ing, American journalists seem to have no regard for the truth. Get the story is their motto, whether it is true or not.

ALL STRIKES ARE NOW AT AN END

Great Britain Crisis is Avoided by Action of Company.

AS TO AN EMERGENCY

The Detroit Free Press, in dealing editorially with Premier Borden's speech at Halifax, to the effect that for a British naval emergency three Dreadnoughts from Canada would still be paid for by Canada, says:—

"Can an emergency be properly considered to continue for an indefinite period? * * * Mr. Borden reintroduces his contribution bill say three years hence and rests it upon an emergency again, will it be the same emergency that he pleaded last year, or will it be an entirely new emergency?"

The dictionary defines an emergency, among other things, as "an unforeseen occurrence, or combination of circumstances which calls for immediate action, or remedy."

That is just exactly what happened in the case of the British navy.

Borden, according to a pre-election promise, went to the Old Land in company with colleagues, and asked how best Canada could help under the existing condition of affairs.

The answer was that under the circumstances, and without any desire to dictate, the most acceptable assistance would be the cash price of three Dreadnoughts.

That assurance, let it be noted, was given on the part of a Liberal, and not a Conservative government, otherwise the Toronto Globe, and all the other globettes would have been yelling that the entire thing was a jingo Tory plot.

Mr. Borden sought to implement matters by a direct grant of $35,000,000, and the proposal went through the Commons, but was knifed at Laurier's behest by the irresponsible Grit majority in the Senate.

That the need does exist is abundantly proven by the circumstance that John Bull is going ahead with said ships, whether Canada puts up one cent, or whether it doesn't. That surely ought to be sufficient for the mind of anyone possessed of ordinary intelligence.

As far as the Detroit Free Press is concerned, it ought to realize that sufficient unto the day is the emergency thereof, and that, in all departments of life, if other emergencies arise on top of those of the present, well, they also will have to be looked after in their turn.

Uncle Sam realizes the truth of that, and why also shouldn't John Bull?

A DREDGE AND AN OSTRICH

The local grit organ is deeply pained, and chagrined, and peevish and a lot more of a like nature.

The cause of its great remorse is to be found in this recent lamentation during the course of an editorial:—

Last week the Hon. Robert Rogers put through an order-in-council changing the name "Sir Wilfrid" on a Government dredge to "P. W. D. No. 117." The ostrich puts its head in the sand and imagines no one sees him. Messrs. Pelletier and Rogers draw their pens through a name and imagine they have unmade history.

Why a dredge should have brought to mind an ostrich, while our cotem was deeply pondering this great national crisis, is not very clear except for the reason that neither of them is very particular as to what they take into their "innards"—the bird from choice, the dredge because it has to.

It is the high calling in life for the last named article to delve into all kinds of deleterious substances, and then to spout them elsewhere. Under all the circumstances to christen one of them, "Sir Wilfrid," is hardly what might be termed a delicate compliment.

As a matter of fact the plan of numbering them is a much more business-like, and decent way, than christening them with the names of public men. The latter method cannot exactly be characterized as tossing to the honored one a bunch of roses. If our cupola corner neighbor doubts that it should ship on a dredge for a while, meanwhile the dredge, the ostrich and our cotem should certainly not let up in this matter until a deadly wrong has been righted, and outraged public opinion properly pacified.

The death has occurred of Rev. Dr. Simpson, minister of the parish of Bonhill and deputy clerk of the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland.

TRADUCING ENGLAND.

This from the Toronto News is known in the language of the street, as a sox dollager.

"The Toronto Globe says: "That 'jealous rubbish' about British decadence against which Lord Northcliffe warned a Montreal audience does not all originate in Germany and the United States. There are some promoters of the 'decadence' idea working overtime in Toronto who every now and again tell us with glee about millions of unemployed and semi-starving people in Britain."

So true. We recall one particular account of conditions in Great Britain written by Rev. J. A. Macdonald, editor of the Toronto Globe, shortly after his return from the Imperial Press Conference. Probably no other pen has presented such an awful picture of modern England. But is it quite fair for the sub-editors to horn the chief while he is away on the platform "uniting the two great branches of the Anglo-Saxon race" in this letter Dr. Macdonald says:

"The thing that impressed me most, the thing that stands out as the background of every reminiscence, was the bloodless, merciless, hopeless face of the common crowd." He declares that "the pale, sunken faces of the nameless city crowd haunt one like a weird." He adds, "We could not shut our eyes or steel our hearts to that Britain which is out of work, which may not even want to work, and which has long forgotten how to play."

He goes on: "The social problem everywhere is appalling almost to the point of despair. Wherever we went it forced itself upon us. The least dangerous aspect of it was that hollow-eyed procession of the homeless of London kept moving along the pavements by the police in the early dawn, waiting for the opening of the soup-kitchens. London, Sheffield, Manchester, Glasgow, Edinburgh—each had its distinctive features, but everywhere the marks were deep of disease and degeneracy in body and mind and morals."

The Treasury has purchased a piece of land to the west of Edinburgh as a site for a new prison in place of the Calton Jail, which is to be demolished.

THREATENED TROUBLE IN IRELAND

News from Ulster is certainly of a most disquieting nature. It was Lord Randolph Churchill, who in a speech there when Gladstone's Home Rule proposals were before the British House, made the statement "Ulster will fight, and Ulster will be right."

The residents of that section of the Emerald Isle and other of her sons and daughters who are scattered far and wide, manifestly seem to be imbued with this feeling. Such a fratricidal contest if it did result, would be one of the most deplorable incidents in the history of the Empire. The Irish are born fighters, none better in the world, and they have demonstrated this fact on many a battlefield for the honor of the union jack.

Lord Northcliffe now in the Dominion and the owner of a chain of the most influential papers in Great Britain, from the London Times down, is in favor of Home Rule but not to the extent which Redmond has succeeded in wresting from Asquith. He got all that he could which was natural; Asquith yielded too much, which perhaps was also quite natural inasmuch as the Irish leader had him by the throat.

As before pointed out in these columns, the proposed measure is not of the nature of the Provincial Government system in Canada, but gives power to levy customs and other important concessions. Imagine Ontario, for instance, possessing the right to fix her taxation dues altogether apart from those prevalent in other portions of the Dominion and you have the threatened situation. Then add Scotland, Wales and England as other separate entities in a like regard—for that would surely be demanded—and it doesn't take the seventh son of a seventh son to realize the resulting chaos.

Undoubtedly Ireland suffered many deep wrongs in the past, but it is equally certain that during later years she has been singled out for much special legislation of admitted benefit.

The Canadian plan, in local affairs, might well be applied to the four great portions of Britain, but anything more than that, would certainly seem to be unwise.

Meanwhile it is asserted that a general election will be held before final action. If so and Redmond fails to modify his demands the Asquith Ministry without much doubt will go down and out.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Germans have commenced to give tea parties in aeroplanes. Quite a flavor of golf about that because, of course, they have caddys along.

The Ottawa Immigration Department has decided to allow Evelyn Thaw to do her stage turn in Canada. A big mistake has been made in this matter.

In Berlin, Germany, it is reported that some girls have formed a society of which the pledge is that members will marry none but homely men. Comehomey would be better.

There is a movement in the Old Land to celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of the invention of locomotives. All the descendants, no doubt, will feel themselves entitled to do some extra tooting on that day.

The Quebec Court of Appeals, having decided that Hon. Mr. Doherty did quite right when he catapulted Thaw across the border, is one manifestation of common sense and the law going hand in hand.

Cleveland is about to open a municipal moving picture show. As far as this neck of the woods is concerned the most desirable thing in that regard would be a set of films depicting the moving of our city hall.

Our cotem-up-street shouldn't become the victim of the blandishments of the green-eyed monster when it looks out of window and sees the fine new public building—something secured by Mr. Cockshutt, which Messrs. Heyd and Harris failed to get.

BRANTFORD ONTARIO

NO SESSION LIKELY BEFORE JANUARY

Significance is Attached to Fact That Estimates Are Being Prepared.

OTTAWA, Sept. 25.—The various departments of the Administration are preparing their estimates for the fiscal year 1914-1915 and departmental officials are wondering whether or not this means a Fall session. The general assumption has been that the House would not open till January for a short session. The fact seems to be that the time of opening has not been determined, though the chances are in favor of a January session. The instruction to the departments for the prompt preparation of the estimates probably means no more than that the Government is to be ready to move the House into supply as soon after the opening of the session as the sessional program warrants.

Chief Slemin Is Back on the Job

Chief of Police Slemin reported for duty at the police station this morning after a vacation which has lasted nearly three weeks. The Chief appears to be in the best of health following the holiday, which he says was a most pleasant one. During his vacation, Chief Slemin visited friends in Toronto, where he took in the Canadian National Exposition, Brampton and Wingham, while the remainder of his holidays was spent at his home in this city where he had a real good rest.

"I had the best kind of a holiday, met a lot of my old friends and had plenty of time to rest up in preparation for a hard winter's work," said the Chief to a Courier reporter.

Nuptial Notes
"The Pines," Brantford Township, was the scene of a very happy event yesterday afternoon when Ethel May Eddy, the third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Eddy, was united in marriage to Mr. Edward P. Sterne, of Queens College, Kingston, by the Rev. Mr. Kelly.

The happy couple left at 6 o'clock for their home in Kingston.

The Baraca Class of Calvary Baptist Church and young people of the church to the number of 30 enjoyed a corn roast Tuesday evening on the farm of Mr. Robinson at Burtch. Mr. and Mrs. Robinson were very kind and did many acts which helped to make the roast the success it was.

COVER ITS RIBS, SAYS MAGISTRATE

In Addressing Adam Aird About a Horse in Court To-Day.

Charged with ill-using a horse by leaving it tied to a tree without either food or water for some hours, Adam Aird appeared before Magistrate Livingston this morning, this being Aird's third appearance on a similar charge during the past few weeks. Aird pleaded not guilty and Sergt. Wallace was called to give evidence. He stated that on Sunday last that he had seen the horse tied to the tree without food or drink once early in the day and again late at night the animal being in such a condition as to attract the attention of those passing along the street. The horse, the sergeant said, was nothing but skin and bone, and should not really be allowed to live.

Aird in defence stated that he had given his horse 6 quarts of oats every day, he did not know how the horse himself was inclined to doubt this statement.

After considerable arguing, in which Aird stated that he was not working the horse but was simply holding it in the hope that some day he might sell it, the accused promised to bring the horse up to let Chief Slemin have a look at it and this was finally agreed to.

"You had better throw a blanket over it to hide its ribs, or bring it up on a dray," suggested the magistrate.

Liquor Cases
John Lehman was charged with being drunk while on the billed list. He pleaded not guilty and on the suggestion of Inspector Ecacret, the case was adjourned until to-morrow.

Fred Allan, who yesterday fell asleep in the court room while waiting trial on a drunk charge and, who was arrested on order of the magistrate, did not show up this morning when his name was called. A warrant for his arrest was issued.

Non-Support Charge
Charged with neglecting to provide for his wife, Helen Croowall, the necessities of life, thereby endangering the health or life of that person, John Croowall, appeared before Magistrate Livingston in police court this morning. A plea of not guilty was entered.

Mrs. Croowall, who was the only witness on the stand this morning, testified to the effect that the accused had left her in England in January last and had failed to provide for her since that time.

Her examination was cut short by the magistrate who thought that the case was not worth pursuing.

The Crown Attorney, and in order that Mr. Wilkes might be present the case was adjourned until to-morrow.

An Assault Charge
John Squires was charged by his mother with assault. Squires was on hand O. K. but the complainant did not answer when her name was called. Magistrate Livingston stated that he was anxious to hear the particulars of this case and he ordered that Mrs. Squires should be brought to court tomorrow. Playing with the courts one way or another he stated would not be tolerated.

Charlton's Murder Trial
COMO, Italy, Sept. 25.—Among the documents asked for in connection with the case of young Porter Charlton, awaiting trial here on the charge of murdering his wife at Lake Como three years ago, is the official certificate of his marriage to Miss Mary Chittenden Scott of San Francisco and also official records referring to her. If no serious complication arises in the judicial procedure it is hoped by the legal authorities that the actual trial will begin in February.

MRS. PANKHURST IS NOT DAUNTED

Coming to America to Make Reply to Miss Asquith's Statement.

PARIS, Sept. 25.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the English suffrage leader, informed the Associated Press yesterday, that she did not anticipate the slightest difficulty in entering the U. S. on her proposed visit to that country; and had received no communication whatever on the subject. "The object of my voyage to America," she said, "is to answer the question in the minds of the American people, which Miss Haldane did not answer, namely, why militians do the sort of things they do in England."

The Miss Haldane referred to by Mrs. Pankhurst, is Miss Elizabeth S. Haldane, who recently visited America with her brother, Viscount Haldane, the lord high chancellor of Great Britain. While in favor of woman suffrage, she has expressed pronounced opinions against militancy.

"Fortunately," continued Mrs. Pankhurst, "on account of the reasonableness of American men, American women appear to be getting the vote by peaceful means."

"Nevertheless, I think that even American women owe some gratitude to English Militancy for helping to make 'Votes for Women' the burning question of the day. I have no reason to expect anything but a sympathetic welcome from the nation whose past history shows it to have been a militant itself."

RHEUMATISM KEPT HIM IN BED

Suffered Tortures Until "Fruit-a-tives" Cured Him

McMILLAN'S CORNER, ONT., SEPT. 20th, 1910
"Your remedy, 'Fruit-a-tives' is a perfect panacea for Rheumatism. For years, I suffered distressing pain from Sciatica or Sciatic Rheumatism, being laid up several times a year for days at a time. I went to different doctors who told me there was no use doing anything—it would pass away. They gave me mustard plasters and other remedies that did no good. Plasters took no effect on me—except to blister me and make raw spots. I took many advertised remedies without benefit, but fortunately, about two years ago, I got 'Fruit-a-tives' and they cured me.
Since then, I take 'Fruit-a-tives' occasionally and keep free of pain. I am satisfied 'Fruit-a-tives' cured me of Rheumatism and they will cure anyone who takes them as directed. If this letter would be of value to you, publish it." JOHN B. McDONALD.
Indeed, this letter is of value to us and to the thousands of sufferers from Rheumatism, Sciatica, Lumbago and Neuralgia. It points the way to a certain cure. 50c a box, 6 for $2.50 retail size, 35c. At dealers or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

DON'T TAKE CHANCES. BUY GOODS OF KNOWN QUALITY

By HOLLAND. HISTORY is full of warnings about buying a pig in a poke. This is only another way of saying that one should buy articles of known merit—articles that will bear inspection. The manufacturer who advertises his goods thereby shows his confidence in them. He would not spend money to tell of their merits unless they had merit. His advertisement is an invitation to you to test his sincerity by testing his goods. You take no chances in purchasing goods advertised in this paper. The advertisement is a guarantee of quality. Insist on having the genuine articles. Something said to be "just as good" is never so good. Get the genuine—the kind that is advertised.

TAYLOR IS SANE

So Says Dr Bruce Smith Who Examined the Prisoner.

Dr. Bruce Smith, provincial inspector of jails, visited James Taylor, the self-confessed murderer of Charlie Dawson here last week. Dr. Smith gave Taylor some problems in arithmetic to work out and Taylor got along fine with the task. It was the inspector's opinion that Taylor was quite sane. Taylor is conducting himself admirably in jail.

Although he is by no means condemned to be hanged, there is a disposition to prejudice the case, and two applications for the job of hangman have already been received. This is a matter, however, which will await the close of the trial and its result. It is the jurisdiction of the Sheriff to appoint a hangman.

The members of the Alexandra church choir, to the number of about 40, enjoyed a corn roast in Mr. T. J. Barton's orchard, Hamilton Road, after corn, and other good things provided at corn roasts, had been disposed of, the usual games were played, and the jolly bunch joined in singing popular songs. The choir members wish to express their appreciation for the courtesy extended by Mr. and Mrs. Barton.

The choir of Colborne St. Methodist church held a very successful talent tea at the home of the pastor, Park Avenue, last evening. A good supply of home made cooking was displayed and quickly sold. A large crowd gathered to take advantage of this opportunity to get some good things, for which the Colborne street church ladies are noted. Ice cream, cakes and tea were also sold and a neat sum was realized for the funds of the choir.

A Pleasing Speaker. Mrs. Webling Watts, of New Jersey, the guest of Mrs. Alfred Watts, Brant street, Brantford, conducted the story hour at the public library yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Watts is a very pleasing speaker and delighted the large gathering of children with stories by Hans Anderson and Kipling. Librarian Henwood was indeed fortunate in securing such a pleasing personage to speak to the school children of the Telephone City. The story hour will again be held to-morrow afternoon. A good speaker is being arranged for.

Football

All arrangements were made at the meeting of the football council last night for the semi-final game between Cocksbluts United and the Y. M. C. A. in the John Hill Charity Cup series, which will be played on Saturday afternoon at the Agricultural Park on the lower grounds.

The winners of the game on Saturday will play off the finals with the Holmsted Tigers on the following Saturday.

Courier Cup Series. The dates for the semi-finals of the Courier Cup series were set last night, and the draw for the teams were made.

On Saturday afternoon, October 11th, the Y.M.C.A. team will meet the Dufferin Rifles. Cocksbluts United and the All Scots will play their game on Saturday afternoon, October 18th. The final game will be played on the afternoon of October 25th.

School Boys' League. Public School Inspector Kilmer and the principals of the different public schools held a joint meeting, with the football council last night for the purpose of forming a school boys football league in the city.

The principals stated that they were in favor of such a league being formed, if the football council would have supervision over it. This the council consented to do. After a short discussion it was decided that the council should draft a set of by-laws to govern the league and also to set the age limit, which will likely be 11 years.

The principals were of the opinion that the council should fast teach the children the rudiments and fundamentals of the game. Mr. George Crouch has offered his services to instruct the Ryeerson school team, William Blues has consented to look after the Dufferin school team and Major Ashton the Mohawk Institute lads. The council have offers from others who will gladly instruct the boys.

A number of the council and principals were of the opinion that it would probably be advisable to teach the boys the rules and line points of the game this Fall, and form the league in the Spring. Another meeting of the council and the principals will be held in the near future, when the council will submit to them for approval the by-laws which they will draw up.

For the fifth time since two major leagues have been the Philadelphia Athletics, headed, as heretofore, by the redoubtable Connie Mack, have clinched the championship of Ban Johnson's organization. No other team has so good a record. Goston, Chicago and Detroit have each won the flag three times. No other club has won it at all.

Chestnut Is Some Great Pacer

That horse, Chestnut, owned by John Carmody, of Cainsville, must be some horse. His owner says that Chestnut without any kind of preparation can pace a mile in 2:15. If this is so they may as well pack up the money now at the fall fairs and send it right on to the Oil King at Cainsville. Chestnut will go to Ohsweken fair, the glory of the Six Nations, and it is said there are other sharp shooters likely to be there, and Chestnut may have to go some.

BASEBALL LINERS.

Jack Coombs has been placed in a strait-jacket, and if anything happens to the rest of the pitching staff it will be necessary to put Connie Mack in one.

Huggins helped me, and I'll help him," declared McGraw in answer to a query to explain the famous Grand-all-McLean deal. So the Cardinals' Yelder is to get a pick of certain players named by McGraw when the season is over.

Speaking of Harry Thaw, Christmas gifts, and other evils, there is a suspicion abroad that Col. Hedges will make somebody a present of the Browns. Still, one can hardly conceive of a man having such a fiendish disposition.

Chief Bender, who was said to be slipping back, is the hurler who has pulled the Athletics through the tough games. In figuring all of Bender's games he has allowed but 1.8 runs per game, leading all of his mates.

Manager McGraw believes, Ozark Jeff Treseau will be the big noise in the big series against the Athletics.

On Saturday, at the Island Stadium, the first game for the senior city championship and the Richard Greer Cup will be played between the Park Nine, champions of the City Senior League, and the Capitals, winners of the Northern Senior League. The game will be called at 4:15 and should be over before the Greer-Dunan boat race is pulled off.

While Mrs. Buck of Brantford was visiting in Hamilton during Centennial week, she missed her $500 diamond ring from its accustomed place on her finger. Mrs. Buck was stopping at a local hotel and she accused James Lewis, a bell boy, of the theft. Lewis denied the accusation, and several days later he left the city. Mrs. Buck was told to place the case in the hands of the police and Detective Sayer went to Welland, and brought Lewis back to face the charge. This morning Lewis appeared before Magistrate Jeffs, but the evidence, Mrs. Buck's story was that she was ill and she rang for Lewis to bring her meals and he refused to do so. She testified that the ring was later recovered from a young lady in Syracuse, but this woman refused to come to Hamilton to testify. A representative of the Ryeie Brothers, Toronto, testified that the stone was sold by his firm several years ago. It was purchased for $475, but at the present time it was worth $725. C. W. Bell, who appeared for Lewis, declined to put his client in the box to testify, and the magistrate dismissed the charge.

What is Brantford going to do in hockey this year? True, it is a little bit early to commence talking about Canada's great winter pastime in other cities and towns surrounding Brantford, but the hockey bugs are beginning to stir, so why not in Brantford? Stratford for instance has already organized, has a nice balance on hand, and is now ready for the ice.

London sporting writers have for some time been busy shooting the dope regarding the chances of the Forest City in the hockey world of 1913-1914. Woodstock with its Jack Palmer is great winter sports in other cities and towns surrounding Brantford, but the hockey bugs are beginning to stir, so why not in Brantford? Stratford for instance has already organized, has a nice balance on hand, and is now ready for the ice.

It is a well known fact that Brantford has plenty of hockey material within her borders to form not only a strong city league but a couple of speedy O. H. A. teams as well. Why not get the ball rolling early, hold an organization meeting in the very near future and elect a list of officers who will be enthusiastic enough to look the material up and have the boys in line just as soon as the rink is ready. With a beautiful arena, such as Brantford possesses, there is no reason why hockey should not flourish here this winter. It has no chance to boom, however, if everything is left until the last minute. Get busy, you hockey sports!

Brantford Man Handles Second Fastest Three-Year-Old Trotter in History

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 25.—Don Chenault, driven by Harry Stinson, of Brantford, Ontario, owned in Charlestown, W. Va., today at the Grand Circuit track did sensational trotting, and took the Horse Review Futurity for three-year-olds from a large field of which it was the favorite. The time for the first heat was 2:06 1/4, making Don Chenault the second fastest three-year-old trotter of history, and breaker of this season's record. Eta-wh whose first defeat this year came today, was the contender in the first heat, and went away beside Don Chenault in the second. The Greens colt made a break before the first turn was reached, and lost so much ground that he could not overtake the leaders. Nowadays Girl set the pace for most of the mile. Some Party For The Big Series

As usual about this time of the year the world's series bug is getting local fans. Already a party is organized to take in the big show this year, and to its numbers are being added other members daily. The presidential big chief of the Red Sox tribe will head the stadium party. Chief Wampum Bearer, Roy Brown will be right next. The Tomahawk Man, Cancellia, is also expected to be scarce in local parts when McGraw cracks his whip on his cohorts. Herbert Littlefield, the Red Sox Scout and travelling secretary, proposes to get down to New York some way or other. Mr. John Carmody is going down to see the ball game and incidentally buy some inside New York real estate. Edward Andrich has also joined the tribe, while Mr. William Fraser of the Always-There-Clan, has a state room secured all by himself. After all official dignity will not be lacking to the occasion and the party should be a merry one.

NATIONAL UNION OF ALL EMPLOYERS

How Great Britain Proposes to Cope With Future Strikes.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—The movement initiated some time ago with the object of forming a national union of the employers of the United Kingdom to cope with strikes has resulted in the establishment of the United Kingdom Employers' Defence Union, with guarantees of a fund of $250,000,000. Its objects are to "coordinate the resources of the employers of labor, to maintain their rights and their freedom to bargain individually with free works, or collectively with trade unions."

The new organization will be registered as a trade union. Each member of the union will be invited to guarantee a sum commensurate with his position in the business world. Individual guarantees will not become operative until a fund of $250,000,000 is promised. At a meeting held last week two manufacturers promised $250,000 each. Others promised $50,000, and others gave guarantees for smaller amounts. It has been arranged that calls on the fund are not to exceed 7-1/2 per cent. of the total in any one year, and it is believed that a much smaller amount than that will suffice to obtain the objects of the organization.

Paris Fair Starts Today

Judging commences to-day at the big Paris fair, and with a continuance of to-day's glorious weather, there will doubtless be a record crowd on hand. The exhibits, which represent the industry of the best part of the country, are larger in number than ever. In the arts department, some especially fine work is being shown. To-morrow will be the big day at the fair, and the directors are confidently looking forward to please everybody. Quite a crowd from Brantford will attend.

A Prosperous Country

WINNIPEG, Sept. 25.—"I have just seen the most prosperous country in the world," was the enthusiastic statement made by the Earl of Clarendon, who came to Canada with the object of visiting his son, Lord Hyde, who is farming on a quarter section near Pickering, Ont., who has just come from a trip through the prairie provinces. Lord Clarendon left for Toronto this morning. Everything in Great Britain points to a general election in the near future, he states.

"STRIKE SETTLER" HAS BEEN INVITED

Sir George Askwith to End the Dublin Labor Dispute.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—It is officially announced that Sir George Askwith, the official "strike settler" of the Board of Trade, has been invited to try and arrange a settlement of the Dublin strike, and the Lord Mayor of Dublin has published suggestions for a settlement plan. He proposes the establishment of a committee of 6 representing the employers and six representing the Transport Workers' Union, with Sir George Askwith as chairman, to remain in existence until the trouble is settled and a permanent joint board of trade established. He proposes further as a basis of negotiations the reinstatement of all strikers and an undertaking on the part of the T. W. U. that employers who submit to the conditions of employment of the conciliation committee will be exempt from strikes for two years.

With Edged Tools

By Henry Seton Merriman, Copyright, 1894, by Harper & Bros.

"Now I am ordered home by the doctor," went on Meredith. "I must go by the next boat, but I don't like to go and leave Mr. Oscar in the lurch, with no one to fall back upon but Dumrovo, you understand."

Joseph's face had assumed the habitual look of servitude. He was no longer a partner, but a mere retainer, with a half count resigning the back of his neck. "I am afraid I understand. You want me to go back to that platter, that God forsaken platter, as I may say."

"Yes," said Meredith. "That is about it. I would go myself."

"God bless you, I know you would!" burst in Joseph. "You'd go like wildfire. There's no one knows that better nor me, sir, and what I says is, 'like master, like man.' Game, sir; game it I'll go. I'm not the man to turn my back on a pal, a—partner, sir, so to speak."

"You see," said Meredith, with the sleep insight into men that made command so easy to him—"you see there is no one else. There is not another man in Africa who could do it."

"That's true, sir."

"And I think that Mr. Oscar will be looking for you."

"And he won't need to look long, sir. Put I should like to see you safe on board the boat; then I'm ready to go."

"Right. We can both leave by Thursday's boat, and we'll get the captain to drop you and your men at Lopez. We can get things ready by then, I think."

"Easy, sir."

The question thus settled, there seemed to be no necessity to prolong the interview. But Joseph did not move. Meredith waited patiently.

"I'll go up, sir, to the platter," said the servant at length, "and I'll place myself under Mr. Oscar's orders; but before I go I want to give you notice of resignation. I resign my partnership in this 'ere simlacine at six months from today. It's a bit too hot, sir, that the truth is, it's all very well for gentlemen like yourself and Mr. Oscar, with fortunes and fine houses, and, as sayin' goes, a wife apiece waiting for you to go home—it's all very well for you to go about in this blasted country with yer life in yer hand, and not a tight grip at that. But for a poor soldier man like myself, what has smelt the regulation powder all his life, and hasn't got nothing to love and no gal waiting for him at home—well, it is, good enough. That's what I say, sir, with respect."

He added the last two words by way of apology for having banged a very solid fist on the table.

Joseph rubbed his hands slowly together and departed, leaving his master to begin a long letter to Guy Oscar.

And at the other end of the passage, in her room with the door locked, Jocelyn Gordon was sobbing in a wild burst of grief because she had probably saved the life of Jack Meredith, and in doing so had only succeeded in sending him away from her.

When Jack Meredith said that there was not another man in Africa who could make his way from Leango to the simlacine plateau he spoke no more than the truth. There were only four men in all the world who knew the way, and two of them were isolated on the summit of a lost mountain in the interior. Meredith himself was unfit for the journey. There remained Joseph.

In coming down to Leango Joseph had had the recently made track of Oscar's receding party to guide him day by day. He knew that this was now completely overgrown. The simlacine plateau was once more lost to all human knowledge.

And by there, alone amid the clouds, Guy Oscar was, as he himself tersely put it, "sticking to it." He had stuck to it to such good effect that the supply of fresh young simlacine was daily increasing in bulk. Again Victor Dumrovo seemed to have regained his better self. He was like a full blooded horse—tractable enough if kept hard at work. He was a different man up on the plateau from what he was down at Leango. There are some men who deteriorate in the wilds, while others are better, stronger, finer creatures away from the luxury of civilization and the softening influence of female society. Of these latter was Victor Dumrovo. Of one thing Guy Oscar soon became aware—namely, that no one could

Membership Notes of a Day

The class of membership known as the junior preparatory, which admits the boy between the age of 8 and 12 years to the association, has certainly caught on in the Y.M.C.A. campaign. The fee is but $2.50 a very popular rate. The junior fellows, as members of the association, will enjoy themselves and at the same time be benefitted and trained to take their places as association young men. It is considered the directors took an important step when they created this class of membership. Many little fellows are rejoicing over the privilege afforded them. It is expected that nearly 100 little fellows will become members of the association.

The newly attained prominence has the tendency to make the many little fellows more manly. The workers were much impressed yesterday by the manner of a little fellow eleven years old. With his head up, his shoulders back, he marched up to the campaigner in charge and announced that he wanted to join the Y.M.C.A. He paid over his dollar, signed the card, took his receipt and marched away, a very proud eleven-year-old boy.

What They Say.

President T. L. Wood: "It looks to me as if it is going to be a great big success. Personally, I have been greatly encouraged. Every one meets you in the proper spirit. The whole thing looks good to me."

Capt. Ward, who has charge of one section of the boys: "The campaign is warming up. The boys are working fine."

H. V. Hutton, captain of the greens: "What do you know about the greens. I sure does take the Irish." Alec Lockington, captain of the Reds: "We just let that flag go up to see under which flag the campaigners would work best. We are going to have the red flag flying tomorrow."

Chas. M. Thompson: "The campaign is off to a fine start."

Why Mrs. Baldwin Recommends Dodd's Kidney Pills.

She Could Find Nothing to Cure Her Rheumatism Till on a Neighbor's Advice She Tried Dodd's Kidney Pills.

ST. WALBURG, Sask., Sept. 22.—(Special)—"I can truly recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills for any one suffering from rheumatism." These are the words of Mrs. W. A. Baldwin, a highly respected resident of this place. And Mrs. Baldwin gives her reasons. "I was nearly helpless with rheumatism for two years," she states. "I got medicine from the doctor, and tried several other remedies, but nothing helped me. Then one of my neighbors advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I bought four boxes and they helped almost from the first. I have used nearly two dozen boxes and am nearly cured."

That rheumatism is one of the results of diseased kidneys is again shown in Mrs. Baldwin's case. She had headaches, stiffness of the joints, and backache, her sleep was broken and unrefreshing, and she was always tired and nervous. Her limbs swelled and she was always thirsty. These are all symptoms of diseased kidneys. When she cured her kidneys with Dodd's Kidney Pills, the symptoms vanished—and so did the rheumatism.

NO DRINKING MAN NEED DESPAIR

The Neal Cure—Greatest of All Modern Discoveries—Offers a Means of Escape from the Curse of Drink. A cure of the Drink Habit is Guaranteed in Three Days no Matter Whether the Patient is a Hard and Constant Drinker, Social Tippler or Goes on Occasional Sprees.

There was wandering in the streets of Toronto lately a homeless man, who at one time held a splendid position, but drink was his downfall. To-day his wife, a cultured woman, works out by the day, endeavoring to support herself and little family. Think of it, you wives and mothers, who have homes of comfort and all that makes life worth living, what it would be to you to be deprived of these and forced to face the wash tub for an existence, as this poor wife has to do to-day?

But this home which was made a hell on earth through strong drink—as every drunkard's is—may be made into a heaven upon earth, as many have been made, as a result of the Neal Treatment. Three days only—the wonder of it—to effect a cure and make the victim of strong drink a new man, physically, morally and mentally.

We undertake to guarantee to effect a cure of the Drink Habit in Three Days, no matter whether the patient is a hard and constant drinker, social tippler, or goes on occasional spees. Are you interested in a poor fellow going down, down through the curse of drink? Then bring your influence to bear on him and bring him to the Neal Institute for treatment, drunk or sober, and we will undertake to remove the awful appetite for strong drink and deliver him to you a new man.

Here is an opportunity for REFORMATION SOCIETIES for INEBRIATES or any institution for the reformation of the drunkard, to test our ability to change the hard drinker into a new man, physically and mentally, in THREE DAYS' treatment.

We invite these Societies, or any institution interested in the poor drunkard and the problem of dealing with him, to send us for treatment any victim of the drink habit, it makes no difference how much enslaved, and we guarantee to effect a cure in each and every case. Can you spend your money to better advantage or in a way that will bring in greater returns than in redeeming these victims of strong drink and giving back to their families kind fathers, brothers, husbands, and to the country most desirable citizens?

CASE-BOOK OF A PRIVATE DETECTIVE

Inside History of the Methods Employed in Criminal Investigation, Embracing True Narratives of Interesting Cases by a Former Operative of the William J. Burns Detective Agency. BY DAVID CORNELL

5—The Bribe Takers HOW A CLIQUE OF CORRUPT CITY FATHERS WAS BROUGHT TO BOOK.

(Copyright, 1912, by International Press Bureau.)
Editor's Note:—In order that no advantage may accrue through the publication of these narratives to persons named therein, other names and places have in many instances been substituted for the real ones.

The connection of the Burns detective agency with the exposures of bribes and bribe-takers in various towns throughout the country has been so well exploited that it is unnecessary for me to say anything about it here. I am going to tell the actual story of how the ring of choice crooks, in the council and out, who had for years looted the city of Springvale finally were run to earth, sent to prison, or otherwise rendered innocuous, and the political life of the city put back for a time at least.

Springvale is not the real name of the town. The case is too recent, and there are too many raw threads of it still hanging about, to permit the use of the actual name. But ahead readers, who have kept track of my story in the newspapers in the last year, may be able to guess which of our cities it is that I am telling about. It is a typical case of the exposure of municipal corruption by outside detectives, and has been duplicated in a half dozen instances in other cities to my own knowledge.

Springvale had for years been what a magazine writer once called "corrupted and content." It was a busy manufacturing town. It was prosperous. That is, there usually was plenty of work to be had for the working people, plenty of business for the merchants, and plenty of money to be handled by the local banks. Most of this prosperity was due to the presence of the factories in the town. These factories were in the hands of a clique of men who placed money above all things. They would go to any length to make more money—and one of the easiest ways for them to make it was to violate the law, usually in the form of ignoring city ordinances.

wooden blocks for paving in your city knew little about how such things are managed. Now you and I, my dear Alderman, are men of experience and we know how such things are done. I hope to have the pleasure of seeing you at noon at the imperial hotel in your city. It is long since I have taken part in any selling campaign, but in a matter like this, Alderman, I feel it is better and safer that I, and I alone, cover the ground.

"I suggest that you destroy this letter. I have always found it advisable to save as few papers as possible. I am, very truly yours, HERMAN V. STEGER, President American Wood Block Co."
When Stein got that letter he saw at once that it was from a man of his own heart. The tone of it showed the writer to be "right" according to Stein's peculiar point of view. The cautious advice to destroy the letter was a warning. It showed that "Steger" had been through the mill and was too wise a bird to overlook any bets. Stein sat down and wrote a brief note to Steger, advising him that he looked forward to the latter's appearance at the imperial hotel with much pleasure.

"Well, what of it?" said Stein.
"Nothing," continued Dawson. "I thought if we could interest you gentlemen and could show you where we could save the city all this money, we might convince you that it would be in the interests of the city to introduce wood paving here."
"Yes," said Stein, who was the spokesman for the councilmen. "What of it?"
"Nothing," said Dawson. "You gentlemen in order to help the city save money, ought to introduce an ordinance calling for wood paving on some streets. Then, after we had shown how much we could save the city, we might hope to get some better contracts."

Stevenson once remarked, according to an account in the "Mediac Record," that "he isn't the 'great unwashed' which I dread, but the 'great washed.'" But whoever else was unwashed, there was always a greasy fellow named Mansfield. It is an impressive almost tremendous picture, that of the clouded room fitfully lit by the flames of the log fire and Stevenson huddled close to the warmth while Mansfield, at the other end of the room, gave his weird impersonation of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. It must have been like God looking upon his handiwork and smiling at it.

"and raising my fist I shot it through the wallpaper."
I went to one of the walls of the rooms and raising my fist shot it through the wall-paper where the wall had been cut out to make listening from the next room easy. I went to another room and did the same.
"I reserved those adjoining rooms," said I, "to give these men a chance to listen to you and me."
With that I threw open a door and in came the group of public-spirited men who had set out to clean up Springvale.

Dobbiagh was a confirmed borrower, and what was worse, he seldom returned the borrowed articles. He had held on to Whibbly's umbrella, for instance, for nearly a year.
"Ah! I've found it! I know how I have come to get it back," said Whibbly.
"May," said Hicklooper, "send a messenger and send Dobbiagh this note."
And he scribbled off the following:
"Dear Dobbiagh: If you can spare it, I'd like to borrow that umbrella of mine for a couple of days. Can you oblige me?"—Harper's Weekly.

THOUGHTS FOR THANKSGIVING

TURKEYS AND A PUMPKIN HOUSE

The design directly on the shade and fill in with crayons or watercolors. The stenciling is very quick after you have the pattern cut out, for you see it repeated and can paint a dozen sections in a very short time.

Don't forget place cards. They give a festive touch and a delightful formality to a dinner. They are an artistic expression of the fact that a feast has been worth preparing for. If you have not time, let the young ones in the home trace this design, color and cut out, marking the names of the diners on the little space below. The coloring is very easy after you have traced the flower on watercolor paper, cardboard or heavy writing paper. Yellow, orange, pink or the deep red are the effective colorings that should be used.

Here is a simple menu that would satisfy the inner man and yet save his digestion:

- 1. Cream of Tomato Soup
- 2. Turkey with Orange Dressing
- 3. Sweet Potato
- 4. Baked Green Peas
- 5. Cranberry Sauce
- 6. Pumpkin Pie
- 7. Fruit Salad
- 8. Cold Mince and Gravy

Little old-time customs are worthy of to five for each home. The family gathered around this little share and gave thanks just the same, and from many little plantings there were considerable crops.

It is too late to suggest that the poor family in the little street should not be forgotten. We think not. Others may be richer than you, but there are thousands that are poorer. Surely from your supplies you can stock a basket with substantial things to eat and in person give it to some one. Let your Thanksgiving day be blessed with a charitable act. Make some one happy and grateful. Think how joyful the day would be if every one of our readers would do this! If you cannot supply a full meal to the little lady in the narrow street, give a small contribution to happy reunion. That is the spot about which memory fondly lingers, and no matter whether it be a simple dinner with an extra vegetable in honor of the day or an elaborate feast, the spirit of the hour must be present and the spirit must depend on you.

Make the table different for the Thanksgiving dinner. Here are suggestions that will help you. The cost is very small, the results great.

The center of the table can be decorated as shown in the picture. Secure a large pumpkin of any shape. This can be bought at the last moment just for the purpose, so you can use the outer shell of the one purchased for pies. In the former case you will have to cut out a square piece as shown, extending from the lower part up halfway. If you are to use the inside, cut the entire bottom off and scoop out the pulp. From the lower cut edge make the oblong incision as shown.

Place the pumpkin house on a spray of leaves and purchase toy turkeys at 10 cents each. Place them in a line or group as if leaving their home. A very effective way is to have a flock of small turkeys on yellow streamers, the ends of which are caught by a pin inside the pumpkin. One ambitious turkey can perch on the top if you wish.

For the candleholders for this feast use the plain yellow parchment or cloth forms and paste oak leaves over the outside, the points hanging down below the edge. Any autumn leaves will do, and if you cannot use the natural ones, either paper forms cut out of colored paper or crayon drawings will do.

A design is given for the four-sided candleholder. It is for a stencil, and has a very easy chrysanthemum pattern. Place the stencil board under this sheet, with a carbon paper between.

PUT LEAVES ON THE SHADES

Trace over the design and then cut out the flowers. Be sure to have smooth edges. Paint through the openings on the candleholder, using yellow, orange or dark red for the flowers and green for the leaves. Stencil dyes or watercolor paints will do for this work.

If you do not wish to stencil, trace little verse, riddle or word of advice for the coming year written on paper in the burr. Perhaps a hint about the exact reason of each one's gratitude would not come amiss.

Here is a simple menu that would satisfy the inner man and yet save his digestion:

THANKSGIVING! The day for a national outpouring of the heart's gratitude and an acknowledgment of the benefits and good that we have received during the year will soon be here. How are we going to observe it?

Well, first of all make the day different from other days in thought and deed. Make it a red-letter day by devoting extra care and preparation to the gathering around the dinner table for that is the great place at which all members of the family meet in

THE ENTERTAINED

THANKSGIVING is a season when the woman who delights to dispense hospitality gathers relatives and friends around her hearthstone.

If she happens to be a member of a large family, she arranges a feast where young and old enjoy the delicious associated with Thanksgiving. When her family is small, friends are invited to fill the "gaps" around the board.

The evening should be arranged for the amusement of the young people particularly those who have returned home for the first winter holiday. "Piscilla Party" would prove most interesting to them.

To the boys send invitations decorated with a Puritan maiden and draw Puritan legends on the invitations sent to the girls. Request them to represent the early colonial lovers, John Alden and Piscilla. These costumes are easily provided. A white kerchief and modest Puritan cap of white worn with a gray frock will transform the girls into dainty Piscillas. Broad white collars and cuffs, with knee breeches, attire the boys as John Alden.

To amuse the young people, provide each with a card containing ten quotations from Longfellow's "Courtship of Miles Standish." These are written with three or more words omitted from each line. These are to be supplied, and the one being most successful in completing the quotations receives a copy of the poem.

Request them to write a limerick about the landing of the Pilgrims. This will cause much enjoyment, and while the laughter is at its height invite your guests to the kitchen, where arrangements have been made for an old-fashioned candy pull.

Place cards decorated with turkeys, fruits or vegetables are appropriate for this occasion.

The refreshments should consist of New England dishes—mince pie, bread sandwiches, doughnuts, cookies, mince and pumpkin pie, pound-cake, cider, apples, nuts, popcorn and nutmegs candy.

For souvenirs provide tiny spinning wheels or Puritan caps.

If you have a fireplace, it would add more pleasure to the evening if the young people could pop corn over the glowing logs. This is an excellent opportunity for them to relate a clever story or anecdote concerning colonial days. When it is time for them to depart for home allow each to choose a strand of colored yarn, boys from sea basket, the girls from another.

In this manner the girls are supplied with an escort. Young people are sure to enjoy a "Piscilla Party." It is an evening of simple, wholesome fun, which finds a ready response in all young hearts. Some time during Thanksgiving week entertain the young folks. Remember what jolly times you had when you were young.

THANKSGIVING is one of the purely American holidays. Since the Pilgrims landed in Massachusetts and his ninety braves to share their first Thanksgiving feast, every family in this broad country has annually observed a day of thanksgiving.

SOME TIMELY PLACE CARDS

turn home, where a wonderful feast is spread.

The first Thanksgiving feast lasted three days. We of the present usually spend three hours about the "groggling board" filled with all the delicacies the season affords. Try to make this dinner as interesting as possible. Any original feature introduced is always well received.

Colonial costumes may be worn on the dinner served in an old-fashioned manner.

Better dishes or rare old china should be used for this event, if for no other reason. The table decorations may be of flowers, fruit or anything which is appropriate. Breads of colonial glass candlesticks should be used without shades.

Closely associated with Thanksgiving is the turkey. Wild turkey was a principal dish at the Pilgrims' dinner, and has continued so down through the years.

This place card in the natural coloring of the turkey or with black as pictured here.

The pine tree design recalls a line from the Pilgrim song, "The trees against the stormy sky their giant branches tossed." The sturdy, rock-bound coast of New England boasts of its sturdy pine trees. Here are two ingeniously silhouette against the sky.

They can be colored dark green with a bluish gray background or black, if preferred.

No Thanksgiving dinner is complete without pumpkin pie. This vegetable has reached perfection by Thanksgiving time.

On the artistic place card given here the pumpkin grows beside a fence. When our grandmothers were young, every yard boasted of its pumpkin vine, especially in the country districts.

Color the pumpkin a rich, golden yellow, the vine green and the fence white or gray.

The last design shows a sturdy Pilgrim father on his way to the "meet-

WHEN AT THE TELEPHONE

FEW people seem to realize the endless amount of time they waste in answering the telephone, and are equally regardless of the annoyance they cause people in business by not giving a plain, direct and immediate answer. This fault, of course, is due to thoughtlessness, and, therefore, is quite pardonable, but is none the less provoking. So a few simple rules, if followed out, may prove a help, both to the caller and the person called.

FIRST—Never pick up the receiver until the bell stops ringing. In so doing the bell on your other party's wire rings and he will answer it, which causes a babble of voices and much confusion.

SECOND—Do not place your mouth too close to the mouthpiece. This causes a vibration and thus prevents your being heard distinctly.

THIRD—When you call a party give "Central" the district, number and letter, slowly and distinctly.

FOURTH—When you get the party, your question should be, "Is this So-and-So?" not, "Who is this?" which is neither a pertinent nor a time-saving question.

FIFTH—Speak in an moderate tone as you would if the person were right beside you. To shout also makes a vibration, which is very annoying, and even a deaf person can hear a moderate tone over the phone.

SIXTH—Don't mention names or tell "all you know" over the phone. This is a very unwise policy, and unless you have a private wire you have no right to monopolize it indefinitely to the exclusion of those on your wire.

Use Lime

IF A SMALL box of unslaked lime is kept in the pantry it will absorb all impurities.

The air will be kept dry and sweet. Change the lime every two or three weeks.

Washing Stockings

COLORED stockings, especially those of delicately tinted silk, require careful washing.

Prepare a lather, using pure white soap and soft, warm water. A little salt added will keep the color from fading. Rub the stockings gently with the hands, and when perfectly clean rinse through several waters. Wring as dry as possible, then wrap in a cloth and wring again. Hang in the shade and dry.

Press on the wrong side with a warm iron. This preserves the softness of new stockings.

For Hair Brushes

WHEN the bristles of hair brushes become stiff they may be greatly improved by dipping them in a strong solution of alum and hot water.

That there will be co-operation with the Greater Brantford Board for the securing of manufacturing concerns for this city was shown last night at a public meeting called by the Greater Brantford Board, attended by those interested in the building trade, and many prominent citizens.

It is the desire of the board to secure options for six months of suitable for manufacturing concerns and the building trade agreed to operate with the board for six months.

The Problems. Mr. Joseph Ham, chairman of the board, laid the difficulties of the manufacturing concerns for the city and the remedies suggested for the meeting. As there were concerns in the United States which might be interested in locating in Brantford, there should be something in the way of inducement offered before making further applications.

Would Secure Options. A scheme was then outlined by the chairman. In the scheme the estate owners played quite a prominent part. An owner of a sub-lease offered to give 20 acres of manufacturing site and other
