At the Mouth of the Treacherous Pit
STORY OF LOVE, INTRIGUE AND REVENGE

CHAPTER XXXI

"Ran away from his wife," was the brief reply. "And his daughter is on a visit to her mother's old friend, Lady Fielden."

"And her mother—is she living or dead?" asked madame.

"Her ladyship is living abroad—I believe with her other daughter."

"And Scarsdale?"

"Scarsdale is shut up; only the servants are living there; and a great loss it is to us at Deeping. Sir Karl was the best customer that ever came into this town. The grapes are three shillings. Thank you. Good afternoon."

The next minute Mme. St. Ange was standing in the sunlit street, scared and bewildered, and really more at a loss than ever.

She decided on going home and resting; and then, when the shades of evening fell, she would make her way to Fielden Manor. She remembered the keeper's cottage; she could call there under pretext of having lost her way, and talk to the keeper's wife—she could in that manner perhaps learn something of what was going on.

She lay down to rest, but she could not sleep. Karl's daughter! She must see her again. How cruelly she had repulsed her! When the gentle hands had touched her, why need she have shaken them off? Yet—strange contradiction—she hated her! It was growing dusk when she took the road which led toward Fielden Manor. It had been one of her favorite spots; she knew the grounds quite as well as she knew those of Beauclieu. She would like in the dusk to steal up to the windows and get just one sight of Gertrude in her evening dress, and then she would spend an hour or two in the keeper's cottage. She felt that the key of the mystery would be found there. So, in the falling evening light she stole round among the tall trees where once she had been proud to show her face. In her dark dress, and with her light footsteps, she passed on, making no sound. She knew the road too well to make any mistake, and fortune favored her. The night was so dense and dark that it was almost impossible to see even one's own hand. The moon was hidden behind a mass of clouds. Madame hid herself behind the thick leaves and sprays of the creepers which clustered around the bay-window of the dining-room. The blinds were but partially drawn, and she could see into the room. In the dark shadows, with the thick, overhanging leaves, she was sure of not being discovered herself.

CHAPTER XXXII

It was a pretty home-scene that the miserable watcher gazed upon. The room was large and lofty, with a few priceless pictures, and a magnificent oaken sideboard with gold and silver plate, of which Lord Fielden had been very proud. She remembered every detail, and clinched her finger as she looked on the silver and glass, the fruit and flowers, gleaming in the full light from the chandelier. What a comfortable, luxurious room it was! She saw the footmen all on the alert, the butler solemnly occupied at his post, and then those whom she wanted to see entered and took their places. Lady Fielden, looking very satiny and beautiful even in her old age, was attired in a warm-looking dress of maroon velvet; a cap and fichu of delicate lace completed a most recherche costume. Lord Fielden looked handsomer than ever in his evening dress, and Gertrude bright and beautiful in a robe of white lace and rich ruby silk, a spray of white jasmine in her golden hair, and in the bodice of her dress.

As her eyes rested on the group, the miserable watcher at the window drew back, unable to restrain the burning tears and bitter sobs that would come in spite of her. Was it possible that she had once been young, beautiful, happy, and beloved, as that fair young girl?

She soon read Lord Fielden's secret, there could be no mistake about it. Harry could not help showing it in every line of his face, in every gesture, in every tone of his voice, it was plain and palpable to every one, and madame's dark, sad eyes were not deceived. Oh, for the days and the love that were past! Love is better than hidden well-water, than amber lying in cold seas, than gathered berries under snow.

Had this love of theirs anything to do with the advertisements? They seemed very happy. She watched them, fascinated; she could not withdraw her eyes. The handsome young lord was attentive to his mother—no want of hers seemed to escape him—but his heart was at bonny Gertrude's feet.

Gertrude, gleaning toward the window, by the purest accident, caught the gleam of the dark, miserable eyes and the white hair, on which the light shone. She started with a cry—a cry of fear quite unusual with her, for she was naturally brave.

"Harry," she exclaimed, "there is a face at the window—a woman's face!"

"A woman's face!" he cried. "Are you quite sure, Gertrude? It must have been the shadows that startled you."

She had quite recovered from her fright now, and walked at once to the window.

"It was no shadow," she said. "It was a woman's face, with wild, dark eyes and white hair; she was looking in through this pane of glass."

Lady Fielden came to her.

"I think," she said, "you must have been mistaken; no woman could get in here without the servants' knowledge, and they would not admit a stranger." She drew the lace hangings back. "I have no doubt," she said, "that it was one of the pale passion-flowers that blew against the glass."

Gertrude smiled. "You know, Lady Fielden," she said, "that I do not suffer from nervousness. I was startled for a moment, but by no means nervous, and I am perfectly convinced that it was a woman's face I saw. I noticed the dark, wild eyes and white hair; there could be no mistake. You will wonder more, perhaps when I tell you that I am sure those eyes are familiar to me, that I have seen them before."

"My dear child, I am convinced it is fancy," said Lady Fielden, smiling—quite convinced.

Gertrude raised her hands with a pretty, graceful gesture to her temples.

"Let me think," she said; "where have I seen that face before?"

They looked at her in astonishment.

"Now I remember," she said, "and I can verify my words. I called in at Grey's, the fruiterer's, to purchase some grapes, and that woman was in the shop. I thought she was going to faint; but, when I spoke, she answered coldly—almost rudely, poor creature! I noticed her eyes then, how dark and wild they were, and what a weird contrast they presented to her white hair."

Lord Fielden was listening intently.

"Did she speak to you, Gertrude?" he asked.

"No—only a few words. I think she said, 'I am quite well.'"

"Did you notice her voice—any peculiarity in it?" he asked.

"No; I cannot say that I did. But you see, Harry, it was no fancy. Was it, Lady Fielden?"

"No, my dear, I begin to think not. Harry, you had better take a couple of men out with you and search the grounds. I feel uneasy."

"I will go first myself," he said; and he did.

But he found no one. Close to the window, however, there was a broken spray of passion-flower and some rose-leaves, as though some one had pulled aside the branches in order to look in. That was the only suspicious circumstance. Then the butler and two footmen accompanied Lord Fielden through the grounds. Mme. St. Ange, from her hiding-place amongst the ferns, saw the reflection of the light that they carried, but they failed to discover her.

Harry was grave and thoughtful that evening. Lady Fielden said that there was no cause for any anxiety; evidently it was a woman who had some idea of begging from them, and who was curious to see the inmates.

"Good-night, Gertrude," he said; "forget all about the woman peeping through the window, and sleep well."

"I do not think I shall ever forget her," was the answer, "but I am in the least nervous, if that is what you mean, Harry."

He watched her as she went up the broad staircase. She stopped half way, and, looking down at him, kissed her hand to him! He thought how like that fastest creature, Juliet, she looked.

How little they dreamed of what would pass before they would meet again! Gertrude went to her room, and soon forgot her troubles in sweet, sound slumber; while Harry, with the new idea growing in his brain, felt more and more sure that there was something in it, and determined to go out once more and see if he could discover anything before he retired to rest.

Brought Good Luck

Guests who attended the wedding of Donald Shible, a photographer, to Miss Kathleen Mitchell, at St. Saviour's Church, Bath, recently witnessed an entertaining little spectacle. Just as the ceremony was drawing to a close a black cat entered with some late guests, set out on an expedition right up to the nave, and "kept on walking" till it reached the bridal couple, who were kneeling in prayer before the altar. "Felix" sat down behind them till the ceremony finished, and then accompanied the happy pair to the vestry.

Lord Doune's American Bride

NAMESAKE OF HIS ANCESTORS.
LONDON, July 26.—(A.P.)—The marriage of Lord Doune, son of the Earl of Moray, to Miss Barbara Murray of New York, was celebrated on the famous estate at Doune Lodge by the usual custom of serving a cake and wine banquet to the help.

One of the older employees of the estate made a speech in which he said there hadn't been a Lady Doune for 114 years and that a curious coincidence was that the eighth Lord Gray, an ancestor of the present Lord Doune, married a Miss Barbara Murray in 1664.

William Oldham

PLANS TO PEDAL ACROSS ATLANTIC.

MANCHESTER, England, July 24.—(A.P.)—Built in a 12-foot square office, a craft 19 feet long, will shortly start on a journey across the Atlantic with his builder and skipper, William Oldham, at the helm, according to an announcement given out by Oldham. The boat is made of steel, with eight water-tight chambers which the builder claims makes it unsinkable. Oldham proposes to propel the boat by his feet, and is using pedals for that purpose, but the pedals can also be used with the hands, which will give William's feet an occasional rest.

Soudans Future

Premier's Warning to Zaghlool Pasha—British Flag to be kept Flying.

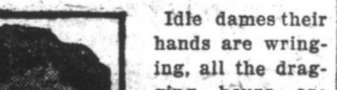

In reply to the declaration made recently on behalf of the British Government that our position in the Soudan would be maintained, Zaghlool Pasha, the Egyptian Premier, made an important statement in the Cairo Assembly. It was as follows: "I declare on behalf of the nation and in your presence that Egypt will not cede the Soudan as long as she lives." Egypt would safeguard its rights against the usurper in every legitimate way. And if they did not attain their ends in their days then he would ask their children and posterity to continue the fight.

Zaghlool told the Assembly that unless he could obtain another basis for the negotiations pending with Great Britain he was prepared to resign. Zaghlool Pasha's declaration was received with enthusiastic cheering, and later he left for Alexandria, where he tendered his resignation to the King. In deference to his Majesty's representations, Zaghlool consented to remain in office, and on re-appearing in the Chamber he told the deputies that he had agreed to continue in office in order to try to secure the complete independence of Egypt and the Soudan. These events formed the subject of an important statement in the House of Commons by Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, which in essence was a reiteration of that already made, and which amounts to this—that the British flag is to be kept flying in the Soudan—and that all it stands for is to be maintained.

The Prime Minister explained that he had been hoping—that questions outstanding between Egypt and ourselves might have been settled in the calm conditions of personal negotiations between Zaghlool Pasha and himself, when by facing the realities of the situation they might have come to an agreement which recognized the interests and responsibilities of both countries. It was essential if those hopes were to be fulfilled that both the British and Egyptian Governments should in the meantime honourably and rigidly observe the status quo. "I regret," said Mr. MacDonald, "that statements have been made to the Egyptian Parliament and action taken to create trouble in the Soudan which can only be understood as an attempt to force my hand and deprive Zaghlool Pasha of liberty to negotiate." He explained that he had been looking forward with pleasure to the meeting and to a discussion of the best interests and the accepted responsibilities of the respective countries, and that he had desired to say nothing which would limit the freedom of discussion. In view of what has happened, added the Prime Minister, it is necessary to make it clear to all concerned that I do not believe that this House will accept any arrangement which will break our pledges given to the Soudan, or jeopardize the present administration and development of that country. I believe that hearty good-will between Egypt and ourselves is of the utmost importance to both of us, and I still trust that those responsible for the government of both countries will refuse to countenance any attempt which might destroy the prospects of such a settlement.

BUSY AND HAPPY.

Idle games their hands are wringing, all the dragging hours are bores; but my aunt is always singing, she goes about her chores. Other aunts are vainly asking, "How shall we put in the time? While we loaf, on cushions basking, every moment is a crime." Wary are the aunts pursuing idle things, and trifles light; there is nothing worth the doing, only boredom is in sight. Here a maid or footman scuttles, saying, "them! all stress and strain; here a stately butler buttes, or a chuffer drives their wain. Not an obstacle surmounting, not an effort do they know; all their labor is but counting laggard moments as they go. And they are not singing gayly as they lounge in gilded state; life grows sadder, duller, duller, nothing can its gloom abate. But my aunt is always busy, making doodads out of flour; it would make an idler dizzy just to watch her for an hour. She is chasing to the garret, dust and cobwebs to pursue; she is sieving up a carrot and an onion for a stew. Dusting pictures, chairs and tables, she is making quite a stir; she is shaking out her babies, which are made of rabbits fur. She is cleaning nook and cranny, chafing dust where'er it lurks, and she's singing "Gentle Annie" every minute as she works. To improve the daily ration she makes pickles by the quart; and her only lamentation is because the days are short.

Two U. S. Planes Reach Iceland, But One is Forced Down.
 Inter-Allied Conference reaches settlement--Irish boundary commission may be appointed without sanction of Ulster--Two and a half millions lost in wages by Alberta miners owing to the strike.

ONE FLIER FORCED DOWN.
 HORNAFJORD, Iceland, Aug. 3. The second United States world flier, Lieut. Lowell Smith, arrived here from Kirkwall, Orkney Islands, at 1.37 p.m. to-day. The third plane piloted by Lieut. Wade failed to complete the flight, when he was forced down into the water about midway. A trawler found and took his plane in tow. Lieut. Eric Nelson, American round the world flier with his mechanic, Lieut. Mardins, Jr., arrived here in the New Orleans shortly after four o'clock Saturday afternoon.

U. S. FLIERS STRUCK HEAVY FOG.
 KIRKWALL, Aug. 2. The American army airmen on their world flight struck heavy fog off the north coast of the Orkneys after setting out from Iceland early to-day and the planes became separated. Lieut. Lowell Smith and Lieut. Leigh Wade circled their machines for some time in a hunt for Lieut. Eric Nelson in the New Orleans who was apparently in the rear but not finding him returned to Kirkwall.

TWO FLIERS RETURNED.
 LONDON, Aug. 2. Lieut. Lowell H. Smith and Lieut. Leigh Wade, in the army airplanes Chicago and Boston, returned to Kirkwall after setting out for Iceland this morning in continuation of the world flight, says a despatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Kirkwall, having lost the New Orleans.

upon its fifth month. The economic loss averages $25,000 a month for the whole period.

WILL OVERRIDE ULSTER.
 LONDON, Aug. 3. The conference yesterday between Prime Minister MacDonald, of Great Britain, and President Cosgrave, of the Irish Free State, for the purpose of finding a solution to the Irish boundary problem, produced no results, it is understood. The Government, it is understood will proceed with its plan to introduce a bill which sanctions the formation of the boundary commission without the participation of Ulster.

THE NEW BISHOP OF WESTMINSTER.
 LONDON, Aug. 2. The appointment of Canon E. W. Barnes, of Westminster as Bishop of Birmingham, which was announced yesterday, has created a big stir among the members of the Anglo-Catholic party of the Church of England on account of the alleged extreme modernist views held by the new Bishop. The Church Times declares that Bishop Barnes is the constant and not too fair critic of the Catholic revival, and he has had no experience in Parish work. Further, the Church Times asks, is the work of the Lord to be threatened by a Bishop from whom nothing can be expected but criticism and misunderstanding? Bishop Barnes first earned prominence by a sermon which he preached before the British Association for the Advancement of Science, when he rejected the Book of Genesis as an historical narrative.

SASKATCHEWAN'S PLEBISCITE RESULTS.
 REGINA, SASK., Aug. 2. With completed official returns in the Saskatchewan liquor plebiscite received for 56 out of the 60 constituencies, the majority against prohibition is now 34,516 and the majority in favor of Government control is 9,552. The figures stand as follows: For prohibition, 83,216; against prohibition, 117,732. For Government control, 39,831; for Government control and beer licenses, 80,079.

THE WEEK'S FAILURES.
 TORONTO, Aug. 2. Failures in Canada and Newfoundland according to R. G. Dun and Company, totalled 33 during the week ending August 1st, as compared with 64 in the corresponding week of 1923. The Provinces last week which reported failures were as follows: Ontario 12, Quebec 9, Manitoba 1, Alberta 5, British Columbia 2, Nova Scotia 1, New Brunswick 1, Newfoundland 2.

CONCILIATION BOARD GRANTED.
 WINNIPEG, Aug. 2. Hon. Jas. Murdoch, Minister of Labor, has granted a board of Conciliation in the wage dispute between the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks and the C.P.R. The hearing will be held in Winnipeg during the Ministers visit here next week.

WERE MENTALLY ILL!
 CHICAGO, Aug. 2. Richard Loeb was mentally ill on May 21, 1924, when he and Nathan Leopold, Jr., kidnapped and murdered Robert Franks, it was testified on cross-examination to-day by Dr. William A. White. Judge John R. Caverly sustained an objection by Walter Bahrach of defence counsel, when Robert E. Crowe, States Attorney tried to learn whether the expert thought Loeb was insane. The same opinion was given as to Leopold. The session developed a sharp sparring match between witness and the prosecutor. Sometimes Mr. Crowe's questions elicited a smile from the doctor, again he complained they were meaningless, and at other times insisted upon going into lengthy explanations when the State's Attorney asked for a yes or no answer. That is impossible to give, was Doctor White's usual response to such attempts to pin him down.

MAKING GOOD PROGRESS.
 BUNDER ABAS, PERSIA, Aug. 2. Major Zanni, Argentine military aviator, who is attempting a round the world flight along the route mapped out by the British aviator, Stuart MacLaren, arrived here yesterday from Basra, Iraq. Since Wednesday Major Zanni has flown from Aleppo, Syria.

To-Night's Big Attraction
EARL HAIG WEEK PICTURES.
 The popular Star Movie will tonight no doubt be the scene of large audiences, as everyone will be anxious to witness the pictures taken during the entire proceedings of the visit of Earl Haig, showing in clear detail the different scenes enacted. In connection therewith a special musical programme has been arranged, including the talented Caruso, rendering at the unveiling of the Monument the "Rosary," also during the picture he will sing "Macushla," and those two numbers in the hands of such an accomplished artist will receive full justice. His Excellency and Suite will occupy the box, and the entire show will be one well worth witnessing.

Grand Regatta Dance
 C. C. C. HALL.

As will be seen by the large advertisement elsewhere in this issue, there will be a big Regatta Dance in the C. C. C. Hall (King's Beach) on Regatta Night, Wednesday, August 6th, and no doubt, as last year's dance in this hall proved such a wonderful success, there will be a large attendance this year, as on this occasion the music will be supplied by the wonderful Boys' Band of Mount Cashel (by kind permission of Rev. Brother Ennis). They number 35 instruments, and under the baton of Mr. Arthur Bulley, will render the very latest Dance hits including Lancers, etc. Therefore, don't miss this BIG Dance in the BEST and BIGGEST Dance Hall in St. John's. Remember also, that it should be necessary to postpone the Regatta on Wednesday, August 6th, this Dance WILL NOT be postponed, it will take place on Wednesday Aug. 6th, rain or shine.

A Runaway

Shortly after 7 o'clock Saturday evening, a horse attached to a delivery wagon, and owned by Mr. C. P. Egan, took fright near Rawlins' Cross and dashed down Prescott St. Crossing Bond Street the vehicle collided with a telegraph pole, upsetting it, while the beast broke clear of the shafts and continued its mad dash over the incline and was stopped in front of Egan's store. The horse and driver escaped unharmed. The express was badly damaged and had to be carted away for repairs.

Make Way for "The Green Goddess"

NOW PLAYING AT THE NICKEL THEATRE.
 George Arliss in "The Green Goddess" is the highly attractive offering of the Nickel Theatre beginning to-day. Mr. Arliss, as is well known, is one of the most distinguished actors of this generation and also one of the very few who can draw patrons to a theatre on his name alone. "The Green Goddess," by William Archer, is doubtless the best play ever written for Mr. Arliss and this is saying a great deal when one takes into consideration the "Disraeli" of Louis N. Parker.

For two solid years "The Green Goddess" attracted thousands to the Booth Theatre in New York, outdistancing all but several plays during the greatest and most productive season in Metropolitan theatrical history. The photoplay has had a record-breaking run at the Sam. H. Harris Theatre, New York, equalling in every way its popularity as a stage play. "The Green Goddess" is listed as the greatest art achievement of the screen to date. For sheer compelling melodrama, superbly acted, and magnificently set, it is said that nothing has ever been done to approach this production.

The sets used in this photodrama are said to be the largest ever built in the East. An entire Himalayan street, two blocks long, was built for the mob scenes. A rock cliff 120 feet high was constructed for the airplane crash. The interiors of the Rajah's palace are magnificent to behold.

Tells of Missionary Work

The story of missionary activity in Canada and of the needs of the Missions in China was the subject of a discourse by Rev. W. C. McGrath, of the China Mission Seminary, Scarborough, at the R. C. Cathedral last evening. Father McGrath told of the founding in Canada some five years ago by Rev. J. M. Fraser of the present work for the missions which owes its success to the foresight and the untiring efforts of its founder. Fifteen years of missionary life in China had served to convince Father Fraser of the great need for workers there, and he returned to Canada in 1918 to undertake the establishment of a seminary for the missions in China. The work is now under the direction of the Bishops of Ontario and enjoys the express approval of the Sacred Congregation of Propaganda.

The object of the work is to provide a permanent supply of workers for the mission field of China where such a vast amount of work awaits the missionary. A seminary has just been completed and here young men will receive the usual course in philosophy and theology as well as undertaking the study of the Chinese language. The speaker referred to the great deal of work that yet remains to be done, the establishment of schools and seminaries in China, and the erection at home a Juniorate, or place of training for younger students. He also hoped that a community of sisters would soon be enabled to work in the mission field as many applications had been received from young girls in Canada and in Newfoundland who were desirous of devoting their lives to the work of the missions of China.

The speaker concluded with an appeal on behalf of the missions and for those who were unable to speak for themselves, the missionaries who never return to their native land. He urged his hearers to help by their prayers and their material assistance in furthering the work of providing missionaries for China. Father McGrath returns to Scarborough this month where he will resume his work on the seminary staff until such a time as the next mission band is ready to take its departure for China.

London Audience Goes Wild

OVER OLD STAGE FAVORITE.
 LONDON.—(A.P.)—London critics are hailing with acclaim the return of Marie Tempest to musical comedy after an absence of 25 years in straight comedy roles. Her recent appearance in a comedy-fantasy occasioned an ovation on her every entry, and after the close of the last act Miss Tempest was kept on the stage for fifteen minutes while the audience, English audiences are the most conservative in the world, expressed its appreciation by a gale of handclapping, cane pounding and shouting.

So overcome was Miss Tempest at her reception that once, during the second act, she completely forgot her lines, and was forced to improvise for several minutes, she confessed at the close of the evening. London critics said that the enthusiasm with which she was hailed was memorable.

Miss Tempest, who is 53 years old, first appeared on the stage in "Bocaccio," in 1855.

GERMAN DELEGATION EN ROUTE.

BERLIN, Aug. 4.
The German delegation to the Inter-Allied Conference left for London shortly after nine o'clock this morning.

AMERICAN PLANE ABANDONED.

Aboard S.S. Richmond—The "Boitoni" airplane, piloted by Lieut. Leigh Wade, in the American Army world flight was abandoned early this morning. The plane was taken in tow by the Richmond yesterday after Lieut. Wade and his mechanic Sergeant Arthur N. Ogden, had been forced down at sea by engine trouble, while negotiating the hop from Kirkwall in the Orkneys to Iceland. The Richmond's effort to salvage the wrecked airplane was abandoned when the machine, which had been gradually filling while being towed in a heavy sea, capsized. Seeing the hopelessness of attempting further to save it, the officers cut it adrift. The Richmond then turned about and made for Reykjavik, Iceland.

CUMMINGS' PROTEGE SHOT DEAD IN MEXICO.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 4.
Mrs. Rosalva Evans formerly of Brownville, Texas, and widow of a former President of the Bank of London in Mexico, an Englishman, was shot dead in the vicinity of Tereculcan in the State of Isubia Saturday evening when on the road to her hacienda. The name of Mrs. Evans recently came up in connection with the alleged attempts by Mexican Troops to seize her great estate in Mexico. It was reported large portions of arable lands belonging to her had been taken over and that a great many of her livestock had been driven off. The fight of Mrs. Evans against the alleged attempts of Mexicans to seize her property was taken up by H. A. C. Cummings, the British charge d'Archives in Mexico City, and the acrimonious dispute between him and the Mexican Authorities on behalf of Mrs. Evans resulted in the Government demanding he be withdrawn.

HARD LUCK AFTER GALLANT STRUGGLE.

LONDON, Aug. 4.
Misfortune has again laid harsh hand on American Army world flight expedition. Two of dauntless pilots Lieut. Lowell H. Smith and Lieut. Erick Nelson with their mechanics are at Hofs, Nornatjford, Iceland, ready to continue on to Greenland and over bleak watery waters of North Atlantic to Labrador, but Lieut. Leigh Wade and Sergt. Ogden, his mechanic are out of the running though no fault of their own. Rescued by the British trawler and American destroyed Billingsley, after they had been forced down at sea by engine trouble on the hop to Iceland from Kirkwall, in the Orkneys, Wade and Ogden stood helplessly on the deck of U.S.S. Richmond and saw a steel boom weighing a ton crash through the fragile tips of their plane while endeavors were being made to hoist it aboard the vessel. The wings of machine had previously been seriously ly damaged in the forced landing at sea and the two men had worked for six hours in a spirit of "never say die" attempting to make temporary repairs which would enable them to rise again and continue their adventurous voyage. LOEB AN EPILEPTIC.

CHICAGO, August 4.
A new element of epilepsy may be introduced by way of showing mitigating circumstances for Richard H. Loeb's part in the slaying of Bobby Franks, the Herald and Examiner today says. The newspaper quoted one of the physicians connected with the defense as saying "Loeb's childhood phantoms were the beginning of epilepsy. The ailment, however, did not become evident until he was 14 or 15 when mild epilepsy attacks occasionally occurred. The malady remained latent during his childhood."

FEDERATION OF LABOUR ENDORSE CLEVELAND CONFERENCE.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., August 4.
The heads of the American Federation of Labor have made public their endorsement yesterday of the platform of the Cleveland conference for progressive political action, and that the convention's nominees are LaFollette for President and Wheeler for Vice-President. The document is a denunciation of Republican and Democratic platforms. The former party is charged with having "flaunted the desires of Labor in an arrogant manner," the latter with having "flaunted said desires with 'that swiftness which in the customary mark of insincerity.'"

11,000 Pounds for 3 Bottles

Some astounding prices were realized at Christie's at the sale of the Benson collection of early Chinese porcelain and pottery, which again afforded striking evidence of the veering of taste in favour of the earlier periods.

A pair of turquoise-blue Ming bottles, 15 1/2 in. high, sparsely decorated with small emblems in relief and colours realized £6,728, and another turquoise-blue sound bottle, 15 1/2 in. high, fetched £4,305. The day's total amounted to £22,364.

German Fleet in Falklands

REPORTED BY GIRL ON HORSEBACK.

LONDON, July 4 (A.P.)—When Admiral Sir Doveton Sturdee's naval squadron defeated the German squadron off the Falkland Islands in the late war, it was a woman who first of all gave the information of this nature to the German fleet in those waters, according to Admiral Sir Percy Grant.

A fisherman told the woman that he had seen ships approaching the islands from the south. She sent her maid on horseback to investigate and the maid verified the statement. The information was at once telephoned to the governor and he transmitted it to Sturdee.

Secret of Death Watch Beetle

FOUND BY MICROSCOPE.
The death-watch beetle, whose ravages in the woodwork of historic buildings are so deadly—did more than £100,000 damages to Westminster Hall roof—has sounded its own death-knell.

The experts at the Imperial College of Science, South Kensington, have just discovered how it manages to hide itself in old timber and destroy valuable building fabrics.

The Imperial College authorities, after being foiled for years, decided to study the beetle at close quarters, and finding the church at Knotton, Yorkshire, infested by it, some time ago purchased three tons of the flooring. This they had carefully removed to South Kensington and there continuously watched the parasite at work under the microscope.

Incidentally it was discovered that the "death trap" which has so alarmed many people was but the signal of one beetle to another.

"Now we know the life-history of the beetle," said Professor Maxey, Lefroy recently, "we are prepared to deal with it in a way it won't like."

Ocean Weather

CHARTED FOR Z R 3'S AMERICAN FLIGHT.

FRIEDRICHSHAVEN, Germany, July 26 (A.P.)—Virtually every air mile of the Atlantic over which the ZR 3 is likely to fly in her trip from this port to Lakehurst, N.J., possibly some time in August or September, has been charted by meteorologists employed by the Zeppelin company here. The task has taken many months, and the investigators have examined records of atmospheric phenomena covering a period of 25 years.

The results of their labors have been tabulated in chart form, arranged so as to be easily read by the dirigible navigators, and are considered an invaluable asset for the pilots who will have the past performances of the weather and climate to refer to during the voyage.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, who will pilot the big ship to America, expects to return to Germany after the trip to continue his work here. Captain Ernest A. Lehmann, one of the ZR-3's navigation officers who will make the flight, will remain in the United States, as will some of the other expert members of the crew.

It was announced recently that the initial trial flight could not possibly be made before the latter part of August or early in September owing to decision of the officials to scrap the crank cases of the Maybach motors and replace them with new ones.

When completed, the officials contend, the ZR 3 will have its driving power five engines superior to those of any other airship ever built, and fully capable of making the great non-stop hop from Friedrichshaven, bordering on the Alps, to the lowlands of New Jersey.

Biggest Frame Aerial

What is said to be one of the largest wireless frame aerials in Europe has been erected on the roof of the tower of the Bush Building, Albury, W.C., by the United States Shipping Board to conduct the business between London and the United States.

It is 8 ft. by 8 ft., and is wound with 48 turns of aerial wire. Mounted on ball bearings, it can be turned in any direction from the interior of Bush House by a wheel similar to the steering wheel of a motor-car.

Messages can be received from places 6,000 miles distant.

JOSEPH CONRAD IS DEAD.
BOURNH, Aug. 3.
 Joseph Conrad one of the foremost English Novelists and especially noted for his sea tales died here to-day. He was born December 6, 1857, of Polish parents. His early life as a sailor and as a sea captain formed the background for his enthralling stories of the south seas. Conrad visited America last year in response to repeated invitations of his publishers, he was not well at the time and was compelled by his illness to curtail his stay to about one month. The author had intended coming to America in 1915 but the war interfered with his plans. Among Conrads best known books were "The Nigger of the Narcissus," "Lord Jim," "Victory," "The Mirror of the Sea" and "The Rover."

U. S. PLANE WRECKED.
 Bulletin on Board the U. S. S. Richmond, Aug. 3. (By wireless)—The machine of Lieut. Wade was wrecked by an accident while the destroyer Richmond was trying to save it. The plane probably cannot be used again.

THE U. S. FLIERS EXPERIENCES.
HORNAFJORD ICELAND, Aug. 2.
 Two of the United States Army round the world fliers have negotiated the foggy course that lies between the Northern Coast of Scotland and Iceland and to-night are waiting in the side the natural breakwater here for the third plane of the little squadron. Lieut. Nelson, who sailed for several hours through the Pea Somp Islands and arrived here Saturday from Kirkwall, was joined to-day by the commander of the expedition Lieut. Lowell K. Smith who with Lieut. Wade jumped off from Kirkwall early this morning on their second attempt to make the voyage having on Saturday morning been forced to return to Havn Bay owing to the density of the fog. Wade again to-day had hard luck, he was forced down by engine trouble about midway between the Scottish Coast and his objective, but his plane was taken into tow by one of the travelers patrolling the coast and it is expected that when repairs are effected he again will take the air and come on the Hornafjord. Smith in his journey above the North Atlantic today had a hard fight during the latter part of it, meeting with both rain squalls and heavy banks of fog. When Wade was forced to come down upon the water, the torpedo boat destroyer Billingsley went to his aid and later the trawler came up and threw him a towline. The engine of the plane is said to be only slightly damaged. The first news of Wade's trouble came in a report from the Island of Sude, the west portion of the Faroe Group. It was contained in a message dropped by Smith as he passed over the Island. The message requested that a despatch be sent to England that Wade had been forced down 115 miles off Birsay in the Orkney Islands. Wireless dispatches were immediately sent to the patrol fleet to go to the rescue.

10TH ANNIVERSARY OF WAR SEES SETTLEMENT IN SIGHT.
LONDON, Aug. 2.
 The German Delegation to the Inter Allied Conference, held by Chancellor Marx, Foreign Minister Stresemann, and Finance Minister Luther, is expected to arrive in London early Tuesday morning according to official information received by that British Government. "Big Seven" Ramsay MacDonald the British Prime Minister, M. Herriot the French Premier of France, B. Kellogg the United States Ambassador to Great Britain, M. Theunis the Belgian Premier, M. Hyman the Belgian Foreign Minister, Professor de Stefan the Italian Foreign Minister, and Baron Hayes the Japanese Ambassador will meet to-morrow morning at 10.30 a.m. for a final conference prior to arrival of the Germans. Besides making final arrangements for admitting the Germans to places at the Conference table, the main delegates will discuss the question of leaving a nucleus of Allied Railwaymen in the Ruhr region of Germany. The plenary session of the Conference yesterday accepted both the British and French-Belgian reports on this problem leaving the final settlement to the chief delegates, when yesterday's session of the Conference adjourned there were crowds under the Foreign office arches and around Downing St. waiting to catch a glimpse of the delegates. The newspapers recall that there were similar crowds on the very Saturday a decade ago when Europe was at the edge of World War which brought the problems this Conference is trying to settle. Monday is the 10th Anniversary of Great Britain's declaration of War. From any vote that is not unanimous any member of the reparations commission who has participated in the vote may within eight days from the date of the said decision appeal to a commission composed of three impartial and independent persons, whose decision shall be final.

C. L. B. Cadets

Camp, 1924, of the Church Lads Brigade Cadets is over! All officers and lads are home safely after the largest and one of the best Camps in history. We congratulate all the officers that went on active service this year for their hard work and great efficiency as reflected in the faces of the lads as kind friends motored them back to the city Saturday night. We again express our gratefulness to the owners of trucks and cars for their most generous assistance. They surely did us a good turn! The cooks clean up the cooking utensils, etc., to-day and stow away things for another year. Capt. Geo. House, Camp Commandant deserves the special thanks of all ranks for assuming the responsibility. Capt. Harold Hayward for the management of details, and Quartermaster Moty for his wonderful tact and oversight in providing some six hundred meals a day to the entire satisfaction of everybody. Our thanks are also due to the senior clergyman on active service in the Diocese, the Rev. A. Pittman, Rector of Tropical, who acted as Camp Chaplain and was regularly on duty each morning and at sunset each evening.

The prize for the best boy in Camp was won by Pte. E. Baker, of St. John's, and for the second best Pte. J. Miller, of Portugal Cove. For the best kept tent Corporal Edgar House and No. 1 tent won the honors, while Corporal LaFosse and No. 2 tent was second. In No. 3 Co. Corporal Duff with No. 2 tent got first prize and Corporal Badcock with No. 4 tent was a very close second. Acting Corporal Cake, with his tent-mates and Corporal Morgan's tent comrades deserve special mention missing the prize by only a few points. The football inter-tent competition, a test from Grand Falls beat all competitors in No. 1 Company, whilst in No. 2 Co. No. 3 tent from St. John's were the victors. Two prizes presented by Capt. St. John, Adjutant at H. Q. for the best two officers were awarded unanimously by both Messes (1) Capt. Burden, Chief Medical Officer, and (2) Corporal Cook Harry Butler, who by their work and conduct did most to promote the health and harmony of the Camp. These prizes were two beautiful musical instruments, and next year the dental Doctor and Corporal Cook will no doubt contribute to the Annual Sing Song Programme!

Many thanks are tendered to our kind friends who have helped in providing prizes and funds. We also wish to thank Mr. Percie Johnson of the oldest friends of the Brigade who saved our lives in 1893 by giving us his store as a drill shed for the donation of ten dollars to the Camp Commandant. The lads were given a special treat of chocolate Saturday afternoon before leaving for the city. This was a gift from Major Lindsay Company, of Bell Island, supplemented by donations from the officer sergeants and cooks' department.

The Permit System

Editor Evening Telegram

Dear Sir—The prohibition movement brought to us many ill but brought one great good which may not be denied nor thrown away. We have to thank the prohibition movement for the abolition of the saloons and their many attendant evils. I do not bring this back.

I read that the Government of Newfoundland disgusted—and very properly so—by the terrible outbreak of lawlessness induced by prohibition and by the impossibility of enforcing an act so unpopular, proposes to introduce a bill legalizing the unrestricted sale of beer and wine and the sale of "hard liquor" by a system of allowances to householders.

If this happens, if the bars are officially brought back, they will soon become uncontrollable and all the inevitable evils will follow. Neither will the consumption of whiskey be stemmed by this means since the man who wishes to drink whiskey is not going to be checked from so doing by being given beer or wine.

The permit system of sale to individuals—in packets—with a careful and strictly enforced control of the amount and frequency of the sale is the only means by which any check can be maintained on the consumption of liquor and this system should apply to all forms of alcoholic liquors alike.

This is the system in use at the present time in Manitoba and the provinces are now getting such an excellent control over the illicit sales that they prophesy a complete stamp out of this before many months have past. The drinking in private homes which was so bad under prohibition has practically ceased.

The White Bay Properties

CORRESPONDENCE TABLED IN THE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL IN REPLY TO QUESTIONS ASKED BY HON. D. A. RYAN.

17th April, 1924.
 Sir—I have the honor to forward herewith letter from Mr. John T. Meaney on behalf of Mr. Mooney, pointing out that on thorough examination of the property, situated at White Bay, transferred to Dr. Mooney by Act of Legislature, it has been found that there is not sufficient timber on the property to warrant the expenditure necessary for the establishment of a pulp mill, and asking that the Government amend Mr. Mooney's contract (a) so as to relieve him of the obligation of proceeding with the erection of the proposed pulp mill, and (b) to confirm to him the concession given him regarding the export of roused wood.

Will you please bring this matter forward for the consideration of the Government as early as possible.
 I have the honor to be,
 Sir,
 Your obedient servant,
 (Sgd.) J. F. DOWNEY,
 Minister of Agriculture & Mines.
 Hon. W. W. Hallyday,
 Colonial Secretary.

Apr 18th, 1924.
 Hon. J. F. Downey,
 Minister of Mines & Agriculture,
 City.

Dear Sir—I visited Quebec last month to discuss with Dr. Mooney certain matters pertaining to his enterprise at Hr. Deep. He requested me, when I would return here, to bring the subject before the Government.

The attached memorandum is an outline of the matters he desires to have considered by the Government, and in connection therewith he asked me that Mr. W. J. Higgins, his solicitor, be consulted by you on any points that may, in your opinion, require discussion with him.

Will you please have the matter brought before the Executive as early a date as possible.
 Sincerely yours,
 (Sgd.) J. T. MEANEY.

DR. MOONEY CONTRACT AND ORANGE BAY LIMIT.

1. On the representation of persons whose information regarding Orange Bay timber limit, Dr. Mooney considered accurate he undertook to establish a pulp mill at Hr. Deep. Before entering upon extensive expenditure of money he sent an employee of his, Mr. Jack, upon whom he relied as a timber cruiser to report on the area. The man, after seeing one belt of timber the best on the property, made report that justified Dr. Mooney in going ahead with the undertaking.

2. He acquired the area at considerable cost and opened negotiations with capitalists interested in pulp manufacture. The necessary capital was arranged for in co-operation with these people.

3. Before investment could be made the capitalists desired a report on the area. They sent a cruiser, a hydraulic engineer, and a marine engineer, to report on timber, water-power, and shipping facilities. The result of their investigation was: adequate water-power, dock and shipping facilities satisfactory; but timber not sufficient to justify investment of the capital required for the enterprise.

4. The area was represented to Dr. Mooney as to contain approximately 3,000,000 cords of pulp wood. The clearly, reported approximately 500,000 cords, and estimated that about 25 per cent. of that quantity would have to be deducted for redheart and under-size wood.

5. Confronted with this report the parties who were to co-operate with Dr. Mooney in providing the capital for construction of the mill declined to invest. Dr. Mooney was not prepared to accept the report of Cleary as to the quantity of timber on the limit, and subsequently engaged a cruiser in his own interest and sent them over the area. These cruisers returned to Quebec at the time I was consulting with Dr. Mooney, and the report of the chief, Mr. Renwick, not only corroborated the previous cruiser's report but showed even less than Cleary reported. Renwick made a thorough examination of the limit, by running lines and counting trees over such sections as were necessary to arrive at an accurate estimate. The system he worked on is that of which Canadian and American cruisers base their reports of timber limits. He showed approximately 40,000 cords of timber suitable for pulp, and found that at least 30 per cent. would have to be discarded because of hollow and redheart, and stunted growth. The best he could guarantee Dr. Mooney was 300,000 to 250,000 cords of marketable timber. In the face of this report Dr. Mooney could not enter upon further outlay. His personal investment at present is approximately $150,000.

Under existing conditions he is faced with a loss of practically the whole of his investment, as the erection of a pulp mill with such a small supply of wood available as his limit contains is manifestly out of the question.

6. The foregoing is a statement of fact regarding the Orange Bay undertaking to date. Under these circumstances Dr. Mooney requests me to ask the Government if they will take under consideration the following proposals:

A. To amend his contract so as to relieve him of the obligation of proceeding with the erection of the proposed pulp mill.
 B. To confirm to him the concession given in existing contract regarding export of roused wood for the period named therein.

COPY OF MINUTE OF COUNCIL.

July 24th, 1924.
 Dr. Mooney having made representation with respect to the contract made with him by the Legislature last year setting forth that it has been found there is not sufficient timber on the property on the North side of White Bay to warrant the erection of a Pulp Mill, and asking that the Contract be amended.

 It was argued that no amendment be made to the contract, but that Dr. Mooney be allowed to export the wood now cut, but no further export is to be permitted unless in accordance with the provisions of his Contract.

Man-Made Volcanoes

Flooded mines are common enough but mines which have been on fire for years, and which nothing suffices to extinguish, are not quite as usual.
 There is, however, such a mine at Brule, near St. Etienne. It gives the district quite a volcanic aspect.
 Another burning mine at Zwicken, in Saxony, has been turned to practical account. The fire began as long ago as the fifteenth century, and in 1837 an ingenious system was contrived by which the hot vapours were

Cattle Inspection

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir—Kindly allow me space in your valuable paper to voice my opinion on what I consider a most important subject, one which should interest everybody, particularly the Medical and Veterinary Professions and that is "Bovine Tuberculosis."

I saw by your paper some time ago an article saying how a Veterinary Inspector had been appointed for T. B. testing of Cattle and Meat Inspection, and I wish to congratulate the G.P.A. who, I believe, were instrumental in making this appointment, because I am sure it is a move in the right direction.

When we consider the toll that "Bovine Tuberculosis" is responsible for every year in young children especially, as well as in adults it is certainly about time they have done an article saying how a Veterinary Inspector had been appointed for T. B. testing of Cattle and Meat Inspection, and I wish to congratulate the G.P.A. who, I believe, were instrumental in making this appointment, because I am sure it is a move in the right direction.

Besides T.B. milk has been responsible for numerous other outbreaks: Typhoid Fever, Scarlet Fever, Diphtheria, Sceptic Sore Throat and Disentry, but of Bovine Disease Tuberculosis is no doubt the greater source of danger. It is an insidious infection. Cows may have the appearance of perfect health. They may eat well and show no symptoms of disease and still be affected with it as post mortem examinations have shown.

The milk problem, and the dairy business becomes necessarily a life-saving or a life-destroying business as the case may be. So, Mr. Editor, now that we have an Inspector why does not the Government arrange a Compensation Act and let him start right in testing, because this is a thing that cannot be put off without danger to everybody. So let him get busy and publish a report each month for the benefit of the public specifying the number of herds tested and also the number of reactions in each herd.

Now with regard to meat inspection that is another proposition, and cannot be handled properly without an Abattoir with all the sanitary arrangements for slaughter, and conveniently situated. Then that would call for the elimination of all the small slaughter houses which are dotted all over the country and which would make it impossible for ten inspectors to carry out the work scientifically. Until there is an Abattoir erected where all animals for slaughter are brought and the carcasses can be examined before being mutilated, we cannot have first-class meat inspection. Again thanking you for space in your paper I will close by saying there is no time like the present for this work. I could say a lot more on the matter, but will close for the present.

Yours sincerely,
WELL WISHER.

Kissed by Millions

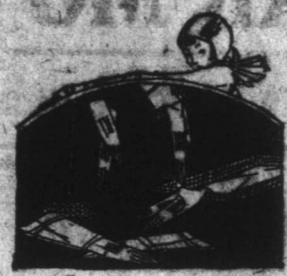

During the holiday season many tourists in Ireland will visit Blarney Castle and its famous kissing stone. One of the stones variously asserted to be the original one, able to bestow the gift of persuasive eloquence upon whoever touches it with his lips, the one the kissing of which is a difficult feat, on account of its position, has received numerous kisses from daring visitors, as well as the one which is easy of access.

The Blarney Stone is not unique in having received an immense number of chaste salutes. St. Peter's Statue, in the nave of St. Peter's Church, in Rome, can claim a like honour. In fact, the toe of this bronze foot has been worn away by kisses.

Perhaps, however, the Mohammedans possess the most-shaded object in the world, namely, the celebrated Black Stone at Mecca.

No true Moslem, after having made a pilgrimage to the Prophet's birth-place, would think of leaving it without first kissing this sacred stone.

Said to have been white originally, the Black Stone is stated by those to whom it is an object of veneration to have been turned to its present colour either through the sins of men or by the tremendous number of kisses bestowed upon it.

How to Judge Tobacco

The True Test Lies Inside the Pipe—Not in the Pedigree, Says Mr. Krob.

In the following letter Mr. Krob points out that once we are past the infantile stage of "taking the watch apart to see what makes it run," we learn that true happiness is a matter of appreciation rather than of analysis. How do you feel about it?

Gentlemen:
Most people who are buying Better Light look up at the fixtures we install and say, "That's wonderful," when they should not even be interested in the fixtures. They should look down at their desk-top or counter or work-bench, where they actually use the light. They always want to consider it "F.O.B." the lighting fixture, instead of "Delivered" to the working plane, where it is to be utilized.

Personally, that's the way I look at tobacco. Many manufacturers go into detail telling us where their product is raised, how it is blended, how long it is aged and how well it is packed, and place this information before the public in their advertisements.

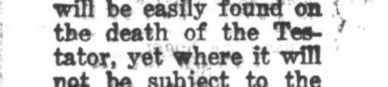

Why should we care whether tobacco is raised in the Sahara or on icebergs? Whether it is a blend of "77 Varieties" or run-of-the-mine, or whether it comes packed in cork or cast-iron containers? I buy my tobacco because of the way it tastes in the pipe. That's why I use Edgeworth.

Sincerely yours,
K. M. KROB.

As the producers of Edgeworth we are of course vitally interested in its pedigree. We are absorbed in the blend of Edgeworth and in its curing—in every detail of its development.

But all our work and study has but one object—that Edgeworth may prove its worth "Delivered—Pipe."

And that's all we expect you to be interested in. aug.21, s.m.w

had been behind those opinions. And then I asked myself why I hadn't drawn him out further at the time and found out what the secret was. Had someone interrupted? What had prevented me?

And myself admitted shamefacedly that the reason had been simply that I was expressing to him my opinions on that same subject, and trying to convince him that I was right.

(As if one could be right or wrong on anything that is a matter of opinion.)

Why do we do it? For I don't think I am the only one. If I did I shouldn't bother to write about it. It's only because I think I'm like the rest of you and the rest of you are like me that I tell you these personal experiences.

Why Do We Like Old Stuff?
Why do we prefer to listen to our own voices saying things that are old stuff to us rather than to someone's else voice saying something that is new.

I suppose the answer is that human nature is so constituted that we just naturally like to hear ourselves talk.

Of course you can't change human nature. But you can modify it. And I

Bebe Daniels
in "The World's Applause"
A William deMille Production

When the breath of scandal invades persons ranking in public life, what follows? See "The World's Applause" to-night at the Majestic Theatre. The harm that newspaper publicity can do persons who are in the public eye when scandal turns its forces against them is the theme of this wonderful production.

The story deals with an actress who has a passion for publicity. She leaves nothing undone to keep herself in the public eye, and when Robert Townsend, a wealthy artist, who desires to make her his conquest, offers to paint her portrait and hang it in the French salon, she consents to the arrangement.

The portrait of Miss Daniels was painted by a noted artist of Los Angeles at a cost approximating $1,000 and on its completion it was placed in a frame and given a prominent place. As the guests invited by Townsend gather in an adjoining room in anticipation of seeing the great portrait, Mrs. Townsend (Kathryn Williams), unable to restrain her fury, slashes the portrait savagely. In attempting to prevent the vandalism, Townsend is stabbed to death by his infuriated wife, who flees.

Corinne d'Alys (Bebe Daniels), the actress, is detained by the police, and the newspapers make a great sensation of the affair, with the result that Corinne loses all her friends, except one, her partner, John Elliott (Lewis Stone). From this point onward there is a succession of thrills, which will hold spectators as by a spell.

think this is one of the respects in which an effort to modify will pay big dividends.

For really other people's minds are very interesting places if you can get the habit of exploring them.

Quite as interesting in some ways as exploring new countries.

New Country, Yet Familiar.
Children's minds are particularly interesting territory. Virgin country. Just beginning to develop. And yet country in which you can find half obliterated landmarks—those almost forgotten memories of your own childhood.

I know of no more fascinating diversion than to draw a child out and to get him to talk naturally of the things that interest him, to find out what he is thinking about and what is puzzling him.

Yet I think there are many people who never try to get into a child's mind. Sometimes they just touch it on the outside with commands and comments and silly questions, hardly listening to the answers. "Come away from that flower bed, Johnny, you'll break the cosmos down."

"Doesn't Johnny look like his father?"

"Do you like to go to school, my dear?"

Who Wouldn't Go A-Travelling.
And again they just try to pour their own minds into the child's, in the form of instruction and stories.

Who wouldn't go a-travelling in unfamiliar lands if he could afford it. Then why neglect the interesting and unfamiliar lands that you may travel in without money or without price?

Catching on Quickly.

Every woman is interested in anything that saves time, trouble and expense. It is not surprising then to find so many women eagerly purchasing the great washing powder—Pearline. For this product saves toil by making it easy and pleasant to wash clothes, to scrub floors, clean pans, dishes, glassware and anything that requires perfect cleaning. Pearline widely used and recommended and for years has been the favorite washing powder with millions of women. The grocery stores here have Pearline now.—A

Fortune Bay Service

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir.—Will you kindly give me space to say a few words in regard to the mail and freight service around Fortune Bay now that the S.S. Wren has been taken from us. Goodness knows but it was bad enough with her, considering what accommodation she had for passengers, especially women and children. Any sane man would call her nothing short of a crime and a disgrace to the twentieth century for a Government to keep her in the service when she has to carry women and children and keep them on board several days and nights at times, but at that the people of Fortune Bay seemed to be fairly well satisfied under the existing conditions.

If it is to spite the people (which we hear from different sources but can hardly credit) it shows that some narrow minded person exists with present party powers, and that we all fail to identify what our eyes are straining to see—the governing idealism of the twentieth century. If it is possible that we have no member sufficiently weighty to help us, one and all must know that Fortune Bay deserves a boat for freight and mail service equally as good as the S.S. Wren or better, and this will only cause bad feeling that time will hardly cure.

We appeal to you as gentlemen to wake up and use the people of Fortune Bay district as you would wish to be used if you were living amongst us. The tan sail jack of twenty years ago is not good enough and the people of Fortune Bay are not going to stand to see their small convenience sacrificed in the future.

We trust that the new Government Railway Commission will be broad-minded and before long send us a boat sufficient for the job, that we may realize ourselves not altogether sunk in oblivion from the rest of the world. Yours truly,
FAIR PLAY.
Bellevue, July 30.

(The decision of the Government to place the Sebastopol, which is larger and better equipped than the Wren, on Fortune Bay and to extend her route meets the requests made, and indicates that the sentiment suggested by the writer were non-existent.—Ed.)

LAKE SIDE CONCERT—The Mt. Cashel Band are holding a band concert at the Lakeside to-night, commencing at 7.15. Should the evening be fine it is anticipated that a large attendance will be present. The lady friends of Mt. Cashel will look after the gates.

A Successful Test

The up-to-date radio transmitter that has been in the process of installation at Wesley Church by Mr. J. J. Collins of the Marconi Co., was tested last evening by broad-casting the whole Sunday evening service of worship. Those who were aware of the test, and some were invalids who listened in on crystal sets, speak in glowing terms of the clearness and modulation of the set. From the first note of the prelude to the fading notes of the Vesper, every note, word of the pastor and congregational singing, were received with remarkable distinctness and strength. This new and latest designed 100 watt set, with the same kind and size of microphone and amplifier as used in the large stations in Canada, will be formally used in September when the satisfaction in transmitting that is assured will bring to the afflicted and shut-ins a brighter Sabbath.

Caplin Cove Fire

URGENT NEED FOR ASSISTANCE.
On Saturday, Messrs. Cramm and Puddeter, members for the District, motored to Caplin Cove to see for themselves the extent of the damage caused by the forest fire, and last night they returned again to town. The situation is even worse than at first thought. Thirty-two people are homeless, clothesless and foodless, and of the houses destroyed only one was partly insured. Help is urgently needed, and apart from any subscriptions that may be sent to them, the District representatives will be glad to receive contributions of bedclothes and personal clothing. To date the following money contributions have been received:—

Manuels Garden Party

The annual garden party held at Manuels yesterday was attended by a large number of people from the city most of whom went out by the Kelligrews excursion train. The grounds were gaily decorated and the different booths were well stocked with refreshments and a brisk trade prevailed throughout the evening. The side shows, wheels of fortune and tea tables were well patronized and the proceeds, it is thought will be up to expectations.

Gold Basis Urged
Great Britain for World Benefit

London, July 15. (A.P.)—"The fate of the gold standard is so much dependent upon British monetary policy, that England is simply bound to take the lead in the restoration of the world's monetary system. It is impossible for England to wait and see."

This statement was made by Professor Gustav Cassel of Stockholm University, regarded as one of the greatest authorities on world monetary conditions, in the course of a lecture to the Institute of Bankers. If the pound sterling, he asserted, were again put on its old gold basis the whole world would feel that the gold standard had regained something of its old reliability, and the doubts as to its trustworthiness would no longer stand in the way of a return to it.

Yet England, the speaker said, hesitated to take the decisive step. There was a general fear in the public mind in Europe that there was likely to be a new rise of prices in America. He contended that this doctrine must be rejected. The conclusion must be that some rise in prices in America was possible, but by no means necessary.

Professor Cassel said it was very much against the financial interests of the United States to allow the value of gold to be seriously depressed by an internal inflation, and still more by such a violent measure as the prohibition of gold imports.

"If the United States really feel gold imports a nuisance," Professor Cassel added, "the easiest and most natural means to avoid them is to do away with the highly protectionist tariff which prevents Europe from paying her debts in commodities. With free trade, America would get more of useful commodities and less of non-useful gold."

Just Folks.

By EDGAR A GUEST

WAITING FOR DESSERT.
 Old folks make me tired. They sit Talking over days gone by;
 Seems they're never going to quit
 So that I can get my pie.
 I don't understand why they
 Do not hurry up and eat
 So that I can go and play
 With the fellows in the street.

When I sit at my chair
 Mother shakes her head at me.
 Or she says: "Be quiet there,
 Patient you will have to be!"
 Then she goes on and on
 While I yawn and stretch and sigh.
 Pray the daylight will be gone
 Long before they serve the pie.

When we're company for tea
 I sit twisting in my seat.
 Wishing they would bring to me
 All we're going to have to eat.
 I could bolt my food and run.
 Mother will not let me though.
 Telling me when dinner's done
 'Twill be time enough to go.

I don't see why I should wait
 Listening to a lot of stuff
 After I have cleared my plate
 And have said I've had enough.
 Mother says the way I act
 Sometimes makes her want to cry.
 But 'til she tells me it's a fact
 They should hurry up the pie.

"One Step Enough"

Don't Waste Time Crying for the Moon; Aim at the Goal Just Ahead.

One of our great commercial magnates stated recently that he ascribed no small part of his success—the began right at the bottom of the ladder—to knowing exactly what he wanted, and concentrating the whole of his energies on the task of getting it.

He had what you may have—that quite excellent general determination to "get on"; but his speciality—if it can be put that way—was to advance by certain definite stages. And always he knew what he wanted.

In his early days as a shop assistant he knew that he "wanted" to be a manager, and duly became one.
 Then he knew that he wanted an establishment of his own—and got it.
 Then he "wanted" bigger premises—
 and got them.

A step at a time he went, and he always knew what he wanted the next step to be. He was always willing, of course, to take full advantage of "luck" or "chance," if those fickle gods chose to patronise him;
 but he left nothing to their uncertain favours. He went ahead because he always knew what he wanted.

Could you say, with no hesitation, what you want? Don't name your ultimate goal, but what your next step toward it is to be. Have you a "next step" planned out, and are you working, concentrating, and qualifying to take it?

The best illustration of knowing what you want is, perhaps, that afforded by a young man who joins the Army. His ultimate ambition is to be a sergeant-major, or, possibly, something higher. But, as a private,
 he must "want" to be a lance-corporal; as a lance-corporal he must want to be a full corporal—and so on.
 That's the way to get on! You aim and strive for something definite—and not too remote. And when you get that, you aim and strive for something higher. That's the real secret of success—striving always for a definite, attainable object just ahead, and letting ambition grow with opportunity.

Two-Legged "Trout"

Can a man be held fast in water by an ordinary trout rod? The experiment was tried at Middlesbrough Corporation Baths, when Mr. Douglas Cooper tried to swim the length of the bath and break away from the line of a trout rod, held by a friend, which was attached to his body.
 He broke the line twice, but the third time he was held by his friend.
 This incident recalls another, when Judge Greenhow, in his days as a juror on the Northern Circuit, bet that he would break salmon tackle
 while swimming in the Ouse at York.
 The salmon tackle was attached to a hand round Greenhow's forehead,
 and five anglers played him in turn.
 But he proved too much for all five,
 and won his bet.

HARNESS RACING NOTES.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 31.—The return to form of the 1923 sensational stake trotter, Peter the Brewer, featured the racing to-day. The big son of Peter the Great, making his first start, beat the 2:05 stake trotters, racing right to his record of 2:02 1/2 in winning the second heat. Baron Worthy, Tom Murphy's crack stake pacer, also gathered to himself new laurels by winning the stake for 2:11 pacers, showing his class in the second heat by taking a record of 2:02 1/2, but the high-priced Islander, making his first start for Murphy, was not so fortunate, being beaten by Anokias, although the black gelding showed the surprising form by landing a second in the second heat in 2:02 1/2. Only four started in the event for three-year-old trotters with Minio Dillon favorite. The bay filly won without being brought to a drive, taking a record of 2:07 1/2 in the second heat. Colonel Bosworth was unsteady and at times shifted into a pace.
