The Dominion Day holiday passed off very quietly in Watford. The intense heat (102 in the shade) put a damper on the enjoyment of the day. The Hot Spell.

During the past week Ontario has experienced the hottest spell on record, the mercury on Monday registering 103 at the Meteortogical station in Toronto and 101/2 at London. The intense heat commenced on Saturday, July 1st and increased each day until Monday night, when the wind changed to the north and relief came in a slight breeze about 10.30. Fortunately there were comparatively few relief came in a slight breeze about 10.30. Fortunately there were comparatively few prostrations from the heat, although everyone suffered more or less. On Sunday the churches were practically empty and in many places the services were called off for the day. In some places private thermometers registered as high as 109 degrees, and people who have never experienced a temperature of over 100 have no conception of the oppressive feeling that came over all on Sunday and Monday.

Daughters of the Empire.

The July meeting of the daughters of the Empire was held at the home of Mrs. Farris. There were eleven members and two visitors present. After the singing of the Maple Leaf by the Chapter Miss Kate Harris read a splendid paper on "Dominion Day." An instrumental by Mrs. Lorne Williams was very much enjoyed. A most interesting letter from Mrs. Wm. Thompson has been received and read, which the Chapter appreciated very much. After luncheon was served a pleasant meeting closed by singing the National Anthem. The next meeting a pleasant meeting closed by singing the National Anthem. The next meeting was appointed for the home of Mrs. Newell unless further notice be given. Subject "Should Equal Franchise be Granted to Canadian Women."

The Unlucky "13" Gets a Setback.

Miss Caroline B. Barnes, daughter of the late S. D. Barnes, of Watford, who has a public stenography office and does an extensive business in that line in Vancouver, engaged in an advertising and subscription contest for the Vancouver Sunset last winter, and won the principal prizes. The following clipping from that paper of Jan. 28th, shows that some of the old superstitions were knocked higher than a kite in her case. The Sunset says:

says:
"Fridays and thirteens, which are the terrors of the superstitious, which are the severe setback in the canvas of Miss Barnes, which proved so successful. Miss Barnes not only started the contest Miss Barnes not only started the contest on Friday, October 28, but turned in her last subscription on Friday, January 203 These subscriptions for the final day, strange to say, totalled thirteen. During the time of the contest she took two trips, one to the Kootenay and one to the Okanagan, and each trip lasted exactly thirteen days. Still another remarkable feature was the fact that Friday, January 13, was one of her most successful days. The only thing that Miss Barnes regrets is the fact that the contest did not continue until to-day, when she would have

If the present tendency towards extravagance and independence continues where will it all end, and how will it end? Those are questions that one is apt to ask as we notice the elegance of the present age, the endeavor to outdo one another, the absence of all regard for economy, and the increasing tendency towards independence on the part of the rising generation.

A minister who stands high in one of the leading denominations, and in all denominations, was heard to say recently that he did not wish to be introduced to any lady who chews gum, that he thought it would be compromising his dignity, and that really after all, she was not worth knowing, because her sense-less harmful habit betrayed her lack of good judgment and culture, that are two of women's crowning jewels.

If women knew how much, on account of this habit, they fall on first acquaintance, in the estimation of those whose good opinions they should ever seek to command, they would assume a virtue, at least, even though they did not possess it.

HEAT AND COLD.

The Range Between Liquid Helium and the Arc Light.

Have you never wondered on some terribly cold winter day, when the falling temperature had long since passed the zero mark, if it could possibly be any colder anywhere, and then, when summer comes and the mercury is apparently never going to stop climbing, you cannot imagine how anything could be hotter or more uncom-

Fortunately we live in a world where the temperature seldom exceeds the limits of, say, 50 degrees below zero Fahrenheit and 110 above. This seems a tremendous range of temperature, but it is only trivial compared with that found on every side in nature or in the laboratory. Why, this 160 degrees is less than the range through which a dish of cold water is heated when you place it on the stove

A moment's thought of some of these higher and lower temperatures is well worth while. Liquid air at 312 degrees below zero is cold, but liquid hydrogen at 421 is still colder, while liquid helium at 451 below zero is the coldest thing we know of. Going the other way, lead melts at 620 degrees above zero Fahrenheit, while gold remains solid up to a bright red heat, or 1,946 degrees. A good furnace fire may get several hundred degrees hotter than this. Platinum, one of the most refractory of metals, melts only when intensely white hot at a temperature of 3,230, but even this is 100 degrees or so less than the tempera-ture of the flame on your gas stove.

The hotter a body is the more light it gives, so the tungsten lamp filament, which runs at about 4,500 degrees, gives a brighter and whiter light than the carbon filament at 3,500. The electric arc gives still more light for a given amount of current consumed and generates a temperature not far from 7,200 degrees Fahrenheit. This is the highest temperature we can produce artificially. No metal known can stand this terrible heat, and even most refractory substances, such as carbon, are volatilized by it. But, while the arc is indeed hot, it is by no means the highest temperature to be found in nature. There are the best of reasons for believing that the temperature of the sun is some 12,000 degrees or more, and it is probable that some of the stars are still hotter. This great heat explains the almost unbelievable fact, found by Langley, that sunlight is 5,000 times brighter than the dazzling stream of molten metal from a Bessemer converter .-New York Tribune.

Do Nor DELAY .- Do not let a cold or cough fasten upon you as it will if ne-glected. Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil will break up a cold and cure a cough, and should be resorted to at once when the oot know whether his father can grant his wish or not.

The hum of the mower is now heard in all sides. A pleasant sound.

Doctors Condemn Oily Liniments

The Public are Warned to Be Careful of These Strong-Smelling Oily Liniments Containing Harmful Acids, Ammonia, Etc.

Many people have clung to the old-fashioned idea that a thick, greasy liniment is the best kind. Doctors say not—and they know.

Recently a number of these white, oily liniments were analyzed, and they were found to contain an enormously high percentage of harmful acids, and such irritating chemicals as ammonia, etc. For the moment they may cause a warm sensation when first applied, but their continued use never cures rheumatism, and only deteriorates the skin, sets up inflammation and causes endless trouble.

When a doctor warns you to quit using a white, oily liniment—do so. He knows that a thick liniment can't penetrate, can't sink through the pores and reach the seat of the pain.

When asked his opinion a few days ago, Dr. Roberts stated that he considered a strong, penetrating, pain-subtuding lightness witerflines. Werelline' to

When asked his opinion a few days ago, Dr. Roberts stated that he considered a strong, penetrating, pain-subduing limiment such as "Nerviline," to be superior to any of the white, ammonia liniments. In his twenty-five years of practice he had witnessed cases of rheumatism, sclatica, and lumbago that simply would not respond to ordinary treatment—but Nerviline cured them. The same physician also spoke of the great advantages of keeping a preparation like Nerviline in the house always, because of cramps, diarrhoea, stomach disorders, earache, toothache, head-ache, and such minor aliments. Nerviline is a first-class cure. There is scarcely an ache or a pain, internal of external, that Nerviline won't cure. In thousands of homes no other pain-relieving medicine is used. Fifty years' continued success and the endorsement of the profession are proof that Nerviline is the liniment for the home.

HARRIS & CO. PROPRIETORS WATFORD, JULY 7, 1911.

To Drain or Not to Drain.

Prof. W. H. Day has recently been making some calculations on the financial side of drainage. A farmer has 50 acres that is rather wet but although not drained it gives say $15 per acre. The value of the crop for five years in succession, together with compound interest, would be $4144 at the end of the five years. If however he were to drain 10 acres of the land each year, and if the drainage increased the value of the crop by $10 per acre (which is a low estimate) then the value of the crop for five years, with interest, would be $5748. After paying for the drainage, with interest, he would have left $4124, the same within $20 as if he had not drained, but if he drained the whole 50 acres at once then the five crops, with interest, would be worth $6908. This after paying for the drainage would leave him a balance of $5121, which is $977 more than if he had not drained. During the next five-year period drainage by the installment plan would net him $1604 more than not to drain at all, and the complete drainage would enrich him by $2764 more than no drainage.

The price allowed for drainage in the calculation was $28 per acre, and the increase in the crop was placed at $10 per acre. As a mat-ter of fact the increase is usually worth much more than this, so that the computation is somewhat unfair to drainage, however, it is better to err on the safe side.

But the increase in crop is not the only return from drainage. The value of the land is largely increased. This is illustrated in the case of a certain farm in Lincoln County. It was bought for $6000 about two years ago. Last year $2000 was spent in draining it, and it has since been sold for $12000.

The Department of Physics, O. A. C., over which Prof. Day has charge, has a large staff engaged in making drainage surveys for farmers wishing to drain, but they are kept busy. Those who wish surveys made this fall should apply at once, as there are nearly as many applications in as can be attended to this season.

The terms on which surveys are made are explained in Bulletins 174 and 165, which may be had free from the Department of Physics, Toronto.

Test Your Coward Cows.

Records of dairy cows are always of interest, not only to the owner who is anxious to increase the yield, but also to neighboring dairymen, who desire some standard whereby to check the production of their cows. In April the yield of 10 cows near Birnam, Ont., was 383 pounds of butter fat; but from records to hand from the cow testing association near Bobcaygeon, Ont., it is seen that it took 21 cows, more than twice as many, to produce just than twice as many, to produce just as much butter fat. Dr. Hamilton's Pills Cured

"I think it should be the duty of the schools to teach children how to keep well," writes Miss Nannie E. Naydon, a well-known and highly esteemed resident of Bristol. "Ignorance of the laws of health and the use of improper remedies destroyed my vigor, and led me to the verge of invalidism. I was as a girl ruddy and strong. Nothing seemed to affect me until I was about thirty. Then gas began to form in the stomach. I suffered with bloating and a general failure in strength set in. If I went upstairs my breath hurt. My system was very irregular, and until I grew pretty bad I didn't pay much heed to my condition. Then I got blue, worried all the time, wakened in the night, and couldn't get to sleep again. None of the medicine I took helped me. One day I was reading of a very interesting case-like mine cured by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I took the same treatment. It was just right—didn't physic me to death, but took hold of the weak, sick parts of my system, and set things right. It seems as if Dr. Hamilton's Pills have made me young again, and all my color, spirits, vigor, and health of former days have returned to stay."

Every girl and woman should use Dr. Hamilton's Pills regularly. They help a woman in many ways. Beware of the dealer who asks you to take an inferior pill on which his profit is larger than on Dr. Hamilton's. Catarrhal Deafness

Successfully Treated By

Deafness is not so common as blind-

Deafness is not so common as blindness, yet thousands are more o less afflicted by it, and their comfort seriously interfered with.

Catarrhal deafness manifests itself but slowly, yet it must be acknowledged that the great majority of those who become totally deaf might have averted this unfortunate condition if they had treated the catarrhal inflammation at its beginning.

The only remedy that can be safely employed for all forms of catarrhal deafness is Catarrhozone. You simply charge the air you breathe with this healing, soothing agent, and by forcing it gently through the ears destroy the germ life which keeps up the inflammation, and at the same time by the soothing, healing action it heals the inflamed surfaces of the middle ear.

CATARRHOZONE, to those who are just a little deaf, and are growing increasingly deaf, is an agent capable of affording the utmost satisfaction, and its use is attended without danger, and its use is attended without danger, and affording the utmost satisfaction, and its use is attended without danger, and as the treatment can be carried on at home no person threatened with the affliction of deafness should postpone one moment in beginning its use.

From every part of the Dominion glowing accounts of the beneficial action it exerts upon catarrhal conditions of the middle ear have been sent in, and you will be resorting to the only method of cure, and the simplest method too, if you try Catarrhozone. Dealers everywhere sell it, 25c, 50c, and $1.00. $\Begin{array}{c} \Begin{array}{c} \Begin{

An Old Fashioned Story of the Western Plains

By John Thorndike Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

There are oceans of land just as there are oceans of water. At least beyond the Mississippi river there are regions which, viewed from the tops of the mountains looking eastward, have the appearance of great seas. Descending, one finds a vast level plain through which run few streams, and those that exist, having no foliage on their banks, are without beauty. The ground, which is often rolling, is usually covered with no flora except cactus, whose spears are like bayonets. One afternoon a young man wearing trousers of buffalo skin, a woolen shirt and a sombrero sat on his horse, shading his eyes from the sun with his hand, peering at something in the distance. He was on the crest of one of the land rollers and managed to make out, a couple of miles away, the white op of a plains schooner. of a plains schooner. A little puff of smoke appeared near it, followed by a faint crack, then another and another at intervals. He heard responsive cracks, but the land lay so that he could not see from whom they came. But he knew that he was in the country of the Apache, and persons firing from behind a wagon meant white men defending themselves from the most savage tribe of Indians. The picture told him more than this. One wagon did not indicate many whites, whereas there were plenty of Indians about. Again, a Medicine Taken Internally Cannot Cure Eczema. It is Caused by Germs.

Eczema cannot be overcome by ordinary treatment and the old-fashioned way of dosing the system with drugs. Eczema is caused by a parasitic germ that bores into the skin. It is generally a contagious disthe skin. It is generally a contagious dis-case. Until the parasite is completely destroyed and removed, eczema cannot be cured. Fully one-third of skin diseases are in the form of eczema.

We so thoroughly believe that Rexall Eczema Ointment will overcome eczema and allied skin ailments, that we unhesitatingly promise to promptly return the tatingly promise to promptly return the money paid us for it should it in any way be unsatisfactory to the user.

Because of its remarkable cleansing, antiseptic, germicidal, soothing and healing influence, Rexall Eczema Ointment has a very pronounced value in the treat-ment of skin diseases, especially where the form of ailment is of the chronic, aggravating sort. We highly recommend it for the dry scaly form or the weeping type, where there is a constant flow of ill-smelling excretion.

Rexall Eczema Ointment is very prompt in relieving pimples, blotches, skin discolorations, ringworm, acne, nettle rash, tetter, hives, ulcers, insect bites, and for tetter, fives, uicers, insect bites, and for healing sores and wounds. It is a pleasant smelling, grayish-white ointment, and is very cleanly for use. Two sizes, 50c. and $100. Sold only at our store—The Rexall

Had he been especially interested in his own wel fare he would have beaten a retreat. for the picture that he could see, taken with what he could not see, told him that the travelers' bones would soon be whitening on the plain and if he should go to their assistance his own bones would whiten with them. But, in the first place, Ruckers put no great value on his own life, and, in the second, he was not the man to run away from such a responsibility. He was like a rudderless boat tossed about upon the waters. Plains life is not conducive to homemaking, especially when there is little to do except punch cows, and there are few women to tame the men and make them fit for homes. Indeed, the prospect of a fight, even in a losing cause, was not unwelcome to Ruckers. Quickly descending into the hollow between two rollers, he rode with all haste toward the wagon till he knew by the loud cracking of rifles that those firing were near by on the other side of one of the rollers. Dismounting, he ascended the slope, crawling as he neared the summit, and, lying flat, he surveyed the scene on the other side through cacti.

A family consisting of father, mother, several boys ranging from twelve to eighteen years old and a girl of twenty were using the wagon as a rampart by which to protect themselves against three or four times their number of Indians, who were approaching from comparatively level ground, the redskins being widely scattered with a view to preventing their enemies concentrating their fire and that they might take the party on the flanks as

That the whites had sufficient arms was evident from the fact that every one of them, including the two women held a breechloading rifle, a comparatively new gun in those days. He who was evidently the father of the famfly was giving his little army orders as to the direction of their fire so that it would be properly distributed. They were dong their best to pick off the redskins, but the latter were so wary in exposing themselves that it was difficult to hit them. Ruckers returned to his horse, unhooked his rifle and, removing all the ammunition he had in his saddlebags, placed it in his hat. Besides this ammunition, his belt was ful! of cartridges. Taking his load up to the crest, he shoved the muzzle of his gun out between the cactus and was ready to commence operations.

Meanwhile the Indians had changed their tactics. They were concentrating on their center preparatory to charging the wagon. It was plain to the whites that they were lost. In a quick dash of the Indians some of them might be killed or disabled, but there would be plenty left to toma-hawk their enemies. The father's voice trembled as he said: "Let us die hard."

But at that moment a surprise occurred to both whites and redskins. The former heard a crack behind them, and the latter saw a puff of smoke on the crest. One of the Indians fell dead. Ruckers instead of firing again from the same spot scrambled to a point a few yards to his right and from there sent another bul-

Without waiting to see what dam age he had done he moved and fired The Indians paused in their advance. Ruckers had produced already the impression that there were at least several persons on the crest, and since he kept up a fire from different points it was impossible for the savages to tell how many there were in this re-en-

Equally interested in Ruckers were the party directly beneath him. They were casting quick glances over their shoulders, hoping to see a party of armed whites come over the crest to their assistance. But when Huckers called to them to keep up their fire, that he was alone, there was disappointment. But there was hope. The father, seeing the advantage of Ruckers' strategy, encouraged his family, at the same time admonishing them not to fire except at an especial redskin.

But by this time the Indians had betaken themselves behind a slight rise in the ground, where they remained out of sight. They had evidently withdrawn for consultation or with view to getting the strength of their new enemy. Ruckers and the whites below also ceased to fire since they could do no damage. Ruckers called to their commander, suggesting that it might be well to direct one of the party to crawl through the cactus to the crest; that by firing from different points at the same time the two above might further make it appear that there were not more than one person

It appeared to the father that who ever succeeded in separating himself from the party might have a better chance for his life, and, desiring to give this advantage to his daughter he directed her to do as Ruckers had suggested. The redskins detected her and sent a shot at her which raised the dust only a foot from her, but she succeeded in her attempt.

When Ruckers saw an attractive girl who had come to fight with him for her life and the lives of all concerned new resolve came to him that they should win. There was an eager light in the girl's eye as she asked what she should do. Ruckers, who since she had been fired at in joining him had lost confidence in his ruse, told her to lie flat beside him and wait for orders.

The Indians appeared again, scatterng at first in order to distract the whites, then suddenly making on converging lines for the wagon. Ruckers called to those behind it to aim at the savages nearest the center, told the girl beside him to fire at those on the Indians' right, while he would cover the left and any such individuals as he thought it an advantage to put out of the fight.

This dividing up the enemy between them proved to be very effective. The savages had not covered half the dis tance between their starting point and the wagon when a dozen of their warriors had been dropped. They hesitated, broke and scurried for cover.

There was a shout, and a dozen cowboys came galloping toward the wagon.

Ruckers turned and looked at the girl beside him; she turned and looked at him. Now all were safe Vielding to an impulse that seized upon both at once, they threw their arms about each other's neck. and the man covered the girl's face with kisses.

Ruckers had not been on the crest an hour, but he had been there long enough to save the lives of the family. ages were about to make a charge that would have been successful. He had stood them off just long enough for the cowboys to come in and make the safety of their intended victims certain

Night was coming on, and the cowboys threw up an earthwork in a circle about the wagon and the stock, and pickets were put out for the night, but morning dawned without an attack, and not a redskin was to be seen. Then under a sufficient guard the family who had so narrowly escaped death moved on.

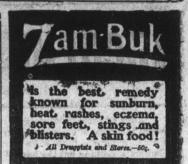

The adventure brought a great change to Jim Ruckers. For him and for the girl he loved it stood in lieu of a long courtship. When Jim told her he wished her to be his wife she could not well say him nay, for had it not been for him she would not have had a life to give any one. The family stopped at a settlement, entered land and built a home. Jim stopped, too, and never moved on. He had found an anchor, and the spot where its fluke entered the soil is now the center of a prosperous farm. He is much interested in the crops he raised, but one crop he has raised to beat all the resteight children, now mostly grown.

All this happened years ago, when the buffalo still roamed on the plains and the redskin was a terror to emigrants and settlers. Yet it was not so long ago after all, since it is within the memory of middle aged men.

Casts a Shadow Over the Lives of Thousands of Women and Growing Girls.

"Not enough blood" is the simple

meaning of the term anaemia, though it should scarcely need explaining, for, unfortunately, anaemia is one of the greatest evils in this country, afflicting greatest evils in this country, afflicting women of all ages, including young girls. The signs of bloodlessness are plain enough—pallid lips and cheeks, and aching back, frequent headaches, with breathlessness, heart palpitation and great weakness. The only effective treatment is to strengthen and build up the blood, and it is just by this power of making new, rich blood that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured anaemia in more cases than it is possible to place on record, Among the host cured of this trouble by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is Miss C. N. Roberge, of Sorel, Que., who had been in poor health for several years. Miss Roberge says: "I believe that if I had been in poor health for several years.

Miss Roberge says: "I believe that if I had not taken Dr. Williams' Pink Pills my illness would have proved fatal. The trouble came on so gradually that I can scarcely tell the point at which it did begin. The first noticeable symptom was loss of color and a feeling of lassifude. Then I began to lose my appetite. was loss of color and a feeling of lassitude. Then I began to lose my appetite, had frequent headaches, and spells of dizziness, and became unable to do any housework without being completely exhausted. Finally my trouble became aggravated by a persistent cough. I took several kinds of medicine, but did not get any relief. At last I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and decided to do so. After I had taken several boxes there was a noticeable improvement in my condition and I continued using the Pills until I had taken nine boxes. The result in my opinion was marvellous. My appetite returned, my nerves were strengthened, my weight increased, headaches disappeared, and it am enjoying the best health of my life. In gratitude for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done tor me I give this statement in the hope that it may bring new ment in the hope that it may bring new health to some other sufferer." Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure all those troubles due to poor blood, such as anaemia, indigestion, rheumatism, neuralgia, St. Vitus dance, partial paralysis, and the troubles which attack girls budding into womanhood and women of mature years. Sold by medicine dealers everywhere, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

OBITUARY.

It is our sad duty to chronicle the death of Catherine E. Trowbridge, wife of Mr. Duncan Campbell, which took place at Duncan Campbell, which took place at their home, north town line, Warwick, early Friday morning, June 30th, in her fifty fifth year. For some time she had not been feeling well, but was able to be about until about seven weeks ago since which time she was more or less confined to bed, not until five weeks ago however was her illness thought to be of a serious patters. For some time, there was a constitue. nature. For some time there was a con-siderable improvement but last week more serious symptoms developed very more serious symptoms developed very rapidly with much pain and suffering, all of which she bore with true Christian fortitude until early Friday morning when she passed peacetully away. The deceased was born on the 6th line of Marwick, being the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Trowbridge, formerly of Warwick. In 1877 she was married to her now bereaved husband. They settled on the farm which is their present home. Of their nnion six children were born, two daughters, Misses Ellen and lean at home and four sons Dr. A. W. of born, two daughters, Misses Ellen and Jean at home and four sons Dr. A. W., of Possen, Mich., Angus, residing near home, and Archie and Robert Duncan at home. She was of a very kind, Joving disposition, ever willing to give a helping hand in time of need, not seeking great things for herself but rather chose that good part which shall not be taken away. Besides her own family, her mother, two sisters, Mrs. Robert Taylor and Mrs. Richard Lucas, and two brothers, Messrs. Albert E. and Frank H. Trowbridge, all of Brooke, survive her. The service was conducted at the home by the Rev. C. M. Mitchell, a former pastor of the Baptist conducted at the home by the Rev. C. M. Mitchell, a former pastor of the Baptist Church. He was assisted by Captain Gould of the Salvation Army. The remains were laid to rest at Beechwood Cemetery the pall bearers being one brother and five brothers-in-law, Messrs. A. E. Trowbridge, Robert Taylor, Richard Lucas, and Malcolm, Colin and Peter Campbell. Campbell.—Com.

The Rev. Mr. Haines, of the Anglican church, Inwood, preached to the Orange-men of Bothwell and visiting brethren effects of the hot westher in a quieter demand for butcher cattle. Local butchers report a reduction in the general consumption of meat, though not to such an extent as might have been expected. Ordinarily the housekeeper at this season goes in more for fruit and less meat. Owing, however, to the present comparative scarcity and high prices of berries and fruits generally the family butcher is still looked for the staple supplies. While trade in the cattle market bears a hot weather aspect and a little quieter demand generally prices are holding steady at yesterday's quotations.
