Mr. D. McMaster, on behalf of the nonunionists, argued that the notice of the bill had not been given in the maritime provinces; that litigation was now pending to remove certain parties from the board of management of the fund. He said that when the ministers of the Presbyterian church in Canada in connection with the church of Scotland formed the temporalities fund they drew up a document that if any ministers of that church left it they would forfeit all right to a share of it, and contended that therefore those who had left that church

THROW JONAH OVERBOARD. Sir Richard Cartwright, though not eader, is certainly one of the leaders of the reform party, and a very prominent one allowed to take the lead in tariff discussions in the house, especially on budget speech occasions. It can scarcely be said that the party has profited much by his leadership in this particular line. Referwe said the occasion should surely draw cided expression of his laws on the tariff society's secretary, delivered a lecture on of the party, and had again committed it casion being the completion of his first ten sion of tree trade for Canada. A is liberal enough to the foreigner truly, but most illiberal to our own people. As we have time and again shown in these columns, this is in effect courting political destruction. The free trade craze—the madness of seeking to force upon us a system which, however it may answer in England, is unsuitable to this country-is the bane of the reform party. In sticking so obstinately to this delusion they are like Pharach "hardening his heart;" they are blind and deaf to all the signs of the times. It appears tolerably certain that to the influence of Sir Richard in these councils this obstinacy of theirs on the trade ques tion is in a great measure due. They have also non "flash" literature generally, and allowed him to lead on this question, and apon the "policy shops," which are simply he has just vanity and self-confidence he is permitted to take. The disastrous results of giving him so much of his own way were never more apparent than now.

(Tune—Oth Folia at Home:

Sad, sad am I;
Slow drag the cheerless hours away;
Ooldy the storm sweeps by.
Hopeless and fearful of to-morrow;
Weeping sad tears;
I'm watching in my house of sorrow,
Grieving o'er vanished years.

Chorus—0, my home of joy and gladness!
Thou art lost to me;
Now darkened by distress and sadness,
Weeping, I mourn for thee.

2. Once happy were our children's voices,
Untrusted by fear;
Gone now the music that rejoices,
Famine and grief are here. Once tender were the words of greeting
When my William came;
Now fearfully my heart is teating
Scared at the once loved name. Chorus-O, my home, etc.

3. Once happy was our sunny dwelling, William was true; Now anguish in my heart is swelling Deep as the joys! knew.
He yielded to the fell temptation Friends led him on; Till reeling from his lotty station, Manhood and truth are gone.

4. One hope within my heart is glowing, One rose within my heart is glowing.
One rising star;
One strain as of a bugle blowing
Tells of a glorious war.
First came its blessed note of gladness
Floating from Maine;
Trembling i turn from thoughts of saduess
Home may be bright again.

Chorus—0, the hope, new-born and glorious,
May its promise be Crowned with the blessed lawvictorious
Giving the old home to me.

As a representative there let me say that I hope the sentiment expressed at that meeting and the course expressed at that meeting and the course of action decided upon do not represent that state of the human heart and mind known as "christianity." My reasons for this hope are drawn from the highest chris-tian authority. Christ himself—His words and deeds when He walked on earth. Etther this "Christ was the One God, or He was not." To me He was, and is the One Jehovah. I dare not therefore highly esteem the teaching and example

In the second instance given the Lord permitted a fallen woman, notoriously sinner, to express in tender deeds her re her touch nor reproved her. Yet who can accuse him of sympathy with "impurity?" Ah! but he knew-she was repentant, rejoins "Orthodoxy." Well, if so, had He led her to repentance by bounding down upon her legal vengeance. But yet more, He actually rescued the woman taken in adultery - came between her and her pharisaical persecutors. Yet these were only about to bring upon her the legal vengeance, which those who accept the Levitreal law literally must hold to be the penalty prescribed by that very law which He Himself framed. But He, our Lord Jehovah, not only abrogated it in her case but administered a scathing rebuke, whose accents of profoundest sadness can only be imagined, to the self-righteous heathens

SALE OF LOTS IN THE

Town of Sidney

One of the few stations on the main line of the Canada Pacific Railway (midway between THE TORONO WORLD. Brandon and Portage-la-Prairie) is unprecedented, over 600 having already been disposed of by private sale. These lots are too valuable to offer at public auction in competition with paper cities situated on imaginary railroads. They have a real present value, and in one year from this time should be worth three times their present price.

Although only placed on this market last week some of the purchasers have already resold at large profits and invested in more. THE TITLES ARE ABSOLUTELY GUARANTEED OR NO SALE.

THE FIRST PICNIC.

Constable Dan McQuorky and his sister Constable Dan McQuorky and his sister Tooley along with Mrs. Dougholty and Inspector Tullawney, procured a skiff from one of the boat houses and lowed over to the Island in the bright sunshine of yesterday. The water was pleasant and the island dry walking. Mrs. Dougholty was bound to have the first picnic of the season and she succeeded admirably. Constable Don was very attentive and after they had Dan was very attentive and after they had strolled up and down the island, tried to peep through the blinds of the deserted ottage, or strolls on the sands, he lighted a fire in the vicinity of the lighthouse and the widow made them tea and served a lobster salad. The inspector was charmed with the spread and the widow. The happy poat load returned at 4 o'clock, and the picnic and the widow ran so much in Constable Dan's head that when he went on duty at 6 o'clock in the evening he threatened to arrest a street letter box for refusing to pay cab fare and proceeded "to take the name" of a peanut man for breach (Winnipeg Free Press, Feb. 27.) There has been a Wagner palace car ly ing at the C. P. R. depot for three or four days. Three gentlemen from the east came here in it, and in view of the difficulty of obtaining suitable hotel accommodations, asked for and secured permission to sleep substantial piece of work.

Pat Houlgrave, an employee of Parsons & Grant, was driving a drove of cattle on Front street y esterday, and when near John street the cattle became frightened by the whistle of a passing engine. Houlgrave tried to keep them together, but in doing so was knocked down and his left arm was broken above the elbow. He also received some cuts about the head.

While Tice was thus held, he managed to first heavy into Cage, who want down fire the gun into Gage, who went down, saying, "—you, I will kill you," and expired directly. The charge entered the chest, making a hole nearly three inches in diameter, cutting one of the cavities of the diameter, cutting one of the cavities of the heart and ranging through the right lung, not passing out of the body. Tice at once proceeded to Rochester to give himself up, proceeded to Kochester to give nimeer up, and was met by officers in the suburts of the village, and soon after taken to Pontiac. The jury brought in a verdict that the shooting was done in self-defense. Tice is an industrious man and of good habits.
