day as they were walking up Water Street, they heard some one calling from the other side of the street. They stopped, and as Dougald looked at the young man running towards them, and shouting as he ran, there was no mistaking him; for he had on the same calico shirt, moleskin trousers, and mohair coat that had attracted Dougald's attention in the weaving loom at Crewkerne. Yes, it was Jim Pittman, and his delight at meeting Dougald knew no bounds.

Anxious to find out how he got to St. John's, Dougald invited them all into a public house where they could talk it over. As soon as they were seated, Dougald said, "Now Pittman, tell me how you got here." And this is the story that Pittman told him:—

"The spring after you parted with me in Crewkerne, I ran away from home; and from Weymouth, in Dorset, I got off to the Island of Jersey. There I shipped in a Jersey vessel to go fishing at Blanc Sablon in the Straits of Bell Isle, and I got there all right. The Jersey fishermen used to pay their men every Saturday night, according to the amount of fish caught during the week.

I often looked across the Straits where I could see Newfoundland; and I made up my mind that I would get there some day during the summer. After I had been at Blanc Sablon four weeks, and had received three payments for the fish I had caught, I made up my mind to leave for Newfoundland that night.

I had got a good deal of information from the fishermen about the fair wind across. I did not know the compass, so I did not take one. I had my eye on a suitable fishing boat, and I stayed up that night watching my chance to get away. When I knew that the tired fishermen were sound asleep I took the boat, and pushed off for Newfoundland. It was blowing hard from the N.W., so I put up only one sail. Just after daylight on Sunday morning, I ran the boat ashore. There were only two families of fishermen living there. I asked a man if this was Newfoundland, and he said yes, and this is Flower's Cove. I said, Thank God, I'm in Newfoundland.

My first concern was the Jerseyman's boat that I had taken, and how to get her back to him. I had three weeks pay for fish in my pocket, together with a sovereign that my mother gave me before I left home. I had made the boat leaky when I drove her on shore, so the man agreed to make her tight again, and to take her to Blanc Sablon for £1. 10. 0. I paid him that amount, and I heard afterwards that he had done all that he promised to do. I said I wanted to get to St. John's, and the man advised me to walk to Brandy Harbor, where I would probably find a trader going there. I went to Brandy Harbor, and got a passage to St. John's with a Mr. Moore who had been trading all the summer; and that's how I got from Crewkerne to St. John's, and I got here last night."

FAITHFUL ENTRIES OF THE PAST.

There are so many things to the credit of the Church Clerks of a hundred and fifty years ago, who entered the marriages, Baptisms, and Burials in the old St. Paul's Registers, that I would be at a loss to point out any one as being more important than another.

Every effort was made by the scribe (in a crude way sometimes) to embody in the entry, the name of some one else with whom the person had been associated, and thus to make it easier to identify the person in after life, if necessary. This was particularly emphasised in the burial entries of these young men, who, having come out as youngsters, had no relatives living in Trinity; and it was done by associating their names with the names of the masters whose servants they were when they died. This action on the part of the old clerks is more valuable than they anticipated; as in the names of those masters, they have given us the only record of names of some persons who lived in Trinity at the time, as business men, captains, etc.

For example, I give the following copies of entries in the burial register between 1757 and 1766.

"Thomas Foyle, servant to Thomas Lambert; John Welch, servant to Richard Waterman, Jr.; John Malone, servant to Captain Webb; Benjamin Reddel, servant to Captain Lemmy; Thomas Hild, a boy of Capt. Webb; Ann Keel, apprentice to Mr. William Walters; Matthew Keel, servant to Thomas Warren; Thomas Pendergrass, servant to Messrs. Devonshire and Reeves; William Coot, servant to Mr. William Sweet, Sr.; Martin Lawless, servant to John Power; Thomas Hay, servant to Thomas Webb; Joseph Gumm, servant to Mes-

HISTORY REPEATING ITSELF.

A friend in St. John's, who is kind enough to read my week-end items in the Evening Telegram, and particularly the item that referred to the staple in the beam of old Mr. Collis' School, and the use he made of it, to frighten us into being good—has sent me an illustrated clipping from the Daily Graphic of Feb. 12th, re an old schoolmaster in England long years ago, who utilized a hook of this kind in one of the school beams by attaching a pulley and a cage to it, and then used to put a bad boy (or girl) into the cage, and hold him up to the beam in the cage, where he was left to "view the landscape o'er," especially during recess. When the old schoolmaster died, as many of the boys who had been "caged," and could be got together (now of course as men and leading men) at his funeral, to pay their last respects to one to whom they were conscious of owing very much. They placed wreath on his grave, and engraved on his memory. I am glad Collis did not think of a cage.

Look for the Red Beaver Border

The Red Beaver Border on Wall Board means:

1. The only wall board made from virgin SPRUCE fibre (strong and tough—does not splinter, warp, or rot).
2. Positive insulation against heat and cold and sound, because the use of long virgin spruce fibres gives us millions of microscopic "dead" air cells in Beaver Wall Board.
3. 36 layer construction. Several layers give great strength and stiffness. Beaver Wall Board is 1/2" thick.
4. The only wall board kiln-dried and seasoned before leaving the mill.
5. Guarded against moisture by our patented scientific process.
6. A wall board specially calculated and primed to protect our Art Finish Surface. No staining is necessary.

From this date on, upon the margin of every panel of genuine Beaver Wall Board will be a distinctive Red Border containing the Beaver Trade Mark. It is prominently displayed. You cannot mistake it.

This Red Beaver Border is your guide and protection. It is positive assurance that wherever you buy you are getting the original and genuine Beaver Wall Board—the economical, flawless building material now used for over a hundred purposes throughout the world.

New Section City Acclaims Bennett Candidates.

Enthusiastic Meeting at Henley's Factory, Newtown Road--The Special Election to Pass Humber Deal Myth Exploded.

Newtown Road section of St. John's was astir with enthusiasm last night when the Bennett candidates, Messrs. Higgins, Fox and Vinnicombe opened the first political meeting ever held there. Newtown Road is a workingman's section and a recent addition to the city.

AN AXE FOR COAKERISM.
The meeting was held in Henley's factory, a commodious building capable of seating about 300 people. A sign that an unusual event was taking place was given by a huge bonfire of display of colored lights and volleys of musketry. Long before the meeting opened hundreds of people had assembled waiting for the candidates. When they appeared, there was a great outburst of cheering. So great was the gathering that the candidates had difficulty in getting in. Many people were unable to gain admittance. Amongst the gathering were many women, wives of men who were unable to be present. The meeting was presided over by

My face began to feel better so I purchased more, and when I had used four cakes of soap and one and one-half boxes of Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Miss Lillian R. Ladue, Jericho, Va.

other big business men all over the country and it was to their interest to see that the country prospered. Mr. Higgins pointed out that this was not a special election to decide the Humber Deal as the Prime Minister was telling the people. It was an election to decide if the country is satisfied to have another four years of Coaker-Squires rule. In closing, Mr. Higgins urged all to vote the straight ticket.

HARD TIMES CAUSED BY LACK OF VISION.

Mr. N. Vinnicombe when called upon was given a great ovation. In a very pleasing speech he urged his hearers to consider well the decision they were about to make. They had to decide the destiny of the country. It was for them to say if the promises on which the Squires-Coaker party were elected had been carried out. If the unemployment was not caused by lack of vision on the part of the Govt. in power. It was for the people to say if they are satisfied that the millions of dollars borrowed had been expended judiciously. Also they had to bear in mind that the taxation per head which in 1919 was 32 is now 64 or 1984 for a family of six. Before closing, Mr. Vinnicombe dealt with Mr. Coaker's circulars and other matters by which he is trying to deceive the people in the Northern Districts.

SPECIAL ELECTION MYTH.

Mr. C. J. Fox when called on was greeted with cheering and applause. After extending a welcome to the ladies, and complimenting them on their manifested interest in the affairs of the country, he dealt with the "Squires' Special Election." He pointed out that it is a general election being run off six months before the regular time on the pretext of passing the Humber Deal. The Deal was a pretext and a blind to cover up the record of scandals and of glaring mismanagement of the past three and a half years. The Government papers were filled with the Humber Deal but no effort is made by the Government to give an account of their stewardship. They had not performed one solitary promise on which they were elected, yet they ask for a renewal of power, without any explanation. Their first effort after six months in power was to add 2 million dollars to the taxes. Reid was to be put in his place. This was done by giving him a sum of six million, two hundred and fifty thousand dollars, or a sum equal to one-tenth the total debt of the country, and in order that Reid may still be able to stay in his place, he was to get 2 1-4 million dollars more before the Humber Contract is finalized. After explaining the latest move of the Government, that of purchasing the Street Car Service. Mr. Fox dealt with the scandal of Government by Minute of Council. It was by this plan that they were enabled to expend immense sums without authority of the House of Assembly. Mr. Fox urged his hearers to tell any member of the Government or any of the candidates of the Government that there is an open challenge from the Opposition to discuss various matters on any public platform in the city. Concluding, the speaker said that the country was committed to the Humber Deal. One thousand men were employed months ago on the work; the machinery and other equipment had been sent there long ago as every railroad man knew. Now then how can Premier Squires say the Humber Deal depended on his election. The salvation of the country did not depend on the Humber Deal; rather it was the encouragement of the fisheries. It was in this that the Bennett Party were leading the way in giving a bounty on fish to the men who caught it. If the Squires-Coaker party could spend $300,000 on the Badger Road, the country could afford and find means to pay the bounty which will amount to only $200,000 more.

Big Attraction Coming to the Nickel.

GEORGE WALSH IN R. A. WALSH PRODUCTION MONDAY.

On Monday, the Nickel Theatre offers to its numerous patrons R. A. Walsh's tremendous attraction, entitled "Serenade." This is the first appearance of George Walsh in a production under his brother's direction. It has been said that a Newfoundland audience is harder to please than any other audience in the world to-day, but we'll wager that "Serenade" will meet with the approval of the most critical movie fan, and that's going some. The production is staged with a lavishness for which this producer is famous. Supporting George Walsh in the leading feminine role is the beautiful Miriam Cooper, who appears as the bewitching Senorita. Walsh indulges in numerous athletic stunts and hairbreadth escapes that have formerly been the exclusive property of the intrepid Douglas Fairbanks. It is a brief tale of love and wooing on the Spanish Isle of Magdalena. Do not miss this extraordinary picture at the Nickel, Monday.

He said that Mr. Coaker himself might drag himself in. Confederation!
Confederation!!
They Would Sell The Labrador for "The Price of a Sheepskin"

At Wesleyville, last night, Coaker declared he "would give his life for the opportunity to sell the Labrador to Canada". It is said that it is proposed to broadcast a paper between nomination and election days, declaring that the Government has agreed with Canada to sell the Labrador for sixty-five million dollars ($65,000,000), with which to pay off the Public Debt of the Colony, and this, it will be claimed, will render a possible reduction of taxation. With this cry the Squires-Coaker Government hope to stampede the electors in their favor.

If the sale were made, and the price were used to pay off the Public Debt, no reduction in the taxation would result. The yearly interest on that debt is about three million dollars ($3,000,000). But the Squires-Coaker Government have been borrowing six million dollars ($6,000,000) per year to keep things going—or double the yearly interest on the debt—so that if the Labrador were sold, and the debt reduced, the Squires-Coaker crowd would still need all the revenue they now get, and three million dollars ($3,000,000) more each year. The only way to reduce taxation is to turn the rascals out!

This reasonable proposal to sell the Labrador to Canada cannot be called the "Entering wedge of Confederation". It is Confederation itself. In area our Labrador is as large as Newfoundland. With a view to the future, especially, the fishery on our Labrador is as important to this Colony as our shore fishery itself, for as time passes, our fisheries become depleted on the South, and we must go North. All the signs make reasonable the belief that our Labrador may prove another Klondyke. If Canada is willing to pay us the agreed price for it, she has reason to believe it as valuable as Alaska has proven to the United States of America, to which it was madly sold by Russia. Shall we as madly sell our Labrador? How long could this part of our Colony keep out of Confederation if our Labrador became a part of Canada? Could the traitors who would sell it be trusted not to sell us all if they were given the opportunity? Have we any right to agree to the sale of our fellow citizens on the Labrador to Canada, without their consent, when we ourselves resist Confederation? "To our own selves be true, we shall not then be false to any man".

We call upon all our people interested in the Labrador to arouse themselves to the danger that threatens. Unless they do so, they will be sold "for the price of a sheepskin". The bargain has been made. The price has been fixed. The sale but awaits the approval of our people by their support of Government candidates. Every vote for them will be a vote for the sale of the Labrador, a vote for a piecemeal Confederation, a vote betraying our Labrador people, a vote selling our best assets, and dooming us to an unwilling sale of our own liberties.

The people who go each year to live on the Labrador, and who have no vested legal rights, but enjoy a privilege protected only while we control, will find no place for themselves there when Quebec law is enforced. The fishermen who occupy trap berths freely now, first come, first served, will find these berths given to French-Canadian residents. The merchants who import goods into the Labrador after its sale will have to pay Canadian Customs duties. Miners and lumbermen will be under Quebec laws. Half the trade of the Colony will be handed over to Canada. Will you stand for these things, electors? Wake up, then! "Who would be free, themselves must strike the blow". Strike it on next Election Day! "Be no dumb driven cattle, be heroes in the strife".

Preserving The Fisheries

One of the principal planks in the Manifesto which Mr. J. R. Bennett has issued to the country is a bonus on fish, to be paid direct to the fishermen. The inclusion of such a proposition in his Manifesto is proof of the fact that the Leader of the Liberal-Labour Progressive Party is aware of the importance of the fisheries, and the urgent necessity for some inducement which will keep young Newfoundlanders in the country by making the fishing industry a profitable one. It is idle to talk of the Humber and other industries providing sufficient employment for the male population of the island. At most, the Humber industry will not give work to more than three or four thousand men, and while it will be a valuable asset, it cannot take the place of the fisheries.

If Newfoundland is to remain solvent, the fisheries must be continued, and while it is impossible for us to improve exchange conditions in our foreign markets, we, at least, can make our fish more acceptable to buyers by providing a better quality than we have done previously. Compared with a monetary inducement, regulations for the standardization of fish, such as those instituted by Mr. Coaker, are utterly worthless. The bonus proposed by Mr. Bennett will have the effect of improving the quality of Newfoundland fish, and it will be the fisherman, not the merchant, who will benefit, for the amount will be paid direct to him.

The people of Newfoundland have had enough of fish regulations, and well knowing that if the Squires party is returned, Mr. Coaker will again experiment at the expense of the country, they will vote the straight ticket for Bennett and Better Times.

Special to Evening Telegram
ST. BRIDE'S, April 14.

We, the undersigned fishermen of St. Bride's, emphatically deny statement in message via Branch published in Daily Mail of ninth inst. Headed "Liberal Rally at St. Bride's." The Squires-Coaker trio got a cold reception and their meeting was a flat failure. Bonia's appeal to the older fishermen for support for the sake of old times, when he fished in a punt, will not be recognised. Complaining about the merchants, addressists, particularly Monroe. We know the merchants are our best friends, especially Monroe, and we admire his patriotic spirit in contesting a Coaker stronghold and wish him success. Walsh, Sullivan and Sinnott will get a record vote here and other settlements on the Cape shore. People will stand by Bennett for bounty on fish, a better Humber, and better times signed on behalf of the voters:—

The circular which conveys this intimation is dated February 9th, but the same Mr. Thomas Clouter, who for two months has been the editor of a partisan newspaper, still retains his position in the Department of Marine and Fisheries, and is still in the pay of the Government.

He will impart some of it to the fine old constituency so long and ably represented by his father. Not only in the Assembly will he "do it proud," but he'll find a mine or mines there, and work for the workers, for his heart will be with his people. There's no old-fashioned hauteur or stand-offishness about "Billy," but a hearty handshakes and ready help for every man or woman, and he will be worth a dozen such dry-as-dust lawyers as Harry Winter, who never knows his own mind, over-cultured, and refined to vanishing point, as far as will-power is concerned, but "Willie" McKay is all "will" power and push, and he will put kick into his work for his constituents.

Set Your Own Style.

"The plain unvarnished truth" is what Squires, Coaker, the Mall and the Advocate are always threatening to tell about their opponents, and never telling. They should speak and not threaten, for nobody loves a bully. Squires told a public meeting recently that Water Street Merchants had been defrauding the revenue, and that he had a private report of certain auditors about improper expenditure by Cashin, and, sometime, perhaps, he would tell the public the whole truth. Of course, he was bullying, and lying also, for if he had knowledge about his opponents, he would have published it long ago. Coaker, has published recently the

SEAL PRACTICALLY LOADED.
Messages received from the sealing steamers on the northern front last night and this morning give every indication that the ships will secure full loads and that the fishery will be more successful than anticipated. The Ranger's crew did good work yesterday, the gunners accounting for 2,500 bedlamers. S.S. Seal reported this morning that she struck a large patch at 6.30 p.m. yesterday, and three to four hundred bedlamers were shot before dark. The Seal did not give her position, but stated that another 500 to 700 is required to load. The following are messages received:

Anniversary of Monchy Le Preux.

ROYAL Nfld. REGIMENTS FULFILL ATTACK ON APRIL 14th, 1917.

On the morning of April 14th, 1917, the Royal Nfld. Regiment in conjunction with the 1st Batt'n. of the Essex Regiment launched an attack in an effort to wrest Infantry Hill from the Germans.
How the attack failed and the terrible loss suffered by the Regiment in killed and wounded is already too well known. But "ours" as ever, advanced against terrific odds and it was only after terrible casualties had been inflicted that what was left of the Regiment were taken prisoners.
It was at Monchy that Capt. Kexin Keegan did such heroic work for which he was decorated with the M.C.

ICE CONDITION ON ST. LAWRENCE.
MONTREAL, April 14.
The first ships of the year bound up the St. Lawrence river are due to leave transatlantic ports to-day; but those who have watched ice conditions on the river for years, predict that the ice will not be out of the river for at least another two weeks, unless extraordinary conglations occur.

INDIANS DEMAND MONEY.

BRANTFORD, Ont., April 14.
A council comprising the chiefs of six nations of Indians have passed a resolution demanding that the Indian Department hand over to them $700,000.00 held in trust for them. The Indians claim they are a separate nation and are independent of Canadian laws.

COUNTESS MARKIEWICZ REPORTED CAPTURED.

LONDON, April 14.
A Glasgow despatch to the Daily Herald here says that Countess Markiewicz is in Glasgow, while a recent newspaper despatch stated that the Countess had been captured by Irish Nationals in Tipperary. A Dublin despatch says that the Free Staters are unable to either deny or confirm the capture of the elusive lady.

DEVALERA STILL AT LARGE.

LONDON, April 14.
De Valera has apparently eluded the Free State troops, who were searching for him in the Tipperary mountains. The whole district was thoroughly combed yesterday by thousands of soldiers aided by aeroplanes, when several prisoners were taken.

Sagana for Westward.

S.S. Sagana has been chartered by the Government to make a trip to the Westward and is expected to leave this port with a full cargo of freight on Tuesday next. The Sagana will call at Barin, Marytown, Grand Bank and Fr. Breton. An additional quantity of freight returned to this port by the Glencoe will also be forwarded and also a number of halibut boxes for the West Coast district.

Startling News From Government Campaign

General Dissatisfaction Prevails -- Calpin Summoned to City -- Emphatic Reports Squires Deserting West End to Contest Harbor Grace.

That there has been friction amongst the Government candidates in the West End has long been known. But this morning the thunderbolt came when it was emphatically rumored that Sir Richard Squires is deserting the Bennett tide of Victory that is sweeping the district. Mr. Calpin, the Government candidate for Harbor Grace, has been hurriedly called to the city for a conference. It is now obvious that Sir Richard sees his doom in the West End and will try at all costs to bamboozle the electors of Harbor Grace District in the vain hope of winning his seat.

L.O.A. Elects F. G. Bradley Grand Master

Grand Lodge, Assembled at Paper Town Honours Well-Known Lawyer.

F. G. Bradley, recently elected Grand Master of the L.O.A. of Newfoundland, was born at St. John's in 1888. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. N. N. Bradley, and is now one of the leading men of the younger members of the legal profession. He was educated at the Methodist College, and after taking his Associate of Arts there, he taught school for some years in the Methodist Superior School at Bonaville Bay.
Bradley was regarded as one of the best teachers that Bonaville ever had, and his services there from an educational standpoint will not soon be forgotten. After leaving Bonaville Mr. Bradley proceeded to Dalhousie University, taking a course in law, graduating there with honors, and returned here and entered into partnership with A. B. Morine, and has gradually worked himself, by his ability, industry, and integrity, into the leading men of the younger members of the legal profession. Early in his career Mr. Bradley decided to go on his own account. His practice gradually growing, and it will be long before it will be equal to those of the city lawyers. In addition to his legal duties he is a prominent member of the Odd Fellows' Masonic Societies, but it is in the L.O.A. that he is most generally known. Mr. Bradley is a brilliant, clear logical speaker, and the L.O.A. is congratulated on having such a Master as Mr. Bradley. We congratulate Mr. Bradley and predict him a successful career. Mr. Bradley, at present, contesting the seat of Trinity together with J. G. Morine and Hodder, and his election has been admitted by everybody.

The Compiler of Campaign Messages and Coaker Candidates

PLACENTIA, April 14.
Special to Evening Telegram.
Evidently the compiler of campaign telegrams at the Advocate office must be visiting Dr. Campbell and Controllers when he inserts there would be telegrams from St. Joseph's, Placentia Bay dated April 11th describing the reception of Coaker candidates at Point Lance and other parts of Cape Shore. If the Coaker trio could arrive at St. Joseph's, Placentia Bay on April 11th they should have arranged to get food stuffs to Mersheen, Tack's Beach and other points in Placentia Bay to relieve the people from starvation, owing to ice blockade the past two months. The Government has ignored all messages sent to them to relieve the food situation.

Dr. V. P. Burke to Visit Torbay.

AND EIGHT THE POLITICAL CAMPAIGN FOR SQUIRES.
Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir.—In a public pronouncement from the platform, Mr. Joseph P. Burke stated that his "big brother" accompanied by Sir Richard, was coming to Torbay, next week, to wield their powerful influence, to help one of the trio from the slaughter-house. It is only what was to be expected, after Bennett's Manifesto, in which he states that he will abolish that useless department of Education immediately on his return to power. If titled V. P. has sense, he will stay away from Torbay; as the people here have his light weight calibre. To know, that he stands to lose his easy job is enough to weaken the cause for which his "little" brother says he is now fighting. Keep away from Torbay, titled V. P. The people might listen to you with a listening you, but laugh at you afterwards, as they now do at your brother Joseph P. who thinks he has them bought over by some rum and the purchase of a few loads of spits.

At the Casino

THRILLING DRAMA NEXT WEEK.
The Casino Stock Company is giving a matinee this afternoon at 2.30. The play is a delightful comedy drama. East West and with its presentation tonight will be repeated for some time during this engagement. The West had a most successful night and each night saw crowded houses. This, in a small city like St. John's, is indeed a splendid tribute to the merits of the company. At last night's performance, Mr. Bennett's impersonation of the character Sang Kee in place of Mr. Diggle was a drama of exceptional merit, full of thrills. It is an English detective play entitled "Buildup Beyond." The first performance will be given Monday night, and no doubt a full house will be present.

To the Point.
 (By WILL U B WISE).

Electors of Newfoundland show your Good-will to your British sense
 Justice and fair play by resenting
 The selfish work of the Advocate and Writers who are appealing to the Passions of intolerance, in the Name of the detriment of the country
 To their own best interests.

Electors of Newfoundland—Be true
 To your British heritage of the principles of right and justice; of consideration of conduct that insistently demands to undermine your love of freedom and fair play. Sustain the reputation which is the proud and just boast of British subjects for the free and open roads of combat.

Electors of St. John's—Bury Coaker this time for ever and our country and our city, rid of the encumber-ing will be able to expand and develop so that there will be plenty of employment for all of the citizens.

Electors of St. John's—Remember that the welfare of your families and the personal welfare of the whole of the Coaker politicians. Don't deceive your wives and children of the efforts of life to be had in a prosperous city under a Bennett Government electing a Coakerite tribe of nominees who will bend their backs to the Coaker whip and thus turn St.
 John's into a wilderness.

Workers of St. John's—Let your minds be impressed from now till the day of the fact that any Coaker control spells a business panic for the city of St. John's, in which not alone yourselves will suffer, but what will be more astounding still, your womanfolk, your little sons and daughters, who look to you for living care and protection, will also be sufferers. We have much faith in your sense of right and justice, when we know that you are alive to the dangers of Coakerism, believe for one moment you will vote your families to Coaker's interests by voting for any Coaker candidate amongst the six he has put forward in St. John's.

Electors of Conception Bay—You will feel sure, realize truly now that Coakerism much as it has injured the country, will multiply with ten-fold force its work of destroying the fishery industries should it gain another grip on the Government. Don't be bam-boozled into voting for a Coakerite candidate, or you will only ruin your own and families.

For Grace District is strongly in with St. John's; for the voters are anxious for a return again to the days of prosperity which made St. John's City, Spaniard's Bay and Roberts abound with homes of happy families and the comforts of life enjoyed by all.

Boxing and Wrestling.

COMPETITORS IN TRAINING FOR BIG EVENT.

Sporting fans and the public in general are reminded that a big Championship Boxing and Wrestling Tournament takes place in the C.L.B. Armory, on Wednesday, April 25th. The Meet will be held under the auspices of the N.A.A.A. and by permission of the officer commanding the C.L.B.C. The programme of events consists of all the various class weights in both wrestling and boxing; each of which will be confined to all-comers. A feature of the tournament will be the boxing of the 95 lb. class by the boys of the C.L.B.C. for a special prize donated by Sergt. Arthur Johnson. The various competitors are now busily engaged rounding themselves into condition, and as the class weights decides the Championship of Newfoundland, an interesting series of box and wrestling can be looked forward to. The gymnasium room at the C.L.B. Armory is left open for the disposal of all those who are desirous of taking part, and nothing has been left undone by the Committee in charge to encourage all competitors. Many of our local boys are fast becoming proficient boxers, while the wrestling game has taken on a new lease of life, and many coming "Earl Caddock's" and "Ed. Lewis" will be seen on the night of the competition.

At Headquarters.

BENNETT PARTY ASSURED OF VICTORY.

At the West End Committee Rooms last night, Mr. W. F. Linegar, Labor Candidate, gave an outline of the wonderful reception accorded the Bennett candidates in all sections of the district. Mr. Linegar warned his hearers not to be carried away by any false cries of last minute promises. The latest scheme of trying to split the Premier by asking voters to split for him will not work in St. John's West, where the people are voting the straight ticket for CASHIN, LINEGAR and HUNT.

Mr. C. E. Hunt, endorsing what Mr. Linegar had said, felt convinced that the Bennett candidates would poll 80 per cent. of the votes. Mr. Hunt referred to an article in the Mail which says he used abusive language towards Dr. Campbell. This was an absolute falsehood, as he had never

Demonstration at Greenspond

FOR MONROE AND LITTLE.
 GREENSPOND, April 13.

The Earl of Devon arrived at 2 p.m. with Monroe and Little. Flags were flying all over the harbor, and when she turned around Puffin Island three cannons sent forth their appeal, and about 100 guns echoed and re-echoed and when she struck the wharf three cheers were given for Bennett and Better Times, and also for Monroe and colleagues. The wharf was crowded with men. Fully 250 were there to greet the Opposition candidates. There was also a brass band of sixteen pieces present. We then lined up and marched with Monroe and Little right through the town, passing under two splendid arches erected for the occasion with the mottoes "Bennett and Better Times," "No Regulations," "Save our Labrador," "Save our Fisheries." Such a reception was never given to any political party as was given to Monroe and Little. Greenspond is the Gibraltar Rock of the Bennett party. Our slogan is Coaker must go. Wesleyville gave Coaker his death blow last night and Greenspond will bury him when he arrives.

SAMUEL HOODINOTT,
 Secretary.

Honesty.

During the night of Tuesday, April 10th, a large pane of plate glass was broken by a party unknown in the "Dominion Cafe," Water Street, Kim Lee, Proprietor. The glass was promptly replaced April 12th by Messrs. Thomas Bros, Contractors. The same day Kim Lee received unanimously one hundred dollars with a note from a man of honor, to pay for the glass as he wished to remain unknown. The glass, however, cost only seventy-one dollars and seventy cents and Kim Lee was anxious to return the amount overpaid to the gentleman. An advertisement in Thursday's Telegram reached the unknown gentleman and arrangements were promptly made with him and the change due, (twenty-seven dollars and eighty cents) was promptly returned to the party who has concealed his identity. These acts on the part of the gentleman who broke the glass and paid the "debt of honor," as well as the fact of the Chinese Proprietor of the restaurant advertising for the party unknown, and returning him the change is certainly creditable to both parties and shows the highest spirit of citizenship.

SNAP SHOTS.

By ZIP.

Day by day
In every way
Victory
For Bennett
Is getting
Surer and surer.
To-day is the end of the fifth round.

It was a slashing round for Bennett.

The Coakerites are dazed with disappointment.

Another such week and they will throw up the sponge.

Long's certain victory following the great news from Twillingate, St. Barbe and Trinity, was too much for the twisters.

The funniest item to appear in the Mail this week, was Mr. Geo. McGuire's delivered a rollicking speech on the Fish Regulations and Humber Deal at Witless Bay.

It was a shame, for the Advocate to say that Arthur Bulley was blowing his horn.

If Linsag and Hunt beat Squires 600 votes, Fitzgibbon won't know his way home.

And they are going to do it, no matter what scare story the Coakerites let loose at the final hour.

Keep your goggles on Bonavista, Monroe and his colleagues will make the worthy President whine.

Cramm will have to grow some to get "crammed" in Bay de Verde.

Not one of the six Bees will be elected.

The majority of them will feel the loss of their nomination fees.

Joe Burke told Bartlett and Bulley Bell Island was his to do as he wished with.

Harry and Arthur are not so enthusiastic since they returned from the iron centre.

A couple of rock breaking bosses, who had men working all the week, making flagpoles and borrowing guns gave them a better reception. Even that was a poor showing after a week's absence.

Higgins, Fox and Vincombe have the greatest "clinch," a team can hope for.

Some people are born lucky.

Of course the "Bees" don't care, they are not expected to win. They're like the soldiers "They are paid to fill the gaps."

After polling day Arthur will pick up his baton, Joe will talk 20-year endowments and Harry will go back to work.

They had a good time while it lasted.

Joe Fitzgibbon is getting more humorous as time passes. He told them up in the cooper shop last night that he was going to be elected.

Even Squires and the Doctor laughed.

If this complaint is contagious the Doc ought to keep his eyes on both his colleagues.

The man from St. Jacques, will be given his racks, from the whips of the voters down East.

He will find too his cake will for sure never bake, when mixed with the Coakerite yeast.

The proud old intelligent district of St. John's East will never haul down the Liberal flag for the tattered drags of Squires' misrule.

Vote for Coaker-controlled Government and the Squires' job for Mr. William Warren, the Coakerite!

Very acceptable proposition indeed to place before intelligent people; that is acceptable to Coaker and Warren, but not to voters who still have their senses about them.

Card Party and Dance

AT-ST. JOSEPH'S HALL MONDAY NEXT.

The lady friends of St. Joseph's Parish have arranged for a card party, supper and dance to take place in St. Joseph's Hall on Monday night next. The committee are making elaborate preparations for the occasion, and the affair gives every promise of being a most enjoyable one. Two prizes for the card tournament have been offered by Messrs. W. J. Higgins, K.C., and C. J. Fox, B.L. The Lady's prize will be a hand bag, while a safety razor will be presented to the lucky gentleman.

Robbery Reported.

NURSE'S CONFECTIONERY ENTERED.

A very daring robbery occurred at the store of Mr. T. J. Nurse, Military Road, at an early hour this morning, when some thief or thieves forced an entrance to the place and stole a large package of Orphanaid Sweepstake tickets and other goods about the store that they could easily lay their hands on. The culprits made a bold get-away. The matter was placed in the hands of the police by the proprietor of the store this morning, and every effort will be made to run the culprits to earth.

Information Wanted.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir.—Please allow me space in your valuable paper in which to make a few remarks re this so called Humber Deal that is or seems to be the paramount issue of the day, and it sums to be the only means by which this man Squires can or will put forth to the electorate of this country at the present day. Now, Mr. Editor, is there an intelligent man to-day in this country can swallow this. What is it? What is it in the name of common sense? Surely if a man got anything good he will not shrink from answering it. Surely everybody wants something good. Why keep a good thing a secret. Come on now Sir Richard, out with it, give the working man a satisfactory answer on this Humber Deal, show your pluck and your democratic points, and your progressive ways, show us where we stand; show us what protection have we got; what guarantee have we got that if we look for a cent or two on our wages that the people will not import China, Japan, Portugal or any other see you like and drive us out? It is right up to you to show us where the Reid Mfd. Co. stand. Come on now tell us a little about the wages and the complement of pay that is to be worked? How are we to be paid—weekly, fortnightly, monthly or at all? What concessions re the establishing of states? Will there be a monopoly of one party? Will the working man be allowed to build a house of his own without paying enormous ground rent? Come on now there is a thousand and one things that we can ask that is our right to know and your duty, to tell us as free British subjects and born Newfoundlanders. We are going to ask it of your next Wednesday night at a public meeting. Now mind the working details; you cannot tell some of us more than we know about these mills. We went through them, but what we do want to know, as intelligent white men of the 19th century, is where we stand. Now, sir, this is not criticism this is our right and we demand it. We, as workmen and tax payers want to know the concessions, the terms, the details of this agreement. We are going to be frank with you. We are not asleep; we will meet you on a public platform; we, as workmen—you as Premier of our country and tell us what the Humber is and if it is good, we will vote for it, if it is not good, we will not vote for it and that right now. Workmen all over the country take notice of the answer. We are sick of the bull in the Mail and Advocate. Now we want a few facts. This is serious and if we do not get it—well you will not blame us if we say you are a bluff and nothing more, and we are tired of being bluffed and bull-dozed. Wake us, it is time, thanking you Mr. Editor,

I am yours,

A VIGILANT VOTER OF THE WEST

What would we give to clasp his hands, his gentle voice to hear; His loving smile and welcome voice that were so dear to us is resting now in Heaven above, in God alone we trust.

And we think of you, dear one While tear drops dim our eyes; You could not say good-bye to us Before you closed your eyes.

And his mother's heart is aching, And filled with bitter pain; When she thinks about her loved one Whom she ne'er will see again.

Rows of little snow white crosses Mark the spot where heroes rest; Gallant sons of Terra Nova Who were Better Than the Best.

Oh! we never shall forget him Though we cannot see his grave; For he died to save his country And he sleeps among the brave. May his soul rest in peace. —Inserted by his Mother.

WEEK-END NOTES.

CHAPTER XV.

Under our own ships, there was a very large fleet of vessels which were from the west of England, and commonly known as English schooners. These vessels were small, and many of them registered more than one hundred tons. They were smart sailers, and made excellent time, and the home ports at which they were registered were very famous so St. John's and its people. Such names as Brkham, Salcombe, Plymouth, Palmouth, Ebway, and Bideford, were well represented by the ships annually trading to St. John's, as well as to other parts of Newfoundland. Most of these vessels carried three yards, but there were several sloops, which were reputed to be extra smart sailers. There was also a still smaller fleet called ketches, but they all seemed to fit in, and their place in the salt and fish trade of our country. These vessels usually left home early in April, and went to Cadiz, or some near-by Mediterranean port, and loaded salt, which they brought here to St. John's. At that time there was a great deal of shore fish caught near and about St. John's proper and great was a very busy month in the landing of shore fish at the wharves of St. John's. These schooners and ketches would all depart with new fish by the end of August, and be back here late in October, and receive a second freight, and get their cargo towards Christmas or New Year. On the second trip some of them went well up the Mediterranean, but the fleet usually got home to the old country about February, the cargo which they brought from the Mediterranean was usually fire-a very go ahead appearance, and even at anchor in the harbour, she seemed to be like something anxious to get away. The second mast was very short, not more than two thirds the length of the mast proper, and like the mizzen mast of the bark, it was more for the purpose of steering than of sailing. The small masts of these sloops were sometimes called jigger-masts; and sometimes called jigger-mast; though correctly speaking a jigger-mast is the fourth mast of a ship; but in those small sloops, the term was quite allowable. All these sloops and ketches were steered by the old-time tiller, which afforded but little protection for the hardy helmsman who did duty. They also had open galley's, or rather iron frames fastened to the decks, and in which a fire-proof bottom was placed, but the top and sides were open, there was little or no shelter for the cook. But as those vessels had sometimes been used in the North Sea Fisheries, where the open fire-place was the custom; when they engaged in freighting, or in foreign service, the same old-fashioned way was continued. The cook of those vessels was usually a boy of about fourteen years of age. He was jack of all works, and was the object of much profanity, and occasionally a rope's end, for at that time profanity and rope's endings, formed a big part of a sailor's life; and more especially of the sailor lad's life. It was to-day attempted to do to boys at sea, what was done fifty and sixty years ago, they would be immediately arrested and held for trial. At best life on those ships was hard, and from the Captain down to the boy, they all paid a stiff price for being alive. The crews of those sloops were very small, usually four in number, and they were sometimes described as the captain, the mate, and the boy, and the old growl, with occasionally a worse qualification for the latter.

Newfoundlanders' Ball at Boston.

The Newfoundlanders' Mutual Benefit Association of Boston held its thirty-second annual ball on February 9th in Odd Fellows Hall. The Newfoundland residents of Boston and adjoining cities and towns namely Cambridge, Chelsea, Somerville, Brockton, Maynard, Gloucester and many others to numerous to mention attend this annual social event in large numbers to renew old and make new acquaintances. This year, however, surpassed any and all previous undertakings, along social lines; the attendance exceeded our most cherished expectations. The Association anticipating a large attendance, had procured one of the largest ball rooms in Boston, but unfortunately could not accommodate all those who desired to attend. The management of the ball room served notice on the committee in charge that over 1500 guests were admitted, and he felt sorry the building laws prevented him from admitting any more, consequently many of the guests had to return home disappointed. The ball room was handsomely decorated with many varieties of bunting and colors, the stage especially, where an orchestra of fifteen pieces rendered the latest music, was fitted with plants and palms. Many of the invited guests occupied seats on the stage, and were as follows:—Patrick S. Fiddle, President of Boston Terra Nova Association; James Wilcox, President of Newfoundland Charitable Society; Mrs. Devereaux, President of Ladies' Auxiliary; Richard S. Johnston, President Intercultural Club Commissioners; Theodore A. Glynn, who represented his Honor Mayor James A. Curley, who was unable to attend owing to a previous engagement. His Excellency Governor Channing Cox sent his regrets as he was unable to attend because he was obliged to be absent from Boston on that date. Commissioner Glynn delivered a spirited address congratulating the Newfoundlanders' Mutual Benefit Association on its wonderful progress and praised the meritorious work they are performing in aiding the sick and caring for the relatives of its deceased members. He was accorded a hearty reception upon the conclusion of his address. The most notable feature of the evening, however, was the grand march, which was led by President John Fitzhenry and his daughter, Miss Fitzhenry, followed by Floor Directors, Vice-Presidents William Lane and John Molloy; Fin. Secy. Patrick S. Fiddle; chief of aid, James A. Scully. About 75 couples took part in the grand march. The gowns worn by the ladies were the admiration of everyone present. It was a wonderful exhibition to see those fair ladies and their escorts marching around the spacious ball room to the accompaniment of the orchestra, and at its conclusion dancing was enjoyed by all those who desired to dance. It was a gratifying and a pleasant sight to observe the older folks moving about amongst the guests, greeting old friends whom they had not seen since leaving Newfoundland. President John Fitzhenry presented a beautiful ladies gold wrist watch to Miss Margaret McDonnell, as she had been accorded the honor of being the most popular young lady. Suitable prizes were also presented to Misses Fiddle, Stapleton, Murphy, and Mrs. Desmond. These young ladies assisted the committee in making preparations and in a very large measure due to their activity was such a moving about. The Officers of the Association are:—President, John Fitzhenry; 1st Vice-President, William Lane; 2nd Vice-President, John Molloy; Rec. Sec'y, Simon J. Hogan; Fin. Secretary, Patrick S. Fiddle; Treasurer, William B. Somerville; Chairman of Visiting Committee, James A. Scully; Chairman of Investigating Committee, W. Molloy; Chairman of Auditors, John Tracey; Sergeant at Arms, Wm. Haeggie; Trustees, Jeremiah Halpin and W. Duggan. The Ball Committee was headed by President John Fitzhenry, Chairman; William Healy, Secretary, and W. B. Somerville, Treasurer, assisted by a large number of the ## Death of an Old Newfoundland.

JOHN T. WALSH.

News was received in town Thursday announcing the death of Mr. John T. Walsh, of Montreal, which occurred on April 4th, fortified by all the rites of the Catholic Church. Mr.
Walsh was born in St. John's 64 years ago, near the historic Barking Kettle in the West End, and will be remembered by the older portion of the citizens of that neighborhood.
The deceased was the son of Mr.
Robert Walsh, who, for many years sailed out of Tackler's employ, as Chief Officer with Capt. Timothy Cummins. On retiring from sea Mr. Walsh became chief rigger in the employ of Messrs. P. & L. Tessier. His wife was Mary Potter from Cochrane Street.
Before leaving St. John's the deceased was tallyman at Tessier's and also sailed out of that employ on several voyages. The funeral was held from his late residence, 217 Chapleau St.,

Montreal, to St. Mary's Church, where a solemn Requiem Mass was celebrated by Father Brady, assisted by Fra.
Conney and Johnson as Deacon and sub-Deacon. The chief mourners were James R. and Frank Walsh, of Montreal; and Richard P. Thomas J. and Richard P. Walsh, Jr. of New York.
Scores of friends, including officials and employees of Alexander McArthur & Co., the well-known Manufacturers of Roofing Paper, in which firm he held the responsible position of Foreman for 20 years, followed the remains to the Church and thence to Cote des Neiges cemetery. The deceased leaves a widow but no children. Requiescat in pace.

Reduction of Taxation and Public Expenditures-- War Veterans, Skilled and Unskilled Labor Attended to--Better Housing and Hos- pital Accommodation--Public Ser- vices Reorganized--Useless Departments Abolished.

Will adopt a scheme of co-operation between the exporters of fish from Labrador so as to ensure a placing of the catch in the foreign markets to the best advantage.

A complete reorganization of the Marine and Fisheries department.

Will give more attention than in the past to outport harbor improvements for the better protection and security of fishing craft, thereby lightening the labours and lessening the risks incident to the occupation of our fishing population.

Will summon a Convention of Merchants, Planters and Fishermen to meet in St. John's next autumn to discuss all fishery matters and to concert measures whereby the experience of practical men of all these classes can be utilized in working out a fishery policy that will prove of general advantage.

FOR THE MINER.

The mining industry at present ranks in importance to the fishery, and the amount of labor it should give through its development is of the most importance. Therefore, we will do everything that sound judgment dictates to assist in its promotion.

Proposes in addition to relief in taxation, reduction of the import duties upon the implements, explosives and machinery used for the work.

Revision of the Crown Lands Act.

Prevent the creation and continuance of monopolies.

Protect invested capital so as to encourage an increase of investments.

To have measures that will ensure the safety and limbs of all those engaged in our mining and lumbering industries.

FOR THE LUMBERMAN.

To encourage mill owners.

To invite and encourage outside capitalists.

To encourage the Humber Deal and attract other similar enterprises in the establishment of same in Newfoundland.

To safeguard our forest areas and prevent wilful waste by inaugurating a judicious system of re-forestation.

More effective steps will also require to be taken to prevent the spread of forest fires, which are destroying much valuable timber and devastating areas that could be profitably utilized in connection with some of these paper making developments; and measures to this end will be devised with the least possible delay.

FOR THE FARMER.

Relief in the matter of taxation. Assistance in the cultivation of land, instead of in clearing it, as has been the trend of Government and in the past.

Reduced freight rates on farm products to enable the more effective distribution of same.

Encouragement for the establishment of farming colonies in the vicinity of the Paper Mills at Grand Falls and on the Humber, where assured markets should be found for all the food-stuffs that can be produced.

FOR THE MECHANIC AND LABOURER.

Will render assistance as will, in the way of lower duties on tools, implements, and raw materials, provide a stimulus for the revival of the industry in this country.

A measure will be introduced to amend the Employers' Liability and Workmen's Compensation Acts so as to bring them into accord with the similar measures now in effect in Great Britain and the neighboring Canadian countries.

Steps will be taken to apply the labor legislation of Great Britain to this country, so far as the same may be found applicable.

Will form a Labor Bureau that will deal with unemployment and other labor questions.

FOR THE WOMEN.

Will take measures to consider extending the vote to the women of the country.

To assist child welfare and other similar institutions.

Will do away with "Order-in-Council" rule.

Will reorganize all public departments.

Will repeal Fish Regulations as arranged by W. F. Coaker.

Will abolish Shipping, Educational and other departments, which work can be done more advantageously and more economically.

Will instigate a general policy of economy in all branches of the public service.

Will dispose of to the best advantage the now notorious, useless Coaker Fleet and institute every possible means to secure better steam services for the exportation of fish to foreign markets and re-organize to better advantage the coastal steam service.

Will create a Public Health Commission.

To provide better Hospital and Poor Asylum accommodation.

To support a movement for a School for the Blind.

To extend the scope of Old Age Pensions.

Will give returned soldiers and naval men the same rates of pensions as paid to Canadians.

Give due consideration re the insurance of War Veterans.

Will revise the Prohibition Act in such a way as will enable the expressed sentiments of the country with regard to this policy to be properly interpreted.

"SLACKER" THREATS.

Mr. Clouter, editor of the "Advocate," has made "excuse for his slackness" in the war. He was a schoolteacher, and "was excused." That's not much of a defence. Any woman could have done his work! For that matter, perhaps, a woman could have done his work in the war better than he—a fellow prone to make excuses would not have been of much service. It is no surprise, then, to find this "Clouter" threatening in the Advocate that Mr. Monroe will be treated in Bonavista as Mr. Blandford was in 1918 and Mr. Morline in 1919, through rowdism organized by orders from Port Union. Afraid of the effect of opponent's speeches, the Union candidates and their supporters planned to break up meetings. This is the kind of thing cowards naturally resort to. But forewarned is forearmed. Opposition places in Bonavista Bay have resolved to treat Coaker candidates as their supporters treat the Monroe team, and the first meeting of the latter interrupted by rowdism will be the signal for such a storm as will teach Coaker and his crew to be respectable.

Our Dumb Animals.

REPORT OF THE CHIEF AGENT FOR WEEK ENDING APRIL 13th.

Called at 7.30 on Sunday night by Const. Pitcher to attend a horse owned by Cabman Crane which had fallen down near the shoe factory. When I arrived the animal was on its feet, but when unharnessed it fell again near the Gas House. A Vet'ry. Surgeon could not be found and my opinion was that the animal was suffering from some internal trouble and could not live. In the meantime Mr. Murphy undertook to have the animal taken to a stable; however, the owner, seeing the beast's condition, consented to have the animal humanely put to death. I ordered in three horses suffering from lameness. Received word from a grocer on New Gower St. of a young man who cruelly kicked a cat across the street. I went to his home and found the man, and was going to have him summoned, but he has written an apology for his conduct and promises never to do it again. A man found two cats tied in a bag and thrown behind a fence on LeMarchant Road; these animals had been there all night. The gentleman let them free and reported the matter. I have not found the owners yet, but I have the case in hand. I also attended to the landing of fifteen horses from the Sable I. for Mr. George Summers. The horses were all carefully landed in boxes. I also went to Devon Farm to humanely put to death a horse belonging to William Martin, the animal was past its labor. I have asked the council to have the holes in the street filled in, which has been attended to. All persons knowing of ill-treatment to dumb animals are asked to "phone me at No. 653.

Political Paragraphs.

To-day it looks as if it is going to be a landslide.

Remember the bad times of '99 when Whiteway swept the country and came back with 88 men?

It looks like this now, especially in the fact that the defeated Government were spending money like water at the 11th hour in an effort to buy up the electors.

It was a regular "washout" for the Government all along the line, and from all indications it is going to be the same now.

The outport voter is cute, just as cute as Sir Richard, Coaker, and Dr. Campbell. They know that all this orgy of spending their money will stop after polling day and they don't want to have Campbell, Squires and Coaker laughing at them.

They will elect a Government that will find better work for them than rock breaking, snow shovelling and selling split. The Bennett Government will make conditions so that men can get back to manly and productive work.

We congratulate Port-de-Grave in getting such a live man of intelligent up to date progressive views for their candidate as in W. A. MacKay. He is a speaker of a high order and if not elected it will not be for any want of ability in the works of giving the electors a true picture of the rascality of the Government and their withering record of the past three and a half years.

Using the Humber Deal to get votes from the fishermen who have their stages, fakes, boats, traps, and other property around them in the outports of this country a waste of eloquence. Does Squires and his followers imagine that the people are going to sacrifice all this and give up the fishing for the sake of a couple of dollars a day or the Humber? As our friend Jimmy Brien says "he must be creasey."

Great news this week from St. Barbo, Joseph Moore's election there is conceded by Scammell's friends. There will be three Moore's in the new government. It will be a "Moore" prosperity period.

Capt. Bonis is asking the electors of Placentia to "put one man in on the government side." They have told him they will take his advice, go out better and put three there, Walsh Sullivan and Sinnott.

It is amusing to notice the suppression of Coaker's name in the Daily Mail these days "Keep him in the background, till the ballots are deposited," says Squires. His name would kill our chances this side of Bay-de-Verde. "Should they win, Coaker will bob up serenely" again and run Squires worse than ever but he won't get the chance to do so, they are already beaten.

The eyes of the whole country are on Conception Bay to-day, praying that this intelligent and historic section of the country will do its duty on polling day and kill Coakerism for ever. The latest reports show that they are all falling in line with St. John's and the South and West Coasts. Well done Harbour Grace, Bay-de-Verde, Carbonar, Port-de-Grave, and Harbour Main. You will "be in at the death" in the noble cause of killing Coakerism.

Willie Warren, if he were to be compelled to speak truly and honestly to the electors of Fortune Bay, would say: "Gentlemen, I neglected you shamefully the past three and a half years. I never came near you. I helped Coaker to ruin your fish markets and had a good time in London at your expense. I want you to do me the farewell favor now of putting me in again so that I can go to London permanently as High Commissioner with $10,000 a year."

Samuel Foote has been jammed all the past month in Placentia Bay. An elector of Burin said yesterday on Water Street: "Sam, I think, has been jammed somewhere ever since we elected him in 1919. When he gets clear now, I think the main patch will be cut up and panned by Harris and Chafe."

McMurdo's Store News.

For the kind of cold and cough that one gets suddenly from a sudden change of weather, McMurdo's Creo Cough Cure is admirable, and has been very successful. The fact that it is an antiseptic as well as an expectorant and sedative, puts it far ahead of the ordinary cough syrup in value, as its use will often prevent the occurrence of more serious troubles. And "Creo" is pleasant to take and does not upset the digestion or affect the appetite. Price 35c. a bottle.

Do not forget that you can get all kinds of Motz's bulk Candies to-day at special prices. Come to us for your week-end supply of fresh candies. Just in: Kruschen Salts; Blurred Magnesia; Montserrat Health Salts.

Subscription List Opened National War Memorial.

FUNDS REQUIRED FOR NEW RACE BOAT.

The C.L.B. Old Comrades are now actively engaged making preparations for the purchasing of a new race boat to replace the famous "Blue Peter." With this end in view the Association has decided to open a public subscription, and it is hoped that sufficient funds will be forthcoming by the 15th of May to arrange for the new boat. The Old Comrades have received a handsome subscription from a public man in response to their communication. The subscription list is now open, and all those who are desirous of helping the fund are asked to forward their amount, either to the Secretary, Mr. Edward Bradley, c/o Bowring Bros., or Mr. E. J. Goodland, c/o the "Daily Mail." It is hoped that the Association will meet with a ready response and that the amount aimed at will be realized. All contributions received will be published in the Daily Press.

MODEL WILL BE PLACED ON EXHIBITION.

A meeting of the finalization committee of the National War Memorial was held at noon yesterday in the Board of Trade rooms, when the design for the War Memorial to be erected at King's Beach, was decided upon. The proposed structure was fully discussed and finalized. The model is being placed on exhibition in the store of James Baird Ltd., when the public in general will have an opportunity of seeing it. There will also be placed on exhibition a water color of the Monument now erected at Grandcourt, a copy of which will be given free as a supplement in the next "Veteran" Magazine. It is hoped that a plan of the Newfoundland Memorial Park at Beaumont Hamel will be ready next week. Work on the King's Beach has been delayed owing to unforeseen circumstances, and the unveiling of the Monument will not take place until July 1st, 1924. Padre Nangle states that the local contractors will be on the same footing as Canadian and English firms.

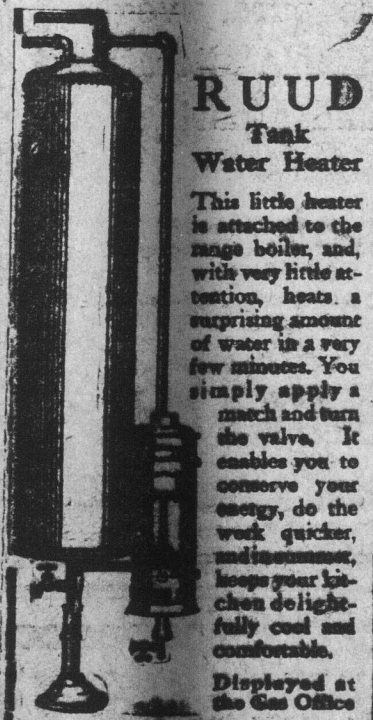

that the tender will go to the lowest bidder. The bronze statue is being cast in Belgium.

St. George's Day.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR JOINT PARADE.

A large and representative meeting of the Committee of Joint Societies was held last night in the S.U.F. Hall under the chairmanship of Mr. A. G. Williams to make final arrangements in connection with the Grand Parade to be held on Monday forenoon, April 23rd, (St. George's Day). The various Societies will meet in Cathedral Square, opposite Victoria Hall, parade through the city, attend Divine Service at St. Thomas's Church, call on His Excellency and extend greetings of loyalty to His Majesty the King, after which they will continue the Parade back to the starting point. It is hoped that all who can attend will endeavor to do so. Advertisements will appear in the public press on Saturday, April 21st, calling the Societies together naming the place and time.
