RECOGNITION. The care of the teeth is now recognized as a necessity. In fact the large hospitals all over the world examine the patients' teeth and where it is possible put them in good condition before attempting a surgical operation. Experience has shown that the patient has a better chance for recovery with a clean healthy mouth than without it. This ought to convince the most skeptical that care of the teeth is requisite to health. -oct11,24

"Flowers of the Valley,"

MABEL HOWARD, OF THE LYRIC.

CHAPTER XXI.
MABEL HOWARD, OF THE LYRIC. Presently, as the music began a waltz, her father came across the room, as if looking for her. "Do you want me, papa?" she said, and the circle round her opened to admit him. "It's rather late," he said, with a well-bred little yawn. "And I'm thinking of going home to bed. That is all. The duchess will take care of you, Lillian."

As he spoke he looked at her meaningly, and she drew her arm from her partner and slipped it within her father's. "I'll go with you to the door," she said, and looking back over her shoulder, she added, archly, "Am I not a good child? What is it, papa?" she said, when they had got clear of the crowd and stood in one of the rooms leading to the staircase. "You want to say something to me?"

Lord Foyle formed the word "yes" with his lips. He was a tall, thin man from the sole of his feet to the crown of his head; but there was a look in his eyes and about the clear-cut lines which made people, when they saw him first, grow reserved and cautious. It was not a cunning look exactly, but it just stopped short of it. "He has come!" he said, smiling, and waving his hand to some one in the distance even as he spoke. "I know it. I have seen him. And if I had not, I should have heard of him," she added, with a little scornful smile. "They watch him as cats do a mouse!"

"A mouse worth a million, and master of Knighton Revels is worth watching," he said, in a low, clear, musical voice. "He is here, and I have been talking to him. Prepare yourself for a disappointment!"

"A disappointment?" she said, and the faint blush color sped out of her cheek. "I cannot understand—I have said as much all through—why you should feel so confident," he went on. "He has paid you some attention, I admit, but I am an old friend of his—about the only intimate he has in society—"

"Did I ever say that I was confident?" she said, almost inaudibly. He shrugged his shoulders. "You gave me that impression. Perhaps the wish was father to the thought, for you know how much importance I attach to this—your success with him. Frankly, Lillian, I am at my last tether. Your marriage with Heron Coverdale would be my salvation. Ah, Lovelace, how do you do? No, my daughter is not going; we are only taking a stroll."

under lip. "That is a new and sudden resolution! Why?" Her father shrugged his shoulders, and the hard, cunning look came into his eyes. "I don't know. He didn't explain. Heron Coverdale is not one to give his reasons for any course of action. I suppose he is tired of it!"

She flushed hotly. "That is a poor compliment to me," she said, with a cold smile. "Well!" he said. "That is the only reason." "No!" she said, in a low voice; "it is not. Papa, there is some secret connected with Heron Coverdale's life; something that haunts him, and makes him unlike other men. I thought that it was some love affair; but I doubt it now. If it should be—"

CHAPTER XXII. BEHIND THE FOOTLIGHTS. Three paragraphs in the society papers attracted a great deal of attention. One was to the effect that the Earl of Coverdale had left London and gone to his country-seat, the Revels, at Knighton; the second was an announcement that Lord and Lady Lillian Foyle had taken a furnished house at Beverley, and the third was a paragraph in the dramatic columns, stating that Mr. Stapleton was about to introduce Miss Mabel Howard, the young lady whose exquisite voice had made so much sensation at the Duchess of Rosedale's "at home," to the operatic stage, and that great things were expected of her.

At the first announcement the world shrugged its shoulders and tried to look resigned. Lord Heron had earned for himself the character of being eccentric; he had flashed upon society, the noble and wealthy owner of one of the largest estates in the country, and, instead of quietly submitting to be angled for by all the mothers of marriageable daughters he had turned a cold back!

As for Lillian Foyle, that she should leave London in the height of the season and go down and bury herself within the depths of the country, at first excited great surprise; but when it was discovered that Beverley was very near Lord Coverdale's place, the Revels, the knowing ones smiled at each other significantly, and understood the whole thing.

The third announcement stirred the dramatic world principally, but society itself was also greatly interested. There was a mystery about this beautiful and refined-looking girl which piqued curiosity; no one knew whom she had come. Until they had heard her singing at the Duchess of Rosedale's, no one had ever heard of or seen her. She was unknown in dramatic and musical circles as in society, and the widest and most improbable rumors were set afloat as to her origin.

It was said by some that she was a protegee of Mr. Stapleton's whom he had been keeping snugly hid until her voice was formed; by others, that she was the daughter of an impoverished Irish peer; but though no one could learn anything definite, it was generally understood that Miss Mabel Howard was a lady by birth, and somebody above the status of the ordinary professional.

about as valuable an advertisement for the Lyric as he could have desired. Meanwhile, Iris, quite unconscious of the stir she was making, went on working steadily. The belief that a person can be transformed into an actor in one night and take the world by storm without having had any experience or tuition in stage business has been exploded long ago. The young ladies who play Juliet for the first time without any rehearsals and achieve brilliant successes exist only in fiction, and are not to be met with in real life.

Mr. Stapleton was quite well aware of this, and he strove might and main for opportunities for giving Iris as many rehearsals and lessons as possible. "The Imprisoned Princess," as the new opera was rather stupidly called, was put off for a month, and rehearsals were held every day. Iris worked hard, too, at home. The music was not difficult, and she learned it very quickly, but the acting was a very different matter, and this she studied day and night, almost unceasingly.

She and Paul spent hours practicing the various scenes in which she appeared, and he would limp about the room, taking the part of the prince and rehearsing the various scenes with her. His confidence in her success never wavered for a moment; indeed, it grew hour by hour, and often when Iris would say, with a smile: "Paul, what will you do when I break down and the people take to hissing instead of applauding—will you be very sorry?" he would retort: "You break down? I know you will not. I know it as surely as if the night were over, and you were standing, bowing, with your hands full of flowers."

"Why do you feel so certain?" Iris asked, gravely. "People often break down on their first appearance, Paul!" "It is true!" he reiterated. "And then they are the sticks and incapables, and some who are not sticks and incapables; but they are nervous or self-conscious. Now, you are not a stick, Mabel."

"Oh, come Paul!" Iris remonstrated, with a laugh at his fervor. "Do you think I do not know—I, who have watched actors night after night! Everything you have got to say you say as if there was a point to it, and then you walk and move to the part. Why, if you were to act it in a dumb show they would know what you meant."

"If I could only feel sure of that!" "You can act!" he almost shouted. "Do you think I do not know—I, who have watched actors night after night! Everything you have got to say you say as if there was a point to it, and then you walk and move to the part. Why, if you were to act it in a dumb show they would know what you meant."

"No, Paul," admitted Iris, quietly. "I think I may get through the songs, perhaps." "Yes, you'll get through them," he said, with a confident smile; "that is, if the audience will let you. It's my opinion that there will be such a storm of applause at the first verse that you will have to wait, but you'll get through them eventually!"

"Your song will be a success, Paul, at any rate; I feel no uncertainty about that," she said, for the composer of the opera had acknowledged the beauty of Paul's setting to the song, and it had been put in the place of the original.

Fishermen! Here's the Boot for You—"EXCEL"!

"EXCEL"
Made 'All in One Piece'

"EXCEL"

The Fishermen's Friend

All fishermen know from experience what happens to ordinary boots when used in fishing. You've seen how salt water seems to take the life out of rubber and how the uppers crack and the soles wear through in a surprisingly short time.

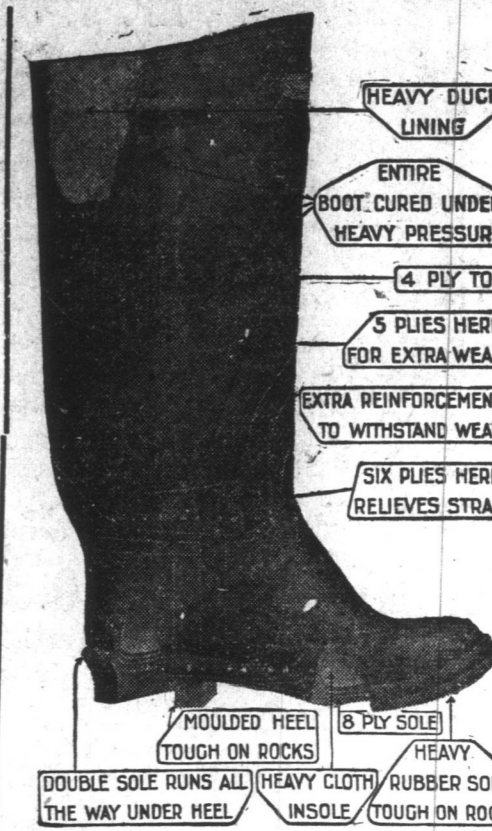

The "EXCEL" is a different and better kind of boot. It has been made especially to stand up under the unusually hard use a fisherman's boot gets. The rubber and fabric in "EXCEL" boots are of the very highest quality. But it is the special method of curing, under tremendous pressure, that makes the "EXCEL" so wear-resisting. The pressure forces the layers of rubber and fabric together so that they are actually "one-piece", without losing the least bit of the life or resiliency of the rubber. Salt water has practically no effect on "EXCEL" boots. The UPPERS remain pliable and weatherproof, and resist the drying-out action of sun, heat and extreme cold far longer than other boots. Consequently they don't crack anywhere near so quickly. The SOLES are almost wear-proof, because they are made like an Auto Tire, with 8 plies of rubber and fabric welded by tremendous pressure into a "tire-tread" sole that rivals an automobile tire for toughness and durability.

strain. There is not a single feature but what has been proved necessary and desirable by tests of severest use. Your own experience will tell you that a boot with these features simply must be a better boot.

Study this picture. Learn these features. Remember them when you compare "EXCEL" boots with ordinary boots. And remember, too, that very important point which the picture cannot show, namely, that "EXCEL" boots are cured under tremendous pressure, which leaves the rubber pliable, weatherproof and wear-resisting. It is only by the use of this tremendous pressure combined with highest quality materials that the best results are obtained.

Pliable Uppers. Weatherproof and Wear Resisting. Tough Tire Tread Soles. Made "All in One Piece."

"EXCEL" Boots are sold by all reliable dealers from Coast to Coast.

Door of Hope Is Still Open.

Notwithstanding Irish Situation Continues Critical -- Rioting in Belfast Culminates Fatally--Prince Has Varied Experience on Indian Tour.

DOOR OF HOPE STILL OPEN.

LONDON, Nov. 23. Lord Birkenhead, speaking at a luncheon after leaving the Conference with the Sinn Fein delegates, to-day said it would not be right to invite the bearers to take too sanguine a view of the difficult and critical negotiations going on respecting Ireland, but he would say that the door which closed hope was not yet definitely closed.

CONFERENCES RESUMED.

LONDON, Nov. 23. The first formal conference between representatives of the Government and Sinn Fein since the meetings between the British Cabinet members and Ulster representatives, was held at Downing Street this morning. Mr. Lloyd George and Viscount Birkenhead met Arthur Griffith and Michael Collins. The Government presented various alternative proposals for meeting the Ulster objection to the proposed All-Ireland Parliament, as well as a suggestion that Ulster be left temporarily as she is while the rest of Ireland receives full autonomy, which would make the taxation less than that of Ulster. The Sinn Fein Publicity Department, however, declares that Dail Eireann can consent to none of these plans. An All-Ireland Parliament, it declares, must be established at the outset, and otherwise insists that Parliament must be so constituted that Ulster or any part of it is not outside the Irish system. Ulster objects to an All-

Ireland Parliament and refuses to abandon its representation in the Imperial Parliament. It would only discuss an All-Ireland Parliament, it is declared, on the condition that the six counties have the same representation as the remaining twenty-six.

WHERE QUARRELS ARE PERPETUAL.

LONDON, Nov. 23. Rioting which began in Belfast on Sunday, culminated yesterday in a state of shooting, bombing and turmoil, approaching civil war. It is declared the disorders were planned to coincide with the assumption yesterday of the Government of Ulster by the Northern Parliament. While it seems established that Sinn Feiners were responsible for the bombing of a tramcar full of shipyard workers, late in the afternoon and the consequent death of three persons and injury of thirty, various accounts of the day's disorders suggest that the aggression on the whole was reciprocal, and due to the ever existing rancor between Nationalists and Orangemen. The total casualties in the outbreaks, up to midnight last night, stood at thirteen dead and more than fifty seriously wounded in hospital. Scores of others were less seriously injured.

WAGE DECREASE UPHELD.

OTTAWA, Nov. 23. The majority report of the Arbitration Board in the wage dispute between the Grand Trunk Railway and the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees, upholds the general decrease of 12.5 per cent., made effective by the railways in July last.

WITH THE PRINCE IN INDIA.

LONDON, Nov. 23. The Prince of Wales on Monday participated in a polo match at Bombay, according to a despatch to the Times. He was to have inspected twenty thousand boys and girl scouts, but the parents were afraid to allow the children to pass through the recently disturbed areas. Hindus and Parses paraded the streets, amid cheers of the warring sects, but no further trouble occurred during the day.

IN THE CITY OF BROTHERLY LOVE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23. A pledge to refuse to assist in future wars has been taken jointly by Mrs. McCudden, British War Mother delegate at the burial of the United States "Unknown Warrior" and Mrs. A.

Ernest Digney of White Plains, N.Y., United States War Mother. Lt. Kersey, British Army Aide, said that Mrs. McCudden's pledge was taken in Philadelphia recently, when with clasped hands they repeated the following: "I pledge with all my heart and soul that so long as I live I will never raise my hand again to assist any armed conflict between nations." British mothers, Lieut. Kersey said, have started a movement to pair off with United States mothers as Mrs. McCudden did with Mrs. Digney.

CLOSING GAP IN PROHIBITION LAW.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23. President Harding to-day signed a bill which closed the gap in the prohibition law made by the ruling that beer could be manufactured for medicinal purposes.

CHINA AND TARIFF AUTONOMY.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23. A plea for the restoration to China of tariff autonomy in three stages, was presented to the Far East Committee of the Washington Conference by Wellington Koo, Chinese delegate to-day, and a sub-committee was appointed to thresh out the subject.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94 P.C. AIR

Beats Electric or Gas. A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coal-oil).

The inventor, R. V. Johnson, 14 Washington Place, New York is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him to-day for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

A Business-Like Title. "Lord" of Ireland used to be the King's official title for centuries. Now our Royal Title is strictly business-like. It makes no mention of places like Jerusalem, and sticks to exact facts, unlike some monarchs who still claim on their titles to rule their neighbours' possessions! You may also look at our King's "addresses" like anyone else's—always providing you look in the proper Directory. You'll find them given as Windsor Castle, Berkshire; Buckingham Palace and St. James's Palace, London; Balmoral, Aberdeenshire; and York Cottage, Sandringham, Norfolk. And if you go a little further in the "Directory," you will find the Prince of Wales is also Earl of Chester, Duke of Cornwall, and, in the Scotch Peerage, Duke of Rothesay, Earl of Carrick, which has nothing to do with the Lord Carrick of Ireland.—Baron of Renfrew, and Lord of the Isles.—Pearson's Weekly.

Halifax, N.S. Minard's Liniment Co., Ltd. Gentlemen—I have used Minard's Liniment and have found it a good remedy. After the explosion I was pretty well shaken up having quite a number of bruises and cuts, but thanks to Minard's Liniment I am not sorry but can say with truth that I am thankful for it having done all it claimed to do, and in my case much more, and a satisfied customer is the best ad. one can possibly find. That is my view of it and I think you will agree with me too. Yours very truly, (Signed) ALFRED BLAIN, 184 Agricola St., Halifax, N.S.

Rotary Club Inaugurated

Board of Governors Elected—Congratulatory Telegrams Received.

The inauguration of a Rotary Club in St. John's took place at the Green Lantern Restaurant, Theatre Hill, last night, following a dinner at which some 30 guests (Charter Members) were present. Each delegate represented a different calling with the sole exception of the press, each local daily having a representative present, these being Editors Currie (News) News (Advocate) James (Telegram), District Governor R. O. Patterson of the Maritime Provinces, who came here to assist in the inauguration, presided. Before the proceedings began all stood and joined in the singing of "Newfoundland," the famous ode of Sir Cavendish Boyle. An excellent report was then paraded by choruses from the Rotary Song Book enlivening the proceedings. After dinner had been fully discussed, the sound of the gavel called the meeting to order, and following the roll call, reports of the various organizing committees were received and adopted, and a resolution of affiliation with the International Association of Rotary Clubs enthusiastically carried. The following Board of Governors was then elected:—Messrs. H. E. Cowan, C. E. Hunt, J. McKay, J. S. Ayre, Dr. Mitchell, R. F. Horwood, Reg. Harvey, Hon. S. Milley and Dr. V. P. Burke, and from these the officers for the ensuing year were selected as follows:—President, H. E. Cowan; Vice President, C. E. Hunt; Sergeant at Arms, J. S. Ayre; Secretary, V. P. Burke and Treasurer, Reg. Harvey. After a brief word of thanks from the first Rotary President of Newfoundland, the newly elected Sergeant of Arms was installed and received his implement of office—a sealing gaff—at the hands of Rotarian Montgomery, who was most happy and witty in his remarks. In declaring the Rotary Club of St. John's duly constituted, District Governor Patterson delivered a splendid address, in the course of which he expressed his pleasure at having been privileged to declare this new club duly constituted. He explained the principles of Rotary and related many interesting anecdotes to illustrate them. He laid stress upon the fact that attendance has been termed the price of membership in Rotary and said it was the barometer by which is judged the efficiency of the club. He also stated that Newfoundland is the twenty-fifth country in which Rotary has been established. After Mr. Patterson had concluded, the following congratulatory telegrams were read by the President.

COPIES OF TELEGRAMS TO NEWLY INCORPORATED ROTARY CLUB OF ST. JOHN'S, NEWFOUNDLAND.

From Rotary International Headquarters, Chicago.—In the name of the Rotary Club already established in twenty-five countries, I cordially welcome the Rotary Club of St. John's, Newfoundland as a new club from a new country. May the St. John's Rotarians find true happiness in the exemplification of Rotary and the new Club become a tower of strength in Number One District—CHESLEY R. PERRY, Sec'y-General.

From Halifax Rotary Club.—Heartiest congratulations on the inauguration of Rotary in Newfoundland. All our fellows join in extending to your Club warmest Rotary Greetings and heartfelt wishes for genuine success. I believe Rotary will mean more than either of us can imagine or a closer relationship between our cities and a better understanding and more cordial good fellowship among our citizens. We are delighted to welcome you.—J. LAYTON RALSTON, K.C., President.

From St. John, N.B. Rotary Club.—St. John Club sends greetings and best wishes to the Baby Rotary Club in District Number One.—H. L. SPANGLER, President.

From Sydney Rotary Club.—Sydney Rotary Club rejoices to welcome men of St. John's into the fellowship and service of Rotary. We have no finer members than our Rotarians of Newfoundland birth, Gower McKay and Val Merchant, and knowing them we know that the St. John's Club will be enthusiastic, earnest and a tower of strength to the whole of Rotary. We look forward to opportunities of greeting St. John's Rotarians at our meetings here.—ARTHUR S. BURCH-ELL, Secretary.

From St. Stephen, N.B. Rotary Club.—St. Stephen Milltown Rotary Club extends hearty welcome to Rotary to St. John's Newfoundland Club. J. M. FLEWELLING, Secretary.

From Charlottetown, P.E.I. Rotary Club.—Kindly convey greetings of the Charlottetown Rotary Club to the newly affiliated St. John's Club. We heartily welcome Ancient Colony into the fellowship of Rotary and look forward with pleasure to more intimate relations at the March Conference in Moncton.—J. A. CLARKE, President.

From Rotary Club, Moncton, N.B.—Extend to St. John's Club our heartiest congratulations on their entry into the Rotary Family. Our only wish is that the new baby may thrive and wax strong. We hope to have the privilege of extending our personal congratulations in Moncton, next March.—GEO. O. SPENCER, President.

Congratulatory addresses were made by Rotarians Gower McKay, of Sydney, Harvey Smith and C. F. Bond, of Halifax, after which the proceedings were terminated. From the enthusiasm which abounded at the inauguration it seems fairly evident that Rotary in Newfoundland is in for a successful career. To-morrow the directors will meet at the Green Lantern at 1:15 p.m. and on Tuesday next the first general luncheon for members will take place.

M. J. O'BRIEN.

O'Brien wishes to say right here, at the commencement of his remarks to-night, that he agrees in every point with the papers' editorial of last night regarding a cleaner city. Our water supply is unlimited, therefore, more flushing of those drains, which carry so many a disgusting color of filth, must be insisted upon, more disinfectant placed in the hoppers, and the hose should be used more often to rout those evil accumulations of filth. Water Street is now in need of not less than eight or ten men, properly uniformed in a distinguishing color of overalls, to be given each a section with a broom, shovel and scraper for which they would be daily responsible in keeping clean, by collecting the droppings and filth that is constantly in the making, and which should be deposited in proper receptacles, which could be provided in the Coves. O'Brien believes a great deal more benefit would be got out of the work was given out on contract to the lowest tender received, say for a given portion, this would do away with the wasteful system now tolerated, and would also allow the regular staff to attend to their other, no less important, duties of keeping the gutters, traps, and storm sewers open, which now they have to perform neglect with the result that all the streets are rep and torn by overflowing freshets bringing down with them floods of water, tons of gravel and filth, eventually finding a resting place in the lower streets, which materially assists in choking the gutters of that section. O'Brien assures every citizen that he will fight hard to have New Gower Street improved by some means of paving, and at least he hopes to see the sidewalks paved on that busy thoroughfare even if he has, should he be honored with election, to call for a public subscription to accomplish it. The mud, pedestrians get so expatriated brushing off their clothes, gathered in traversing this street, not to speak of what germs of disease they bring in their shoes, would prompt every sensible man to dig down in his jeans and give a donation for the betterment of his city more cheerfully than for one to enlighten the benighted heathen, whose cities can laugh us to shame for those utilities, and we should remember "charity begins at home first," more especially so where the health and comfort of our fellow citizens is at stake. O'Brien advocates the electing of one of the fair sex on the board, considering they have eleven hundred sisters who have a right to be heard in their own defence. He believes that a good suggestion would be put forward for the advantage of our citizens. The children of our city, who already call him "the chief of their friends," say he is the only candidate who has given them a thought so far in the contest, would like, in a lady councillor, a strong advocate to relieve the evils that now prevail and which men cannot, at all times in a becoming manner, approach the opposite sex upon; her advice could be given to many mother in matters of hygiene and civic affairs, who innocently violate the ordinance of the city's laws. In conclusion to our remarks to-night, O'Brien desires to have every voter measure, which must, however, have the co-operation of the full board if they are to be brought in force. You citizens who are now picking out the respective candidates for your choice, will of course bear in mind their interests, your neighbors interest, the interests you shall mark One Vote for O'Brien.—adv.

Household Notes.

Add a drop of peppermint to the chocolate icing for devil's food cake.
 A few blackberries mixed with thinly sliced apples make a good pie filling.
 Arrange sliced peaches over cream pie and top with whipped cream.
 Cover a hot cake with cut marshmallows and pour over them fudge frosting.
 Little individual tartlets are more attractive than plain pie and simpler to serve.
 Spread a thin layer of bitter chocolate over the white icing of the chocolate cake.
 Chocolate cake is especially delicious if flavored with a little cinnamon and clove.
 Candy mints, candied cherries, ginger and orange peel are delightful tea accessories.
 The best tea is made with a proportion of 3 teaspoon tea to every 2 cups of boiling water.
 If you fry eggs in muffin tins, they will be perfectly round and much more attractive in appearance.
 Tuck loops of narrow tape in your buffet drawer. Under separate loops place knives, forks, etc.
 Tea should never be boiled. Four boiling water over it and allow it to stand 5 minutes in a warm place.
 If no paraffine is available, use a common modeling clay around the cork of a bottle. It seals perfectly.
 Meringue may be varied if ½ cup chopped walnuts are added, and 1 cup jelly is used instead of sugar.
 The same tea leaves should never be steeped a second time.

FACE THE FACTS

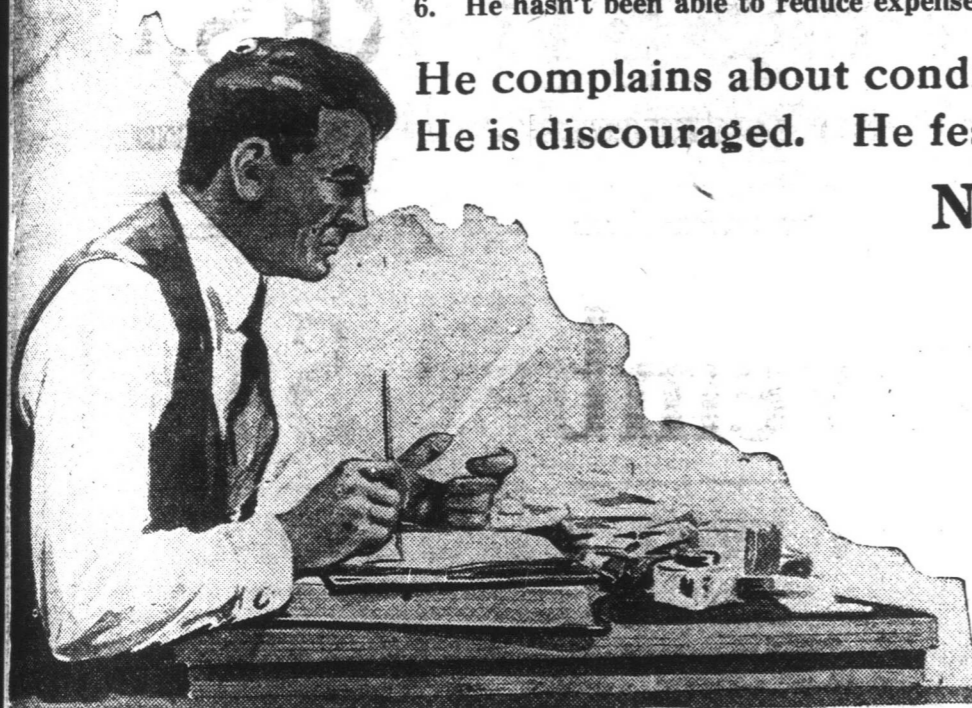

New business methods are required to meet new business conditions

Old methods invite failure.

This merchant is trying to meet present-day conditions with an out-of-date system.

1. He can't get the records he needs.
2. He guesses about the amount of outstanding accounts.
3. His customers get slow service.
4. He gives no receipt to his customers.
5. There is no incentive for his clerks to do better work.
6. He hasn't been able to reduce expenses.

He complains about conditions. He is discouraged. He fears failure.

New methods insure success.

This merchant has installed a new model National Cash Register especially designed to help merchants meet new conditions.

1. It gives facts necessary for managing his business.
2. It provides an easy way to keep all records.
3. It gives quick, accurate service to customers.
4. It prints a receipt for each customer.
5. It helps clerks sell more goods.
6. It reduces overhead.

He has made conditions in his store right. He is meeting present-day conditions successfully.

New model National Cash Registers help merchants meet new conditions.

A National Cash Register is the only machine that issues a receipt, indicates, adds, prints, classifies and Distributes records at the time of the sale, all in one operation. No figure work. No Delays. No mistakes. Just read the totals.

STRIKING.

My children cry for bread, and I can't even give them hay; I've made their lives a thing of dread, since I have struck for higher pay. I labored at the posthole mills, with many more downtrodden men, and saved enough to pay my bills, and saved some kopecks now and then. Then came a man whose lungs were black, and showed us we were serfs and slaves; all workmen are marred, and all employers merely slaves. He told us we would have to strike, if we would have our problems solved; so jobless now we hit the pike—there is a principle involved. There is a principle at stake, or so the gifted speaker said; but oh, it makes my bosom ache; to hear the million cry for bread! I never hear them play or run; the kiddies always get the staff while great campaigns are lost or won. The children do not seem to care for principles, however; they ask for warmer things to wear, they weep because there is no pie. Their cheeks grow hollow, day by day, their lips are pinched and thin and gray—and principles don't seem so fine. There is no juicy roast to carve, the larder holds no tempting cake; the little kids will have to starve, for there's a principle at stake.

Scientists Predict Death to Darwinism.

The iniquity of Darwinism—that guess-science that has led so many Christian people away from belief in God's inspired word, was the subject of an address made by William Jennings Bryan in introducing Dr. Lyell Rader, Chicago chemist, at the first meeting of the Prothetic Bible and Science Society, held in Washington, D.C.
"Instead of allowing higher critics to cut out of the Bible that which conflicts with scientific guessings," declared Mr. Bryan, "we propose to cut guessing out of science."
Dr. Rader declared that "Darwinism had had its day." In the future, he said, the truth of science would be applied by "rigid scientific methods," as contrasted with the pseudo-science of the past.

Misses Husband and Killed Child.

Mrs. Frank Messner of Chicago threw a poker at her husband on November 8. The poker missed the objective, but struck the two-year-old son of the couple. The child was fatally injured. Mrs. Messner told the police that her husband came home intoxicated, and insisted on her calling up his employer, and making an excuse for his inability to report for work. Mrs. Messner says she refused. "I threw the poker to scare my husband," said the woman "I threw it toward his feet. I had not noticed the baby on the floor, and the poker missed my husband and struck the child in the head."

MINARD'S LINIMENT USED BY PHYSICIANS.

Could Use Ships to Aid Housing.

According to marine engineers who have spent several days in inspecting the interior of the former United States transport Leviathan in Hoboken, she could be converted into a floating apartment house to accommodate 3,000 persons comfortably within four months at a cost of $2,000,000 to $3,000,000, says the New York Times.
The huge liner has never been stuck in the mud at her pier in Hoboken, as reported, but on the contrary, according to Captain John J. Jamison, who is in charge, the vessel has at least two feet of water under her keel at all stages of the tide. The engineers assert that it would be easy to tow the Leviathan up the North River above Eighth Street and moor her within convenient distance of the Manhattan shore.
The accommodation could be leased on the two-rooms-and-bath plan and the tenants could have the use of the various kitchens, which are in perfect working order, the engineers assert. The heating and lighting apparatus would be repaired so that there would always be plenty of hot water and steam. The ballroom could be used for dances, and the dining rooms are all clean and painted, ready for the fittings to be installed.

The tenants in the Leviathan floating apartment would have telephone connection with the shore with a switchboard like warships when in this harbor. They would have the use of six decks and, have more space than persons in the city. The Roman bath on the lower deck and the swimming pool and Turkish bath are all in good working order.

An Army Swallowed Up.

It was not an epoch-making battle that was fought at Solway Moss, on November 24, 1542 but it was one of the most complete of the English victories over the Scots, and the story of it is worth telling. The Scots had crossed the Border in force, and were proceeding on their usual lines of fire and pillage, to the assault of Carlisle when they were met at Arbury by an army under Sir Arthur Wharton, Wardens of the Western Marches. The English attack disorganized the invaders, ten thousand fugitives lost their way, and found themselves with the flowing tide on the bog of Solway Moss and were swallowed up, slain or taken prisoners. "Never in all the wars between England and Scotland had there been a defeat more complete, more sudden, or more disgraceful." It was a consolation for the defeat they had suffered at the Bannockburn, in 1447, nearly a hundred years before.

Rotary and Its Principles.

The subject of Rotary, and what it means has been employing the minds of citizens of St. John's for some little time. Last night ample demonstration of the whole question was made and Newfoundland is honored in being the twenty-fifth country in which Rotary Clubs have been organized, making now one thousand clubs with a total world-wide membership of 75,000. When it is considered that only one representative of each profession or calling in each section is permitted to obtain membership in Rotary Clubs, it will be at once observable that 75,000 rotarians represent a vast body of trades, professions and the various industries of the countries in which they are established. The limitation of membership is patently the success of the Rotary movement, for it is obvious that with the insistence on such limitations, no particular clique, coterie or cabal of members can govern each or any unit. Lexicographers define Rotary and its derivatives as a turning motion, the movement being made, as on the axis of a wheel. As a matter of fact the word itself is borrowed from the Latin rotare—a wheel. Rotary therefore as a club or institution means that the performance of any act, function or operation shall be taken in turn, or pass or alternate in a series. Thus the officers rotate in turn, the officers rotating among them, no one being re-elected for the same position at the annual meeting. The symbol of the Club is a cog wheel, but as it is clear that one cog wheel cannot perform any efficient service without the connection and relation of others, so each Rotarian being an individual cog in the system, by association and relation with the whole, causes the multiplex machinery of sociality and business combined to revolve for the benefit of all. To attempt to expound the principles of Rotary in the present brief article would be a work of supererogation. Let it suffice for the nonce to give the true origin of this International Association, which came into being with a group of four men seated around an office table. As it happened each one of the four represented a different calling—one a coal dealer, one a mining operator, one a merchant tailor, and the fourth an attorney. The attorney, Paul P. Harris, was the one who first advanced the idea of forming a club different from any other club then known, and to him belongs the credit for starting the great Rotary movement. The meeting of the four at which it was decided to organize a club, that now historic meeting of the four original Rotarians, was held February 23rd, 1905, in the Unity Building on Dearborn Street, in Chicago. It was decided to invite to membership just one man from each different business or professional calling. A printer, a real estate man, an insurance man, and a banker, were the next four admitted. "Rotary" was chosen as the name of the new club because the members were in the habit of entertaining the meetings in "rotation" at their places of business. As "Rotation" Club was somewhat inapt they decided to adopt the shorter form and call it the "Rotary Club," and as such it has been now instituted in "Ye Ancient Colony" of Newfoundland.

Dr. Grenfell Has No Authority to Speak for Newfoundland.

Special Evening Telegram.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 23, 1921.
Dr. Grenfell is Premier of Newfoundland, has denied in the American Press the statements attributed to him in Toronto, in which Grenfell reported that Newfoundland was piling up debt and "Newfoundland should have been taken over by Canada long ago, and undoubtedly be finally taken over by Canada. Premier Squires stated that Dr. Grenfell has no authority to speak on behalf of anybody, except himself, and he is not a Newfoundland; that the debt of fifty millions, to which Grenfell referred, represents the entire debt of the island of Newfoundland, including all the Municipal debt. Premier Squires states that the best evidence of Newfoundland's financial strength was the fact that Newfoundland Government six and a half per cent. Debenture, maturing in nineteen thirty-six, were quoted in Newfoundland at one hundred and six per hundred.

WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENT.

Quant little Boudoir Caps enough to transform the dullest morning into a happy day. Just by wearing one of them. These are only forty-nine cents to two dollars and twenty-five cents each at BISHOP'S.

In a Multitude of Councillors There is Wisdom.

The number of aspirants for Municipal honors is rapidly increasing, and so far no less than twenty-five have made their announcements to the Civic voters. On the subject of the necessity for a proper Market Place at St. John's, bounded along the lines adopted by other cities, Mr. Thomas Peel claims to be originator of this modern plan for St. John's, and that he has located a sum approximately twenty thousand dollars, which for years had been earmarked for this purpose, but lost sight of by both political and civic leaders. Mr. Peel may throw his hat into the Municipal ring at any moment. His friends are urging him to do so.

There are no Maids' Aprons like the crisp, smart, American Cut, Waifress Aprons, such as BISHOP'S are now showing.

Thanksgiving Day.

To-day is Thanksgiving Day all over the United States of America, and is observed as a general holiday, by proclamation of the President. This day in the great Republic was originally a harvest festival appointed by the Pilgrim Fathers—1621, but since 1863 has been observed—on the last Thursday in November—as a general thanksgiving for the mercies of the year.

Girls' and Women's Bath Robes will be one of the most popular Xmas Gifts this year if they are all so attractive as those on display at BISHOP'S just now.

"Deacon Dubbs" Next Week.

We were privileged last evening to witness one of the final rehearsals of "Deacon Dubbs" to be presented by the B.I.S. Players at the Casino on Monday night next. It is a delightful comedy-drama of rural life and Miss Mary McCarthy, who recently graduated with honours from the Boston School of Dramatic Art, gives a very versatile interpretation of the beautiful character of Rose Raleigh. Mr. P. F. Moore who is directing the show is playing the title role, and the whole cast of favourite promise to give the most vigorous and entrancing show portrayed for some time.

The season for warm house coats is at hand. Men will stay home more now that the disagreeable evenings are with us again. BISHOP'S have reduced all their House Coats, Smoking Jackets, etc. and a great many women are buying them now for Xmas presents. Prices are as low as eight dollars and fifty cents each.

NOTICE.—The Electrical Plant will be closed from 4.30 a.m. to 7.30 a.m. to-morrow.

Co-Operative Marketing

COMMODITY CONTROL BY EXPORTERS AND PRODUCERS.

ARTICLE III.

Dear Sir,—As co-operative marketing associations usually have a large membership, special arrangements have to be made for their government. This is usually done by electing trustees, so called, who, in their turn, elect directors, and the latter appoint managers. In this way various interests procure representation, and all points of view come before the controllers of the association. In this Colony, for instance, in the organization of an Exporters' Association, trustees could be elected from the exporters on the West Coast connected with the Bank fishery; and from the East Coast connected with the Labrador and Shore fisheries; the interests of localities and of particular fisheries could all be represented in the governing body. None but producers would be allowed to become members of co-operative marketing associations, and consequently no outside interference or influence could be represented in the association, or on their governing bodies. The association, through its Board, or its Manager, is the only authority to sell, and that authority is complete. Under Coaker's Regulations, the sole power to sell remained in the exporters, but the power to veto a sale was in the Board, and hence disputes were constantly arising. The members of this latter Board would have no individual interest to serve, but each member of the Board would have an interest to serve in common with every other exporter in the Colony. There would be in such a Board a highly centralized authority, of a positive affirmative character, while Coaker's Board had only the negative power of saying "thou shalt not." It might from time to time fix prices, but they, in practice, were only obligatory upon exporters not members of the Board, for members of the Board could, and in some cases did, sell fish under the same price, and then get the prices fixed to suit previous sales.

THE PERSONNEL OF ASSOCIATIONS.

In the marketing associations of California, Mr. Sapiro says, it has been the most desirable and profitable to appoint able experienced and expert managers, who receive large salaries, and, usually, bonuses, on the profits of operation, such bonuses being intended to stimulate the managers to greater efforts. As a rule, the managers are allowed to select their assistants, who are, so far as possible, experienced in the various branches of trade. For the export trade of this Colony, it would be necessary to appoint experts abroad for the purpose of marketing the fish sent forward to them from time to time. And here it is worth while to note a very significant thing. It is this, that semi-perishable commodities to be sold are not kept back from market by the associations, but regularly forwarded to the points at which consumption is expected to take place. In this country, we have heard a very great deal in condemnation of the policy of consigning fish to foreign markets, the various regulations had this one object—the forcing of what was called "outright sales" before shipment. I have pointed out in other letters that the name was a misnomer, as there was, in fact, no "outright sale" provided for, but simply "an agreement of sale," with the sale itself to take place upon delivery in the foreign market, and with provision for reclamations. Far from destroying the consignment system, the co-operative marketing associations of California and Canada have their own agents in all the markets they cultivate, and the commodities are forwarded as quickly as possible to the point of consumption. Arriving there, the commodities are sold by the agents upon the best terms procurable in view of local competition and other surrounding circumstances. The policy of Coaker's Regulations, to detain fish here until an agreement to sell it had been made, resulted in making a market for foreign competitors. The would-be buyer was unwilling to purchase "a pig in a poke," and hence could only be induced, in certain cases, to sign an agreement of sale by a sort of compulsion. He preferred to buy his fish after seeing it, and if he agreed in advance to buy the fish, he usually planned to make the seller pay something for his advantage by offering him a lower price than he would be willing to give for the same fish upon its arrival in market. If perchance he found upon arrival that he had agreed to pay more than the market price, he simply desisted from the value of the fish, refused to accept it, or, if he accepted, made a reclamation for bad quality. The only time when he was ready to carry out his agreement of sale was when upon the arrival of his fish the price had gone up in the market, and

Problems of Products.

Mr. Sapiro says that all products have different problems. "The problem of perishable products is routing." "The problem of non-perishable products is financing, so that you can have same and orderly marketing throughout the year." Dried fish would, I think, be classified as a semi-perishable, and as such, it has two problems—routing and financing. By routing, I understand that Mr. Sapiro meant that perishable articles should be forwarded from the point of production to the point of consumption as rapidly as they are fit for shipment. Oranges, for instance, are sent forward by the carload in practically every train after the fruit is ripe enough to pick. By saying that the problem of a non-perishable article is financing, I suppose Mr. Sapiro meant that such articles could be stored for a period, provided money could be obtained by borrowing upon warehouse receipts, etc., so that the articles could be kept until satisfactory opportunities for sale occurred. A semi-perishable article like fish, presents both problems, because fish do not in any case warrant long keeping in stores, and in some of the softer cures, such as Labrador, it would ruin almost as quickly as oranges. The question of routing has recently been raised by the agitation that our fish should be sent forward in sailing craft owned in the Colony, rather than in large cargoes by foreign craft, generally of some of the softer cures, such as Labrador, it would ruin almost as quickly as oranges. Feildian Club Dance.

THE DANCE OF THE SEASON.
From every point of view the dance held last night in the C.C.C. Hall by the Feildian Club was the most successful social event of the year. A beautiful effect was presented by the decorations in both the ball-room and supper-room. Part of the decorations in the ball-room consisted of the use of the most beautiful and blended colors of the season, decorated with the most beautiful of flowers. The decorations in the supper-room, the window was trellised and the tables were covered with the Feildian colors, whilst multi-colored balloons hung overhead. Over 50 couples were present and danced to the accompaniment of the C.C.C. Dance Orchestra under the direction of Mr. A. Morris. Supper was served at 11.30 p.m., was most elaborate and well prepared. One of the many features which helped to raise the dance above the ordinary level, it was provided by a number of ladies under the supervision of Miss H. Dickenson and was prepared on a most elaborate manner. After supper, a most novel novelty was provided, in the shape of a ballet dance by Miss Patricia Gibb. The dance was most gracefully performed and drew forth tremendous applause. Mr. Whiteford, the proceeds of the dance was afterwards presented to the Feildian Club, presided over by Mr. Frank Bennett, who presented to the club a most valuable gift, a pianoforte. The dance was most successful and drew forth tremendous applause. In Memoriam.
PATRICK DENIEF.
The funeral of the late Patrick Denief took place from his father's residence, Cuddihy Street, on Tuesday afternoon. The prayers for the soul were read at the R. C. Cathedral by the Rev. Fr. Carter. His remains were interred at Belvedere. Besides a numerous list of chums and other friends, he leaves to mourn a father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. James Denief, two brothers, Edward of the telegraph office, and James; also two sisters, Annie and Minnie. To his heartbroken parents, brothers and sisters the Telegram extends sincere sympathy.

A Successful Newfoundlander.
Mr. E. J. Dolger, a Newfoundlander who left here some 20 years ago for Boston, has, we learn, branched out in business for himself. Mr. Dolger was formerly employed on the Daily News and Trade Review. After going to Boston he worked at the printing trade, and advanced rapidly to the foremanship of a large printing establishment. He has now opened "The Mattapan Print Shop" and has installed up-to-date equipment and is prepared to handle every class of printing. Included in his office staff is Miss Nancy Goss, formerly of the Telephone Exchange, of St. John's, who left here several months ago, and holds a lucrative position in this new establishment.

Destruction and Burglary.
Recently the residence of Mrs. Claude Noonan, situated on Waterloo Bridge Road, was broken into, and quite a lot of goods were stolen. Mr. Noonan was out of town when the burglary occurred. Besides getting away with a lot of other property, over 100 grams of stolen records were destroyed by the proprietors.

Sale of Work.

Under the auspices of the Ladies Aid and Girls' Guild a very successful sale of work was held yesterday afternoon in the Lecture Room of the Congregational Church. At 3 p.m. the sale was formally opened by Rev. Mr. Holmes. The affair was well patronized during the evening, the various stalls doing a good business. Delicious tea was served, and at 8 p.m. the affair was brought to a close with a concert, at which the following took part:—Mrs. C. F. Garland, Misses Maunder, E. Barnes, Withers, Organ, Langmead and Messrs. Calvert and Stansfield. At the close of the concert the goods remaining over were auctioned by Mr. John Calvert proving a splendid success, a handsome sum being realized.

After Long Search Young Declares He Got What He Needed

Moncton, N.B. Man Was Almost Down And Out—Is Now in Tip-Top Condition.

"I wasn't exactly sick but needed something to give me an all-round building up and that is just what Tanlac did for me," said Daniel Young, employed by the Dominion Construction Co., Moncton, N.B. "My trouble was sour stomach. Everything I ate caused fermentation to set up and I would simply suffer tortures from gas on the stomach. I had such awful headaches that I shudder to think of them even now, and I was nervous and miserable all the time."

"Tanalac suited my case exactly. I have a splendid appetite, everything agrees with me and I have gotten back all of my old strength and energy. No reasonable man could want to feel any better than I do right now."

Tanalac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

Modern Methods and Business Progress.

The right and wrong way to conduct a business is the basis of an announcement in to-night's Telegram. The left hand story shows the dangers faced by a Merchant with an out of date Store System. The right hand way shows the success achieved by the Merchant with an up-to-date system.

The Merchants all over Newfoundland will read this advertisement. Many of them will admit to themselves that they are in the position of the man with the out of date Store System. Merchants who realize that they are not making the money they should will be interested in the machine way that will help them.

Hand and brain methods cannot to-day compete with improved machinery. From the largest Department Store to the smallest shop the necessity of reducing expenses to-day is more important than ever before, and there is no invention that has played a larger part in helping Merchants all over the world to decrease their expenses and increase profits than has the National Cash Register.

Last year alone nearly one thousand Department Stores who had used all kinds of mechanical systems, invested in Cash Register Equipment which enabled them to give the quickest service, saving the time of their Clerks and customers, and reducing their overhead expenses by thousands of dollars. This year the sale of Cash Registers to these big Department Stores has shown a further increase, and the Merchant of today who wishes can profit by the experience of the Merchant Princes of this Continent.

Firms like Marshall Field of Chicago, Wanamaker of Philadelphia, Jordan Marsh of Boston, T. Eaton's, Co., Ltd. of Toronto, and hundreds of others years ago found that it paid to change their slow system for the National quick service way, and their continued repeat orders prove their satisfaction with the practicability of the new way.

Merchants to-day need to look ahead. It would be pretty risky to drive an automobile across country in the dark at top speed, without headlights. The average motor car should have headlights which throw the drivers' vision at least 200 feet ahead.

If your business is going fast, you should have the "illumination headlights" turned on full force. If you don't see what is in the road ahead of you, you'll be "bumping" into things which at least "slow you up," if they don't actually "upset" you. Of course, there may be slack times when it will be possible for you to grope your way along without knowledge of what is beyond the minute in which you are living; but even then, you will often find it necessary to crawl out of many "blind business alleys" because you can't see what they are before you get into them—as you could if you took the same precautions which you would in driving your car.

In business, you can only look ahead with your mind—your eyes cannot see into the future nor the past. Your mind sees only with the information it has, and without information it is also blind. Securing this information is largely a matter of keeping a few records, such as the totals of cash and charge sales, disbursements, goods purchased, accounts payable, accounts receivable, and stock on hand. From such records, the merchant can gather the information which enables him to anticipate the future and guide his business accordingly.

No man should be employed at a desk which a machine can perform, and improved machinery in business may make the difference between success and failure for many business men.

NOTE OF THANKS—Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Desautel and family wish to thank the many friends who sent wreaths and words of sympathy on the death of their dear son, Patrick. They especially wish to convey their gratitude to the members of the C.C.C. Old Comrades who kindly supplied a guard of honor at his funeral.

The fossil of a winged and toothless bird recently found in Western Kansas is held to be the oldest relic of the past now on the earth. It is estimated that his bird lived 25,000,000 years ago.

The Isle of Man does not mean that once upon a day women were excluded from it. In reality it means the middle island and derives its name from an old word "monopia" or "manavia," in Manx "vannin" or "mannin," which means middle and was applied to the island because of its location.

"Boodle," according to the Thieves Lexicon published in 1858, meant counterfeit money and a "boodle carrier" was one who carried the counterfeit money and handed it out a bill at a time to those who passed it.

Retail Grocers to Organize.

At a large and influential meeting of Retail Grocers in the Board of Trade Rooms on Tuesday night, it was unanimously decided that the time was highly opportune for the establishment in St. John's of a Retail Grocers Organization having as its object the unity of the retailers, the co-operation of wholesalers and manufacturers and the confidence of the consumer. Several speakers expressed the opinion that such an organization would be of great value to the trade generally, and proposed that steps be taken immediately to secure the fullest support of all retailers. Other countries have found such an organization indispensable, and the time has come when Newfoundlanders should fall in line, and realize that in this country it is essential; and moreover they should use every ounce of energy at their command for the complete success of such an association, and make it the grocers' parliament as it were, so that the needs of the consumer may be first last, last and always considered, thereby gaining the confidence of the public and the co-operation of the men higher up. It was decided to hold another meeting in the Board of Trade Rooms which have been kindly placed at their disposal, on next Tuesday night at 8 o'clock.

and all the grocers who have the interest of their customers and the public generally at heart will no doubt present. Matters of great importance to business men will be discussed and men whose ability to explain them will be sufficient justification for this meeting. The spirit of association and good fellowship is sadly lacking in John's and any effort to improve a position should be received with an arm. Those who attend the meeting on next Tuesday night will have an opportunity of witnessing the awakening of the Retail Grocer.

Our Local Pepsys.

Wednesday, November 24th. A hard frost and drift, such as is rarely heard of at this time of the year. So much for the great talk of a mild winter!
By the public despatches I did see how our Princess Mary is betrothed and to a peer of the realm. This is news, indeed, and doth show an ever greater tendency towards a wider democracy. To the Board of Trade where I did hear how the fish business improveth mightily but there is much talk of hard times for the winter. To the Green Lantern where a Rotary Club was inaugurated in our city. A most interesting event. Having my old black suit new furnished and being pretty neat in clothes, with my wife to the Felidian Club Dance.
The ornamentation were of a nature most pleasing to the eye. Home, a little displeas'd with my wife, who, poor wretch, is ignorant of the new methods of dancing, which I know not how, without great trouble, to help as yet, seeing that I, also, am ignorant of the new steps, but I will study later how to do them.

Curlew and Plover.

Re our reference in yesterday's issue to the presence of plovers here at this unusually late season, we learn that it is 40 years since plover and curlew were comparatively plentiful, but that sixty years back it was quite possible for a good "shot" to bag from 25 to 40 birds in a few hours. The "race-course", subsequently known as "Casey's", and later as "Buckman-ter's"—much of the Freshwater Valley and the South Side Hill were favoured haunts of these birds. Labrador was their breeding place, from whence their migration began with the first northeast wind after the 25th August.
If the northeaster lasted the birds rarely rested until Cape Spear was reached. If their landing occurred on a wet or foggy day the birds could be shot in great numbers, as owing to the fatigue of the flight they were inclined to go to wing. Peculiarities in flight and the alighting of these birds gave them an especial interest for sportsmen. Next to our most priced duck the curlew was our most priced table delicacy. The vicinity of St.
John's has not known these birds for fifteen or sixteen years, but since 1918 a few have been in evidence and during the present season it has been noted that few flocks have been seen.

Large Amount Needed.

Over $100,000 will be required to repair the roads and bridges damaged by the storm of Oct. 24th. Already a vote of $54,000 has been made and between $40,000 and $50,000 more will be necessary. Where possible, instead of repairing the old roads which ran along by the beaches, the routes are being changed so as to avoid the sea and obviate a recurrence of the havoc wrought during the big storm. This applies particularly to Conception Bay.
Surveys are now being made for the purpose of finding new routes and land has been purchased from several people with this intention.

"Little Princess" Safe.

The schr. "Little Princess", concerning which much anxiety was felt, as it was reported that she had left New York for here on Nov. 1st, is quite safe. A message has been received by her owner, Capt. Keen, saying that she left New York with a cargo of hard coal on the 22nd of this month and she should therefore arrive here in about ten days' time.

A Fair Exchange.

A woman from Foxtrap charged her daughter-in-law with assault in the Magistrate's Court to-day. The plaintiff wanted to prevent the accused from entering her property and threatened to hit her (accused) with a hammer if she attempted to open the gate. According to a believer in re-ciprocily, said she would put a pitchfork through her mother-in-law. The actual assault consisted of a push and for this the accused was fined $2.

Endorsation.

Dear Sir—The letter signed Anglican, Bonavista Bay, appearing in the Telegraph of the 19th inst., under the heading "A Square Deal," is timely and to the point. The Anglican denomination has heretofore quietly submitted to the unfair treatment meted out to them by present and past Governments. The time is now ripe for the adherents of that body to take a firm and determined stand in looking out for what is justly their due. The Church of England has in the past—unlike other denominations—taken no active part in politics, nor would I advocate lowering the dignity of the church by taking any other course in the future, but I would say to every individual member of the body asser-ing their rights. If the denominational system of allotment of positions is still supposed to be in force; and you cannot get justice under premises whose religious persuasion are different from yours; then nominate a man who professes the Anglican faith, a man who is fervent and just, a man who is broad minded enough to give a fair deal to friend and foe alike, and who will see that other denominations get as square a show as his own. Have we got such a man in the country? I unhesitatingly say yes, in the person of Mr. A. B. Morine.
Come along with your requisition, Mr.
Anglican and we will see that it is largely signed, and we trust that Mr.
Morine will not say us nay.

Proper Potato Storage.

We have had the present year the most prolific yield of potatoes in the country's history. So large has been the crop that storage thereof has been difficult to procure. In certain of the Bays and on the West Coast cellars are dangerously overfilled. This begets conditions favourable to the development of "cellar rot" and the prospect is that great care will be called for in the coming winter, whenever considerable stocks of potatoes are carried in limited space areas. All storages should be ventilated as freely as security from frost will permit. A small roof aperture in cellars will be helpful, and safe, as the openings may be packed from both outside and inside during periods of low temperature. Whenever weather conditions permit the doors of potato cellars should be opened to admit air, but not light—direct sunlight especially should be excluded. This may be effected by hanging a couple of sacks or a rug in the doorway when open. With care no material loss may accrue, but lacking this, and with the danger from overcrowding, serious losses are quite possible, as during the digging season of the present year it was noticeable, both West and North, that a quite large percentage of the "sets" were badly affected with "rot," and this does not indicate a winter keeping quality in the crop. Whenever potatoes show any tendency to become diseased they should be gone through and all affected ones removed and burned. It would be little short of a calamity if through indifference or culpable negligence any material losses in the crop should occur during the present period of economic stringency.

How to Insure Your Brain Power.

A NEW SOLUTION TO THE HIGH COST OF LIVING.
When your stomach is functioning as it should, when you digest your food and get the full nutritive power from it, your health improves—and improved health means increased brain power.

Increased brain power places you in a position to make more money through greater clarity of mind.

Ever think of the H. C. L. problem from this new angle?
Very few people can boast of enjoying anything near perfect health, because most of them suffer from stomach trouble which, after all, is the root of most of the diseases that affect humanity.

Keep yourself fit for the day's work
by keeping your stomach in perfect order. "Gastronol" does it and costs so little that all who are subject to indigestion, biliousness, dyspepsia and other troubles of the digestive organs should always carry a box with them. Each Gastronol bears its own name embossed to protect you against substitutes. If your local dealer is der with remittance direct to Dr. J.

Road Work Stopped.

All work on the Bonne Bay-Deer
Lake Road has now been stopped.
Roadmaster Spencer reports that weather conditions are not suitable for further road making. It is possible that some timber may be cut for the purpose of corduroying the marshes.
This will be paid for with the supplies remaining after all the men have been paid off for road work. About five miles of the road has been completed and what there is of it is very elaborate. The matter of completing this road will be considered during the win-

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

stamp out disorders which "have been sprung upon us deliberately, when we are barely in the saddle." The Lord Mayor said, "we have made up our minds that law and order shall prevail in this city."
ALMOST HOPELESS.—
LONDON, Nov. 24.
Negotiations for an Irish settlement are feared to be nearing an unfavorable end, according to high authority to-day, and there is apprehension that next week may witness their collapse, unless more favorable circumstances, not now foreseen, shall develop. It is said that Ulster no longer presents
the sole obstacle, but that Sinn Fein has refused to accept allegiance to the King, although willing to take the oath of an Irish constitution. Further, it is added, Sinn Fein will not agree to a veto of Irish legislation by the British Crown, although loosely connected with other States in the Empire.
Acts of Parliament creating British Dominions give the King the power of vetoing all legislation, but by constitutional usage this veto is never exercised. Sinn Fein never is declared to have made known its belief that a similar veto power regarding Ireland would be constantly used at the will of the British Cabinet. Ulster, apart from objection to any All-Ireland Parliament, is keenly interested upon alliance to the Crown.
HEAVY DEATH LIST.—
BELFAST, Nov. 24.
Complete quiet prevails here early this morning. The total death list of the disorders is twenty.
FRENCH PREMIER LEAVES.—
WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.
Aristide Briand, Premier of France, left Washington this morning for New York from which port he will sail tomorrow for home. He has been in Washington a little more than two weeks.
MOPLAH PRISONERS SUFFOCATED
LONDON, Nov. 24.
The official inquiry into the suffocation of 64 Moplah prisoners recently, while being transferred in a closed railway wagon, in the Madras district of India, has not been completed. A Madras despatch to the Times says the affair has created a profound sensation among the natives and has supplied the Nationalist press with material for effective propaganda. The Times correspondent says the examination of the railway wagon showed that the ventilating panels had been recently painted, this partially closing their mesh. The Moplahs were imprisoned in the carriage for five hours on the journey from Ballary without examination and the first intimation of disaster was when the conductor went to give the men water. He found many dead and the remainder unconscious. Only 35 out of one hundred survived. There was evidence of a fierce struggle for life. The Moplahs are all said to have been weak from malaria. Native newspapers are comparing the incident with that of the Black Hole of Calcutta in 1756 when only twenty-three out of 146 Europeans survived imprisonment in a guard house 15 feet by fourteen, feet ten inches.
COMPLETING COLINET ROAD.—
The road between Colinet and Placentia will be completed by Saturday, according to news received by the Department of Public Works. The total cost of the road will be $25,000. It was built under private contract, a fact which probably accounts for the low cost and quick completion.

Men Paid Off.

All the men who were employed in the completion of the Badger Road have now been paid off. They worked for supplies. The staff is still busily engaged in closing the books and attending to other matters which must be finalized. Roadmaster Graham is, at present, arranging for the sale of the horses which were used in building the road. There are about thirty of these which were purchased at a low price from the A.N.D. Co. Offers have already been received for most of them.
S.S. Manoa was due to leave Mon-trreal yesterday for this port. No word of the ships leaving, however, has been received.
S.S. Rosalind is due at Halifax tomorrow.
Schooner Fulton (Danish) has entered at Fogo to load codfish from Earle & Sons for Portugal.
Schooner Marjorie Inken has entered at Wood's Island to load herring for Gloucester.
the 19th is due here to-morrow.

fax for this port on Dec. 8th.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

FASHIONS ARE FUNNY THINGS.

Fashions are funny things. They change so often, why we show signs of getting ready to give it to the charwoman. What do we answer? We don't like it any more because everyone is wearing it.

article may perhaps inquire why it does not appear so often, why we show signs of getting ready to give it to the charwoman. What do we answer? We don't like it any more because everyone is wearing it.

Why We Want It And Why We Cease To Want It.
In the first place the fashion industry is made up of two contradictory states of mind.

What the Animals Really Say.
Experiments recently carried out in England by means of phonographs, to discover the sounds which animals really do make, show that many of the popular ideas of the cries made by them are altogether wrong.

Own Your Own Home for Less Than You are Paying Rent.

For $600 cash down we build a nice plain 6 room $1,800 house and give 10 years to pay the $1,200 balance.

We build up to $3,500 house on this plan. We accept $900 on a $2,700 house; the monthly payments for 10 years to own this averages $21.60 per month.

See the $2,500 bungalow we are now erecting on Mount Royal Avenue—$800 down and $20.37 per month for 10 years is the price to own this beautiful home.

To parties wishing to build their own home, we supply lumber on 10 years' credit, taking first lien on the building.

Purchasers of lumber of all kinds will find our retail prices low. Stock sound and extra well sawn.

As Jazz Music Quickens Towards Midnight.
One of the many interesting things about coming back to earth 100 years from now would be to see to just what further extreme fashion had led women. Anyone who has lived through the past 50 years has seen the pace of style changing quicken year by year as the jazz music quickens when the players get warmed up.

A Walking Bible.
"Has a large amount of tattooing on his body. On his bald head is the Lord's head; around his neck is a serpent; two angels are holding a Bible on his chest, while the Lord's Last Supper is tattooed across his stomach. On his back are several hymns, including 'Nearer My God, to Thee' and 'Abide With Me.' The Lord's Prayer and a crucifix are on his arms—and the usual tattooing of a sailor."

CAUSED LITTLE EXCITEMENT.
Cairo, Egypt, (Associated Press)—A delegation of labor members of the British Parliament has just completed an unofficial tour of investigation in Egypt. It was headed by J. E. Swan, member of the House of Commons and a mining leader of Durham.

In previous instances, it is regarded as unfortunate in business circles here that the visit of the Swan Mission was personally conducted by the Nationalist Party. It came at the invitation of Saad Pasha Zagloul, president of the Nationalists.

The Newspaper of To-day And What It Is."

Address by Arthur Brisbane at The Commonwealth Club of San Francisco.

not needing much change or improvement. The most important thing that a newspaper could possibly do is something that no newspaper does thoroughly, or even approximately. Every newspaper should be systematically and persistently an educating power. Better than any other agency on earth the newspaper is fitted to distribute knowledge. Those that really want knowledge, as you all know, are the men past thirty, forty and fifty.

We force information on children when they don't want it; when they should be playing in the fields. And in their old age, when men ought to be getting information, they are out on the green grass chasing a little white ball around with a club in their hands. Production of wealth has been solved.

The world's great problem is distribution of the earth's products through industry and business, of water through irrigation, and of knowledge through books, and especially through newspapers.

The newspaper can distribute knowledge, as the rain distributes water, in small drops, easily absorbed.

Take a cubic yard of water from a lake and drop it on your garden; it will wash away the soil; kill the plants. Take a heavy volume from the library and drop it on the ordinary man's head; it will stun him; teach him nothing.

Scatter the water over the soil, a drop at a time; scatter knowledge among human beings a few words at a time, through many millions of newspapers. That is a way to spread water and to spread knowledge.

Criticism of Press.

There is some wise and much foolish criticism of newspapers, their sensationalism, of big type. That has no importance. The wise criticism does good. You must do what is necessary to plant in the brain to which you appeal the facts that you want to distribute. A wise Catholic priest said to a Protestant brother who was going among savages as a missionary, "My friend, you will find it hard to impress those people if you go among them in a straw hat and a linen duster."

A newspaper, a missionary, MUST COMMAND ATTENTION.

In days when big type, and especially red type, filled many good souls with horror. I was asked in New York to address a gathering of Presbyterian clergymen. I told them I followed the example of the Divine editor in editing the Evening Journal, then considered sensational by those that did not understand. I said to them, "See how the sky is edited, to impress men."

There are the big black clouds of frighten and move them. That is our big black type. There is the flashing lightning, appearing at intervals, that is our red type.

And when the storm is over, there is the beautiful rainbow. That is our Sunday colored supplement.

Newspapers are what the people make them, they are subject at all times to the initiative, referendum, and recall. Any newspaper can be eliminated in twenty-four hours if the people wish it.

Don't buy the paper—that will settle it. Anybody that wants to do it may start a newspaper.

Any newspaper can be sold immediately, by the dropping of its circulation, that it is not pleasing to the public.

A newspaper is a mirror; the community looking into it sees itself. From "Circulation."

Altogether, Boys!

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir:—I wish to join in the appeal for another splendid collection next Sunday as a free will offering to our dear old friends and teachers the Christian Brothers of St. John's. We who were privileged to receive our education from the members of this noble order of teachers have given forget that the rewards we have never had from the value of all they have bestowed. But we can to some extent repay them for all their labors and untiring efforts on our behalf and the bringing of us up to the annual collection which occurs again on Sunday next. Now then altogether boys for another great collection next Sunday, one that will be worthy of us all, whose proud-est boast is always that we are "pupils of the Christian Brothers School."

Yours truly,

"Bull" Market!

With customary suddenness the market has sprung from dullness to great activity. Million-share days are evidenced again, and prices are moving rapidly, in many cases showing fifty per cent. advance within a month. Following recent leadership of mining stocks, the Oils are now in the front with the upward move only just begun. We predict that profits as great as in the boom days of 1910 will be made by those who buy at once for the long pull.

Use the margin method—ask about it.

Why Drink Tea?

The best answer is that given by Henry Aldrich more than two hundred years ago, slightly altered to meet modern conditions:

If on my theme I rightly think,
There are five reasons why men drink,
Good Tea, a friend, because I'm dry,
Or lest I should be by and by,
Or any other reason why.

TO THE
Civic Electors of St. John's

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—

After considerable deliberation on the matter, I have decided to offer myself as Candidate for Councillor in the coming Municipal Election.

Despite the fact that I have not had a seat before, I am firmly convinced that I could do much to further the betterment of my native city, if I am fortunate enough to be elected by you.

I intend to make a house-to-house canvass and endeavour to have an individual interview with one and all, as far as time permits, and feeling that, please bear in mind that this must stand as my personal appeal.

Should opportunity present itself in a public meeting, I shall be glad to deliver my views on matters of civic improvement.

Thanking you in anticipation of your hearty support,

C. F. GARLAND,
Ex-Lieut. Royal Newfoundland Regiment.
