The copy filmed here has been reproduced thanks to the generosity of:

National Library of Canada

The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol ➡ (meaning "CONTINUED"), or the symbol ▼ (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

L'exemplaire filmé fut reproduit grâce à la générosité de:

Bibliothèque nationale du Canada

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la netteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

Les exemplaires originaux dont la couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier plat et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soit par le second plat, selon le cas. Tous les autres exemplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une telle empreinte.

Un des symboles suivants apparaîtra sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, selon le cas: le symbole ➡ signifie "A SUIVRE", le symbole ▼ signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents. Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un seul cliché, il est filmé à partir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite, et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'images nécessaire. Les diagrammes suivants illustrent la méthode.

THE Equitable Life Assurance Society

OF THE UNITED STATES.

R. W. GALE, General Agent for the Maritime Provinces, 148 HOLLIS STREET, HALIFAX.

THE EQUITABLE conducts its business on the purely mutual, all cash plan.

New Business in 1868 - - - $52,000,000

CASH Assets, June 1st, 1869 - - - 10,000,000

All invested in solid securities.

No Premium Notes among these Assets.

Its new business in 1868 exceeded that of ANY "Stock," "Note," or "Mixed" Company, by upwards of Twelve Millions.

Its policies average the largest in amount of any American Company, shewing that capitalists seek this Company for investments.

The per-centage of its "Expenditures" (death claims and expenses), exclusive of profit-dividends to policy-holders, on "total Cash premium receipts" (according to the last five reports of Superintendent Barnes), is less than that of the other principal Companies.

This Company has made the deposit with the Dominion Government according to law, for the security of Policy holders.

All the profits of the Society are annually divided among the Policy-holders on the Contribution plan.

LIFE ASSURANCE AS AN INVESTMENT.

THE EQUITABLE has recently introduced a new feature in Life Assurance, called "TONTINE DIVIDEND" Policies, upon which is estimated the dividends will be three or four times greater than has ever been declared by any American Company.

Local Board of Reference for Halifax:

OVER THREE HUNDRED POLICY HOLDERS.

Prefatory Notice.

THE undersigned having made arrangements with the heirs of the late CLEMENT H. BELCHER, Esq., for the Good Will of the Almanack so long published by him, and which under his management had attained so great a share of public favour,—beg leave to solicit a continuance of the support accorded to the late Proprietor.

They will use every effort to sustain the well-earned reputation of the Almanack, and to make it all that it has heretofore been as regards the correctness and extent of the information afforded. They hope by strict attention to the wants of the public to add to its pages from year to year such new features, and such fuller information as may be considered desirable, and as the patronage afforded may warrant. No pains will be spared to ensure accuracy.

In this, our first issue, some difference of arrangement has been made, and the particulars under some departments are not so full as we could desire. The deficiencies we hope to supply in future issues.

We tender our thanks to our Advertising Friends for their patronage, and solicit a continuance and extension of the same. The large issue, Fifteen Thousand Copies, and its being almost daily consulted in the households and offices of so many of the people in all sections of the Province, render it a vehicle for advertising not likely to be excelled by any other available agency.

RESERVED FUND	£707,000 "

Invested on Mortgage of Real Property, Government and other securities. To be able to pay all claims, meet all expenses, and at the same time create such a Fund, shows the prosperous nature of the business, and the secure basis on which the Society rests.

90 PER CENT. of the profits are divided amongst the policy holders.

£465,000 Sterling have been paid to the representatives of deceased assureds, the value of which to the WIDOW and FATHERLESS can never be told.

WHAT IS LIFE ASSURANCE P

It is the exercise of prudence. It secures independence and domestic happiness to the Widow and Orphan. It affords to persons in every class and in every situation in life, the means to avoid much future misery in their families, and to render them independent of public or private charity.

Admitting the uncertainty of human life, it behoves every head of a family, as well as all who have others dependent on them for support, to consider the position which his family or dependents would be placed in, supposing he were to DIE to-morrow. The great advantage offered by LIFE ASSURANCE, is the certainty of the family of the deceased Assurer receiving a stated amount, even if his death were to take place the moment after he had paid the first premium. Supposing a person insures his life for £500. he is placed in precisely the same position as if he had deposited £500 in the Bank, for the purposes of his family.

The Directors of the "STAR" have decided to appoint AGENTS throughout the Provinces of NOVA SCOTIA and NEW BRUNSWICK, who will receive a liberal remuneration for all business done by them. Applications, accompanied by testimonials, to be made to the GENERAL SUPERINTENDENT of the NOVA SCOTIA BRANCH, who will be happy to afford every information.

The column of the moon's southing gives the time of high water at Parrsboro, Cornwallis, Horton, Hantsport, Windsor, Newport, Truro, &c.

KEEP your buildings from the ground, for you will thus save many dollars in repairs. Have a good stone wall under all your out-building for this makes them many degrees warmer. Leave holes in the wall for ventilation, that can be closed in winter, for thus you will preserve the sills and sleepers from decay. Buy good tools, for they are the cheapest, keep them dry and clean, for then they will last one-third longer. Have good stock, for this is the only kind that pays. Feed them well, so that then they will feed you. Bed them well with straw, for the extra manure you thus gain, will grow twice as much straw for next winter, &c. Take an Agricultural Paper, and one of Belcher's Farmer's Almanack, for they will be found very useful. Read them too, for the

They will be more useful. Practice what you think is right, after reading, then it proves most useful. He that is constantly looking at the course of the political breezes, and scanning the clouds of Confederation, cannot attend to his farming. Dismiss politics and go actively to work. Every farmer would attend faithfully to his calling and raise abundant crops, we shall be sure to have a prosperous country.

A LARGE share of the profit of sheep husbandry arises from the increase in lambs. Their number, hardiness and value, depends largely on the condition of the ewes in winter and spring. Sheep in good condition produce better lambs and take better care of them, so that they use a much larger number than those in poor condition. Sheep do best in well ventilated barns, or half-open sheds, and with the run of the yard, for all yards in the mild or clear weather of winter. Provision must be made for feeding racks for hay and grain under shelter, as sheep have great aversion to water, soaked grain, or fodder; the drier the food, the better it suits them. They prefer to take their water separate, and should be brought where they can have convenient access to it, if not at all times, yet as often as twice a day at least. When supplied in the yards they will drink frequently. To winter sheep successfully it must be done under the eye of the owner, or one equally interested, and he must give due attention to the daily wants of the flock. In mild, damp weather, sheep consume sparingly, compared with cold, dry weather, and the supply needs to be proportioned to their wants, or great waste will be made.

PREPARATIONS for the labours of the coming seed time can now be largely made,—fences, tools, seeds, and no less important plans for the work can be got in readiness in this time of comparative leisure.

any are engaged off their farms at this season, in work, perhaps, finding in more ready money, but particularly of far less advantage to themselves, as farmers. Others idle away the winter to grumble at bad crops and the hurry of farm life. With the new year there is room for a "turn over a new leaf" in the volume of progress. The farmer anxious for improvement, is never at a loss for employment upon his farm in winter. There are a thousand things he can do to enhance the comfort and thrift of his stock, and to increase the amount and value of manure. And it should not be forgotten that the richer and better stock are fed, the more rapid and profitable their growth, and the greater value their manure.

THE fertilizing properties of bones have long been placed beyond a question; the great difficulty has been to make their fertilizing properties easily and cheaply available. Bones are used in three ways:—1st, cracking them with a sledge hammer into small fragments; 2nd, by grinding into powder; and 3rd, by dissolving in sulphuric acid. Bones contain other valuable enriching substances besides the phosphates which is dissipated by burning, but is wholly saved by dissolving in sulphuric acid. Bone dust or burnt bones may be sowed over the surface, harrowed or ploughed in; but the paste made by dissolving should be made dry by mixing with peat, sawdust or ashes, before spreading. The more finely it is made, the more speedy its action, making a most efficient and durable dressing for the land, in durability exceeding any other material in use. Bones decomposed in compost heaps of alternate layers of good soil, (one-half an ox-cart load to a ton of ground bone,) with sprinkling of salt, will always be the cheapest form of phosphate.

The only bone mill we know of, is that of Mr. Stanford's, Bedfordshire.

sin. After the bones are ground they are sifted and assorted into different sizes, some being as fine as meal.

How few persons know the value of raw hide. It seems strange to them sell all their skins for a very small sum. Take a strip of well-them raw hide an inch wide, and a horse can hardly break it by pulling it,—two of them he cannot break any way. Cut into narrow strips, and shave the hair off with a sharp knife, to use for bag strings; the strings will outlast two sets of bags. Farmers know how annoying it is to mend bags and have them returned minus the strings. It will outlast iron (common) in any shape; and is stronger. It is good to put and a broken thill—better than iron. Two sets of raw hide halters will last a man's lifetime,—if he don't live too long. In some places they use raw hide log-chains to work cattle with, cut into narrow strips and twisted together hawser fashion. It is good to tie in for a broken link in a trace chain. It can be tanned so it will be soft and pliable like harness leather. The only trouble is it will last too long. For whips, cut in strings about one inch wide at the top, and about eight ten feet long, running to a point, with a cracker eight inches long; the crack of it may be heard as far as you can an Enfield rifle.

Much is lost by the imperfect, thin, and uneven seeding of meadow. Bare spots and thin grass, amounting, as they very often do, to one fourth of the whole surface, would make a total loss of five acres every twenty acre meadow. Sometimes the loss amounts to much more. The importance of thick and even seeding is not sufficiently appreciated. Thin or bare patches in existing meadows may be covered with grass running over the meadow with a fine-tooth harrow the first day after surface is dry, then sowing a mixture of clover and timothy, and sowing the seed in. If the meadow has been top dressed with fine manure in autumn or winter, the harrowing will mix it with the surface, assist the germination of the seed, as well as its subsequent growth. Meadows which were top dressed with coarse manure in autumn or winter, which was more or less spread in lumps, should be harrowed as early as possible, so as to break these lumps and spread the whole uniformly. Cattle droppings should be finely broken up and scattered over the surface, as soon as the frost will admit its being done. It is scarcely necessary to mention that no good farmer ever allows either his meadows or pastures to be touched by a hoof early in spring, while the ground is soft.

The formation of a seed-bed may be said to be the chief object of harrowing, as this indeed includes most of the inducements to the use of this implement of tillage. A seed-bed of clean, mellow, fresh turn earth, is a pre-requisite to the sowing or planting of all crops. The loosening and pulverization of the soil is the first great object of the operation of ploughing; another is the complete mixture of the parts of which the soil is composed, and to bring up the under soil to the surface; the destruction of weeds is another object of the use of the plough; and burying the manure is the last object. Ploughing is therefore necessary, and the more perfectly it loosens and pulverizes the soil, the more equal will it be penetrated, and the more numerous will be the roots put out until the whole soil is filled with their hair-like fibres. To expose the soil to the action of the atmosphere has long been the practice of farmers, many advantages which propagate; and those produced by the seeds near or to this end, clouds must be broken in addition. EVERY farmer should be accustomed to the heavy work, only half-a-day accustomed to it, &c. A little ers and reduced condition. The harness should be examined frequently to see that it fits well and to prevent chafing. It will be observed when horses are ploughing the traces draw downward, and when attached to a waggon, horizontally; the back straps should therefore be lengthened a little when they are removed from the waggon to the plough. Rainy days should be devoted to clearing out all the rubbish from eaves and see and have them kept clean and well purified. Examine and repair tools, and have them all in perfect order for use when required. Grease waggons and carts, oil harness, brush up stables, examine and render perfectly clean all seed for sowing and planting.

Now, farmers, is the time to look after your mowing machines, rakes, hand rakes, forks, &c. See that they are all in proper order.

time has come and harvest will soon be here. Take your mowing machine into your workshop the first leisure or rainy day, and overhaul thoroughly. By putting your machine in good order before haying commences, you are ready to commence haying one or two days before your neighbour,—who leaves his machine to fix until the day he wants to commence mowing. Be sure and have a good horse rake. Next to your mowing machine in point of labour-saving, is the horse rake. Clean your barns and sheds. Barns and sheds in which you intend to store your grain and hay, should be thoroughly cleaned of all the hay and refuse stuff that will collect there during the winter. By doing a week or two previous to filling your barns you give the rats and mice notice to quit, as it leaves no harbouring place for them. These, many other things that may be put in shape before harvesting commences, will save the trouble of doing it at a season when you have the time to spare to do it.

The column of the moon's southing gives the time of high water at Parnes, Cornwallis, Horton, Hantsport, Newport, Windsor, Truro, &c.

THE following receipts for washes for buildings or fences will be found satisfactory in use and wear:—Take a clean barrel that will hold water, put into it half-a-bushel of quick lime, and slack it by pouring over it boiling water sufficient to cover it 4 or 5 inches deep, stirring until it is slaked. Dissolve in water, and add 2 pounds of sulphate of zinc, (white vitriol), and 1 pound of salt, which will cause the wash to harden on the wood work in a few days; add sufficient water to bring to the consistency of thick white-wash. To make a pleasant cream colour to the above wash, add 3 lbs. yellow ochre. For a fawn colour, add 4 lbs. raw umber, 1 lb. Indian red, and 1 lb. lamp black. For grey or stone colour, add 4 lbs. raw umber and 2 lbs. lamp black. Fresh or caustic lime

A portion of pot ash and salt mixed with the lime, and then immersing the shingles in it for four hours, and the wash afterwards brushed on the shingles when laid, will make a fire-proof roof.

THERE is no way that land can be so profitably improved as by grass in a vigorous state of growth. To grow large crops of grass we have rich, drained land,—naturally fertile or enriched by manure thorough culture before seeding down, and by frequent top dressings afterwards. It must be drained land—artificially drained if subject to want water—or the best grasses cannot be grown, nor can it be brought into profitable rotation with grain crops. It must be thoroughly seeded; economy in grass seed "saves at the spigot to lose at the but in the less quantity and poorer quality of the product. And it must be overstocked. The best pasture land, especially while young, is ruined by feeding too closely and unseasonably,—late in autumn and early in spring time. The practice of top dressing grass lands in autumn is becoming more appreciated, the advantage being two-fold: first, mechanical protection from exposure to winds and cold; secondly, enriching effects of the liquid manure carried down by rains among grass roots. If once the experiment is tried, it will most likely be repeated. It succeeds remarkably well on heavy and strong soils.

THE Orchard and shade trees must not be forgotten or neglected.

time for planting may vary considerably with circumstances. If they have been dug up early before the buds have swollen, and have been well healed in, they may be set out safely, even after the leaves on budding trees have begun to appear. The great point is to take up the trees with them,—they are commonly nearly all left behind; stems and roots are not of much value without roots. If this point has been carefully attended to, and the roots have been well spread out in every direction when set, and placed compactly in fine earth, they cannot fail to grow; there is no use in losing one in a thousand. After that the great point is to keep the surface mellow and well cultivated. Small trees are preferable for general transplanting, for the reason that you obtain more roots in proportion to the size of the tree, and what is better, the necessity of amputating trunk and branch will not exist. Trees taken from open lands have a preference over those taken from the forest, which cannot be over-rated. Trees will more readily bear removal from a moist or wet soil, to a dry one, than from a dry to a moist one.

WHEN cheese is ready for market and about to be shipped, it is practice with some to apply to each cheese a thin coating of varnish made from gum shellac. The shellac is simply dissolved and applied with a brush. This coating gives the cheese a smooth glossy appearance, and besides adding to its beauty, is said to keep the cheese from losing weight or gathering mould. When cheese, well cured and shipped in the fall, are to remain in store several weeks or months, the above treatment is particularly beneficial, as serving to keep them in better condition, with less loss, and at the same time adding so much to their value.

or planting too largely, but few can say they have given too good to their crops, have farmed too high, or cultivated too thoroughly. Grow all you can, but remember that good crops are more important than largely increased seeding without careful preparation and cultivation of the soil. The great mistake with farmers is, when manure a field thoroughly, they keep tilling it as long as it will produce crops, and then they seed with clover and grass, when it is possible poor that it gives light crops, or no crops at all.

om running at large in the highways without keepers. Some pretended that they belonged to the town or county where they were located and that each individual had a right to use them for pasturage. This brought up another point, not quite so agreeable. If counties or towns owned the highways, they would readily be required to make and maintain one-half of all the fences on the lines thereof, which would make a heavy and perpetual tax on the community, and be a great relief to individuals. But the common law of England, of some four hundred years standing, settles this matter very justly, where it says, "The King himself, has no right to the highway, except for purposes of travel and repairs,—that the trees and stones, except such as are needed for repairs, with all other minerals, and the grass, belong to him through whose land the way passes." Consequently, then, highways belong to those from whose lands they are taken, for all purposes except travel and the right to keep them in repair; and any person has as good a right, by common law, to turn his animals into his neighbour's fields to feed, as he has to turn them into the highway adjoining those fields. Wherever cattle are allowed to run at large in this Province, an incredible amount of fence must be maintained to protect cultivated crops from the depredations of these street marauders, and, as running at large has the effect to make all animals unruly, this fence must be of a very substantial character to allow the farmer to sleep quietly and awake with the assurance that his crops were not in process of destruction. Besides, there were an annoyance to all passers by. Nervous matrons and sensitive young ladies were in constant danger of being gored by these brute and little children, on the way to school, must needs scud off and climb over the nearest fence for their life's sake. Taking all things into consideration, the wonder is that this universal road pasturing was ever tolerated. Those who do tolerate it must be greatly ignorant of the advantages arising from the enforcements of a law, whose effects, when strictly enforced, must be the admiration of all who have the working of where adopted. In fact, this excluding animals from the streets, so far as comfort and good looks are concerned, is one of the great improvements of the age, and shows a decided progress in civilization and refinement wherever it is practised.

MANURE drawn out, and finely and evenly spread on land late in autumn, is washed into the soil, or if not washed in; then absorbed by it slowly dissolved by rains. But if scattered in lumps, as by cattle manning over the pastures, the same good result cannot be obtained.— and if finely spread in summer, without even a shallow covering, its effects may be quite different, at least so experiment indicates. An important advantage in spreading manure over fields, instead of leaving in large heaps, is that the latter will ferment, and unless properly supplied with absorbents, much volatile fertilizing portions will be lost. Manure finely spread, and finely diffused through the soil by repeated harrowings and by ploughing, or by being washed into the earth, and thus more finely diffused than could be effected by the fine teeth of the harrow, is far more efficient than if thrown in lumps over the surface or imperfectly ploughed under in lumps.

H. H. FULLER & CO., Importers of Hair Cloth and Enameled Cloth.

Parrsboro to any woman who has not a vigorous constitution. The farmer, too poor to afford help for that purpose, had better exchange a day's work himself. There are several dangers to be avoided while at the tub. It requires a person to stand for hours at a time; this is a strain upon the young wife or mother, which is especially perilous. Besides, the evaporation of heat from the arms, by being put in warm water, and when raised in the air alternately, so rapidly cools the system that inflammation of the lungs is a very possible result. Then the labour of washing excites perspiration and induces fatigue; in this condition the body is so susceptible to taking cold that a few moments rest in a chair, exposure to a very slight draft of air, is quite enough to cause a chill, which results painful or even dangerous, according to the particular condition of the system at the time. No man has a right to risk his wife's health in this way.

From the Toronto Globe.—The annual report must be highly satisfactory to all concerned. The total sum payable on Policies from death during the year ($41,000) was more than met from interest in the Permanent Investment Fund. The receipts from Premiums, after paying working expenses and dividends, were applied toward the permanent solidity of the Company.

From the Monetary Times.—The business of the Company has been steadily increasing. Last year the largest amount of Life business done by any one company in Canada was secured by it.

From Hamilton Paper.—The evidence it furnishes (i. e. the return to Government) of its very great strength is also matter of sincere congratulation to its numerous policy holders. It possesses a very valid claim upon the support of Canadian and ought to receive a very marked preference over foreign Companies.

From the Hamilton Times.—The Canada Life is, without question, one of the most prosperous and best managed Assurance Companies doing business in the country, while at the same time it is deservedly the most popular.

There is one feature about this Company which pre-eminently entitles it to the patronage. It being a domestic institution, it retains a vast amount of the money in the country, which, were the Company a foreign organization, would inevitably be drained out of it, to be invested elsewhere.

YEAR-BOOK AND ALMANAC OF CANADA, FOR 1870.

THE YEAR-BOOK AND ALMANAC OF CANADA FOR 1870 will be completed early in November.

The public of the Dominion and adjoining Provinces has received with unqualified approbation this work during the three past years. It has filled a place previously unoccupied, having been a hand-book furnishing to the people throughout the Dominion, information of common interest, which it was important that they should know, which was nowhere else gathered together in one volume, of easy reference, and sold for a nominal price.

The aim of the publishers will be to make the editions for 1870 more valuable and interesting if possible than those of previous years.

The editor-in-chief is ARTHUR HARVEY, Esq., (Fellow of the Statistical Society of London) of the Finance Department, Ottawa, and he is assisted in his labours by official persons in the several provinces.

The greatest pains will be taken in the forthcoming work to secure ENTIRE ACCURACY. All statistics given may be accepted as being as correct as the official figures from which they are taken. No error of statistics in any of the past editions has been discovered. But the publishers have reason to know that the "YEAR-BOOK" has been accepted as authority in Dominion matters, not only within the Dominion and the adjoining Provinces, but by public men in London, in Paris, in Washington, in Victoria, Vancouver Island, and in Melbourne, Australia. It has thus rendered public service and fulfilled its intended mission.

One edition will be sold at 12½ cents; another, with a showing of the line of the proposed Red River and Pacific Railways, the Intercolonial, and the railway system of Canada, for 25 cents.

All orders will be filled in the order of date in which they are received. Persons residing in remote parts of the country, remitting postage stamps, may have single copies forwarded by mail. Sets for four years, from 1866 to 1870, will be furnished for one dollar. All orders should be addressed to the publishers JOHN LOWE & CO., Montreal, or for the Maritime Provinces to D. McALPINE.

Advertisements in Year-Book.

To Advertisers, THE YEAR-BOOK offers advantages not afforded by any other publication in the Dominion. It has the largest circulation, and is everywhere distributed. It goes into the hands of people which it is important for most kinds of advertisers to reach, and is besides of constant reference.

All Advertisements will be classified, so that they can be easily seen.
