

THIS ADVERTISEMENT CHANGES EVERY DAY

176 and 178 Dundas St., London,
Thursday, April 2, 1903.

Boys' Sweaters, 65c.

Boys' Heavy Knitted Woolen Sweaters, all sizes, in cardinal and navy blue, white-striped neck, shaped waist, cuffs and neck; lots of wear in them; regular 75c; Friday and Saturday, 65c each.

Boys' Braces, 10c.

Good strong web, well made, in pink, blue and brown, serviceable web ends, different sizes, very special, pair, 10c.

Boys' Hose, 25c.

Boys' fine quality fast black Cashmere Hose, ribbed, seamless toe and heel, extra special, pair, 25c.

The Newest White Linen Collars.

For Ladies—A stand-up-turn-down style (not too high), with dainty tabs in front; these tabs are single and double; special price, 25c for 100.

Bargains in Wall Paper Department Every Day.

On Sale Friday Morning.

At 8 o'clock, 20 dozen very fancy China Cake Plates and Salad Bowls, gilt and floral decorations, regular 25c and 35c each, Friday morning, choice, each, 15c.

Two Specials in Dinner Sets.

5 only 97-piece English semi-porcelain Dinner Sets, pretty floral decorations, regular $15.00, Friday and Saturday, set, $10.50
3 only 97-piece Dinner Sets, blue and also green pattern, regular $15.00, special, Friday and Saturday, set, $12.50

Buy Your Seeds Now.

A splendid assortment of splendid varieties in Vegetable and Flower Seeds, is what we keep in our stock. Price 3 papers for 5c

Garden Trowels, each, 5c Shelf Brackets, pair, 5c

WE SELL FISHING TACKLE.

WOODS' FAIR

Literary Notes.

"HER MAJESTY THE KING."

One of the cleverest books of the year is one from the press of R. H. Russell written by James Jeffrey Roche, and bearing the strange title of "Her Majesty the King." It is the story of some Oriental matrimonial troubles. The plot is of comic opera consistency, but what of that? It is all in the telling that makes the book bright and its wit is of that nature that it will likely be passed about in the way that the Proverbs and David Harumisms have been going about the past few years. "Pay as you go, but not if you intend going for good," is one of the cynical remarks with which the little volume teems.

To a certain extent "Her Majesty the King" is a satire on American institutions. For instance the jury system comes in for ridicule where the American tramp is introduced at the court of the eastern Pasha some time back in the thirteenth or fourteenth century, an amusing anachronism in itself. Asked as to how prisoners are tried, he says among other things, "It is a complicated process, but highly instructive. In the first place the judge, or Cadi, as you would call him, orders twelve men who know nothing about the case, otherwise they would not be selected, to be arrested and imprisoned until the guilt or innocence of the accused can be established. Absolute ignorance of the question is the prime essential governing the selection of the twelve; but total ignorance of everything constitutes the ideal qualification of what we call a 'juror.' This it is explained results in a speedy verdict, and when asked as to whether the law does not punish anyone, the stranger ejaculates: "Does it? Well I should say it does. It punishes everybody, the juror, the judge, the witness, the people who have to hear or read the proceedings of the court, the citizens who have to pay for all the business. Why even the prisoner is sometimes punished and always more or less annoyed by the procrastination and uncertainty of the whole affair."

The book is printed on excellent paper, and is of course, well bound, coming from where it does. It is not a large affair, but it can be counted upon as taking a place among the most widely read books of the next few months, and it is safe to say also that no one will be disappointed with the wit therein contained. Cloth, $1.50, R. H. Russell, New York.

TIBETAN EXPLORATION

Book To Be Published by the Famous Sven Hedin.

London, April 2.—The Times says that the publication of scientific results of Sven Hedin's great three-year journey through Central Asia in a manner worthy of the importance of the work, is now well assured. Owing to the liberality of the Swedish Riksdag, Hedin receives 600 kronor wherewith to produce an atlas, in two large volumes, and a report of the geography of the country visited and explored, devoted to astronomical, geological, botanical and zoological collections and Chinese manuscripts and inscriptions. It has been decided to publish the work in English.

Ready-to-Serve Fad Foods Are Tried and Found Wanting.

Fad foods—cereal preparations—that come to the table cold, cheerless and rough-looking, to be eaten with milk colder than the foods, are never commended by food experts and physicians for the production of physical energy, vim and force. It is the steam-heated hot dish of Malt Breakfast Food that bestows nourishment, energy, strength and true life to body and brain. Malt Breakfast Food cannot be ranked with ready-to-use fads; it is far ahead of them as the diamond is superior to common glass. It is delicious, appetizing and palate-tickling, bestowing in the fullest measure its blessings—perfect digestion, pure blood, rosy cheeks and lasting health. All grocers sell Malt Breakfast Food.

A GOOD MEDICINE requires little advertising. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil gained the good name it now enjoys, not through elaborate advertising, but on its great merits as a remedy for bodily pains and ailments of the respiratory organs. It has carried its fame with it wherever it has gone, and it is prized at the antipodes as well as at home. Dose small, effect sure.

An incubator in use in Australia has a capacity of 11,440 ducks' eggs or 14,000 hens' eggs.

Tillson's Oats starts the day for thousands of Canadian toilers in all walks of life.

It gives the staying power necessary to the one who depends on muscle, and quickens the thoughts of the one who depends on brain.

Get out of the rut of dyspepsia-dealing foods that send you to work in the morning with a soggy brain and a lack of energy. 'Tis your breakfast that makes or mars your day.

Sit down to a dish of Tillson's Oats every morning—enjoy its appetizing flavor—realize its hunger-satisfying qualities—feel the glow of its strengthening sustenance that sends you to work with a will—experience in it, the joy of freedom from indigestion's ills.

Order Tillson's Oats from your grocer now—cook it and serve it steaming hot for breakfast to-morrow morning.

Tillson's Oats

Pan-Dried Packages Only

No hulls

No black specks

A food—not a fad

WESTERN POINTS OF THE PROVINCE

Telephone Facilities for the Bruce Peninsula.

GOOD REPORTS OF FALL WHEAT

Sudden Deaths at Windsor—Blenheim to Vote on Bonus for a Canning Factory.

BRANT.

The death occurred on Sunday morning in Brantford village of Mr. R. O. Gage, one of the oldest and most prominent residents of the village. He died at the age of 83, succumbed to rheumatism. In earlier days he was a member of the county council, and was always took an active interest in public affairs. He was a member of the English Church, and highly esteemed for his sterling character and integrity. He leaves two children.

BRUCE.

The Bell Telephone Company have undertaken the operation of the telephone system constructed by Mr. Gillespie on the Bruce Peninsula, and it is now possible to talk to persons at Lion's Head, Barrow Bay, Sperry, Stokes Bay, Pike Bay, Mar and Colpoys Bay. The taking over of the line includes the installation of new instruments.

ELGIN.

Mr. George Pottier, Middlemarch, has sold his 100-acre farm to Mr. Carroll, of the Scotch road, for $7,200.

The steamer Winona, of the Port Stanley Navigation Company, has left for Amherstburg. She will run between Amherstburg and Detroit. She will return to Port Stanley about June 1 to look after the excursion business there during the summer.

A Winnipeg paper says: A quiet wedding took place on Wednesday evening, March 25, at the residence of Dr. W. Clark, when Frank Y. Gray, of Emerson, Man., and Miss Lela E. Spackman, St. Thomas, Ont., were married. Mr. and Mrs. Gray will live at Emerson.

A West Lorne correspondent says: A very successful meeting of the Threshing National Protective Association was held on Saturday afternoon. The grand president for Ontario, George Braddon, of Coyne's Corners, presided over the meeting. The next meeting will be held in Dutton in April.

The death took place on Saturday evening, at 10:30, of Mr. James Moore, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Moore, of the Back street, about one mile west of Sheddin, in the 23rd year of his age. Deceased had only been sick a few days. He was of just grand stature, and was No. 310, I. O. O. F., and also a member of Elgin Encampment, No. 39, and Canton Victoria, No. 5, of St. Thomas.

ESSEX.

The farmers of Harrow and vicinity report a good showing for fall wheat this spring.

The separate and public schools of Sandwich West have been closed on account of the prevalence of smallpox of a mild type.

The prospects for a good crop of fall wheat are splendid at present, but very little was sown in this county last fall. The Michigan Central is employing a large number of men, double-tracking their road between Waterford and Hagersville.

Mrs. Eliza Fitzgerald, who has been making her home on Abbot street, Detroit, expired very suddenly in the tailor shop of William Francis, Windsor, on Monday night. She was 50 years of age, and was troubled with heart disease, and was taking treatment from a Windsor physician. The woman's relatives in Sarnia were communicated with, and the body was taken to Sarnia for burial.

WELLINGTON.

Eight dairy instructors of Western Ontario are meeting at the Wellington Hotel, for a ten days' special course. The instructors in the east will meet at the Kingston Dairy School.

On Easter Sunday Rev. J. G. Scott, of Hamilton, will deliver a charge at the church which was dedicated to St. George's. He will also deliver a charge at the church which was dedicated to St. George's.

Mr. David Holmes has disposed of his fine 75-acre farm on the 13th concession of McKillop, to Messrs. Betts Bros., of the same locality, for $30,000.

News has been received of the death at Yorkton, Assa, of Mr. George A. Watson, son of Goderich. He was the youngest son of the late James Watson, merchant, of Goderich. He was born in April, 1880, and was educated at the Hillmuth Boys' College, London, and practiced law in Clinton, being at one time partner with the late Mr. Malcolmson. For the last twenty years he had been in the Northwest, where he was successfully following his profession, and at the time of his death he was in possession of a good practice in Yorkton, Assa. Deceased leaves a wife and child, and three sisters survive him—Mrs. G. C. Shannon, Mrs. Y. Edgewood and Mrs. Charles E. Shaw, all of Goderich.

Blenheim will vote on a bylaw to give $5,000 to a canning factory, on Tuesday, April 7.

James Greenwood, of Blenheim, has been officially appointed magistrate for that town, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of R. L. Gosnell.

Reeve J. Camer, has sold his farm to his brother Albert, for $6,750, possession to be taken in March, 1904.

Elgin Moore has moved from Avon to a farm near Springfield. Before leaving Mrs. Moore was surprised by having her Sunday school class of young men come upon her and bid her farewell, presenting her with a water set made of ruby German glass.

Rev. G. M. Kilty, incumbent of St. Albans, Kitch, received word from the Bishop of Huron that he had been appointed to Granton, the unanimous request of that parish.

Principal Scott, of Thamesford, has been offered the position of principal of the Stratford public schools, to replace Playford, who has resigned.

The Tilsonburg Cheese and Butter Association's report for the year shows: Total pounds of cheese made, 42,001; average pounds of milk to a pound of cheese, 10.14 cents; cost of drawing milk, per 3,000 pounds, $1.48; paid patrons in cash, $3,456; paid patrons in kind, $147.51; paid for manufacturing, $3,200.24.

A well-known and respected farmer of East Gwillimburgh, who has been in the person of William C. McLeod, was 53 years of age. Mr. McLeod had many years of experience in the dairy business, and was deeply regretted to hear of his demise.

Harry Patterson, one of the solicitors of the Chicago and Rock Island Railway, Chicago, and a brother of the late Harry Patterson, who was killed in the Chicago fire, has arrived in Stratford with his family. Mr. Patterson, who has been a resident of the Listowel section for nearly 10 years, left on Thursday, March 27, for Stratford, where he will make his home in order to be near his son, W. B. Patterson, who is in the army in that place. On Tuesday night a number of friends met them at Mr. Patterson's home, and they were presented with an address of friendship, an armchair for Mr. Patterson and a hymn book for Mrs. Patterson.

Geoph's tax rate for 1903 will likely be $2.15.

Eight dairy instructors of Western Ontario are meeting at the Wellington Hotel, for a ten days' special course. The instructors in the east will meet at the Kingston Dairy School.

Bu-Ju CURES RHEUMATISM.

The great kidney pill is a sovereign specific for Rheumatism of every description, which is caused by an excess of uric acid and urinary matter in the blood. All the varieties of this painful and dread disease have their origin in kidney disturbance. Get the kidneys to working well, and the trouble is ended. This you can do by using

Trade-Mark.
Bu-Ju

The Kidney Pill.

the vegetable prescription that cures all kidney and urinary diseases. All druggists sell Bu-Ju at 50 cents per box, 50 pills.

The Clapin Chemical Co.
NEW YORK, N. Y., AND
WINDSOR, ONT.

50c-15c

tired law in Clinton, being at one time partner with the late Mr. Malcolmson. For the last twenty years he had been in the Northwest, where he was successfully following his profession, and at the time of his death he was in possession of a good practice in Yorkton, Assa. Deceased leaves a wife and child, and three sisters survive him—Mrs. G. C. Shannon, Mrs. Y. Edgewood and Mrs. Charles E. Shaw, all of Goderich.

Blenheim will vote on a bylaw to give $5,000 to a canning factory, on Tuesday, April 7.

James Greenwood, of Blenheim, has been officially appointed magistrate for that town, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of R. L. Gosnell.

Reeve J. Camer, has sold his farm to his brother Albert, for $6,750, possession to be taken in March, 1904.

Elgin Moore has moved from Avon to a farm near Springfield. Before leaving Mrs. Moore was surprised by having her Sunday school class of young men come upon her and bid her farewell, presenting her with a water set made of ruby German glass.

Rev. G. M. Kilty, incumbent of St. Albans, Kitch, received word from the Bishop of Huron that he had been appointed to Granton, the unanimous request of that parish.

Principal Scott, of Thamesford, has been offered the position of principal of the Stratford public schools, to replace Playford, who has resigned.

The Tilsonburg Cheese and Butter Association's report for the year shows: Total pounds of cheese made, 42,001; average pounds of milk to a pound of cheese, 10.14 cents; cost of drawing milk, per 3,000 pounds, $1.48; paid patrons in cash, $3,456; paid patrons in kind, $147.51; paid for manufacturing, $3,200.24.

A well-known and respected farmer of East Gwillimburgh, who has been in the person of William C. McLeod, was 53 years of age. Mr. McLeod had many years of experience in the dairy business, and was deeply regretted to hear of his demise.

Harry Patterson, one of the solicitors of the Chicago and Rock Island Railway, Chicago, and a brother of the late Harry Patterson, who was killed in the Chicago fire, has arrived in Stratford with his family. Mr. Patterson, who has been a resident of the Listowel section for nearly 10 years, left on Thursday, March 27, for Stratford, where he will make his home in order to be near his son, W. B. Patterson, who is in the army in that place. On Tuesday night a number of friends met them at Mr. Patterson's home, and they were presented with an address of friendship, an armchair for Mr. Patterson and a hymn book for Mrs. Patterson.

Geoph's tax rate for 1903 will likely be $2.15.

Eight dairy instructors of Western Ontario are meeting at the Wellington Hotel, for a ten days' special course. The instructors in the east will meet at the Kingston Dairy School.

On Easter Sunday Rev. J. G. Scott, of Hamilton, will deliver a charge at the church which was dedicated to St. George's. He will also deliver a charge at the church which was dedicated to St. George's.

Mr. David Holmes has disposed of his fine 75-acre farm on the 13th concession of McKillop, to Messrs. Betts Bros., of the same locality, for $30,000.

News has been received of the death at Yorkton, Assa, of Mr. George A. Watson, son of Goderich. He was the youngest son of the late James Watson, merchant, of Goderich. He was born in April, 1880, and was educated at the Hillmuth Boys' College, London, and practiced law in Clinton, being at one time partner with the late Mr. Malcolmson. For the last twenty years he had been in the Northwest, where he was successfully following his profession, and at the time of his death he was in possession of a good practice in Yorkton, Assa. Deceased leaves a wife and child, and three sisters survive him—Mrs. G. C. Shannon, Mrs. Y. Edgewood and Mrs. Charles E. Shaw, all of Goderich.

Blenheim will vote on a bylaw to give $5,000 to a canning factory, on Tuesday, April 7.

James Greenwood, of Blenheim, has been officially appointed magistrate for that town, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of R. L. Gosnell.

Reeve J. Camer, has sold his farm to his brother Albert, for $6,750, possession to be taken in March, 1904.

Elgin Moore has moved from Avon to a farm near Springfield. Before leaving Mrs. Moore was surprised by having her Sunday school class of young men come upon her and bid her farewell, presenting her with a water set made of ruby German glass.

Rev. G. M. Kilty, incumbent of St. Albans, Kitch, received word from the Bishop of Huron that he had been appointed to Granton, the unanimous request of that parish.

Principal Scott, of Thamesford, has been offered the position of principal of the Stratford public schools, to replace Playford, who has resigned.

The Tilsonburg Cheese and Butter Association's report for the year shows: Total pounds of cheese made, 42,001; average pounds of milk to a pound of cheese, 10.14 cents; cost of drawing milk, per 3,000 pounds, $1.48; paid patrons in cash, $3,456; paid patrons in kind, $147.51; paid for manufacturing, $3,200.24.

A well-known and respected farmer of East Gwillimburgh, who has been in the person of William C. McLeod, was 53 years of age. Mr. McLeod had many years of experience in the dairy business, and was deeply regretted to hear of his demise.

Harry Patterson, one of the solicitors of the Chicago and Rock Island Railway, Chicago, and a brother of the late Harry Patterson, who was killed in the Chicago fire, has arrived in Stratford with his family. Mr. Patterson, who has been a resident of the Listowel section for nearly 10 years, left on Thursday, March 27, for Stratford, where he will make his home in order to be near his son, W. B. Patterson, who is in the army in that place. On Tuesday night a number of friends met them at Mr. Patterson's home, and they were presented with an address of friendship, an armchair for Mr. Patterson and a hymn book for Mrs. Patterson.

Geoph's tax rate for 1903 will likely be $2.15.

Eight dairy instructors of Western Ontario are meeting at the Wellington Hotel, for a ten days' special course. The instructors in the east will meet at the Kingston Dairy School.

On Easter Sunday Rev. J. G. Scott, of Hamilton, will deliver a charge at the church which was dedicated to St. George's. He will also deliver a charge at the church which was dedicated to St. George's.

Mr. David Holmes has disposed of his fine 75-acre farm on the 13th concession of McKillop, to Messrs. Betts Bros., of the same locality, for $30,000.

News has been received of the death at Yorkton, Assa, of Mr. George A. Watson, son of Goderich. He was the youngest son of the late James Watson, merchant, of Goderich. He was born in April, 1880, and was educated at the Hillmuth Boys' College, London, and practiced law in Clinton, being at one time partner with the late Mr. Malcolmson. For the last twenty years he had been in the Northwest, where he was successfully following his profession, and at the time of his death he was in possession of a good practice in Yorkton, Assa. Deceased leaves a wife and child, and three sisters survive him—Mrs. G. C. Shannon, Mrs. Y. Edgewood and Mrs. Charles E. Shaw, all of Goderich.

BUILDERS HANDICAPPED

Union Carpenters at Hamilton Strike for Increase.

Hamilton, Ont., April 2.—There is a pretty general tie-up in the building business in this city. Nearly all the union carpenters are out on strike for an increase to 35 cents an hour. The bosses are willing to grant 30 cents to skilled, but want a sliding scale for inferior workmen. A number of bricklayers' laborers are also out on strike for 30 cents an hour. Some of the contractors have conceded this demand.

Trade-Mark.
Bu-Ju

The Kidney Pill.

the vegetable prescription that cures all kidney and urinary diseases. All druggists sell Bu-Ju at 50 cents per box, 50 pills.

The Clapin Chemical Co.
NEW YORK, N. Y., AND
WINDSOR, ONT.

50c-15c

tired law in Clinton, being at one time partner with the late Mr. Malcolmson. For the last twenty years he had been in the Northwest, where he was successfully following his profession, and at the time of his death he was in possession of a good practice in Yorkton, Assa. Deceased leaves a wife and child, and three sisters survive him—Mrs. G. C. Shannon, Mrs. Y. Edgewood and Mrs. Charles E. Shaw, all of Goderich.

Blenheim will vote on a bylaw to give $5,000 to a canning factory, on Tuesday, April 7.

James Greenwood, of Blenheim, has been officially appointed magistrate for that town, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of R. L. Gosnell.

Reeve J. Camer, has sold his farm to his brother Albert, for $6,750, possession to be taken in March, 1904.

Elgin Moore has moved from Avon to a farm near Springfield. Before leaving Mrs. Moore was surprised by having her Sunday school class of young men come upon her and bid her farewell, presenting her with a water set made of ruby German glass.

Rev. G. M. Kilty, incumbent of St. Albans, Kitch, received word from the Bishop of Huron that he had been appointed to Granton, the unanimous request of that parish.

Principal Scott, of Thamesford, has been offered the position of principal of the Stratford public schools, to replace Playford, who has resigned.

The Tilsonburg Cheese and Butter Association's report for the year shows: Total pounds of cheese made, 42,001; average pounds of milk to a pound of cheese, 10.14 cents; cost of drawing milk, per 3,000 pounds, $1.48; paid patrons in cash, $3,456; paid patrons in kind, $147.51; paid for manufacturing, $3,200.24.

A well-known and respected farmer of East Gwillimburgh, who has been in the person of William C. McLeod, was 53 years of age. Mr. McLeod had many years of experience in the dairy business, and was deeply regretted to hear of his demise.

Harry Patterson, one of the solicitors of the Chicago and Rock Island Railway, Chicago, and a brother of the late Harry Patterson, who was killed in the Chicago fire, has arrived in Stratford with his family. Mr. Patterson, who has been a resident of the Listowel section for nearly 10 years, left on Thursday, March 27, for Stratford, where he will make his home in order to be near his son, W. B. Patterson, who is in the army in that place. On Tuesday night a number of friends met them at Mr. Patterson's home, and they were presented with an address of friendship, an armchair for Mr. Patterson and a hymn book for Mrs. Patterson.

Geoph's tax rate for 1903 will likely be $2.15.

Eight dairy instructors of Western Ontario are meeting at the Wellington Hotel, for a ten days' special course. The instructors in the east will meet at the Kingston Dairy School.

On Easter Sunday Rev. J. G. Scott, of Hamilton, will deliver a charge at the church which was dedicated to St. George's. He will also deliver a charge at the church which was dedicated to St. George's.

Mr. David Holmes has disposed of his fine 75-acre farm on the 13th concession of McKillop, to Messrs. Betts Bros., of the same locality, for $30,000.

News has been received of the death at Yorkton, Assa, of Mr. George A. Watson, son of Goderich. He was the youngest son of the late James Watson, merchant, of Goderich. He was born in April, 1880, and was educated at the Hillmuth Boys' College, London, and practiced law in Clinton, being at one time partner with the late Mr. Malcolmson. For the last twenty years he had been in the Northwest, where he was successfully following his profession, and at the time of his death he was in possession of a good practice in Yorkton, Assa. Deceased leaves a wife and child, and three sisters survive him—Mrs. G. C. Shannon, Mrs. Y. Edgewood and Mrs. Charles E. Shaw, all of Goderich.

Blenheim will vote on a bylaw to give $5,000 to a canning factory, on Tuesday, April 7.

James Greenwood, of Blenheim, has been officially appointed magistrate for that town, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of R. L. Gosnell.

Reeve J. Camer, has sold his farm to his brother Albert, for $6,750, possession to be taken in March, 1904.

Elgin Moore has moved from Avon to a farm near Springfield. Before leaving Mrs. Moore was surprised by having her Sunday school class of young men come upon her and bid her farewell, presenting her with a water set made of ruby German glass.

Rev. G. M. Kilty, incumbent of St. Albans, Kitch, received word from the Bishop of Huron that he had been appointed to Granton, the unanimous request of that parish.

Principal Scott, of Thamesford, has been offered the position of principal of the Stratford public schools, to replace Playford, who has resigned.

The Tilsonburg Cheese and Butter Association's report for the year shows: Total pounds of cheese made, 42,001; average pounds of milk to a pound of cheese, 10.14 cents; cost of drawing milk, per 3,000 pounds, $1.48; paid patrons in cash, $3,456; paid patrons in kind, $147.51; paid for manufacturing, $3,200.24.

A well-known and respected farmer of East Gwillimburgh, who has been in the person of William C. McLeod, was 53 years of age. Mr. McLeod had many years of experience in the dairy business, and was deeply regretted to hear of his demise.

Harry Patterson, one of the solicitors of the Chicago and Rock Island Railway, Chicago, and a brother of the late Harry Patterson, who was killed in the Chicago fire, has arrived in Stratford with his family. Mr. Patterson, who has been a resident of the Listowel section for nearly 10 years, left on Thursday, March 27, for Stratford, where he will make his home in order to be near his son, W. B. Patterson, who is in the army in that place. On Tuesday night a number of friends met them at Mr. Patterson's home, and they were presented with an address of friendship, an armchair for Mr. Patterson and a hymn book for Mrs. Patterson.

Geoph's tax rate for 1903 will likely be $2.15.

Eight dairy instructors of Western Ontario are meeting at the Wellington Hotel, for a ten days' special course. The instructors in the east will meet at the Kingston Dairy School.

On Easter Sunday Rev. J. G. Scott, of Hamilton, will deliver a charge at the church which was dedicated to St. George's. He will also deliver a charge at the church which was dedicated to St. George's.

Mr. David Holmes has disposed of his fine 75-acre farm on the 13th concession of McKillop, to Messrs. Betts Bros., of the same locality, for $30,000.

London Advertiser

TWO EDITIONS DAILY . . . WEEKLY

Daily, One Year.....$3 00
 Daily, Six Months.....$1 50
 Daily, Three Months.....$1 00
 Daily, One Month.....$1 00

The London Advertiser will be delivered to any residence or place of business in London without extra charge.

Published at Advertiser New Building, 121-123 Dundas street.

Daily, One Year, by mail.....$1 50

The Western Advertiser, published every Wednesday. Subscription price, 75 cents per year.

Sample Copies of Daily and Weekly sent Free.

TELEPHONE CALLS.

Business Office.....137

Editorial Department.....134

Job Department.....175

A complete Job Printing Plant. New Type and New Presses.

LONDON ADVERTISER CO., (LIMITED).

London, Thursday, April 2.

A Change for the Better.

The city assessment commissioner has prepared a report intended to show that the business tax proposed by the Ontario Assessment Commission as a substitute for the personality tax, would throw a heavy burden on other classes less able to bear it. The Ontario Commission, on the other hand, expresses its belief that the returns from the new sources of taxation, by exceeding the returns now received from the personality tax, will result in substantial relief for the owners of land. The personality assessment in London is $2,167,370, yielding in taxes, at 23 mills on the dollar, $49,849.51. The whole of the business premises in London is assessed for $4,048,620, which would produce, under the business tax proposed by the commission, $21,255.25, being 7½ per cent of the rental value, which is reckoned at 7 per cent of the assessed value. This would leave a balance of $28,594.26 in favor of the present system, or 1½ mills, which, under the new system, would have to be made up in other ways. It is argued that this extra taxation would fall on the smaller men to the relief of the larger ones, but that is too hasty an inference. In the first place the taxation of the street railway company, the electric light company, the telephone and telegraph companies and other corporations using the public streets would be increased, as they would be assessed for the right of use on the streets and other public places. That is a new tax provided for by the Assessment Commission. In the second place, the land of railway companies and the income of express companies would be assessed by a Provincial board, and the taxes distributed among the municipalities—another new source of revenue. In the third place, a large amount would come from the house tax, which does not exist at present. In London a tax of 5 per cent would be levied upon every tenant or occupier whose annual rental exceeded $175. For instance, the occupier of a house renting for $200 a year would be assessed for $25, and would pay $1.25 in taxes. It cannot be said that this impost would weigh on the poor. The rental paid by a person is a fairly accurate measure of his income, and on that principle the house tax would seem to be equitable. From these three sources—the tax on corporations using the public streets, on railway and express companies, and on occupiers of houses—the city would probably derive more revenue than from the present personality tax. The Ontario Assessment Commission was so certain that this new scheme would produce more revenue that it sounded a note of warning against the temptation which municipalities would be under, to increase expenditures. The reduction in the tax rate on realty, the commission declared, should be considerable.

The assessment commissioner points out that some merchants in the city would pay far less under the proposed business tax than they pay at present under the personality tax. No doubt it would work out that way, but for one person who is paying on the full amount of his personal property, there are perhaps half a dozen persons equally rich in personality who are paying little or no taxation. The bulk of personal property is invisible and cannot be reached by the most inquisitorial methods. The tax has proved to be a farce and a fraud. Prof. Seligman, perhaps the greatest authority on taxation, condemns it on five counts:

1. Lack of uniformity, or inequality or assessment.

2. Lack of universality, or failure to reach personal property.

3. Incentive to dishonesty.

4. Regressivity, or increase in the rate of taxation as the property or income taxed decreases.

5. Double taxation.

The Ontario Assessment Commission reports as follows:

"One conclusion which can unhesitatingly be drawn is that the tax on personal property is a failure and that it is a hopeless task to attempt to perfect it by further legislation. It should therefore be abolished."

The business tax has worked well in Montreal and Winnipeg. It is to be hoped the Ontario Government will take up the question during the present session and pass legislation on the lines suggested by the royal commission.

A New Grievance.

Mr. E. B. Osler, M. P., for West Toronto, advocates the extension of the Government's functions to the regulation of the stock exchange. He says a number of young men in Montreal formed a combine to buy up a large block of Dominion Iron and Steel Company stock in the expectation that the iron and steel duties would go up and raise the stock to 80 or 90. The stock went down and the Montreal lambs were fleeced to the tune of half a million dollars. Mr. Osler blames it all on the Government. He says it wouldn't have happened if the Government had had a fixed policy. As a matter of fact the administration has been blamed for having its policy too fixed. Its fiscal policy has been absolutely fixed in the Pleading tariff for seven years, and the Opposition claims it is time for a change. It can be readily believed that the Montreal plunders would have stood a better show under the old regime. All they would have had to do would be to send a deputation to Ottawa and demand that the duties be raised. The old Government was the most obliging one in the world in that respect. Most of its time was occupied in receiving tariff deputations and tinkering the tariff schedules. As for Mr. Osler's grievance, the inference from his remarks is that the Government should have protected the young Montreal gudgeons against the loss of half a million by raising the duties. The administration had no right in Mr. Osler's estimation, to let such an enterprise suffer for want of an increase in the tariff.

The Tariff and Loyalty.

The New York Sun, after quoting the Pall Mall Gazette's prediction that the British Government will abolish the new corn duties, adds:

"It is obvious enough that, if the prediction of the Pall Mall Gazette shall be fulfilled, the skin-deep loyalty of our Canadian neighbors to the British crown will receive a death-blow. The hope of securing for the products of the Dominion a preference in the British markets will have to be renounced forever if such a concession is refused by even the present Unionist Government, which controls four-fifths of the House of Lords, and is backed by a nominal majority of nearly 140 in the House of Commons."

In Canada this will provoke only a smile. A loyalty based on tariff favors would be skin-deep indeed, but does Canadian loyalty answer that description? Take the Conservative party in Canada, which claims to be the custodian of British sentiment. Those who dictate the policy of that party—the tariff beneficiaries—secretly hope that the colonies will not be given a preference in the British market. A preference there involves a preference here, and a preference here involves greater competition from British manufacturers. The Conservative policy is to keep out foreign goods, British included, and just now the party is making a special effort to kill the imports of British cottons and woolsens. British sentiment gives way when it strikes the pocket. The Liberals, like the Conservatives, would feel no grudge if the British corn duties were thrown off. The preferential feature of the Canadian tariff was a free-will offering to the mother country, and has been justified by practical results. The Dominion Government has suggested a quid pro quo in the form of a remission of the British duties in favor of Canada, but it has never presumed to tell the British Government what was best for the British people. The British Government is free to frame its own tariff without risk of offending the colonies. The colonies have not always shown a tender regard for the feelings of the mother country in framing theirs, and if the Conservative party in this country had its way, John Bull would hardly get a look at the Canadian market. The New York Sun will have to search for Canadian loyalty in something outside the tariff. If it looks closely enough it may find that the statesmanship of its own country is partly responsible.

The royal commission will begin the Gagey investigation next week. The court isn't losing as much time as the Legislature.

The House of Commons has voted to prohibit the manufacture, importation and sale of cigarettes. We shall now see whether prohibition prohibits.

The South Brant Conservative Association has formally denounced the Ontario Government as a "rotten combination." The expression is somewhat Whiteseyesque.

Mr. Sifton has arrived in London and begun to prepare Canada's case for the Alaska boundary commission. Just now the Gagey commission overshadows Alaska.

The London Mail says that Canada is getting many of Britain's finest men and should give something in return. Is Canada conferring a favor by relieving the overcrowding on the tight little island?

The removal of Rev. C. C. Owen to Vancouver will be a distinct loss to the city. He has not been in London long, but he has made a deep impression on the community. His own congregation will miss him sorely.

In a lawsuit at Toronto yesterday, one of the promoters of the Canada Cycle and Motor Company gave evidence that $900,000 had been paid for properties which were afterwards sold to the company for $2,500,000 preferred stock and $3,000,000 common stock. Is it any wonder the stock failed to pay dividends?

King Edward Strict.

[Marquise de Fontenay.] Thanks to the new rules inaugurated by King Edward and to the restrictions which he has placed upon the indiscriminate attendance of people in court, the old scandal of presentations for pay so rampant during the late reign has gone out of existence. Formerly any woman who had been duly presented, and whose presentation had not been publicly or privately canceled for misconduct or indiscretion, was not only free to attend any drawing-room that she saw fit, but likewise to present anyone whom she would vouch for. The result was that quite a large number of impecunious women of title undertook the presentation of strangers and frequently wealthy American women and Australians—in return for a substantial fee. Now, however, that no woman can go to court without having received an invitation, it is impossible for anyone to know with certainty whether she is going to receive the royal "commands" or not, and still less does she know whether she will be able to obtain an invitation for a protegee. The result is that the commerce has become too vague to be profitable to either party, and that the avenues of illicit approach to the court are to all intents and purposes closed up.

The Brindle Steer.

[New Orleans Times-Democrat.] Oh, what has become of the brindle steer who lazily lolled in the lot? And the yoke he wore, with its wooden pins—

Are these and the wagon forgot? Are all the old things of the other time Engulfed in the shams of today? Has the wind, also, in its shifting course, Blown these old idols away?

Oh, what has become of the brindle steer, Who toiled away in the bog? Whose muscles were taut, and swollen with toil? The weight of the cart and the log, But he chewed his cud, nor grumbled, Nor faltered once in its shifting course, Alas! for the wind, in its shifting course, Has it blown all these away?

Oh, what has become of the brindle steer, And the big, tall man with the whip? Swapped, alas! for a lot of shams. The sail, and the shriek of the ship! And the old yoke rots out under the shed, The wagon has gone to decay. For the wind, also, in its shifting course, Has blown these things away.

Escaped a Menagerie.

[Hamilton Herald.] From the long exhibition of violent inflammatory partisanship that the people of Ontario have been witnessing during the last two or three weeks they can judge of what an investigation of the Gagey charges by a committee of the House would be like. It would be like a menagerie at high noon; the peace would soon become almost as ashamed and sick of the manner of investigating the scandal as of the scandal itself. There is no good reason why the investigation should not be searching and comprehensive as well as fair and decent; and the sooner it is begun and finished, the better.

The Two Views.

[S. E. Kiser, in Chicago Record-Herald.] I dreamed an angel came and led Me to a splendid room, and there Two paintings hung high o'er my head; She bade me study them with care.

One was the portrait of a man, Whose mein was splendid; filled with awe, I gazed awhile, then turned to scan The picture opposite, and saw The likeness of a poor, weak one— A foolish egotist, low-browed, Staring at the million, and the crowd. Day after day, down in the crowd.

The angel, speaking kindly, then, Said: "Both are portraits fair and true; The one you try to seem to men, The other's as the world sees you."

A Glimpse of Sir Hector Macdonald.

[From Capt. Morrison's "With the Guns."] The following morning we pulled out of Edinburgh at dawn and an hour later stopped at Springfield. I was hustling along the platform on the inevitable quest for something to eat when I met a big officer in a staff cap.

"Where do you fellows think you are going?" he said. His face looked familiar and I thought he must be somebody I had met before.

"Cape Town and home," I said. "No, you're not," said he of the brass cap, and there was a twinkle in his eyes that took the edge off the abrupt contradiction. "You only think you are."

I glanced at his shoulder straps and saw crossed swords. This was a general. A real, public general, because only real public generals ever talk to subalterns as if they are equals.

Continuing, he said he was afraid we would be detained before we got much further. There was trouble in Cape Colony—big trouble apparently—6,000 rebels reported to be mobilizing south of Norval's Point, a great rebel convention at Worcester and the country in a state of unrest. He didn't think it was quite as serious as made out, but still precautions were necessary, and much as he regretted having to interrupt our homeward journey it would be necessary.

He said a good deal more and we had quite an interesting chat. When I asked the railway staff officer who the general was and he said: "Why, that is General Hector Macdonald, of Khartoum fame."

The general is a fine-looking, big, broad-shouldered man with a flaming jaw, a resolute mouth and a frank pleasant expression, though he smiles only with his eyes. He wore a plain khaki uniform that had evidently been much washed, and the only marks of rank about him were the staff cap and cross-words on his shoulder straps. I don't think he even had a ribbon on his breast, though he is entitled to sport lots of them.

Mr. Prefontaine said that the paper in question had drawn conclusions hardly justified by the language he had used in the speech from the throne on the occasion in question. He had merely stated that these questions would be considered by the Government. He had not said that the commission had been merely stated that certain names had been suggested, and he had added that the commission might be five instead of three. From what he had said it could never be inferred that the commission had been appointed or had even been considered by the cabinet.

Mr. Fielding said that he had announced before the Government that he would be responsible for announcements made in that valuable journal known as the Canada Gazette; and any announcements not appearing in that publication might not be entirely authorized.

Mr. Prefontaine said the paper in question had drawn conclusions hardly justified by the language he had used in the speech from the throne on the occasion in question. He had merely stated that these questions would be considered by the Government. He had not said that the commission had been merely stated that certain names had been suggested, and he had added that the commission might be five instead of three. From what he had said it could never be inferred that the commission had been appointed or had even been considered by the cabinet.

Mr. Fielding said that he had announced before the Government that he would be responsible for announcements made in that valuable journal known as the Canada Gazette; and any announcements not appearing in that publication might not be entirely authorized.

Mr. Prefontaine said the paper in question had drawn conclusions hardly justified by the language he had used in the speech from the throne on the occasion in question. He had merely stated that these questions would be considered by the Government. He had not said that the commission had been merely stated that certain names had been suggested, and he had added that the commission might be five instead of three. From what he had said it could never be inferred that the commission had been appointed or had even been considered by the cabinet.

Mr. Fielding said that he had announced before the Government that he would be responsible for announcements made in that valuable journal known as the Canada Gazette; and any announcements not appearing in that publication might not be entirely authorized.

Mr. Prefontaine said the paper in question had drawn conclusions hardly justified by the language he had used in the speech from the throne on the occasion in question. He had merely stated that these questions would be considered by the Government. He had not said that the commission had been merely stated that certain names had been suggested, and he had added that the commission might be five instead of three. From what he had said it could never be inferred that the commission had been appointed or had even been considered by the cabinet.

Mr. Fielding said that he had announced before the Government that he would be responsible for announcements made in that valuable journal known as the Canada Gazette; and any announcements not appearing in that publication might not be entirely authorized.

Mr. Prefontaine said the paper in question had drawn conclusions hardly justified by the language he had used in the speech from the throne on the occasion in question. He had merely stated that these questions would be considered by the Government. He had not said that the commission had been merely stated that certain names had been suggested, and he had added that the commission might be five instead of three. From what he had said it could never be inferred that the commission had been appointed or had even been considered by the cabinet.

Mr. Fielding said that he had announced before the Government that he would be responsible for announcements made in that valuable journal known as the Canada Gazette; and any announcements not appearing in that publication might not be entirely authorized.

Mr. Prefontaine said the paper in question had drawn conclusions hardly justified by the language he had used in the speech from the throne on the occasion in question. He had merely stated that these questions would be considered by the Government. He had not said that the commission had been merely stated that certain names had been suggested, and he had added that the commission might be five instead of three. From what he had said it could never be inferred that the commission had been appointed or had even been considered by the cabinet.

Mr. Fielding said that he had announced before the Government that he would be responsible for announcements made in that valuable journal known as the Canada Gazette; and any announcements not appearing in that publication might not be entirely authorized.

Mr. Prefontaine said the paper in question had drawn conclusions hardly justified by the language he had used in the speech from the throne on the occasion in question. He had merely stated that these questions would be considered by the Government. He had not said that the commission had been merely stated that certain names had been suggested, and he had added that the commission might be five instead of three. From what he had said it could never be inferred that the commission had been appointed or had even been considered by the cabinet.

Mr. Fielding said that he had announced before the Government that he would be responsible for announcements made in that valuable journal known as the Canada Gazette; and any announcements not appearing in that publication might not be entirely authorized.

Mr. Prefontaine said the paper in question had drawn conclusions hardly justified by the language he had used in the speech from the throne on the occasion in question. He had merely stated that these questions would be considered by the Government. He had not said that the commission had been merely stated that certain names had been suggested, and he had added that the commission might be five instead of three. From what he had said it could never be inferred that the commission had been appointed or had even been considered by the cabinet.

PAINFUL PERIODS are overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Miss Menard cured after doctors failed to help her.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me after doctors had failed, and I want other girls to know about it. During menstruation I suffered most intense pain low in the abdomen and in my limbs. At other times I had a heavy, depressed feeling which made my work seem twice as hard, and I grew pale and thin. The medicine the doctor gave me did not do me one bit of good, and I was thoroughly discouraged. The doctor wanted me to stop work, but, of course, I could not do that. I finally began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and felt better after taking the first bottle, and after taking six bottles I was entirely cured, and I am now in perfect health, and I am so grateful for it."—Miss GEORGE MENARD, 537 E. 152nd St., New York City.—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cures female ills when all other means have failed.

PARLIAMENT AND THE CIGARETTE

The House Passes Mr. Bickerdike's Resolution.

HON. PREFONTAINE'S SPEECH

Is Criticised by Opposition—Bills Have Second Reading—Notices of Motion.

Ottawa, April 1.—The greater part of this afternoon's session in the House was taken up in a debate on Mr. Bickerdike's motion for the prohibition of the manufacture, importation and sale of cigarettes. A number of members discussed the question, most of them in favor of the motion. The Premier concluded the debate by urging that the reform of youthful cigarette smokers be undertaken in the home.

A division was demanded, and the motion was carried by a vote of 103 votes to 48. Mr. Hyman cast his vote against the cigarette.

When the orders of the day were called Mr. Monk brought to the notice of the House the utterances of Mr. Prefontaine at the Laurier Club in Montreal on Monday last, as reported in the Montreal Herald. He had, according to that report, made important announcements of the Government's policy. He had stated that a commission of ministers would be appointed to inquire into the tariff, he had stated that the Government was considering the construction of a transcontinental railway, with an Atlantic port, would be assisted by the Government; he had stated when the election in St. James' division would be held, and he had stated that the session would last until July.

Mr. Monk asked Mr. Fielding, who was leading the House, to declare whether the Minister of Marine was speaking, was stating the policy of the Government.

Mr. Fielding said that, as he had announced before, the Government would be responsible for announcements made in that valuable journal known as the Canada Gazette; and any announcements not appearing in that publication might not be entirely authorized.

Mr. Prefontaine said the paper in question had drawn conclusions hardly justified by the language he had used in the speech from the throne on the occasion in question. He had merely stated that these questions would be considered by the Government. He had not said that the commission had been merely stated that certain names had been suggested, and he had added that the commission might be five instead of three. From what he had said it could never be inferred that the commission had been appointed or had even been considered by the cabinet.

Mr. Fielding said that he had announced before the Government that he would be responsible for announcements made in that valuable journal known as the Canada Gazette; and any announcements not appearing in that publication might not be entirely authorized.

Mr. Prefontaine said the paper in question had drawn conclusions hardly justified by the language he had used in the speech from the throne on the occasion in question. He had merely stated that these questions would be considered by the Government. He had not said that the commission had been merely stated that certain names had been suggested, and he had added that the commission might be five instead of three. From what he had said it could never be inferred that the commission had been appointed or had even been considered by the cabinet.

Mr. Fielding said that he had announced before the Government that he would be responsible for announcements made in that valuable journal known as the Canada Gazette; and any announcements not appearing in that publication might not be entirely authorized.

Mr. Prefontaine said the paper in question had drawn conclusions hardly justified by the language he had used in the speech from the throne on the occasion in question. He had merely stated that these questions would be considered by the Government. He had not said that the commission had been merely stated that certain names had been suggested, and he had added that the commission might be five instead of three. From what he had said it could never be inferred that the commission had been appointed or had even been considered by the cabinet.

Mr. Fielding said that he had announced before the Government that he would be responsible for announcements made in that valuable journal known as the Canada Gazette; and any announcements not appearing in that publication might not be entirely authorized.

Mr. Prefontaine said the paper in question had drawn conclusions hardly justified by the language he had used in the speech from the throne on the occasion in question. He had merely stated that these questions would be considered by the Government. He had not said that the commission had been merely stated that certain names had been suggested, and he had added that the commission might be five instead of three. From what he had said it could never be inferred that the commission had been appointed or had even been considered by the cabinet.

Mr. Fielding said that he had announced before the Government that he would be responsible for announcements made in that valuable journal known as the Canada Gazette; and any announcements not appearing in that publication might not be entirely authorized.

Mr. Prefontaine said the paper in question had drawn conclusions hardly justified by the language he had used in the speech from the throne on the occasion in question. He had merely stated that these questions would be considered by the Government. He had not said that the commission had been merely stated that certain names had been suggested, and he had added that the commission might be five instead of three. From what he had said it could never be inferred that the commission had been appointed or had even been considered by the cabinet.

Mr. Fielding said that he had announced before the Government that he would be responsible for announcements made in that valuable journal known as the Canada Gazette; and any announcements not appearing in that publication might not be entirely authorized.

Mr. Prefontaine said the paper in question had drawn conclusions hardly justified by the language he had used in the speech from the throne on the occasion in question. He had merely stated that these questions would be considered by the Government. He had not said that the commission had been merely stated that certain names had been suggested, and he had added that the commission might be five instead of three. From what he had said it could never be inferred that the commission had been appointed or had even been considered by the cabinet.

Mr. Fielding said that he had announced before the Government that he would be responsible for announcements made in that valuable journal known as the Canada Gazette; and any announcements not appearing in that publication might not be entirely authorized.

Mr. Prefontaine said the paper in question had drawn conclusions hardly justified by the language he had used in the speech from the throne on the occasion in question. He had merely stated that these questions would be considered by the Government. He had not said that the commission had been merely stated that certain names had been suggested, and he had added that the commission might be five instead of three. From what he had said it could never be inferred that the commission had been appointed or had even been considered by the cabinet.

Mr. Fielding said that he had announced before the Government that he would be responsible for announcements made in that valuable journal known as the Canada Gazette; and any announcements not appearing in that publication might not be entirely authorized.

Mr. Prefontaine said the paper in question had drawn conclusions hardly justified by the language he had used in the speech from the throne on the occasion in question. He had merely stated that these questions would be considered by the Government. He had not said that the commission had been merely stated that certain names had been suggested, and he had added that the commission might be five instead of three. From what he had said it could never be inferred that the commission had been appointed or had even been considered by the cabinet.

Mr. Fielding said that he had announced before the Government that he would be responsible for announcements made in that valuable journal known as the Canada Gazette; and any announcements not appearing in that publication might not be entirely authorized.

Mr. Prefontaine said the paper in question had drawn conclusions hardly justified by the language he had used in the speech from the throne on the occasion in question. He had merely stated that these questions would be considered by the Government. He had not said that the commission had been merely stated that certain names had been suggested, and he had added that the commission might be five instead of three. From what he had said it could never be inferred that the commission had been appointed or had even been considered by the cabinet.

Mr. Fielding said that he had announced before the Government that he would be responsible for announcements made in that valuable journal known as the Canada Gazette; and any announcements not appearing in that publication might not be entirely authorized.

Mr. Prefontaine said the paper in question had drawn conclusions hardly justified by the language he had used in the speech from the throne on the occasion in question. He had merely stated that these questions would be considered by the Government. He had not said that the commission had been merely stated that certain names had been suggested, and he had added that the commission might be five instead of three. From what he had said it could never be inferred that the commission had been appointed or had even been considered by the cabinet.

Mr. Fielding said that he had announced before the Government that he would be responsible for announcements made in that valuable journal known as the Canada Gazette; and any announcements not appearing in that publication might not be entirely authorized.

Millinery Opening

AT

KINGSMILL'S

Thursday, Friday, Saturday,

April 2nd, 3rd, 4th.

OUR NEW WAREHOUSE

GETTING INTO ORDER.

Sixty Packages European Goods Opened Out and Passed Into Stock.

ADMITTED---A LITTLE LATE.

REMEMBER, ALL THE NEWER STYLES

Kingsmill's

For his bill to amend the Railway Act, it is the same bill that he introduced last session, and is for the protection of railway employees.

NOTICES OF MOTION.

Mr. Monk will inquire as to any proposals made by the Government by the Trans-Canada Railway Company for the construction of a transcontinental line.

Mr. Monk will move for a return showing the quantity of vegetables imported at each of the ports of Montreal and Toronto from the United States, and the duty paid in each case. Col. Hughes will inquire as to the number of servants of the Government who went to South Africa. Were their places kept for them? Who were not reinstated? Who received Canadian pay whilst in South Africa? and will those who have not been reinstated be so at once?

Sir Wilfrid Laurier will move that from now on the Government orders have preference after questions.

Mr. Ingram will move for a return concerning cholera at Yarmouth, Ont.

Mr. Ingram will inquire as to reports received by the Department of Militia concerning the treatment of Canadians in the South African Constabulary. Has the department taken any action? Has the attention of the minister been called to an article in the Montreal Star of March 30? and what action does he propose to take?

SKATERS' COLD FEET

Can Be Prevented by the Use of "Foot Elm."

Skating entails considerable exercise of the muscles of the feet. This induces free perspiration. The perspiration quickly cools to the temperature of the surrounding atmosphere, and then the skater's feet are swathed in a blanket, as it were, of cold moisture. "Foot Elm" in the shoes prevents the excessive perspiration and keeps the feet warm. Try it and see it isn't all right. Price 25 cents a box of 18 packets. Sold by mail.

A. STOTT & JURY, BOWMANVILLE, ONT.

King Oscar, of Sweden, has presented a gold medal for award every fifth year to the world's most prominent mathematician.

The Savings Bank of Health is lots of red and vitalizing blood to nourish and invigorate the body. If your blood is thin and watery use "Ferrozone," it supplies the necessary elements, such as phosphorus and iron, and quickly restores lost strength and spirits. Ferrozone is an unequalled restorative for the tired, the sick, and the run down; it stimulates appetite, aids digestion, tones the nerves, and makes the system too healthy for disease to exist. No tonic does so much good in a short time as Ferrozone. Get it today from any druggist for 50c per box, or six boxes for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Folson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills Cure Constipation.

Genuine Castoria always bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Children Cry for CASTORIA.

OVER-DRAWING THE ACCOUNT

Every hour in the day you are using up nerve force, body tissue, blood cells, energy—everything that means health. Always taking away, always borrowing—do you ever pay it back? The thin body and pale blood say no; the reserve force is about gone. There is a general weakness and the body is run down. You have over-drawn your account; you must make up the deficiency, but how?

Scott's Emulsion makes it up with interest. It will clear you of the debt you owe health and give you a working surplus of solid flesh, good blood and healthy tissues.

In Scott's Emulsion the necessary element of fat is plentifully supplied in the most palatable and easily digested form. It enters the system quickly and without effort. There's no tax on the digestive organs—no strain on any part of the body.

We'll send you a sample free upon request.

SCOTT & BOWNE, 55 Front St., W., Toronto.

BETWEEN TWO FIRES.

BY MRS. C. N. WILLIAMSON,
Author of "Lady Mary of the Dark House,"
"The Woman in Gray,"
"Queen Sweetheart," "Fortune's Sport,"
"The Barn Stormers," etc.

[Copyright 1902. All Rights Reserved.]

"It is an insult to me that you should speak of losing it," I answered him, as boldly as I dared. The faith I claimed from him as my right. "Ivan, Ipanoff hates me now far more than he ever loved me, and a nature like his will stoop to the lowest depths of infamy for revenge. He has seen that we care for each other, and he would part us if he could. He'd stop at nothing. There's no lie too base for him to tell you of me; yet till this instant I would have sworn that you loved me too well to believe one."

In saying this, perhaps, half-unconsciously, I built a hope that, if the crash should come tomorrow, I might persuade Maxine that it was a villainous trick of Ipanoff's to ruin us both at a blow, thus saving his love for me in spite of all. It was a mad hope, and a wicked one; but I was at my wits' end; and, if innocent of this one crime, Ipanoff was guilty of many another which had not yet been brought home to him.

"How could I help believing my own eyes?" Maxine demanded. "The fellow dared to offer a wager, but, of course, I would not listen. When he said that he was to sup with you at your house here I told him he lied, and I resolved that I would not even watch you leave the theatre, as he suggested. Even to do that would be weakness and lack of faith, I assured myself. And yet, when the time came, I could not resist the temptation of my life that, if he tried to speak with you as you were going to your carriage, you would not permit him a word, and it was because I persuaded myself at last that I had been deceived from him that I finally waited to see you come out. I could hardly credit the evidence of my own eyes when I saw you whispering with him, apparently making an appointment, and by that time I was half mad. I followed your carriage. I saw it stop, saw you get out, saw you go with Ipanoff, after putting me off with a plea of illness, despite my love and longing. I saw you drive, not towards the Rue d'Anjou, but away from it. I knew not what terrible thoughts were battling in my brain. I halted a cab, and told the man I would pay him well to keep your brougham in sight. But, after all, I lost it, and followed and followed by mistake, only learning that I was wrong when it stopped and a strange man and woman got out. Then I came here. Now I have confessed to you all my doubts. Tell me, with your dear voice and true eyes, that they have wronged you, and make me believe in your love and loyalty to me again, if you can."

I tried to laugh, but the effort was not a success. "You have faith in yourself as well as in me," I said. "You can fancy that I would be false to you for a man like Ivan Ipanoff."

"Who can tell what a woman loves in a man? Explain yourself to me, Juliette. Don't fail!"

"Ipanoff pretended that he knew a terrible secret concerning you," I said, as steadily as I could. "I feared that in some strange way he had heard about the necklace. He vowed that he would tell me all, and help me to save you from ruin, if I would let him drive with me tonight for half an hour in my brougham. He said this in a letter which was handed to me by the stage doorkeeper just after I parted with you. If it had not been for the necklace I would have refused; but I felt that I must find out if he really knew anything. It was all for you, Max—all for you. Now do you believe me?"

"I—I think that I believe you," he said, slowly. "And yet—and yet—"

"Is there an 'and yet'?" Don't you see the plot? The man was playing us off, one against the other. He boasted to you, and followed and followed by me, and he would tell me all, and help me to save you from ruin, if I would let him drive with me tonight for half an hour in my brougham. He said this in a letter which was handed to me by the stage doorkeeper just after I parted with you. If it had not been for the necklace I would have refused; but I felt that I must find out if he really knew anything. It was all for you, Max—all for you. Now do you believe me?"

"I—I think that I believe you," he said, slowly. "And yet—and yet—"

"Is there an 'and yet'?" Don't you see the plot? The man was playing us off, one against the other. He boasted to you, and followed and followed by me, and he would tell me all, and help me to save you from ruin, if I would let him drive with me tonight for half an hour in my brougham. He said this in a letter which was handed to me by the stage doorkeeper just after I parted with you. If it had not been for the necklace I would have refused; but I felt that I must find out if he really knew anything. It was all for you, Max—all for you. Now do you believe me?"

"I—I think that I believe you," he said, slowly. "And yet—and yet—"

"Is there an 'and yet'?" Don't you see the plot? The man was playing us off, one against the other. He boasted to you, and followed and followed by me, and he would tell me all, and help me to save you from ruin, if I would let him drive with me tonight for half an hour in my brougham. He said this in a letter which was handed to me by the stage doorkeeper just after I parted with you. If it had not been for the necklace I would have refused; but I felt that I must find out if he really knew anything. It was all for you, Max—all for you. Now do you believe me?"

"I—I think that I believe you," he said, slowly. "And yet—and yet—"

"Is there an 'and yet'?" Don't you see the plot? The man was playing us off, one against the other. He boasted to you, and followed and followed by me, and he would tell me all, and help me to save you from ruin, if I would let him drive with me tonight for half an hour in my brougham. He said this in a letter which was handed to me by the stage doorkeeper just after I parted with you. If it had not been for the necklace I would have refused; but I felt that I must find out if he really knew anything. It was all for you, Max—all for you. Now do you believe me?"

"I—I think that I believe you," he said, slowly. "And yet—and yet—"

"Is there an 'and yet'?" Don't you see the plot? The man was playing us off, one against the other. He boasted to you, and followed and followed by me, and he would tell me all, and help me to save you from ruin, if I would let him drive with me tonight for half an hour in my brougham. He said this in a letter which was handed to me by the stage doorkeeper just after I parted with you. If it had not been for the necklace I would have refused; but I felt that I must find out if he really knew anything. It was all for you, Max—all for you. Now do you believe me?"

"I—I think that I believe you," he said, slowly. "And yet—and yet—"

"Is there an 'and yet'?" Don't you see the plot? The man was playing us off, one against the other. He boasted to you, and followed and followed by me, and he would tell me all, and help me to save you from ruin, if I would let him drive with me tonight for half an hour in my brougham. He said this in a letter which was handed to me by the stage doorkeeper just after I parted with you. If it had not been for the necklace I would have refused; but I felt that I must find out if he really knew anything. It was all for you, Max—all for you. Now do you believe me?"

"I—I think that I believe you," he said, slowly. "And yet—and yet—"

"Is there an 'and yet'?" Don't you see the plot? The man was playing us off, one against the other. He boasted to you, and followed and followed by me, and he would tell me all, and help me to save you from ruin, if I would let him drive with me tonight for half an hour in my brougham. He said this in a letter which was handed to me by the stage doorkeeper just after I parted with you. If it had not been for the necklace I would have refused; but I felt that I must find out if he really knew anything. It was all for you, Max—all for you. Now do you believe me?"

"I—I think that I believe you," he said, slowly. "And yet—and yet—"

"Is there an 'and yet'?" Don't you see the plot? The man was playing us off, one against the other. He boasted to you, and followed and followed by me, and he would tell me all, and help me to save you from ruin, if I would let him drive with me tonight for half an hour in my brougham. He said this in a letter which was handed to me by the stage doorkeeper just after I parted with you. If it had not been for the necklace I would have refused; but I felt that I must find out if he really knew anything. It was all for you, Max—all for you. Now do you believe me?"

"I—I think that I believe you," he said, slowly. "And yet—and yet—"

"Is there an 'and yet'?" Don't you see the plot? The man was playing us off, one against the other. He boasted to you, and followed and followed by me, and he would tell me all, and help me to save you from ruin, if I would let him drive with me tonight for half an hour in my brougham. He said this in a letter which was handed to me by the stage doorkeeper just after I parted with you. If it had not been for the necklace I would have refused; but I felt that I must find out if he really knew anything. It was all for you, Max—all for you. Now do you believe me?"

"I—I think that I believe you," he said, slowly. "And yet—and yet—"

"Is there an 'and yet'?" Don't you see the plot? The man was playing us off, one against the other. He boasted to you, and followed and followed by me, and he would tell me all, and help me to save you from ruin, if I would let him drive with me tonight for half an hour in my brougham. He said this in a letter which was handed to me by the stage doorkeeper just after I parted with you. If it had not been for the necklace I would have refused; but I felt that I must find out if he really knew anything. It was all for you, Max—all for you. Now do you believe me?"

"I—I think that I believe you," he said, slowly. "And yet—and yet—"

"Is there an 'and yet'?" Don't you see the plot? The man was playing us off, one against the other. He boasted to you, and followed and followed by me, and he would tell me all, and help me to save you from ruin, if I would let him drive with me tonight for half an hour in my brougham. He said this in a letter which was handed to me by the stage doorkeeper just after I parted with you. If it had not been for the necklace I would have refused; but I felt that I must find out if he really knew anything. It was all for you, Max—all for you. Now do you believe me?"

"I—I think that I believe you," he said, slowly. "And yet—and yet—"

"Is there an 'and yet'?" Don't you see the plot? The man was playing us off, one against the other. He boasted to you, and followed and followed by me, and he would tell me all, and help me to save you from ruin, if I would let him drive with me tonight for half an hour in my brougham. He said this in a letter which was handed to me by the stage doorkeeper just after I parted with you. If it had not been for the necklace I would have refused; but I felt that I must find out if he really knew anything. It was all for you, Max—all for you. Now do you believe me?"

"I—I think that I believe you," he said, slowly. "And yet—and yet—"

"Is there an 'and yet'?" Don't you see the plot? The man was playing us off, one against the other. He boasted to you, and followed and followed by me, and he would tell me all, and help me to save you from ruin, if I would let him drive with me tonight for half an hour in my brougham. He said this in a letter which was handed to me by the stage doorkeeper just after I parted with you. If it had not been for the necklace I would have refused; but I felt that I must find out if he really knew anything. It was all for you, Max—all for you. Now do you believe me?"

"I—I think that I believe you," he said, slowly. "And yet—and yet—"

"Is there an 'and yet'?" Don't you see the plot? The man was playing us off, one against the other. He boasted to you, and followed and followed by me, and he would tell me all, and help me to save you from ruin, if I would let him drive with me tonight for half an hour in my brougham. He said this in a letter which was handed to me by the stage doorkeeper just after I parted with you. If it had not been for the necklace I would have refused; but I felt that I must find out if he really knew anything. It was all for you, Max—all for you. Now do you believe me?"

GOSSIP OF THE LOCAL RUNNERS

Mr. Beck's Horses Leave for Toronto—Jockey Price May Ride—Mr. Hueston's Entry.

Mr. Adam Beck's three King's Plate entries and four other horses which he has entered in the Toronto races will leave today for the Woodbine, Toronto, where they will be given track education and where they will be able to be worked in fast company. Trainer Cook and Jockey Billy Price will go with the string, and it is quite likely that the latter will have a mount on one of the horses in the plate. He has been doing fine riding at Queen's Park lately and has proved that his southern experience has been of great benefit. A contract is held on his services by Messrs. Flaherty and Beck and these claimed him some weeks ago. Had it not been for this the boy would have likely stayed in the south. It is probable that out of the mayor's three entries, only one will start on May 23. It is just possible that a second may break away, but horsemen say that only one will start.

The Barnes, Mr. R. Hueston's entry, will not be sent to Toronto till a few weeks previous to the commencement of the meet. The colt is being worked into fine shape by Trainer Curtin, and because of his fine line of breeding and bursts of speed he has shown, local bettors are watching him with a close eye. Several have expressed great confidence in him. His workouts will commence when his actual ability will become known.

SCORES COULD BE NO CLOSER

In Both Yesterday's Collegiate Football Games They Were 1 to 0—Fast Play.

Yesterday's football games at the high school were as close as any could have been. Both games ended in scores of 1 to 0. The teams were very evenly matched. The first game, that between Form II, E and I. A, in group 2, resulted in a victory for the latter by a score of 1 to 0. A penalty kick was the cause of the one goal made. Some brilliant plays were made by both sides. The lineup: II, E—Gillespie, goal; Thompson, back; Hayne, half-back; Reid, half-back; Wood, Fonger, Campbell and Kingsmill, forwards. I, A—Walker, goal; McLean, back; Fisher, half-back; Grigg, half-back; Parker, Reid, Hennigan and Costello, forwards. Referee—R. A. Little, B. A.

In the second game, Form I, D defeated II, A by the same score. The lineup: I, D—Stewart, goal; Moffat, back; Stone, half-back; Blackwell, half-back; Sage, Harding, Stenburg and Forsythe, forwards. II, A—Thornley, goal; McEwan, back; Marshall, half-back; Waud, half-back; Costello, Forsythe, Little and Nickle, forwards. Referee—R. A. Little, B. A.

The proposed match between the city and country boys of the school has been delayed until next week.

BIG BOAT RACE WAS WON BY CAMBRIDGE IN RAIN

Oxford Men Distanced by Six Whole Lengths.

Result Was Predicted—Both Crews Were in Good Form.

THE OAR.

Putney, England, April 1.—It was raining and a light wind was blowing previous to the start of the Oxford-Cambridge annual boat race today. The water was calm, and the crews were in good form. The race was won by Cambridge by six whole lengths.

The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions. The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions.

The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions. The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions.

The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions. The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions.

The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions. The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions.

The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions. The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions.

The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions. The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions.

The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions. The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions.

The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions. The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions.

The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions. The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions.

The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions. The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions.

The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions. The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions.

The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions. The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions.

The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions. The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions.

The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions. The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions.

BIG BOAT RACE WAS WON

Oxford Men Distanced by Six Whole Lengths.

Result Was Predicted—Both Crews Were in Good Form.

THE OAR.

Putney, England, April 1.—It was raining and a light wind was blowing previous to the start of the Oxford-Cambridge annual boat race today. The water was calm, and the crews were in good form. The race was won by Cambridge by six whole lengths.

The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions. The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions.

The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions. The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions.

The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions. The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions.

The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions. The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions.

The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions. The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions.

The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions. The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions.

The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions. The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions.

The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions. The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions.

The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions. The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions.

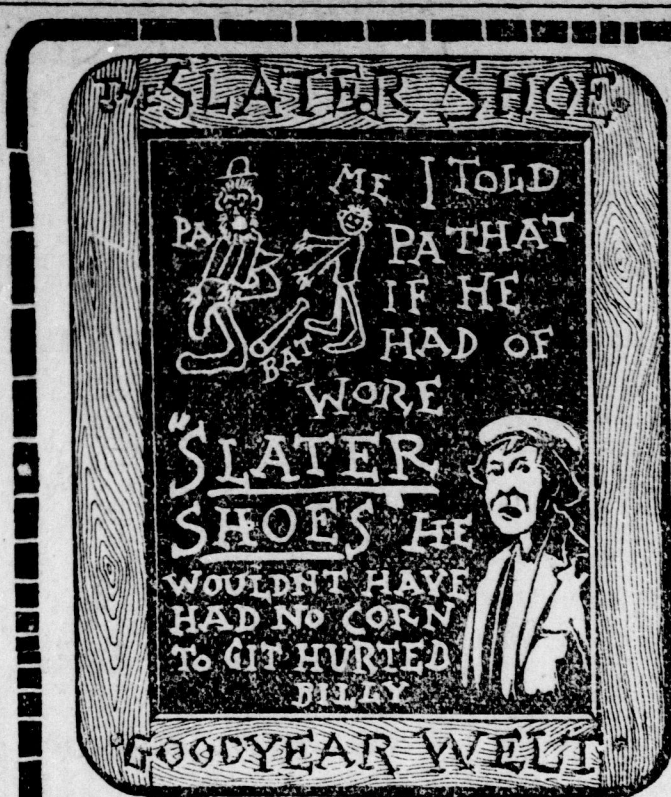

The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions. The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions.

The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions. The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions.

The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions. The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions.

The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions. The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions.

The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions. The boats started at 1:33 o'clock. Cambridge immediately shot ahead, and chose the Surrey side of the river, but the choice carried little advantage under the prevailing conditions.

Made in Canada 40 Years.
Men's and Women's, $3.50 and $5.00.
Boys' $2.50 and $3.00.
Sold in 15 "Slater" Stores and 200 Agencies.
"Slater" Shoe Polish Prolongs Shoe Life.

Lasting

Corns usually begin in the lasting room of a shoe factory.

Lasts cost money, so most shoe factories run short-lived. The shoes are on in the morning and off at night.

Consequently the leather retains all its original stretch and shrink, and corns result.

"Slater" shoes are left on the lasts long enough to take all the stretch and shrink forever out of the leather. So, if a "Slater Shoe" fits when it is tried on it will fit till worn out, and retain its shape.

Slater Shoe

Slater Shoe Store
171 Dundas St.,
LONDON, ONT.

Passengers for Europe

should travel by the Royal Mail Train

INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY

leaving Montreal at 12 noon, Sunday, which lands

Passengers, Baggage And Mail

Alongside the Royal Mail Steamships at Halifax the following Monday evening, thus saving 24 hours of a sea voyage.

Write for time tables, fares, etc., to 10 King Street West, Toronto, Ont.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

EASTER RATES, 1903.

For the Easter Holidays the Canadian Pacific will issue round trip tickets as follows: General public—Single First-Class Fare, going April 9 to 15, inclusive; returning up to and including April 14, 1903. Teachers and students (on surrender of standard certificate signed by principal)—Single First-Class Fare and One-Third, going April 4 to 11, inclusive; returning up to and including April 21, 1903. Territory—Between all stations in Canada, Port Arthur, Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Detroit, Mich., and east, and to, but not from, Buffalo, N. Y. For full particulars apply to your nearest Canadian Pacific agent, 101 Dundas street, corner Richmond, London, Ont. A. H. NOTMAN, assistant general passenger agent, Toronto.

MICHIGAN CENTRAL

"The Niagara Falls Route."

April 9th to 13th, good to return until April 14, account

EASTER HOLIDAYS.

To students and teachers tickets will be issued at Fare and One-Third, on presentation of certificate, on April 4 to 11, good to return until April 21. Full information at city office or depot.

JOHN PAUL, G. P. and T. A. C. P. and T. A.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

Return tickets will be issued between all stations in Canada at Single First-Class Fare, going Thursday, April 9, to Monday, April 13, inclusive. Valid returning until Tuesday, April 14, 1903.

Tickets, folders and all information from agents. E. DE LA HOOKE, C. P. and T. A.; C. E. HORNING, depot ticket agent.

SCHOOL VACATIONS

To students and teachers of schools and colleges, on surrender of certificate signed by principal, return tickets will be issued at Single Fare and One-Third, going April 4 to April 11, inclusive. Valid returning until Tuesday, April 14, 1903.

Tickets, folders and all information from agents. E. DE LA HOOKE, C. P. and T. A.; C. E. HORNING, depot ticket agent.

ALLAN LINE

ROYAL MAIL STEAMSHIPS.

From ST. JOHN, N.B., every Saturday, and from HALIFAX, N.S., every Monday, to Liverpool, via Moville.

First cabin, $80 and upwards; second cabin, $75 and $40; and third class, to Liverpool, Derry, Belfast, Glasgow and London, $25 and $20. Through tickets to South Africa.

London Agents—E. De La Hooke, W. Fulton, F. B. Clarke.

Russian Jews to the number of 24,000 came to New York during 1902.

THERE CAN BE a difference of opinion on most subjects, but there is only one opinion as to the reliability of Mother Graves' Worm Extirminator. It is safe, sure and effective.

A farthing has been found in the stomach of a codfish at Eyemouth, England.

For information as to rates, routes, etc., address

J. A. RICHARDSON, District Passenger Agent, northeast corner King and Yonge streets, Toronto.

Not Even Crazy People would scour their faces with bricks, but thousands of persons do things infinitely more foolish.

The skin of the face, though delicate, is rhinoceros hide compared with the mucous membrane of the stomach and bowels.

Yet these sensitive organs are constantly scourged with drastic medicines, to their incalculable injury.

The Cure for Constipation is not a violent cathartic, but a mild and tonic laxative—which is another way of saying

IRON-OX TABLETS

Utica, N. Y., April 1.—Dennis Gallagher, of Buffalo, defeated Adam Miller, of Syracuse, in a wrestling contest here last night, catch-as-catch-can, winning two of three falls.

YACHTING.

STOOD THE TEST.

Gourack, Scotland, April 1.—Rain was falling over the Clyde this morning, and the two Shamrocks remained at their moorings. It was hoped the weather would clear up in the afternoon and enable the yachts to have another trial spin. The weather temporarily cleared at midday and orders were issued for the racing sails to be set on both yachts. As the two yachts were fetching out of the shelter of the bay a westerly squall staggered and laid them nearly flat. The gear of Shamrock I. stayed down with a run. Shamrock III. stood the test

No One Knows

better than our keenest Canadian competitors that the work done in the F.C.B.C.

Y. M. C. A. BUILDING, LONDON, ONT., in business and shorthand is of a superior grade.

Remember, it costs no more to take a course with us than with some second or third rate school.

Spring Term, April 1.
J. W. WESTERVELT, Principal.

THE SORT OF TAILORING THAT WILL STRIKE YOUR FANCY.

You men who admire garments that have some snap in their style will find your ideals in our tailoring. We've the skill to turn out garments that fit and satisfy in every particular. All that's newest and best in fabrics moderately priced.

O. Labelle, 372 Richmond St.

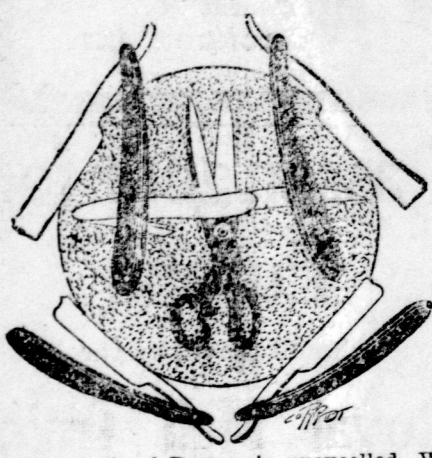

ELEC. WIRING

of every description is our specialty. We employ none but experts for this work. Get our estimates of cost.

The Electrical Construction Co., London, Limited.
32 to 40 Dundas Street.

Ah! There's

Just what I want, a good Knife.

Our stock of Razors is unexcelled. We carry a line of Gem Safety Razors; impossible to cut yourself, shaving with them. Scissors? Well, if you want anything in this line, give us a trial.

Brock's Gun Store,
192 Dundas Street.

FAIRBAIN,
THE TAILOR,
Richmond Street, Opposite City Hall

Marshall Bros. & Co.
67 DUNDAS STREET.
Choice Teas and coffee. Call and get a package of Bountiful Ceylon Tea, 25c and 40c per pound; black or mixed.

J. T. Stephenson,
The Leading Undertaker,
York styles of all kinds of Caskets, Robes and Funeral Supplies of every description. The finest Funeral Cars in Canada.
Residence on Premises,
104 Dundas St.
Phone 459.

W. J. SMITH & SONS
Undertakers and Embalmers,
112 Dundas St. Phone 586. Open day and night. Residence on premises.

W. CAVEN BARRON,
Pianist, Principal.
Best teachers in the city at the Conservatory. The rehearsals bring every pupil under Mr. Barron's direction, and reports of pupils progress are sent home to parents.

HARDING HALL GIRLS' SCHOOL
Limited.
Literature, Languages, Music, Art, Physical Training, Education.
J. J. BAKER, A.M., Principal.

H. C. McBRIDE, 213 Dundas St.
ARCHITECT.

R. K. COWAN
BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, ETC.,
County Bldgs., next Court House, London.

The East Indians called rock crystal an unripe diamond.

"MAN IS FILLED WITH MISERY." This is not true. The wall, sound of lung, clear of eye, alert and buoyant with health, are not miserable. To be well is to be happy, and we can all be well by getting and keeping our bodies in a healthy state. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil will help all to do this.

Professor Tizzoni, of Rome, believes he has discovered a serum for curing pneumonia.

DR. A. W. CHASE'S 25c CATARRH CURE
Is sent direct to the diseased parts by the Improved Blower. Heals the ureters, clears the air passages, stops droppings in the throat and permanently cures Catarrh and Hay Fever. Blower free. All dealers, or Dr. A. W. Chase, Medicine Co., Toronto and Buffalo.

New Neckwear, Shirts and Collars.

Some very Handsome Ties opened today, for 25c and 50c.

Stylish and up-to-date shapes in Collars opened today, 2 for 25c.

Swell patterns in Colored Shirts, soft and stiff bosoms, opened today, $1.00 each.

GRAHAM BROS.

LOOKS WELL LOOK SWELL.

If there's anything in looks our suitings have it.

Deeks & Munson,
Merchant Tailors.

Dirty White Walls

can be made to look like new by using "Jewel Wall Finish." This is a sanitary kalsomine, prepared after many years of experience, for use on plastered walls, brick, stone, metal and wood surfaces. Covers thoroughly with one coat; dries with a smooth, hard surface, and will not peel or rub off.

JEWEL MIXED PAINTS
cover more surface, cover it better and wear longer than any other paints on the market.

GURD'S
185 Dundas St.

Pompeian Massage Cream.

for cleansing and beautifying the skin. Removes freckles, blackheads, pimples, moles, tan, chapped face and hands.

SOLD ONLY BY
J. E. Keays & Co.
London Pharmacy.
268 Dundas St., Near Wellington.

DR. JARVIS, Dentist,

OFFICE Corner Dundas and Clarence, Phone 1480.
Visits Mount Brydges Every Friday.

Thos Wilson

MERCHANT TAILOR,

213 Dundas Street,
Duffell Block. PHONE 596.

Chatelaines

—AND—
Hand Bags.

Best assortment in the city in Steel Cut Bags, Monkey, Seal and all kinds of leather.
From 50c to $10.00.

THOS. GILLEAN,

Issuer of Marriage Licenses,
402 Richmond St.

Official timekeeper for London Street Railway.

The Acme of Excellence Is Embodied In

Johnston Bros.' XXX Bread.

It's being used in more and more homes every day. Do you want the best? Your grocer will supply you.

JOHNSTON BROS.,

PHONE 518.

LONDON AND DISTRICT.

—Mrs. Oscar A. Evans and daughter, of Galt, are visiting here.

—Mr. A. McTavish, of this city, has bought the George W. Robinson stock at Galt, and will dispose of it in that town.

—The St. Andrew's (London) scholarship of $50 at the Presbyterian College, Montreal, was won by Mr. A. S. Reid, B. A.

—Mr. D. H. Gordon, of Elmwood avenue, returned last evening from Toronto, where he attended the funeral of his brother, the late Dr. Gordon.

—A large attendance of anglers and members of the Thames River Angling Association is requested to attend their monthly meeting at its rooms this evening.

WAS A MILD MONTH.

The temperature during March averaged 10 degrees warmer than in any previous year, and there was not an exceptionally heavy rainfall, either, only 1.60 being shown at the local observatory. The warmest day of the month was the 19th, when the thermometer showed 76 degrees, and the coldest day was the first, when the reading was 12 degrees.

MADE A CHANGE.

The East Middlesex Farmers' Institute will vary the usual order of things this season by having the annual excursion to Niagara Falls instead of to the Model Farm at Guelph. The date set is June 11, and a big crowd is anticipated. The committee has arranged with the Grand Trunk to have special trains leave Denfield and Kelly's Siding in time to connect with

Absolute Purity

Is a Characteristic OF HAMILTON'S PORTER. It costs no more than ordinary kinds. Delivered in prime condition by dealers everywhere.

KENT BREWERY,
Jos. Hamilton, Proprietor.

A MINUTE LATE

To railroad men a minute means much life or death sometimes. A watch that keeps accurate time is a treasure. Every watch we sell must prove an accurate timekeeper. Railroad men and travelers are assured of perfect satisfaction. Lowest prices in London for reliable watches.

WARD, 374 Richmond Street.

Start a Savings Account Now . . .

When you have saved one hundred dollars

$100.00
We will give you a Bond bearing four per cent interest

4 Per Cent

The Canadian S. & L. Co.

420 & 422 Richmond St.

M. H. ROWLAND, Manager.

the excursion train here. The change from Guelph to the Falls was made because there was a general feeling that the patrons from all parts of the district would appreciate it.

ART CLUB RECITAL.

The Woman's Morning Music Club and their friends were yesterday afternoon treated to a recital of Tenneyson's poem, "Enoch Arden." The reader was Miss Grace Blackburn, while Miss Grace Blackburn interpreted the musical settings by Howard Struett. The program was somewhat out of the ordinary, and gave pleasure to the audience.

IT'LL BE THE BREAD NEXT

Bakers Say That Price of Loaves Should Go Up.

But There's No Immediate Danger of an Advance.

Rumors of an advance in the price of bread have been current for a few days, but the local bakers say there is no likelihood that Londoners will have to pay more than 5 cents a loaf for the staff of life, even though the price of material has taken an upward bound and labor also is dearer.

"But bread should go up," said one of the leading bakers today. "As a matter of fact, it cannot be made for the money at which it is being sold by some firms. There are some who sell so low that the retailer only charges 4 cents. Others charge more. The first-named lose money."

"And why don't they advance their prices and make them the same as the other bakers?" was asked.

"A few of us have been trying to maintain the 5-cent price, but the others undersell us lest they lose their custom. They are not paying running expenses. I know of one large dealer in the city who had two offers to sell out from smaller firms last week, but he figured that in one week one of the firms operated at a loss of $9, and the other lost $900 in the year. Both were selling bread at the low price."

TENDERS WERE NOT IN

Congregational Meeting to Discuss School Plans Postponed.

The congregation of the First Presbyterian Church will meet on the 14th to consider the question of erecting a new Sunday school building. By that time the plans will be completed and tenders received, and the congregation will know exactly what the building will cost. A meeting was called for the 14th, but it was postponed. The subscription lists now amount to over $600, which is an assurance that the congregation desires to have an up-to-date structure.

Boils were so painful could not sleep at night.

APPEARED ON NECK, LEGS AND ARMS.

Burdock Blood Bitters

CURED THEM.

It is well-known to all that bad blood is the direct cause of all skin diseases and it is necessary for the blood to be cleansed before the eruptions will disappear. For this purpose there is nothing to equal Burdock Blood Bitters as the thousands of testimonials we have on hand will testify.

Mr. Willard Thompson, McNeill's Mills, P.E.I., writes us as follows: "I wish to state to you what Burdock Blood Bitters has done for me. Some time ago my blood got out of order and many boils appeared on my neck, legs and arms. They were so painful that I could not sleep at night. After having tried many different remedies without any success, I finally decided, on the advice of a friend, to use Burdock Blood Bitters. Before I had quite used two bottles the boils had completely disappeared, and I wish to emphasize the fact that I think Burdock Blood Bitters the best blood purifier on the market to-day."

THE COMMISSION'S POWER.

The bill itself, Mr. Blair said, would give the commission power to regulate rates and deal with shippers' grievances. The provisions were such that they would provide against undue preferences. They had adapted the best provisions of the English and American systems in this respect, and he thought they had a better law in

Boston Brown Bread

If you are tired of White Breads, try a loaf of our Brown Bread for a change.

If your Grocer hasn't got it, Phone to 229, THE PARNELL-DEAN STEAM BAKING CO., Ltd., 75-77 Bloor St. City.

ANOTHER MAN KILLED IN THE GRAND TRUNK YARDS

John E. Creery, of York Street, Fell Under Freight Car.

Head Caught by Wheel and Neck Was Crushed.

The Grand Trunk lost another of its employees in the local yards last night, the victim this time being a brakeman, John E. Creery, of 739 York street east. The accident happened shortly after 10 o'clock, and it resulted in the man's instant death.

At the time of the accident, Creery was engaged in making up one of the "high ball" freight trains which leave at 11 o'clock. A box car had been given a flying shunt by a locomotive, and Creery was walking ahead of it to see that the coupling would be made properly. The car was moving slowly, and

The Louisiana Historical Society has voted to devote two days in December next to a celebration in New Orleans of the centenary of the Louisiana purchase. As now designed, the celebration will open with a colonial ball on Friday evening, Dec. 18, Saturday to be devoted to the entertainment of the President, an inspection of the Louisiana Historical Society exhibit, military parades, etc., and the observances concluding on Sunday with a grand pontifical mass and ceremonies at the Cabildo, in Jackson square.

MINISTER OF RAILWAYS AND CANALS VISITS LONDON

Hon. A. G. Blair Came to Take a Look at the City.

Important Bills Come Before the House This Session.

Proposal to Form Railway Commission—Would Have Greater Powers Than Any Similar Body.

Hon. A. G. Blair, Minister of Railways and Canals, in the Canadian Government, visited London for a few hours yesterday. He came up in the afternoon in his private car over the C. P. R. The object of his visit was to have a look at the city in a few hours that he had to spare. He expressed himself as quite satisfied that he had taken the trouble to come here, for a look about the city had opened his eyes to a certain extent; he had not been under the impression that London was so nice a place. He was particularly interested in the city on account of it being the home of the chairman of the railway committee, Mr. C. S. Hyman, M. P., to whom he paid tribute as a man who would be of great value to the department.

THE RAILWAY COMMISSION.

Speaking in reference to the railway commission, which The Advertiser interviewed him, Mr. Blair agreed that the appointment of a railway commission would be one of the most important acts of the present session, the bill now before the House being of second importance only to the redistribution bill. The growth of railways in this country and the increased competition of the railways with the law and the commission could do so much good would work, Mr. Blair said that it had been given greater powers than any similar organization in any other country. The bill proposed to give the commission executive authority, and it would exercise all the power now enjoyed by the railway committee of the Privy Council, which it would supersede. There was provision for one appeal from the commission, to the Governor-General-in-Council. In giving the commission more power than any other country's commission, the bill embodied the very best provisions of the American and other systems in all respects. At the same time Canada was able to see where the American system had failed and how improvements could be made. On the other side failures had resulted from the fact that there were defects in the law and co-operation with the judiciary. This would be overcome in the present proposed legislation for Canada, so that, he thought, that if the United States were to have the same law, it would be a great improvement. He had great hopes in the success of the commission, and he trusted that Parliament would give the bill the consideration it deserved. It was a matter of the most vital importance and he was glad, he said, to be able to bring such a bill in at this session of Parliament, a session in which railway legislation was expected to be exceedingly heavy.

Mr. Blair was accompanied by Mr. J. Lambert Payne, his private secretary. Mr. Payne formerly lived in this city.

Mr. Blair, by the way, is a great art connoisseur, and while in the city yesterday he spent an hour in Colerick's store. The Minister of Railways has one of the finest art collections in Canada.

DR. BERT LEYS HURT

Horse Reared, Throwing Him From Rig and Fell on Him.

Dr. Bert Leys, of Detroit, met with an accident Wednesday night while driving near the C. P. R. station. The horse which he was driving—the beautiful thoroughbred owned by Col. Leys—suddenly reared and then dropped that the doctor was thrown out of the rig and he received a bad shaking up, the horse rolling over him when he was thrown out. He was taken to his father's residence and his injuries attended to.

This morning he was reported as doing very well and will soon be around again.

Coughs, colds, hoarse voices, and other throat ailments are quickly relieved by Vapo-Crescentine tablets. 25 cents per box. All druggists.

Indianapolis is to have a $250,000 loan to be paid for by private subscription.

"TIRED ALL THE TIME."

Women in the Spring Time Need a Tonic. Spring Fever is Spring Catarrh. Pe-ru-na Cures Catarrh.

A Beautiful Society Matron's Recovery.

Memphis, Tenn., 329 Elliott Street.

The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O. suffered for several years with headache, brought on by nervous prostration. I was also afflicted with insomnia. I would get up in the morning more weary than when I retired and I used to dread the approach of night. Peruna came into my home as a welcome guest, and within three short months I was like another woman. I have now enjoyed perfect health for over a year, and those who have suffered as I did will know how happy I am.—Mrs. E. L. Brown.

As a spring medicine Peruna is a never-failing remedy. It cleanses the blood through digestion, and gives tone to the whole system by increasing the nutritive value of the food. "Spring fever," as it is sometimes called, which produces a tired-out, sleepy feeling, and inability to do much mental or physical work, is the result of a sluggish digestion.

The great popularity that Peruna has is due to the fact that in all such cases it at once corrects digestive derangements and enriches the blood by purifying this very important source of that vital fluid.

Mrs. J. E. Finn, 82 East High Street, Buffalo, N. Y., writes:

"A few years ago I had to give up social life entirely, as my health was completely broken down. The doctor advised a complete change and rest for a year. As this was out of the question for a time, I began to look around for other means of restoring my health.

"I had often heard of Peruna as an excellent tonic, so I bought a bottle to see what it would do for me, and it certainly took hold of my system and rejuvenated it, and in less than two months I was in perfect health, and now when I feel worn out or tired a dose of two of Peruna is all that I need."—Mrs. J. E. Finn.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

FAIR BOARD SHOULD INVITE TRADE DELEGATES

Mr. John Law Makes Suggestion That Might Be Followed Up.

British Manufacturers Will Be in This Country at Right Time.

An interesting letter from his nephew, Mr. Henry Simpson, of Middlesbrough, England, has been received by Mr. John Law, of this city. Mr. Simpson is a journalist, well-known in England as a writer upon trade topics. He is also secretary of the Middlesbrough Chamber of Commerce. He says in his letter that he has had several communications from the British manufacturers in the interests of Canadian development, and adds: "We shall hear a good deal about Canada between this and August, for at the invitation of the Montreal Board of Trade, the fifth congress of Chambers of Commerce of the Empire will be held in that city on Aug. 17, 18, 19 and 20, and delegates will be sent by chambers from all parts of the United Kingdom and her colonies. We have about 120 chambers in the United Kingdom alone." Mr. Simpson says further: "We are informed that it is the intention of the Montreal Board of Trade to arrange for the free inland transportation for the delegates to various parts of the Dominion in order that an opportunity may be given them of acquainting themselves with its vast agricultural and mineral resources, and its industrial development and also with its requirements for the products of the mother country and the empire in general. I should think that there will be 300 delegates present, and the trip altogether will be a most enjoyable and instructive one. Of course, the trip will follow the business meetings, and this will be after the 20th of August."

Mr. Law made the suggestion, when secretary of this to The Advertiser this morning, that the Western Fair Board endeavor to get some of these delegates to visit the fair this year. It is very likely that many of them will still be in the country at that time, and quite probably would come to the fair if invited.

Mr. Simpson tells Mr. Law that he had been in communication with certain manufacturers of steel rails, with a view of bringing them and ex-Mayor Rumball, who is in the old country in the interests of the London and Southwestern Traction Company, together. He says that Mr. Rumball will not be able to get to the fair in Scotland, for they don't roll them there now. The British rail mills now are located at Middlesbrough, Barrow, Sheffield, and South Wales. "They are all well supplied with work at the present time," he writes, "in fact, the rail trade has not been so brisk in a dozen years. I may say that our British rail-makers have a syndicate which regulates prices. Germany is a very keen competitor, but she does her export trade at a loss, getting extra profits out of the home consumers. Under such circumstances the Germans frequently get work which in a fair competition would have come to England."

MUSIC AND DRAMA

BALANCE OF THE WEEK.

The Marks Company programme for the balance of the week at the Grand is: Tonight, "A Soldier's Daughter;" tomorrow, "The Two Orphans;" Saturday matinee, "Under Two Flags;" Saturday evening, "Hilda, the Mountain Queen."

"HUNTING FOR HAWKINS."

This production is arranged for entertaining the young and the old alike. Witty sayings, funny situations and genuine good humor are what constitute a good comedy, and "Hunting for Hawkins" possesses all these features. It will be the attraction on Monday night at the Grand. The sale opens tomorrow.

ENGLAND CALLS US MUSICAL CANADA.

The force of example—that is, Canada making British music known—has kindled a sort of rivalry amongst the musicians in England to go and do likewise. Sir Frederick Bridge, conductor of the Royal Albert Hall Choral Society, according to the London Daily Chronicle of Jan. 29, is devoting a season to British composers, starting off with Taylor's "Hiawatha." Ash Wednesday, Sullivan's oratorio, "The Light of the World," in Scotland. For instance, "A Soldier's Daughter," "The Two Orphans," "Under Two Flags," "Hilda, the Mountain Queen," "The Light of the World," "The Coronation Ode" at the end of April. The Daily Chronicle says: "It is gratifying to read that attention given this season by the first of the metropolitan choral associations to the works of British composers." Every one of these choral works is included in the cycle of festivals in Canada. Henry J. Wood, the conductor of the London Queen's Hall orchestra, announces a British musical festival in London next season. Canada set them an example. The festival here on Wednesday evening, April 15, promises to be a grand success, and will be the greatest musical treat London has ever been able to secure.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box. 25c.