MRS. HART HAS DISAPPEARED. YANKEES' CONTROL OF GOLD. New York, Oct. 15.—According to a morning paper, Mrs. Anna Hart, the woman upon whom it is alleged William Schreiber, the missing Ellsborough Banking Company clerk, lavished money, has been seen in London. She is believed to have fled to that city to avoid the vigilance of the detectives who were watching her and gone to Paris unknown.

THE TORONTO WORLD. ONE CENT MORNING PAPER. No. 23 YONGE STREET, TORONTO. Daily World, 25 per year. Sunday World, in advance, $2 per year.

THE POINT AT ISSUE. Ever since Mr. Cook's letter was published, the Liberal newspapers have endeavored to throw the public off the scent. They have tried to make it appear that the thing of most public interest in regard to the letter is the motives of the writer. Consequently they have devoted little space to the publication of Mr. Cook's charges, while they go fully into the question of motives. The motives of Mr. Cook in publishing his indictment of the Government do not form an issue in the campaign. Mr. Cook is not on trial. It is the Government that is in the box and Mr. Cook is merely a witness. Let the public not be misled by trying the witness instead of the prisoner. What has happened since Mr. Cook's indictment appeared is simply this: He has added another charge to those already made in the indictment. This charge is to the effect that the Government offered Mr. Cook a Senatorship, provided he would pay $10,000 for the honor. The addition of this single charge to the original bill of particulars does not add very much to the gravity of the indictment. It is serious enough without this supplementary charge. However, as Sir Wilfrid Laurier has taken upon himself to make a denial of Mr. Cook's definite charge, it is well that its truth or falsity should be enquired into. Mr. Cook states distinctly that the offer was made to him by an agent of the Laurier Government, and that he has three intimates to establish this fact. Sir Wilfrid Laurier denies Mr. Cook's charge, stating that he never asked Mr. Cook directly or indirectly for any money, and that he never sent any one to that effect. We don't understand that Mr. Cook's charge refers so much to Sir Wilfrid Laurier as to his Government. It is quite likely that the Premier had nothing to do with the transaction, but we notice that he does not deny that responsible members of his Cabinet treated with Mr. Cook for the sale of a Senatorship. Sir Wilfrid Laurier's denial is given a leading place in the columns of The Globe, but it is quite irrelevant to the issue. No one is misled up in the transaction, but until the country is proved, the public have a right to hold the Government responsible for the charge preferred by Mr. Cook. It is not the Premier who does this kind of work. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, like Sir Oliver Mowat, has his wicked partners. No one accused ex-Premier Hardy of burning the West Elgin ballot, yet they were burned in the building over which he presided, and they were destroyed by officials who held office subject to his goodwill. We believe the charge made by Mr. Cook against the Government will be brought home closer to responsible agents of the Government than was the case in the burning of the West Elgin ballot, but in either case enough has been and will be proved to establish the Government's culpability. A long apprenticeship in political crime has made the Liberal workers experts in this business. They understand to a nicety the various expedients that are available for covering up and destroying the proofs of agency in corrupt transactions. The public, however, can grasp the broad truth contained in Mr. Cook's charge, and it is this, that he was given to understand that he would receive an appointment as Senator on paying $10,000. That is the point in the case. The party that was in a position to assure Mr. Cook that a Senatorship was his for ten thousand must be held to represent the official who had power to make the appointment. That official is Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The latter must be held responsible for the acts of his colleagues and their agents. As we have already said, the denial of Sir Wilfrid Laurier proves nothing whatever. It is his wicked partners the public want to hear from. If Mr. Cook follows up his present intentions he will doubtless disclose the names of these letter before many days. Sir Wilfrid Laurier speaks to-night at Massey Hall. Let him deny if he can the following charges: That two individuals, closely connected with the Government, if not members thereof, met Mr. Cook at Union Station, Toronto, and discussed with Mr. Cook his appointment as Senator. That these individuals showed Mr. Cook a letter purporting to come from the Government in which were disclosed the terms upon which the Senatorship could be obtained. That these individuals mentioned $10,000 as the price Mr. Cook would have to pay for the office. Sir Wilfrid Laurier may deny his own personal connection with the transaction, but what the public wants is a specific denial of the specific charge above set out. If Sir Wilfrid can give such denial, let him do so to-night.

LET SIR WILFRID REPLY TO-NIGHT. It is to be hoped that Sir Wilfrid Laurier will deny to-night at Massey Hall with the specific charges made by his one-time supporter, Mr. H. H. Cook, ex-M.P. The public would like to hear from him, for instance, on Mr. Cook's charge of the Government's violation of its election pledges re the independence of Parliament. Hon. Mr. Mulock stated the Liberal party's attitude on this question in a speech on the floor of the House of Commons in 1896. He is thus reported in Hansard, page 2375: "If the Government can dangle public offices before their followers, and induce a few, perhaps an increasing number, to accept of these positions instead of representing their constituents here, and exercising an unbiased judgment and a wholesome influence upon the administration of the day, they become mere parasites upon the Administration, and cease to voice the opinion of their constituents; not only that, but moving among their colleagues, they become corrupting influences within their own ranks. The people of Toronto ask Sir Wilfrid Laurier to state when he appears before them to-night whether it is a fact that, since was returned to power in 1896, 13 members of Parliament have been appointed to office, with salaries aggregating $30,000 per year. This question is one that can be answered definitely. Let Sir Wilfrid devote a few minutes to it to-night.

In regard to the charge of extravagance, Mr. Cook offers the very words of the Premier himself. The Premier says the people a definite pledge to reduce the expenditure, using these words: "If we get into power, we will follow the example of Mr. Mackenzie, and I will say that I will not be content with the expenditure to what it was under him, we can reduce the amount two, yes, three millions of dollars per year." Let him tell his hearers to-night whether it is true, as charged by Mr. Cook, that instead of reducing the expenditure by two to three millions he has actually increased it by four and a half and a quarter million yearly. If he admits that the expenditure has so increased, let the Premier enlighten us as to what he meant by his pledge to reduce it by three millions. Along with the promise that the public expenditure should be substantially reduced, and that the public debt should not be increased, another pledge was given, namely, that the burden of taxation should be lightened. The "undue taxation of the people" was what their platform condemned. The Premier's declaration of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Mr. Mills said, "We are asking for a reduction of taxation." Sir Richard Cartwright, ever emphatic, declared, "These villainous customs taxes are impoverishing the millions of our people, and it is our duty to reduce them." All this amounted to a distinct pledge that, if placed in power, the Liberal party would reduce the burden of the taxation of the people. In the face of this pledge, Sir Wilfrid Laurier told the people of Toronto how it came that during three years of Liberal Government the taxes collected from the people were more by $12,575,220 than the taxes levied during the last three years of Conservative rule. "In the trade and navigation returns," says Mr. Cook, "the percentage of taxation on the head of the population is figured out, and the figures show that the taxation per head has increased since the present Government came into power. More than that, the figures show that, while under Conservative rule, between 1897 and 1898, the taxation in proportion to population had decreased by $1.12 per head; since the advent of the present Government, instead of the promised reduction, there has actually been an increase of $1.10 per head, or $5.80 per family. Can we, with any expectation of government to reduce the tax burden, be and of its having broken faith with the people of Canada. The country is waiting anxiously to hear from the Premier on these charges. It is to be hoped he will deal with them to-night.

Several changes in the program, in which the public are interested, have taken place. The Rev. C. H.
